SPAIN TORN BY STRIFE IN MANY AREAS

A fierce major battle in Spain's civil war between the forces of fascism and communism, raged Saturday in the Guacarama mountains for possession of the gateway to Madrid and victory.

The U. S. Embassy at Madrid reported to the state department at Washington that communists and socialists are in control of the capital. Americans were unable to leave the city because of lack of transportation.

Great anxiety was felt for them and officials tried to devise some way to get them out.

Eric Wendelin, third secretary in charge of the embassy, suggested that the battleship Oklahoma be held in readiness to go to San Sebastian, where rebel troops renewed artillery bombardments.

American Ambassador Claude Bowers escaped from San Sebastian and established an emergency embassy at Suenterrabia, across the border from Hendaye, France.

American authorities at Madrid feared troops may return to Madrid and "run wild."

Loyal warships, aided by airplanes, bombarded rebel strongholds in Algeiras, in peninsular Spain. Casualties were heavy.

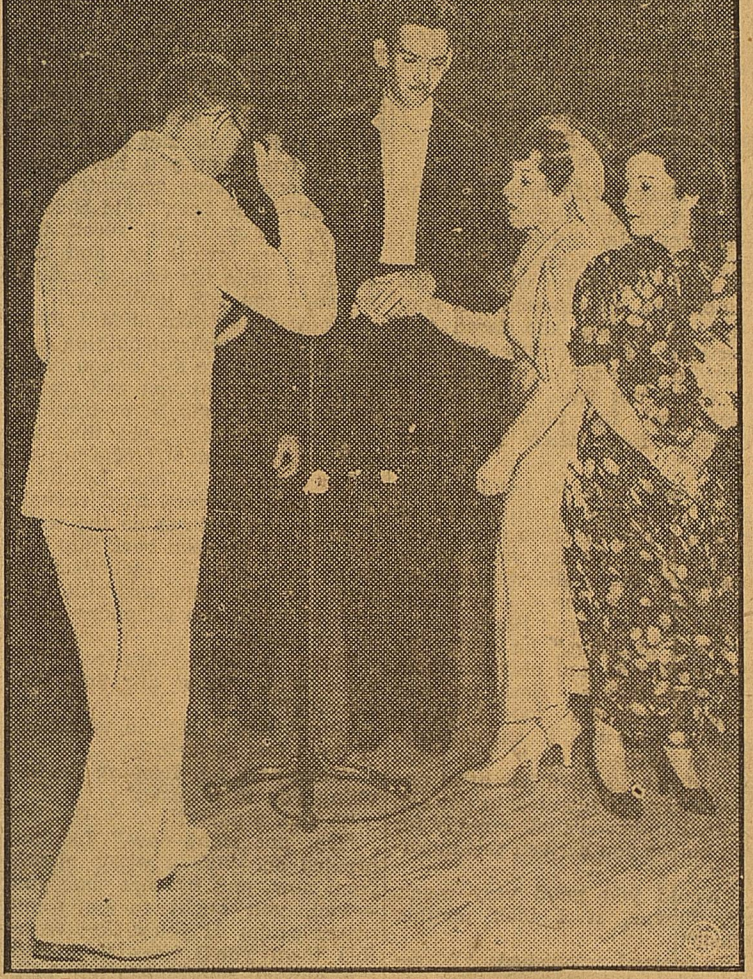

The government claimed the revolution was under control, but fighting continued on many fronts. Rebel troops closed in around the capitol and engaged loyal forces in a terrific battle on which the fate of the popular front government may depend.

Hundreds of refugees continued to pour into Gibraltar and Marseilles and foreign powers removed their nationals from Spain.

Veterans of many revolutions said the uprising has brought the worst slaughter they have ever seen.

British authorities at Gibraltar ordered Spanish refugees back to Spain to make room for the British.

Singer Marries Siamese Twin

Five thousand people, assembled in the Cotton Bowl Stadium at the Texas Centennial Exposition, viewed this unique wedding ceremony, in which Violet Hilton, who was united to her sister at birth, was united in marriage to James Moore, singer, of San Antonio, Tex. The Brighton, Eng., Siamese twins, Violet, in a charming wedding gown, and her sister, in street clothes, are pictured with the bridegroom, as the Rev. Henry May, Methodist minister shown in foreground, performed the ceremony. The happy couple were temporarily uncertain about their honeymoon, but, in whatever plans they concurred, Daisy will go along.

MOBS RUNNING BERSERK OVER SPAIN TODAY

GIBRALTAR (Sunday)—Frenzied mobs, armed with machine guns, pistols and knives, are running berserk in Malaga and Huelva, rounding up priests and prominent men and executing them en masse, American, British and French refugees from the revolted cities reported today.

Two British destroyers reached here today with terror-stricken refugees. The destroyer Brazen brought 148 from Malaga and the destroyer Boreas arrived from Huelva.

Crowds of maddened men, with little semblance of leadership, are roaming the streets at Malaga, murdering and looting.

Most of the rioters wore red armlets of the loyalists, who have engaged the fascist rebels in vicious fighting for several days.

The mob rounded up the priests in the city, herded them into a lot and turned a machine gun upon them. Other crowds foraged about, murdering indiscriminately with revolvers and knives.

Becomes Impatient Over Legacy Delay

MADRID, July 25.—The government at 9:30 tonight issued another declaration asserting that it had dominated the revolutionary forces.

HENDAYE, Franco - Spanish frontier, July 25.—The coast guard cutter Cayuga tonight relieved the U. S. S. Oklahoma as American station ship off San Sebastian.

The Oklahoma was rushed to Bilbao to evacuate endangered Americans there while the Cayuga stood by as a rebel gunboat shelled San Sebastian, which she had subjected to insurgent assaults.

After taking endangered Americans from Bilbao aboard, the Oklahoma proceeded to Santander, where a new struggle between rebels and loyalist forces has broken out.

NO RUNOFF IS ANTICIPATED FOR GOVERNOR

William H. McDonald Leading Opponent By A Wide Margin

On the basis of incomplete returns from 213 counties of the 25 in the state, 39 of which were complete, tabulations made by the Texas Election Bureau at Dallas at 1:30 Sunday morning showed that Gov. James V. Allred was leading all his opponents by a majority of 19,156 votes out of 550,952 votes that had been counted at that hour.

Governor Allred had maintained a lead throughout the night and appeared as though he might win the Democratic nomination for governor in the first primary.

United States Senator Morris Sheppard, too, was leading all his opponents, having polled an even larger number of votes than Allred.

In the railroad commission race Col. Ernest O. Thompson, the present incumbent, was leading but a run-off appeared likely.

William H. McDonald of Eastland, candidate for state land commissioner, was leading his opponent, John W. Hawkins, 242,941 to 181,547.

Others who had a comfortable lead were George H. Sheppard, candidate for comptroller, an Charley Lockhart, candidate for state treasurer.

The returns, as tabulated, were as follows:

Spanish Revolt Leaders Confident Of Major Victory

HEADQUARTERS, NORTHERN REBEL ARMY, NEAR VALLA VOLID, July 25.—Rebel commanders directing their troops in a bloody battle for possession of Madrid today denounced government radio reports of victory as "sheer propaganda."

"The fate of the capital and of the insurrection is sealed," said Gen. Emilio Mola, commanding northern insurgent forces.

"Victory is ours. Our columns, converging on Madrid, already have established contact with each other."

So confident were the rebels that their radio station at Seville broadcast an announcement by Gen. Gonzalo de Llano, insurgent commander there, saying:

"Today marks defeat of San Diego. We will take Madrid today."

Well North of Cisco Brought In For Estimated 500 Barrels

CISCO, July 25.—The largest exciting examples of the oil field drama of disappointment and surprise. Drilled to the expected pay level in the Eastland Lake it evened after a shot of 100 quarts, although it was only 800 feet from a good producer. The Lake horizon was topped at 3,444 where it showed only a small amount of gas. The oil horizon was topped at 3,468 and bottomed at 3,480 at which depth it was good for only two barrels after a shot.

The well was one of the most carefully drilled wells in this vicinity. Every inch of the drilling was watched carefully and the Lake Eastland stratum was cored and examined carefully in the first core test made of the pay in this area.

After this disappointing development, it was elected to drill to the Ranger which was producing a small amount of oil one mile to the northwest. The upper lime was found to be sanded and soft, similar to the pay horizons in the old Ranger boomday district. This zone responded in as spectacular and exciting a manner as did the old boomday wells of the district.

Gravity of the oil is .85 corrected. It is a beautiful green oil and the gas is very rich.

The well was drilled 660 feet from the east and 330 feet from the north lines of section 83, block 4, H. and T. C. RR survey. It was drilled in accordance with an agreement with the city, in which the Hickok company secured a lease on an additional 62 acres to the west of the 70 acres already under lease to them from the city. Hickok now has a lease on all the airport property.

This well will call for an immediate offset to the north by the Lone Star on the Boggs property.

Subsurface geological information secured from the Eastland Lake wells drilled in the area revealed the existence of a large subsurface dome and the success of the City No. 2 in the Ranger pay was not unexpected.

So Much for Love

HELENA DERRIK, youthful head of the women's sports department of Helvig's store, took on a week-end party at Crest Mountain Lodge. There she meets handsome PETER HENDERSON. It is a case of love at first sight between them. Peter asks Helena to marry him, and the ceremony takes place.
Lately, the crowd goes swimming. Peter makes a reckless dive and is seriously injured. Lingered between life and death, he asks Helena to summon his lawyer, JOHN CURTNEY.
Courtney arrives and a short time later Peter dies. Helena learns she is sole heir to a large fortune, including the Henderson department store. She meets beautiful LEAH FRAZIER who had expected to marry Peter and realizes Leah is an enemy. Peter's uncle, Roger Barnes, manager of the store, is her foe.
Helena decides to take over management of the store. JOHN LASSITER, banker, and Courtney are her allies. Leah Frazier tells Helena that unless she leaves town Leah and her friends will boycott the store.
This makes Helena more determined to win the fight. She tells Lassiter and Courtney that, once she has won, she intends to give up the store.
NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER IX
JOHN LASSITER turned to Helena in astonishment. "Turn the store back?" he repeated. "You can't really be serious. To whom would you turn it back? Certainly you wouldn't hand it to Roger Barnes on a silver platter!"
Helena smiled. "No, I don't think I'd do that. Why couldn't I turn it back to the employees?"
"That may be," said Lassiter, turning to her. "But we want you to stay here."

Department Store next morning at 8. Reaching the store building, it occurred to her that she was early—and that she had no key.
She did not have to wait long. As she stood before the curtained doors a young man barged suddenly into the entrance way and almost collided with her. His own embarrassment succeeded in flustering Helena. Clumsily he raised his hat. "Good morning, Mrs. Henderson..." He stopped, reddening. "I recognized you from yesterday. I'm Harvey Jameson, in charge of the hardware department."

that you have decided to stay—that you believe my policies will be compatible with your ideas."
He shrugged the remark away. "I'm sure we can get along, Mrs. Henderson." Thus Helena soon found herself seated at the desk which had been Barnes'. She was about to leave the office when Barnes' secretary appeared.
"Mrs. Frank Frazier and her daughter would like to see you," the girl said.
Helena's heart sank. "All... right, Miss Marks."

MRS. FRANK FRAZIER was even more regal than her daughter.
"We've been told by one of the girls downstairs," said Leah at once, "that nothing more is to be charged to us. Just what does this mean?"
Helena started. "Why—" she paused, embarrassed. "I'm afraid that in a way there's been a mistake. You should have received a letter notifying you. I believe the letters are going out today."

Business Barometer For June

This map represents business conditions in every state of the Union as shown in August, 1936, issue of "Nation's Business" official publication of the United States Chamber of Commerce.

June saw an upsurge in trade and industry as a whole, but widespread drought retarded most crops. Losses in the northwest spring wheat crop were reported following a long spell of dry weather. Pastures suffered widely. Preparations were reported to ship cattle out of affected areas. Cotton suffered in the southeast. These happenings plus the poor fruit crop reports of May cloud the agricultural outlook as a whole.

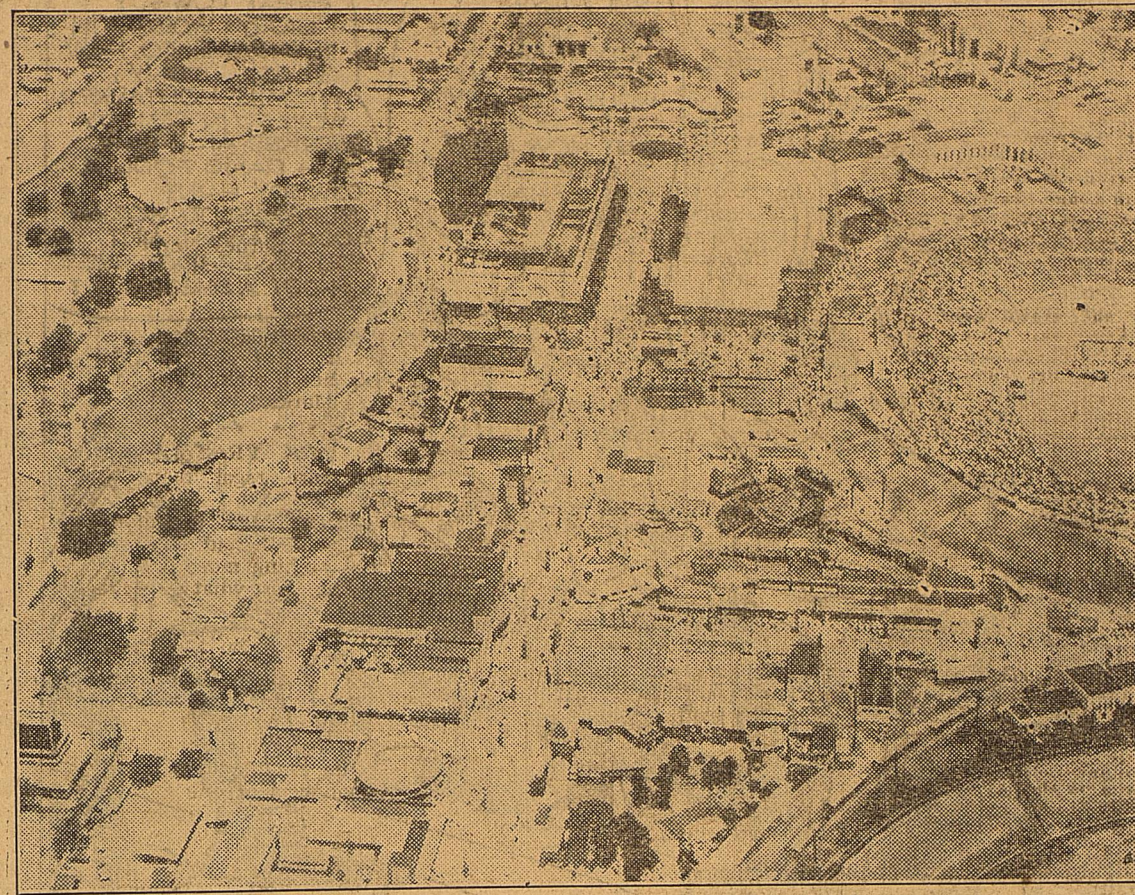

Electric power output made new all-time records in June. Steel production, aided by active buying of automobiles, machine tools and railroad locomotives, cars and rails, showed a contra-seasonal increase and almost doubled the output of 1935. Carloadings for June were the heaviest of the year to date. Orders for aircraft were heavy.

Commodity prices, led by grains, rose following the May decline. Chain and mail order sales increased. Cotton consumption and exports surpassed 1935. Railroad fares were reduced. Cigarette and electric refrigerator production broke all records.

Stock market prices advanced for the thirteenth month out of fourteen. Dividend resumptions and new dividend announcements enliven Kentucky's 1936 primary election on Aug. 1.

The incumbent, Sen. Marvel Mills Logan, of Bowling Green, former Chief Justice of the Court of Appeals and undefeated in any political contest, will be opposed for renomination by J. C. W. Beckham, of Louisville, former governor and senator, and John Young Brown, of Lexington, a dynamic youthful figure who has come to the front politically in recent years.

Six years ago when the Democratic cause in Kentucky appeared doubtful, Logan, then a judge, willingly carried the party banner when others were more skeptical of Democratic chances. He won in that election and the Democrats have not lost a major state battle since.

Beckham, backed by the state administration of Gov. A. B. Chandler, long has been a familiar figure in state politics. He was the state's youngest governor, having succeeded to the governorship in 1900 when William Goebel was assassinated.

These are the days when politicians lend their voice to the cause without getting much interest.

Cocktail Bar Is Uncovered In Old Ruins of Rome

ROME. — Archaeologists have given the tourist agencies a real "talking point" in the effort to attract visitors from Ostia Antica, the ancient imperial seaport of Rome.

Years of propaganda have failed to bring visitors to see Ostia's interesting ruins and art treasures, but now — a bar has been unearthed! It is of marble, the same height as the usual soda fountain or cocktail bar, and with a little plumbing could be used today.

Besides numerous shelves and boxes for the amphoras of liquor, the bar has two spacious cavities — one of which is presumed to have been for ice and the other for a boiler.

Near the bar was found a statue of Hygiea, Goddess of Health—to whom, no doubt, patrons of 2,000 years ago raised many a beaker.

Windsor Shrine to King to Be Built

WINDSOR, England.—Plans for the monument to King George at Windsor—the town from which he selected the royal family's present surname—have received approval from King Edward and Queen Mary.

A tender for execution of the work has been accepted and the memorial should be ready for unveiling next spring when King Edward is expected to preside at the ceremony.

Sir Edward Lutyens has designed the memorial so that the central feature is a stone cenotaph of massive dignity, yet simple in ornament. On the top is a carved representation of the royal emblems resting on a cushion.

Upon the steps leading up to the cenotaph will be carved the inscription:

George V.
First Sovereign of the House of Windsor
Below and in front of the monument will be a rectangular basin of water, with two raised fountains, one on each side. The site of the memorial is directly below the center of the town.

Millet May Become New Breakfast Food

ABERDEEN, S. D.—The breakfast food center of America may move westward, successful experiments here with millet as a morning meal cereal indicate.

The experiments were conducted by A. W. Schuetzle, Aberdeen miller, who steam-exploded millet in a breakfast food-making apparatus to eight times normal size.

ALAMEDA

The results were pronounced by Dr. N. E. Hansen, of South Dakota State College, as "tasty cereal, the equal of puffed wheat in flavor, and retaining a tangy flavor other grains lose in undergoing the same process."

Since millet is a dry-weather crop, it can be grown successfully in South Dakota, Dr. Hansen said.

Close to Landon's Kansas

It must have chilled the Landon enthusiasts in Kansas when they read the election returns from neighboring Oklahoma: How the veteran blind Sen. Gore, outspoken enemy of democratic administration policies and the new deal generally, was down in fourth place, and two new dealers were at the top of the list in the senatorial race.

There is always a presumption of returning a senator already in office, unless very many of his constituents actively disapprove his public acts. But Gore was at the bottom of the list in the Oklahoma primary, and the run-off choice makes certain that a supporter of the new deal program will take his seat.

Farmers of Oklahoma and of Kansas are much alike. City dwellers of one state are very much like those of another, just across a row of sun-flowers. The sentiment in Oklahoma was democratic sentiment; but the vote was so heavy that it is reminiscent of the landslide that won a heavy slice of republican support four years ago.

There are democrats in Kansas, too; and in November, there will be democratic ballots in the box despite the home-state pride in having the republican nominee the ex-Bull Mooser, Gov. Landon.

In Oklahoma, Gore's rout is the more amazing because of his former come-back and because there is much admiration for his ability and his success, despite the fact of blindness, and no little real affection for him.

Anti-new-dealers in the democratic party will get just as cold comfort out of the Oklahoma results as will the supporters of the progressive candidate of the reactionary party.

No Hero Worship Here

The sideshow appearance of John Dillinger, Sr., at the Great Lakes Exposition in Cleveland is proving pretty much of a dud these days. The crowd just aren't turning out any more to view with morbid curiosity the father of an infamous gangland killer.

There was a time, a year or so back, when the elder Dillinger drew large audiences. But now, it seems, the hero worship of the gangster is about over in America. The public has caught up with itself. If there is any hero worship at all it's for the men who have made it their business to snuff out those thugs of whom John Dillinger, Jr., was a leader.

And that trend is certainly refreshing. Somehow it sort of restores one's faith in America's sanity.

In his escape, by leaping a fence, Zioncheck again reveals that he's unique. Any other congressman would have been caught when, by force of habit, he straddled.

Life of the Saint Of the Day

By REV. S. E. BYRNE

St. Anne was the wife of St. Joachim, and she was chosen by God to be the mother of Mary. His own blessed Mother on earth. They were both of the family of David, and their whole lives were occupied in prayer and good works. Only one thing was wanting in their union, for they were childless, which condition was held as a bitter misfortune among the Jews. At length when Anne was rather late in years a daughter was born, who was named Mary. With the birth of Mary the aged Anne began a new life: she watched her every movement with reverent tenderness, and felt herself hourly sanctified by the presence of her immaculate child. But she had vowed to give her daughter to God and so when Mary was three years old she was taken by Anne and Joachim to the temple, and there they watched her pass unaided into the inner sanctuary, and then saw her no more. Thus was Anne left childless in her lone old age, and deprived of her purest earthly joy just when she needed it most. She humbly adored the Divine Will, and began again to watch and pray, till God called her to unending rest with the Father and the Spouse of Mary in the home of Mary's Child.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH

Sunday school, 9:45 a. m. Morning service, 11 a. m. Wednesday testimonial meeting, 8 p. m. Public cordially invited.

"Truth" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist on Sunday, July 26.

The Golden Text is: "God shall send forth his mercy and his truth" (Psalms 57:3).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Thus saith the Lord of Hosts; Behold, I will save my people from the east country, and from the west country: And I will bring them, and they shall dwell in the midst of Jerusalem; and they shall be my people, and I will be their God, in truth and in righteousness" (Zechariah 8:7, 8).

The Lesson-Sermon includes also the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Truth brings the elements of liberty. . . No power can withstand divine Love. . . Whatever enslaves man is opposed to the divine government. Truth makes man free" (page 224).

DOLLARS GO FARTHER IN A FORD V-8

WHEN you buy a car, look for all-around economy. Get the car that gives you more miles per dollar. That means a Ford V-8. Take a total of all costs from the time you buy the car until you trade it in—divide by the number of miles—and you will find that today's Ford V-8 is the most economical Ford car ever built. This is not an opinion but a fact—based on the experience of millions of Ford V-8 users. That includes companies operating large fleets of cars, as well as individual owners. Figures show that the Ford V-8—everything considered—costs less per mile than our former four-cylinder car. These records give the complete picture because they include every motor car cost—first cost, finance charges, up-keep cost and depreciation, as well as fuel and oil. All should be considered when figuring automobile economy.

- Only the Ford V-8 gives you all of these fine-car features
- 1 V-8 ENGINE. Ford is the only car under $1600 with a V-8 engine.
- 2 SAFETY GLASS ALL AROUND AT NO EXTRA CHARGE.
- 3 STEEL BODY. A steel structure, as well as a steel surface.
- 4 CENTER-POISE RIDING. A front-seat ride for back-seat passengers.
- 5 SUPER-SAFETY BRAKES. Dependable at all times.
- 6 NEW INTERIORS. New-style upholstery, hardware, instrument panel, and new accessories.

Bicycle Stealing Has Developed Into New Racket

FORT WORTH, Tex.—Bicycle stealing among juvenile delinquents has developed into a well organized "racket" in Fort Worth and is becoming a dilemma for detectives and juvenile officers.

Missing bicycles outnumber missing automobiles many weeks, police reported.

Like the car theft syndicates, the boys have resorted to stripping parts, which are sold separately to dealers or reassembled into new different bicycles.

Officers find that gangs of five to 15 boys join together in boyish crime. In secluded backyard garages, used as a combination workshop and hideout, officers find scattered parts of bicycles.

But the boys are not finding it so easy to market their loot as they have in the past. They almost have been forced to stop going to legitimate dealers as these dealers are becoming detectives in their own right and keep a record of the bicycles they sell and buy. By a quick check-up they can tell if they are buying a bicycle they once sold. If they find they are, arrests follow.

The juvenile gangs have turned to the car theft rings for means of disposal. Now they ship many of the stolen bicycles out of town for sale. Detectives learned recently of a carload of Fort Worth bicycles exchanged for a similar number in Waco.

Farmers are learning that, before they can begin saving for a rainy day, they must have the rainy day.

Artillery Fire Stepped Up By Electric Gear

SEATTLE.—Bill Preisz, Yakima, Wash., sophomore at the University of Washington, thinks his new electrically operated range finder will find favor with the United States coast artillery.

Preisz' device would eliminate nine of the 13 men now required to compute an artillery firing problem and reduce the element of error to virtually nothing. Firing data will be computed automatically by the machine instantaneously with the sighting of the telescopes.

He has submitted plans for inspection by Capt. E. M. Gregory and Lieut. Col. E. Woodbury of the army who both agreed the idea was practical. It will be tested by the coast artillery corps for possible approval and acceptance.

International Harvester Has Dallas Exhibit

The International Harvester Company exhibit at the Texas Centennial Central Exposition occupies all of the west wing of the Transportation Building—an area comprising 10,810 square feet of floor space. This exhibit includes displays of historic and educational interest not only to users of farm machines, motor trucks, and industrial power equipment made by the Harvester Company, but also to all men, women, and children interested in the social and economic progress of the past century.

A replica of the first reaper, built in 1831 by Cyrus Hall McCormick, is on display, as well as models of many of the machines that evolved from the reaper. A full-sized 16-foot McCormick-Deering harvester-thresher is displayed operating slowly so that visitors can see how each part functions. This mighty monarch of the harvest fields can cut, thresh, and clean the grain from 40 to 50 acres a day.

Much of the progress of the past century is a direct result of American ingenuity in perfecting not only the modern grain binder but also a successful method of making satisfactory, low-priced binder twine. Although large quantities of twine are used in the wheat sections of Texas, few wheat growers have had an opportunity to see how binder twine is made. Accordingly, throughout each day of the exposition there are complete demonstrations of the spinning and baling of binder twine—using the same equipment and the same people who operate the machines in International Harvester twine mills. Also in continuous, slow-motion operation is the knotting mechanism of a modern grain binder—showing just how this ingenious invention of 55 years ago, still in extensive use, loops the twine around a sheaf of grain, ties the knot, and then cuts the twine when the knot is completed.

Of interest to the dairyman is a milk cooler, a new product of International Harvester, as well as a variety of cream separators and milking machines—several of them in operation and cut away to show their mechanism. An outstanding attraction, of interest to every one, is the mechanical cow—an accurately reproduced Holstein that chews its cud, blinks its eyes, moves its head and ears, switches its tail, breathes, moos, and gives milk in a most realistic manner.

Various sizes and types of farm tractors are shown as well as machines of the quick-attachable type that are used with these tractors. Throughout each day there are demonstrations of how many of these modern machines can be attached or detached from a tractor in from two to five minutes each. In continuous operation is a tractor-operated two-row cultivator, demonstrating the ease with which the modern equipped cotton grower can cultivate 25 acres a day—cultivating close to growing crops without damaging them even though the rows may be quite crooked.

There also is an extensive display of stationary power units and wheel-type and crawler-type tractors made by International Harvester for use in oil fields, lumbering, road building and maintenance, and for various other industrial purposes. In continuous operation is an International Diesel engine cut away to show how it starts on gasoline and then shifts automatically to operation on Diesel fuel.

An important part of the progress in transportation featured in this building is an extensive variety of motor trucks displayed in the International Harvester wing. These include four and six-wheel trucks with panel, stake, and oil tank bodies, as well as one of the latest types of school buses.

A complete description of the variety of displays in the International Harvester exhibit would reveal a great many other items of historic interest and educational value not only to farmers but also to city people. The careful fairgoer will find that he can profitably spend several hours in the west wing of the Transportation Building studying the many International Harvester displays.

Legionnaires and the Story of Their World War Experiences

Private Howard Elwood of the Veterinary Corps, together with his motorcycle and sidecar in front of the Camp Zachary Taylor, Louisville, Ky., in December, 1918.

Editor's Note: This is the nineteenth of a series of World War biographies being written by B. H. Peacock, Commander of the American Legion Post of Ranger, covering the experiences of members of the local Post. The biography of another veteran will appear in next Sunday's issue of the Times.

HOWARD ELWOOD

During the World War, the rank of corporal was an unknown quantity in the Veterinary Corps of the U. S. Army. It was quite true that his branch of the service contained a generous sprinkling of both privates, sergeants, lieutenants, captains, and majors, but not so in the matter of corporals. The rank of "farrier" in the Veterinary Corps compared with that of corporal in the other branches of the army as is attested to by the following copy of Special Order No. 23 issued in favor of Private Howard Elwood of Camp Zachary Taylor of Louisville, Ky.:

Headquarters Camp Zachary Taylor
Louisville, Kentucky
January 23, 1919

Special Order No. 23

EXTRACT

Upon recommendation of Camp Veterinarian, the following promotions in the Veterinary Corps are hereby announced:

To be Farriers—
Private First Class Howard Elwood,
By command of Brigadier General Penn.
THOMAS A. MOORE,
Major, A. G. D., Adjutant.

On September 4, 1918, Howard Elwood stored his mechanic's tools in the little garage where he was working at his home town of Van Buren, Indiana, and enlisted for service in the World War. Orders carried him to Camp Zachary Taylor near Louisville, Ky., where it was estimated some 65,000 soldiers were in training for service in France.

"Camp Zachary Taylor," stated Elwood, "was originally an infantry camp, but was later converted into a field artillery training unit. The field artillery Central Officers' Training School alone cared for 16,000 prospective officers, who were being commissioned at the rate of some 500 per week."

The camp veterinarians' office of the Veterinary Corps was an integral part of every war-time camp of any consequence. It was the function of the officers and men of the corps to attend to the inspection of all meats used for human consumption in the camp, as well as to see to the needs of the horses and mules that were a part of the military equipment. And in this connection, Camp Taylor had some 3,600 horses and mules, which necessarily came under the direction of the camp veterinarian.

Private Elwood's responsibility in the main during his some seven months of service consisted in dispatch motorcycle service, and as special farrier for Major Walter R. Pick. After reaching camp, Elwood received special recognition for his abilities as a mechanic and motorcycle driver. This was shortly brought to the attention of Major Pick, whereupon he selected Elwood to serve in and out from headquarters for him during the balance of the war period.

"I will always remember Major Pick for his quiet and unassuming disposition," quoted Elwood in reminiscing. "I found him to be very much a soldier and a gentleman, and my tour of duty under his direction was most pleasant at all times. But I will always remember him best for the fact that he was quite a fancier of horse flesh. He had brought his favorite mount all the way from Hawaii back to Camp Taylor, so attached was he to this particular horse."

The armistice of November 11, 1918, was celebrated in a fairly quiet manner at Camp Taylor. According to Elwood, no passes were issued for a period of two days for the men to leave camp, since it was felt by the officers in charge that they might be inclined to celebrate in a too hilarious manner.

Camp life continued at a normal routine for Farrier Elwood until March 19, 1919, when he received his discharge for "honorable and efficient service" in the Army of the United States.

A short visit was spent by Elwood at his home town of Van Buren, Ind., after which the lure of the Texas oil fields brought him in July, 1919, to Ranger. He immediately went to work for the Texas Pacific Coal & Oil Company of that city. During the interim from 1919 to 1935 Elwood was employed with several other firms as automobile mechanic, among which were the Gladstone Refining Company and the Louisiana Oil & Refining Company of Shreveport. In 1934 Mr. Elwood entered the employ of Lone Star Gasoline Company with which organization he is now associated.

In 1923 he became married to Miss Eula Young of Breckenridge, to which union Thomas, 12, and Jack, 10, were born. Mr. Elwood, together with his family, has resided for the past several years at their home at Foch and Travis streets in Ranger, Texas.

Carl Barnes Post No. 69 of Ranger, Texas, takes pride in presenting such men as Howard Elwood, who in peace, as in war, continues to bring credit to the communities in which they live, and the organizations which they serve.

An Imaginary Line Separates Rodessa Oil Field

By United Press

AUSTIN, Tex.—Only an imaginary line separates the part of Rodessa oil field that is governed by Louisiana from the part that is supervised by Texas.

It is physically all oil field. Owners of land on the Texas side fear strict regulation, afraid that Louisiana will not be equally strict and oil will be drained from the Texas side to Louisiana.

Well spacing is the immediate bone of contention. It is just as though there was a big bowl of milk and many people were drinking out of it through straws.

Temporarily Texas people are permitted to have but one straw for every twenty acres of soil.

Not only the number of straws but the amount of liquid that may be drawn through each straw is regulated. So far, Texans have been allowed to draw just as much per straw as Louisiana people.

Charles Francis, representing United Gas Company, charges that tremendous waste is occurring as the result of lax regulation in Louisiana.

In an effort to get the two states to adopt uniform regulations, the Texas Railroad Commission has invited Louisiana officials to sit as observers at a hearing on the Texas side of the field. In return they volunteer to be observers when Louisiana holds a hearing. An offer to interchange engineering data and other information has also been made by Texas.

France Profits Little From Sewer Tours

By United Press

PARIS—The famous sewers of Paris, which are open to the public but seldom prove a drawing card—attracted 1,107 visitors in 1935. The underground tour from the Place de la Concorde to the Madeleine Church is taken in small boats in the underground passages, made famous by Victor Hugo's "Les Miserables."

The sewers are open to the public only in summer months, one day a week, and the eerie boat trip can be made for three francs per person. Last year's traffic brought about $285 into the coffers of the French government.

Today Parisian sewers extend from 600 to 700 miles in length, but only a quarter of a mile is available to curious tourists.

Australia Exports Elm Leaf Tobacco

By United Press

MELBOURNE. — When large quantities of fallen elm leaves were brought in the Australian town of Bacchus Marsh for shipment to Germany, a rumor spread of a mysterious new explosive being extracted from leaves.

Then came the explanation. Two customs officers saw the leaves being put through a hydraulic press and converted into plugs like tobacco. They tested this new "smoke" and found it quite palatable and smooth, though somewhat damp.

So it seems that German smokers, in these days of currency difficulties, are to be converted to the new elm leaf "tobacco."

ABORIGINES ARE VANISHING

By United Press

CANBERRA. — Aborigines are becoming as scarce in Australia as Indians in the United States, according to the latest census returns completed here. These show that there still remain only 60,000 full-blooded aborigines in the country, of whom 24,000 were either in employment or were living in supervised camps. The remaining 36,000 are nomadic.

FISHERMAN'S LUCK

"The white flags mark the sailing course... and those two little poles over there? They mean good fishing."

"Probably somebody fished and fished all over the lake with no luck at all until he hit that spot. Maybe he got several good strikes just about there. Must have calculated in his mind just where the spot was and, next time he came out, brought those poles with him and drove them down, so he'd have something to tie his boat to."

Advertisements mean to an experienced shopper exactly what those two poles mean to an experienced fisherman—"good fishing." Advertisements are markers of the best buys—they save "fishing all over the lake."
