Poppy Day To Be Observed Here On Saturday, Nov. 9

Poppy Day will be observed in Ranger and throughout the nation on November 9, the Saturday before Armistice Day, Mrs. L. R. Herring, president of the Carl Barnes Post of the American Legion Auxiliary, announced today. On that day all Americans will be asked to wear memorial poppies in tribute to the World War dead and to aid the living victims of the war.

The little red memorial flowers will be distributed here by women and girls of the Carl Barnes Unit, under the direction of Mrs. Lee Dockery, chairman of the Poppy Day committee. All contributions received for the poppies will go to Legion and Auxiliary welfare work for the disabled veterans, their families and the families of the dead.

"We feel that Poppy Day will have increased meaning to America this year," said Mrs. Herring, "because renewed warfare in Europe has renewed the memory of those boys of ours who gave their lives 'over there' twenty-two years ago. It is for them that we put on the poppy each year, to show that we still remember and honor their sacrifices. It is the flower which grew where they fell and which now blooms on the coats of Americans who appreciate their service.

"Events of the past year have shown us clearly that to be secure the United States must have men ready and able to defend the country, willing to give their lives in its defense, if necessary. We can be thankful today that we had such men twenty-two years ago. From them we can draw inspiration for the patriotic service necessary to maintain our freedom and democracy against today's dangers. Wearing their flower over our hearts means that within our hearts their love of America still lives."

Plane Wreckage Is Sighted Upon A Mountain Side

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Nov. 4.—Searchers today started climbing a mountain near here, where the wreckage of a United Airlines plane was spotted at noon.

The pilot, who saw the plane on the mountainside, said it did not seem to be badly damaged, and might still have 10 persons aboard, alive. The plane fell in a snow-storm.

The plane had left California early in the morning, and at 4:30 reported that it was on the beam, approaching Salt Lake City. A few minutes later the pilot reported that snow was falling and he would try to circle until the weather cleared. It was unreported for more than seven hours, although it had plenty of time to reach Cheyenne, Wyo., its next stop, after passing up Salt Lake City.

ON HONOR ROLL

STEPHENVILLE, Nov. 4.—By being on the preliminary honor roll, Ernest Jones and Julia Parker of Eastland have achieved a great distinction at John Tarleton College. Of the 1300 students at that institution, 115 were on the honor roll. Fewer than 10 per cent of the students received this honor. To gain this rating, one must make at least 80 in every subject for that preliminary.

Motorists Urged To Be Careful of Carbon Monoxide

AUSTIN, Texas.—To minimize the danger of carbon monoxide poisoning during winter weather, motorists are urged by Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, to check up now on the exhaust systems of their automobiles for defective connections and leaks.

"Colder weather will soon be here, and it will be necessary to drive in closed cars. Carbon monoxide may seep inside from leaky connections and overwhelm occupants of the car," Doctor Cox warned.

He said that "warming up" a car in a closed garage is the greatest cause of carbon monoxide deaths. Leaks from manifold connections, cracked manifolds, defective mufflers, leaks from loose muffler connections, and leaks from hot air heaters or connections are potential sources for release of carbon monoxide and should be checked, Doctor Cox pointed out.

"Pay particular attention to these items and remember that proper carburetor adjustment causes minimum production of carbon monoxide and that the highest proportion of this gas is produced by an idling motor."

The State Health Officer said that headaches which occur during long drives may be an indication that Carbon monoxide is leaking into the car. "Sleepiness, dizziness, fatigue and in extreme cases, paralysis, are other symptoms of carbon monoxide poisoning. Truck drivers on long drives are particularly vulnerable," Doctor Cox stated.

Carbon monoxide is colorless, and tasteless. When it is in the air it gives no sign of its presence and is taken into the blood instead of oxygen. Suffering or collapse result from lack of oxygen.

TEXAS PEANUT CROP EXCEEDS 1939'S TOTAL

One of the heaviest peanut crops in the state's history—166,950,000 pounds, compared with 129,480,000 a year ago and 77,000,000 for the ten-year average—is forecast by the United States Department of Agriculture.

Dick Weekes, manager of the Southwestern Peanut Growers Association in Gorman, said today that Eastland and Comanche counties, with 20,000,000 pounds each, are leading Texas producers. Other big peanut counties are Erath, Atascosa, Frio, Wilson, Bexar and Medina.

The association expects to handle, through the Department of Agriculture peanut stabilization program, 60,000,000 pounds of an expected 206,000,000 pounds to be produced in the Southwestern states—Texas, Arkansas, Louisiana, and Oklahoma.

The association pays growers 96c a bushel for first grade peanuts, 90c for second grade and 82 1/2c for third grade.

Many farmers in West Central Texas sell their peanut hay, which yields at the rate of 1,200 pounds an acre, for around $9 a ton. Sheep and goat ranchmen, who say the hay is high in protein and puts weight on their animals, are the big market.

Recruiters Lists Openings in Army

Pat Hossley, in charge of the United States Army recruiting station at Eastland, has announced that there are openings in several branches of the army, at various posts. Those who enlist should have a high school education or journeyman rating in a mechanical trade, if they wish to enlist in the air corps or two years of high school education if they want to enlist in the medical department.

Openings now being listed include:
140 air corps, Puerto Rican Detachment, to be shipped from Barksdale Field.
42 Air Corps, Kelly Field, Texas.

116 Infantry, Fort Sam Houston, Texas.

10 Medical Department, Station Hospital, Fort Sam Houston.

Shutdowns Ordered For Texas' Fields

AUSTIN, Texas.—All except 36 of the 500 oil fields in Texas were ordered today to be shut down for seven days in November. The order was issued by the State Railroad Commission.

Campaign Gains

W. N. (BILL) CORRY

Drafted by a statewide mass meeting of Texas democrats to run as a "Roosevelt Democrat" write-in candidate to oppose the re-election of Agr. Commr. J. E. McDonald, who despite his nomination as a democrat, last week endorsed the candidacy of Wendell Willkie, Bill Corry of Tarrant county, is putting on a whirlwind campaign. He has the endorsement of Texas county judges and leading farm and ranch organizations and democratic leaders throughout the state. The Waco meeting in a resolution declared McDonald had forfeited any right to democratic party support and named Corry as the "instrument of Texas democracy to remove 'Willkie-crat' from Texas politics. Corry was runner-up against McDonald in the July primary and refused to be a candidate until drafted by the Waco meeting. Judge C. C. Randle of Ellis county was named as Corry's campaign manager.

Greek armed forces, with British support, reported new successes against the Italians today as the British Royal Air Force bombed oil and railway targets at Naples.

Hogoslav reports said that Greek warships engaged Italian naval units off Corfu and sank one Italian ship, in addition to shelling fascist troops in Western Greece.

The Greeks also threw back the Italian attack at Janina, Greek railroad junction, and drove into Albania, where the crack Greek troops were encircling 17,000 Italians at Koritza after capturing 1,200 prisoners.

Bulgarian reports were that 40,000 British troops already had landed in Greece, and the British reported the sinking of two Italian submarines as British naval units took over the strategic islands around Greece.

Turkey called more than 20 army classes to the colors as Balkan tension increased on rumors that Germany was about ready to drive southward from Rumania.

Spain took possession of Tanger, former international city, across the Strait of Gibraltar, increasing the peril of that British stronghold.

For the first time in 73 days London went 24 hours without an air raid alarm, but the Germans said that other British objectives were attacked, despite bad weather.

The British admitted loss of two former passenger boats, totalling 30,000 tons, which the Germans said were torpedoed with some casualties.

Corry Gains As "Real" Democrat As Election Nears

AUSTIN, Nov. 4.—Widespread support throughout the state for Bill Corry, write-in candidate for commissioner of agriculture, today assured Texans of a raging battle at the polls Tuesday as Democrats rallied to the fight against J. E. McDonald, party nominee who announced that he would cast his ballot for Wendell Willkie, Republican presidential nominee.

Developments in Corry's whirlwind campaign were fast during the past week, following Corry's selection as Democratic write-in candidate by a meeting of party members at Waco.

Corry stock soared when Myron Blalock, director of the State Democratic campaign and national committeeman, expressed the opinion that voters of the state are under no obligation to vote for McDonald, in the light of his endorsement of Willkie.

Secretary of State M. O. Flowers commented that he personally feels himself morally released from supporting McDonald.

Expressions of the same sentiment and endorsement of Corry's candidacy were received from state Democratic committeemen in every section of the state.

Set up in every voting precinct in Texas was machinery to give voters instructions how to scratch McDonald and write in the name of Bill Corry. County and precinct chairmen were named as members of committees to perform this task.

"There is nothing difficult about scratching McDonald and writing in Bill Corry," said C. C. Randle, selected by Texas Democrats to manage Corry's campaign. "All the voter has to do is black out the name of Willkie-crat McDonald in the Democrat column, where it does not belong. In place of McDonald in the Democrat column, write in the name of a real Democrat, Bill Corry."

Support for Corry was pledged by J. Walter Hammond of Abilene, president of the Texas Agricultural association.

McDonald was scored for his endorsement of Willkie by such Democratic leaders as Sam Rayburn, Robert Lee Bobbitt, Edgar Witt and Bill McCraw, who is now on a speaking tour for Roosevelt.

Corry was confident of victory after conferring with Democratic leaders at Houston, San Antonio and Austin. Randle during the past week carried the campaign to Dallas.

Agriculture Commissioners Race Is Holding Attention In State Politics Since McDonald Supports Willkie

By United Press
AUSTIN, Nov. 4.—A state office that pays but $4,200 a year has suddenly put a shot in the arm in a tepid political campaign in Texas.

With an organized drive launched to write-in the name of W. N. Corry of Keller, Tarrant County, as candidate for commissioner of agriculture, political observers raised their sights on the total probable vote in Texas. Tom Martin of Stonevall also announced his write-in candidacy for the place.

Few expected more than 600,000 votes a week ago, but now there are predictions that 800,000 people will vote. Some, including Democratic National Committee-man Myron Blalock, predict more than 1,000,000.

The sudden spurt in interest in the election, far above any enthusiasm raised by the national campaign, took place when J. E. McDonald, democratic nominee for re-election as agricultural commissioner, announced he had decided to support the republican national ticket.

Though McDonald had said earlier he would disregard party lines if necessary to support the candidate who offered most to agriculture, many had thought he would not really bolt. His vote for Willkie and McNary will be the first non-democratic vote for the graying democratic office holder.

Scarcely had McDonald announced his decision when there was a "scratch McDonald" movement launched. Former secretary of state Ed Clark and former state senator C. F. Richards of Lockhart proposed that the name of former Gov. Dan Moody be written in on the ballot by those who scratched McDonald. Moody declined to permit that use of his name and said he will vote the ticket straight—which would include McDonald.

Corry was selected for the write-in at a mass meeting held at Waco. Corry was runner-up to McDonald in the democratic primary last July when McDonald became party nominee by receiving a majority over Corry and W. W. King.

The vote in that primary election was: McDonald, 675,559; Corry, 188,070; King, 175,848.

McDonald's legal right to hold the democratic party nomination for state office and at the same time support the republican national ticket was upheld by the state democratic executive committee and the state democratic convention.

But many democrats claim it gives them the right to refuse to vote for McDonald in the general election.

In a state democratic primary election participants pledge themselves to support the nominees of that primary. Names of presidential electors are not on the primary ballot. Presidential electors are selected by the convention method.

McDonald's name was on the primary ballot and to that extent the more than a million people who took part in that primary are pledged to support him.

But Corry and his campaign manager, Judge C. C. Randle of Ellis county, say McDonald has

ELECTION DAY FORECAST FOR BAD WEATHER

America's closest presidential race since 1916 ends Tuesday when voters choose between Wendell Willkie and Franklin D. Roosevelt.

The weather forecast is for snow in the Northern Rockies and in the Great Lakes area with rain in the mid-west and in parts of the southern states, including Texas.

All signs point to an extremely close election and even in Texas the State Democratic Chairman, E. B. Germany, conceded that Wendell Willkie might poll 40 per cent of the state's total vote.

Governor O'Daniel will vote at Fort Worth, and Vice President John Nance Garner sat silently at Uvalde, refusing to make any statement.

Texas also is expected to have considerably colder weather Tuesday.

Eastland Youth Is Among First Of Bombardiers

Flying Cadet Everett Davis, 25, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. K. Davis of Eastland, graduated from the nation's first Bombardier Instructor's School and commissioned a Second Lieutenant, Air Corps Reserve, United States Army. He will be temporarily assigned to duty at Lowry Field.

Davis was born in Masquero, New Mexico, August 12, 1915, graduated from the Eastland High School and Texas A. & M. College. His athletic interests are baseball and basketball. His church affiliation is Baptist.

Davis enlisted in the United States Army Air Corps as a Flying Cadet at Love Field, Dallas, July 8, 1940, and arrived at Lowry Field, Denver, Colo., one day later.

The Air Corps Bombardier Instructor's School was inaugurated at Lowry Field in July of this year and has enrolled approximately 130 Flying Cadets representing almost every state in the nation. The first class to graduate from the intensive training course numbers 18 men, including Davis.

Commissioned officers of the Air Corps graduating from the Bombardier Instructor's School will be sent from Lowry Field to other Air Corps stations to train the bombing personnel needed by the United States Army to successfully accomplish its mission in the national defense program.

Boys Form Company To Make Money For College Funds

COLLEGE STATION, Texas.—It might have been that necessity was the mother of the invention and again it may have been that three Texas A. & M. College students were just a jump ahead of the rest for they not only found a way to make their college expense money but also put a new industry in Texas in doing it.

Tom Hill and Ike Jacobs, of Dallas, and Wally Hendon, Richardson, are the three boys and the new industry they introduced to Texas is the manufacture of wooden shower slippers.

Last year a local store obtained a few pair of such slippers which had been made in Japan but when the idea hit Hill and Jacobs that they could sell such shoes, they found no production available. They took in Hendon as production manager and finally found a Sherman planing mill which would turn out their shoes for them.

They placed a contract for 1000 pairs and at last report had sold almost the entire stock and a 75 cents a pair. They have not only made a nice profit for themselves, but all of their agents in the other halls are students and their commissions of 15 per cent help toward meeting their expenses.

The students wear the slippers to and from the showers and latest reports show that athlete's foot at the college has fallen off to practically no cases as compared to the records of past years.

SERIAL STORY

GOAL TO GO

BY W. H. PEARS

Copyright, 1940, NEA Service, Inc.

CHAPTER I

Three minutes of 10, Bill Mentor stripped off his white shirt and dashed for the door of the drug store. Old Julius Peskin darted from the back room like a spider after a fly.

Illustrated by G. P. Whitford

The West end grabbed the ball . . . was knocked out on the Benton 25. A deafening roar went up from the stands.

The Benton line held. It was replaced with three to go. Landis replaced Peskin with Calvert. Hart took the pass from center, faked a thrust at the line and gave the ball to Calvert, who flipped it backward to the left halfback. Instead of racing to the right for a clear shot at the end, the halfback hurried the pass away and it went straight into the hands of a Benton man.

A low moan swept the stands. The band was silent, the cheerleader wilted and mute. Boos were heard as Benton froze to the ball for three plays, then punted out of danger. A moment later the timekeeper's pistol exploded.

AS Bill and Helen pushed slowly through the disconsolate crowd they recognized Pat Hurly, sports editor of the Daily Clarion, and heard him grumble, "That wouldn't have happened if Buck Mentor'd been coaching. What a time for razzle-dazzle!"

Wheeling his bicycle, Bill walked by Helen's side in silence. He thought of his father, sitting alone in pagan triumph. Crimson-skirted cheerleaders spun around like dervishes, pounding the air with their fists, chanting, "We want a touchdown!"

"Oh, Bill!" Helen's eyes shone as she joined her voice to the pandemonium. She danced up and down, grabbed Bill impulsively and kissed him. "Bill, Bill, they're going to do it!"

"Gee . . ." Bill stared at Helen, touching his fingers to his lips. "You . . . kissed me?"

"Oh . . ." Helen's cheeks flamed. "I didn't mean to, Bill. Honestly, I-I was excited and . . ."

Her voice was lost in wild cheering as Hart, West's fullback, bucked the line for five. The timekeeper signaled three minutes to play. The Benton boys looked tired. Straight, hard smashes would do it, Bill thought, trembling.

"Drive!" he prayed. The mild fall wind struck icily across his hot forehead. He could almost feel the hard, taut leather in his big hands. If he could only be down there now, carrying the ball, or even running interference. Throwing himself into a sweet roll block, clearing the way for a West man to score. Boy!

BUCK MENTOR sat in his invalid chair by the radio. On the table was his football notebook. A smile touched his gray eyes as he greeted his son. "Tough one, huh, fellow?" "Plenty," Bill agreed. "Buck, what do you think?"

Buck Mentor hunched big shoulders that seemed cramped by the invalid's chair, considered the question. Like Bill's, his hair was tar-black and cut crew fashion. His face was youthful, charged with suppressed energy. Only the shadowed, deep-set eyes told of his brooding. He was "Buck" to everyone, young or old.

"Bill, are you asking me to second-guess?" "You can tell me, Buck." He nodded, thumbing the bowl of his pipe. "Look, Bill, somebody used bad judgment tonight."

"Coach?" "Coach?" Buck shrugged. "If he ordered that play . . . which I doubt. That was a big-time razzle-dazzle. With plenty of practice a high school team might click it off, but . . ."

"That's what I thought." "Bill, I wouldn't say this to another human soul. It would sound pretty bad coming from a man who was refused the job of coaching West. But if that play had gone off, the whole west side would be raving about Landis tonight."

Bill frowned. "You mean he was grandstanding?" "It's possible. But remember, the Benton line had held once and might again. Landis or Calvert merely chose the spectacular rather than the sound way of trying for those yards."

"BUCK, I heard Pat Hurly say we'd have won if you'd been coaching."

"Or, if you'd been calling the plays," Buck said softly. "Football needs boys like you, Bill. You've got the body and brains." "Who taught me what I know?" Bill exploded. "And just let Landis boot a few more games . . ."

Buck dropped his hand to his son's shoulder. "We're not after another man's job, Bill."

"But, Buck, didn't the board say they might consider you?" "Yes . . . Yes, they did." Eager glints jumped into Buck Mentor's eyes. "And I'd give my soul to tackle the job, Bill."

Neglect of Accident Hazards Claims 32,000 Lives Annually in U. S. Homes

Falls and Burns Leading Causes, Red Cross Warns in Safety Appeal

Washington, D. C.—The American Home—traditionally the symbol of security and safety—rivals the highway as the scene of the nation's greatest number of accident fatalities.

In a statement issued here by the Home and Farm Accident Prevention Service of the American Red Cross, it was pointed out that accidents in the home, including falls, burns and other common mishaps, claimed 32,000 lives last year—only 600 less than the number of motor vehicle deaths.

Statistics showed that home deaths last year increased 500 over the preceding year and farm accidents increased 300.

In addition to a mounting death toll, home and farm accidents last year caused upwards of 4,700,000 injuries which resulted in economic losses running into millions of dollars.

To reduce the number of rural and urban accidents in and about the home, the American Red Cross in 1935 inaugurated its accident prevention program as a parallel project Services. This year, 9,000,000 "check lists" describing accident hazards and urging their removal will be distributed throughout the country.

Accident prevention is one of seven services conducted day-to-day by the American Red Cross in its tireless campaign against accidental death and suffering arising from disaster and other causes of emergency nature. These services are supported solely by members who join each year during Roll Call, November 11-30.

THE PAY OFF

BY HARRY GRAYSON NEA Service Sports Editor

PENNSYLVANIA'S running attack reminds football men of the better Pittsburgh teams. Lateral line blocking enabled the Quakers to run up 51 points on Maryland, 50 against Yale and 48 in the Princeton game.

Perhaps the opposition has been none too strong, but that's a lot of scoring on successive Saturdays. Bob Hall, the former quarterback who scouts for Yale, says he hasn't seen so many linemen out ahead of the ball carrier on sweeps and reverses since Jock Sutherland used to pull the Pitt guards and a tackle out on his famous deep reverse.

Pennsylvania guards fairly take off in getting out to lead Frank Reagan and Johnny Dutcher. Pennsylvania may not have the counterpart of Forest Ewaszewski as a blocking back, but Gene Davis does a thorough job, and Jim Chandler isn't far behind him.

A BREAK-AWAY runner like Reagan keeps the defense "honest," Hall, the old Blue, points out. "I mean that he takes full advantage of any gambling defensive maneuvers. If the opposing ends crash too sharply, he swings outside them, etc. Dutcher and Johnny Welsh, who alternate at wingback, also are exceptionally swift. The threat of their short side reverse sweeps makes Reagan doubly effective on his slice inside the strong side tackle, or its corollary, the in-and-out run.

REAGAN seems to roll away from the tackler's lunge," explains Dave Allerdice of the Princeton secondary defense. "He won't give you a good tackling angle. Even when you get a decent shot at him, he squirms, writhes and slithers out of your grip."

The supporting casts always will be the decisive factor in a meeting of such stars as Frank Reagan and Tom Harmon of Michigan. And the Pennsylvanians rolled into Ann Arbor confident that their indispensable would not suffer for lack of support.

Important for Women

A weak, run-down condition often gives a foothold to functional dysmenorrhea, causing much periodical distress from headaches, nervousness, cramp-like pain for women. CARDUI so often helps in such cases, for it sharpens appetite, boosts flow of gastric juices, so improves digestion, helps build physical resistance. CARDUI, if taken a few days before and during "the time," also helps to relieve periodical distress. Used 50 years.

Brotherhood To Meet This Evening

The speaker has made one trip around the world in recent years has spent some time in Western Europe visiting Germany, Russia, France, England and Italy. On these trips he gained first hand information from which he will illustrate his address.

Dr. Jenkins spoke to this group last March and is coming back at the request of the men. His talk will be interesting, illuminating and timely.

In addition to the address, John A. Ussery, promises an attractive menu for the occasion.

Highway Week To Be Observed Soon

AUSTIN, Tex.—A front-row seat will be provided Texans interested in seeing and studying the inner workings of the state's highway transportation show when it is spotlighted during Highway Week, December 2 to 6, inclusive. The main point of emphasis, during the week, according to an article in the November issue of Texas Parade, will be on the state highway financial picture with efforts concentrated on portraying to the public the vast amount of work that needs to be done on the highway system before it can be called "completed."

Through the press, public meetings and other agencies the Texas Good Roads Association will inaugurate a campaign to educate the people on the needs of Texas' highway system, the article reports and draws attention to the fact that "this highway system now holds the spotlight as one of the key links in the chain of national defense that is being forged. Texas highways thus will be called upon for heavy service when the rearmament program gets into full swing and the thousands of motor vehicles, motorized guns and infantry and supply lorries begin moving in large numbers."

"Estimates recently prepared by the Texas Highway Commission," the article suggests pointedly, "disclose that it will require the expenditure of $498,000,000 to complete work on the existing state highway system and on extensions of the system now on file with the Commission. The average annual income to the Highway Department available from all sources for construction purposes for the past 10 years has been about $30,000,000. On this basis, it will require 16 years to do the job that needs to be done today to adequately serve Texas' growing needs in the motor transportation field."

Open Season!

"A-hunting we will go!" Hunting jackets are coming down from attic pegs. Shotguns are being oiled lovingly. And Brer Rabbit, Brer Squirrel, Brer Fox and Brer Bear are busy hunting holes. Open season is here.

It's also open season, now, for value-hunters. Stores are stocking shelves for Christmas—and there are a lot of tempting clearances. Shirt sales are on the wing. Housefurnishings provide a fine target for modest purses. Linen for Thanksgiving may be needed. And Christmas shopping is just around the corner.

The advertisements in this paper are the best weapons for a value-hunter. They tell you where the game is thick and plentiful. They save you steps, and help make certain that your purchases are products of quality built to give lasting satisfaction. It will pay you to read them every day.
