Committees Urge Landowners Vote In Soil Election

This paper is just in receipt of a letter from J. B. Eberhart, chairman of the Eastland County Land Use Planning Committee as follows:

To all Eastland County Landowners and Their Wives:

We, the members of the Eastland County Land Use Planning Committee, in session at Eastland on Friday, November 22, voted unanimously to urge every person in Eastland County who is qualified to vote in the soil conservation district election on Saturday, December 14, to vote in the election and we recommend a vote in favor of formation of the district.

The members of this committee unanimously agree that the saving of our soil and its re-building are the greatest needs faced by the farm families of Eastland County. The job of re-building our soil and saving what we have left has been progressing too slowly and we think that the organization of a soil conservation district is essential to progress at this time.

A soil conservation district can combine all efforts to build our soil into one movement in the right direction.

A soil conservation district is a democratic body, totally run by the landowners themselves. It does not compel anyone to do anything unwillingly.

We urge every possible effort by everyone concerned to help put over this progressive movement.

J. B. Eberhart, Chairman,
Eastland County Land Use
Planning Committee.

U. S. Employment Office Swamped

Men were standing in line before the Texas Un-Employment Compensation office at the courthouse this morning seeking admittance in order to get work cards that they may obtain employment at some point where there is work to be done.

It is necessary that a workman have the proper credentials before he can go to work regardless of how badly he is needed or how badly he needs the work. These credentials for men in Eastland county can be secured only from the District office at Abilene or from a representative from that office who is sent to Eastland one day a week.

For two years the Texas Un-employment Compensation Commission maintained an office in Eastland, but has discontinued it.

Duckpin Champ

Ida Simmons has been ranked No. 1 among American women duckpin bowlers for the last six years. In an eight-year career, the Norfolk, Va., star has established more than 60 records of one type or another. She averaged 121.135 pins per game through 431 official games to retain No. 1 ranking last season.

Fascism Is Linked With The Weather By A Professor

CINCINNATI, O.—Increasingly warmer temperatures throughout the world may produce a trend toward dictatorial governments, in the opinion of Dr. Clarence A. Mills, professor of experimental medicine at the University of Cincinnati.

In fact, Dr. Mills believes that the rise to power of Adolf Hitler in Germany and Benito Mussolini in Italy may be due in part to the gradually warming temperatures of the world. People are more docile and easily led in warm weather than in cold, Dr. Mills insists.

Dr. Mills is author of a theory that climate has a marked effect on human growth, stature, sex development and disease resistance. He has written three books on the subject.

During the Dark Ages, when winter grapes grew in England and cereals in Ireland, men were small and sluggish. Warriors wore armor, now hanging in English museums, which would fit an average American boy of 13, Dr. Mills said.

Weather also has a marked effect on growth from year to year, Dr. Mills contends. In the hot summer of 1934, for instance, boys and girls of 13 were lighter in weight and shorter in stature than 13-year-olds of the previous year.

Dr. Mills believes that the present trend toward warmer average temperatures will continue for 800 to 900 years. During this period, boys and girls will mature later, they will be lighter and shorter, and they will have less resistance to infection, Dr. Mills predicts.

His experiments with thiamin, however, have led Dr. Mills to believe that this vitamin may play an important part in the retention of human vitality during the warmer periods on earth.

The theory that men and women mature physically more rapidly in warm climates is termed false by Dr. Mills, who has figures to prove his contention.

Girls born in the colder climate of Cincinnati in 1900 reached womanhood at the age of 18, he showed, while girls born in the same year in North Carolina matured, on the average, at more than 14 years of age.

Antelope Roundup Is Not So Easy

FORT DAVIS, Tex.—Texas game officials have the not-so-easy job on their hands of rounding up all antelope loose on the sprawling ranches of far West Texas.

The antelope roundup, being held for the second time in history, is the result of requests by ranchers. Most cattlemen have applied to the state to have the animals removed from their land, although a few have asked that the antelope be placed on their ranches.

Game officials have decided to make plantings of not less than 25 animals to each herd, because inspectors have found that herds of this size settle down and become accustomed to new ranges better than smaller groups.

42 Chairmen For Birthday Balls Have Been Named

NEW YORK.—As evidence of the enthusiastic and wide-spread support of the "Fight Infantile Paralysis" Campaign, 42 state chairmen have accepted appointment on the Committee for the Celebration of the President's Birthday, Keith Morgan, National Chairman, made known today.

Since announcement of the campaign and the appointment of Mr. Morgan as National Chairman by President Roosevelt several days ago, a stream of acceptances from leaders in the fight have been pouring into National Headquarters.

It is now believed that the organization division of the committee, under Col. D. Walker Wear, Assistant Chairman, will have all of the 48 states set up and ready to go by December 15. As headquarters hummed with a rush of activity, Mr. Morgan said:

"This is another good sign that America is united solidly in building up its national defense. As the President said, 'The health of our boys and girls, and young men and women is one of the front lines of our national defense.' We will see that that front line is not weakened.

"Thus far, 42 state chairmen have volunteered for duty. Of this total, 30 were on our team last year. We will have chairmen in every state in a very short time."

Couple Enjoys A Snowbound Winter

BOISE, Ida.—Mr. and Mrs. Everett Shine are looking forward to a long hard winter when they will be cut off from civilization by heavy snow—and will like it.

They both admitted they enjoyed their life of seclusion as they loaded flour, matches, brown sugar, beans, dried fruit, canned vegetables and other supplies for the winter before returning to the snow-bound hills north of Boise.

Living 18 miles from the nearest postoffice doesn't seem to bother the couple, because they feel that life in the wild forest country has solved their economic problems in good style.

Unemployment and pride drove the Shines into the hills to make a living shortly after the depression struck.

Shine had been a cook but was thrown out of work. Relating their story as they were stocking up for the winter, Shine said he and his wife collected all their possessions, sold or traded them for equipment to live in the mountains.

"When you're out of work you've got to do something—or go on relief," Mrs. Shine added.

During the summer they built a sluice box and panned gold from the hills above Idaho City. With the money they purchased a pair of dogs and heavy clothing for the winter.

Improving Daniel Boone headgear by sewing a pair of squirrel skins onto the collar ripped from Mrs. Shine's fur coat, the husband started a trap line. The first winter's trapping was hard because Shine had to make his rounds on foot.

But the next year his dogs—which he says are a cross between police dogs and timber wolves—had produced a litter of pups which were large enough to draw a sleigh and carry him to his trap lines.

This winter they will keep abreast of world affairs with a battery-powered radio set.

Mrs. Shine, who does not have the ordinary housewife's worry over the meat budget, says it will cost them about $100 to live through the winter. They will get most of their meat by killing wild animals.

Rent is free, Mrs. Shine pointed out, and they don't need any money for movies or other entertainment.

There is plenty of work to keep both busy. They get up at dawn, chop wood, prepare the meals, skin and tan the hides of animals they trap, and take care of the trap lines. Mrs. Shine runs a short line near the cabin to make "pin money."

"You can have your Boise—or any other city," they both agreed, "We'll take the mountains."

NO ARMISTICE IS FORESEEN BY CHURCHILL

Great Britain today vetoed any suggestion of a Christmas war armistice, as the Greeks slashed at the Italian lines from Yugoslavia to Albania.

The Greeks reported capture of the North Italian base at Pogradee, but faced an organizing Fascist counter attack. A sudden Greek raid in the vicinity of the vital Porta Edda resulted in the destruction of communication lines, the readers reported.

Prime Minister Winston Churchill turned down, in advance, any armistice this year and other Britons informed Bulgaria that that country's independence will be guaranteed if the Axis alliance is avoided.

The Bulgars conferred, meanwhile, with the Russians, and many observers believed that Moscow had advised them to stay clear of the Axis alliance, too.

Another German air raid was made today on Bristol, England, but the results of this latest air raid were not announced. London had spent a quiet 24 hours, with few air alarms and no bombs being dropped.

Homemakers Club Of Colony Meets

The Homemakers Club of Colony met recently and after a short business session the club's creed was read by Marie Groce, chairman of the program committee, and Jewel Harris reviewed the history of Texas Homemakers Clubs.

The year's program for the club is based on the homemaker's part in the national defense. Pamphlets have been received by each member of the club on how balanced meals aid in developing happy, healthy families.

The first year class served Thanksgiving refreshments to the club.

Those present were Christine Ferguson, Alice Basee, June Eakins, Georgia Mae Baggett, Marie Groce, Gilma Townsend, Zelma Bowen, Yvonne Smith, Jewel Harris, Aline Bowen, Maxine Harris, Reba Forman, Bonnie Lois Beard, Lois Nell Eakins, and Mrs. Guy T. Smith, the club sponsor.

Walter-Logan Bill Passed By Senate

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—The Senate today passed, by a 27 to 25 vote, the Walter-Logan bill to allow court review of decisions by such quasi-judicial agencies as the National Labor Relations Board.

The administration opposed considering this house-passed bill now, and it was hinted that President Roosevelt might veto it on the ground that it will "hamstring" vital federal boards."

Christmas Seal Sale Will Aid in Tuberculosis War

AUSTIN, Tex.—Today with the launching of the 34th annual Christmas Seal Sale sponsored by the national, state and county tuberculosis associations, America presents a solid front against the dread disease with every constructive factor in the country lending assistance, Dr. Z. T. Scott of the Texas association declared.

"Led by President Roosevelt, his cabinet, members of congress and state governors including Governor W. Lee O'Daniel and his family, the sale of the stamp seals for Yule season mail and packages will be a tremendous success," Dr. Scott predicted.

"Despite the many and extremely worthwhile appeals which have been made this year, the Christmas Seal campaign for the protection of our own children and citizenship from tuberculosis has become one of the great traditional nation-wide undertakings in America," he said. "Its appeal is in a great common cause and its flexibility gives each person no matter how young or old, how rich or poor an opportunity to participate. Already the pre-sale orders have come in from the banks of the state and from scores of Texans who traditionally make Christmas Seal purchases a regular part of their philanthropy. It shares with other great causes the bond of human interest and a real humanitarian need," Dr. Scott, volunteer managing director of the Texas Tuberculosis Association added.

The seal which has become a widely sought aid in some instances a valuable collectors item—this year depicts three small children lifting their voices in song and is designed in traditional holiday color. Several of the stamps on the sheet of 100 have only one figure with the caption: "Protect us from tuberculosis."

The remainder of the Yuletide wish, "Merry Christmas, 1940."

Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel will devote a part of his December 1 program to the Christmas Seal Sale and the work of the national and state tuberculosis program, his office has announced. Newspapers throughout Texas have each year given thousands of dollars in free space to the Christmas seal campaign, and radio stations, outdoor advertising companies and other agencies have, without cost, given time and facilities to the program. Most of the work of the nation wide sale is done by volunteer workers, some of whom have served since the beginning of the Christmas seal plan 34 years ago without compensation, state headquarters here declared.

Dr. Scott explained that every citizen is reached with a supply of seals throughout Texas but that many cannot be reached. He urged that those who do not get seals through the mails this week, write to state headquarters here or to county tuberculosis associations for a supply. The stamps are $1.00 a sheet of one hundred or one cent each.

WOOD FOR A LONG TIME

RALEIGH, N. C.—State Department of conservation statistics show that approximately 20,000,000,000 feet of usable timber is still standing in North Carolina forests.

FLOODS OVER SOUTH TEXAS ARE EXPECT

Amarillo dug out from beneath broken trees, shrub utility lines today as sunshined an ice storm, but east Texas still was facing serious flood damage.

Repair crews from a score of cities helped restore utility lines, but Amarillo, still without water and power facilities, though both had been repaired until parts of the city have been cut off.

All schools in the city, closed, not because of the ice, but because of the danger of broken power lines, which many of the streets. No fire reported while the town was cut off water, though high electric lines snapped and where they had been broken the weight of ice.

Along the San Jacinto near Houston, residents prepared for the worst floods in years. East Texas rivers were rising from the week of heavy over Texas, but only one had been reported today, though an elderly hunting guide.

Continued cold was in prospect but there was no forecast of rain in the state.

Dalhart, Pampa, Dumas, other North Panhandle cities were thawing out, but the age from the ice there was than at Amarillo. Officials predicted that moisture from rain and sleet would benefit and would partly offset the damage done by ice.

Check Accident Off of Christmas List is Advis

CHICAGO.—Check accident off your Christmas list!

The National Safety Council made that appeal today to drivers and pedestrians throughout the nation in an effort to slow down the heavy December traffic toll.

Each year, the Council points out, the Christmas spirit—"Peace on Earth, Good Will toward Men," undergoes an iron transformation. It is converted to suffering and sorrow through wholesale slaughter on the streets and highways.

Thirty-two national organizations are joining the Council in the drive, which has a two-fold purpose.

Not only is it aimed at blight on Christmas happening but it is a last-ditch fight to keep traffic fatalities this year from soaring far above 1939.

Last year 3,540 persons were killed in December traffic. This year highway deaths have been running ahead of last year. This means, the Council says, that the nation will pile up one of the biggest holiday traffic tolls unless drivers carry the Christmas spirit onto the highways and pedestrians do their part by being extra careful.

Why does December invariably bring one of the heaviest traffic tolls—more than one and a half times as great as June, the safe month?

The Council blames bad weather, more hours of darkness at the Christmas holiday rush. Thwart these traffic bugaboos, suggests:

1. Don't drive if you drink.
2. Balance more darkness and bad weather with less speed and more caution. Start earlier.
3. Don't let the hustle and bustle of the holiday season make you impatient or careless when you drive or walk. Take it easy.

In addition to appealing to drivers and pedestrians, the Council is taking its campaign straight to governors, motor vehicle administrators and highway patrol chiefs, to mayors and police chiefs and to thousands of safety leaders.

"We hope everyone will enlist in this campaign to reduce traffic tragedy during the holiday season," said Col. John Stilwell, president of the National Safety Council. "Certainly there is no better way of expressing the Christmas spirit than by sparing others the grief of a traffic accident. No one can have a happy Christmas if he has an accident."

Newspapers and Public Service

In some querulous quarters there is a tendency to say that newspapers in the United States no longer fill their ancient function of rendering public service to their city, state and the nation as a whole. It is one of those things that are easily refutable.

Let's take the case of the state of Louisiana. For 12 long years—and they were mainly also Long years—the state was dominated by a machine that seemed impregnable. It controlled the courts, the police powers, the election machinery, the treasury, and the schools and universities.

Even after Huey Long's assassination, the machine continued to function.

Then it was that a number of courageous papers which had been fighting Long took up the battle with even more vigor. They wanted to lift the state from its thralldom. They wanted to oust the grafters. They wanted to restore the state to its people.

They succeeded in abundant measure. The Long machine was broken. Many of its leaders went to prison. Wonders have been brought about in six short months.

State job-holders no longer have to give up part of their pay to a machine. The state payrolls now show fewer than 6000 employes, instead of double that number.

The courts have been reformed. Supplies for the state are being procured at honest market prices.

But the battle has not been entirely won. It takes time. There are those who still yearn for the freshpots of the good old days and are ready to fight for their return. So there is need for vigilance on the part of the state's press.

One of the men still watchful on the firing line is James E. Crown, fighting editor of the fighting New Orleans States. He does not mince words. He knows that when one is in a hard political battle, powder-puff language is futile.

Old-fashioned meat-ax phrases are needed. Editor Crown supplies them. When he goes after a man, the object of his attention knows it. He is likely to call a spouter a person afflicted with "hydrophobia of the mouth." If he thinks a politician is a liar, he says: "once a liar always a liar."

That kind of verbal high explosive helped smash the demagoguery of the Long machine. It is most probably that kind which will finish off the pieces.

A red flannel festival in Cedar Springs, Mich., was a big success. Likely because everybody was just itching to attend.

We'd hate to have happen to us what happened to Mussolini when he drove in for a Greece job.

Had that Rumanian quake happened in England Hitler would have lost little time claiming it as his new secret weapon.

Freckles and His Friends—By Blosser

An Old Marksman Is Ready To Serve Again In Army

By United Press
BILLINGS, Mont.—If the call comes again, Capt. Horace W. Bivins will go back into army life, but the fine enthusiasm and skill that won him 32 citations as a young man has faded a little at his present age, 74.

The Negro reserve officer, a veteran of the two Cuban campaigns, three Philippine campaigns and the World War, now engages in the peaceful occupation of truck-gardening and raises sweet potatoes as a hobby. If he is called back into service, he said he would prefer to serve with a home guard unit here, while the Montana National Guard is in active service. But failing in this, he added, he wants to serve under Brig. Gen. Benjamin O. Davis, the first Negro general in the history of the army.

Capt. Bivins and Gen. Davis were buddies in the Philippine campaigns, and once held the equal rank of squadron sergeant-major in the cavalry. Recently, Capt. Bivins compiled with the War Department's request to answer a questionnaire so the department could determine whether it wanted to call him back into service. He also took the required physical examination and was found to be in far better condition than the average man years younger.

But where Bivins believes he might be of real service to the army is in instructing rookies in the art of marksmanship. At various times the Negro captain led the army in marksmanship with both carbine and revolver. He holds what he believes to be a record never equaled in the army—that of winning five gold medals for marksmanship in a single year in army competition. This was in 1894.

In 1896, so widespread was Bivins' fame as a crack shot, that Col. W. F. (Buffalo Bill) Cody tried to sign him to a contract with the Wild West show Cody headed. It was the colonel's plan to have Bivins compete with Annie Oakley, the show's feminine crack shot. But at that time, Bivins was in line for promotion to the rank of ordnance sergeant, and decided to remain in the army. He became a commissioned officer—one of the few Negroes to achieve this rank—during the World War.

CLUB CAFE
South Rusk St. - Ranger

The game should have double interest for football fans who have been following the Pups this year, because the Pups have always turned in a good game and because the proceeds will be used to buy sweaters for the team.

An admission price of 50 cents is being charged for the game and an advance ticket sale is being conducted. The football fans of the city have been urged to give the Pups a little consideration by purchasing tickets and, if possible, attend the game. The Pups have had an excellent season, and have turned in thrilling football games on every occasion when they have played, either in Ranger or in other towns.

Some of the Pups, too, will be the Bulldogs of next year, and fans who have not seen the team play this year can "scout" the possibilities for additional strength for the Bulldogs of 1941.

Rural Schools are Important in Life Of Their Sections

WASHINGTON.—Pupils of schools in villages and open country grade roads, build sidewalks, plant shrubs and flowers, undertake mosquito control and forest fire prevention, conduct local health surveys, work to conserve local resources, assist in civic meetings, religious services, recreational events, and in numerous other projects as practical training for citizenship, according to the Educational Policies Commission of the National Education Association in a report which follows a nationwide investigation of how high schools teach youth to appreciate the duties and privileges of democracy.

The Lincoln Consolidated School located near Ypsilanti, Michigan, was cited by the Commission in its report for a program of cooperation with the community in which it is located. This rural school has become a center for community gatherings of all kinds—religious services, adult education programs, recreational events, the community fair, and meetings of clubs and other organizations. A rural consolidated school drawing many of its students from a large rural area and located in Elerbee, a small North Carolina town, has achieved a remarkable program of village beautification. For over ten years pupils have cooperated in grading walks and roads and in planting shrubs and flowers throughout the town—at school, homes and churches. These activities have enabled the students to improve their own community while learning much about landscaping as well as the value of civic activity.

the country, a constructive effort is made to fit the needs of both. The studies of town students are planned to follow trends of an annual survey of local business conditions, while country students enter a vocational class to receive practice in scientific methods by actually farming a plot of land usually donated for the purpose by their fathers. Student activities to improve community health and to aid conservation of local resources were successfully carried on in a small Tennessee town where the ninth grade of the Norris High School, Norris, Tennessee, formulated a plan of mosquito control and put it into effect. Students in this community make it a better place in which to live by other activities which include planting game food, reforestation, erosion control, clearing of fire lanes, and surveys of the possibilities of pasturing certain sections of nearby land.
