CHILE ABSORBS 2200 REFUGEES IN FIRST TEST

SANTIAGO, Chile—The first major experiment in collective immigration in modern Chilean history has proved extremely gratifying, authorities here declare. On Sept. 2, 1939, 2,200 Spanish refugees landed at Valparaiso from the French liner Winnipeg. They had been released from French concentration camps at the end of the Spanish civil war.

Many Chileans professed themselves skeptical about the outcome of the experiment. They feared that the Spaniards either would displace Chilean workers or become a dead-weight on national economy. Some saw danger in this influx of refugees, many of whom were avowed radicals. The situation was complicated further by the fact that on the day before the Winnipeg's arrival in Valparaiso German armies had invaded Poland, setting the spark to a conflagration which would inevitably cause economic repercussions all over the world.

Those fears proved unfounded. The Spanish exiles adapted themselves to a new life in a strange country and have become useful members of Chilean society. Chilean textile, glass and shoe industries, which had to increase their production as a result of curtailed imports from Europe, found employment for Catalan technicians from Barcelona, Badelona, Tarrasa and Sabadell.

Lina Medina, Peruvian child-mother, is 8 years old. Her son, Gerardo Alejandro, whose birth amazed the medical world in 1939 is now 2½. OIL INDUSTRY SIMPLIFIES ITS CASING SIZES

Reduction of more than 50 per cent in the number of sizes, weights, and grades of steel casing used in the petroleum industry, made by the American Petroleum Institute's Committee on the Standardization of Oil County Tubular Goods to increase efficiency of oil production, is regarded also as a direct aid to national defense by simplifying manufacturing procedure.

Details of the simplified casing list, published as Supplement No. 1 to API Standards 5-A, 11th Edition, by the Institute's Division of Production headquarters, 1205 Continental Building, Dallas, Texas, indicate that the number of casing units required by the industry has been reduced to 95 from more than 200. Four grades of steel once generally applicable to all sizes and weights of casing now are limited to specific sizes and weights. Five-inch and 16-inch casing are to be available only in three grades, and 20-inch casing only in two. All other standard sizes will be available in three to seven weights in four grades.

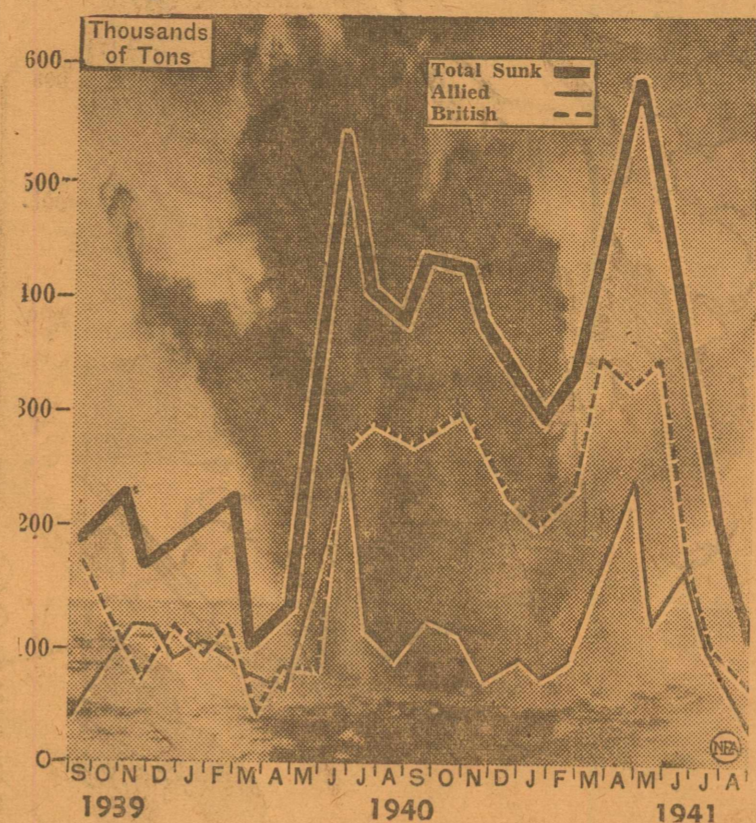

It was explained that exhaustive study by Institute committees had resulted in a simplified list of casing of necessary sizes, weights, and strengths to insure proper completion of oil wells now being drilled or contemplated without loss or sacrifice of sufficient strength to meet the varying conditions prevailing throughout the industry. The large number of units required prior to simplification was a natural development in meeting the needs for proper drilling. The experience so gained has made it possible to simplify the casing list and, despite the decreased number of sizes, weights and grades, to extend the available range upward in strength for deep wells, downward in size for "slim holes," and downward in weight for shallow wells. Equivalent or nearly equivalent items have been eliminated from the casing list in favor of carefully selected items uniformly covering the field.

In order for the industry to effect the simplification without loss or hardship, it has been suggested that users of pipe should not demand new items until present stocks of equivalent old items are used up, that vendors and manufacturers should not replenish stocks of items which are not on the simplified list, and that users should not expect to get items which are not on the new list after present stocks are exhausted.

The casing simplification movement was inaugurated by the Institute's California District Subcommittee on Tubular Goods, of which C. W. Froome, of Union Oil Co. of California, Sante Fe Springs, Cal., is chairman. The simplified list was developed by a Subcommittee on Standardization of Oil Country Tubular Goods.

The simplified list follows:
Four and one-half inch—3 weights, 4 grades.
Five inch—4 weights, 3 grades.
Five and one-half inch—6 weights, 4 grades.
Six inch—4 weights, 4 grades.
Six and five-eighths inch—5 weights, 4 grades.
Seven inch—8 weights, 4 grades.
Seven and five-eighths inch—6 weights, 4 grades.
Eight and five eighths inch—7 weights, 4 grades.
Nine and five-eighths inch—7 weights, 4 grades.
Ten and three-fourths inch—5 weights, 4 grades.
Eleven and three fourths inch—5 weights, 4 grades.
Thirteen and three-eighths inch—5 weights, 4 grades.
Sixteen inch—4 weights, 3 grades.
Twenty inch—1 weight, 2 grades.

RUSSIA CLAIMS A BIG PANZER DRIVE TOWARD MOSCOW IS BROKEN UP

Pilot In Swap For Burro Has Trouble

By United Press

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—Two airline pilots who like to hunt made a swap and when it materialized, one had a faulty deer rifle and the other a flop-eared, sad-eyed burro whose worth will never meet the upkeep.

Clifford Abbott, stratoliner captain, started it when he complained bitterly about his rifle to W. G. "Swede" Gullen, superintendent of Transcontinental & Western Air, Inc., flight training center at Albuquerque, N. M.

"One of those days that rifle is liable to shoot around a mountain and kill a game warden," Abbott said. "I'd trade it for anything."

"I'll swap you a burro," said Gullen.

It had to be gentle and delivered in Kansas City, said Abbott, and the deal was made.

Then Gullen's trouble started. A "desert canary," common to New Mexico, is not gentle. A health certificate must be obtained for any such animals exported. The burro must be registered, a state cattle permit obtained, and there are other legal necessities. Gullen found a family pet, bought it, and paid the freight to Kansas City. He was out $350.

Then Abbott's trouble began. He began house-hunting. His landlady said he couldn't keep a donkey in her apartment.

The Russian Red Army reported today that a powerful Nazi panzer offensive heading for Moscow, under Hitler's orders, had been crushed and Berlin countered with a claim that 574,000 Soviet prisoners had been captured in a mop up of the Kiev pocket.

Private sources reported to the United Press that adoring band of Canadian troops had made a night landing on the coast of France recently and had carried off 28 high Nazi officers and important war documents.

Moscow's report on crushing the Nazi panzer drive on Moscow claimed that more than 30,000 casualties had been inflicted upon the crack armored corps of Col. Gen. Heinz Guderian, top-ranking Nazi panzer specialist, "who was said to have been entrusted with the assignment."

The offensive started in the Bryansk Sector, apparently late in August, and was broken after three successive German attempts to break through.

The new Nazi prisoner total for the Kiev pocket was claimed in a special communique of the high command which reported destruction of more Russian forces was imminent.

Berlin admitted, however, that the Russians had made powerful counter attacks at an unspecified sector of the front, but claimed that the Soviet advance had been stopped. German bombers were reported to have sunk nine ships from a Soviet convoy on Lake Ladoga.

Myron C. Taylor, the president's special emissary to the Vatican arrived in London today. He flew there from Lisbon, instead of proceeding direct to the United States as expected. Taylor was believed to have delivered a personal message to the Pope from President Roosevelt and received the Pope's reply to the communication.

While neutral dispatches told of Hitler's efforts to raise a Balkan-Italian army of 1,000,000 men to bolster the Nazi invasion forces, the Russians said that airplanes, tanks, cavalry and infantry had joined to break up the enemy drive toward Orel, on the main railroad line from Moscow to the key Donets Basin and the City of Kharkov.

The Germans were estimated to have lost 20,000 men in action in the past few days.

Defense Quiz

Q. Just what is inflation and how can it be minimized?
A. Inflation is a decrease in the buying power of the dollar caused by a rising cost of living. This, in turn, is brought about by a heavy public demand, resulting from a rapid increase in the national income. Things which cannot be produced in large enough quantities. Every citizen can help minimize inflation by buying Defense Bonds and Stamps.

Q. What can I do to help my son who has just entered military service?
A. Your boy must be clothed, fed, and supplied with the latest equipment. This requires money. Buy a Defense Savings Bond and help the Government to equip your son.

Chair Takes 542 New York Lives

By United Press

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y.—Fifty years ago, four somber-faced men walked the "last mile" in Sing Sing prison, marking the first executions at New York's famed penal institution.

Since that day, 471 condemned persons have been put to death in the downstate prison's electric chair. There were five women among the 471.

James Slocum was the first to "walk the last mile." When the switch was thrown and Slocum pronounced dead by the prison physician, a white flag was hoisted.

Next came Harris Smiler. A few brief moments after he sat in the chair, a blue flag was hoisted and Smiler had paid the price.

Then a black flag went up. Negro Joe Wood was the third member of the quartet. Finally Shibusya Jugiro, a Japanese, was led down the "last mile," and shortly a red flag was hoisted. All had paid for their lives of crime.

Present during the execution was Edward F. Davis, who later became official executioner, a post he held for several years.

A prison guard was enlisted as the first official switch-thrower, but as the institution grew and executions became a more common occurrence, the state hired an official executioner.

The five women who paid with their lives were Martha Place, Ruth Snyder, Anna Antonio, Eve Coe and Mary Creighton.

The first executions were secret. Crowds assembled at the prison gates hours before the scheduled time—4:30. They were not admitted. Neither were newspapermen. Many of the regulations governing executions since have been changed and newspapermen are admitted now.

New York State had exacted the supreme penalty from 542 persons throughout the state's fifty-five years put to death in Auburn prison, and 26 in Clinton prison. The remainder were executed in Sing Sing.

PLAY TROUPES TO BE FORMED WITHIN ARMY

By United Press

CLEVELAND, O.—Western Reserve University is preparing to launch one of the largest single movements in the nation to bolster army morale and provide entertainment for the more than 1,500,000 men under arms by drawing upon talent in the ranks.

The program, drawing its funds from the Citizens' Committee for the Army and Navy, Inc., with Thomas J. Watson of New York City as its head, is co-operating with the National Theater Conference.

Barclay S. Leatham, director of drama at Western Reserve, is executive director of the program and plans to organize the natural talent in the army into thousands of stage casts to entertain nightly the men now in the army.

No Lack of Talent
"It is a job of dealing professionally with the amateur actor in camp," Leatham said. "There probably never was a more select group of young men collected than we have in the army."

"There is enough talent in the army today to furnish the dramatic world with its stars of stage and screen for years to come—we're going to organize it for the boys themselves to enjoy."

The plan has been tried at Fort Bliss, Texas, and Fort Bragg, N. C. Leatham has received applications from 300 persons for the nine directors and advisers who are to be assigned one to each of the nine Army Corps areas in the nation.

As soon as the nine directors are selected, the War Department morale office, which is heading the movement, will notify camp commanders there is available professional advice and organization ability to develop talent in the various camps.

Camps to Have Voice
The dramatic director will choose the talent, study the facilities of the camp and advise the plays to produce.

At Ft. Bragg there are 40,000 or more men. There are more than 40 field houses and service units seating from 400 to 2,000 persons each. The plan proposes to reach down in the army to the "company"—a unit of 200 men.

Leatham believes it would not be too optimistic to say that 100,000 amateurs and some professionals in the service would become active in the program.

He explains that the plays themselves are only a part of the morale feature of the program. The fact that every company will have "several buddies" in the cast, Leatham says, will bring interest to each man in the army.

Four CCC Camps Assist Farmers To Contour Acreage

By United Press

AMARILLO, Tex.—Four camps of CCC enrollees, containing 650 men, now are assisting farmers in the Texas Panhandle with complete soil conservation programs.

The camps are located at Memphis, Perryton, Floydada and Morton, the latter two having been removed from Littlefield and Lamme.

Working within a 25-mile radius of camp and under direction of Soil Conservation Service technicians, the CCC enrollees are in heavy demand, according to W. E. Donner, CCC administrator for the conservation service in the southern Great Plains region.

"While enrollees in CCC camps are making a lasting contribution to the program of conserving the soil of the nation, they, likewise, are receiving benefits which would prove of great value to them in the future," Donner said.

Besides building health in thousands of youths, the CCC in a year, Donner said, provides work experience and training for approximately 60,000 drivers of trucks, tractors and other motorized equipment; 15,000 mechanics, 60,000 road builders, 7,500 bridge builders, 8,000 explosives handlers and 5,000 cooks and bakers.

All this training fits readily into military and defense programs.

The CCC annually teaches 10,000 youths to read and write, 5,000 a complete grade school education, 1,000 a high school course and 100 are graduated from college while attending the CCC.

Son of Spindletop Oil Pioneer Will Dedicate Monument

By United Press

BEAUMONT, Texas—Son of a Spindletop oil pioneer, George A. Hill Jr., of Houston will dedicate the monument to that field's first oil well during the Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association convention here Oct. 9-11.

The dedication of the tall granite shaft will climax the celebration of the fortieth anniversary of the Spindletop field, J. Cooke Wilson, convention chairman, said. The program, scheduled for Thursday afternoon, Oct. 9, will be broadcast.

One of the leading oil producers of the nation, Mr. Hill is head of the division of production of the American Petroleum Institute. His hobby is research into Texas history, in which field he is author of two books. He is an authority on the early history of Spindletop, America's first great oil field.

Mr. Hill's father was active during the boom days of the field. While there, Mr. Hill Sr. was chairman of the first conservation board in the history of the oil industry, heading a committee under authority from the district court there to see that operators completed their wells properly with adequate safety precautions.

A number of prominent oilmen who got their start at Spindletop in 1901 also will take part in the dedicatory program now being arranged.

From the Depths, Brotherhood Is Rising

On Sept. 1, 1939, Adolf Hitler unleashed tremendous forces in the world.

His own forces he knew—the terror of fire and sword. The other forces he knew not—the spirit of brotherhood which is being born in the ashes of adversity in a dozen countries, among a score of peoples; the spirit which may change the world as no destructive fury of the Nazis can ever change it. Aggression and oppression have never failed to unite their victims in bonds of strength which eventually grew into mighty power overwhelming the persecutor.

China was disunited, a formless mass of opposing factions. Then came the Japanese invasion, and today—China united, her diverse peoples fused into a brotherhood of suffering whose strength is only beginning to be seen.

Britain was disunited, a people torn by class distinctions and diverse views. The Nazi bombers came, and today—a tight little island fortress whose people are one in the brotherhood of their great effort, a spiritual power yet to be reckoned with.

Thus with the Jewish captivity in Egypt and Babylon—captives and slaves, the Jews became brothers in their persecution. Today they live and thrive—but where are Babylon and Egypt?

Thus with the persecuted Christians of Rome. St. Paul was in prison, but he converted his guards. The Christians were a persecuted minority in Rome. Yet Christianity covers the globe today, and where are the Romans?

Assistant Secretary of State Berle brought these examples down to modern times in a recent conference on science, philosophy and religion at Columbia University. In most of Europe today, he noted, the Nazis compel the Jews to wear the yellow Star of David. They intend it as a badge of dishonor. But it is a signal of brotherhood; an outward sign to distinguish brothers, symbol of an inward and unconquerable strength. Polish Catholics are also compelled to wear a distinguished badge. Shall they not greet one another as brothers, just as the early Christians did in Rome?

The greater the persecution, the stronger the brotherhood that rises from it. It is this spirit, rising from this horrible but inescapable way of driving in upon men their essential brotherhood, that will not only beat Hitler in the end, but guide the world toward better, cleaner ways of living together in a common world.

FLEEING THE WRATH TO COME

We have been taught by the highest authority that "whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap." This is true not only in the agricultural but in the business, intellectual and especially in the spiritual world.

There is no way to sow the seeds of sin or any of the vast varieties of that dangerous and hideous thing and avoid a harvest. There is nothing in nature or science more exact and certain than that sin brings suffering. After a while the penalty must be paid.

SERIAL STORY

BRIDE FROM THE SKY

BY HELEN WELSHIMER

COPYRIGHT, 1941, NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: Judy Allen finally feels that her mixed-up life is straightened out when she decides to marry handsome, dependable Philip Rogers, attorney for the magazine of which she is an associate editor. Instead of having a "hot Sandi" as her fiancée, she is surprised to find that she does not care for him, that she does love Philip. Her plans are going forward, with nothing to disturb Judy except the possibility of trouble with her jealous secretary, Sara Potter. Then Sandy makes an appearance the day before the wedding. Judy's father, not knowing his daughter once thought herself in love with Sandy, is puzzled.

SANDY IS PERSISTENT

JUDY ALLEN at once sought his pretty, plump wife and explained that an intruder had entered the drawing room.

"Oh, I know," she explained with a funny, feminine laugh that had been nice at 20 but was misplaced at 50. "It's that aviator... the one Judy used to mention sometimes. He made a parachute and intended to marry Judy if anybody bought it or something of the sort. Nobody wanted it, though."

"Should I ask him to leave?"

"Oh, dear me, no!" Her gold curls shook. "Maybe he'll be famous some day."

In the drawing room, meantime, Judy had accepted the silver tea service, asked Sandy to sit down, and uncovered a plate of cinnamon toast. Sandy was out of place in his boots, his khaki trousers tucked into them, his leather jacket.

"Any of my bridesmaids will be thrilled to see you," she told him as she handed him an ancestral cup. "I have some pretty ones. And they'll be beautiful tomorrow with their cartwheel hats and cherry ruffles with black velvet ribbons."

"I didn't come to select a bridesmaid," he answered, putting down the silver cup, strolling to the long French windows and looking at a clump of green bushes which concealed a bend in the road. "I came about us."

"About us?"

Strange that she could laugh so casually this afternoon.

He turned from the window and walked toward her swiftly. He did not touch her, but the old glory was in his eyes when he looked at her.

"Judy, Judy, how did we ever come to such a pass?" he asked.

"How did we ever come to such a pass?" she repeated, her voice cold. "Darling, you were fun for short jaunts, but people have to pay rent on this earth! To pay rent men need steady jobs. Why not find someone like, say, Peg, who doesn't need to do anything but look beautiful?"

His eyes had looked tired. Now suddenly he grinned. "Jealous?" he asked.

"A little when I get to romancing. Not much, though, because I'm getting the best of the bargain." Oddly enough she meant it, looking at Sandy's careless flying attire, remembering the perfection of Phil's suits, perfection that sacrificed nothing to masculinity.

DUSK WAS COMING RAPIDLY

A pretty bridesmaid stuck her head through the draperies and reminded Judy that it was time to meet the bridegroom.

"Goodby—good hunting," Judy told the tall young aviator.

"Goodby, Judy," he said, and held out a browned, muscular hand. "We'll not be meeting. I like high ceilings best. Maybe I'll find a star and give it your name."

Then he was gone, quietly, quickly, leaving no echoes.

Philip came a little later, escorted by a few of his ushers. Two of the ushers already had arrived, two more were expected before the rehearsal dinner. The old house was filled with youth and song and music. The group became more reverent at the church where rehearsal was held.

When Phil caught Judy in his arms and drew her close in the dimly lighted vestibule, she surrendered to him, forgetting the disturbing caller of a few hours ago.

Phil was everything she wanted. He was everything her family wanted for her.

The mood sustained her through the morning. She watched the house become more beautiful under the florist's pattern of decorating.

She admired the bride's cake, watched two maids cut the wedding cake and place the pieces in the waiting boxes. She gave her mother a list of names of people in New York to whom some of the boxes should be sent.

Every house guest was resting, waiting for the wedding, when Miss Mattie, the town dressmaker, knocked against Judy's door.

"Were you sleeping?" she asked, as though she had entered a place sacred to Cherubim and Seraphim. "It's the lace on the wedding dress. Your grandmother's dress, that I remade for you. I found a worm thread a little while ago, which I never noticed in the final fitting."

Judy slipped the billowy masser of lace and tulle ruffles over her head. She stood still, not even objecting when the dressmaker adjusted the veil and asked her to slip into the white satin pumps.

THE TELEPHONE ON HER DESK

begun to ring and she smiled at Miss Mattie, motioning her to leave the room. "I'll bring the dress to the sewing room for any final stitches," she promised, picking up the receiver.

"Judy dear?" Phil asked. "You're supposed to be asleep."

"So are you, and furthermore you aren't to see the bride on the wedding day before you meet her at the altar—or aren't you planning to be there?"

She laughed a little huskily, a little shakily, because marriage was so new, so strange.

From the living room below she heard the orchestrated rhythm of the wedding march where five musicians followed Mendelssohn down a vista of familiar sound.

"Enjoying the concert?" she asked Phil. "Are you sure you'll be ready on time?"

"More than ready. I have my silk topper, my gloves, my gardenia—everything I need. I'll be seeing you at the altar. Goodby, honey."

Making no move to remove her dress, Judy started to brush her glowing hair. She felt peaceful, rested, not at all excited. "I was more excited on my first merry-go-round," she said aloud.

"How did you expect to feel? As though you were going into a tailspin?" a man's low voice asked.

Turning, Judy saw Sandy wearing his best uniform today, climbing over the window sill from the terrace outside her room.

"You see, honey, Phil would make a deplorable husband for you." He held her firmly by the wrists. "That, my sweet, is why you are marrying me."

1942 Chevrolet On Display Today At Anderson-Pruett

New massiveness, contributing to the smartest styling ever designed for the nation's No. 1 sales volume motor car, characterizes the Chevrolet offering for 1942, now on display at Anderson-Pruett, Inc. The new car is made in three lines ranging from an economy model that incorporates unusual refinements to a luxury line surpassing all previous presentations in the lowest-price field.

As in past years, the new car is presented in the Master Deluxe and Special Deluxe series. The Fleetline series, introduced mid-season last year in sedan only, is represented again by sedan, known as the Sportmaster, and the new Fleetline six-passenger Aerocouper, said to be one of the most attractively styled models in the entire showing.

The same attention to finish detail that is apparent in the exterior of the new models is noted at once inside the car. Smart styling, fine materials, and excellent design have produced the most beautiful and comfortable interiors that Chevrolet ever has offered.

Though wheelbase on all models is unchanged from 1941, remaining at 116", stylists have set the over-all length at 195 7/8", creating a long, low, sleek car that combines sweeping lines with a generally rugged appearance. Complete new front-end treatment, handled harmoniously, does much to convey an impression of greater size and increased sturdiness throughout.

A new, lower, wider, more massive grille with its heavier bars gives an instant impression of bigness, while the blunter, deeper hood, front splash shield, and more widely spaced sealed beam headlights contribute to that effect. Greater length is indicated at once by the new elongated front fenders, which flow back into the front doors, swinging with the doors as they are opened. The new fender design permits desirable clean, smooth surfaces. An ingenious touch is the new foot scraper at the front running board step pad, created by a triangular extension of the new fenders.

Because the unusually successful Chevrolet engine developed for 1941 is retained with only minor refinements for the new year, power output remains virtually the same, assuring the same high performance characteristics so generally acclaimed last year. Axle ratios and tire sizes likewise are unchanged, insuring hill-climbing ability, acceleration, and general over-all performance at the 1941 level. Fuel and oil economy, long a Chevrolet trait, is also thus assured.

These song services are conducted each Friday night and the public is cordially invited to attend.

British women who went back to the soil are given credit for a record harvest. The good ol' sowing circle!

Deer Seek Out And Eat Up Dynamite

By United Press
ALBANY, N. Y.—Dynamite-eating deer are common in the Adirondacks, the state conservation department reports. The sound of blasting and the rumbling of heavy construction machinery, in fact, attract the animals instead of frightening them. Bucks and does seem to know they will find the explosive on road-building jobs.

Ranger Clinton West of North Creek explains deer relish dynamite because of the salt-peter it contains. He recalled a road worker who hid 15 sticks of dynamite in the woods to use for a Fourth of July celebration. When the road worker went to his cache on the day before the holiday, he found deer had eaten all 15 sticks. The department also reports the animals seek out the dust from blasted rocks as if it were a salt lick.

1920 Club Has Reassembly

Marking the opening of the club year, the 1920 Club entertained Thursday afternoon with a reassembly tea in the Blue Room of the Colonial Hotel from 4:30 to 6 o'clock. The affair was arranged by the hospitality committee composed of Mrs. O. L. Phillips, chairman, Mrs. C. L. Jackson, Mrs. A. W. Brazda, Mrs. Hugh Smith and Mrs. John M. Gnoison.

Receiving the guests were Mrs. Phillips, Mrs. W. L. Jackson, president and honor guest, Mrs. Arthur Murrell, Mrs. C. E. May, Mrs. J. Floyd Killingsworth, Mrs. John W. Ducker, Mrs. M. H. Hagaman, and Mrs. David H. Phillips. From the receiving line the guests were escorted to the tea table which was decorated in a patriotic and victory theme, with red, white and blue forming the color scheme. A large reflector in the center of the table was surrounded by red and white dahlias and "sailing" on the reflector were crystal ships flying the American flag. Three branch silver candelabra flanked the reflector and held white tapers which lighted the table. The color scheme was carried out in the cakes and in the mints which also held tiny flags. Attractive arrangements of white lilies and red roses were used about the room. Presiding at the tea table were Mrs. Brazda, C. L. Jackson, Hal

Lavery and Smith. Assisting with the serving were Mrs. Saule Perlstein, B. A. Tunnell and Killingsworth. During the afternoon a welcome to the guests was given by Mrs. O. L. Phillips who also introduced officers of the club, and Dr. G. C. Boswell who was the speaker for the afternoon. Dr. Boswell spoke on "How Women Can Help Defense," and illustrated his points by reviewing the lives of famous women who have served their country in other times of stress.

Following Dr. Boswell's address Mrs. Tunnell, chairman of the music committee of the club, introduced Miss Avis McKelvain who gave a reading which portrayed women's attitude toward war. Miss Caroline Pester, pianist, was presented in two piano numbers. At the close of the program an informal hour was enjoyed.

Judge Removes A German Sight From His Hunting Rifle

By United Press

DALLAS.—U. S. District Judge T. Whitfield Davidson has removed the German telescopic sight from his rifle for "international reasons."

Davidson said on his return from a trip to Texarkana that he found his aim much better using only the open sights and his naked

American eye. He said he was asked whether they should shoot first or wait until they were attacked," he related. "Mr. Wilson advised them to shoot first. The jurist had a comment on the similarity of the international situation, as outlined by President Roosevelt, with conditions before the United States entered the first World War.

American merchant ships were armed after the Germans began unrestricted submarine warfare during the Woodrow Wilson administration, Davidson said. "The crews of these vessels then asked whether they should shoot first or wait until they were attacked," he related. "Mr. Wilson advised them to shoot first. The jurist had a comment on the similarity of the international situation, as outlined by President Roosevelt, with conditions before the United States entered the first World War.

Operation Ends a Lifelong Blindness

By United Press

BRISTOL, Eng.—William, Henry Massey was born blind 33 years ago, and when he met his bride he had never seen her and did not dare hope that he ever would.

He met Miss R. M. Weeks, a Bristol school teacher, four years ago. His home is at Oakfield Road, Bristol. He went into the hospital soon after their meeting for an unusual eye operation. A cornea from someone else's eye was grafted to one of his own. He did not know what the result would be, but when the bandages were taken off he found that he could see dimly.

FEWER NEW YORK GRAPES

By United Press

ITHACA, N. Y.—The New York state grape crop is estimated at 56,800 tons, a reduction of 25 per cent from the 1940 harvest. State grown potatoes, peaches and pears are also expected to be sub-normal this year.

Puttern Around the Country Club

By A. Poor Putter

As a means of reviving the interest of the members of the Country Club, an Inter-City match has been arranged between the Ranger Country Club players and the Albany Country Club golfers, for Sunday, October 5 on the Pangee links. Some years ago when there was an Oil Belt Golf League, Albany was a member, along with Ranger and the rest of the country clubs throughout the oil belt. Our League matches were always very pleasant for all concerned, so we are looking forward to this match with renewed interest.

In a letter received in Ranger from MURRAY RUSS of Albany he says, "I have talked with several of the players here, and they are very much interested. Remembering the good times we had many years ago, we would sure like to come down again." So you can see, Albany too is looking forward to this match with pleasure, and we might add that Albany has some good players and they are probably looking forward to a victory.

It is the desire of the match-making committee that all Ranger Country Club players be on hand Sunday, October 5, in order that matches can start about 1 p. m. No doubt many of the Albany boys will come down in the morning to play around the course and get a line on the greens—the Albany players are accustomed to playing on sand greens.

Tuesday was Ladies Day at the Country Club. After the regular meeting, all ladies present played their regular Tuesday golf, with MRS. WALTER DAVIS winning the handicap tournament.

MRS. H. T. SCHOOLEY, president of the Ladies Golf Club of the Ranger Country Club, has announced the election of officers for the coming year will be held next Tuesday, when the Ladies Club meets at the club house. MRS. SCHOOLEY urges all members to be present for this meeting.

And by the way—AL LARSON, president of the Country Club,

Car Theft Trap Set On Border

By United Press
MEXICO CITY.—Mexico and the United States are cooperating to cope with international car thieves who shuttle stolen cars has returned home from his vacation, and things should begin to pep up out that way.

As announced last week, the greens have all been topped and the little rain we have had since has settled the topping, with the result that the greens should now put pretty good again.

across the long Mexican-United States border, stretching from California to Texas.

Edward Gormley of Dallas, Texas, chief of the southwest division of the National Auto Theft Bureau, recently consulted with Mexican officials here on the theft traffic and on how to check it. Officials of both nations have agreed to increase the vigilance at border towns.

They will establish devices to deal with the traffic, such as the construction of artificial "bumps" in the highways near the border, to prevent such incidents as the recent crossing of the border at El Paso, Texas, by a stolen car which sped across the bridge and through the international gates at Ciudad de Juarez and disappeared in the night at a speed of 60 miles an hour.

In the past, stolen car traffic has moved steadily southward from the United States into Mexico, but now the situation is beginning to reverse itself. Cars are being stolen more frequently in Mexico and driven to the United States where they bring high prices in the second-hand car market, booming because of the potential car shortage as a result of defense production.

Mexican officials, principally Gen. Manuel Enriquez, director general of customs and Lieut.-Col. Antonio Lozano Ruiz, chief of the Federal police, are planning to erect huge, easily visible signs, marking the end of the so-called "free zone" for the entry of United States cars into Mexico without special credentials. This zone extends 14 miles into Mexico. Travelers passing the zone without credentials are liable to payment of a fine of 900 pesos (about $180.)

Best Rose Crop In History To Boost Festival Oct. 9th

TYLER, Texas.—Science and weather have united this year in giving the Tyler area one of the best rose crops in history which assures a panorama of more color and loveliness for visitors at the ninth annual Texas Rose Festival in Tyler next October 9 through October 12.

Tyler rose fields are blooming profusely, yielding hardier, brighter blooms, and by festival time vast fields will become masses of color. It will all be a delightful sight for festival visitors who go on the annual rose field tours and garden pilgrimages which will be continuous each day of the celebration in Tyler next month. These daily tours are free to all

WEATHERFORD IS BIG TEST FOR BULLDOGS

The Ranger Bulldogs will invade Weatherford tonight, accompanied by the complete band and a large number of fans, for their first real test of the season, against the strong Weatherford High School gridders.

Although the Bulldogs are slightly handicapped by injuries, they are hopeful of a victory to keep their record for the 1941 season intact, but Weatherford has a much more powerful team than the two Ranger has met to date, and a closely contested ball game is anticipated, with a good chance that either team could come out the victor.

Minor injuries that hampered workouts early in the week by several of the players, are believed to have healed as rapidly as could be expected, and it is believed that the regular starting lineup may be ready to go tonight, though some may not be able to go the full route.

Coach Jennings, in matching the Weatherford game, did so with the knowledge that it would be the roughest of the season to date, and he expected that it would be the game in which the Bulldogs are given a thorough test of their offensive and defensive abilities, in order that any defects that develop against stiff opposition may be ironed out in the only remaining practice game of the season before the conference schedule is started.

There has been more talk this week of the Weatherford game than about the previous practice games combined, and practically every football fan in town has made arrangements to make the trip tonight.

Tickets have been on sale at the Recreation Building in order that local fans may not have to stand in line at the ticket gate in

Freckles and His Friends—By Blosser

Weatherford tonight, and may thereby eliminate much waiting and loss of time. Tickets are on sale at 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for students.

Driving Energy Is Headache Cause

By United Press
CHICAGO.—The "sick headache," one of mankind's commonest ills, stems from the hard-driving, perfectionist personality and can best be relieved by relaxation, according to a study of the ailment by Dr. Harold G. Wolff, a neurologist.

Writing in the Archives of Neurology, Dr. Wolff said a recent investigation of patients suffering from migraine or sick headache showed that treatment by relaxation reduced attacks from one every two weeks to as few as three or four a year.

The reason why games, short holidays, music or lovemaking relieve sick headaches, Dr. Wolff said, is that migraine literally is an outgrowth of personality—the nervous, ambitious and energetic type.

He found that a number of his patients overcame their susceptibility to attacks by changing their "nose to the grindstone" bent, but that others preferred headaches to changing their ways.

In an analysis of the "perfectionist" personality subject to migraine, Dr. Wolff found:

1. The tendency to drive on to a goal, once one had been set.
2. Extreme susceptibility to attacks if interfered with.
3. Frequent studied poses with tense facial expression, furrowed foreheads, quick-moving eyes and uneasy laughter.

4. Inclination to repeat routine acts frequently to be sure they were done. A business executive was found to be extreme in this regard, performing many of his acts in threes, including tying of his tie, combing his hair and turning the pages of a book.

Explaining the physiological reasons for the migraine, Dr. Wolff said the pressure of a driving personality tends to increase blood vessel diameter and contract muscles of the neck and scalp, affecting the arteries of the head in both cases and causing the headache.
