WHAT'S...

COOKING?

By NORMAN WRIGHT

There is some talk going on around Austin this week to which this column can whole-heartedly subscribe.

It is the suggestion that we forget all about the special senatorial election and get along with what we have.

We can support that movement for a dozen different reasons, first and foremost being it is a quick way to save nearly a million dollars that could very well be given to the old folks, or somebody else who needs it.

Why should Texas spend that kind of money for the sole purpose of giving some professional politician a job when we've already got a pretty good senator that can serve us as good as anybody until the time comes for another regular election?

We don't know very much about William Blakely, but he seems to be pretty well liked by all sides. We didn't hear any squawks when he was appointed, and he should please a lot of people because he is an Eisenhower Democrat, yet he lined right up with the regular Democrats when he got to Washington and has showed all signs of remaining a Democrat.

Blakely has enough money of his own to keep him honest, and he doesn't owe any political favors to anybody, and he is as capable as any man that might get into the race, so why spend all that money just to change?

We believe if a poll of some kind could be taken of the people of Texas, every last one of them, with the exception of the half-dozen or so candidates who want to be Senator, would be overwhelmingly in favor of forgetting a special election right now.

And another thing, we, for one, don't believe we could possibly stand up under another 40 or 50 days of political oratory after what we went through last Summer and Fall. Every last word of it is pure hogwash anyway, not even one syllable of which can be believed.

After what we heard last Fall, and after what we are seeing with our own eyes right now, we don't see how we can ever again bring ourselves to put a dime's worth of faith in anything a candidate could say. It was that way from the President all the way down the line.

The President of the United States himself was flying all over the country telling us that things were so peaceful in the Middle East that everybody over there went around wearing halos and spreading sweetness and light.

When the Egyptians and the Israelites and the British and the French jerked the rug out from under him on this one, even while he was in front of a microphone putting out all that poppycock (Continued on Page Two)

Bulldogs In Final Game

After playing all season long without a dime's worth of support, the Ranger High School basketball team goes into its final game of the season Friday night against first place Coleman in the City Gymnasium in a do or die effort to wind up in a three-way tie for first.

Retired Federal Employees Meet In Eastland Sat.

A meeting of all retired federal employees will be held at 2 p.m., Saturday in the Educational Building of the First Baptist Church of Eastland, according to Ed Layton, president of the Oilbelt Chapter of the National Association of Retired Federal Employees.

Former Congressman Clyde L. Garrett of Eastland, will be guest speaker. Garrett was Congressman from the 17th District during the years 1937 through 1941. He is a former County Judge and County Clerk of Eastland County, and lately a Veterans Administration Representative for the Central Texas District.

Rangers to Play Hardin-Simmons Here Saturday

RJC Rangers will play a non-conference basketball game with Hardin-Simmons Freshmen Saturday, February 9, at 8 p.m. in the City Gymnasium.

The Rangers lost two games last week by small margins; one to Tarleton 66-68 and the other to Weatherford 78-81. The Tarleton game was close, with the Rangers holding the lead at half-time, but falling behind in a 3rd-quarter spurt by the Ploewboys. Bill Light and James Tull led in scoring with 27 and 22 points respectively.

Friday night the Rangers lost to powerful and speedy Weatherford by only three points in a fast-moving, exciting game that ended 78-81. James Tull and Bill Light were again the high scoring men with 26 and 22 points each. Bubba Canuteson made 19 points for the Rangers.

1956 Conservation Best In Local History

Supervisors of the Upper Leon and Palo Pinto Soil Conservation Districts report that landowners of this area applied more conservation practices during 1956 than they had in any prior year.

The local work unit area includes approximately two-thirds of Eastland County. The Rising Star Work Unit serves the southwest portion of the County and the DeLeon Work Unit works the area around Gorman and Desdemona.

Approximately 40 landowners constructed 74 miles of terraces, protecting some 1500 acres of cropland in 1956. Terracing is the building of channels with supporting ridges across the slope at various intervals to intercept runoff. Terraces are built of proper cross section to carry excess water and permit farming operations with farm equipment. Many of the landowners are pleased to note that the season Friday night against first place Coleman in the City Gymnasium in a do or die effort to wind up in a three-way tie for first.

If the Bulldogs can beat the Bearcats, Ranger, Coleman and Ballinger will all be tied for first place district honors, the final winner of which will have to be decided in a playoff.

Boasting one of the finest basketball teams it has had in many a day, Ranger lost a heartbreaker to Ballinger Tuesday night by two points, 53-51, solely because there was not one Ranger rooster in the Ballinger gymnasium aside from a few Bulldogs on the bench.

Ballinger, meanwhile, had 800 fans present in addition with their school band, and they were all raising the roof for the Bearcats. In a close one like that, it is side-line support that will put a team over the hump.

If Ranger had won from Ballinger, the team would have been in a first place tie with Coleman, with a clear chance of winning the championship by beating the Bearcats here Friday night. As it is, the best they can hope for is a three-way tie.

Every Bulldog on the team was heartbroken in every sense of the word. Coach Boone Yarborough said it was the hardest game he ever lost in his life.

At the risk of violating a confidence, the Times is going to print the following letter received from Coach Yarborough after the 2-point Ballinger defeat:

Mr. Norman Wright Editor Ranger Times I just want to express my thanks for your publicity and support of our basketball team this year.

These boys work and try hard to play the game as it should be played but we have something missing—SUPPORT from the people of Ranger (even parents of the boys.)

As was the case in Ballinger last night, if Ballinger scored the roof nearly came down from the plaudits of seven or eight hundred people. If we scored—SILENCE. This is a hard psychological factor to overcome. The boys did their best, but outside support was the difference.

We have one more chance, and I just hope the people of Ranger say to me, "We sure hope you win," and will back up their words Friday night by coming to the game. Thanks again for your help.

Sincerely, Boone Yarborough Paul Hinds played like a man possessed, trying to score a victory. He alone accounted for the prodigious total of 30 points. He was a team spark-plug and take charge guy because he talked to the other players constantly telling them to forget the crowd and (Continued On Page Seven)

Working with Anderson on the membership committee are Joe Dennis, B. A. Tunnell, Pete Brasher and E. F. Arterburn.

The Ranger Ground Observer Corps will hold a training meeting at the City Hall Fire Department Meeting Room on Tuesday, February 12th at 7:00 p.m.

The meeting, which is open to the public, will feature a film on Tornado warning, which is of vital interest to this area. The film, entitled "Warning, Tornado!", is released by the Severe Weather Warning Service of the United States Air Force and shows how tornadoes are plotted and forewarned. A vital mission of the Ground Observer Corps is their help in reporting and plotting of tornadoes.

Should tornadoes be forecast for this area, T. C. Weaver, Post Supervisor of the local G.O.C. post would receive possibly the first warning of such a front through the Dallas Filter Center. This post would then watch and report such tornadoes to the Filter Center so that communities in its path could be warned by the Filter Center, a sort of reciprocal warning by telephone.

In addition to the tornado warning, the local Ground Observer Post has a primary job of reporting aircraft that would pass over Ranger during practice alerts held once a month by the Dallas Filter Center on Sunday afternoons for about 3 to 4 hours. Site of the local observation post is the Bull (Continued on Page 2)

Help! We Need Fish Stories!

The Times said last Tuesday that the fish were biting in Lake Leon. That's right, these big old barn door black-looking, rusty-looking crappie are biting anything that is stuck out for them.

The Times heard of many nice catches but we committed the unpardonable journalistic sin of not taking down names and addresses.

Some of these fishermen around here who will not believe anybody's damle fish story but their own are asking us to cite chapter and verse, how many and where.

Will somebody, please, give us a ring the next time they come from out there with a string of fish so we can tell the customers all about it, and probably start a gold rush stampede.

As a public service, and as a part of their year's program which has for its theme "Culture Begins at Home" the 1947 Club will present the famed Breckenridge Boys' Choir in a free concert Tuesday afternoon, February 12 at 4:00 o'clock, in the auditorium of the First Baptist Church of Ranger.

The 1947 Club is anxious for as many people as possible to hear this unusual musical organization, and this is the reason it has been scheduled for an afternoon performance, so as to prevent a conflict with some other night meeting that might be on the calendar.

As school will be dismissed at that time, all school students are also invited to attend the program.

The Breckenridge Boys' Choir is nationally famous, having appeared on TV programs all over the country, and many people in larger cities throughout the nation have traveled many miles to hear this youthful group of boys sing.

The choir will present a full program, and it is expected that the church will be full of people. Early arrival is advised. And all 1947 Club members will serve as hostesses and ushers.

After the program, the Club has planned to serve refreshments to the choir members and their mothers, and this is being taken care of by the Hospitality Committee which consists of Mrs. Bill Clem, Mrs. Morris George and Mrs. Judson Hardy.

It has also been learned here that many of the mothers of the Choir Boys will accompany them to Ranger to hear them sing. The mothers have said that when the boys hold out-of-town concerts they are usually so far away they have never had a chance to hear them, and they are going to take advantage of the short distance to Ranger to listen to their own sons, which will be a treat many of them have not enjoyed.

Cool Front Due

According to the U. S. Weather Bureau at Abilene another cool front is moving into this area from the north and is expected to arrive Thursday night, lowering the temperature to the 30s by early Friday morning. The Bureau said Friday's high would be in the 40s but another drop was expected Friday night. Possibility remains for more rain.

Chamber Commerce Decides Both It And City Here To Stay

Business men and Chamber of Commerce members filled every seat in Ranger Junior College Civic Room at the Cafeteria Tuesday night and pledged new allegiance to the City of Ranger and their determination to give it their full support in a program of advancement designed to restore it and keep it among the leading small cities of West Texas.

It was a meeting that overflowed with enthusiasm, yet there was a solemn purpose behind every word that was spoken, and a new resolve that the city and most everybody in it were here to stay and the town might just as well be made into the very best there is while everybody is at it.

Chamber of Commerce President C. B. Pruet called the meeting as a general get-together of all committee members for a discussion of the year's work, but it turned out to be a soul letting in which testimonials and resolves flew thick and fast as members warmed to the subject of what Ranger has in the way of assets and what a golden road it has for advancement.

The Chamber decided that actually, if a physical inventory were taken of the industries surrounding Ranger, and all of the town's other assets, too many to mention but well-known to everybody, all these things compare with what is expected to surround a city of 30,000 or 40,000 people.

If Ranger, a town of 4,000, can't get along on that as a start and then go in leaps and bounds from there, somebody needs to have their heads examined, it was said.

All members who had a chance to do any talking, pointed out that Ranger had been enthusiastic before, only to see all the enthusiasm die out and fade away, but all expressed their belief that for once the town is beginning to get sold on itself and is becoming more so every day as citizens actually begin to think about it, and full confidence was expressed that a enthusiasm and optimism had lagged for the last time in Ranger.

President Pruet got up at one point in the meeting holding a piece of paper in his hand, and said he hated to read it to the people there, but he thought he would do it anyway. It was a report prepared by a real estate company in another town to be used in their own dealings, and perhaps never was intended for anyone in Ranger to see. The report said: "In Ranger you will find 10 knockers to every booster for the city."

That didn't set very well with the Chamber of Commerce members present who represented the cream of the business men in Ranger. However, all of them admitted that the statement was largely true and that they, themselves, might have been guilty of it a few times.

It was unanimously agreed that such an attitude as that on the part of anybody in Ranger, would never get the job done in establishing this city in its rightful place among West Texas municipalities. Ranger was called a city that stands head and shoulders over most of them, and should be a shining leader among all of the small towns of the area, instead of a place that is cowed and kicked and doomed to defeat by its own citizens.

If the Times may be allowed to digress for a moment and wind this thing up by editorializing for a few paragraphs, we would like to say that we do not believe there will ever again be a true citizen of Ranger that do any knocking against this town. There are a few who will, but they are not true citizens. Hitch-draggers and free-riders and hitch-hikers can be found in any town, but they are in the minority. There are too many wonderful, splendid citizens in Ranger as we have seen with our own eyes, to deter this city with their knocking.

We cannot imagine a member of the 1920 Club knocking Ranger. We cannot imagine a member of the 1947 Club knocking Ranger. We cannot imagine it coming from a member of the Ranger Garden Club. We cannot imagine the city being run down by the many splendid people who are members of the teaching profession in Ranger. We cannot imagine any of the Beta Sigma Phi running down the place. We cannot imagine all the wonderful mothers who scoured this town for dimes last Thursday night doing it. We cannot imagine it coming from any members of the Lions Club or Rotary Club. We cannot imagine it coming from any member of the Chamber of Commerce or any business man.

Who, then, is left? There is enough talent, and education, and ability, and power, and enough determination in Ranger to do anything the town decides to do if it is all channeled in the right direction, and the Times believes the day is now at last here and has finally arrived when a petty knocking and bitterness that might have existed in the past has been relegated to the sewer where it belongs, and that a fresh new start is now under way that won't ever stop or won't ever be satisfied with any goal that might be reached.

Dick Nixon grabbed the ball and started shouting "Elect Eisenhower and He Will Keep Us Out of the Middle East."

Now Ike wants a blank check for $200 million and a blank check on the use of troops to get right in the big middle of the Middle East as quick as he can and Dulles says we're goners if he doesn't get what he wants.

Everybody was promising to do something about the drought, and the poor stricken farmer had more benefactors than he knew what to do with, but already Secretary Benson has killed the Federal Drouth Bill and the State Legislature is getting ready to shelve the State Drouth Bill.

We had candidates for Governor running around here promising to do everything under the sun for a solution of the drouth up to and including piping the Great Lakes to Texas, and we will probably wind up with less water and more dust than we've ever known before.

No, sir, you can't put your finger on one grain of truth, and positively guarantee it, that any candidate spoke all last Summer and Fall, so why should they be expected to change in this special senate election race?

As far as we are concerned we are more than willing to call the whole thing off right now and let the people get on with their spring planting. Regardless of who they voted for this last time they all got stuck, whether they won or not, so let's try to swallow the medicine we've got and quit looking around for another dose!

From this vantage point, aircraft will be reported one Sunday afternoon a month to the Dallas Filter Center for the Center's plotting and subsequent identification. In the event this country is ever placed under enemy attack, perhaps the maximum warning would be 3 hours.

The local post would then be called in 24 hour sustained operation until the enemy was either destroyed and defeated, or we as a nation suffered what we hope will never happen, Russian victory. We can help prevent their victory by joining the civilian voluntary component of the U. S. Air Force, the all volunteer Ground Observer Corps.

Our vast radar network can not do it alone, because there is certain vital information that is needed and only human eyes and human ears can give this information. Identification of aircraft is not the job of the Ground Spotters, but reporting of aircraft within their area of responsibility, as to the number of aircraft, number of engines, direction from sight, and direction of travel is their primary job.

The Dallas Filter Center in cooperation with the Air Force Directional Center (a radar unit) actually make the identification of the aircraft.

Over 100 high school students have volunteered in the community and will receive their training at the school as part of class work. We have approximately 15 adult volunteers and need more in order that our students might have adult supervision, and that more citizens can be made aware of the seriousness of this job.

ily above cropland to intercept outside water and prevent damage to lower areas. These are designed to carry runoff in excess of what could be carried by standard field terraces. Diversion are also used to divert water in or out of farm ponds.

Seventeen landowners constructed waterways on their farms. Waterways provide the natural way to dispose of excess water from cultivated fields without causing gulches and unnecessary soil loss. Waterways, where needed, are the foundation of a good terrace system. They aid in maintaining the value of your investment in cultivated land and can be used for grazing and grass seed production. Cover crops of rye and/or small grain and vetch were seeded by district cooperators on 2200 acres for the first time. Approximately 26,000 acres of cropland in the work unit area was seeded to cover crops. Cover crops help hold soil and water in place and serve as an excellent soil improvement crop.

Another cropland practice closely related to cover cropping is crop residue utilization. This is the management of crop residues or other plant material so as to leave a protective cover on the surface of the soil during the critical rain and slow period of the year. District Cooperators of the work unit managed residue on 2278 acres of cropland for the first time and approximately 9000 acres of properly managed residue was reported for the work unit as being maintained over a period of time. Proper use on rangeland was reported on 11,370 acres for the first time and an estimated 31,000 acres of range land was properly used last year. Proper use may be defined as grazing at an intensity which will maintain adequate cover for soil protection and maintain or improve the desirable grass species.

Closely connected with proper use of rangeland is the practice of range deferment. This is the resting from grazing for a definite period to improve forage vigor or to insure the production of grass seed. Three thousand seven hundred and fifty-three acres of range land was given a deferment during last year.

Range seeding was applied on 504 acres last year. Range seeding is the establishment of perennial forage grasses on either depleted range or former cropland.

Farm ponds were constructed or

97 farms and ranches of the Eastland Work Unit area last year. Ponds are built primarily to furnish livestock water and improve grazing distribution.

Fis were received to stock 25 farm ponds of this area.

Many of the above conservation practices such as farm ponds, field terraces, diversion terraces, waterways, range seeding and cover cropping are County Agricultural Conservation Program practices as selected by County ASC Committee, Soil Conservation Service technicians, County Agricultural Agencies, Soil Conservation District Supervisors and others. Necessary site selection, layout, supervision and final checks and certifications of practices are made by Soil Conservation technicians. These practices are certified to the County ASC Committee for cost share payments as set forth in the County Agricultural Conservation program handbook.

In most instances dirt moving contractors of this area have constructed a high percent of all mechanical practices. These men realize the needs of the land and are anxious to construct practices that will meet these needs. In a true sense of the word they are "conservationist" and are regarded as an important member of the team in getting all land used within its capabilities and treated in keeping with its needs.

The County has a good ACP program for next year, 1957. Conservation farmers and ranchers are encouraged to continue to apply conservation practices to their lands "for our soil is our strength" a spokesman said.

Here's the bomb THAT BROKE THE "low-price" lineup!

This big high-stepping Chieftain started a revolution with a carload of "firsts" and an eye-popping price tag!

The low-price field never looked like this before! The handsome husky you see right here has the boat still rocking... with more power, more wheelbase, more room—and more sheer pride of ownership—than ever before possible on a well-trained budget! Just look at what they're making room for now in the low-price lineup: a strapping 347 cu. in., 10 to 1 compression ratio Strato-Streak V-8... a whopping, road-hugging 122 inches of wheelbase and an all-new suspension system for a Level-Line Ride that's next best thing to a magic carpet! And this streamlined beauty takes on the field with more than six dozen "firsts", all proved by 100,000 of the roughest, toughest test miles a group of facts-minded engineers could devise! If this sounds like a wonderful buy—it certainly is! Our advice is to stop dreaming and price it! At a cost less than a lot of the low-price jobs, this newcomer is making big-time buyers out of former "all-three" owners!

The Supreme Court of Texas Says:

"If a purchaser will not look to the character of title by virtue of which he enters and improves land, but will close his eyes and recklessly act on the presumption that any one who will sign a deed has a valid title, he has no one to blame but himself." (Miller vs Brownson, 50 Texas Supreme Ct. Reports, page 507.) Recklessness in accepting deeds to lands without first investigating the title is bad business, says the Court.

BULLDOGS-

to heck with it. The Bulldogs might still have won had not Paul amassed a total of 4 fouls by the beginning of the third quarter and had to play the final half under his own personal wraps in order to stay in the game.
Ranger now has a 4-3 record in district play, and the Bulldogs have lost those three games only by the skin of their teeth. The boys have far and away the best team in the district and should have had a perfect record at this stage of the game, and prospects of going far in the finals if they had been given any support at all.

The Bulldogs, the students, the coaches and the school, all extend an invitation to Ranger to pack the gymnasium Friday night, so these boys can hear what a few cheers sound like, whether they win, lose or draw.

Save Like This!

AS LOW AS $299.95
For Two Separate Units. Washer and Dryer.

It's the "washingest" washer ever built. You've never seen clothes washed in less time, using less detergent, less hot water. Or come so sparkling clean, or spun so dry. Or controls so completely automatic and flexible, so easy to set. Come in—and try it.
Saves Hot Water—enough in a year to do 100 extra loads—enough detergent for 158 extra washes. No need to reuse dirty wash water and played-out suds.
Saves Filter Cleaning—gets rid of soap-scum and dirt—as well as lint—automatically. Literally floats them out of the tub and down the drain with the fabulous Float-Over Wash and Rinse action. No filter to clean.

Saves Drying Time—spins clothes much drier than any other Automatic. Many pieces are ready to iron immediately.
Saves Clothes—Saves Time! Washes everything that's washable—safely, thoroughly—without rubbing. Nothing moves the clothes but suds-charged water. There's no rubbing, thrashing back and forth with tub-free washing. Does 3 loads in the time most other well-known washers do two.
And Look At That Styling! It's the new Frigidaire Sheer Look that fits in and blends in anywhere. Glamorous spirit-lifting colors: Pink, Yellow, Green or All White.

- PLUS ALL THESE MARVELOUS FRIGIDAIRE IMPERIAL FEATURES
- Lifetime Porcelain Finish, inside and out
 - Fully Flexible Controls
 - Cold or Warm Water Rinse
 - Reliable no-belt, no-pulley mechanism

Clings to the road like a stripe of paint!

The '57 Chevy can give lessons on taking curves and holding the road to just about any car going. Few cars at any price are so beautifully balanced and so smooth, sure and solid in action.

A car has to have a special kind of build and balance to keep curves under control. And nobody outdoes Chevrolet in that department! It "corners" with all the solid assurance of an honest-to-goodness sports car. Chevy doesn't throw its weight around on turns because it carries its pounds in the right places.
And if the road should turn upward, Chevy can take care of that nicely, too—with up to 245 h.p.*
Come on in and take a turn at the wheel of a new Chevrolet.
