

Shorter Route From Humble Station B To Sonora Wanted

Workers For Oil Company Would Like Access To Improved County Road

Probability of a road from Humble Station B, in southeast Sutton county, to the Sellman-Ross road leading to the San Antonio highway to Sonora was voiced Tuesday noon at the luncheon meeting of the Lions Club.

The proposed road would shorten the distance to Sonora by several miles and would make the trip here a desirable one for workers at the station. George H. Neill told of an audience which he and R. L. Hallum had with the county commissioners Monday relative to securing such a cut-off road. Although no commitment was secured from the county, Mr. Neill expressed the opinion that the proposed road project can and will be accomplished.

Land For Road Needed
Right-of-way land would have to be secured from several land owners in that neighborhood. Recently station workers came here to tell

CANDIDATES' DAY AT LIONS CLUB TUESDAY

All Sutton county candidates are being invited to attend the Tuesday noon luncheon of the Lions Club as guests of the organization. None will be allowed to speak but all will be introduced to their fellow citizens whom they are depending upon to cast ballots in their favor the following Saturday.

of the desire of men there for such a road. It is said that the monthly payroll at Station B is about $3,500.

John Eaton, secretary, read an invitation from the Junction club inviting Lions to a group meeting at eight o'clock, Wednesday, July 27. Joe M. Vander Stucken and Alfred Schwiening of the Sutton County Wildlife organization spoke briefly in regard to the way in which money given the group recently would be spent.

Move Made For Cleaner Streets
Dr. Joel Shelton, president, was in charge. It was the first regular luncheon meeting at which he has presided. He read the names of those on committees for the year and told of two special committees which had been named—one for the purpose of trying to secure better cleaning of Sonora streets, the other to investigate the matter of securing more light in the post-office lobby at night. The first group is made up of W. E. James, Jodie Trainer, J. O. Ellington, the second of Robert W. Jacobs and W. R. Parsons.

Committees for the year are: Sight Conservation and Blind Work: Dr. J. F. Howell, chairman, Alfred Schwiening;

Politics Rampant at Camp Allison Two-Day 'Party'

Many Enjoy Barbecued Goats and Beef in Shady Grove at Noon Thursday

Evidencing more of a political atmosphere than has prevailed in recent years, the Camp Allison Celebration and Barbecue ended last night with the second of two platform dances in the grove of trees on the bank of the Llano river, thirty-five miles from Sonora.

Highlight of the second day (Thursday) of the 2-day event was the free barbecue at noon when between 1,000 and 2,000 persons were fed the sixty-three goats and one beef barbecued by D. Q. Adams of Camp Allison and his helper, Burl Fisher of Roosevelt.

Many Help By Serving
As always in West Texas it was "women and children first" at the barbecue. Men and boys milled around the serving square awaiting their turn after the women and children had eaten all they wanted. A. F. Kasper, Earl Lomax, Pink Glasscock, Lee Morris, Big Turney and Alvis Johnson were among those who served the hungry ones who stood at the one-plank "continuous" table under the trees. About fifteen cut meat.

Alfred Schwiening, Sutton county ranchman, was in his glory as he superintended the feeding of so many people. For years and years he has been in charge of the work at the biennial "get-together" in Sutton county.

Political Fanfare Thursday
Merits and qualifications of Ernest Thompson and William McCraw—candidates for governor—were outlined Thursday afternoon by two men. Jack Spratt, lofty San Angelo College teacher, espoused the cause of Thompson, former Amarillo mayor. Pat Neff, Jr., son of the former governor who is now president of Baylor College, declaimed for McCraw, his former employer. Neff resigned as an assistant attorney-general to work in the campaign.

Placards of this candidate and that candidate for state and district offices were prominent on nearly every one of the shady trees on both sides of the road. Two public address systems were made available by forces of state candidates.

Features Varied This Year
W. A. Hadden and Joe G. Montague, candidates for district judge, were on hand. C. H. Gilmer and Marvin E. Blackburn, Jr., who want to represent people of this section in the legislature, were "meeting and milling." L. B. Hor-

New Judge... His Lady

Speculation of a year or more as to whether James V. Allred would continue his political career or would be given a judicial post was ended with his appointment as a federal judge by President Roosevelt at Wichita Falls.

The governor, who will resign as chief executive of the state of Texas before his term has expired, will reside in any of six South Texas cities. Pictured above is the new judge and Mrs. Allred.

The appointment which was given him by the President is for life.

Tom Taylor Winner in Northwest Rodeo

Picture Postcard Shows Him As As He Finishes Roping Calf

An action picture of Tom Taylor of Sonora roping a calf in the Black Hills, South Dakota, Round-up rodeo July 3, 4 and 5, was being shown Tuesday by his father-in-law, Cal Ory.

Taylor's hands were in the air, indicating that he had finished the job. His horse, rope taut, was doing his best to help his master.

Mrs. Taylor wrote cards saying that her husband had won first money two days of the rodeo and also final money. After the Back Hills event the Taylors went to Wolf Point, Montana, for another rodeo. The cards sent the Orys were mailed from Belle Fourche, South Dakota.

Taylor is a son of R. E. Taylor, former Sonoran, and a brother of Cashes Taylor, deputy sheriff. He spent the winter months in Sutton county.

Sonora Lions Leave For Coast

Not just one but two of the Sonora Lions Club's members will represent the organization at the convention of Lions International in Oakland, Cal. Dr. Joel Shelton, president-elect, and W. C. Gilmore, a past president, left Wednesday evening for the meeting. They are going by way of Denver and Salt Lake City, Utah.

Iraan Ball Team Tackles Sonora in Two Games Sunday

San Angelo Bests Team From Here in First Games in Permian League This Year

Eager to redeem themselves after two crushing defeats Sunday in Permian Basin League baseball conflict, the Sonora team Sunday afternoon at 2:30 will take on the Iraan players in two games at the Sonora athletic park.

One hundred dollars has been spent in covering the grandstand, seating about 175, at the park. Sunday will be the first time that the remodeled stand has been used.

The San Angelo team was on the long end of the scoring count Sunday when they took the scalps of the Sonora players by counts of 8 to 3 and 4 to 1.

In the first game Peeples, pitching for San Angelo, let the Sutton county playing aggregation down with only six hits while his own teammates found Lefty White for ten decisive blows. A fourth inning rally by Sonora players netted three runs but these were not sufficient to do the job.

Smith, Sonora second sacker, was the only Sonora player to romp home in the second game when Bud Smith, Sonora pitcher, did the hurling for the local team. The Sonorans made three hits and four errors.

P. McLeod was receiving behind the bat for Sonora in both games.

Vic Montgomery, gridiron star of other days, who lives in Ozona, was one of several new players in the Sonora line-up. Additional players and more traveling will be necessary if the Sonora team is to show up creditably in the faster company of the Permian Basin League in which it is playing.

A plea was made this week that Sonora people support the team better by attending regularly the games that it plays and also by aiding in financial problems that beset the team.

Roy E. Aldwell, in charge of the scorebook for the Sonora team the last few years, is assuming that work again and will be in charge of the record-keeping Sunday afternoon for the two games here.

RAILWAY WORKER VISITOR IN SONORA WEDNESDAY

Thirty-five years ago C. F. Woods came to Sonora after what he says was a wild ride on the stage from San Angelo.

Wednesday Mr. Woods, now district passenger agent of the Illinois Central System, with headquarters in Houston, was here with a friend who was traveling by car. While in the NEWS office for a few minutes he told of the early day traveling by people who came to Sonora from the north.

Mr. Woods had not been in Sonora since the time of his stage ride shortly after the turn of the century.

Rate Reduction of Forty Per Cent For Many Water Users

Sonorans Get Gallonage Over 8000 at 15 Cents Per 1000 Rather Than at 25 Cents

An "irrigation rate" for water customers of the City of Sonora was announced Tuesday morning as of effect in meter readings for the months of July, August and September.

Residential and commercial users will be sold all water over 8,000 gallons at 15 cents per 1,000 gallons rather than at 25 cents as formerly.

The rate of $3.50 (net) for the first 8,000 gallons was not changed.

W. C. Gilmore, mayor, said that bills of about one-half of the 380 users of water from the city's wells on Eaton hill would be affected by the reduction.

The rate, according to Mr. Gilmore, is an experimental one and, if practical and feasible, it or a lower rate will be in effect the same months next year. It is very likely, in such a case, that the month of June will be included and perhaps the month of May.

The average daily consumption in June was about 240,000 gallons with approximately seven million being recorded for the month.

This month concludes a year's operation by the city of the water system which was bought last year from Interstate Public Service Co. for $37,935. New construction and improvement work completed recently entailed an expenditure of approximately $63,000.

SONORA POSTAL RECEIPTS SHOW GAIN IN 3 MONTHS

Substantial increase in postoffice business in Sonora this year is indicated by figures compiled this week by T. C. Murray, postmaster, which show receipts for the quarter ending June 30 as $2,019.19

During the same period last year the business done was only $1,856.50.

The June business this year totaled $583.94 as contrasted with $551.73 in June, 1937.

SONORAN FINDS CROP PROSPECTS IN SOUTH GOOD

Corn and rice crop conditions in the South are reported as quite favorable this week by Dr. J. Franklin Howell who returned Sunday with Mrs. Howell and their children, Marguerite and J. F. Jr., from a vacation trip to Mississippi and Alabama.

Dr. Howell and his family saw the steel mills of Birmingham in operation and also several of the government dams which have caused so much comment in recent years. He was reared in Red Bay, Ala., where he visited. Mrs. Howell's relatives live in Winona, Miss.

The Howells have lived here since 1934 when they came from Sweetwater. During his absence on the trip Dr. S. C. Harrell of San Antonio was in charge of his work here. The San Antonio man returned to his home Sunday.

Sutton Man's Cousin Hurt Fatally at Camp Allison

CLUES LACKING

Jugular Vein As Well As Neck Muscles Severed

Grim tragedy stalked on the bank of the Llano river about midnight Wednesday while dancers made merry on the platform at the Camp Allison Celebration.

Bert Jones, 46, a storekeeper at Roosevelt, staggered to the platform and told that he had been cut in the neck. He was rushed to Sonora by Ralph Crowe and Hugh Shaw, Texas Highway Patrol officers stationed in Sonora.

Death came about fifteen minutes after he was brought to the doctor's office here. Dr. J. Franklin Howell said that the man's neck muscles and his jugular vein had been cut.

At eight o'clock Thursday morning B. W. Hutcherson, sheriff, Sutton county, said that he had no clues as to how Jones was cut and that he was going to the scene in a few minutes to continue his investigation. Both Hutcherson and his deputy, Cashes Taylor, were at the Celebration when Jones reported that he had been cut. Mr. Hutcherson said that dried blood on Jones' body to a point just below his knees and on his clothes indicated to him that the cutting had been done some time before Jones told of it.

A cousin of Jones, Clint Jones, Sutton county resident who has worked for Mrs. N. B. Wilson about three and one-half years, told the NEWS Thursday morning that he found his cousin's new car about 100 feet from the dance platform. The ignition key was in the lock and the door of the car open. The speedometer registered only forty-four miles, Jones said.

Cousin Identified Victim

Clint Jones said that he had not seen his cousin and did not know he was at Camp Allison until he joined the crowd around the injured man. He said about $24 was found in his cousin's pocket.

The Sutton county man said that his cousin was a pleasant, god-natured person and that he was not the type of man that would be likely to take his own life. He was a World War veteran, serving in the United States. Jones was a member of the Baptist Church at Roosevelt, his aunt said.

Formerly of Tom Green County

In business about three years, Jones was reared in Kimble county and spent most of his life there. He operated the last store on the right as the traveler goes toward Junction. Before going to Roosevelt he was in business in Christoval. His mother, Mrs. Ed Jones, 77, makes her home with her sister, Mrs. Laura Hoover, known as "Mother Hoover," in Ozona. His father has been dead about six years and is buried in Ozona.

Besides his mother Jones is survived by the aunt in Ozona, who was in Sonora Thursday morning, three brothers and a sister. The latter are: Jack Jones, Hatch, N. M.; Gus Jones, Pete Jones and Mrs. Lou Guest, all of Utopia, a town in Uvalde county.

Jones mother has been visiting her children in Utopia three or four weeks. Funeral arrangements made by the sons from there, who came here Thursday morning, were that the body would be taken to Utopia that day and funeral held this (Friday) afternoon.

TEXANS' GUEST THIS WEEK

A guest in various cities of the state this week was Franklin Delano Roosevelt, President of the United States of America. The President is shown in the picture with Governor Allred and others last year when he accepted a hand-woven serape in the design of the official flag of the Pan American Exposition. The serape, and the sombrero in his lap, were presented to him when he was a visitor at Texas A. and M. College.

MISSIONARY SWAYS HISTORY OF HAWAII

American Became Adviser to King and Ran Things.

Minneapolis.—The story of how an American missionary influenced the Hawaiian islands during the reign of King Kamehameha III was related here by Lawrence M. Judd, former governor of the islands.

Judd's grandfather, Dr. G. P. Judd, was the American who went to Hawaii as a medical missionary and stayed to become an integral cog in the territory's government.

Doctor Judd, who married in order to go to Hawaii, as the church would not send a single man, arrived in the islands in 1823.

Over a period of time, as the only medical man in the kingdom, he virtually became royal physician. And after he had been in Hawaii approximately ten years the king induced him to leave the mission and join the government, then a feudal despotism.

"My grandfather and a Frenchman named Richard were the only white men to renounce their citizenship and become Hawaiian subjects," Judd said. "Grandfather became translator and interpreter in the royal court. That meant that he dealt for the kingdom with all foreign nations.

"He had great influence with the king and first induced him to grant a constitutional monarchy. Then grandfather and two others wrote the constitution, patterned after that of the United States."

His influence with the king was illustrated by an incident in which a British admiral, feeling that England had a grievance, almost seized the islands.

A roundtable discussion between the king and the British officers took place. Doctor Judd sat next to the king and, by prearrangement, when he tapped the king's foot once with his toe the king answered "yes." Two taps and the king answered "no."

States Limit Gasoline

Brought in Foreign Cars

Washington.—Eighteen states have limited the amount of gasoline which may be brought inside their borders without payment of additional taxes, according to a survey made by the federation of tax administrators.

The restrictions are designed to prevent motor vehicles from using highways without contributing to the cost of maintenance and construction.

Thirteen states have specific gallon limits—ranging from 10 gallons in Colorado to 50 in Iowa—while five states admit tax-free only the fuel that can be carried in a vehicle's ordinary fuel tank.

States which restrict the number of gallons of gasoline which can be brought across their borders without payment of additional fuel taxes are Iowa, 50 gallons; Idaho, Illinois, Kansas, Wisconsin and Washington, 20; Texas, New Jersey and Louisiana, 30; New Mexico and Nevada, 25; Indiana, 15; and Colorado, 10.

States which forbid importation of gasoline—without payment of additional taxes—in excess of that carried in ordinary fuel tanks: Arizona, Arkansas, Maine, New York and Oregon.

Honolulu Bird Talks to Self in Two Languages

Honolulu.—Mrs. S. Itakoa boasts of possessing the only bird on the island that can talk in two languages. It is equally fluent in Japanese and English and can throw in a few words of "pidgin" when listeners are not able to understand the two languages in their purity.

The bird, which answers to the name of Charlie, is a nymah, one of the most conspicuous birds on the island although not indigenous here. They were brought from India to aid farmers by feeding on the cut-worms of a moth.

Unlike most talking birds, the nymahs are able to talk without having their tongues slit.

It took Charlie nine years to arrive at his present linguistic achievements and his greatest and most amusing accomplishment is that of being able to carry on a bi-lingual conversation with himself.

Sheep Thriving on Job of Preventing Blazes

Oakland, Calif.—The district which embraces the Alameda County Zoological gardens has obtained fire protection free of cost. Under arrangement with the Kerwin ranch, 1,000 sheep have been driven into the district to feed on the grass in which nearly all local fires start. The ranch in return is saved the expense of pasturing its sheep.

Writer Believes in "Dates" at Any Age

Fort Worth, Texas.—Dr. Henry Neumann, writer, believes the modern miss should have dates just as soon as she pleases.

More harm than good, he said, follows the old-time fashion of keeping the daughters at home until they are eighteen years old—then allowing them to have "dates" for the first time.

Youth today is morally better than a century ago, he believes.

Detailed Story of Highways in Texas As Well As City Streets Included

Texas whose vacation travels will not extend beyond the state will do well to secure one of the official state highway map published by the State Highway Commission with corrections up to April 1 of this year.

The new map, like those issued by the department in past years, is folded in booklet form, its covers in colors. The front shows a picture of an inviting highway and bears the legend, "1938 Texas Highway Map. Issued by Texas State Highway Department. Robert Lee Bobbitt, commission chairman; Harry Hines, commission member; John Wood, commission member; Julian Montgomery, State Highway engineer."

The back displays a colored picture of the Alamo, labeled "Cradle of Texas Liberty."

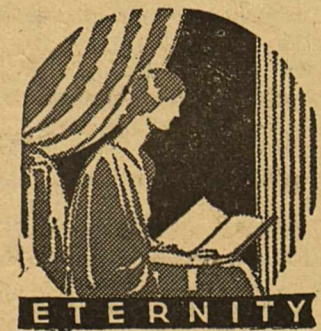

United States highways, state highways, pavements, surfaced roads, improved earth roads, earth roads and conditionally designated roads not maintained are each marked with individual symbols. The fact that there are no toll bridges on the Texas highway system is pointed out and mileage between towns as well as accumulated mileage between designated points is given.

Towns are listed, indexed and their population as of 1930 listed at the sides of the map proper.

City maps, showing routes through cities and designating points of interest as well as nearby lakes, nearby rivers and adjacent airports, are also printed on the face of the map in the borders above and below the map proper. These city routes are shown for Amarillo, Wichita Falls, Waco, Austin, El Paso, Beaumont, Fort Worth, Dallas, Galveston, San Antonio, Houston, Fort Worth-Dallas insert and Houston-Galveston insert.

The back of the map is decorated with pictures of various points of interest over the state, being mounted on a light background in the shape of the State of Texas.

"Many Bible students wonder what the word 'goods' of Matthew 25:14 refers to. I will tell what the popular answer is to this question and will endeavor to give the thought of just what the Bible reveals as the 'goods' of this verse."

There will noe be an evening service at the church. The class at La Vista Theater will be held as usual. In the afternoon the Reverend Mr. Brinkley will go to Harriett where he will conduct a series of meetings at the Baptist Church in that town.

A fair, clear-thinking fact-facing business man
for GOVERNOR
(Political Announcement)

To the VOTERS and CITIZENS of the Eighty-Sixth Representative District:

It has already been my pleasure to meet many people of this section and I am planning to take every opportunity to make your personal acquaintance and discuss with each individually the problems and issues connected with the office of State Representative for which I am asking consideration at your hands.

For the reason that I may not have such an opportunity with all of the voters of this great livestock and farming district I am taking this means of placing before the people of this section my views upon the matters of public concern and interest.

I believe society owes the worthy old people of this State, and who have made it what it is today, security and independence in their declining years and pledge my support of adequate old age assistance AS THE PEOPLE VOTED FOR IT and not as now administered by a bunch of "case workers" who are not in sympathy with the purpose and intention of the law. The money now available can be made to go at least one-third further if it is apportioned among the Counties on an equitable basis, similar to the division of State School funds, and administered in each County by the Commissioners' Court.

With reference to matters of local importance I call attention to the unsatisfactory laws we now have governing the trucking business of this State. West Texas cannot do business without motor transportation and the business men and truckmen of this section are demanding a change. We must have laws to regulate the business and protect all people including shippers but it is necessary that these laws be reasonable and permit the truckmen to make a fair living and render proper service. There is not a district in the State more dependent upon the truck than this and many business men, and particularly ranchmen, have suffered unnecessary loss of time and money because of the limitations and restrictions of the law. I am in favor of materially increasing the load limit and making other necessary changes in the law.

It is my opinion that we should have a fair and sensible "Fair Trade" law to protect the small town merchant and business man and likewise the consumers so that the big corporations will not be permitted to drive our friends and neighbors out of business and then make it all back with interest when they have killed all competition.

You are selecting a person to look out for your interests in the State Legislature for the next two years, a person who should know all the conditions and needs of this ranch district and when to vote for and when to vote against the measures that will crowd next session of the Legislature. The more experience and contact your representative has had in the business and with the people of this district the more successfully he may be expected to serve and protect your interests in Austin. May I call your attention to the fact that I was born in Edwards County and have spent all of my life, 37 years, in this district. I started out about 25 years ago in vacation and as I had time doing ranch and common labor by the day and through the years have become familiar with all the activities and conditions of this territory. I now own a small ranch in Edwards County and have first-hand information about the problems which confront that business. I will need your help to be elected, and if I am, I pledge myself to merit that help with sincere and conscientious service in your behalf.

It is my intention, if elected, to use every means within my power to fight bitter weed and other injurious plants. I promise to cooperate in any program which has such a purpose and further intend to see that the State Highway Department is required to keep these plants, and particularly the bitter weed, off of road right-of-ways.

Respectfully submitted for your consideration,

"HIPPO" IS ONE OF NATURE'S ANTIQUES

Huge Beast Only Living Relic of Stone Age.

Washington, D. C.—Birth of a nine-pound baby hippopotamus at the National Zoological park in Washington, and the hope that the tiny infant will survive, focuses attention on one of the queerest wild creatures in captivity. The newly arrived hippo is a pygmy, and if it reaches maturity will, like its mother, weigh only about 450 pounds. This contrasts with a weight of 4,800 to 6,000 pounds for the ordinary adult hippopotamus.

"Growing as rare as the vanishing American buffalo, that vanishing African, the hippopotamus, receives protection from several governments of middle and southern Africa," says the National Geographic society. "Wardens help the hippo escape the native steak platters. Left to himself, the cumbersome creature is about as dangerous as a grand piano.

"In spite of his successful zoo career as a very-wild-beast behind bars, the hippo is only a barnyard brute at heart—in short, a pig. Half-pig at least, says the scientist, considering the short legs, four-toed foot, rasping grunt, rooting muzzle and tusks. Pig-and-a-half, observes the layman with a measuring eye. For this super-porker is outranked for sheer bulk by the elephant alone among land animals. Parking space for a standard model hippo would need to be about 14 feet long. The average hippo's hide, two inches thick, is draped around three tons of animal.

"Horse of the River."

"River swine" was the ancient Egyptians' name for him. A visiting Greek three centuries B. C. dubbed him 'horse of the river,' and the Greek for that phrase—hipopotamus—became his title, a name as unwieldy as his frame.

"This nightmare of a pig has a spongy skin with a network of fine creases. It is a rich hue of rare beefsteak, shading into blue-gray and dappled with chocolate. His face is shaped like a violon-cello gabled at the top with a pair of alert eyes and gnarled at either end of the nose ridge with knobs of eyes and nostrils. Stubby legs and short flattened tail are dwarfed by his bulk.

"One of his odder features is the 'bloody sweat,' a reddish oil which pours from the hippo's pores under stress of pain or excitement.

"This greatest of hogs is one of nature's antiques, a living relic of the Stone Age. It may be the only big brute left which retains its face and figure from the days when prehistoric savages of southeastern England brandished stone-headed spears at it along the banks of the Thames. Remains indicate that the hippo once roamed through Europe and even India. His four-toed feet have beat a slow, thunderous retreat before advancing civilization to the dank heart of Africa, which is now the bewildered hippo's last stand. He lurks among the reedy margins of lakes and rivers from the latitude of Timbuktu south to the latitude of Durban, already growing noticeably scarce around the edges of the continent.

"By day the hippo hides his homely face in shady marshes or gallops along river bottoms with whalelike excursions to the surface to spout for air every five or ten minutes. No matter how cumbersome on land, he dives and swims with Olympic skill.

No Dainty Appetite.

"Catering to their gigantic appetite, which is exclusively vegetarian, is a hippo size job. In captivity, a baby can drink 15 pints of milk and squeal for more. An adult can stow away in his ten feet of stomach a dozen bunches of carrots, a half-dozen heads of cabbage, a peck of apples, 15 loaves of bread, 150 pounds of hay.

"Short legs make him stumble so easily that low flimsy fences are protection against hippo marauding visits. When the husky herds grow numerous enough to trample crops along cultivated riversides, they are transferred from the protected list to the black list. White hunters track them down, finding them about as much sport as a frightened cow. Natives kill them for food, feasting on hippo bacon and smoked tongue, rendering the fat into a pure oil that doesn't turn rancid for years.

"Mild manners and steady habits place the hippo among the respectable bourgeois of the jungle and surely among the favorites of the zoo. His popularity as a captive was well under way in 293 B. C. in the zoo of Octavius. Barnum billed him as Behemoth of the Bible.

"The pygmy hippopotamuses which range through Liberia on Africa's west coast are vest pocket editions similar to fossils found on Madagascar and Sicily. Naturalists wonder whether the small size was a special adaptation to island surroundings, and why this bantam model now lives only in Liberia and zoos."

CAN YOU MATCH IT ?

Bob Vicars of Sonora Drug Co. is authority for the following story. We didn't see the contest.

It seems that Richard Vehle's prowess with the pool cue is known far and wide; at least it is known well along the block where Sonora's only recreation club is located. Richard believes in it right well himself.

Several weeks ago Richard went down to defeat at the hands of Frank Knapton. Great was the "wailing and gnashing of teeth" because of the defeat of the famous Richard.

When a challenge to another decisive game was thrown down Monday by Vehle it was accepted and Knapton again defeated the baker in a contest of ivory balls on the green cloth-covered table. All spectators agree that a barrage of flour or baking powder was not used to help vanquish the Sonora business man.

RANCHMEN SHIP CAR OF MIXED CATTLE LAST WEEK

A car of 35 head of mixed cattle left the Sonora stock pens Thursday of last week consigned to Paul Shirley of Crowell, Texas, who bought the livestock from Thomas Espy and Espy and Vander Stucken, Sonora ranchmen.

When the cattle were being taken to the pens Wednesday evening a bull became stubborn and refused to cross a highway bridge. The animal broke loose twice, jumped several fences and headed toward the Sonora Wool and Mohair Co., in the general direction of the Espy and Vander Stucken ranch. It was finally necessary for Howard Espy to rope the unruly animal near the Marion Stokes residence and drag him, feet set, behind a truck to the stock pens.

He was sold the next morning.

TEXAS TOMATOES BOUGHT FOR U. S. RELIEF PEOPLE

College Station, July 13.—County agricultural agents and local farmer committees aided the Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation in the purchase of from 2 to 172 cars of tomatoes from a county in the 12 leading tomato growing counties in East Texas during the season just closed, according to J. F. Rosborough, horticulturist of the Extension Service of Texas A. and M. College.

In all, the Corporation purchased 458 cars of tomatoes which were distributed to persons on relief over the entire nation. Thru the work of this division more than $250,000 worth of tomatoes were made available for human consumption that otherwise would have been a loss to growers and consumers.

MOST everyone knows that SERVICE, as defined in the dictionary, means: "the act or occupation of working for another . . . the manner of performing work . . . that which is supplied or furnished to meet a demand," etc.

Working for you is Your Electric Servant's occupation. By that act of providing light and power for your home and business, the electric company renders a service. You pay a small amount each month as compensation for this service.

It, perhaps, seems like a simple transaction: but, in order to perform the work of providing the electric service you demand, this company is forced to employ approximately 1,000 men and women to whom it paid over $1,200,000 in wages during 1937. As a citizen and property-owner in every community it serves, it paid the equivalent of $9.25 in taxes per customer in 1937.

By maintaining three centrally-located power generating stations, it eliminates the necessity for less-efficient, isolated and expensive small plants in each community. Its 2,000 miles of high tension transmission lines are interconnected with still other sources of electric power so that failure of any one, or all three, of its own plants means only temporary interruption of the service you have learned to demand.

Efficiency in operation of this system of power plants and transmission and distribution lines permits rendition of electric service at its present low cost. The "manner of performing work" allows this company to render the good service you are receiving at an average net residential rate below the average.

We want you to know we are glad to render this service, "supplying and furnishing that which meets a demand," and we invite you to use this service freely.

One of those at the Camp Allison Celebration and Barbecue Thursday was B. H. Murphy, employee of the Liquor Control Board, Austin.

Mr. Murphy, brother of E. E. (Pat) Murphy, San Angelo attorney, has been assigned to this section for special work for the state board.

Liquor act violations in Texas, Mr. Murphy stated, are more prevalent in the small business places at the edge of a town than in the larger places within the towns. Business houses catering to large crowds, such as those at night clubs, give little trouble because they know that the reputation of their places depends upon careful operation of their businesses.

Little difficulty has been encountered by the Liquor Control Board in its work in Sutton county, Mr. Murphy commented.

Ancient Outpost to Be Historical Monument.

Fort Erie, Ont.—Neglected for more than a century, old Fort Erie—erected originally as a protection against Indians—is being restored as a historical monument.

Located near the Canadian end of the International Peace Bridge, the old fortress virtually has been destroyed by vandals, curio seekers and early Nineteenth century settlers who carried stones away to build houses, barns and even a church.

According to John Tielger, in charge of the restoration work, the Canadian government plans to rebuild the one-time stronghold with such authenticity "that a British general of 1770 could come here from Valhalla and feel at home."

Years of Research Work.

Historians and architects have put in years of research in connection with the restoration program. Their search through the archives of the British war office in London resulted in finding plans of the old fort, which will be followed in reconstructing the landmark.

Strategically located at the mouth of Niagara river, the original fort, built of wood, was erected in 1764. It was destroyed by a storm 15 years later. Again the fort was built, but this second one also was demolished by a raging storm.

When the fort first was built there was no thought of an international boundary, as both sides of the river were British territory. It was the first permanent settlement at the source of the river.

Third Fort Started in 1805.

A third fort on the same site was started in 1805, but was still unfinished when the War of 1812 broke out. The partly completed fortress was seized by American soldiers, who made it a strong fortification. The British laid siege to it in 1814, but Gen. Peter A. Porter of Buffalo, N. Y., broke the attack, taking British artillery to spike any further attempts at seizing the fortress.

Before they left, the Americans blew up most of the fort, probably thinking it would prove a menace to the new village of Buffalo.

In recent years, the fort site has been used as a rock garden, with only a few monuments and bronze plaques to commemorate a scene of military valor and daring.

When completely restored, the fortress will contain two buildings well protected by about 600 feet of stone wall.

Pupils in This School Must Be 50 Years Old

Pasadena, Calif.—A school for pupils more than fifty years of age is soon to be opened here—the second of its kind in the United States.

Plans for the school, which will be called the Pasadena School of Mature-ates, have been announced by Mrs. Lucile M. Cowles, for many years a teacher in the Church of Truth and Unity movement.

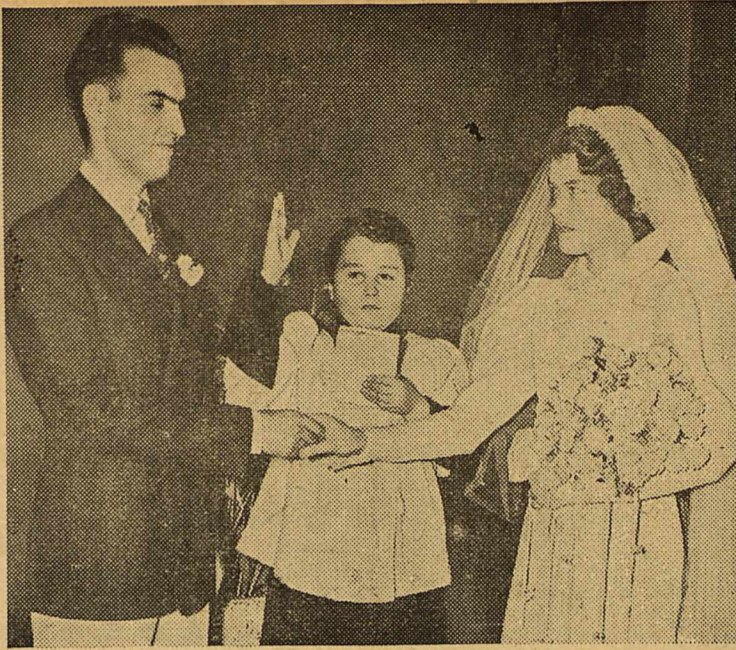

The aim of the school is "a physical and mental renaissance for all of its pupils and the re-education of the public mind toward people of mature years."

The school, which will follow closely the lines of the one directed by Dr. W. A. McKeever at Oklahoma City, will really be the beginning of a campaign against old age and for the extension of life.

The school will attack the belief that 70 years constitutes a decisive breaking point in the life and career of the ordinary person, and that he must inevitably enter thereafter upon a period of physical and mental decline and spiritual depression.

If you would fall into any extreme, let it be on the side of gentleness.—Frances De Sales.

Dallas, July 13.—Mrs. H. R. Carroll, San Antonio, one of the best known writers in Texas and an untiring worker in the Southern Baptist church, is a member of the forces of Tom H. Hunter in his campaign for governor.

During the first year of the Century of Progress exposition in Chicago Mrs. Carroll attended as official Texas representative. The following year Mrs. Carroll directed exhibits of San Antonio and Corpus Christi there.

So successful was the work of this Texas church woman that Mayor Edward Kelly of Chicago appointed her as a member of his municipal public relations department during 1934-35. She was called back to Texas in 1936 to become field representative for the Texas Centennial celebrations department of publicity and filled that post for two years.

Mrs. Carroll has just returned from Hollywood, California, where she has been writing feature articles for the Houston Post and other newspapers.

Junction Attorney Active Campaigner

Candidate For High State Office Experienced Legislator

Austin, July 13.—Four great sections of Texas were visited in four days last week by Coke Stevenson in his campaign for Lieutenant-Governor. Beginning the week at Marquez in East Texas, he visited Taylor the same day; Brenham and Cuero Monday; Stamford Tuesday and Brady Wednesday. At Stamford he rode in the parade staged in connection with the Cowboy Review.

In several addresses Stevenson said that as presiding officer of the Senate, the Lieutenant-Governor is somewhat like a judge and ought to keep himself in a frame of mind to give fair consideration to all matters of legislation. He served four years as Speaker of the House. None of his rulings was appealed.

As a member of the House Stevenson wrote the law creating the office of State Auditor. In its original form his bill provided for the appointment of the Auditor by the Legislature. He also wrote the laws modernizing the Comptroller's office and the State Treasurer's office, and was the author of the measure under which one-fourth of the gasoline tax is now being used to pay off county road bonds issued for building state highways.

In his campaign Stevenson frankly states his opposition to the proposal for a unicameral legislature which, he declares, would abolish the House of Representatives and transform the nature of the state government.

Congressman Chief Speaker As Lions Install Officers

Ladies Guests of Civic Club When 1938-1939 Officials Take Over New Work

Scuffing at the oft-heard statement that "there is too much government interference in business" as the reason for bad economic conditions, Charles L. South, representative in Congress, Friday night told Sonorans of their governmental affairs.

The congressman, speaking at the Lions Club's Ladies' Night program, declared that persons who thought interference by the government in business affairs caused unpleasant economic conditions were at a loss when asked what caused previous periods of economic stress.

Washington Life Reviewed
Mr. South reviewed recent actions of the administration and told of the workings of the government in Washington. In concluding his address he stated:

"We must not be too radical in our thought and actions in carrying on our government but we must also be careful not to keep too much to the old order of things. We must adapt ourselves to new things as they come our way."

W. C. Gilmore, a past president of the club, was in charge during the evening. He introduced Mrs. Preston C. Lightfoot, who sang two solos, and the Devil Ears musicians (formerly Juno Playboys) who played several times during the evening.

Llano Official A Guest

The district governor-elect, Bill Collins, newspaper man in Llano, was introduced by H. V. Stokes and spoke briefly. C. H. Gilmer of Rocksprings also spoke, suggesting a regional civic organization which would work for the common good of communities of this section of West Texas.

W. J. Fields, Jr., retiring president, expressed his appreciation of the work of Lions in Sonora during the last year. A copy of the constitution and by-laws as well as a president's pin were given Dr. Joel Shelton, president-elect, by Mr. Fields. Other officers and directors of the club were introduced and one—John Eaton, secretary, responded with an outburst of oratory as to his fitness for the work assigned him.

Financial Report Given

First official act of the new president was to name a committee to appear before the county commissioners relative to securing a new road which would shorten the distance from Station B to Sonora. Those named were George H. Neill, Joe Berger, Vernon Hamilton, W. J. Fields, Jr. and R. L. Hallum.

W. E. James, treasurer, reported that cash receipts during the year ending June 30 were $4,648.45 and that only $35 was now owed the club. The cash balance on June 30, was $2002.25. He presented checks for $377.90 each, on behalf of the club to Alfred Schwiening for Sutton County Wildlife Association and to Joe Berger for Troop 19, Boy Scouts of America.
