

Tourists to See Streamlined Miracle of Mexican Homes

Denton, July 5.—Mexico City, one of the most modern cities in the world, in the past five years has built block after block of dazzling white, ultra-modern homes like the one shown in the upper picture, according to Ronald Williams of the North Texas State Teachers College art staff, who is conducting the Mexico Tour being sponsored by the Denton Teachers College art department July 16-23. Streamlined and modern as a huge Hollywood studio, Mexico City stands in striking contrast with typical houses of rural Indians shown in the lower photograph. The former are built of stone, steel, glass, and concrete, and reflect the latest trends in European architecture; the latter are of bamboo, adobe, and straw—the same size, shape, and materials used by the Aztecs and Mayas more than 1,000 years ago.

The Teachers College students making the tour this year will visit both modern and the older colonial homes, as well as beautiful Mexican gardens and native villages.

The 39-day tour will cover 4,389 miles in visiting 11 states of the Republic of Mexico.

Misplaced Dignity

At a recent ball a man accosted by a lady. Drawing himself up, he said with a patronizing air, "I beg your pardon, but I do not think I have the pleasure of your acquaintance."

"Probably not," was the answer, "as I am your hostess."—London Truth.

The brewing industry would like to preserve for itself and the people the many economic benefits it has created in the past five years. LITTLE STORIES

The board of directors of the Lions Club met Monday night in the office of the president, Dr. Joel Shelton. The work of the year just closed was gone over, outstanding bills audited and ordered paid.

Mr. Dameron and his family will leave shortly for the International convention in Pittsburgh, and on to the World's Fair in New York. On his return he will have active charge of club affairs.

At the first board meeting in August, two new members will sit in with the president and the old board. They are Dr. J. F. Howell and Hix Hall. The present board is looking forward to another prosperous year's work among Sutton county people.

The Fourth of July, in Sonora, was a very quiet affair. Not even the burst and bang of a fire-cracker smote the air. Most of the stores were closed for the greater part of the day, and the streets were as deserted as an alley-way across the Sahara Desert—and as hot!

People, who had a way, either attended some of the many rodeos and celebrations scattered over the west, or went to the rivers for a day's outing. A number of enthusiasts attended the roping contest at the Fort Terrett Service Station in North Llano.

The Devil's River News office was in full blast the Fourth. There are six days' work to be done in publishing a weekly paper and if one day is lost, the burden of the entire week is thrown on the remaining five days—or a night's work is inevitable. A printer may take his choice.

'Come Into the Kitchen', Invites Modern Woman

The kitchen today can be the loveliest room in the average home! "This is possible because time and labor saving electric servants keep it clean, cool and cozy," says Miss Eudora Hawkins (inset), home economist for the West Texas Utilities, who frequently visits in the numerous homes here which now are equipped with the electric range.

"Come into the kitchen' is a standing invitation in thousands of homes where women are proud to show the beauty of cooking equipment and the ease with which they cook," Miss Hawkins declares. She insists that the electric range is the foundation for an all-electric kitchen, supplemented by electric refrigerator, dishwasher, hot-water heater and the many smaller appliances designed to "take drudgery out of the home."

PARTY GIRL

Social life begins at five and it begins auspiciously according to the July issue of Good Housekeeping Magazine, if the young lady wears this party dress made of rows and rows of lace posed over a rayon satin slip. The slip comes in pink, blue or white and the dress is tied with a big bow to match the slip. The bow in her hair also matches. Underneath the dress are fine party undies, panties trimmed with lace and satin ribbons.

IT'S HARD ON PULLETS, TOO!

St. Louis, Mo.—An amazing and deplorable lapse of judgment leading to costly consequence occurs every year among poultry raisers, according to J. H. McAdams, Purina Poultry Specialist.

"I refer," says McAdams, "to the unprofitable practice of letting young pullets eke out their own existence on range, after they've been carefully purchased as chicks and given a good start by proper feeding and handling. It's difficult to understand why a poultry raiser will observe so faithfully all the accepted rules of the chick raising game during the starting period, then do just the opposite during the growing period by turning his pullets out to shift for themselves until egg prices start going up in the fall, then put them on a good laying mash and suddenly expect eggs. But thousands do it every year, which is the fundamental cause of the high egg prices in October, November and December."

Wildlife

Austin, July 5.—It has been many, many years since there have been bears in most sections of Texas, but a few, probably less than 200, remain in the Trans-Pecos and the largest killed in a score of years was reported recently by State Game Warden T. S. Redford. The bruin, slain by a party of ranchers under the supervision of the game warden, weighed 463 pounds. It was tracked down after having killed twenty-five sheep in the Davis Mountains. The open season on bears is from November 16 to December 31, but special permission was obtained from the Texas Game, Fish and Oyster Commission to slay this sheep-killing bruin.

Fish often get the last laugh on the careless angler, in fact far too often, Will J. Tucker, Executive Secretary of the Game Department, sighed the other day.

"The very same chap who is the most careful hunter in the world will do the most utterly absurd things while in a boat," Tucker said. "A bill to enforce safety rules upon the fresh waters of Texas failed to squeeze through during the closing days of the forty-sixth legislature, but if fishermen will observe a few common-sense rules there will be fewer casualties."

Tucker's safety suggestions: Don't permit a boat to become overcrowded; don't venture on a big lake in a small craft without any thought of perils of weather (State Game Wardens recently rescued four boatloads of fishermen on Lake Buchanan in a single day). Don't stand in the boat when another person is casting; don't stand up a la tight-wire act to change seats; don't lash around without regard to harm to others from a plug with many hooks; don't land a canoe improperly; don't use bottle bait while in a boat; don't race large boats too closely to small craft

Veteran Fisherman J. T. Cooper and George Brogdon of Eastland, Texas, will probably be a bit more alert the next time they go fishing.

While nagling on Eastland Lake recently, but with no success, they were startled when a bass they estimated weighed every bit of four pounds leaped high into the air and landed in their boat. George shouted "String him up," but before either of them could reach the fish it had flipped them a goodbye and was back in the water. The anglers went home with the old fish stringer empty.

Reports of excellent prospects for big quail and dove crops in Texas continue to pour into the Game Department's office from many sections of the State.

Some rather interesting data on the food habits of alligators were obtained recently when State Game Warden H. A. Ellis killed a twelve-foot 'gator in Caddo Lake. The alligator had defied several boatloads of fishermen.

It was found when the 400-pounder was opened that his stomach contained grass, leaves, feathers and turtles, but no fish. There were six turtles, ranging in size from four to nine inches in diameter.

A mother quail was able to lure a cat away from her nest near the garage of Melon Wilson in Longview, Texas, recently, but it cost her life. However, her seventeen offspring are being taken care of by Mr. Wilson. They are being raised by the Longview man, who is an instructor in Longview High School, as a demonstration project for his classes and will be released in a section suitable for the raising of quail when they are grown.

The old idea that armadillos destroy many quail is rapidly being disapproved. Several were captured by South Texans recently and attempts were made to feed them eggs. Each of the armored-animals refused the eggs, but did eat heartily of moths, bugs, earthworm and cornbread. Occasionally an armadillo will root a quail nest, but it is believed that is because the animal has extremely poor vision.

Present Pullman Service Won Over Rail Heads

A STRANGE twist of fate saved the fortunes of George Mortimer Pullman, founder of the sleeping car, from collapse in 1864, when he brought out his famous "Pioneer," first modern sleeper, at a cost of $20,000. Railroad men admired the car, but shook their heads at the size and construction. "Too wide for station platforms, too high for bridges," they said.

Pullman fought to alter the platforms and bridges, but his was a losing fight. When all seemed lost, tragic fate intervened. President Lincoln was assassinated April 14, 1865. The President's remains were moved in state from Washington to Springfield and, as special homage to the Emancipator, Pullman's new car was used as part of the funeral train. Bridges and platforms, accordingly, were quickly altered; and the "Pioneer" received its dedication at the solemn pageant.

Overnight the "Pioneer" became celebrated, this car of 75 years ago that was to prove the inspiration for the sleepers of today—sleepers that are carrying travelers to both the New York and San Francisco World's Fairs, as well as to every other point on the nation's map.

As an incentive to visit the Fairs, the Pullman Company is conducting a contest for the naming of new Pullman cars. Fifty free round-trip tickets to either World's Fair will be awarded for the best names submitted. Names will be judged on the basis of originality, uniqueness and suitability. Entry blanks may be secured at any of the 21,000 ticket agencies throughout the country and Canada, or by writing to the Pullman Company, Chicago.

The "Pioneer," shortly after its participation in the funeral of President Lincoln, was put into service on the Chicago & Alton railroad. When General Grant decided to use it on his visit to his old home in Galena, other roads made the necessary alterations on bridges and platforms. This was the spur that Pullman needed; he proceeded to build more cars, to be owned jointly by himself and the railroads.

After thirty years as an industrial leader and philanthropist, Pullman died at Chicago, October 19, 1897. His largest bequest at the time of his death, was of $1,200,000, which established the Pullman Free School of Manual Training, with these purposes:

"That the children of those associated with him in the town of Pullman and its enterprises might be trained in the ideals of clean living, good citizenship and industrial efficiency, which were his own inspiration, and through which alone the workman might hope to attain his true development."

Barnyard roosters trained to roller skate without even ruffling their tail feathers are one of the features of the Hobby Lobby of
