FIFTY-NINTH YEAR

Sonora, Texas, Friday, September 16, 1949

FORTY-EIGHTH WEEK

... Son of a gun ...

Rip Ward sold Harold Friess 300 solid mouth ewes last week at prevailing prices. J. T. Eubank bought 300 aged ewes at the San Angelo Auction Co. ring for $7 each.

J. A. Gray, animal husbandman of Texas A&M College, was here Monday to look over 4-H Club lambs and help pick out good ones for the February show. Gray said this year's crop was one of the best he had seen in recent years.

Vestel Askew returned to Marfa this week, where he and other Armour buyers are contracting for several thousand lambs. Askew said he bought one string of 3,100 from J. E. White & Sons which averaged 93 pounds. They were straight Rambouillets. Another string of 2,070 bought from M. E. Gillette averaged 91 pounds. Askew bought 450 out of 459 lambs Gillette had in two pastures, and these averaged 99 pounds.

Askew said prices averaged 21½ cents a pound and lambs weighed from 70 to 125 pounds. Most of the Armour stock has been on range in the Marfa-Fort Davis area.

Breeding sheep are in more demand this year than in several, with yearling ewes scarce with few sellers.

Bryan Hunt delivered 2,500 lambs at 23½ cents to Harry Curtis at Brady. They averaged 68 pounds. Hunt also sold 800 3, 4, and 5-year-old ewes to Moore and Neill at $16 a head, and shipped a carload of 1, 2 and 3-year-old ewes to Berry Duff in Colorado at $22.50 each. Hunt bought 465 kids from Cleve Jones at $5, and sold a truck load of mutton goats out of the hair to Luther P. Raley of Valley Mills. Price was $5 per head.

M. M. Stokes sold 936 mixed ewes to B. M. Halbert, Jr. at prevailing prices, and 235 to Dan Cauthorn.

Elementary School To Open Monday

Elementary school students living in the north school zone will start school Monday morning in their new elementary building, A. E. Wells, superintendent, said Thursday. All students from grades one through six are to come to the high school auditorium at 9 o'clock, where their principal, Rex Lowe, and their teachers will make room assignments and give other important information.

Students are not to come to the new building first, Wells emphasized, but are to come to the high school auditorium for instructions. Although the new building is not completed, classrooms are ready for use, with the exception of the kindergarten room. Completion of it is indefinite at this time, Wells said, due to construction difficulties, but should be open soon.

Cub Scouts Go To Eldorado Fun Day Saturday

NEW AGE REQUIREMENTS IN SCOUTING EXPLAINED

Sonora Cub Scouts and other Cubs in the West Ranch District will attend the West Ranch Cub Roundup and Fun-Day being given by the Eldorado Lions Club and others Saturday in Eldorado. The occasion will mean the beginning of the Cub year of activities. Time is 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon, when a barbecue will be served.

John Eaton, local Scout and Cub commissioner, clarified regulations governing joining of both groups Wednesday. Eaton said many who have heard of the new age change in Scouting are asking how it will affect their boy's standing, especially the 11-year-olds.

The new change simply means that age requirements have been lowered one year in both Scouting and Cubbing. A boy may now enter Cubbing at 8, and Scouting at 11, and senior or explorer Scouting at 14. This action, said Eaton, has been under consideration of the National Council for several years and was taken to better fit the school program as well as the advanced mental growth of the boy today to Scout work. In fact, he said, the U. S. is the last nation which has Scouting to take this step.

There are about 15 Cubs in Sonora who are working on their Weblo and want to finish their Cub work and enter Scouting. The best thing to do, Eaton advises, is to drop Cubbing and enter Scouting, since the Tenderfoot requirements in Scouting are the same as Weblo.

At present the Explorer Post in advanced Scouting is led by Clint Langford and has started with five members in the first crew, which corresponds to a patrol in the Scout Troop.

Another thing to remember, Eaton added, is that a boy may enter Cubbing, Scouting or an Explorer Post according to his age, that it is not required that he be a member of a junior organization previously. Next meeting of the Post is Monday night at the Scout Hall.

Drive safely! Observe stop signs.

Sheep And Goat Raisers To Tour New Braunfels Mill At Meeting

West Texas sheep men are going to have an opportunity to see what happens to wool after it leaves the sheep's back. A tour that will take in a woolen mill as well as a cotton and hoisery mill will be part of the entertainment features offered in New Braunfels, September 23-24 during the fourth quarterly Directors' meeting of the Texas Sheep & Goat Raisers' Association, Ernest Williams, Association Secretary has announced.

A New Braunfels committee has arranged for the directors and other sheep and goat ranchers to visit the Pioneer Worsted Mill while it is in operation. They will see wool as it comes from the sheep's back go into the scouring vats and then from there through the various processes until it is wound on spools as yarn. The tours will begin Friday afternoon at 1:30 from the Faust Hotel.

All sheep and goat men are invited to attend the business sessions to be held in the Comal County Court House, Saturday, September 24. The various committees will meet during the morning and the general meeting will begin at 2:00 P. M., Williams said. A barbecue lunch will be served to the visitors in Landa Park.

Williams also mentioned that there would be no guest speaker as there would be considerable business to discuss. A progress report on the first months operation of the Mohair Market Research Project will be given and it is hoped that Congress will have agreed on the agriculture bill by that time so that the position of wool and mohair can be explained. Other routine and special business will be discussed, he added.

Broncos Win Over Eagle Pass, 7-6

The heavy, but green Broncos, proved to be not so green after all Friday night, when, after a scoreless first quarter, they got busy and scored the clincher in the second to beat the Class A Eagle Pass Eagles 7-6.

Sonora's score came about the middle of the second, when Kring and Biddle worked the ball down, with Kring taking it over. Gene Henderson, quarterback, kicked the game-winning point.

The Weather

Three good rains in the last week totaling 3.06 inches put Sutton ranges in the best shape they have been in for several years. Nearly all were county-wide, and with the exception of the 1.25 inch cloudburst Friday, good penetration was received.

Rape has moved to the Lower Devil's River Lake and has leased the fishing concession by the dam. He bought the boats and other equipment and assumed control Friday.

Lyles said Wednesday he planned no changes in the company at present. The partnership first formed in 1937 to run the Texaco Station now operated by Henry Greenhill. They sold this opened a tire business in the Penick Building adjoining Gulley's Tavern, and in April, 1946, moved into their own building across the street from the Fire Station.

Weekly Swing of SOUTHWEST FARM MARKETS

Most southwest farm products brought steady to higher prices during the past week, the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Production and Marketing Administration reports.

Last week's lowered cattle receipts below the week before. Texas markets showed little change in prices, but Oklahoma City and Denver gained mostly 50 cents to $1. Choice steers reached $29.65 at Denver, and fed heifers $26.50 at Oklahoma City. Wholesale beef advanced 50 cents to $2 at New York.

Last week's twelve market sheep totals equaled the week before despite the Monday holiday, but Texas receipts fell off. Spring lambs sold $1 to $1.50 higher for the week in Texas and Oklahoma, and ewes and feeder lambs slightly lower. Denver recorded little change in sheep prices. Goats varied from unchanged to 50 cents higher at San Antonio. Cull and

Our WASHINGTON Letter

By Congressman O. C. FISHER

(The Newsletter is written this week by Miss Helen Routh, Secretary to Congressman Fisher, who is in Texas briefly during the recess.)

One of the duller places I know of is Capitol Hill during a congressional recess. Only a handful of Members remain here during recesses -- those who have special assignments that keep them in Washington. And when recesses occur, a good portion of the office staffs move homeward too. Offices are usually opened in the home districts, particularly when the recess lasts several weeks.

In the present instance, we who work in congressional offices look on the recess as a necessary nuisance. The time is too short to justify the opening of an office in the district, and time and expense will not permit us to travel as far away as Texas and then return almost immediately. If we had our way about it, we'd prefer to 'keep plowing until the crop is laid by' and then go home and not be interrupted for awhile. Congressman Fisher, however, went to the district for two weeks. He plans to be back here by September 21.

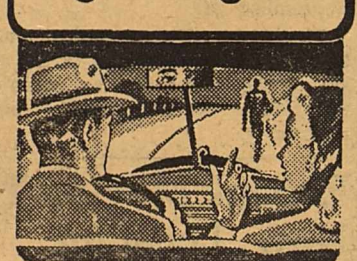

But the recess does give us a chance to catch up with the office work. The mail, which is somewhat lighter during recess, brings us interesting new work to do, new contacts to make, and various types of service to perform for those who write us. There is something new and different each day.

Then, too, the going is made more interesting by the visits of our friends and constituents. They are always welcome. The other day, for example, Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Lane of Veribest came by, along with Mrs. Ovie D. Clark. Mrs. Clark is from Goldthwaite and is the wife of Major Clark, formerly of Goodfellow Field but now head of the ROTC program at nearby Maryland University. The common nannies brought $6 to $6.50.

Texas ranchers held the better grown 12-months wools at 65 to 70 cents per pound. Some fine and medium territory wools sold at Boston. A fair volume of mohair sold in Texas at 40 to 42 cents for adult and 60 to 62 for kid.

Lanes drove up from Texas to visit friends and see Washington for the first time. From here they went to Cleveland to witness a big air show.

A few days ago Honorable J. Ed Johnson, formerly of Brownwood and now of Dallas, along with Mr. H. L. Cravens of Brownwood, came by to see us.

Jack Hight, of San Angelo, arrived in the Capital recently to take a course that may last a year in Georgetown University. His specialty will be foreign affairs and consular work. Another visitor was genial E. E. (Pat) Murphy, also of San Angelo. At about the same time came Margaret Stites, a teacher in the San Angelo College, along with Frances and Mary Rous, the latter two from my home town of Ballinger.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Lourig, with Dick and Marilyn, now living in Pekin, Illinois, but formerly of Del Rio, visited us recently. Mr. Lourig, a long-time personal friend of Congressman Fisher, is engaged in the newspaper business and was vacationing in Washington.

Judge and Mrs. Lamar Thaxton and daughter, Gertrude, of Mason, came by accompanied by a son-in-law, D. K. Chris Fenberry, Jr., the latter now attending the University of North Carolina at Durham.

Other visitors who dropped by Mr. Walter E. Suddarth, of San Angelo, and Forrest Kyle, the publisher of Bangs County Gazette in Brown County.

 The Washington papers have been full of five-percenter news of late, and it seems to be quite a common topic of talk on Capitol Hill. I sometimes think congressional office staffs follow these proceedings with as much or more interest than do the Members. After all, our bosses have so many other things to do and think about. I remember hearing one person say this about John Maragon the other day: "I've known him around here for years, and now imagine a small potato like John setting the whole Nation agog by trying to throw his weight around among folks who probably paid very little attention to him."

And everyone seems to his or her opinion about General Vaughan and his attempts to put in good words for his friends. Most everyone I have heard mention it agrees that the General used bad judgment in using his influence while in the White House on petty things, and that such activity detracts from the dignity of his office of Military Aide to the President of the United States. Whether or not General Vaughan has done anything criminally wrong, I don't know; probably not, according to the papers. But it seems to me that just the investigation and exposure of the activities of these people will alone serve a very good purpose by helping to prevent these things from happening in the future.

One paper carried this little ditty, captioned V a u g h a n t e d Axiom:

In Washington's swirl
Of favor and fetter
Know-how's nice
But know-whom's better.

Where Sixty Minutes
Seem but Half an Hour!

DISTANCE isn't the only thing which passes swiftly when you sit at the wheel of a 1949 Cadillac. So does time!

You rest your hand on the beautiful steering wheel and press your toe—ever so lightly—against the obedient throttle . . . and you're off on a wonderful journey.

Your ride is free and easy and restful. You just sit—and relax—and enjoy the scenery—and the companionship of those about you. Conversation is as easy as if you were sitting in your own drawing room—for the car is so quiet you can hear the soft ticking of the electric clock.

The labor of driving is almost nonexistent. The big powerful motor moves you in and out of traffic as if by automatic propulsion. Steering is little more than a response to your wish. Brakes are light to the touch and velvety-smooth in action.

You are as relaxed and care-free as the happy passengers around you.

For you do little more than the thinking—and the car does the rest.

And then a familiar landmark looms in the distance. Can it be that you are there?

You look at the clock and you look at the speedometer—and, surely enough, the time and the distance have passed, and your journey is over.

Better come in and see for yourself that—when you sit at the wheel of a Cadillac—sixty minutes seem but half an hour!

SOL MAYER

GETS LETTER OF THANKS FROM YUGOSLAVIA GIRL

Mrs. A. E. Prugel, who contributed to a clothing drive for Europe's needy some two years ago, received a note of thanks last week from Milena Pavlovitsh of Belgrade, Yugoslavia, who received a coat of Mrs. Prugel's. The letter read:

"Dear Madame: Your sincere and nice wishes as well as your address, we have found in your coat, have inspired me to write to you. The coat is very good and we are thanking you cordially on it. This was really very nice of you to think about the unhappy people and of countries destroyed by the war."

"I am 17 and I attend the secondary school. I have two sisters and father. For us, Amerika is a wonderful world, and very often we are thinking of it, thinking of people living there, though we are so far from you. We in Europe, particularly in Yugoslavia, have suffered very much during the war. Still now we are blessed in our country's recovery. Very often I want to go to USA to see in reality that what I have seen only by pictures of what I got or knowledge only by books and from the ranch country

Son of a gun

Seems like we can't have a column without some kind of a fishing report. You know how it is when you go fishing -- "it was really good a couple of days ago. You should have been here then." Or, "Stick around awhile -- looks like they're going to bit any day now." Well, it must have been that way for local fishermen, for we have no reports this week and had to go to the Gaines Lodge at Lake Brownwood for a good story. It seems that a Gaines' place, Walter Nelson and Frank Anderson landed 12 white and black bass totaling 26 pounds in 1 1/2 hours of casting. Bob Campbell caught a 45-pound yellow cat at the same place. But don't rush up there because this was a couple of days ago.

—(?½$?)—
"That surely looks good," and "isn't that pretty," are phrases heard often from a group of ranchers visiting the ranches of Thomas Morriss and Rex Cusenbary.

Edgar Shurley, Tom Davis, Rex Cusenbary, Thomas Morriss, all Edwards Plateau Soil Conservation District ranch owners, and Tom Darrow, Andy Truden, Harry Hunter, Soil Conservation Personnel, made up the group.

The purpose of the tour was to show the fine progress the better grasses, such as sideoats grama, hairy grama, little bluestem and stories. But who knows the ways of fate? I try to imagine you but I failed. I am interesting what you looking like and what you are doing. I shall be very glad if you answer me and write me a few words of yourself. Very sincerely yours, Milena Pavlovitsh."

silver bluestem, are making in pastures that have been carefully managed.

The Prairie Dog Pasture was deferred by Morriss in the summer of 1948. This summer it was stocked heavily with sheep and cattle. The grass cover is good and in such quantity that the sideoats grama which moved out in the open during the deferral has been able to make a good seed crop. Sideoats grama cures out well and furnishes an abundance of winter feed.

Morriss' North Pasture was deferred this summer. Evidence of the value of this practice is the appearance of little bluestem, silver bluestem, and sideoats grama heading out where he has not seen them before. This pasture will be stocked this winter, but not until the seeds from these desirable grasses have matured and shattered.

The much talked about Southwest Pasture on Rex Cusenbary's Ranch was visited. There was so much hairy grama going to seed that the group found it hard to realize that this pasture had been grazed all summer.

Observations on both ranches emphasize the fact that it takes more than rain to grow good grasses and obtain real range improvement. Thomas Morriss and Rex Cusenbary are helping lead the way towards better range conditions in the Edwards Plateau Soil Conservation District.

Through such cooperation new and better ways will be found to improve range conditions and increase livestock production.

A&M WANTS DOVE WINGS FOR CHECKUP ON BIRDS

An appeal is being made to Texas hunters to send mourning dove wings to the Texas Cooperative Wildlife Unit, Texas A&M Colleke, College Station. From these wings it is possible for wildlife technicians to determine how many of the birds were hatched this past summer, and thereby know if a successful nesting season occurred.

Collecting dove wings at A&M is a part of coordinated research program initiated by the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service due to a noticeable decline in the dove population during the past few years. All wildlife conservation agencies in the Central and South-eastern United States are cooperating in this program.

Hunters are urged to aid in this program by sending the right wing of doves to the Texas Cooperative Wildlife Unit, A&M College, College Station. Each wing should be marked with the date and location where each dove was

YOUR HEALTH

Correct posture in school children, and adults as well, is necessary to proper physical and mental development, says a warning from the Texas State Department of Health. "Good posture is a sign of self respect and plays an important part in winning the respect of others," said Dr. Geo. W. Cox,

State Health Officer. "Many of the ills of childhood and the deformities of adult life have their beginning in poor posture acquired during childhood," he said, "and it is particularly important that the child's posture conform to nature's dictates. Most children are born in good physical condition and yet examination of large groups of school children show a high per cent to be suffering from poor posture. Malnutrition and fatigue are productive of poor posture. These lessen the size of the chest and decrease the lung capacity. Abdominal organs may also be pushed out of natural position, which may seriously interfere with their action. These conditions must be corrected before the body is able to attain normal weight and nutritional standards."

What's phosphorus to a pig?

Just a half a pound of your 250-lb. pig is phosphorus. This seems a small amount. But without it, your pig would die. And there are other minerals just as vital to livestock. Some they need in quite large amounts . . . calcium and sodium as well as phosphorus. Others we call trace elements. These they need in very small amounts . . . such as cobalt, iron, copper and manganese. But your animals do need these trace elements. The people at the agricultural colleges have proved that past all doubt. Some minerals are a "must" if you want to raise healthy, fast-gaining cattle. That goes for lambs and hogs, too. For example, these men find that grass and grains in Dade County, Florida, are short of copper and iron. Clallam County, Washington, needs iodine to check goiter. They know that San Diego County, California, hasn't enough phosphorus. In Aroostook County, Maine, the scarce mineral is cobalt. Ranchers and farmers in these four corners of the country have this problem. Their feeds and forages are short of one or more vital minerals. Many other areas share the problem, including parts of the great Corn Belt.

But you ask, "How can I spot animals which suffer from mineral shortage?" It's not too easy. If the lack is serious, your stock may have rickets, "big neck," anemia or other ailments. But there are some early symptoms you can spot. These are bone chewing, loss of appetite, slow gains, rough and scrubby coats. Or just a general unthrifty condition gives you the clue. If you start feeding a mineral which contains the essential trace elements, you may bring them around fast. But if this doesn't work, then you should consult your veterinarian, county agent or agricultural college. The common mineral deficiencies in your area are known. By feeding mineral-balanced rations, you can correct these lacks. Or you can build up the mineral content of the soil. Either, or both, of these will help you grow healthier livestock, at a lower cost.

Supplemental Mineral for Wintering Range Ewes
 by William H. Burkitt
 Montana State College

Thirteen mineral elements are known to be necessary for normal functioning of an animal body. However, this does not mean that all 13 must be supplied in a mineral mixture. Many of them are present, under usual feeding conditions, in sufficient amounts for breeding ewes. Those lacking in Montana include sodium and chlorine (salt), iodine, phosphorus, and possibly cobalt.

Lack of sufficient iodine in the ration of pregnant ewes results in lambs being born with "big neck" (goiter). Thin wool in lambs may also result. If dead or weak lambs have shown "big neck" or thin wool at birth in past years, stabilized iodized salt should definitely be fed the ewes this winter.

Phosphorus deficiency may exist in wintering range ewes, particularly if there is little or no supplemental feeding. Abortions and weak lambs may result from deficient phosphorus. Pregnant ewes should have from 0.16% to 0.18% phosphorus in their feed. Many grass hays and mature range grasses contain less than 0.15% phosphorus and some contain as low as 0.04% phosphorus. Bone meal, defluorinated rock phosphates, and monosodium phosphate are satisfactory sources of phosphorus. Palatability and consumption may be improved by mixing with salt.

Cobalt is believed to be needed by micro-organisms in the paunch. A lack results in loss of appetite, less feed consumption, and eventually starvation. A possible cobalt deficiency may be guarded against by mixing 1 ounce of cobalt salt with each 100 pounds of stock salt. Cobalt carbonate, chloride, or sulfate are all satisfactory. (Editor's note: The principles of nutrition discussed above apply to most kinds of livestock and in all parts of the country.)

Hello Again!

We are glad to be back with the Swift page of information and ideas. What did we do all summer? Well, among other things, we visited with farmers, ranchers, agricultural editors and educators. And we rounded up the facts we need to make these messages interesting and useful to you producers. As we said away back in 1944—"This is your page, and we welcome suggestions from our readers." We still do. Just write to me at Swift & Company, Chicago 9, Illinois . . . And when you're in Chicago, drop in and see us.

LET'S SUPPORT OUR "MEAT TEAM"—You know, times change—but some folks don't change with the times. I'm thinking of the type of man who always thinks that someone is getting the best of him in business. He sells a load of steers. No matter what his return, he's not satisfied—the packer, the commission man, the retailer—somebody else always gets a "bigger slice." But, during this past summer, I talked to a lot of people about the livestock-meat industry and our mutual problems. And I found a refreshing, encouraging attitude—"Sure, we got problems. Who hasn't these days? But if producer, packer and retailer work together as the 'meat team,' we'll work things out. . . ." It's just good business to have a decent regard for the contributions made by other members of your team. I hope you have followed the "Meat Team" advertisements of the American Meat Institute and will talk to your neighbors about them.

FACT CONFIRMED—Out in the West, whenever I passed a town with a local meat-packing plant, I thought, "This town, out here where there is lots of livestock, is well served by the local plant. But what about the distant cities filled with meat eaters and no nearby livestock production to speak of?" I know for a fact that meat has to travel an average of more than 1,000 miles to reach those consumers. The only way they can get meat is through the low-cost processing and marketing services provided by nationwide meat packers, like Swift & Company.

F.M. Simpson,
 Agricultural Research Dept.

MONEY and MEAT—In the livestock-meat packing industry. At that time we often see the year's high market for top finished beef cattle. And this top price usually is being paid when the average price for all cattle is moving in the opposite direction.

The high price is explained by the fact that during the fall we usually have the shortest supply of the year of well finished, long fed cattle. Brisk demand for this short supply naturally will force the price up.

The lower average price results from the annual move to market of huge numbers of grass-fed cattle.

About 20 per cent of all the cattle and lambs slaughtered during a whole year must be handled in September and October. Meat from these animals being slaughtered any given day generally is on the dinner table in less than 14 days.

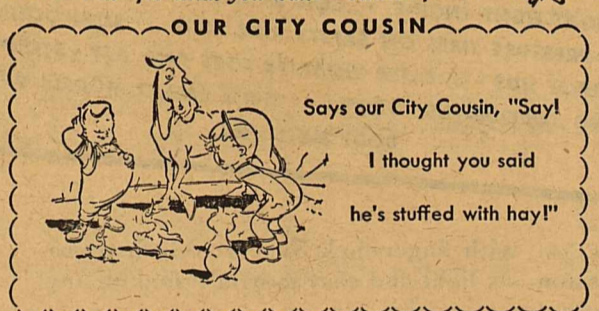

Folks aren't likely to have any more money to spend on food during the fall months than in February, when fewer meat animals are being marketed.

Since beef and lamb is largely a fresh meat business, there's a lot of meat to eat during the fall months. Consequently, since consumers have no more money to spend, meat prices have to be lowered. And that's just what happens, as it usually does with an increased amount of meat to be sold and no increase in the amount of money with which to buy it. These lower meat prices are most noticeable, of course, in the large consuming centers where surplus supplies always can be moved at a price.

Naturally, then, livestock prices follow meat prices. Producers should keep in mind that the prices they receive for their livestock are governed by what the packer can get for the meat and the by-products. This is perfectly demonstrated, as we have pointed out above, when the price for one kind of cattle, in short supply, is moving up at the same time that prices of other cattle, in heavy supply, are moving down.

Martha Logan Recipe for FRENCH MEATWICH

Make sandwich of 2 slices of bread, using 1 slice of cold meat and 1 slice of cheese as the filling. Dip each sandwich into a mixture made of 1 slightly beaten egg and 1/4 cup milk. Pan fry in a small amount of butter, margarine or clear drippings over low heat. Turn to brown. Serve at once with cole slaw or fruit salad.

FREE! The Story of Poultry

Children and grownups, too—here's another booklet in Swift's popular Elementary Science Series. Like the others in the series (on Soils, Plants, Meat Animals and Grass), "The Story of Poultry" (Booklet E) gives the answers to many interesting questions. Do you know—Where the first chickens came from?
 Which breed of poultry is native to America?
 How the shell gets around an egg?
 You'll find the answers to these and dozens of other questions in "The Story of Poultry." Lots of pictures—easy-to-read words. Write for your copy today and show this notice to your school teacher. Yes, there are free copies for every kid in your class, if requested by your teacher. If you'd like the other booklets in the series mentioned above, ask for them, too. They are all FREE! A LOOK AT THE BOOK

By DR. BOB JONES, JR.

PRESIDENT OF BOB JONES UNIVERSITY GREENVILLE, SOUTH CAROLINA

Fearless preaching always strikes at men's pride and brings such confusion to the hearts of the hearers that they either repent or hate the preacher. When Stephen was brought before the council, they saw his face as if it had been the face of an angel; but when they heard him speak, "they were cut to the heart, and they gnashed on him with their teeth . . . and cast him out of the city, and stoned him."

Yet Stephen's message to the council was simply a resume of Old Testament history and an application of it to their own lives in their dealing with the Messiah, the "Just One." But among the words of God which Stephen quoted were these, "Hath not My hand ready possesses all that the eye can see? Stephen answers the implied question when a few moments later he dies beneath the stones of the angry and bigoted leaders of the nation. The only thing that man can give to God is uncompromising service and unflinching devotion which is faithful even under the blows of hatred and the persecutions of evil. We have nothing to give to God except what He has already given to us. What wealth we possess He has entrusted to our keeping. The talents with which we are endowed He bestowed upon us. We owe Him, certainly, the service of our talents, and the investment of our wealth for Him. But He is a God who delights more in obedience than in sacrifice. That which truly brings honor to Him who made all things is the love of an obedient heart that without compromise delights to do His will and rejoices in the pathway of His purpose even when it leads to bloody death.

This is no way to bring home the BACON!

Good intentions don't make a good savings plan. What's the smart way to save? A way that's—

1. Regular
2. Convenient
3. Dependable
4. Automatic

You can get this foolproof combination by investing in U. S. Savings Bonds. Either of these two ways:

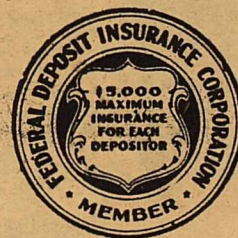

Join your company's Payroll Savings Plan . . . or join your bank's Bond-A-Month Plan.

Then sit back and watch your dollars make pigs of themselves, fattening up at the rate of four for every three you put in, every ten years.

That's one sure way to bring home the bacon some day. And by bacon we mean the things you dream about for the future: a home, a business, a college education, and freedom from worry.

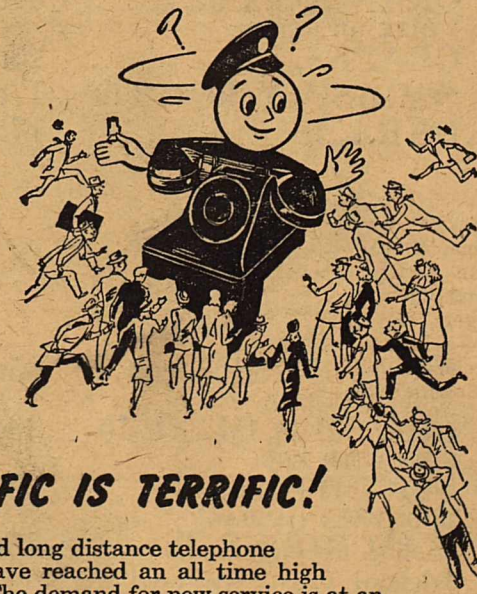

Go reserve a slice of that for yourself . . . TODAY!

Local and long distance telephone traffic have reached an all time high today. The demand for new service is at an equally high level. We still cannot obtain much of the equipment we need to handle this tremendous traffic as well as the demand for telephone service. Yet we are installing more telephones and servicing more calls than ever before. Yes, traffic is terrific in every phase of telephone service today. And we will continue to keep our service expansion "terrific" as well.
