School Census Underway Now

The school census is being taken at the present time in Sonora. It is very important that all children who will be six years of age by September 1, 1960 be enumerated in this census. Central Elementary School Principal Ralph J. Finklea, Jr., asks that anyone knowing of a child who has not been enumerated call his office.

The urgency of this matter is due to the fact that the number of teachers and employees and the number of state textbooks obtained by the local schools is determined by this census, Finklea said.

The State winner will receive a free vacation trip to Colorado, or can elect to receive a trust fund to apply on a college education. Trophies and medals will be presented to 10 runner-up winners in each of five state subdivisions.

Sonora has had two state winners of this contest in recent years, Jackie Wardlaw and Jan Keng. A number of other students have won runner-up awards.

The district supervisors—Joe B. Ross, Fred Earwood, Frank Bond, Edwin Sawyer and W. B. McMillan believe that the essay contest is very worthwhile in encouraging students to learn more about soil and water conservation problems. The board appreciates the fine cooperation given by school officials and students in connection with the contest.

"The importance of soil and water conservation to the American way of life should be understood by every citizen," said E. B. Keng, local SCS range conservationist. Conservation has increased in importance every day from the time our Pilgrim fathers landed, until today when the products of the soil must feed, cloth and shelter 180 million Americans.

A total of 192 pets have been vaccinated in the city's drive to prevent an outbreak of rabies in Sonora. Dr. Joe David Ross was on hand at the City Hall last

Poll Tax Payments Still Lag Office To Remain Open 30-31

Saturday to give the anti-rabies serum which will keep pets immune for one year.

Saturday's total was 56 animals vaccinated. Earlier in the week Boy Scouts and 4-H members had canvassed the town and distributed handbills printed in both English and Spanish advising citizens of the scheduled vaccination.

A total of 123 poll taxes were sold during the last week at the Sutton County Tax Assessor-Collector's office, to bring the total purchased by Sutton County voters this year to 640. Deadline for paying poll taxes is January 31 and the sheriff's office will remain open both Saturday, January 30 and Sunday, January 31, so that citizens may take full advantage of the deadline, according to Mrs. Zelpha Wheelis, chief office deputy.

In this general election year, voters will have the opportunity to select their governmental representatives including, on a local level, a District Judge, District Attorney, County Attorney, State Representative, Sheriff and Tax Assessor-Collector, County Treasurer, Commissioners in Precincts One and Three, and a Constable for Precinct One.

Poison Centers In Operation In Nine Texas Cities

In the next 24 hours three Americans will die from accidental poisoning and 425 will get sick after eating or drinking something not intended for human use.

The toll is high, yes, but a brief decade ago it would have been twice as high.

Why have accidental poisonings declined, even in the face of rising populations and vastly increased availability of toxic substances? In large measure the reason lies with unique institutions known as "poison control centers."

More than 200 centers are operating throughout the nation today, supplying prompt information on treatment and toxicity of poisons to physicians on a 24-hour daily basis. Nine centers are currently functioning in Texas. State health authorities, who cooperate with state and local medical societies in setting them up, would like to see at least three more put into service.

Centers are now active in Austin, Corpus Christi, Fort Worth,

Lamb Grading Fate Doubtful, Says Fisher

By Congressman O. C. Fisher
The fate of Federal lamb grading remains in doubt following four days of public hearings last week before the House Committee on Agriculture. Suspension of the grading program has been ordered by Secretary of Agriculture Benson to be effective on January 4, but at the request of the Committee, the action was suspended until a public hearing could be held.

I have joined in urging the suspension of further grading be made effective immediately. At the hearing, all of which I attended, a very strong case was made out against the grading system. Most all the grower organizations over the country and also most of the lamb feeders oppose the grading.

Note to be confused with Federal inspection of meats, which is a good thing and will be continued, this lamb grading is most difficult to administer. It forced feeders to over-fatten lambs in order to meet certain grade standards. And the public does not want to buy over-fat lambs.

The result of all of this is that both the grower and consumer are penalized. Lamb grades and types vary so much in various parts of the country that it is doubtful that even with realistic changes in the present grade standards a workable grading program can be devised.

I have joined the lamb growers in urging that all grading be suspended for a year and see how the marketing functions without the interference of artificial and unrealistic grading.

Seeing is believing—if you see it in print.

Some workers have lots of "get up and go" when it's time to get up and go home. Yes, sir, they're the ones who get "fired with enthusiasm."

Many a housewife spends two hours a day telling her neighbor she doesn't have enough time to do her housework.

Live in your heart as though every day were Christmas.

Nowadays men don't talk about women as much as they used to. Most of today's conversation is devoted to overtime and time-and-a-half.

A person with charm is one who can make another feel that both of them are pretty wonderful people.

Perseverance indicates a strong will; obstinance a strong won't.

Life is very much like Christmas—you're more likely to get what you expect than what you want.

We're busy as a cranberry merchant—returning cranberries.

Galveston, Houston, Tyler, Abilene, Dallas, and Grand Prairie.

The opinion is generally held that a center to serve far West Texas, one in the Panhandle, and one to serve South Texas and the Rio Grande Valley would complete the state-wide network.

Among the main items of equipment in a poison control center are a telephone with a well-publicized number, a reference library on toxic substances, and an index file of common, non-edible household products—including brand name, poison content and antidote or prescribed method of treatment.

At the request of local health departments the Texas State Department of Health will aid in securing a comprehensive index file on poisons for any community desiring to establish a poison control center.

To see how poison control centers function, imagine this true-to-life situation:

A youngster accidentally swallows some insecticide he finds under the kitchen sink. The label is missing so his mother knows only the brand name.

She call the family's physician, who may in turn call the nearest poison control center. A quick check of the card file reveals the poisonous ingredients in the-secticide, the antidote and suggest course of treatment.

Or, if the center has treatment facilities available—and many of them in Texas do have—it may be necessary to rush the youngster there for emergency care. In either case the center gives the child a vastly better chance of surviving the unfortunate incident. (A weekly feature of the Health Education Division, State Health Department.)

YOUR MINISTER SAYS

By Rev. William T. Mitschke

"I AM POOR AND NEEDY; YET THE LORD THINK-ETH ON ME." Psalm 40:17. According to our way of thinking God must be very busy with the task of controlling and directing the affairs and events of the world. He has to "uphold all things by the word of His power."

Since God has so many things to do, we might think that He would have no time to concern himself with the life of each creature on earth. Yet the Bible assures us that God is interested in the welfare of every person on earth.

"The Lord thinketh on me." What a wonderful truth! Whenever we are burdened with problems and worries; whenever our hearts are filled with disappointments—each one of us should recall the cheering words: "The Lord thinketh on me."

The Lord thought about the sad situation into which our sins had plunged us and set His Son to pay the penalty for our sins. God the Father lovingly thinks about each one of us and is concerned about us.

As children of God we can go about our daily tasks with the golden assurance of Scripture in our hearts: "The Lord thinketh on me."

U. S. SAVINGS BONDS WATCHES & OTHER MERIT AWARDS $46,500

Figures on 4-H enrollment for 1959 again show an upward trend. If the increase is reflected in all 50 states and Puerto Rico, this year's final score could well be within touching distance of the two-and-one half million mark, predicts the National Committee on Boys and Girls Club Work.

While the number of 4-H'ers is steadily increasing, the annual crop of winners remains about the same, the National Committee points out, because the number of award programs is limited. Thus individual qualifications become higher and competition keener. At the present time the ratio for state and national winners is one member out of 2,000.

The national award programs in which 4-H'ers participate include clothing, frozen foods, entomology, safety, public speaking, and tractor. There are nearly 50 others, according to the National Committee.

All 4-H projects and activities endeavor to show how to improve the individual, the family, the home, farm and community.

Every 4-H member pledges "... my head to clearer thinking... my heart to greater loyalty... my hands to larger service... my health to better living, for my club, my community, and my country."

Besides the personal satisfaction of "learning by doing," 4-H'ers take great pride in their accomplishments, and outstanding records are rewarded, the National Committee reports.

Awards are provided annually by individuals and business firms among which are: Mrs. Charles R. Walgreen, Standard Brands, Coats & Clark, Carnation Co., Simplicity Pattern Co., Hercules Powder Co., Betty Crocker of General Mills, Whirlpool Corp., Montgomery Ward, General Motors, Firestone Tire & Rubber Co.

Also John Deere, Singer Sewing Machine Co., Colgate-Palmolive, Homelite, Armour & Co., the Burlington, Milwaukee, and Illinois Central railways, Wilson & Co., and Humble Oil & Refining Co.

All 4-H programs are directed by the Cooperative Extension Service, USDA. Arrangements for the national award programs are made by the National Committee.

Devil's River Philosopher Unbends And Makes Some Big Predictions For 1960, Without Any Guarantees

Editor's Note: The Devil's River Philosopher on his bitter-weed ranch on Devil's River gets the new year underway about like he left the old one, his letter this week indicates.

Dear editor:
I started the new year off successfully, a business man in Sonora gave me a 1960 calendar wrapped in a copy of The Devil's River News and since I don't pay much attention to a new calendar, haven't used my old one yet, I laid it aside and tackled the newspaper, as soon as I got home and got my feet propped up.

According to an article in it, a University of Chicago Professor has done a lot of research on modern man and has come up with the conclusion that man's goal now is leisure, that the idea that work is the most creative expression of man's daily life is obsolete, and the educational institutions must re-examine their principles and "gear education to the use of leisure time."

I won't go into his ideas on work, that's out of my field, but I'll admit it's news to me that this college professor seems to think you have to be educated to loaf.

When I look back on my "education," I don't seem to recall that it was geared for leisure. What loafing I've managed to do, in school or out, was accomplished on my own. If educators are setting out to teach people how to enjoy their leisure time, I believe I could hire out as a professor right now.

The trouble with college professors when they start theorizing about modern man is that they stomp their toe before they get started. Modern man is no different from old-fashioned man, except he's better organized. His mass production is better organized, his social life is better organized, his wars are better organized, his crime is better organized, his schools are better organized, his tax-gathering is better organized, his charity is better organized, his games are better organized, but when it comes to loafing, I prefer mine unorganized.

If I've got time to spend studying how to loaf, I believe I'd prefer to use it loafing. Some people just can't be educated.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Devil's River Philosopher Fears Thirty Minutes Warning Against Missile Attack Won't Be Enough

Editor's Note: The Devil's River Philosopher on his bitter-weed ranch on Devil's River seems to be against progress, his letter this week indicates. It's not the first time.

Dear editor:
One of the main troubles with life these days is that most people are bogged down with progress, and there's no escape in sight.

Everybody who has been to a big city along about quitting time in the late afternoon knows the automobile at that hour creates more problems than it solves.

Or take ranching. We don't have any traffic congestion, but we've got a surplus that's just as bad.

What brings this to mind is an article I read last night in a newspaper an insurance salesman left out here. According to it, scientists are working on a scheme to prolong the life of fresh fruits and vegetables ten times what it is today. By using some sort of atomic radiation, they claim they can make an orange or a head of lettuce stay fresh at least ten times longer.

They claim this will be a great step forward, but what they're fixing to do is put fresh fruits and vegetables in the same shape we've gotten all other agricultural products.

Say you've the Secretary of Agriculture. Up to now, while you might be pressed down with worry over the surplus of corn, wheat, cotton, etc., you at least could smile when you thought of lettuce. Oh, there might be a surplus of lettuce for a few weeks, but you could get an inner glow out of remembering the problem would soon wilt, and a month from now the surplus, however tremendous, would disappear, instead of hanging around for years staring you in the face like wheat.

But no. Scientists aren't satisfied with a situation like that. What they're working on is a scheme to make lettuce stare the Secretary of Agriculture in the face for months and maybe years. Not only lettuce but tomatoes, cabbage, green beans, watermelons, oranges and anything else you can think of.

If scientists had us ranchers' and the Secretary of Agriculture's best interests at heart, what they'd be doing is leaving the fresh fruits and vegetables alone and working on a brand of wheat for example that expires six months after it's harvested. If it wasn't made into flour by then, it'd disintegrate.

If the same thing was worked out for corn, cotton, etc., the surplus problem would be whipped and all the national magazines could stop worrying about what the farmers are costing the government.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Benjamin Franklin once said, "Doing an injury puts you below your enemy; revenging one makes you but even with him; forgiving one sets you above him."

Time is that expanse of space between paydays.

Golfing businessmen often feel that if they shoot above par they are neglecting their golf; and if they shoot below par they are neglecting their business.

A lot of fellows who say what they think don't do enough thinking.

Have character—don't be one.

Devil's River Philosopher Claims Scientists Making Big Mistake In Prolonging Life Of Fresh Fruits

Editor's Note: The Devil's River Philosopher on his bitter-weed ranch on Devil's River discusses time this week, or at least it seems that's what he's doing.

Dear editor:
I don't like to discourage scientists, especially space scientists, as some of their launching efforts have been discouraging enough without any help from me, but the latest idea from these people has left me pondering.

As I understand it, they're planning on launching some new type satellites equipped with a special sensing device which will warn the United States immediately if a guided missile is headed in our direction.

"This system will give the U.S. thirty minutes in which to prepare for a nuclear bombardment." It was announced, with the added explanation that thirty minutes is how long it takes a missile to get from some theoretical country, like Russia, to another theoretical country, like the United States.

The scientists seemed to think that those thirty minutes advance warning will be a great step forward in defense, but I'm afraid they're not familiar with the same kind of people I am. Only thirty minutes advance warning would mean most of the teen-agers of America wouldn't have a chance. It takes em longer that that to get out of the bathroom I don't know, maybe a nuclear bombardment would do it, but up to now nothing has been found to get em out of there that fast in the mornings.

Why I know some adults it takes more than thirty minutes to get out of bed on a cold morning. And it takes much longer than thirty minutes for some of em to come awake even after they're up.

And as for me starting my pickup in thirty minutes on a cold morning . . . those nuclear scientists just aren't familiar with working conditions around here.

I'll tell you, I appreciate those scientists' efforts, and I guess thirty minutes warning is better than none, but it seems to me that even if we had a half hour's warning, even if everybody hit the floor at the same time and teen-agers cut their bathroom time down to 60 seconds, there still might not be too much we could do about it, outside of wringing our hands and dodging.

What this country needs right now is a warning system that gives us three or four years to prepare for a nuclear attack.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Odds And Ends

We've always contended that Sonora people are just a little kinder and a little friendlier than folks anywhere else but it makes us more positive when we get letters like this one: Phoenix, Arizona January 17, 1960 Dear Editor: Though your paper we hope to send a message of gratitude. On January 14 we were a happy couple passing through the great State of Texas on our way to Florida to meet the folks. Then our little house trailed caught fire and everything looked dismal. It was at this time that we met some mighty fine people. To the good men who stopped to help us, we are grateful. To each member of Sonora's Volunteer Fire Department we say, "Thank you." Without their action we would have lost everything. In a special way, our appreciation goes out to Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Martin. They took us into their home and treated us like their children. In our book Sonora is the greatest town in Texas and the people the best in the world. Gratefully, Herbert and Mary Horn, 2301 W. Maryland Ave. Phoenix, Arizona. All of which proves that a town is as big as the people in it. And there are lots of mighty big folks here.
