Last Week's Weather Ground Santa But He'll Make It This Saturday

Sonora youngsters were disappointed Saturday night when Santa Claus was forced to postpone his scheduled appearance at Sonora Municipal Airport, Joe Berger Field, because of bad weather.

The old gentleman found it impossible to come down in the soupy weather and radioed in that he would have to make his visit another time.

H. V. (Buzzie) Stokes, manager of the Sonora Chamber of Commerce which is sponsoring Santa's visit, reports that arrangements have been made for Santa Claus to fly in this Saturday night at the originally scheduled time if the weather permits.

Dr. Joe D. Ross To Be Speaker At 4-H Banquet Friday

The annual 4-H Achievement Banquet will be held Friday night, December 9, at the school cafeteria.

Joe David Ross, D.V.M., will be the principal speaker following the presentation of awards to outstanding 4-H members, leaders and supporters. Dr. Ross is a former Sutton County 4-H'er and in his senior year of high school was named outstanding 4-H youth in Texas.

All 4-H members, parents and supporters are urged to attend the Achievement Banquet which is one of the most important 4-H activities, honoring those who have done outstanding 4-H work during the past year.

The committee in charge of the banquet is Mrs. Alice S. Jones, Mrs. Preston Love and Mrs. V. J. Glasscock.

Cold Front Moves In Tuesday Bringing Drizzle, Rain To Sutton

By E. B. Keng

A slow, soaking rain was falling at mid-week over the Sonora area. After a light drizzle most of Tuesday, the rain began early Wednesday.

The Sonora Wool and Mohair Company recorded .92 at 11 a.m. Wednesday.

Most of the Sonora area had received about one half inch early Wednesday, but slow rainfall during the morning brought the total to around an inch.

Incomplete rainfall measurements collected by Soil Conservation Service personnel early Wednesday morning included Gene Wallace .50; Experiment Station .48; Aldwell Bros. .60; Stanton Bundy 1.00 and Fred Earwood .60.

A thin coating of ice covered vegetation Wednesday morning with a 32 degree temperature, but rain had dissolved most of the ice by mid-morning. Construction operations were halted on the three flood prevention structures where work is in progress. Highway maintenance personnel were out sanding bridges before daybreak, but warming air and rain combined to present ice on highways.

The slow rain was welcomed by ranchmen as a tonic for winter growing grasses and weeds. With moisture and warm weather livestock will have green feed to mix with the dry grass very shortly.

Pfc. Charles W. West, Jr., has reported to Fort Dix, New Jersey, from which point he will leave for service with the maintenance department of the Army of Italy, Vicenza, Italy. Pfc. West recently spent a month's leave here with his family, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. West and Gene.

Large Crowd Expected To Hear Bumbelow At Banquet December 14

Some 150 to 175 persons are expected to attend the Bronco Booster Club's banquet honoring Sonora High School football players and their coaches Wednesday night, December 14. Mike Brumbelow, public relations representative for El Paso Natural Gas Co., will be guest speaker at the dinner which will be held in the school cafeteria.

Brumbelow, who was an outstanding athlete at Texas Christian University, is well-known in both public relations and athletic fields. He was captain of the TCU Horned Frogs football team in 1929, the year the university won its first Southwest Conference championship. Following graduation, Brumbelow coached in several high schools before going to Texas Western College, El Paso, as head football coach there. Later he was made director of athletics for the college and served in the capacity until resigning to enter the public relations field.

According to E. B. Keng, Club secretary and treasurer, over 100 Club members are expected to attend the banquet which will honor members of the varsity and "B" teams and coaches.

Odds And Ends

Last Wednesday and Thursday (November 30 and December 1) saw the annual exodus to the west. And parties of Sonora hunters joined the Westward movement, going out for black-tail.

R. W. (Bill) Drennan won himself a new nickname among his hunting buddies. Henceforth (and probably forever) Bill is known as "Muley" Drennan.

Other items of interest—Bob Teaff managed to "tree" a deer.

Marion Elliott is having a hard time keeping up with his pick-up demonstrator—Seems that "Jump In, Take a Test Ride" sign has caused Marion to get left afoot several times.

The Booster Club's phone committee is doing a great job of contacting members and reminding them of the home games.

Record Crowd Attends Dec. 1 Christmas Open House

About 599 Deer And 100 Turkeys In Lockers So Far This Season

Unseasonably warm weather during the past week was credited with a slight lag in deer and turkey kills in Sutton County. Only about 125 deer and about 40 turkeys were turned in at local storage houses in the week ending Tuesday, December 6.

Total take to date amounts to approximately 600 deer and 115 turkeys. This total is considerably above that of a year ago.

Mrs. Mack Cauthorn's 140½ pound, 15-point buck is still largest registered and killed in Sutton County. The 16-pointer bagged by a San Angelo man, Raymond York, still leads in the contest for deer with most points.

Dec. 10 Deadline To Apply For Educational Loan

Saturday, December 10, is the deadline for students to apply for loans for the second semester of college to the Sutton County Educational Trust.

Recommendations for additional loans will be made by the board which is composed of the principals of the public schools, ministers, priests and rabbis serving congregations in this county, one member of the legal profession and an ordinary citizen who acts as secretary.

A record crowd was on hand Thursday night, December 1, to attend the Christmas shopping season preview and kick-off sponsored by the retail sales committee of the Sonora Chamber of Commerce. Adults and teenagers visited in the stores during the afternoon, registering at each store for gifts or gift certificates which were awarded later in the evening.

At 6:30 a program of holiday music began the street festivities with Gay Copeland acting as master of ceremonies. At seven o'clock Mayor A. E. Prugel declared the shopping season offi-

Devil's River Philosopher Claims National Commission On Goals For U. S. Endorses His Program

Editor's Note. The Devil's River Philosopher on his bitter-weed ranch on Devil's River has mis-read another government report, his letter this week indicates.

Dear editor:

When eleven distinguished American leaders appointed by the President himself spent a year coming to the conclusion that the rest of the country ought to act like I do, it's something to think about.

Of course, these men, called "President Eisenhower's Commission on National Goals," didn't come right out and mention me and my bitterweed ranch by name, but their report said: "All Americans ought to devote more of their time and energy directly to the solution of the nation's problems."

If that doesn't mean me, I don't know what does.

For years, while my neighbors have been devoting their time and energy to their ranches, I have been setting a pattern by devoting mine to a solution of the nation's problems. When some neighbor, riding a fence line, glanced up and saw me sitting under a tree, little did he know that I was working on nation's problems."

Throughout this whole area, while the rest of the ranchers were using up their pickups adding to the national problems by piling up more surpluses, almost single-handedly I've been shouldering the entire responsibility of working on a solution to those problems. I didn't have to wait on the President's Commission of distinguished leaders to tell me that if for example you're trying to solve the problem of farm surpluses, you're off on the wrong foot from the very start if you climb in your pickup and try to do it while raising stock to add to the surplus we've already got. It's like trying to solve the traffic problem by driving through the middle of it, or the population explosion by having more kids.

So, from being considered years behind, I'm suddenly seen as years ahead, but I don't want to brag about this. I merely want my banker and a few stores in town to understand this when they get reports I'm behind in my ranching. I have simply refused to get caught up in the hurly-burly, mad rush of going up one fence line and down another when I should be working directly on solutions for the nation's problems. The fact I do it under a tree in the summer time and by a fire in the winter time has no bearing on the ultimate goals I'm striving for. And the fact I haven't arrived at any actual solutions is no valid criticism. You know anybody who has?

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Devil's River Philosopher Finds Nothing To The Report That A Dollar Is Now Worth Only 42c

Editor's Note: The Devil's River Philosopher on his bitterweed ranch on Devil's River discusses money this week. Its sort of like a prize fighter discussing etiquette.

Dear editor:
I have run into a financial problem which I need help on. Well, actually it's not a problem, it's mostly a lot of people's economic ignorance.

I read in a newspaper last night which the wind had blown against my front fence yesterday afternoon and I pulled it off in a hurry because that fence can stand just so much pressure, that the American dollar is now worth only 42 cents.

I can report that there's not a word of truth in this, as I went to eight different stores in town this morning and couldn't find anybody who'd sell me one at that price. People around here apparently don't read the financial section of newspapers and everybody still wanted 100 cents for theirs, and acted like there wouldn't be any profit in that sort of deal. A man can't get ahead against that kind of economic ignorance. Even when I showed them the article, they just laughed.

For a week now I have been concentrating on the money situation in the world and am as exhausted as the four candidates for President and Vice-President and the only reason I don't fly somewhere for a rest in the sun like they did is that I don't have an airplane and anyway have found I can use the same sun they're using without getting off this bitterweed ranch.

As I understand it, the money situation is complicated by the fact too much gold is leaving the United States, plus the fact the Russians have voted that a ruble now has more gold content than it did last month, even if it's still printed on the same kind of paper.

One expert said the reason gold was leaving this country was because the U. S. was believed figuring on increasing the price of the stuff above $35 an ounce, which it's not, he says, because that would be de-valuing the dollar. You may understand this but I don't. It frustrates my brain so much that the only way I've found to regain peace of mind is to get on the south side of the barn in the sunshine and re-read both party's platform promises.

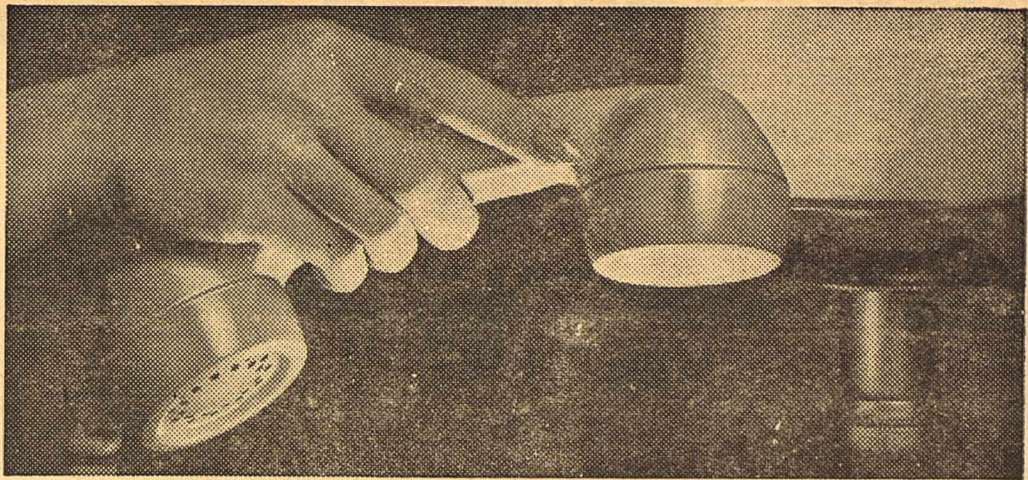

People are always saying that a dollar won't go as far as it used to, but I don't understand this either. Actually, I've never known how far a dollar of mine went. As soon as it leaves my hands, I lose track of it. It's slammed into somebody's cash register and that's the last I heard of it.

I will appreciate it if you'll take time off from your other duties and explain the monetary system to me and the rest of your readers.

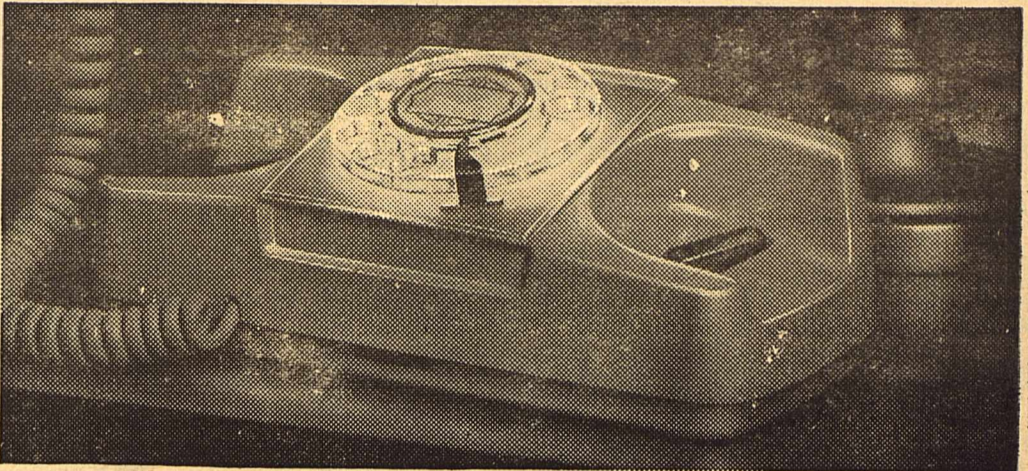

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

"Last year's Urgent, Urgent, Urgent!"

MOTHERS-IN-LAW apparently are here to stay in television. This is being proved by "Pete and Gladys," the new CBS Television show seen Mondays at 8 p.m.

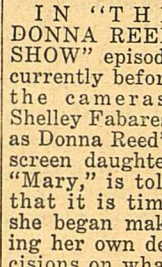

The series is sometimes referred to as a sequel to "December Bride," in which Spring Byington played a delightful mother-in-law and Harry Morgan portrayed a next-door neighbor. Verna Felton did Spring's pal. Now Harry still plays "Pete Porter" in the new show and his wife, never seen in "Bride," is played by Cara Williams as "Gladys." Although Verna still plays a friend to the couple, several columnists, influenced, no doubt, by the mother-in-law emphasis in "Bride," reviewed "Pete and Gladys" and referred to Verna as Gladys' mother. "Although I love her like my own mother," says Harry Morgan, "I must, in the interests of accuracy on our show, deny that 'Hilda' is my mother-in-law in 'Pete and Gladys.' I awake in fear and trembling when I dream of what kind of a mother-in-law probably will be created for me by Parke Levy, the creator of our series."

"MAVERICK'S" NEW HERO, Roger Moore, has a decided British accent. It was decided by his parents. They were in London at the time of his birth. Naturally, it's an uphill fight for him to lose his broad "A." He hopes to sound a little more like a transplanted Britisher of the old west as the show goes on. But what is happening? The crew and cast enjoy Moore's crisp delivery and terminology so much that they are beginning to sound like him! As Jack Kelly states it: "Mahverick is a good show, what? That Rogah's a sturdy bloke." "TWILIGHT ZONE'S" father, Rod Serling, creator-writer-narrator of the out-of-this-world-and-any-other-too TV show, is often accused of getting his bizarre ideas from nightmares. He says he derives his inspirations under barber towels, riding in airplanes, sitting in taxis, and other mundane activities, but never from his own dreams. "I dream of ordinary things," contends Serling, "of income taxes, arriving at the studio on shooting day with no script ready, getting a traffic ticket, even of sponsors, but never of situations which might apply to 'Twilight Zone.' I dreamed of a Western once, but it had already been done by Hopalong Cassidy."

IN "THE DONNA REED SHOW" episode currently before the cameras, Shelley Fabares, as Donna Reed's screen daughter "Mary," is told that it is time she began making her own decisions on what clothes to wear. As filming progressed, Shelley's mother, Elsa, who is always on the motion picture set with her daughter, was called out of the sound stage; it seems Shelley's older sister, "Smokey," was being fitted with a "special" dress for a "special" occasion by the studio wardrobe department, and "Smokey" couldn't make the decision as to whether or not it was exactly right for her. Unlike the script, however, Mrs. Fabares made the decision for her daughter.

FROM THE RUTH SHURLEY JEWELRY

THE PERFECT GIFT

The perfect Christmas gift should be sentimental yet practical, glamorous yet lasting, according to Ruth Shurley, manager of The Ruth Shurley Jewelry, who is often asked for advice by anxious-to-please customers. To answer these requirements, the store has assembled an assortment of gift ideas in Sterling Silver which are now on display.

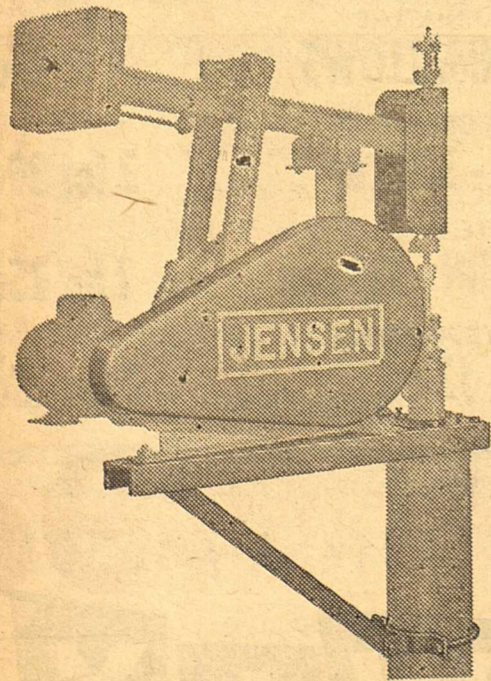

"While sterling is a precious metal with lasting beauty, gifts in sterling need not cost a fortune," according to Mrs. Shurley. For example, place setting in sterling for a bride-to-be can be purchased for less than $18.50. A sterling salad set for a favorite hostess can be had for $9.95. A place spoon that has many uses in serving and in place settings costs about $4.75.

Sterling gifts for members of the immediate family can be personal and glamorous, and at the same time very practical, Mrs. Shurley explains. A wife will appreciate her husband's thoughtfulness in presenting her with a needed service piece in her silver pattern, or with those little "extras" she has always wanted, such as oyster forks or coffee spoons. Six coffee spoons in one attractive pattern displayed at the store cost $18.00.

A wonderful way to make a teen-ager feel important and grown-up is to give her one or more sterling silver teaspoons for her "hope chest." And Dad will feel proud to use a handsome carving set in sterling silver when he presides at holiday tables, and throughout the year.

The Ruth Shurley Jewelry is also showing an array of gifts in sterling holloware, in various price ranges, as well as gift items in china, glassware and jewelry. A jolly rendition of Santa Claus and four little gremlin helpers, carrying signs suggesting sterling gift ideas, is a highlight of the store's cheery Christmas display.

About 560 Texans Expected To Die From Falls In 1960

Statistics indicate that this year we can expect approximately 560 Texans to die from injuries sustained in falls. In 1959 there were 595 such deaths—down from 627 in 1958.

There is no guarantee that the downward trend will continue. The sad fact is that these are not injuries to workmen on telephone poles or oil derricks. Except for a few they are mostly same-level falls occurring to older persons.

Final tabulations are not available for 1959, but in 1958 a majority total of 420 accidental deaths from falls involved persons between the ages of 70 and 94.

This same pattern evolves year after year. Most deaths occurring among the rest of the age span are also the result of home accidents from falls.

Older people are naturally more prone to falls because of varying degrees of infirmity accompanying the aging process.

However, many home falls are preventable provided a sound plan of battle is followed to combat this number one home accident killer.

For instance: in stairwells and hallways adequate light must be provided night and day to avoid tripping or missing a step. A lamp or flashlight should be handy by the bedside. Another safety factor is to have hand rails even for a one or two step stairway.

Carelessness with electric cords make ideal tripper for old people and high-heeled ladies. Make sure no cords are exposed in walking areas.

Many a throw rug has thrown someone for a permanent loss. They should be tacked down or have non-slip pads underneath to prevent this all too common accident.

Spilled liquids need to be wiped up immediately. There is nothing slicker than a kitchen floor with bacon grease spilled on it.

Holidays Will See Tragic Increase In Fatal Accidents

It has been said that Jesus Christ gave only one commandment, and that was to "love one another."

There are many kinds of love with which most adults are familiar.

There is the love of a child for a mother or father; the love for another members of the family; the love young people share for each other; the love and tenderness that our elderly citizens have built throughout the years; the love one feels for all mankind—and all of this love can be destroyed by ONE careless or thoughtless act.

As we are approaching the religious holidays when love for one another is reaching an all-time peak, it is heart-rending to consider all of the tragedies that will result from a number of causes.

Death by fire will probably come to some children whose parents went next door for a brief visit while leaving candles burning. (The National Fire Protection Association reported an estimated 1,000 Christmas tree fires last year.) Overloaded circuits may cause others.

Small children will choke to death on unsafe toys from Christmas. One or two others may eat an attractive Christmas tree ornament that has been left without reach.

We also find more than the usual number of empty light-bulb sockets in the home at Christmas time.

All the usual hazards of falls in the bathroom and the usual kitchen hazards are present in addition to increased trouble spots due to the holiday season.

More Research Asked On Sheep Breeding

Expansion of sheep breeding research to speed development of animals with improved ability to produce wool and meat that will satisfy consumer needs was advocated by members of the USDA's Sheep and Wool Research and Marketing Advisory Committee at their annual meeting, held Nov. 2-4, in Washington, D.C.

Breeds and strains of sheep which are resistant to hot, humid weather, parasitism and special diseases are needed to enable the sheep industry to expand into areas of abundant, year-round pastures, the committee noted.

In the area of marketing research, the most important need is for studies to determine consumer preferences for lamb quality, especially as they apply to maturity, degree of finish and meat color, the committee said.

Expanded research on chemical treatment of wool was recommended as the most important need in the field of utilization study. The committee also urged publication of complete annual statistics on wool stocks in the United States.

The committee, of which T. A. Kincaid, Jr. of Ozona is a member, also recommended studies on ways to increase mohair production, economic studies of price, supply and consumption, and studies to increase the use of wool in blended fabrics.

Detailed recommendations for sheep and wool research will be formally submitted to the USDA within the next few weeks. Copies of this report will be available from the committee's executive secretary, Max Hinds, Office of the Administrator, Agricultural Research Service, USDA, Washington 25, D. C.

Many accidents occur in the bathtub or shower. A rubber mat and grab bar for the bathtub or shower makes good sense. Put a grab bar by the toilet also. A practical Christmas present for grandparents would be the installation of such bars in their home.

I Give You Texas

By Boyce House

There was a young newspaper reporter in a Nevada mining town many years ago. He and two friends staked out a claim but each thought the other would do the small amount of work that had to be done within 30 days to complete the title—and so they lost the claim. The new owners developed one of the richest gold mines in Virginia City.

Anyone would say that for a man to lose a million dollars is certainly a misfortune—but the newspaperman was Mark Twain. If in his twenties, he had had riches dumped in his lap, he might not have had the incentive to write and so the world would have lost "Tom Sawyer" and "Huckleberry Finn."

Sometimes, what appears to be a misfortune later proves not to have been.

When Billy Rose (with whom I worked at the Fort Worth Casa Manana in 1936 and 1937) was a young man, he had an ambition to write songs so he went to the New York City library and studied titles, tunes and techniques of the hit songs of the past dozen years, then he composed such favorites as "Wedding Bells are Breaking up that Old Gang of Mine" and "Without a Song."

It is said that a newspaper writer, who was sent on an out of town assignment, returned to New York by a different route than the managing editor had instructed him as the writer figured it made no difference, anyhow. But the Johnstown flood hit just then and, if he had gone the route he had been told, he would have been the first out of town newspaperman on the scene. The result was that, when he got

700 Babies Born Every Day In Texas

It may have seemed tough to think of many things to be thankful for last week during these ominous times, but a look at Texas' vital statistics show plenty to be thankful for. For instance:

Over a half-million babies were born during the two year period between September 1958 and August 1960. That equals almost 700 new babies each day.

During the same time period there were 152,000 deaths—a ratio of three births per death, certainly something to be thankful for.

These records were disclosed from figures compiled for the latest biennial report from the Records and Statistics Section of the State Health Department.

As a result of the birth to death ratio, Texas' population increased by 350,000 plus newcomers from outlying states, bringing the current total population to more than 9,500,000.

Filing birth and death certificates makes up the major portion of the Section's workload which totaled 800,000 records and amendments to a big 12,130,000 items.

Since 1936, deaths during the first years of life—have dropped from 71 per one thousand births to about 30 per thousand today. The maternal death rate has been cut 94 percent since 1936.

The amount of work needed to keep that many records and files accurate and up to date continues to grow.

Each certificate received is carefully reviewed, and for each error or omission noted, a query is forwarded to the person responsible for the mistake. During the last two years 25,000 such queries were mailed.

Adoptions are reported to the State Registrar and a new birth certificate in the name after adoption and showing the adopted parents as the natural parents of the child is filed.

The original birth record and the certificate of adoption are placed in a sealed file. Over 19,000 reports of adoption were received from district courts.

Amendments for charge of names were attached to more than 1,000 birth certificates based on court orders.

Mrs. Zola Bode had as her guests last week her daughter and children, Mrs. Babe Wheatley, Debra and Jeffrey of Orange.
