Striped Bass Introduced In Diversion Lake

California striped bass have been introduced to Texas waters as an experiment in providing additional fishing potentials for State fishermen, according to Marion Toole, director of inland fisheries of the Game and Fish Commission.

The fish were planted in Lake Diversion, near Wichita Falls, last week. There were approximately 800 of the strippers, flown in from California. They are about four inches long.

The strippers were provided by the California Fish and Game Commission without cost to Texas. They were flown in from the Sacramento delta, where they had been acclimated in fresh water before their trip to Texas.

The striper was introduced to the West Coast in the late 1880's, from the Atlantic Coast. They have done exceptionally well there in the salt water.

Stripers also have been planted in other fish water impoundments in the United States. They are very similar in appearance to the white bass, which now is so numerous in southern waters. Because of that, strict regulations will be enforced at Lake Diversion to prevent their being taken from the lake before they have had an opportunity to grow and a study made of their reproduction. The strippers are tackle busters, Precipitation for December was 3.12.

Christmas guests of Mrs. Rena Trainer were Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Trainer, Keith and Johnny, Mr. and Mrs. John Trainer, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Trainer, Gene, Tom and Jack, all of La Porte; Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Trainer, Jr. of Abilene; Mr. and Mrs. Sam Nicks, Pat and Mike of Colorado Springs; Mrs. Serena McGuire, Sharyn and Vicki, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Shanks, Jack, Jim and Marilyn, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Trainer, Sr., all of Pasadena; Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Nunley, Kenny and Marsha of Rocksprings, and Mr. and Mrs. T. K. Nevill and Bob.

Cloudy, damp weather, with slow soaking rain marked the last week of December, bringing the monthly rainfall total to 2.55 inches at the Sonora Wool and Mohair Company. With a long time average of about one inch for December, last month became one of the wettest Decembers on record.

The week long rainy period was general over a wide area, and rainfall varied from .60 to about one inch. All of the rain soaked into the soil, and with warm weather, will promote a lush growth of vegetation.

Representative rainfall amounts for last week's rain, collected by SCS technicians, include Robert Pfluger .80; Cleve Jones .70; Henry Wyatt .70; Wool House .93; Joe Logan .75; Ed Shurley .80; Bill Stewart .60; Jo Hardgrave .75; Edwin Sawyer .80; Frank Bond .70.

Rainfall for the Edwards Plateau Soil Conservation District was extremely spotted in 1960. January and early February were above normal, but practically no rain fell from February 2 until mid-July. Some large areas in the district did not get appreciable rainfall until August.

The Sonora Wool and Mohair Company gage recorded 14.65 for the year, while the Experiment Station received from 17.29 to 20.71 on five gages. The G. T. Rode ranch, 30 miles east of Sonora measured 14.6 inches, and the J. A. Cauthorn ranch 18 miles south received 20.85 inches.

Rainfall during 1960 generally fell very slowly, with very little runoff and no flood threats. Draws on many ranches did not run at all. The heaviest rain in a single day on the Herbert Fields ranch 4 miles southeast of Sonora was 1.26 inches.

Odds And Ends

It's still not too late to make your New Year's resolutions. If you forgot or somehow just didn't get around to making yours on the first of the year, start compiling them now, and then do your resolving on any of these New Year's days: Chinese, February 18; Persian, March 21; Siamese, April 1; Mohammenda, April 26; Alexandrine, August 29.

And if we thing our New Year came in with a rather ominous bang what with breaking off diplomatic relations with Cuba, the Laos situation looking more and more dangerous, just look what the news was in Texas and the United States on January 1, 1961.

The Houston Telegraph Extra bearing that dateline carried the following news story:

"Washington, Jan 1—The latest intelligence from Charleston is that a letter has been sent by a pilot to meet the Revenue Cutter Harriet Lane, outside the harbor, warning the commander that any attempt to enter he harbor at Charleston will be regarded as a declaration of war. All the ladies in the city are busily engaged in preparing bandages and lint, in anticipation of the hostilities which are expected.

"The state authorities are shipping heavy ordinance to be placed in the new breast-works which are in progress of construction. Large gangs of negroes from the neighboring plantations are at work on the redouts. Their fortifications are substantially built of sand bags. An immediate collision is anticipated."

New Traffic Sign On Water & Poplar

A newly installed traffic sign at the intersection of Water Avenue and Poplar is expected to alleviate a potential traffic hazard. City street crews have constructed a concrete island with "keep right" sign. A "yield right of way" sign gives right of way to the Water Avenue traffic. A similar "yield" sign is posted on the west side of the intersection.

Deer Take Passes 800 Mark, Turkeys Plentiful As Season Ends

More than 800 deer, including approximately 70 does, and about 150 turkeys had been counted at local storage plants as the 1960 hunting season ended. Sonora Food Locker reported 606 deer registered there and Lambert's reported something in excess of 200.

At the season's end, prizes were awarded for deer in four categories. Foxworth-Galbraith awarded a .222 Remington to Lawrence Finklea for the buck with widest horn spread. Finklea's 10-point buck had 23 3/8 inch spread.

Lambert's Grocery and Station presented three prizes, one each for the heaviest deer, most points and lightest deer killed in the county. Mrs. Mack Cauthorn's 140 1/2 pound buck won the prize of a set of binoculars as the heaviest, Raymond York of San Angelo received a Coleman stove for his 16-point buck and a sleeping bag went to Mrs. Tommy Ray Adams for her 33 1/2 pound spike.

March of Dimes Aids Child Polio Victim; She Dedicates Herself to Helping Blind

At one despairing point during Mary Jo Phillips' seven-year confinement in a hospital near Boston, and while she was an iron-lung prisoner of polio, a nursing nun read aloud to the frightened little girl these words of the tormented Job:

"I was eyes to the blind." Mary Jo, herself tormented after seven operations and three months in an iron lung, never forgot Job's words. At Kennedy Memorial Hospital, Brighton, a nun and physical therapist suggested that since the plight of the blind touched Mary Jo deeply, she might want to try her hand at transcribing Braille.

Nothing interested her more. Mary Jo's fascination with learning to write for the sightless was healthy in two ways. Physically, the manual effort of applying the Braille awl to the fiberboard strengthened her thin arms and fingers once paralyzed by polio. And spiritually, this labor of love for those even more terribly afflicted than she, expressed her gratitude to God at surviving her own ordeal.

The first words Mary Jo wrote in Braille, for the blind to read through their finger tips, were those of the unhappy Job. (The Old Testament patriarch was reminding the Lord of his own succor to those whose eyes had failed.)

Mary Jo, who is 14 and has spent half of those years in hospitals, now is home with her overjoyed parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Phillips of Whitman, Mass. In her wheel chair, the child continues her plucky fight today against the ravages of bulbar polio.

With $2,000 in March of Dimes contributions, The National Foundation has brought Mary Jo along to the point where she can type slowly, write, paint water colors, dress herself "with just a little help," and even walk a few steps supported by her crutches.

But above all, the little girl is devoted to her labors with Braille. When she completes the "bible" that is never far from her, "Standard English

Using special awl for writing in Braille, Mary Jo Phillips punches out text on fiberboard.

Mary Jo's first line of Braille, written for the blind during her seven-year hospital stay, fighting polio.

Braille in 20 Lessons" (she sleeps with it under her pillow), Mary Jo is planning to transcribe fairy tales and Mother Goose rhymes into the children. That will be Mary Jo's inspiring career, a lifetime who live in darkness. When four years hence her home instructor gives Mary Jo her high school diploma, she plans thereafter to study the teaching of Braille to blind children. That will be Mary Jo's inspiring career, a lifetime of serving selflessly as "eyes to the blind."

March of Dimes Research Grants Awarded Only to Top Scientists

By THOMAS M. RIVERS
Vice President-Medical Affairs
The National Foundation

If there is any one point that we scientists must get across to the "average man" (if there is any such person), it is that conducting a first-rate research program is much more than just giving money indiscriminately to various laboratories.

The key to right giving is selecting the right people to whom to give. This is a most difficult task but it is a job at which The National Foundation has proven itself exceptionally competent.

Research may be said to be a journey into the unknown to push forward the frontiers of knowledge. Inevitably, its nature is such that no man can foretell exactly where it will lead.

But this "average man" to whom we just referred, and who is perhaps dissatisfied with the uncertainties over where research will lead, might be reminded that The National Foundation has shown in the past what it can do—as, for example, initiating the research that developed the Salk and Sabin polio vaccines. This and other major accomplishments constitute the credentials of the world's largest voluntary health organization for going ahead.

A great deal of basic research, of this journey into the unknown, was needed to create the bases which made possible the development of the polio vaccines. This again will be necessary as The National Foundation moves forward in its expanded program which includes birth defects and arthritis in addition to continued work in polio. Perhaps you have heard the comment that a camel is a horse put together by a committee. This illuminates what I think is one of the principles of research. Great research is done by great men, not by committees. It is The National Foundation's job, among others, to find those great men, and to see that they have adequate equipment with which to work.

Dr. Albert B. Sabin at his University of Cincinnati laboratory examines samples of his live-virus anti-polio vaccine, developed by him with $1,500,000 in March of Dimes public contributions. Sabin vaccine, to be taken orally instead of by needle, has been approved for eventual use in the U. S.

It is natural for the public to want immediate results. For the parents of a child afflicted with arthritis, for instance, to want quick cures is understandable. But we are trustees of public funds. We cannot spend those funds save for projects that have some promise of success, conducted by people who have shown what they can do.

If our aims in research could be summed up, I would say that The National Foundation operates like a rapier, not a bludgeon. We are selective. We put March of Dimes funds in the exact spot and under the specific man who will make the most of it. We do not dump millions into hundreds of projects with a vague hope that by the law of averages some may produce.

In short, we try to be as careful in the selection of research projects as an extreme fussy woman is in selection of a spring hat.

The research future is bright. With laboratory methods that have been developed, many under March of Dimes grants, we can move farther and faster than in years past. Indeed, I often think of the polio struggle as a time when we tooled up for what is to come. The methods that were so successful in that polio challenge are now being applied to the greater challenges that lie ahead.

To accomplish what The National Foundation desires requires great men. We have had them in the past. We shall have them in the future and, with public contributions to the March of Dimes, those men will accomplish much for the good of mankind.

YOUR MINISTER SAYS

By Rev. William Mitschke
What is this world coming to? At the end of an old year and the beginning of a new the top news stories of the past year are often reviewed. When we read and hear about sit-ins, riots, and international tension, we are tempted to ask the question: "What is the world coming to?"

But that is not the main question. In fact it is a rather negative way of looking at things. We like to be positive rather than negative in our approach so let us examine this thought. Instead of emphasizing the problem (and perhaps at times being a part of the problem ourselves), it would be better to emphasize the solution.

The important question for us to ask is: "What has come to this world?" We have just celebrated Christmas. The blessings of Christmas is ours. Christ has come to this world.

What has Christ brought to this world? He has brought the solution to man's biggest problem—sin. He has brought peace with God. He has brought love for God and love for our neighbor.

There is no doubt about it that what we need in this world is peace with God and the practicing of more love toward our neighbor. This is what Christ brings. For this solution to work it needs to come to men. It is our business to make it known. Let us tell the world "What has come to this world."

MARCH OF DIMES RESEARCH DID THIS; NEXT - OTHER CRIPPLING DISEASES

AMERICA'S INVESTMENT in medical scientific research through contributions to the March of Dimes paid a huge dividend—the polio vaccine. Now the March of Dimes is working to prevent other crippling diseases—birth defects and arthritis. A further investment in medical research through the March of Dimes may pay even greater dividends. Campaign continues through January.
