FORTY-FIRST WEEK

Miss Wool Of Texas To Be Selected From Eleven Candidates Monday Night

Eleven young women from various parts of Texas had qualified Friday night as finalists in the 10th annual Miss Wool of Texas Pageant to be held here Monday, July 10. A Western theme will be used throughout the program.

E. S. Newman of San Angelo, Chairman of the Pageant Committee, a cooperative group composed of representatives of the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers' Association and the San Angelo Board of City Development, said names of the finalists would be released early next week.

Winner of the Texas contest will be eligible to compete with 20 other young women from all over the nation in the 1962 Miss Wool of America Pageant which has been set for April 7, 1962. The National event began five years ago after the Texas pageant had developed fully into a statewide program. From an idea of the TSGRA Ladies Auxiliary, this program has grown to national stature through the continuing efforts of the TSGRA representatives and San Angelo officials on the Miss Wool Committee.

Miss Wool of Texas, chosen to represent the Texas wool industry, will devote the next year of her time to promoting domestic wool under the direction of Fashion Creators, Inc., of Dallas. She will receive a complete all-wool wardrobe designed and produced by Texas manufacturers. She also will receive an automobile for her official use as Miss Wool of Texas. The new Miss Wool will serve the wool growers of Texas by promoting their product as she models the latest woolen fashions in the fashion centers and department stores and by television appearances in the state.

The 11 finalists are to arrive here Friday, July 7, for a round of activities, including TV appearances, swim parties, fittings of garments, breakfast, suppers and dancing. Each contestant will model two garments at the pageant which is to be held in the air-conditioned Sarah Barnhardt Theater on Central High School campus.

Mrs. Kim Dawson of Dallas is to be commentator and will be assisted by Jerry Burns, a member of the Staff of KCTV here. Tickets for the pageant are $1.75 each and may be obtained through the San Angelo Board of City Development.

Thursday night's games will be Giants vs Tigers and Yanks vs Cubs. Friday night's will be Yanks vs Tigers and Cubs vs Giants.

Tuesday night's games will begin at seven o'clock with the Giants and Yankees in a one or two inning protest playoff to be followed at eight o'clock by the Tigers vs Cubs.

Annual Community Vacation Bible School Scheduled To Be Held Here Last of July

The Annual Community Vacation Bible School will be held Monday, July 24 through Friday, July 28, this year, according to Mrs. Jack Kerbow, director. Classes will be held from 8:30 until 11 o'clock each of the five days.

Three departments will comprise the school. Mrs. Doyle W. Morgan will be in charge of the Kindergarten Department which will include children aged four to six years. Their study will be "My Family and My Friends".

The Primary Department will be headed by Mrs. David Shurley and will study "Love One Another". This department will be for children who have completed the first, second or third grade.

Mrs. Bill Whitehead will be in charge of the Junior Department for children who have completed the fourth, fifth and sixth grades. Their study topic will be "Living and Working Together As Christians".

All classes this year will be held in the First Methodist Church.

Incentive payment checks to wool producers of Sutton County, representing the percentage difference between the average price received by growers throughout the nation and the government support price for the fiber at 62 cents per pound, will be ready for distribution beginning Friday, July 7, Mrs. Marie K. Ellis, ASC office manager here announced this week.

The United States Department of Agriculture announced last week that the incentive payment for the 1960 wool clip had been set at 47.6 percent of the price received by growers on shorn wool and 80 cents per 100 pounds of body weight of unshorn lambs sold.

The total amount to be received by local growers will be $404,487.49. Of this, $373,613.00 will be on shorn wool and $29,556.00 on unshorn lamb sales.

A deduction of one cent per pound from payments for shorn wool, amounting to approximately $17,828 for this county, will go to the American Sheep Producers Council for use in nationwide promotion of the use of wool and lamb.

All funds used by the government in meeting the incentive payments come from import duties on raw wool into the United States.

Ranchmen eligible to receive the incentive pay checks who live in this county are asked to call at the local ASC office to pick up their checks. Those living out of the county will receive their checks by mail if so requested.

Sutton County ranchmen in 1960 produced 828,123.87 pounds of wool (grease weight) and 3,940,863 pounds of unshorn lambs.

Game Seasons Up For Setting By Commission

Hunting dates for the 1961 season will be set at the mid-summer meeting of the Game and Fish Commission in Austin July, according to H. D. Dodgen, executive secretary. General laws cover the white-tailed deer season in most of the Texas counties, opening the season from Nov. 16 to Dec. 31, inclusive. The general law quail season is from Dec. 1 to Jan 16, inclusive.

However, with 120 counties now under regulatory authority, seasons with different dates may be set in many of those counties. The bag limit also will be affected, based on supply of game and the range conditions.

One of the major items of discussion will be the possibility of a bag limit of three deer in some counties now overpopulated with game. This would be an extra doe permit, to be known as a "bonus" deer.

The doe population has increased in many Edwards Plateau Counties to a point beyond the carrying capacity of the land. The extra doe permit would be given in hopes of bringing about a balance, both of sex and range conditions.

The 57th session of the Legislature added 16 new counties to regulatory control. Public hearings are in progress in these

Dove Season Date Probably Will Be Sept. 1

The Texas dove season in 1961 probably will be about the same as last year, according to H. D. Dodgen, executive secretary of the Game and Fish Commission. The dates will be set at a Commission meeting in Austin July 7.

P. B. Uzzell, assistant director of wildlife restoration, returned from Washington this week where he attended a dove conference. It was agreed at this conference with the U.S.

counties now, in an effort to develop local thinking concerning this fall's regulations.

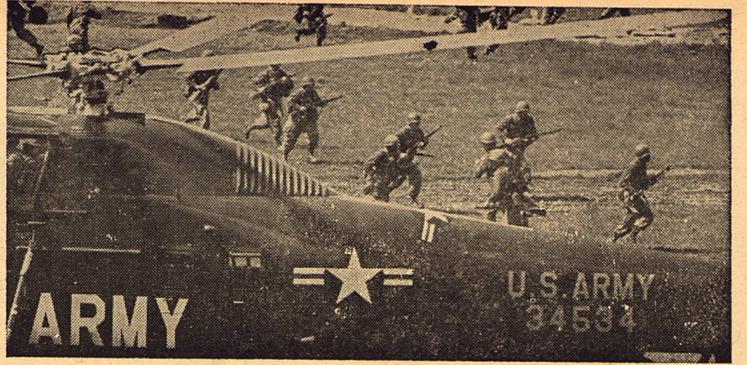

Fish and Wildlife Service that a 60 day season could be set in Texas. Opening date of the North Zone is expected to be Sept 1. Opening of the South Zone season will be decided by the Commission.

The bag limit probably will be 15 per day or 30 in possession of mourning doves.

There is strong indication, according to Dodgen, that the white-winged season in the Valley will be set to open Sept 8. Whether or not it will be a three or five day season is still open.

Last year, the limit on white-wings for the three-day season was 10 per day and 10 in possession. However, there was an aggregate possession of 30 doves, with not more than 10 white-wings.

weed ranch on Devil's River meets a difficult problem this week, and then sidesteps. Dear editor:

A friend of mine who didn't have much to do and less on his mind stopped by out here the other day and after complaining about the weather and high taxes said: "Say, if you were making a speech to a class of graduating students, what would you say?"

This is like asking somebody who has just gone bankrupt how he would pay off the national debt, and I ignored the question, but after he left I got to thinking about it.

Later on in the day I read a newspaper account of a speech a man made to a bunch of university graduates, and he painted the picture of the world as so serious, so grave, so fraught with dangers and momentous uncertainties, so filled with the possibilities of the destruction of man if the wrong decisions were made, that for a moment my advice to anybody graduating from school this spring was: DON'T DO IT. Get back in school. It's too dangerous out here in the world.

You'd think somewhere, sometime, a speaker would tell a graduating class: "This is a fine, wonderful world we've arranged for you. Be sure to take care of it," but so far none of them has had the nerve. They just warn em what's out there, then duck.

But then I got to thinking. If the present world, under the type of management us adults have been giving it, hasn't blown up, it ought to be safe for graduates to come on out and see what they can do with it.

Of course it won't be much, but then the standards already set aren't too high anyway.

Personally, I have never felt uneasy about turning over the world to a new set of graduates. In the first place, they don't have nearly the effect on the world as they figured they would. Doesn't make any difference how much education a graduate has, the world just doesn't seem too impressed at the start, and

I Give You Texas Nearly 700 Texas Hospitals Examined Under New Law

By Boyce House

I can remember talking to a old railroad men who knew Casey Jones, and to a man who, when a lad, sat on the knee of Mrs. Dickenson, the survivor of the Alamo—(she was his aunt by marriage).

James Stephen Hogg lived in Tyler when he was elected governor and a group of his close friends was referred to by his political foes as "the Tyler gang." The friends accepted the designation and wore it proudly. Probably the last survivor was Capt. T. N. Jones. I heard him make a talk in the courthouse in Tyler, endorsing a graduate of Tyler High School who was then running for attorney general. That was in 1938. The candidate: Ralph Yarborough.

The Populist party went out of existence about 1900. I remember a lawyer in Eastland who was pointed out to me in 1921, as a former Populist who had held county office. Also along in the early 1930's, I met "Cyclone" Davis, (the original—the later politician who also bore that picturesque name was his son). Old Cyclone was one of the greatest debaters of the Populist party in the nation.

I have talked to three men who said they saw Lincoln. One was in the theater the night of the assassination.

At Doan's Crossing on Red River a trail-drivers' monument was dedicated about 1931 and on that occasion I saw a dozen men who had driven herds of Longhorns up the trail in the 1870's and 1880's.

I once saw Dan Patch, perhaps the most famous horse of all time; and herded Capt. Richmond Person Hobson, hero of "the Merrimac" (in the War with Spain) make a speech. I knew a Confederate veteran who captured a Yankee naval officer by the name of George Dewey; and as a boy I saw hundreds of frequently not at the finish.

Since the beginning of the licensing program 17 months ago, over 690 Texas hospitals have been inspected under the Texas Hospital Licensing Law, either by state or local health department officials.

Local fire marshals have also inspected the same hospitals, making certain that they complied with fire-safety rules required under the law.

The program is administered by the State Health Department's Hospital Licensing Division, established January 1, 1960. A big map on the Division wall describes the extent of the far-reaching program. More than half of Texas hospitals have been surveyed more than once, and all have been closely inspected at least once.

Inspection subjects range from

Confederate veterans mach, give the "rebel yell" and dance a jig as they paraded in Memphis 44 years after the war was over.

Then I talked to a banker in Clarendon who knew Temple Houston well when Old Sam's brilliant son practiced law there; and I interviewed an elderly man in Wellington who was a friend of Bob Ollinger, the last man that Billy the Kid slew. Also, I have talked to four men who knew a certain killer for hire very well—the man who is supposed to have assassinated Pat Garrett. (Carrett was, of course, the man who killed Billy the Kid.)

In Eastland in the 1920's, I knew Harry Johnson—and in World War II he was military governor of Rome. Others whom I've met were Frank Kell, who built probably more short-line railroads than any other man; Battling Nelson, Jess Willard and Jack Dempsey; Edwin Markham, who wrote "The Man with the Hoe"; Alalfa Bill Murray, John N. Garner, Bob Burns, Will Rogers, and William Jennings Bryan.

You know—maybe I ought to write a book sometime.

the kind of ice used, to the all-important operating equipment. Especially important in all items inspected is the quality of housekeeping—a critical item for the prevention of disease spread within a modern hospital.

Second-time surveys are made to determine the extent of corrective recommendations followed after the initial inspection. Generally hospitals cooperate fully in carrying out suggestions, most of which deal with housekeeping problems.

In keeping with the State Health Department's policy of as much local control as possible, local health departments maintain inspections of hospitals within their jurisdiction, assisted by the State agency only if needed.

About half of all Texas hospitals lie within areas served by local health departments greatly reducing the workload required by the Texas State Department of Health.

Fire-safety inspections are made by local fire marshals, who follow a special check list complying with State fire laws. Occasionally, special training is given for inspection of operating room fire hazards.

The Texas Hospital Licensing Law is designed to provide better patient safety. It is patterned after standards of the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals. However, requirements are stricter providing for maximum patient safety and care.

ANOTHER BIG REASON BEHIND THE BIG BOOM IN FORD SALES:

There's a whole wagonload of Ford features that only America's station wagon specialists can bring you.

There's a whole wagonload of reasons why more people are buying Ford wagons than any other make.

First, there's more room. Ford's extended load deck is the longest and widest in its field. The tailgate opening is seven inches wider than last year, too.

There's more convenience. You can have an electrically controlled roll-down rear window in any Ford wagon... it's standard in all Country Squires and 9-Passenger Country Sedans. In their field, only Ford wagons have all seats facing forward.

There's more distinction. The Country Squire (shown above) is the one and only wagon in its field with body panels that look like mahogany, wear like steel.

There are more savings, too. Ford's Ranch Wagon is America's lowest-priced,* full-size wagon. And like all Fords, every Ford wagon is built to be more service-free: goes 30,000 miles between chassis lubrications, 4,000 miles between oil changes, brakes adjust automatically, mufflers are made to last three times as long as ordinary mufflers, and the finish never needs waxing.

STOP putting off that station wagon you've always wanted. SWAP for a '61 Ford wagon now while your Ford Dealer's celebrating record-breaking sales. SAVE with the wagon America loves most... made by FORD... America's station wagon specialists for 32 years!

Fisher Reports Kennedy Farm Bill

The Administration's Farm Bill was completely overhauled last week by both the House and Senate Committees on Agriculture. The controversial Section 1 was almost completely deleted. The Committees' refusal to accept the proposal was expected. For weeks the majority of the members of the House Committee had held out against the measure, and finally a show-down vote was taken.

This is taken to mean there will be no sharp change in farm policy direction this year. There will be a program that will cut wheat production by 10 percent and reduce the production of corn and other feed grains by about 25 percent.

The Wool Act, a section of the omnibus bill, remains intact. It is up for extension this year, and has been tentatively approved by both the House and Senate committees. It is due to be included in any farm bill that is reported.

The First Negro District Commissioner for the District of Columbia is due to be appointed this year. President Kennedy ran into trouble on his first effort. He sent to the Senate the name of Frank D. Reeves, Democratic National Committee man for the District of Columbia, and it looked as if his con-

Lions President E. B. Keng Reports On Convention Trip At Atlantic City

It was very nice to get back to Sonora after a trip to the Lions International Convention at Atlantic City, New Jersey—and especially to find that the Sonora area had received one of the best June rains in recorded history.

The Convention itself—attended by some 20,000 people from about 80 states and countries—was very inspiring. The feeling of international goodwill and brotherhood is a tremendous force in promoting peace and better understanding throughout the world. The Texas delegation numbered about 400, and other states from Main to California were well represented, too.

From a soil and water conservation standpoint, my first trip through the south was very informative and enjoyable. I was surprised at the uniformity of the landscape from East Texas, through Louisiana, Alabama, Mississippi, Georgia, South and North Carolina, and Virginia. The dominant vegetation was primarily a pine-oak forest, with magnolia, mimosa, sweetgum, and hundreds of other beautiful trees and shrubs.

A very high proportion of formerly cultivated-cotton and tobacco land is now in grass, with good cattle being grazed. I saw many fine pastures of clover, lespedeza and orchard grass.

Confirmation was in the bag. But questions were asked about his tax delinquencies, numbering 4 instances in recent years, and a housing transaction, and the White House promptly announced his withdrawal.

It developed during hearings that Reeves had recently borrowed $40,000 from Milton Kronheim, Washington's largest wholesale liquor dealer, for payment on a home. And since the three-man City Commission has a lot to do with the licensing of retail liquor stores here, sparks began to fly. The next day the withdrawal was announced.

J. A. Cauthorn, formerly from Missouri, asked me to report on the number of mules being used today—and I saw one mule outside of Texas. The fields of tobacco, corn, soybeans and wheat were very small and patchy, by Texas standards. A vine called kudzu is being used very effectively to prevent erosion on highway cuts.

I was astounded, also, at the tremendous acreage being removed from agricultural production for roads and urban development. With our rapidly expanding population, and the land area being reduced rapidly, the time may soon come when food consumption might tax production on the remaining acres.

In Washington, D.C., I had a nice visit with Congressman O. C. Fisher, who was also rejoicing over the fine rains in West Texas. I also visited the Soil Conservation Service offices, Smithsonian Institute, National Art Gallery and other points of interest.

Habits and customs in various sections of the country were interesting. When I asked a resident of New Jersey how far it was from the hotel to the bus station, he replied "Oh, it is about eight squares."

Child's Arm Turns Hard, Stony; Medical Treatment Slows Process

Christine Versluis, who is nine and lives on the shores of Lake Ontario at Hilton, N.Y., is unable to straighten her right arm because of rheumatic disease.

Her arm and parts of both shoulders are becoming increasingly calcified, which means change of the muscle tissue into a hard stony substance.

This somber-faced child is the tragic victim of dermatomyositis, one of the forms of rheumatic disease. Another form is rheumatoid arthritis. The majority of people don't know that children suffer from arthritis; they believe mistakenly that arthritis afflicts only the aging—someone's grandfather or grandmother, surely not the very young.

But there is urgent reason today why grownups and parents especially should be intelligently informed about arthritis among children. Dr. William S. Clark, director of medical care of The National Foundation, whose expanded program embraces arthritis, birth defects and continued work in polio, said this week:

"Rheumatoid arthritis is a type that can make children very ill indeed. They may become severely crippled. Their joints may 'freeze.' Happily, we can now demonstrate today that with proper treatment and care, most of the crippling caused by juvenile rheumatoid arthritis can be prevented."

But the cardinal point, Dr. Clark emphasizes, is that thousands of children have rheumatoid arthritis without knowing what the disease they suffer from really is. Their parents may dismiss the aching in neck, knees, wrists or elbows (or, more rarely, in all these joints simultaneously) as "growing pains"; or for a variety of other reasons, the right diagnosis is not made.

Nine-year-old Christine Versluis must hold her right arm in this awkward upright position because it is turning into hard, stony substance. But there's hope for her in research sponsored by The National Foundation.

"We now estimate that in the United States, more than 50,000 adults who suffer from rheumatoid arthritis had their actual onset of the disease in childhood," Dr. Clark added. "Had they received modern treatment at that time, most of the crippling in maturity could have been prevented. That's one reason why The National Foundation's program in arthritis and patient aid for the young is so significant."

Child victims of rheumatoid arthritis are estimated to total 30,000 in this country alone, with 16,000 a year ill enough to need medical care. About 5,000 or 6,000 of these may require treatment as intensive as the rehabilitation needed for those stricken by paralytic polio.

There are at least 11 millions in the nation today who suffer from some form of rheumatic disease, including arthritis. Rheumatoid arthritis victims total about 1,500,000. The disease is the nation's No. 1crippler.

To return to Christine, the little girl with the arm and shoulders turning into a stony element, she is receiving treatment at the March of Dimes-supported Arthritis Study Center at the University of Rochester School of Medicine—one of four National Foundation arthritis centers around the country. Her doctors hope they are slowing the advance of calcification but the outlook at this time is not certain.

Uncertainty, then, is the disquieting prospect facing this little girl. Her mother, Mrs. Eugene Versluis, hopes that if enough people support National Foundation research, perhaps in time Christine's right arm will fall back where it belongs and the stoniness will disappear; and that eventually the appalling figure of 30,000 children with crippling rheumatoid arthritis each year will decline.
