Ranchmen-These Instructions Are Vital To Follow In Controlling Screwworms!

Measures for livestock producers to take for individual assistance in screwworm eradication:

- Inspect all livestock frequently. Pay particular attention to the navels of new-born animals, a favorite site of the screwworm.
- Collect ten maggots from every infested wound after treatment. Place in a container of alcohol or water, and take to County Agent D. C. Langford, ASCS Office Manager Marie K. Ellis, or H. V. (Buzzie) Stokes, manager Chamber of Commerce.
- Do not move animals from any area unless all wounds are treated with a recommended insecticide. Be sure to follow directions on insecticide label.
- Do not move animals out of counties where screwworms have been reported until the animals have been sprayed and all wounds treated with a recommended insecticide, according to directions on insecticide label.
- Do not accept or move animals from other states where screwworms may exist unless the cattle dealer, buyer or hauler inspects and treats all animals at origin as indicated in Item 4 above.
- Remain alert to all information released through newspapers, television, radio, or your county agent's office concerning the screwworm status in your county and State so you may prevent screwworm infested animals from entering your neighborhood or help find an eliminate promptly any screwworms that do enter.

Speech Meet Big Success Thanks To City And School

By Smith Neal

Sonora High School, in conjunction with the entire Sonora community, held its Fifteenth Annual Speech Tournament Friday and Saturday, March 2 and 3. A total of 196 out-of-town participants registered Thursday evening and Friday morning.

Participating schools were Knippa, Alice, Denton, Eldorado, Andrews, San Angelo, Tivy of Kerrville, Menard and Sonora. Preliminary events began at 8:30 Friday morning following an instructional assembly in the auditorium of Central Elementary School. Finals began at 8:30 Saturday morning.

The Sonora Chamber of Commerce and Sonora Lions Club were hosts to the barbecue supper at six o'clock in the school cafeteria. Afterdinner speaking finals were held immediately following the barbecue and awards were presented at the end of this event. Concluding the annual event was a dance at the 4-H Center.

A great deal of work goes into a tournament such as this, and without the participation and cooperation of the entire community it would not have been possible to undertake such a great task. As director of speech and as general director of the tournament, I sincerely thank each who had a hand in making this 15th speech meet the success it was. Sonora should be proud of its school-minded and community-minded people who are willing to devote their time, money and labor that such a worthwhile activity may be accomplished. Without full cooperation and constant help from Rex W. Lowe, Doyle Morgan, Mrs. W. H. Dameron, Mrs. Alice S. Jones, Mrs. Herbert Fields, Mrs. W. A. McCoy and their committees of faithful workers, my work would have been much greater. Personally I can not thank them enough.

Only time will measure the effectiveness of such an event as the Sonora Speech Meet. We should be concerned about speech training when we learn that 60 percent of all legislative leaders are former debaters.

We can imagine what other students and sponsors think when we read little notes such as this one received from San Angelo Tuesday: "Dear Mr. Neal, I simply felt I had to let you know what an enjoyable time I had at the Sonora Speech Tournament. All of the other San Angelo contestants feel just as I do and wish to congratulate you and all of Sonora on the success of your venture. I hope I shall be able to attend again and enjoy the wonderful hospitality of the people of Sonora. Congratulations again, Mary Ann Bivens."

Best Actor and Actress awards went to Jimmy Ray of Alice for his portrayal of Thomas P. Sud in "The Pot Boiler" and Marianne Gerding of Denton for her characterization of Louella in "Denny and the Witches". Supporting Actor and Actress awards were won by Jim Pettit of Denton for his portrayal of Denny and Wendy Barrow of Denton as Zenobia. Honorable mention went to Betty Patrick as the peasant woman in "The Terrible Meek" and Steve Bryant of Denton as King of the World.

Prepared by the National 4-H Service Committee

Experts Back Versatile Youths

When 400,000 men and women volunteer their time and know-how to help 2.3 million 4-H Club members "learn, live and serve," the results are no less than spectacular.

For instance, the Head, Heart, Hands and Health youths finished nearly 4 million projects in more than 40 different categories just this past year.

In almost every instance, the completed project benefited the entire family and in many cases, the community as well.

The information comes from the Cooperative Extension Service which directs 4-H Club work.

Further proof of the far-reaching effect of 4-H was found in 1,900 record books maintained by state award winning club members. The records were reviewed in the headquarters of the National 4-H Service Committee last November, said Norman C. Mindrum, director, for the purpose of selecting boys and girls for scholarships and trip awards to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago.

Miss Sheila Nixon, 20, of Pomona, California, winner of a $400 Ford scholarship, commented: "The awards we win in 4-H work aren't totally ours. Many people have helped us win them."

Another national champion, who won a Sears-Roebuck Foundation scholarship for leadership, is 20-year-old Hoosier farmer Wayne Buck. He has a 4-H record so long "it would fill a book." Now a student at Purdue University, Buck credits 4-H training with teaching him how to accept responsibility, and to better understand the world and the people in it.

President Kennedy expressed a similar feeling when he said in a recent message to 4-H members: "I would commend you especially for your constructive and worthwhile efforts in learning to live and work cooperatively with others."

In the beginning, 4-H Clubs were intended for farm youngsters, and offered only projects in crops, livestock, home canning and cooking. The present program embraces a wide range of agricultural, home economics and scientific programs. With the exception of a few such as livestock, tractor and field crops, the projects can be carried on in town as well as on the farm.

4-H Moves to Town
Today, membership in 4-H Clubs is about equally divided between farm and non-farm boys and girls. The main reason for this shift is the disappearance of the small farm from the American agricultural scene.

Meanwhile, more and more business people are participating in 4-H as it moves into suburban and urban areas, Mindrum points out. National 4-H Club Week, National 4-H Club Congress, Farm-City Week, achievement days, county and state fairs, Farm-Safety Week and the like are but a few examples, he said.

Director Mindrum, who is a former 4-H member and state extension official, has this to say: "To sum up 4-H achievement one should call special attention to the concurrent efforts of many which, over the years, have made the 'learn by doing' program the success it is.

Business Gives Cash
"Besides the paid and volunteer workers who carry out the teaching-training aspect, there are business people who contribute know-how and money," he added.

Approximately 60 different business concerns provide funds for 4-H through the National 4-H Service Committee, he said.

Donors of awards for the last 25 years or more include: International Harvester, Montgomery Ward, Westinghouse Educational Foundation, Kerr Glass Mfg. Corp., Cudaly Packing Co., Armour and Co., Livestock Conservation, Inc., Wilson & Co., Mrs. Charles R. Walgreen, Also, Santa Fe, Chicago and North Western, Illinois Central and Burlington railways.

Newer 4-H backers are the Sperry and Hutchinson Co., Ralston Purina, Moorman Mfg. Co., General Foods, E. I. du Pont de Nemours and John Deere. Also, Pyrofax Gas and International Minerals & Chemical corporations. These firms have supported the program for five years or less, according to the 4-H Service Committee.

Devil's River Philosopher Wonders If "Devil" Has Enough Zeroes To Report The Full National Debt

Editor's Note: The Devil's River Philosopher on his bitter-weed ranch on Devil's River seems a little worried about us this week, but we can handle his problem.

Dear editor:
I was looking over a stack of bills which arrived on the first of the month and to get my mind off the subject I opened up a newspaper and the first article I noticed said that the cost of living stayed the same last month, it didn't go up or down.

What I'd like to know is where does the government get its figures? The cost of living, as far as I can tell, has been going up every month for the past twenty-five years, and sometimes it doesn't even wait thirty days, it goes up right in the middle of a month.

It's my theory that the experts in Washington who read the economic index and whatever else they read to get these figures on the cost of living are sort of like meter readers. If a meter reader misreads your meter one month and your bill is a little lower than you figured it'd be, that doesn't mean the cost of living has dropped, it only means the error will be corrected on the next reading and the cost of living will get back up high where it's always been.

I Give You Texas

By Boyce House

When I was in Memphis, Tenn., attending high school, once a month the installment collector for the furniture company would come to our front door. He was a very serious man who wore a black suit, a black hat and a high collar. He made his rounds with a horse and buggy. The buggy was black and had a top which he always kept up against the cold and wind in winter, the sun in summer and the rain which came at all seasons. This was along about 1914.

During vacation that year or maybe it was even later than 1914, I visited relatives in Clay County, Ark., and Uncle Frank drove a buggy. It was a sporty affair—no top, the wheels a bright yellow.

In 1919 when I went to Piggott to edit the Banner, Lon Vonnell drove a horse to a cart, really a racing sulky, drawn by a mare which was the champion trotter of the county-fair circuit.

In November 1920, I stepped off the train in Laredo and there were at least a dozen horse-drawn vehicles, with shouting drivers.

Now about the only time you see a horse-drawn vehicle is in a parade. Hot Springs, Ark., has one or two carriages for the tourist trade; it is quite the thing to have your picture made in the victoria, I believe it is. Nuevo Laredo, Mexico, back in the 1930's had two or three carriages—also for the tourists, and still may have.

Those days, we still speak of horsepower—but it is produced by gasoline.

When I was a little fellow, I parted my hair in the middle. One day, my father's best friend remarked in my hearing, "Boyce parts his hair in the middle to balance his brain." I immediately started parting it on the side. And still do—what there is of it.

Will Rogers said that there is nothing as stupid as an educated man when you get him off the thing he is educated in.

Norman Haygood, the magazine editor, once declared, "Certain personalities create drama for themselves."

Someone has asked, "Is it any more marvelous that the dead should live than the the living should die?"

To the People of the Devil's River Country: You are respectfully invited to attend a hop at the Court House in Sonora on Wednesday night, November 27. This will be the monthly hop for Nov. and a good attendance is expected.

H. P. Cooper the cattleman was in Sonora Wednesday. Mr. Cooper will leave shortly for Coleman County to receive some fine bulls. C. G. Lovelace was appointed at the last meeting of the commissioner's court, road overseer for precinct No. 1.

The turkey shoot Thursday was held at the church Thursday night. The service was conducted by Rev. H. Q. Kendall.

Sonora's merchants are nothing if not patriotic. They closed their stores Thursday afternoon for which the hard worked clerks were thankful.

The lumber has arrived for an extension to the Maud S. saloon building. When the addition is completed a new pool table and several other improvements will be made to this well-known resort.

Theodore Savell of the firm of A. J. Savell and Sons proprietors of the Sonora-San Angelo State Line informed the Devil's River News this week that round trip tickets to the Concho Valley Fair would be sold over their line for $5.

The young people of Sonora spent last Sunday very pleasantly riding, driving, walking, hunting, etc. The afternoon being delightful everybody took advantage of it and remembered that winter would soon be here and that they must make hay while the sun shines.

Saturday, October 26, 1895
Rev. Edward Martin of San Antonio, who will have charge of this district of the Episcopal church, will hold services in Sonora, Nov. 17th.

The autumn leaves are more beautiful this year than usual in this country.

Word has been received at this office that Thos. Bond arrived at his ranch feeling stronger for the trip and is gaining in strength every day. He can walk almost half a mile now but not at a go-as-you-please gait. Mr. Bond wished to be remembered to his many Sonora friends and thanks them for their kindness to him while in Sonora.

Saturday November, 2, 1895
Sonora has always endeavored to have educational facilities in keeping with the progress and enlightenment of the community and as a consequence can boast of one of the best public schools in the West. There is a regular attendance of 173 with an enrollment of 207. There are also private schools in town and public and private schools in all portions of the county.

Sutton County has a good substantial jail. It is not pretty to look at but is secure, well ventilated and convenient. It is not used very often and the cells are at present empty but it is a necessity.

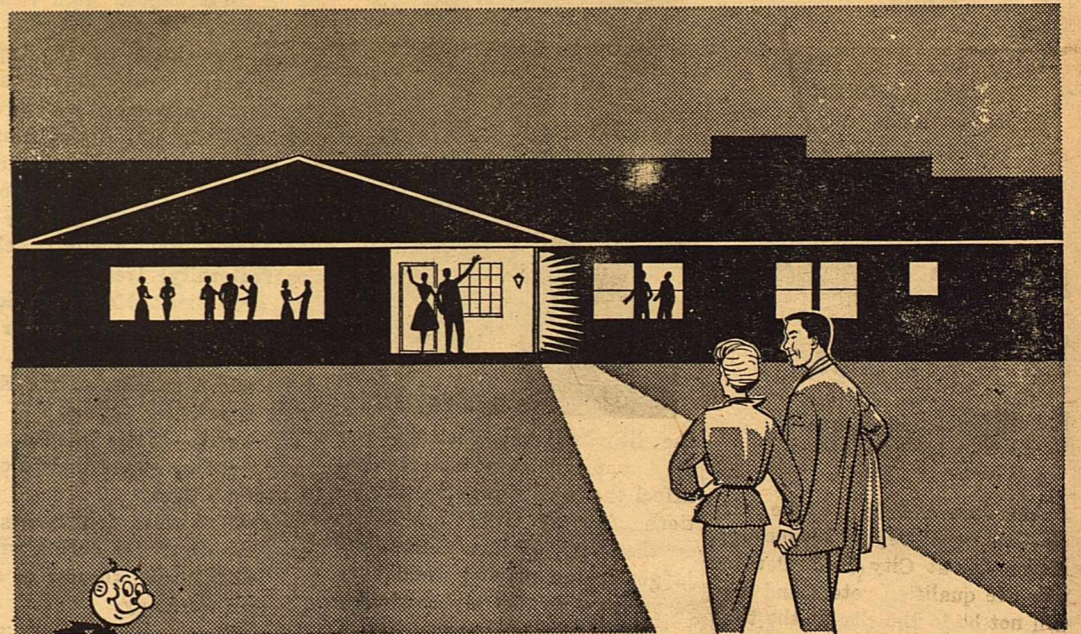

Sonora has a population of 900. The population of Sutton County last November was estimated at 1,600. There has been considerable increase since then.

Free Mail Service For Russia Under Fire By Congress

THE FREE USE OF OUR MAIL service to transmit communist propaganda in this country will be discontinued in the future, if a House-approved amendment to a postal rate bill is finally adopted.

The practice of allowing free mail service to the Soviets is in keeping with an international agreement entered into many years ago. The U.S.A., the Soviets, and many other countries, were parties to that arrangement. For a while the privilege as applied to the Communists was suspended in this country, then it was allowed to continue.

Since then, tons of Red propaganda has flooded our mails, saturated our school campuses and libraries, and overburdened our postal service. Many of us feel that even though the United States has the same right to send printed material through Russian postal service, without cost to us, the Soviets abuse their privilege and it is doubtful that very much of what we send over there actually is allowed to get into the hands of the intended readers.

The matter of restricting and controlling this practice is es-essentially a responsibility of the Executive branch of the government, since it deals with international affairs. But the Congress would seem to have the authority to determine by legislation, as a matter of public policy, what mail may be sent free through our postal service.

In any event, the House has acted, and the measure is now before the Senate.

BY A COALITION OF Republicans and northern Democrats, plus a few southern Democrats, a $263 million job training bill was rammed through the House last week. The Senate had already approved a similar bill; but the Senate, being a bit more welfare-minded, upped the cost to $655 million. Now a conference committee will work out a compromise.

Actually, the project (which I voted against) is an unnecessary duplication of vast and varied vocational and apprenticeship training programs, costing hundreds of millions of dollars, already in effect. It is another in a series of welfare programs which the Congress will be called upon to approve at this session. But this one had its appeal, and it sailed through.

Fallout Protection Guide At CD, Post Offices Now

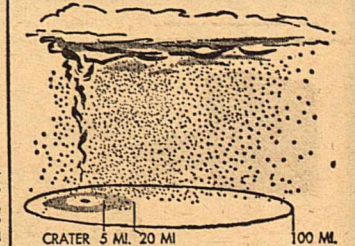

A pocket-sized booklet with the most essential, up-to-the-minute information for families and individuals on how to survive a nuclear attack is now available to Americans without charge from any post office or state or local civil defense office.

The 48-page, yellow-covered booklet, entitled "Fallout Protection—What to Know and Do About Nuclear Attack," includes specific instructions on how to survive fallout, build a fallout shelter or improvise a last-minute shelter if necessary, stock and ventilate the shelter, and take sanitary and first aid measures. Special information for farmers is provided on protecting or decontaminating livestock, food and equipment in a fallout zone.

The Department of Defense, Office of Civil Defense, produced the booklet to provide up-to-date, easily-readable survival information in one publication. So far, 25 million of the booklets have been printed and placed in distribution.

The booklet also points out other ways in which the Defense Department's new civil defense program will provide increasing protection:

- The National Shelter Survey now under way will identify fallout shelter spaces in existing structures for about 50 million persons. Identification, marking and stocking with austerity food and water rations, first aid kits, radiation detection instruments and other essentials will cost less than $4 per space.
- The proposed Federal Shelter Incentive Program would provide Federal grants of something less than the cost of constructing fallout shelters in schools, hospitals and in other non-profit institutions. Many shelters also would serve a dual peace-time function.
- The existing National Warning System is being extended to provide Americans near-instant attack warning.

How Fallout Endangers U.S. Told in Booklet

What is fallout? This frequently-discussed and even more frequently misunderstood phenomenon of the nuclear age is simply explained in the Department of Defense's "Fallout Protection" booklet now available to the public through post offices and local civil defense offices.

This drawing from the booklet shows how fine dust and debris from a nuclear explosion can be carried downwind from the blast, the amount of fallout gradually diminishing with the distance. Each dust particle is like a tiny X-ray machine whose gamma radiation will penetrate lighter materials but will dissipate in a relatively short time and do little harm to those protected by a sufficient amount of dense materials in shelters.

Where to Get Booklet

You can obtain your free copy of the Defense Department's survival booklet for all Americans, "Fallout Protection," at your local post office or your community civil defense office. After April 1, 1962, it will be available only from civil defense offices.

Grading Methods Discussion Topic At Tuesday PTA

Ralph J. Finklea, principal of Central Elementary School, spoke on Civil Defense and grading systems at the Tuesday afternoon, March 6, meeting of the Sonora PTA at the school cafeteria. Booklets on fallout protection were distributed among those present.

On the subject of grading system, questionnaires were passed out and discussed. Objective of the questionnaires is to determine if parents prefer the A, B, C, D, system with pluses and minuses and, if so, at what grade level the system should be started. Interested parents and teachers were encouraged to take part in evaluating the survey.

Superintendent Rex W. Lowe spoke on the subject of raising standards in high school. With colleges continuing to raise their entrance requirements, Lowe said it is generally felt that high school requirements will almost necessarily have to be raised. Full cooperation of parents and students with the school will be essential if this is to be done successfully, he said.

Mrs. W. A. McCoy, president, presided over the business meeting at which members voted to send one dollar for a Life Membership for outgoing district president Mrs. L. S. Vasbinder of Del Rio. Members were reminded of the district conference to be held March 21 and 22 at Laughlin Air Force Base in Del Rio.

Mrs. R. S. Teaff, treasurer, reported a balance of $172.76 in the general fund and $10.06 in the memorial fund.

Seventh grade mothers furnished refreshments.

Who Buys, Sells Snakes Or Venom?

This is the season when snakes begin to appear and with them hundreds of questions, according to Robert Carlisle, of the Information and Education division of the Game and Fish Commission. He now is in the process of preparing a new and up-to-date snake bulletin for release shortly. However, many persons are asking him where they can either buy or sell snakes, skins and venom. If you know where any of these can either be bought or sold, Carlisle would appreciate having the information.

YOUR MINISTER SAYS

By Rev. Alanson Brown, Rector St. John's Episcopal Church

I would like to add my two cents to a discussion that is going on these days. That is the question of the so-called "Adult" movies that are being shown regularly these days. One thought I would like to leave with you about these movies is this:

Are they saying to the Church and to Churchmen that we (the Church and the Churchmen) have denied the essential humanity of MEN??? The message of these movies seem to be that we have held a perverted image of man before men for so long that we are confused as to who we are. It almost seems that these movies are saying that the Church wouldn't know a real man if it saw one!!

I must agree with the judgement of these movies at their best, and even at their worst. The objective of these movies is not to be daring, shocking, or even pornographic; the objective seems to be that real life meets real men in terms of money, sexuality, hate, snobbery, prejudice, poverty, hunger, desire, and fear. The grappling with life in these terms goes on now as it has always and the question for the Church and Churchmen is "Can we speak the relevant word to these situations?"

Our fellowship in many cases excludes the person who somehow expresses his humanity in the above terms as he deals with living; but our Lord was accused of having fellowship with crooked businessmen, prostitutes, drunkards and the self-indulgent!!

Could it be that our Lord understood more fully what it is to be a man than we do? Could he?

Survey Being Made On Areas Needing Quail After Carla

Surveys now are being made in the coastal areas hit by Carla last September, in an effort to determine quail losses. Following this, a restocking of quail from the Tyler State Game Farm will begin as soon as mature birds are available, according to W. J. Cutbirth, Jr., assistant executive secretary of the Game and Fish Commission.

In many areas along the middle and upper coast of Texas, quail were annihilated during the Carla disturbance last year. Some landowners have reported a few birds migrating into the area, but generally the breeding stock is very low, according to the reports. A check is now being made of these areas. They will be restocked with birds from the hatchery on a no-cost basis, in those areas where the need is shown.

In other areas, individuals desiring quail for restocking now can file their application with the Game and Fish Commission. Birds will be available for this purpose of 50c each, which is approximately half the cost of production, according to Cutbirth.

When applications are filed, the area is inspected by Game Department personnel as to availability of food and cover. If these two items are found ample, authorization then is issued for the purchase of quail for restocking purposes. These applications should be sent directly to the Game and Fish Commission in Austin.

Some quail also will be available without charge this year for restocking by 4-H and FFA Clubs, under a program recently adopted by the Game and Fish Commission.

Fur Trapping Good Business In 1960 In Texas

Fur trappers in Texas during 1960 did a business in excess of a quarter million dollars, according to reports compiled by J. B. Phillips, coordinator of law enforcement for the Game and Fish Commission.

These reports showed that there were 185,887 pelts sold for a gross of $257,197.00.

Ringtails topped the list with 65,168 pelts being sold for $97,221.00. Next in values was mink, and 6,554 mink pelts brought $32,770. There were 13,402 nutria pelts sold for around 50c each.

Among other top species were 52,440 coons, 28,389 muskrats, and 14,975 possums.

Resident trappers licenses are required for persons who catch furbearing animals and sell pelts. This license cost $1.00. Fur buyers are required to buy a $25 license. Fur dealers reports are required from "any person, firm, or corporation except the trapper selling his own catch, who orders or buys pelts of furbearing animals."

The open season for taking pelts of furbearing animals in during the months of December and January, except muskrats, and that season extends from November 15 to March 15. A number of counties, however, have local laws affecting trappers, and a person engaging in trapping should familiarize himself with the laws pertaining to his particular county, according to Phillips.

monthly violation report of J. B. Phillips, coordinator of law enforcement of the Game and Fish Commission. There were 142 hunters who paid fines for hunting at night and headlighting. In most instances, the court forfeited the hunting license in addition to imposing fines ranging up to $200 for each violation.

In all, there were 438 arrests during the month, with fines and costs totaling $19,949.74.

A number of hunters seemed to forget that the season was over, and had continued to shoot dove, deer, ducks and quail during the closed season. Twelve arrests were made for dredging oysters in closed season. Twelve arrests were made for water pollution.

Despite warnings that fishing licenses should be bought by all persons between the ages of 17 and 65, who fish with rod and reel, or who fish outside their home county, 20 persons were charged with this violation. The Texas fishing license costs just $2.15 for both residents and non-residents.

Rabbit Fever Cases Increase In State For 1961

Tularemia—alias "rabbit fever"—increased in Texas last year compared to 1960. The actual number of cases, 13 during 1961 as against nine for 1960, is not startling, but is of concern to victims and the people engaged in communicable disease control.

The figures are tallied each week by the Texas State Department of Health from reports gathered throughout the State. In all probability there were actually more cases than were reported.

Tularemia is caused by an oval-shaped organism called Pasteurella tularensis in dubious honor of Tulare County, California, where it was first discovered as an infection of wild rabbits and squirrels.

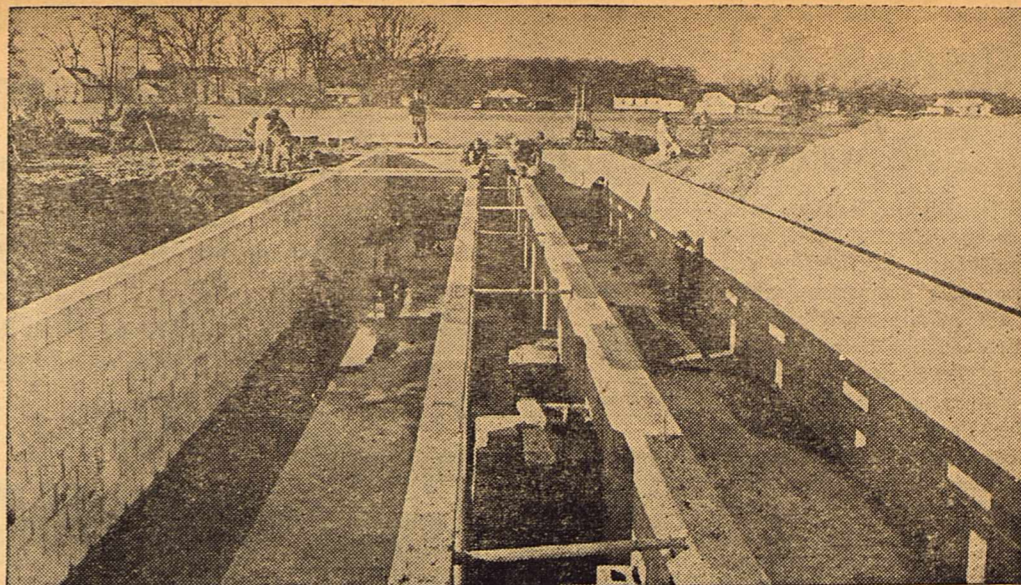

The disease is transmitted to humans by the bite of an infected fly or tick, or when the germ is accidentally introduced into the body during the process of dressing wild game. It can also be acquired by eating insufficiently cooked meat from an infected game bird or animal. The death rate of untreated cases is usually about five percent.

The infection has been and is still known all over Texas, but it reported most often from the eastern section of the State. Outdoorsmen are more susceptible than the general population because of a greater chance for exposure.

According to the best authorities, on a nationwide basis 90 percent of human cases are acquired from rabbits, chiefly wild cottontails. Other susceptible native animals are coyotes, opossums, skunks, deer and some species of snakes.

As for domestic animals, natural infections have been found in cats, dogs, hogs, and sheep. Among susceptible wild birds are

COMMUNITY FALLOUT shelter in Laketon Township, near Muskegon, Mich., under construction on a do-it-yourself basis by men from most of the families which joined in a non-profit corporation to pay for the underground shelter. Participants pay $40 per family member if they work on the shelter, and $75 per person if they don't. The shelter, now entirely covered by earth and nearing completion, will include a community room, kitchen, lavatories, 25 family compartments, deep well, a gasoline-operated generator and standby generator, and a control room and radio room for outside communication during an emergency. There is no truth in the belief that rodents are tularemia-free in winter, health authorities advise. Cases occur every month of the year, but mostly in April, May and June, the months of greatest tick activity.

The danger of contracting tularemia is another reason for not drinking raw creek or lake water. The organism can live in water where the disease prevails in wildlife.

The use of rubber gloves when handling wild game, refraining from drinking raw water, through cooking of all game, and prompt disinfection of scratches and insect bites will help prevent tularemia infection.

Price, spice and everything nice!

Who ever thought a car that saves like this could have so much sizzle? Chevrolet engineers, that's who! Liveliness and luxury for a low, low price were exactly what they had in mind to begin with. And they began from scratch with a whole carload of ingenious new ideas designed to give you more for your money. That spunky 6 with gas-sipping stinginess is just one example. Another: a new unitized Body by Fisher that's fit for a full-size family inside, easy to park outside. Still another: tough but gentle one-piece Mono-Plate rear springs that outdo many a bigger car for quiet comfort. Any wonder Chevy II won Car Life magazine's 1962 Engineering Excellence award hands down? (The wonder would be if you settled for anything less—once you get your hands on one at your Chevrolet dealer's!)

AN EDITORIAL

Safeguarding Our Future

Our forefathers in their wisdom, recognizing the importance of education in the function and operation of a democracy, established the public school to make education available to all. The people of Texas declared, by the expressed terms of State Constitution, "a general diffusion of knowledge being essential to the preservation of the liberties and right of the people, it shall be the duty of the Legislature of the State to establish and make suitable provision for the support and maintenance of an efficient system of public free schools."

The 1854 School Law provided for the first Public School System in Texas. As the years passed, our laws were strengthened to make sure that all children of a school age shared in this opportunity for public education. Today the importance of education is not a debatable subject. Our job is to see that children of this generation get the best possible education we can give them. By visiting the schools and familiarizing ourselves with the problems of teachers and students, we become more competent to safeguard and advance the institution that is so American—the public school.
