Little League Patrons' Meeting Scheduled Tonight

An organizational meeting of officers and parents of the Sonora Little League will be held at 7:30 Thursday night, March 29, according to Oliver Wuest, league director. Officers will be elected and plans made for the coming baseball season.

Wuest urged all patrons of Little League ball to be on hand for this meeting which may set the pace for the summer season. Boys who have not turned in their uniforms from last summer's play are again requested to do so at once. These uniforms are a major expense and the expense of replacing uniforms may well mean curtailment of League activities this year.

Fund raising plans will also be discussed at the March 29 meeting. Little League contributions may be made to Wuest or to Jerry Shurley, League president, or Clayton Hamilton, secretary.

Sonora Volunteer Firemen were kept busy during the past week answering five alarms in four days.

Thursday afternoon, March 22, they answered a call to the Alfred Schwienging Ranch where there was a flare-up of the March 20 fire which consumed some 200 acres of rangeland. This flare-up, however, had been controlled before fire trucks could arrive. Friday there was another outbreak of the same grass fire and firemen spent some time in bringing it under control. Another estimated 200 acres was burned.

Again Friday the fire department responded to a call to Hudspeth Memorial Hospital where a small grass fire had broken out in the patio adjoining the hospital building.

Saturday's call was to a rent house owned by Pedro Galindo where considerable damage was done to the roof. Origin of the fire was a flying spark from a yet as undetermined source.

Final call of the four-day period was answered Sunday when firemen extinguished a small grass fire on the hill behind the school.

Fire Chief Lee Patrick again warns everyone to exercise all possible caution in burning trash since strong winds greatly increase dangers of all fires.

"We urge you to alert your family and friends to plan on watching Route 66 on March 30th", reminded E. B. Keng, Lions Club president. The show may be seen on San Angelo KCTV at 7:30 P.M.

Municipal Election Called For Tuesday, April 7

No Absentees So Far In School Board Election

No absentee votes had been cast in the school board election as of Wednesday, March 28, according to County and District Clerk F. L. McKinney in whose office absentee voting is held. Deadline for casting absentee ballots is Tuesday, April 3. The election is set for Saturday, April 7, at the courthouse.

Candidates for election to the school board are Mrs. Alice S. Jones, Gene Shurley and Armer F. Earwood. All are present members of the board.

Sonora voters will cast their votes for a mayor and two commissioners in the municipal election set for Tuesday, April 3, at the City Hall.

Names appearing on the official ballot are those of the present office-holders Mayor A. E. Prugel and Commissioners W. B. McMillan and Fred T. Earwood.

Prugel seeks his second full term as mayor and Earwood his first full term, having been appointed to succeed former Commissioner A. B. Hightower who resigned. McMillan has been a commissioner for three years.

Pre-voting day indications are that there is little general interest in the municipal election this year. No absentee votes had been cast as of Wednesday, March 29, and absentee balloting closes Friday, March 30.

TIPS for OUTDOORSMEN

by Vern Sanford

Good Minnow Holders
When wade fishing you can make good use of your wife's old nylon stockings. They make great minnow holders.

Fasten the sox to your waders and cut a hole near the top of the stocking so you can reach in after the bait.

First, however, be sure to singe lightly around the opening so the fibers won't run.

Prevent Boat From Corrosion
When you take your boat out of the water, for storage, turn it bottom side up and clean it thoroughly.

Let the boat dry, then sponge a wet coat of liquid floor wax over it to prevent darkening and corrosion.

Flashlight Holder
Ever have trouble keeping a flashlight beam shining where you want it when camping out and you need both hands free?

Trip this: Drive an axe in a tree stump, or a rise in the ground, then tape or tie the flashlight to the axe handle.

All that's necessary then is to adjust the handle to focus the beam where you want it.

Sure Way To Keep Bait Alive
To keep minnows, shrimp, crayfish, or other similar bait alive over long periods of time, for future use, put the bait in a galvanized bucket under an outdoor tap and adjust the faucet to a slow drip.

Drip will provide a slow but constant change of water and supply the needed oxygen. Add small amounts of corn meal at infrequent intervals, to assure ample food.

To Remove Spark Plugs
You probably know the trick of opening stubborn jar by heating the top.

Try the reverse when spark plugs from your outboard motor stick and can't be removed.

Fashion a cone of tough paper around the plug-small end snug around the bottom. Then fill the cone with cracked ice.

Ice will contract the metal just enough so that plug can easily be unscrewed, thus preventing damaged cylinder head.

Hula Hoops for Fishing
Remember those hula hoops that were popular not so long ago?

Doubtless you have one or two around your place. If so, use them in our fishing.

Tie three hooked and baited lines to a hoop, as you would a drop or trotline. Then throw the hoop in the water. When a fish takes a bite, the hoop will submerge on that side, thus signaling that there is a fish one the line.

This is a novel variant of the time-honored jug fishing.

Don't Lose Your Boat Key
It's a mighty disturbing experience to see your boat key drop overboard and sink out of sight.

A little forethought can prevent this tragedy.

With a small bolt and nut, simply secure your key between the forks of a wooden clothespin. Should the key then drop overboard, it will float on the surface of the water until retrieved.

Floats For Boat Keys
Dropping a boat key overboard leaves a boat owner in a bad predicament.

To keep keys from sinking when the unexpected happens attach an ordinary fishing float or cork to the key chain.

Cuts Cooking Time
Here's how you can do two cooking jobs at the same time, when preparing a camp meal.

Just put the eggs you plan to boil in a plastic bag. Then suspend the bag inside the pot of brewing coffee.

Make sure the bag is suspended deep enough to cover the eggs with boiling water. Top of bag can be held secure between the lid and the pot.

When eggs are cooked, remove and serve. Neither eggs nor coffee are affected by the other in any way.

Golf Club Makes Good Gaff
If you want to own a good strong gaff—latch onto an old steel-handled golf club, remove the head and weld on a standard size gaff hook.

It works swell!

Fishing School Integration
Black and white crappie often are found in integrated schools.

Some anglers contend that they do not school together. However, black and white crappie are rather difficult to tell apart. Also they take the same lures—small spinners, fly combos, etc.

Best method of taking both varieties is still fishing with cork, line and hook, using either worms or minnows as bait. Use number 3, 5, or 6 hook and fish near the bottom.

Hunters Pay Fines After Season's End

Too many Texas hunters just couldn't put their guns away after the close of the hunting season. This was disclosed with the release of the February report of game and fish law violations, as issued by J. B. Phillips, coordinator of law enforcement of the Game and Fish Commission.

Of the 209 arrests made during February, there were 139 for shooting violations. Headlighters again topped the list, with 47 arrests made for night hunting.

The game wardens made 209 cases during the month, which resulted in the collection of $8,309.28 in fines and costs.

Fines for violations ranged from $25 to $200, with licenses revoked on most of those arrested for hunting violations. One woman was fined $150 for killing a deer in closed season.

Another hunter who refused to permit a search of his automobile was fined $50 for that offense and another $50 for having in his possession a deer with evidence of sex removed.

Phillips also warned fishermen to be sure to get licenses for this season before going out this spring. A license is required of all persons between the ages of 17 and 65 who fish outside their home counties, or who fish with any kind of winding devices regardless of their residence. A universal fishing license for either resident or non-resident,

Lake Sheldon Open To Boats After April 1

Waters of Sheldon Reservoir near Houston will be opened to boat fishing April 1 again this year, it has been announced by J. R. Singleton, regional coordinator of the Game and Fish Commission. Pole fishing from the banks and piers on the lake was permitted as of February 15.

On and after April 1, until September 30, boats propelled by hand or motors up to and including 5½ horsepower will be permitted, but motors may not be used for trolling purposes.

Overnight camping, swimming or hunting are not permitted on the area. Fishing is closed down during the months when waterfowl use the area as a refuge.

Fishermen may take:

- Five black bass per person, each not less than 11 inches;
- Twenty-five crappie, any size;
- Twenty-five channel catfish, any size.

The fish must be taken on rod and reel, pole and line or hand line. Minnows and sunfish may be taken for bait, with a limit of 100 at a time. Funnel fruit jar type traps or their counterpart, no longer than 24 inches with a throat no larger than one inch, or minnow seines not more than 20 feet, dip nets, cast nets and umbrella nets constructed of nonmetallic materials, may be used for taking minnows and sunfish.

For both salt and fresh water, seals for $2.15.

Producers will be notified some time in April of applications on file for signing. Each application must be signed by the producer in order to be eligible for payment, Mrs. Ellis said.

By Vern Sanford
Texas Press Association
People catch fish. But fishermen sometimes catch people. If you've ever been "hooked" by a fisherman, you know what I mean.

Fortunately, more fish are caught than people. Homer Circle, PR man for James Heddon's Sons of Dowagiac, Michigan—makers of the famous Heddon Fishing Tackle—sends us some interesting facts on this subject.

"Every year," says Homer, "doctors are called upon to extract barbed hooks from various parts of people's anatomies. It may be an eye or an ear, the face or a neck, hands, arms, legs, back—or rump."

"Most of these painful injuries could have been avoided if a few simple safety rules had been followed," said Homer. "Experts have studied this needless injury problem for years and offer numerous suggestions to help fishermen derive pleasure instead of pain from America's greatest participant sport."

Homer has included these suggestions in Heddon's 1962 Fishing Tackle Catalogue. I'll pass them on to you later, after I tell you how you may obtain, free of charge, Heddon's new 64-page catalogue. It sells regularly for 25c. But Homer says he'll send you one free, if you'll mention this column.

Guess he's trying to find out if we have any readers.

Anyway, it's a beautiful multi-colored printing job with as many tips on fishing as there are items listed in the catalogue. Now—back to the safety tips we promised. Here's how to keep from latching onto a fishing buddy or getting yourself seriously involved in a hook:

1. Learn the simple overhead cast. . . never toss a plug side-arm with your fishing companion nearby. And, always know where your partner is!

2. If your lure hangs on a surface snag don't try to jerk it loose with your rod. That bent rod can propel the lure so suddenly and so fast you won't have time to duck! Instead try to shake it loose gently or row in and remove it by hand.

3. While playing a fish always keep the bend of your rod away from your head and your companion. Again, a suddenly released lure with an assist from a bent rod could propel its hooks into the skin you or your partner love so much!

4. It's safer to land a fish with net or gaff. Don't grab a fish with your hand unless you are experienced in the right technique. Always play the fish until he turns belly up. . . if large, beach it. And, never reach into the mouth of a toothed fish. A pair of long-nosed pliers can save you lots of trouble.

5. Remember. . . the only lure that should be out of your closed tackle box is the one at the end of your rod. Too loose lures in the boat end up in a fisherman's seat!

Finally—remember that a good fishing partner is an invaluable asset. Study him, watch him carefully and if he proves cautious, courteous and thoughtful of you he is a rare companion.

Let him know your appreciation by trying to outdo his admirable characteristics.

Fisher Opposes Golden Eagle Protection Bill

By Congressman O. C. Fisher
THE GOLDEN EAGLE, long a bane to the sheep and goat raiser, particularly in the area of the Mexican border, would be given some protection under the terms of a bill recently approved by a House committee.

An amendment adopted by the committee, however, gives the Interior Department authority to give ranchmen the right to destroy the eagles which are known to be predatory. The amendment gives that right where "it is necessary for the protection of wildlife or of agricultural or other interests in any particular locality."

The golden eagle, described by the Department of Agriculture as "a majestic bird of prey," is one of the largest of the world's eagles and has a wing-spread of about seven feet.

It has been difficult to convince sponsors of this protection legislation that the golden eagle is a menace to newborn lambs, kids, and fawns, although this fact is well known in the region of the Rio Grande where these birds are quite prevalent during certain seasons. I have accumulated an abundance of information that confirms this.

Dan Auld of Kerrville is a respected authority on this subject, and he attests to the predatory habits of the eagle based upon actual observation and experience.

Another authority in our area is W. J. Burns of Del Rio, who for years was a government trapper, writes: "I have seen the eagles fly over the pastures, and dive straight down like a bullet and rise with a lamb in its claws. . ."

In the border country every ranchman knows about this menace. Bounties are often paid for planes are sometimes employed to help protect sheep and goats raisers against losses of this kind, by shooting the eagles from the air.

While the amendment giving some protection to the ranchmen is helpful, I still consider the legislation unnecessary. There is no present danger of extinction of this bird, as is contended by some. And that is the reason given for the legislation.

YOUR MINISTER SAYS

By Rev. Alanson Brown, Rector St. John's Episcopal Church

What do I have to be to be SOMEBODY? More people today are spooked by this question. As one of our contemporary writers has pointed out in a recent book, we are STATUS SEEKERS. We use many symbols of status and we seem to think in many instances that the acquiring of these symbols gives us status. There are several we use here in Sonora.

Among our teenagers, the thing to be is a cowboy with tight-fitting bluejeans, boots and hat. The boy who is really with it status-wise is the one who is both cowboy and football player. Just how much status can you get!!!

There is another interesting status symbol among the males of the community that I haven't figured out, but it sure speaks to status. That is the owning and driving of a PICKUP—no, not a Cadillac, but a pickup.

It seems to me that the females just have to depend on the males for their status. If he has it, she has it. Now these symbols in most cases are all articles that we have and use, but it is when the use gets separated from the article that they become marks of status.

Herein lies the problem, for man's status does not depend upon his function, or apparent function, but upon the fact that he is a PERSON. A PERSON who in the understanding of the Christian is created by the Almighty Power of this Universe. Our value stems from the fact that God made us and loves us, not because of our function, but in spite of our functions!!!

Your status, then, does not depend on outward appearances or upon what you do, but upon what you ARE!!!

Oscar Perez Okay After Swallowing Three-Inch Pencil

Oscar Perez, nine-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Perez, is described as in excellent condition at Hudspeth Memorial Hospital after undergoing surgery for the removal of a pencil from his stomach.

Oscar, a third grade student at L. W. Elliott School, was playing with the three-inch pencil Wednesday, March 14 and had the eraser end in his mouth when he inhaled suddenly and the pencil slipped down his throat.

X-Rays revealed the pencil in the digestive tract. An operation was deemed necessary and Dr. R. A. Wilms of Houston, who had been taking care of Dr. J. F. Howell's practice during Dr. Howell's absence, performed surgery Friday, March 16.

Oscar was still in the hospital Wednesday, March 21, but was not appreciably showed down by his experience.

A weekend guest of Mr. and Mrs. Buster Jennings was their daughter, Miss Nina Jennings of Waco.

Local Health Unit Major Protection Against Diseases

Time was when the State of Texas had so few public health workers that in many places they were present only when epidemic or other disease conditions were developed to a point where it could no longer be ignored.

Today, we have trained men and women on the job to provide assistance in the prevention of many prevalent disease conditions. And, in the event of disease outbreaks which occasionally develop even today, they are able to call for help, from the Texas State Department of Health, in finding and eradicating or controlling the source of the trouble.

The local health unit is the focal point of public health in Texas. These local units, headed by physicians trained in public health worth and assisted by public health nurses, sanitarians and clerical personnel, administer the many public health programs which protect the citizens of Texas against the hazards of disease and death.

The local unit director organizes and supervises programs covering maternal and infant care; preschool and school health; adult health and programs designed to control tuberculosis, cancer, venereal disease and diabetes. He is also concerned with industrial health, dental hygiene, nutrition, community sanitation and health education.

The public health nurse shoulders the detail work with mothers and children. She assists with special programs for crippled children, dental hygiene, and nutrition. With the assistance of teachers she helps select school children for examination by physicians, assists in securing correction of physical defects and helps teachers in planning health education programs.

The sanitarian concerns himself with a long list of diversifi-

Fisher Writes On Opinionaires, Debt And Welfare

By Congressman O. C. Fisher
STEEPED UP INTEREST in governmental affairs in the 21st Congressional district is indicated by the Opinionaires now pouring in from our district. The results, now being tabulated as the returns are received, should give a fairly accurate barometer of the composite thinking of the people of our area on many issues now pending. At least 15,000 returns are anticipated.

A Kerrville store owner points to a weakness in our unemployment compensation system, with this comment: "I sincerely believe Unemployment payment are creating or continuing the number of unemployed by at least 75 percent that is, the number that refuse to work as long as they have any income. This is the State's problem; however, if the Federal Government would ask responsibilities. He inspects foodhandling establishments and assists in training foodhandling personnel, such as cooks, waiters and dishwashers in proper foodhandling methods. He inspects water supplies, dairies, swimming pools, tourist courts and trailer courts. In addition he investigates reported "sanitary nuisances" and assists with civil defense planning.

Currently, some 1,800 public health workers man 55 local health units, covering 64 counties and 75 percent of the State's population with the singular aim of bringing better health to the people of Texas.

Forty-three essays on the subject "I Am An American" were submitted by Sonora High School and Junior High students. The essay contest was sponsored locally by the two Sonora Lions Clubs, and is being conducted throughout the state.
