City Increases Arson Reward

The City Commission upped the arson reward from $100 to $250 in its regular meeting Monday November 12. The City offers the reward for the arrest and conviction of any person or persons found guilty of committing the crime of arson within the city limits.

The City has been commended by the State Board of Insurance on enforcement of the Electrical Code. This is to be reflected in an insurance saving with the next publication of the key rate. Manager of City Utilities R. M. McCarver said poor wiring or a loose connection results in loss of heat and voltage. Proper wiring in addition to saving in insurance rates represents a saving in electrical consumption plus the all-important factor of saving human life.

George C. Hawley, State Insurance Engineer, advised the city that the water system and storage are sufficient in capacity for the present purpose. He recommended future mains and fire hydrants and a 500 GPM triple combination pumper be installed as soon as finances permit.

McCarver announced that a "Yield" sign has been installed at Hightower Road, so traffic must yield to East Second Street. This has been a recent danger point with the increased traffic in that section.

Weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Ward, Jr. were Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Haynie and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Wallace and sons John and Tom, all of Abilene. Haynie and Wallace each got a nice buck.

Ranchmen May Sign 1963 ACP Program Starting Dec. 15

Beginning Saturday, December 15, Sutton County ranchmen may apply for participation in the 1963 Agricultural Conservation Program for the 1963 program year, according to Mrs. Marie K. Ellis, local ASCS office manager.

The program, written by the county agricultural group, has received official approval of the State ASCS office and will allow individual ranchers to earn cost-share at $1,000.00 Prior approvals must be obtained from the county committee before work is begun.

Practices offered for cost-sharing for the 1963 ACP program year are: grass seeding on cropland; grass seeding on rangeland; controlling competitive shrubs; pitting; water wells; concrete storage tanks; pipelines of galvanized pipe; pipelines of plastic pipe; pipelines of black pipe; permanent fences; construction of terraces, and construction of diversion terraces.

Young Glascock is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgard Glascock. He has been hunting since he was 11 years old and this is his fourth deer. He brought him down on the Glascock Ranch with a 243 Winchester, which his brother-in-law, Bill Gilliet, taught him to shoot. "It's exciting," Ray declared. "I chased him all over before I got him." The young hunter observed that there are lots of big deer, more than usual, but they are hard to get.

All other prizes, offered locally, are for out-of-county hunters only. Bobby York of San Angelo copped all three prizes for the first deer of the season in Sutton County with an eight-point 89-pound buck. In the running for an award is a 16-point buck weight 121 pounds, brought in by Lance Sears of Sweetwater.

Processors say deer in this county are heavier and more plentiful this season. Ervin Willman of Lambert's reports their heaviest during the opening days was 145 pounds. Doc Scott of Sonora Food Locker says he had 126 deer brought in during the first three days of the season, the heaviest being 134 pounds, but with many over 120 pounds. Scott says turkeys are not as plentiful as last year, with only 15 brought in to his place during the first three days, compared with twice that number last year at this time.

24-21 Victory Over Stanton Buffaloes Closes Grid Season For Broncs

Sonora High School's Broncs closed their 1962 football season with a 24-21 victory over the Stanton Buffaloes there Friday night. It was one of the most exciting games of the season, a real cliff-hanger until the final ten seconds when Quarterback Primo Gonzales kicked the field goal that told the story.

Stanton drew first blood with Halfback Joe Williams charging over from the Bronco one yardline to end a 67-yard drive by the Buffaloes. The try for extra point was no good.

In the second quarter Bronco Halfback Julio Samaniego tallied the Broncs' first touchdown on a drive over the line from the two yardline. Gonzales kick was good for the point. The Buffaloes raised their lead another eight points shortly after with Fullback Dewey Anderson crossing over from the two yardline. Quarterback Buddy Gaspie's pass to End Clinton Miller was good for two points and the half ended with the Buffaloes showing a 14-7 lead.

In the third quarter the Broncs went on the offense with Halfback Bobby Castillo returning a Stanton punt 52 yards for a Bronco touchdown. Gonzales scored the extra points on an end run and the score stood 15-14. Minutes later the Buffaloes scored again on a pass from Gaspie to End Ted Stewart on the 15. Williams' kick was good and Stanton was ahead 21-15. Still in the third, Castillo climaxed a long Bronco drive by plunging over from the two yardline but the try for extra point failed.

The game remained a 21-21 tie until the final seconds of the final period when Gonzales faked a punt, running the 22 yards needed for a first down and the Broncs began to roll, ended on the Stanton four from which point Gonzales told the tale with a field goal and the needed points.

Statistics: Yards Rushing, Sonora 169, Stanton 133; First Downs, Sonora 16, Stanton 13; Passes, Sonora completed one of seven attempts for seven yards, Stanton completed seven of 20 for 121 yards; Penalties, Sonora one for five yards, Stanton three for 35; Punts, Sonora four for a 30 yard average, Stanton four for 30; Fumbles, Sonora one which was recovered, Stanton none. So intercepted one pass and had two intercepted.

YOUR MINISTER SAYS

By Rev. Arno H. Melz, pastor, Hope Lutheran Church
Know ye that the Lord He is God; it is He that hath made us, and not we ourselves; we are His people, and the sheep of His pasture. Enter into His gate with thanksgiving, and into His courts with praise; be thankful unto Him and bless His name. For the Lord is good; His mercy endureth to all generations. (Psalm 100:3-5).

The Psalm so beautifully written and filled with praise for God seems the ideal text upon which to dwell as we near Thanksgiving Day. As David wrote the Psalm, he did not mean to limit our giving of thanks to one day each year, for a true believer should be giving thanks every hour and minute of his life. On the other hand, no Christian will object to having this special day set aside to praising God for His many blessings.

The pilgrims started this tradition when they realized how richly God had blessed them. Our government continued this tradition by setting aside a regular day each year. They have allowed the individual churches and believers to make this a real Thanksgiving Day, and society has responded in various ways. Many people do take time to praise God as the Psalm suggests. Others find this an ideal time to hunt, visit, eat and literally forget about God. Such people make the day thankless rather than Thanksgiving.

Allow the Psalmist to remind you why you should give thanks. It was God who made you, we belong to Him and are sheep in His pasture. The sheep of God are well fed and protected from all harm. The Lord is good to His flock and shows mercy to them. God continues to love us and forgive our sins if we believe in Jesus as our Savior. Money can not buy this, but God gives it as a free gift. This should cause us to praise God, be thankful unto Him and bless His name. Reserve time to thank and praise God every day and especially on this special Thanksgiving Day. Give thanks unto the Lord, for He is good for His mercy endureth forever.

"How Old Is An Old Ewe" Subject Of New Bulletin

Sheepmen sometimes buy, sell or manage breeding ewes without complete knowledge of their actual value. A new publication, MP-596, "Influence of Age and Fertility of Rambouillet Ewes on Lamb and Wool Production," presents data on the production of lamb and wool of ewes of various ages.

The bulletin was taken from data of the Ranch Experiment Station, Sonora, Texas, for a 20 year period from 1941 to 1961, during which time the average size was about 175 head. It states that the ewes on the station definitely showed a correlation between age and their productive ability. They found that the older a ewe gets the more fertile she gets. Twinning rates increased until the age of about four and then leveled off and the percentage of dry ewes was the lowest at three and remained constant until the ewe reached eight.

Lamb and ewe losses in the flock were below those usually found in the Edwards Plateau because of the care given them on the station. However, due to continuous culling in the flock, the figures given are not the absolute production of a normal population. However, since culling is normally practiced by the average producer, the trends shown in the bulletin are about those he will encounter.

In the Sonora flock, ewes were more efficient producers of wool and lambs through their sixth year, but beyond that age ewe losses and lower production made them unprofitable. Lamb production increased until the age of five and wool production reached its peak at three years after which both began to decline. Losses of ewes and lambs remained the same until the age of seven, then increased sharply.

The bulletin says that because of the wide range of conditions found in Texas no statewide recommendations can be made as to the age at which to cull ewes from the flock. Each operation must be considered separately.

The study also concluded that a major factor in the production ability of ewes was the age at which they were first bred. They found that with each pound increase in the weight of the ewe when she was bred there was a five pound increase in the weight of her lamb. So, the producer might look at his ewes again and decide how old is an old ewe.

For more information on the value of breeding of ewes as related to age and fertility, write the Agricultural Information Office, College Station, Texas, and ask for MP-596.

TEMPLE TAGS

"GREATEST INVENTION SINCE THE BRANDING IRON"

For cattle—hogs—sheep—goats

15 colors make identifying separating and calling easy.

Temple Tags come in 15 different colors. The color scheme can be used in a dozen different ways. By using a different color each year, a rancher can tell, at a glance, how old an animal is. By using color, you can separate families, strains, high or low producers, culls, etc.—turn them all out together, and when you want to separate them—there they are.

The color goes completely through the tag, not just painted on the outside. They will not discolor or fade, and will last the life of the animal. Names, letters and numbers are printed free on both sides. Ideal for custom feeders or where performance records are kept.

Solid tough weather resistant lifetime plastic. Easy to install.

GOOD-BYE TO SORE EARS

Temple Tags won't hang up and tear out and have no sharp corners or sharp edges to keep the ear sore, irritated and infected.

By using all 15 colors and one or both ears, you can work out over 200 different combinations for identification. Colors easy to see even at a distance.

Names or numbers will not rub off... years later, stock wearing Temple Tags are easily identified.

A must if you are keeping production records.

La Diabla

By Lindy Groda

The sap, crackle and pop of autumn and hunting is in the air. Hunters, hunters' wives and game wardens are in the Sonora scenery. There's the sound and feel of the season in the crisp morning. And there is this to be thankful for . . . that someone had the foresight to preserve the game, now in abundance in Sutton County.

Every day is Thanksgiving for us, but the one back in 1621 had something to do with four wild turkeys that the Pilgrims shared with the Indians. The food side, a pretty table is as much part of the day as autumn leaves, horns of plenty and joyous family-togethers.

Unbidden, the lines come back: "The breaking waves dashed high on a stern and rockbound coast. The woods against the stormy sky their giant branches tossed. The heavy night hung dark the hills and waters o'er, when a band of exiles moored their bark on a wild New England Shore . . . (then) . . . That soil where first they trod. They have left unstained what there they found, freedom to worship God."

And how are we doing with it in 1962 A. D., when most of us have to be reminded it's not anti-Supreme Court to read anything we like with our children at home? How are we doing in our Divine Communications along beside our children? No one, but no one, has forbidden dialogue with the Divine at home. And home is better than street corners, cafe society, the public school or even in the modern-day temples of worship, that can never replace the individual petition from the mind-soul in the human body that is, itself, the Holy Temple of God.

Whittaker Chambers, who became a Quaker—and a devout one—after he renounced Communism said in his last days, "Men seek God alone; they must worship him in common." And it's true by design and command.

"Flunk now and avoid the rush," used to appear on school

MRS. SHURLEY HOSTESS TO TWICE TUESDAY CLUB

Mrs. Jerry Shurley entertained the Twice Tuesday Bridge Club in her ranch home Tuesday evening.

Fall flowers were used in decorations. Dessert and coffee were served.

Guests were Mrs. George Brockman, who held high guest score, and Mrs. Wallas Renfro, who took consolation prize.

Members present were Mrs. Norman Rousselot who held high club score, Mrs. Clint Langford who won traveling prize, Mrs. Clayton Hamilton, Mrs. James Hunt, Mrs. Nolan Johnson, Mrs. W. A. McCoy, Mrs. Robert Pfluger, Mrs. Tommy Smith, Mrs. George Wallace, and Mrs. Louis Wardlaw who won bingo prize.

Thanksgiving holiday guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Vander Stucken and Jan will be Mrs. VanderStucken's mother, Mrs. Ed Mears of Menard, and their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. James A. Jackson of Denton.

blackboards. Teachers would smile and remove it.

"Don't just do something—stand there," is the way all of this survival talk sorta comes out or "Die now and avoid the rush."

In the Cuban scare or any other, "Fear Him that can destroy both soul and body," is the one worth bothering with. Man still has time with the thinking part of him to make his soul-spirit worthy of preservation into infinity. And man has a shelter before the throne, called grace, that is always there . . . ready to let him back up, correct and get off on the right foot . . . of which today is a part.

This column leans heavily toward self-fallibility and always means to say, "Me too," when the human race is getting raked over the coals. We like every written or telephoned reader response. And most of all we learn from those who disagree and show us up.

Seco Mayfield and his catfish are more famous than usual in the November issue of Texas Game and Fish magazine. Good subject.

3-County Delegate Reports On Trip To PTA Congress

Mrs. Herbert Fields, Tri-county delegate to the 53rd annual state convention of the Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers, November 14-16 in Fort Worth returned home Friday. Sonora PTA was not represented in voting, since Mrs. Fields represented tri-county.

Mrs. W. T. Whaley of Kosse, state president, presided over the meeting of about 4,000 delegates and visitors. Mrs. Clifford N. Jenkins, Long Island, N.Y., president of the National Congress, installed the following state officers, elected at this meeting: President, Mrs. W. J. Danforth of Dallas; first vice-president, Mrs. L. L. Ledger of Copperas Cove; second vice-president, R. H. McKay of Dallas; and recording secretary, Mrs. Mrs. Jean Harris of Agua Dulce.

Dr. Irby B. Carruth, president of the American Association of School Administrators and superintendent of Augtin public schools, stressed the power of positive teaching of patriotism, moral and spiritual values in the home in the keynote address. He discussed the tendency of pushing the child in the social world too early.

Mrs. Fields attended a conference on Legislation, where proposed laws for 1962 and 1963 were discussed. Delegates were instructed to dismiss all of the proposed national legislation with local units, who will vote and turn in tabulations on such vital subjects as federal financial aid to education. This was specifically one of the legislative subjects discussed in the workshop.

Delegates in attendance said there seemed to be a tendency to try to keep it off the floor for discussion before the main assembly of the convention. The audience by cheers and clapping showed a general disposition, however to have federal aid to education discussed and two speakers were accorded time on the subject.

Ancient Paintings Subject Of Art Club Program

"Ancient paintings made from milk, eggs and blood have been found in a cave in France," Mrs. John A. Martin, Jr., President, told the Sonora Art Club in a meeting Monday evening, November 19 in the Art Room.

Mrs. Martin reviewed a magazine article on the cave, now taken over by the French government in an attempt to preserve the paintings in the original setting, since discovery by two boy hunters. It is believed that the dry air preserved the unusual ingredients used for paint. The ancient subjects in the paintings are mostly bulls.

The business meeting of the Art Club showed a November 1 balance of $77.19 in the treasury. The club voted to check out plaster molds for one day, with a penalty fee charged if the molds are kept longer. The group voted to hold a cake sale downtown on December 15 with Mrs. Ernest McClelland as chairman.

Plans were made for the Christmas party to be held in the home of Mrs. Miers Savell, planning chairman for the event, set for December 17.

Mrs. Adra Stone, a new Sonora resident, was a guest at the meeting with eleven members present.

Devil's River Philosopher Claims Communist Powers Haven't Learned Everything Yet About Human Nature

Editor's note: The Devil's River Philosopher on his bitterweed ranch on Devil's River discusses a weighty matter this week.

Dear editor: When Mr. Khrushchev's man in Washington, I forget his name, well, I haven't forgotten it but I can't spell it, was telling Mr. Kennedy a while back that Russia had no missiles in Cuba, he knew at the time, as everybody knows now, that he was lying.

Now you might think this would be embarrassing to the Russians, but on the contrary they just laugh about it. Lying is one of the handy devices the Communists use whenever they get ready, and they've found it works plenty of times.

The Communists have found out that telling the truth is in such high standing in the free world that you can gain lots of territory by deliberately abusing it. India is the latest country that can tell you about this at the moment.

But here's a point I'm afraid the Communists have overlooked. They know quite a bit about human nature, but not everything. For example, if you can fool one group of people with a deliberate lie, what's going to keep one Communist from lying to another Communist? What makes one Communist assume another Communist doesn't have some human nature too?

I'm no more a candidate for the job of expert on international affairs than I am for an award as an outstanding rancher, but I have a notion that the Russian and the Chinese Communists are now learning something about human nature, that if you can fool free countries by lying to them, you can also fool other Communist countries with the same tool. This may explain why Russia and China aren't too happy with each other. One has believed the other when he shouldn't have. They've forgotten that a liar on one front is pretty likely to be a liar on another front.

When Khrushchev says Communism will dominate the world, he's talking about Russian Communism. When the Chinese say the same thing, they're talking about Chinese Communism.

When a nation establishes throat-cutting as a national policy it never knows when its own throat will be next.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Easing Of Cuban Crisis Offers Chance To Prepare For Possible Nuclear Attack

The apparent easing of the Cuban crisis gives us additional opportunity to prepare both mentally and physically for a nuclear attack. Since our enemies are armed with nuclear weapons the threat of nuclear attack will be with us from now on. Understanding the dangers of nuclear attack and taking a few precautions now may well spell the difference between life and death for millions of Americans.

Let's consider some facts about a nuclear explosion. Damage and destruction from a nuclear explosion is caused by (1) blast, (2) heat, (3) initial radiation, and (4) residual radiation or "fallout".

The blast from a medium sized bomb (5 megatons, or 5,000,000 tons of T.N.T.) causes severe destruction to buildings six miles out in all directions. Heat would set fire 20 miles away. Thousands of tons of soil and rocks would be vaporized and swept upward in the mushroom or fireball cloud to a height of several miles. All particles would become "ionized" or radioactive, and would emit powerful rays that can cause death. Heavier particles would fall nearby, causing with the blast-heavy initial radiation in a relatively small area of 15-30 miles diameter.

Lighter particles swept upward would be caught by the high jet stream winds which blow up to 75 miles per hour, and would be borne downwind possibly as far as 1,000 miles from the blast. These particles would gradually descend to earth as dust, giving off deadly rays. This dust is called "fallout" and is expected to cause far greater damage than the bomb because of the large area covered.

A nuclear bomb will probably never be intentionally exploded on the Sonora area. Bombs are expensive and scarce, and will be aimed at large military and industrial targets. We are not close enough to potential targets at El Paso, San Antonio, Dallas-Fort Worth, or other, to expect blast or heat damage.

Our greatest danger from nuclear attack is fallout. If we understand the dangers from fallout and take a few precautions death or sickness from radioactive fallout can be rare.

We sometimes hear people say "I don't care whether I go into a shelter or not, because when I come out everything will be destroyed". Such a statement is completely unwarranted. With only fallout, nothing would be destroyed except livestock and people who were not in a safe shelter.

The dust particles or fallout emit deadly rays, like X-rays, and will cause death or sickness to exposed people or animals. The rays can penetrate readily through any thin material. For complete protection a person must have 7 inches of steel, 24 inches of concrete or three feet of compacted earth on all sides of him.

The fallout particles decay, or lose their power, rapidly. A particle which emitted 1,000 roentgens (the measure of radioactivity) per hour one minute after the explosion will decay to 100 roentgens per hour 7 hours later. In 7 x 7 or 49 hours the particles will decay to 10 roentgens per hour. In 7 x 7 x 7 hours, or two weeks, the particle would decay to one roentgen per hour, allowing people to work out of shelter for several hours at a time without danger.

An exposure dose of 450 roentgens will make everyone sick and half the people will die. The mid-lethal dose for sheep is 350, cattle 750 and 1,000 for chickens.

The key to survival in event of attack is adequate shelter for a 10 to 14 day period. Plans are available at the Chamber of Commerce office for building family shelter in basements, cellars, etc. Plans are also being worked out to provide public shelter for local residents and evacuees from other cities. In event of imminent danger information on fallout will be given on the radio at 640 and 1240. Every person should become familiar with nuclear dangers and be prepared to live.

Pilgrims Joined Strange Company At Thanksgiving

The Pilgrims were joining some strange company when they declared a Thanksgiving celebration in 1621. For the practice of giving thanks for plentiful harvest goes back almost to the time man first gave up wandering and hitched himself to a plow.

Along the Mediterranean, ancient peoples held festivals at harvest time in honor of a mother goddess. The Semites called her Astarte, while the Phrygians named her Semele.

The Romans honored Ceres, the goddess of agriculture, in a celebration called the Cerealia. And the Greeks paid tribute to Demeter in secret rites called the Eleusinian Mysteries. Christianity put an end to many of these festivals, but a pagan-inspired belief in the Corn Mother, or the Mother of Grains, survived among some peasants in the British Isles and Europe. Her spirit was thought to live in the last sheaf of grain left standing in the field.

In northern England, the last handful of corn was the "kirk", and sometimes it was fashioned into a "kirk doll." In Austria it was shaped into a wreath and placed on the head of a girl who became the harvest queen.

During the Middle Ages the most common thanksgiving and harvest festival was held on the Feast of Saint Martin of Tours, or Martinmas, on November 11. People throughout Europe still celebrate the day with feasts and new wine.

The Pilgrims probably became familiar with this celebration when they went to Holland to escape persecution in England, and it may have been the remembrance of this holiday that inspired them to hold a thanksgiving fete after their first prosperous year in the New World.

During 34 years of research Purina has developed a special dry cow feed, Purina D & F Chow. Tests show properly fed dry cows can produce up to a ton more milk when they freshen.

Next time you're in the store ask us to tell you more about Purina's proved, profitable Dry Cow Program.
