Soil Stewardship Week Designated During May 15-22

by E. B. Keng
Soil Conservation Service Technician

This week—May 15-22—is being observed in soil conservation districts throughout America as Soil Stewardship Week.

President Johnson's proclamation states: It is appropriate that we set aside a Soil Stewardship Week each year to recommit our commitment to the preservation of our precious national heritage. This observance reminds all responsible Americans of our duty to protect our threatened land and water resources, to restore those which have been ill-used, and to develop their rich potential for the benefit of all our people.

The theme for Soil Stewardship Week is "Crisis in the Countryside." It relates the need for a prosperous rural America—not only to produce food, shelter and clothing—but to provide a quiet and beautiful retreat from the bustle and stir of growing city populations.

Ministers throughout the land are being asked to emphasize the relationship between the church and the land, or of our Stewardship to God.

Agriculture Secretary Freeman recently stated: It is our duty to respect the countryside as Creation's wondrous temple; to guard it against those who would desecrate it; to bring to the countryside our talents and our resolve; to exalt the role of the countryside in national advancement; to make certain that rural America continues to serve its high purpose as a source of spiritual as well as material strength in the nation.

"With such stewardship, we may be confident of the continued blessings of this great land—for we will have assured it with our cooperation," he concluded.

Rev. Rollin Polk, Episcopal Rector, and Rev. Rodney Dowdy, pastor of Sonora's First Baptist Church, recently attended a "Soil Stewardship" range tour on the George Skeete ranch near Water Valley. They were accompanied by Dr. Leo Merrill and Pat Reardon of the Experiment Station, and E. B. Keng, SCS technician.

CINDERS

By John T. King

Along with their renewal subscription, Glen and Nell Reeves enclosed a picture post card of Lake Spur and the following notation:

"Would like for you to have a picture of our lake in Arkansas. We sure enjoy the Devil."

Notation on the card says "Lake Spur is located four miles south of Mansfield, Ark. off Hwy 71. One hundred and fifty acres of water in the Ouachita Mt. Range. Beautiful scenery, good fishing, water skiing, and swimming. Nice restaurant. Privately owned and operated by Glenn and Nell Reeves."

Wouldn't it be nice to have the Reeves for kinfolks and visit them every weekend!

"You may talk about the Cavalry and sing of the 'Green Beret,' But 'riding Shotgun' for Uncle Sam

Is one heck of a job today".

Unlike the men who worked for Wells Fargo riding shotgun, the men who are familiar with the above rhyme are members of the 25th Aviation Battalion and they ride shotgun for "sky-coaches"—the UH-1 helicopters (Hueys) used in the Viet Nam war.

The volunteers who man the guns not only protect the "stage" from the hostile enemy below but also support U.S. ground forces.

Training is tough, imaginative and necessary, and as realistic as possible. Volunteers sometimes find that their weapons jam in the training flights. But such methods bring out how trainees will react under pressure when an error could be costly.

The quality of these men is reflected in the success they have had in making the helicopter one of the basic tools in the Viet Nam war.

Sign outside a Colorado nursing home: "Drive carefully, grandparents at play."

And an El Paso billboard sign: "Help Beautify Junkyards, Discard Something Lovely Today"

Sign seen recently around Dallas: "We Holler Uncle to All Rain Gods!"

Community Services Scheduled

The Sonora Ministerial Alliance will sponsor a community service on the Courthouse grounds Sunday evening, July 10.

Styled after the Diamond Jubilee Sunday services last year, the gathering will include basket supper, singing, and a religious service.

The Rev. Tom Shipp, pastor of the Lovers Lane Methodist Church of Dallas will be the speaker for the evening and Joe W. Lane will be the song leader.

Details of the gathering are being completed and will be released later, according to the Rev. Rodney Dowdy.

Operation Sparkle To Begin With June Clean-Up Month

Operation Sparkle, much discussed in recent weeks, was advanced to the action stage Tuesday night at a meeting of the Civic Affairs Committee of the Chamber of Commerce when that body, in cooperation with the City, designated the month of June as "Clean-up, fix-up, Paint-up Month" in Sonora.

According to Rollin Polk, chairman of the committee, eventual plans under Operation Sparkle will call for community and club actions on some ambitious projects, "but the first step in beautifying our city is to put our homes and private businesses in top shape, a do-it-yourself project. The committee encourages property owners and tenants to make an all-out effort to improve the appearance of their surroundings as much as possible during this specially designated month."

The committee has designated the first half of the month for clean-up and the last half for fix-up and paint-up. R. M. McCarver, city engineer, has arranged for city trucks to haul away, free of charge, all trash and debris collected during clean-up. He asks only that the trash be placed at the curb where the trucks can get it on days indicated on a schedule to be published later.

In explaining the extent and coverage of Operation Sparkle, Polk pointed out that the clean-up, fix-up, paint-up portion of the program is not confined to private homes, but to vacant houses, vacant lots and private businesses as well. By the end of June, all areas of the city which are the responsibility of an individual should have grass mowed, flower beds cleaned, hedges and trees trimmed broken fences and dilapidated buildings repaired or removed and all weather beaten surfaces repainted. Public areas and properties owned by non-residents are to be handled as a separate matter.

Operation Sparkle is a contest being conducted by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce to encourage all West Texas cities to look their best by 1968 when Texas will experience the greatest inflow of tourist in its history because of the San Antonio HemisFair, the olympics to be held in Mexico City and many national and international conventions which are scheduled to take place in Texas during that year.

INCREASING THE COSTS

In a time of near-full employment and rampaging inflation the House is expected to pass a bill that will increase both unemployment and the cost of living.

House leaders say a bill raising the minimum wage from $1.25 to $1.60 and bringing minimum wage coverage to 7 million more workers will gain approval this week. The bill also covers, for the first time, half a million farm workers whose minimum wage would start at $1 an hour Feb. 1 and increase to $1.30 the next year.

The bill is inadvisable on several counts. The only person paid only a minimum wage in this day of affluence is the marginal worker, usually the unskilled. Increasing the cost of employing such a worker will often result in his losing a job.

An increased minimum wage is the beginning of a wage-price increase spiral. As the minimum wage goes up it forces most other wages up. An employer who pays a dollar an hour above the minimum must continue to do so to attract high-quality workers. To pay for his increased labor costs, he must increase his prices.

Such a vicious cycle only contributes to the never-satisfied appetite of inflation.

Bringing farm workers under the minimum wage will penalize small farmers who cannot afford the cost of expensive machines that have been developed to take the place of human labor. It will also drive prices of food higher.

The bill will contribute to further inflation.

DEVIL'S RIVER PHILOSOPHER SEZ: Permanent Weather Change Predictions Don't Worry Philosopher J. A. One Bit

Editor's note: The Devil's River Philosopher on his bitterweed ranch on Dry Devil's River reports on the weather more or less in his letter this week.

Dear editor:

According to an article in a rain-soaked newspaper which I dried out on a rope on the back porch a while back and am just now getting around to reading because I was tired of having it hit me in the face, a lot of people are wondering if there has been a permanent change in the world's climate.

The article points out that a drought in the U.S. Northeast is the worst in several hundred years; that the worst winter storms in history hit the Midwestern plains this year; that sunny California was hit by floods; Texas was swamped by rains; droughts have hit India, Australia and South Africa; a Siberian-type cold wave invaded Northern England this spring; torrential rains and floods have hit Brazil; a water shortage has developed in the Philippines, etc.

As a result, after looking at all these reports, some people are concluding that the world's climate is undergoing a drastic change and are hunting for scientific reasons to explain it.

People who think that way have been listening to too many weather reports and not spending enough time looking out their windows.

As far as I can tell, drastic changes in the weather have been going on all my life.

A year's weather is about like a session of Congress. You know when it'll start and about when it'll end, but you don't know what's going to happen in between, and trying to calculate this year's action by either one on what happened last year and the years before is the best way I know to get wet and taxed simultaneously when you least expect it.

The other day I saw the long-range weather forecasts for the month of May in two different farm magazines, and one said May around here will be dry, the other said it will be wet.

This convinces me that if a man wants to get at least one accurate forecast he'd better read two magazines.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Paper Furniture Proving Acceptable For Temporary Use

One of the new design concepts in home furnishings is paper furniture.

The paper furniture has been developed with the idea to serve a temporary furnishings need—and then be discarded.

Among designs currently available are chairs for both adults and children, cardboard storage bins for toys and other items and vinyl-processed paper rugs.

Researchers who tested the product interviewed 54 parents who participated in the consumer preference approach to the use of paper furniture. The couples were questioned regarding acceptance of a child's scoop seat made of plyethylene-coated cardboard.

Nearly half the parents agreed that the paper chair looked strong. After handling and testing, more than three-fourths agreed that he chair actually felt strong. More than 70 percent agreed that the design and general appearance of the chair was acceptable.

The parents indicated that the playroom, bedroom and porch were areas where the chair would be used most often.

These new paper furnishings are frequently of a good design and priced low enough that owners do not mind destroying them when they have served their purpose.

FAMILY POT LUCK BY HELEN HALE

Toss a Salad

Easiest salad to make is a tossed green one with whatever you have in the refrigerator: fresh spinach leaves, any of the lettuce varieties, cucumbers, radishes, onions, celery and tomatoes.

Vinegar and oil is the simplest of dressings unless you're using a bottled variety. Vinegar and oil may be varied with one or more herbs, finely chopped hard-cooked eggs, chili sauce, Worcestershire or hot sauce and chili sauce.

Proportions best for vinegar and oil are two to one, two tablespoons of oil to one of vinegar. For the latter, lemon or lime juice may be substituted.

A slightly mixed up salad of whatever you have left may include either leftover vegetables or fruits. Cooked vegetables should be rinsed off to remove a seasoning fat; marinate in French or oil dressing for flavor before tossing.

Add surprise notes to a salad like sliced raw mushroom caps or zucchini just to keep the picture interesting.

Helen's Favorite: Lemon-Honey Dressing (Makes 1 Cup)
1/3 Cup frozen lemonade, undiluted, thawed
1/3 cup honey
1/3 cup salad oil
1 teaspoon celery seed
Blend all ingredients together in bowl with a rotary beater. Serve over fruit salads.

Shrubs and Trees Can Be Shaped To Wall or Trellis

Want something different in your homegrounds landscaping? A tree or large shrub trained to grow on a trellis or wall may be the answer, says Everett Janne, Extension landscape horticulturist at Texas A&M University.

Advanced gardeners may spend years developing a large espalier tree or shrub, but the results are worth the effort, adds Janne. Fruit trees are especially adapted for use as espaliers and many of the ornamental plants with colorful fruit such as the pyraccantha are also very effective, he adds.

The training is started when the plant is very young, preferably a 1-year old whip or at most a 2-year old budded or grafted fruitstock.

Usually the whip is pruned back to within a foot or two of the ground by heading back the main stem. Allow only those side shoots to develop which are growing in the proper position and direction to produce the desired effect. The selected lateral shoots are tied to the trellis or post as they grow and the side shoots developing from them are pinched out except those wanted for additional arms in the framework or for fruiting spurs.

In most cases, espaliers are trained to grow so all branches will form a vertical plane. The plant may be trained to a single shoot, or to two shoots lying in opposite directions, usually horizontal, and is known as a cordon. The cordon, explains Janne, is usually trained along a horizontal wire or low wooden fence.

The espaliered plant requires less room than a free standing plant and is an effective way to screen or protect a wall from the full heat of the sun. The plant can be fastened to a masonry wall but it is better to use a wood trellis to hold the plant 4 to 6 inches from the wall for air circulation and less damage to the plant.

To be effective, a uniform balance of growth must be maintained over the entire plant. This requires constant observation and careful pruning, says Janne. Root pruning, he adds, may be necessary if the plant is growing in unusually fertile soil and controlling the growth of side shoots becomes difficult.

The immediate goal of the American Cancer Society is the annual saving of 285,000 lives or about half those who develop cancer each year. This is the number that could be saved if the cancer was diagnosed early and promptly treated. "That," the Society says, "is why an annual health checkup by a physician is so important."

Believe it or not, several college kids have been home the past couple of weekends. These include Jack Hearn, Carol Hof. Corky Fields, Judy Lancaster, Karen Davis, Cindy Galbreath, Tommy Doc Raye, and Diana Cahill.

Several kids were out of town last weekend. Kaye Ellis was in Menard visiting Juli Callan, Mike Gosney was in Menard, and Gail Espy was in Del Rio. Keith Nolan and Grady Roe were in Mason at the spring prom.

The National Honor Society Initiation was held Wednesday. The new members are Grady Roe, Laney Cook, Prissy Howell, Debbie Galbreath, Mike Gosney, Mike Richardson, Francene Pentecost, and Janice Sutton. Mike Wuest, president of the club, welcomed the new members. Gary McGilvray, Susan Allison, Ray Glasscock, and Anita Bassham told of the meaning of the National Honor Society and the duty of the members. Mr. Morgan administered the oath.

Cary Gay Williams was in Sonora Friday. Al Letsinger was in Menard Saturday.

Has anyone noticed the quiet in the halls of old SHS? You guessed it!!! The seniors were on their senior trip. They went to the dude ranch in Bandera again this year. We all hope that they enjoyed it! Mr. Morgan, Mr. Neal, Mrs. Teaff, Mrs. Shurley and Mrs. Wilson were sponsors for the trip.

THIS WEEK'S Who's Who is a junior boy. He has been very active around school since he was a freshman. As a matter of fact, he is one of the most valuable football boys. He is known around school for his cute personality and his way with superiors!

It is easy to tell that the end of school is close at hand. The annuals arrived last Tuesday. They are really nice this year.

Another sign of school getting out is final exams. The only thing good about finals is the class schedule!

Sue Carson left last Tuesday for Italy. We all wish her the very best of luck and all the happiness she has coming to her.

Warm weather has several of the most inactive people out in the air. Last Sunday, Linda McBride, Genda Delrie, Jackie Cargill, Jane Sawyer, Sue Carson, Brenda McCutchen, and Mrs. Stanley rode bicycles out to the one-mile park for a picnic.

While most of the seniors were gone on their trip, Janice Caveness, Anita Bassham, and Cathy Moffitt were at Six Flags. I'll bet they had fun, too!

Erwin Seydler was in Sonora this weekend visiting Jackie Cargill. By the way, Jackie's cat had six kittens and she is trying to give them away. (That's a hint).

HemisFair's Tower of the Americas Will Boast Revolving Restaurant

Construction of the 622-foot Tower of the Americas at HemisFair 1968 will begin about September 1 and be completed within one year.

HemisFair President Marshall T. Steves pointed out that this would allow use of the tower for several months before the April 6, 1968 opening of the international exposition, which is expected to draw more than seven million visitors.

The bid of the construction company on the tower came in far enough under original estimates to include an underground museum in the base of the concrete structure.

The structure, which will be built out of continuously poured concrete, will have six levels at the top, including one level with a revolving restaurant.

The tower will be 22 feet higher than the Seattle Space Needle, 52 feet higher than the San Jacinto Monument, and 67 feet higher than the Washington Monument.

The restaurant will be located at the 550-foot level. A doughnut-shaped dining floor, which will seat 312 persons, will make one complete revolution each hour. The next level, at 560 feet, will have a private club, with a capacity of 142 persons.

The larger of two observation decks will be at the 579-foot level. Capable of handling 500 people comfortably, it will also have gift shops, concessions and vending machines. The top deck, with a capacity of 340 persons, will be located at 605 feet.

The tower will have three 27-person elevators, which will make the trip from the ground to the top in 35 seconds. Sixty-eight flights of stairs will each have 15 steps.

The low bid will also allow the addition of fountains and pools at the base, large, colored canopies, and carpeting.

Miss Wool of Texas To Be Chosen From 14 Finalists from over State

Fourteen pretty Texas Girls have been selected to compete in Dallas May 23rd for the title of Miss Wool of Texas.

To compete in the 3-day pageant and contest at Dallas' famed Apparel Mart, an initial screening panel selected as finalists the girls pictured.

From the 14 finalists, judges will select a new Miss Wool of Texas to succeed the reigning queen, Janice Archer of Austin.

Although the Pageant is 14 years old, this will be the first time it has been held in Dallas.

Texas Sheep & Goat Raisers' Association will co-sponsor the Pageant with Texas Fashion Creators Association.

The Pageant and contest will be held in the Great Hall of the Apparel Mart starting at 6:30 p.m., Monday, May 23rd. Playing to an anticipated audience of 4,000-5,000 retail store buyers who will be at the Mart for the annual Fall-Winter market, the 14 Miss Wool finalists will model the latest in Texas fashions of wool and mohair.

For the winner there will be an exciting year of touring the state as feature model in department store fashion shows. As Miss Wool of Texas, she will receive a dawn-thru-dusk wardrobe of wool and mohair fashions, completely acces-sorized. She also receives the use of a new convertible during her reign.

As the climax to her fast-paced year, she will compete in the Miss Wool of America Pageant to be held in San Angelo in 1967. In this contest, 20 Miss Wool finalists from the 20 wool producing councils of the nation vie for the coveted title of Miss Wool of America.

Shackling the Accused

His wrists imprisoned in handcuffs, the accused man sat awkwardly at the counsel table. He remained snackled while the witnesses gave their testimony, while the lawyers gave their arguments, and while the jurors gave their verdict: "Guilty."

But when the defendant's lawyer appealed to a higher court, the guilty verdict was thrown out. The court held that, unless there is a special need for it, to shackle a defendant in the courtroom is to deny him justice.

For it is a cornerstone of our legal system that every man must be presumed innocent until proven guilty. And the presumption of innocence may well fade at the sight of handcuffs, silently implying to the jury that "this man is evil."

So repugnant is the use of shackles in court that they are improper not only for the defendant himself but also for his witnesses. Even if a witness is brought straight from jail, he ordinarily must appear unfettered—so the jury will give a fair hearing to his testimony.

Still, shackling of an accused man may occasionally be justified by unusual circumstances in a particular case.

For example: Handcuffing of two defendants was held proper after one of them had assaulted several members of the jury and the other had heaved the witness stand chair at the prosecutor.

In a murder trial, there was good reason to fear that members of the defendant's cutthroat gang were planning to invade the courtroom and snatch him from custody. Here, too, handcuffs were allowed.

As a rule the matter is left to the discretion of the trial judge. But his discretion must not be abused. In another murder case, the judge permitted the defendant to be tried while wearing prison clothing, with "COUNTY JAIL" printed in large letters across the back.

Although the man was found guilty, a higher court decided that the label on his back was as wrong as handcuffs on his wrists. Granting a new trial, the court said: "The presumption of innocence requires the garb of innocence." A public service feature of the American Bar Association and the State Bar of Texas. Snips, Quips, And Lifts

by Mrs. Lottie Lee Baker

Today is my birthday—I'm ONLY sixty-three—
But I'm as sure you recognize that As my name is Lottie Lee.

It is not what we take up, but what we give up, that makes us rich.

When all the world seems gone to pot—
And business is on the bum—
A two-cent grin and a lifted chin,
Help some, my friend—help some!

During the worst days of last summer's heat wave a church in the Midwest placed this item on its bulletin board: "You think it's hot here?"

The hypocrite believes that life is what you fake it.

Who first said: "Of the people, by the people, for the people?"
This familiar phrase is actually 584 years old, and once appeared in the Bible! In John Wycliffe's introduction to his translation of the Bible, published in England in 1382, these words occur: "The Bible is for the government of the people, by the people, for the people."

Even perfect people buy pencils with erasers.

What you prevent, you don't have to correct.

If nobody knows the trouble you've seen, you don't live in a little town.

Experience is the best teacher—it should be—it costs the most.

Some people have no talent for counting calories—and they have the figures to prove it.
LIFT FOR THE WEEK
A year of self-surrender will bring larger blessings than four-score years of selfishness.

SUNDAY'S SERMON

"BELONGING"

We are all concerned with "belonging." We want to feel that we are really a part of the neighborhood and the community in which we live.

No matter how small or how intensified our participation in the social, business and civic activities that surround us, we are unhappy unless we share that comforting attitude of being "at home" in the place where we live.

At the same time, many of us miss out on the real opportunity to share the many benefits that await — not just each Sunday — but every day, in God's House, whether it be the church on the corner or the church by the side of the road.

In the full-time practice of Christianity, there is room for all. There is unity in Christian love; there is brotherhood in the achievement of good works. There is, in the recognition of the goodness of God in every facet of our daily lives, a real sense of "belonging," a real purpose in life.

And, every man is welcome.

Make STRONG COMMUNITIES

Prayer

"Brethren, pray for us."
— 1 Thessalonians 5:25

Prayer need not be elaborate. We pray when we talk to God, silently, thoughtfully — when we present our thoughts, and not just on the occasions that we ask God for something.

Pray not just for the answer to a particular need. If we only turn to God to ask for something, we do not know the power and the purpose of prayer.

Pray for guidance. Pray that others in need be given consideration. Pray for a stronger faith, for yourself, and for others. Pray for a sympathetic and understanding heart. Pray for the power of forgiveness.

Pray with purpose, and not with an extended hand.

Dr. Merrill Finds Forbs and Shrubs Preferred by Deer in Spring Months

by E. B. Keng
Soil Conservation Service
Technician

What range plants are deer taking at the present time? How do deer fit into the stocking pattern in the Edwards Plateau soil conservation district?

With the increased economic returns from hunting, many ranchmen are becoming more interested in deer management as an important source of income. Since deer are grazing animals they must compete with domestic livestock for available forage.

What plants are deer eating now? In an attempt to answer this question, observations were made last week on the Ranch Experiment Station by Dr. Leo Merrill, Pat Reardon and E. B. Keng. One of Dr. Merrill's deferred-rotation pastures—which has been rested except for deer since March 1—was selected. Nearly an inch of rain had fallen the day before, making the ground muddy enough to facilitate tracking of deer.

It should be pointed out that the deferred-rotation pastures on the Experiment Station have a very fine variety of vegetation for deer or livestock to choose from. Deer completely vacate the heavy grazed sheep pastures, and are found on the moderately and lightly grazed pastures where vegetation is better. Observational counts indicate that from 80 to 140 deer per section graze the deferred-rotated pastures.

Observations last week indicate that deer on the rested pasture are grazing primarily on some choice forbs and shrubs, plus a small amount of fall witchgrass, Texas wintergrass and tumblegrass. The deer prefer hackberry, elbowbush, kidneywood and skunkbush sumac, but they are also taking catclaw, pricklyash and shin oak.

Forbs or weeds being taken now include orange zexmenia, sweet gaillardia, gaura, white daisy, and a few others. One area about four feet long by some fresh deer tracks showed grazing on fall witchgrass, orange zexmenia, knotweed leaf-flower, bedstraw, white daisy and sheep sorrel.

Deer grazing was similar on nearby Pasture 14 which has been grazed by deer only for the past 15 years. To illustrate the tremendous variety of growing plants, a fairly complete inventory showed 24 grasses, 24 shrubs, and 75 forbs.

The grazing observations indicate that deer prefer a variety of choice forbs and shrubs at this time. Further observations will be made to note grazing preferences during summer, spring and fall.
