Sonora's Spring Clean-Up Scheduled for April 17-24

Sonora's annual city-wide Spring clean-up campaign will begin April 17, and continue through April 23, according to Bob Johnson, chamber of commerce manager.

City trucks will be cruising the streets of Sonora throughout the campaign to pick up trash and will be on call to pick up trash by calling city hall at 387-2881.

All trash will be picked up by the city except for large rocks and scrap metal.

Johnson named specific items that should be cared for. He said "Homeowners should consider cutting dead limbs from their trees, discarding old lumber and unrepairable lawn furniture and old, unused fences.

He added, "This would be the ideal time for landowners to tear down unused out-buildings since the city will haul away the lumber without charge."

Johnson emphasized that the campaign is more than just a trash collection program. He said

"This is an ideal time to painting, clean-up and fix-up our town to make it a more beautiful place to live and to visit."

"The campaign is just a part of a larger program being conducted in 132 counties by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce," he said.

Our city campaign is just a part of "Operation Sparkle" being carried out by the WTCC to attract tourists," Johnson added.

Texas, in 1968, will be a center for tourist traffic. HemisFair is scheduled in San Antonio and the Olympic Games are scheduled in Mexico City. Other significant events influencing tourism are the meetings of Lions International in Dallas and Rotary International in Mexico City. In addition to these events bringing tourists through the state, one Texas city is being considered as the site for both the Republic and Democratic national conventions.

Johnson said, "Numerous tourists will be passing through and Sonora's appearance is important. The environment where a person finds himself influences his attitude. If the town he is in appeals to him, he may stay for awhile." He added, "No one wants to stop in a place where the city's 'pig pens' are in view."

individuals placed first in the District contest in Odessa Saturday, April 1, followed by Crockett County in second and Pecos County, third.

Rick Street was the high individual of the contest outscoring the high individual in the senior division, 599 to 589 out of a possible 600 points. Patti Richardson placed second, Cora Pope, third and Janet Pope, fourth.

Mrs. Lea Roy Aldwell, office manager of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, said that checks for $137,000 were mailed to local ranchers Monday for wool incentive payments for 1966.

Mohair checks will be mailed in a few days. Since all checks are mailed in plain window envelopes, Mrs. Aldwell cautioned ranchers to pay careful attention to such mail in the coming days.

Rivalry between two towns is mild today compared to what it apparently was in the good old days.

The last issue of the Rockspings Rustler of 1897, which was found in some of our long-forgotten files expressed this caustic rivalry.

In this particular instance the rivalry goes a bit deeper than is obvious by the reproduction. Mention is made of a coming state election in which the publisher of the Rustler is a political foe of Claude Hudspeth, publisher of the Ozona Courier.

In view of this information it appears that the Rustler publisher placed the advertisement in the final issue of his own newspaper at the expense of the good people of Ozona.

Advertisements of the type were not uncommon in that period of American journalism before writers and publishers became more responsible.

We hope our good neighbor, Ozona, takes no offense and finds the clipping as interesting as did the "Devil."

County Bond Sales $2,472 for Feb.

George H. Neill, chairman of the Sutton County Savings Bonds Committee announced today that February sales of United States Savings Bonds in the county totaled $2,472. During the first two months of 1967 sales in Sutton County totaled $6,098 which is 20 per cent of the 1967 goal of $30,000.

During the first two months of 1967 Savings Bond sales in Texas totaled $29,451,247 which is 16 per cent of the state's goal of $181.3 million and a 15.2 per cent increase over sales during the same period of 1966.

Ramos Pleads Guilty To 1963 Murder Here

Robert Ramos, 19, pleaded guilty to charges of murder without malice in the December 1963 shooting of Juan Jose Arrebaldo and was given a five year probated sentence by District Judge, Charles Sherrill of Fort Stockton.

The trial was held in the Crockett County Courthouse in Ozona.

District Attorney, Dixon Mahon prosecuted the case. The case was heard in Ozona on a change of venue from Sutton County.

Ramos who was a juvenile at the time of the offense, has been held in Gatesville training school for the past three years. He was held on a charge of firing a shot at Department of Public Safety patrolman, Joe Wylie, who was stationed here on the night of Arrebaldo's death.

In an advisory meeting between Judge Sherrill Dixon Mahon and the Sutton County Grand Jury last January 16, 1967, Sherrill advised the grand jury of two alternatives in the case.

He advised that they could release Ramos from Gatesville as was recommended by the correctional school or they could try him. The Grand Jury agreed that since Ramos had been indicted he should be tried.

Gatesville school recommended his release on the basis of his behavior and rehabilitation there.

Ramos' conviction stipulates that he cannot return to Sutton County during the period of the sentence.

Incumbents Returned To Office

Sutton County voters returned board of trustees incumbents, L. P. Bloodworth Jr., and Bill Morris to their positions with an overwhelming majority of votes.

Both will begin their third term in office on May 1. Votes polled for the other candidates were Norman Rousselot, 51; Wallas Renfro, 14; Glen Richardson, 75; Mrs. Tommy Thorp, 73; Dick Black, 41; and Lin Hicks, 39.

In the Public Interest

The Texas Legislature is being asked to declare legal the practice of optometry under trade or assumed names and in multiple offices, if the practice is owned by a licensed optometrist, and it should do so.

The effect would be to restore what was the law until the State Board of Optometry adopted a rule prohibiting the practice, and the Texas Supreme Court, reversing the Dallas Court of Civil Appeals, held that the board was within its authority in promulgating the rule.

Five of the six members of the board are members of the Texas Optometric Association which tried unsuccessfully in 1939 and 1953 to get the legislature to forbid the practice of optometry under a trade name.

A rehearing is being sought before the Supreme Court, but if the recent ruling stands, as seems likely, it is quite possible that the cost of eye care and glasses for Texans will increase substantially. Advocates of the pending legislation, House Bill 933 and Senate Bill 423 contend that the increase would be anywhere from 30 percent to 50 percent, without any improvement in optometric care to the public.

There is no doubt at all that permitting licensed optometrists to practice under trade or assumed names and in multiple offices has had the affect of keeping down the cost of eye care and glasses to the people of Texas, and there is no evidence that it has been contrary to the public interest in any way.

The increase in patronage which these practitioners are enjoying is perhaps the best evidence that the public needs and wants this type of service. There is convenience, as well as other benefits, in being served by the same optometric organization when one moves from one Texas city to another or from one neighborhood within a city to another.

Licensed optometrists engaging in this type of practice must meet exactly the same standards, as those who practice in offices under their own names. Advocates of the legislation point out that medical doctors are not prohibited from practicing under a trade name and that, as a matter of fact, some do, there being nothing detrimental to the public in this.

The Post believes that the rule of the state Board of Optometry is not in the public interest and that the Legislature should, by enacting specific legislation, declare to be legal what has been permitted in the past.

Set Back the Clocks

Prepare to move the hands of your timepiece forward one hour on April 30. Otherwise you'll not be in tune with the "times."

Texas, along with virtually all other states, is going on Daylight Saving Time for the summer months and until October 29.

A bill to exempt the state from the federal Uniform Time Act of 1966 (DST) was killed by a 56-90 vote in the House of Representatives.

House members debated the Bill by Rep. Will Smith of Beaumont for more than an hour before rejecting it.

Federal law now requires DST from the last Sunday in April to the last Sunday in October except in those states which pass specific legislative exemptions. So far, only Michigan has voted exemption.

Broadcasters, railroads and airlines opposed the bill. They emphasized the need for uniformity of schedules among states.

Smith argued eloquently—but unsuccessfully—that DST is "an artificial, unnecessary thing."

Operators of theaters, restaurants and farms backed the exemption. Opinions differ as to whether measure.

Opinions differ as to whether Texas, once on DST, can ever get off. Amendments calling for a "trial run" and for a statewide referendum on the issue were resoundingly defeated.

Fire Tested as Brush Control Measure

Researchers at Texas A&M University are studying fire as a brush control method.

Fire probably played an important part in maintaining the grass lands before white man came, says Dr. Jim Dodd, A&M plant ecologist who's heading up the project.

Right now, he is trying to learn how long a certain temperature is needed to kill brush and trees 4 inches in diameter and under.

He is using a gas burner and burning trees at three temperatures: 500, 600 and 800 degrees F.; and three time durations: 30, 60 and 90 seconds.

Dodd says a head fire, one that has the wind behind it, may have a maximum heat intensity of over 1,000 degrees for less than 1 to about 20 seconds. A back fire, one burning into the wind, will have a maximum temperature of about 800 degrees for up to 2 minutes, he says.

As soon as the A&M researchers find out what temperatures and durations it takes to kill various species of brush and trees, they plan to use that information, combined with the weather factors, to determine if burning would be effective on any given day.

Dodd says he plans to do burning on test ranges this fall and winter.

He says brushland burned off in late fall or early winter will actually come back into grass earlier in the spring than land not burned. The reason for this, he explains, is the fire blackens the soil so that it absorbs the sun rays and heats up the soil faster, which speeds germination and regrowth. Of course, burning removes the canopy of foliage and allows the full amount of sunlight to come through, he adds.

With good management, which means proper stocking rates and deferment, the better grasses should come back and tend to crowd out poorer grasses after burning, says Dodd.

He says the brush may sprout back in 3 to 5 years, or maybe even longer. Periodic control work will have to be done to keep any range free of brush, he says.

Burning could be combined with chemicals and mechanical control methods in a long range brush control program, says Dodd. There is not much doubt that burning is the least expensive method of brush control—some people claim it can be done for as little as 5 cents an acre.

Even if burning does prove to be an effective way to control brush, and Dodd believes it will, he says there will be a tremendous barrier in getting people to burn their own land.

The fire-to-control-brush project is part of an overall research proposal to control and eradicate brush being done by Texas A&M University at the request of a group of Texas ranchers.

What people are saying about...
A CLEAN BREAK WITH THE PAST

"I would have nothing but an electric Gold Medallion home," says Mrs. Bob Corkins of Alpine, Texas. "I like the low operating cost," says Mr. Corkins who thinks the electric bill a good value. Kathy, age 5, and Greg, age 10 months, smile contentedly, and that means they like the comfort of total-electric living.

The Corkins' Early Alpine style home has 7 rooms, 2 baths, and a covered patio—2,000 square feet of living space. The only fuel used for all purposes is electricity. It operates a 4-ton heat pump with 15 KW Auxiliary Strip heating, 4-ton refrigerated air conditioner, electric range, washer, dryer, disposal, dishwasher, refrigerator, freezer, two 1.3 KW bath heaters, and Medallion light for living, yet operating cost averages only $38.03 per month—22.8¢ per square foot per year!

The Corkins have been living better electrically since 1959 and are well pleased with it all. "I love electric cooking," Mrs. Corkins says. "It's much better, faster and cleaner." The Corkins especially like the even heat throughout the house, and let the temperature stay at 70° year-round.

The Devil's River Philosopher sez: What Does Hanoi Really Think About?

Editors note: The Devil's River Philosopher on his bitterweed ranch on Dry Devil's River discusses this week. At least we think that's what he's doing.

Dear Editor:

March is always a good month for newspapers to blow in on this bitterweed ranch, or as Shakespeare said, March comes in like a copy of the Sunday paper and goes out like a copy of the Devil, although this isn't to say the former has more influence than the paper, the number of pages in a newspaper doesn't mean it is the most influential, any more than the athlete with the biggest feet is the fastest or the politician who alks he most says he mos.

At any rate, with a steady supply of wind blown papers I've been getting in a lot of reading and I've been noticing a strange expression occurring and re-occurring in all of them. The expression tries to tell us what some city is thinking.

For example, Sec. Rusk will say, "Hanoi thinks such and such" or even "Hanoi says." Somebody else will say "What will Peking think about this?" Or "Moscow will think this is escalation."

You get the drift.

I have thought this over and the more I think about it the odder it sounds. I can't get it in my mind how a city can think. I don't know how many people there are in Hanoi, but there must be some there who don't think like Ho Chi Min says they think, and as a clincher, there must be some there who don't think at all, and even Ho Chi would be hard put to tell me what somebody who hasn't thought, thinks.

The whole thing would be somewhat like telling President Johnson, should he ask, what Sonora thinks.

You could tell him something all right, but unless you talked to everybody in town and they all agreed unanimously, it wouldn't be very accurate. This is not not to imply of course that there's anybody there who doesn't think at all, like in Hanoi.

And besides, by the time you women and one or two men would already have changed their mind.

When somebody tries to tell me what some city is thinking, I back off and try to counter it with what this Bitterweed Ranch is thinking. I usually come up with nothing.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Announcing Buick's new GS-340.
(The minipriced GS-400.)

If you read the papers, you know how great our now-famous GS-400 is. (It's the one in the background.) And you also know you don't get a GS-400 for peanuts. It's a great car. But it's just a little rich for some people. So we set to work and designed the GS-340. It has a smaller engine (but the whole machine weighs less). Its interior is clean and simple and tasteful. And it has its own ornamentation, paint job (see the rally stripe and hood scoops?), and, of course, all the GM safety features. So now you have a car that costs less than the GS-400, but one with its own special brand of excitement. How can you beat that kind of a combination?

MRS. JAMES LEWIS SMITH III
Miss Melinda Mittell, James Smith III
Married in Austin Rites Saturday

Miss Melinda Andrea Mittell became the bride of James Lewis Smith III at 7:30 p.m., Saturday, April 1, at Central Christian Church in Austin.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Ben F. Mittell of Evans and formerly of Sonora, and Mrs. Jessie McIlroy Smith of Austin.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an original formal gown of pearl silk peau de soie, featuring a lightly rounded neckline and natural waistline. Trapunto embroidery with crystal and pearl beading defined the bodice and skirt which fell to a soft A-line. The detachable coat train with self bows at the shoulder and long tapered sleeves fell to chapel length and unfolded from pleats at shoulder height.

Her bouffant veil of illusion fell in tiers from a tiara of crystals and pearls and she carried a bouquet fashioned of white orchids.

Mrs. Marilyn Mangum of Beaumont, sister of the bride, was matron of honor.

Following a wedding trip to Mexico, the couple will reside in San Antonio.

Try a few tangelos this week when you shop for fruit. Shoppers who bought them in the past liked them so well that growers were encouraged to plant them in large groves to meet the demand. A Parson's Eye View of Sonora

by the Rev. Ross T. Welch
Have you noticed how the automobile manufacturers switch from one color to another to make last year's models appear out of date?

The 'in' color at the moment—obviously is a sort of metallic gold or tan. There are variations in shades, but in THE color. New cars on the billboards and in the magazines are in this color. But the place it is most noticeable is on a large parking lot in the city. This is not intended to make anyone self-conscious about the color of his automobile, but it is a pretty obvious bit of strategy.

A few years ago the 'in' color was white. Where hot weather predominates, I think this is a good color; so I shall continue to drive my off-white chariot for awhile—if possible.

I spent an interesting afternoon recently in the play-house of O.G. Babcock, retired entomologist, who spent many years before his retirement at the A & M University Experiment Station.

One might think that a man who had specialized in entomology would be interested only in insects especially as they relate to the health of human beings. But this is not true of Mr. Babcock. His interests are varied.

He is keenly interested in plant life. He recently discovered and reported a very rare specimen found on a ranch near Rocksprings. He knows the correct names for the many varieties of plants growing in his own yard.

But this is not all. He also has a keen interest in geology, dating back no doubt to his college years when he earned his money to go to school by working underground in a mine during the summers.

He has an extensive collection of ores and fossils and petrified woods. I did not ask him his age. There is no denying the fact that he has lived a number of years, but his avid interest in the world about and beneath him has not dimmed.

In fact I was amazed as we looked at drawer after drawer of unusual specimens, at the number he could identify at a glance as coming from a certain spot he had visited on his extensive travels around the U.S.A. and to visit his daughter in Africa.

As many times as he has examined his specimens, he still likes to place them under the discriminating eye of his well-used microscope to detect the print of a tiny leaf or the admixture of various ores.

An afternoon in O. G. Babcock's play house convinced me that old age can be an interesting period of life if one maintains his zest for learning and his thrill at discovering new things.

The young girls of the community whose brothers of comparable age are playing Little League, or will be soon, have a legitimate gripe. Nothing has been provided for the girls.

The girls who like to play ball have been hounding (directly) their teachers and (indirectly) me for weeks to get a softball league for girls organized. They want this to pre-date the summer recreation just as Little League does.

They might keep in mind that one of the serious objections that has been raised against Little League is that it starts too early and interferes with the school program. Do we have some volunteers to start working with the girls? I think league play—if such there be—should be postponed until school closes.

All work with no play may make Jack a dull boy; but too much play during school sessions is apt to have the same effect.

Some of us are inclined to shrug off the alarming number of auto-

I sincerely appreciate the cards, flowers, gifts, and visits of friends while I was in the hospital. Especially appreciated were the faithful and kind services of Dr. Browne and all the nurses. May God bless each and every one of you.

mobile accidents that occur on the highways until they begin to strike close to home.

That, we are told, is exactly what happened to a sister of the Rev. George Stewart who resides in Austin. An automobile out of control plunged into the side of her home. George went down to help set things in order.

A surprising number of voters turned out for last Saturday's Sonora Independent School District trustee election. Nearly every candidate on the ballot received enough votes to have elected him in some previous trustee elections.

It turned out to be a vote of confidence in men who now make up the School Board. Most of the voting citizens seem to feel that they have done and will continue to do a good job.

From the number of cars parked around the Baptist Church at both services Sunday, the Revival must have gotten off to a good start. We hope the interest will continue to build and carry over into next week. After all, I doubt if the Holy Spirit is any respecter of denominations.

It is a nice experience to have your wife's step-mother come for a visit. She is a pleasant visitor, but is not inclined to tell you how you ought to manage your affairs. Mrs. R. N. Cotten of Lampasas is here this week.

I suppose my chances for staying alive must be getting risky. I have carried my GI Insurance as term insurance since World War II. Up to the present, I have boasted that this was very cheap insurance. But I just received my notice of what premiums will look like the next five years, and it almost gave me heart failure.

If that had happened, Uncle would not have collected any of those high priced premiums. But after twenty-three years of payments, one hates to let his insurance lapse.

MRS. RONNIE COX

Alice Lee Duncan, Ronnie Cox Wed In Methodist Double Ring Ceremony

Miss Alice Lee Duncan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Earl Duncan, and Ronald Joe Cox, were married Saturday, April 1, in the First Methodist Church at 4 p.m. The Rev. Ross T. Welch officiated at the ceremony. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gerald Cox of Midland.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, Miss Nancy Prugel of Ft. Collins, was the maid of honor and Miss Vicki Nicholas, cousin of the bride, of Houston, was the bridesmaid. Both attendants carried a long-stemmed pink rose.

The bride's gown was white crepe with Irish lace yoke and wrist length bell sleeves. The simulated train was accented by a bow at the yoke. The bride's veil was white elbow length illusion attached to a Dior bow. She carried a white Bible, a childhood treasure, and the flowers attached to the bible were pink rose buds and stephanotis. For the traditional "something old" the bride had a sixpence in her shoe. And for "something blue" she wore a blue garter designed by her mother. Mrs. James Wilson was the organist.

Candlelighters were Jane Coconougher of Lubbock and Nicky Nicholas of Houston.

Mark Ballard of Hearn was best man and Reams Cox, brother of the groom, of Midland, served as groomsmen. Ushers were Larry Bob Moore of Abilene, Richard Davis of Lamesa, Charles Herzfeld of Wichita Falls, and Neal Blackstone of Austin.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the Fellowship Hall of the church. The bride's table was laid with a white linen appliqued cloth. Tall candelabra with pink candles were used on the table and smilax with white mums were entwined on the candelabra and down the table. The three-tiered wedding cake was topped with hand-blown crystal bells.

Mrs. J. F. Howell and Mrs. Leonard Wright served the cake and Mrs. Jack G. West and Mrs.

SUNDAY'S SERMON

COMPLAINTS

You've probably heard the story about the child who never spoke a word until he was ten years old and then complained to his mother about the breakfast toast being slightly burned. The child hadn't spoken before, he told his parents, because "everything had been fine until this morning."

Perhaps we adults, or most of us, are often indifferent to what goes on around us until we are personally discomforted. We're quick, usually, to speak out when some action or proposal is likely to work against us. But, what about all the times we adopt a "let the world go by" attitude when a neighbor's ox is being gored rather than our own?

We are not in the business of being our brother's keeper every day of our lives, it's true. Yet, sometimes, do we not acquiesce by silence when a spoken word or two might help prevent an injustice to someone else?

We do not "complain" when we speak out for justice or in defense of someone's personal rights or privileges. We do only what we hope others will do for us were the shoe upon our own foot.

Deer & Cow Forage Competition Studied

If you're seeking somebody with a fixation for farming and a mania for management, then George Veteto could be your man.

A biologist with the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department on the Area, Veteto is presently engrossed in two studies that are appealing to landowners as well as wildlife people.

Both projects are aimed at the sportsman, a double-barreled effort, so to speak.

One inquiry is to determine the competition for available forage between cross-bred cattle and wild deer.

Veteto is moving into deer and cattle economies and production, making vegetation surveys and the effects of both deer and cattle on various types, and studying the feeding habits of both.

His findings thus far show that the two live compatibly together with a minimum of competition, provided cattle are properly stocked and the deer harvest is properly managed.

The second study involves duplication of patch farming, as done in some of eastern Texas, to determine its value to bobwhite quail. This is an involved project including some carefully controlled burning on selected sites. Veteto has already noted a marked advantage in quail production on farmed acres and burning as versus improved pasture and wood land-type habitat conditions.

Some grease stains are nearly impossible to remove from durable press fabrics, say clothing specialists. For best results, apply a concentrated solution of detergent directly to the grease stain. Allow this to "work" for several hours before washing the entire garment. Persistent grease stains may require pretreating with a solvent or a commercial stain remover.

Teen Scene

by Margaret Bundy

Sonora is just about to finish the district UIL competition. The ready-writers traveled to Rankin Thursday, but the results of the contest have not yet been released. The district one-act play contest was held in Eldorado Friday. We're sorry to say that Sonora didn't place.

We are very happy that Cindy Lambert received the Best Actress award and Margaret Bundy was named to the All-Star Cast.

The district track meet will be held in Ozona Friday. The last contest, the individual speech, spelling, typing and mathematics events will be held in Sonora Saturday. Let's hope we have lots of winners!

Victor Shoeneoff, from Lubbock, was in town Saturday and Sunday to see Gail Espy.

Laney Cook plans to go to Waco Saturday to watch a ball game.

Sonora participated in the Iraan track meet last weekend. The Eranos placed third in the tournament.

Several college kids have been home during their college spring break. Among these are Peggy Lynn Grobe, Bill Elliott, Gary McGilvray, Dick McMilland, Larry Bob Moore, and Irene Davis.

WHO'S WHO . . . senior girl, blond, has held several offices.

Bobby Jo Harlin and Dickie Winters were down from San Angelo Friday night to see Gail Espy and Kuri Eustace.

An old SHS student, Sue Middleton Carson, arrived in Sonora Monday night. She has been living in Italy for the past year. Welcome home, Sue.

I've finally gotten another picture for Teen Scene. This one came all the way across the United States. The mystery person is a senior girl. She is pretty popular with the kids around here and has held several offices of honor in SHS. She has dark blond hair, wears glasses and stands about five feet and five inches tall. Guess who it is!

April Scheduled As Crusade Month

Research into the causes and treatment of cancer will once more take the major share of funds raised in this year's crusade against cancer in Texas. The annual fund-raising drive, which has a goal of $2 million, will be conducted in every community in the state, along with a massive volunteer effort to distribute life-saving cancer information pamphlets and to carry out the first cancer education survey.

Dr. Charles F. Browne, crusade chairman for Sutton County, has announced that this year's crusade will be conducted throughout April.

A total of 31 percent of funds raised last year in the crusade—$597,911—is being spent for research this year.

The second major allocation of funds was 23 percent to public education. This $27,805 supplied free films, pamphlets, exhibits and posters for all Texans through school, church and civic groups and on display at shopping centers and convention sites.
