Over 900 School Students Return For Fall Semester September 5

Summer vacation will end for about 913 Sonora school students Tuesday, September 5, when classes resume for the 1967-1968 school year.

Teachers in the system will return to work August 31, for a two-day teachers' workshop in preparation for the new term. They will observe the Labor Day holiday, September 2-4.

Prior to the start of school the football team and band will begin work-outs August 14. In preparation for the coming football season, the Sonora coaching staff is presently attending a coaching school in San Antonio.

Members of the Student Council are also attending a meeting of their organization.

Driver Education

The driver education program which is now in progress at the school has received new instructions in regard to regulations governing driver education. Because of the short period of time remaining before the new law changing the minimum age of legal drivers to 16 goes into effect, the course has been shortened according to superintendent of schools, Ralph Finklea.

The new instructions, Finklea said, cut the period of time required for observation and behind-the-wheel driving instruction to six days. Students were previously required to spend a minimum of 12 days in that phase of instruction.

Finklea said, "The new regulations will allow us to finish our program a little ahead of the scheduled time."

The new instructions also prohibit the start of a new course in driver education after August 14. The new minimum age law goes into effect August 28.

Season Tickets
Season football tickets will go on sale approximately September 1, Finklea said. He added that the tickets have been ordered and are expected to arrive here at that time.

Cost will be $1.25 per game and will be available in the superintendent's office. The Broncos will play five home games, Finklea said.

CINDERS

by Jim Barnett

The 60th Congress of Texas recently passed a measure setting up a new state agency: the Institute of Texan Culture.

The proposal was made by R. Henderson Shuffler to the House Appropriations Committee, who said, "Texas is truly made up of diverse peoples who came here to build a better life; not the bumpkins in buckskin who brawled across the frontier or the 'wheeler-dealers' who fell into a barrel of oil and came out smelling like a millionaire, like the popular media would like us to believe."

He said that most of the people at the Alamo were Englishmen except for those from Tennessee and only two native Texans were signers of the Texas Declaration of Independence, one of Mexican ancestry and one the son of a Corsican.

Even the Capitol Building in Austin was built by immigrants.

The building itself is built in the shape of a Greek cross and was designed by a German backed by an English syndicate. The stonecutters were imported from Scotland and the laborers were Irish. Much of the ornamental scrollwork was designed and crafted by Czechoslovakians.

They say that 90 percent of the statuary on the Capitol grounds was done by a Texan of Italian birth. Statues in the rotunda were done by a German-Texan born in Austria.

No one knows for sure who created the Goddess of Liberty at the top of the dome but popular belief attributes it to a Belgian.

The people of Texas will have an opportunity to see part of the heritage of the many cultures of Texas in the Institute's exhibition at HemisFair 1968 when it begins next April.

The exhibition will try to tell the truth of the many people that have enriched the state during its history. In this particular instance, the truth is more fascinating than the fiction.

After discharge he worked for the American Red Cross in Germany. He is a qualified flight instructor and has worked as a charter pilot.

DESERT AND MOUNTAIN FLOWERS BLOOMING

Area Soil Conservation Service Men "Botanize" Big Bend National Park

"If you have been considering a trip to the Big Bend National Park now is the time to take it," advises E. B. Keng, Soil Conservation Service, who has just returned from a three day "botanizing" trip to the Park.

"Abundant rainfall during the past few weeks has turned the Park into a huge flower garden of native plants," Keng added.

Striking blossoms of yellow rock-trumpet, scarlet trompetillo, pentstemon, and many other flowers are abundant at the higher elevations. These are accompanied by such interesting and beautiful shrubs as the pink-barked Texas Madrone, drooping juniper, pinon pine, and several species of oaks.

In the "desert" portion of the park one finds the yellow flowered paperflower and desert baileya, the white tubular flowered plateau rock-trumpet, and many others. Desert willow, silver dalea and a host of other shrubs were blooming.

Grasses are abundant and green throughout the park. Many forms of petaya, cholla cactus, and several kinds of pricklypears and yucca are found. Century plants are abundant and are blooming now.

The Park affords a wonderful opportunity for the study of native vegetation under many conditions of soils, altitude and rainfall. Some 15 Soil Conservation Service range technicians from the San Angelo area made a three-day camping trip to the Park during the past weekend to study the lush vegetation. Over 200 kinds of plants were observed and identified.

The Park varies in altitude from less than 2,000 feet to almost 8,000 feet elevation. Vegetation varies from the kind found in true deserts to the alpine types. The Basin, or camping area, is some 5,500 feet above sea level, and is a natural bowl surrounded by craggy peaks of rocks. Both motel type accommodations and camping areas are available to tourists.

The Park is unexcelled in interest for "rockhounds" or geology students. An unbelievable variety of geologic formations are present. Highly colored formations and individual rocks are found throughout the Park. Two outstanding attractions are St. Elena and Boquillas canyons, where the Rio Grande has cut narrow gorges some 2000 feet deep through solid rock.

Local SCS personnel participating in the training trip included Mike Smith and Keng. Joe Friess, SCS range conservationist now stationed at San Angelo, also made the trip.

Regular Season Play of 18 Games.

In the close, 3-1, game with Crane, Sonora batters were able to get only two hits against the tough Crane pitcher. Both Ruben Samaniego and Mark Rousselot got hits for Sonora.

The last six Sonora batters were struck out by the Crane hurler.

Sonora defeated the Ozona Stars in their first post-season game, 8-2 after a late Ozona rally was quickly quenched. All-Star manager, Norman Rousselot attributed that win to the strong batting and defensive play of the team. Freddy Virgen and Ruben Samaniego hit home runs in the game.

Against Big Lake, the Sonora All-Stars went 10-innings before driving the winning run across. Jesus Solis put the run across late in the game. Sonora got a total of 14 hits.

A Struggle Against Imperialism

The mass protests against United States involvement in the Vietnamese war, which drew 125,000 people to New York and some 50,000 to San Francisco recently, stirred debate concerning the purpose of the peace movement, the character of the participants and the effect of their actions on the course of the war in which this country is now engaged.

In the first place, there seems little doubt the general effect of peace activities is to prolong and intensify the war in Viet Nam. Such demonstrations are reported as a matter of news in the U. S. press as well as by news media throughout the world. Not understanding the workings of a free press, the daily newspaper in Hanoi, the official government voice, has observed, "The thunder of protest is rumbling from one (U. S.) city to another . . . This clearly shows that the movement against the aggressive war in Viet Nam has become a mass movement which is drawing millions of people into a resolute struggle. It really has become a second front against U. S. imperialism right on U. S. soil."

Although few in numbers, there is apparently no question but what communist party members have provided much of the leadership for the hard core anti-Viet Nam campaign. The vast majority of the participants in the movement are not communist and are either ideologically ignorant or determined to ignore the character of their associates. Communism, whether it is Russian, Chinese or North Vietnamese has a common interest in preventing military or political victory against its objectives in southeast Asia. Russian interest in an early end to the war has been lessened by Chinese agreements to permit free passage through Chinese territory of Russian arms and supplies destined for North Viet Nam. This has assured the military ability of Hanoi to continue the war and lessened the danger of Russian shipping running head on into the U. S. Navy should a coastal blockade be established. As a result of this new flow of military assistance and the false encouragement which Hanoi has gained from peace protests in the United States, any realistic hope of ending the war this year is gone.

It now seems clear that the communist purpose in prolonging the war is to extend the conflict if possible into the election season of 1968 on the theory that this would afford greater opportunity to wring concessions from the Johnson Administration. But, as many authorities point out, there could be an opposite reaction—U. S. escalation of the war compelled by the fact that any settlement resulting in U. S. political or military retreat in southeast Asia would destroy American prestige and influence in that area of the world and be rejected by the vast majority of people in the United States. It appears that North Viet Nam, as well as our peace marchers in this country, have become pawns at this stage in history to be used at will by the strategists of international communism in their long term struggle to triumph over the civilization and democratic philosophies of the Western nations, most notably the United States.

This struggle, focused now in Viet Nam, comes against the backdrop of genuine American success in Asia. Since World War II, this country's capital and guidance have resulted in the redevelopment of Japan, soon to rank third in industrial power and now established as a stabilizing force in a large part of Asia. Taiwan is a self-supporting nation prospering and running its own affairs. Thailand, a strong U. S. ally, has the way open to move ahead. Even India, still spinning its wheels and resisting change, may yet have to take hold of its problems and help itself. The American record in Asia should be more generally recognized. Stabilization of Viet Nam would open the door to real Asian progress, and there is no question but that the tactics and the timing of the U. S. presence in that country holds vast import for hundreds of millions of Asian people.

The Devil's River Philosopher sez: Fifteen Billion Man-Hours Wasted On Games and Sports in U. S. Alone

Editor's note: The Devil's River Philosopher on his bitterweed ranch on Dry Devil's River discusses fishing this week, we suppose.

Dear editor:
 I was fishing the other afternoon and thought I'd hooked a good one, even when it broke the surface glistening in the sunshine. Looked like at least a three-pound gaspergou, but when I got it to the bank I discovered it was only a copy of The Morning News and I lost my bait besides. There are days like that.

I re-baited and let the paper dry out an looked it over and ran into an article that made me forget all about my cork.

According to it, science is moving in on fishing. It's working on a system where you ride along in a boat, locate a school of fish by radar, then pull them in with a vacuum-cleaner-type suction pipe. In thirty minutes a man can have a boat full and be back on the job on his tractor or his office or where ever he works.

I estimate this will save 15 million man-hours of fishing a year, and it got me to thinking of other areas.

Take golf. As I understand it, from what I've seen on television when no western was on, the object of the game is to sink a ball in a minimum number of strokes, but like it is you drive

After an uneventful flight from San Antonio to New York, we walked around downtown awhile before we retired.

We visited the cloisters at the top of the Island, started back on the wrong level and walked miles before we came to a subway entrance.

We saw New York by night from the top of the Empire State Building. We saw both ends of Fifth Avenue—the far end is in Greenwich Village. We have found the subway by far the fastest way to travel.

We have eaten at several interesting places, but being Texans—we lean toward the steak places.

In an hour and a half they will page us to go via the airport limousine to Kennedy Airport, where we shall meet the other members of our tour and board a KLM Dutch airliner to Amsterdam.

So far so good!
 My "friends" predicted it would rain as soon as I left town—I hope they are right!

Happy Birthday—Joe Logan!

STATE Capital NEWS
 By VERN SANFORD

AUSTIN, State Supreme Court has ruled that the constitutional amendment requiring annual voter registration in Texas is valid.

AFL-CIO challenged the amendment. They contended that voters did not get "fair notice" that the amendment provided for annual registration.

State labor officials pledged to take the issue to the highest federal court.

State Supreme Court agreed with ruling of the Third Court of Civil Appeals that the Amendment—approved by Texans last year—to abolish the poll tax as a requirement for voting and substitute annual sign-up should stand. There was no opinion. Appellate judges had reversed the trial court finding.

Austin District Judge Herman Jones agreed that the full purpose of the amendment was not adequately described in the proposition on the ballot. It stated only that the poll tax would be knocked out as a voting requirement.

Last April Court of Civil Appeals said it was unlikely any voter, in view of widespread publicity given the issue, failed to understand what he was voting on.

Roy Evans, secretary-treasurer of Texas AFL-CIO, said the State Supreme Court will be asked for a rehearing. If that is rejected, a hearing will be requested before the U. S. Supreme Court.

Meanwhile, Texas election machinery and voter registration for the big 1968 election year will proceed under annual sign-up law as amended this year. All voters, including those who live in cities under 10,000 population, must register between October and January.

ATTORNEY GENERAL RULES—Oil and gas produced on federal land at Corpus Christi Naval Air Station are subject to state production and pipeline taxes (except for 16 2-3 percent payable as royalty to the U. S.), Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin has held.

In another opinion, Martin has concluded that:

If a county commissioner is a director and stockholder in a bank desiring to receive bond issue funds, the county commissioners court does not have authority to designate that bank as a county depository.

WELFARE—An audit of the State Department of Public Welfare reveals that $461,000,000 in federal and state money was used in Texas during the two years ending last August 31 on welfare programs.

Rate was $120,000,000 last year, of which $168,620,302 was in direct grants to the needy aged, blind, children and disabled, plus $41,431,797 for medical care for the needy aged. While aid to dependent children and those who are permanently disabled continues to rise, training programs are reducing the amount of aid needed by blind persons.

Distribution of surplus commodities also is handled by this department. In two years, 45,000,000 pounds of flour, 19,000,000 pounds of corn meal and 17,000,000 pounds of dry milk were distributed to needy families from federal surpluses. However, the amount distributed is declining as the government stockpiles are used up and high employment is reducing the number of needy families.

Payroll and other administrative costs for giving away $215,000,000 came to $12,708,278.

SCREWORM REPORT—Between May 28 and July 1, some 19 cases of screwworms were confirmed in Texas.

To prevent spread of the disease, Screwworm Eradication Program planes recently released 757,780,000 sterile screwworm flies in Texas. Some 106,144,000 were dropped over Trans-Pecos and the Valley portions of Texas.

Red Means Wrong On Texas Highways

Red means WRONG. That is, red means wrong on Texas freeways. The Texas Highway Department has installed red reflectors on many Interstate and other controlled access highways to warn drivers that they are going the wrong way.

A broken red line of reflectors indicates to the driver that he is traveling the wrong way on the freeway. A red arrow pointing at the driver from the pavement as he begins to enter a freeway ramp indicates that he is entering the wrong way.

These reflectors, in extensive use for about a year, are made of acrylic plastic—red on one side and white on the other. A driver going in the right direction sees the white side. A wrong-way driver sees the red. So red means "wrong way."

Thousands of these markers have been installed on such high-volume traffic highways as Interstate Highway 10 through Houston and Interstate Highway 35 through Austin, as well as on many others in the state.

Research Service Finds Fabric Uses

What's new to wear? Disposable dresses...leather dresses...vinyl bikinis... garments of "chameleon cloth" that can be given a second set of colors when the owner gets tired of the first set.

Just as exciting are the new things being done to those long-time favorites, cotton and wool, says Kay Hunter, Extension clothing specialist with Texas A&M University.

Many of the new "faces" you see on these familiar fabrics are results of research by the U. S. Department of Agriculture—the development of chemical finishes to make these fabrics easier to care for, more comfortable, attractive, and durable.

A new process for treating wool, called "Wurlan," is used by industry to make woven and knit wool garments that can be machine washed without shrinking or matting.

A USDA—developed process for tanning leather makes it possible to launder leather garments without affecting their softness and beauty and opens up many new possibilities for the use of leather in wearing apparel.

Now under development are light-weight wool-cotton blends that resist shrinkage and wrinkles and hold a crease. They are wash-and-wear and, in tests, shirts laundered and tumble-dried more than a dozen times looked as smoothly pressed as when new.

Savings Bond Sales Amount to $1,254

This is an increase of 8.6 per cent during the same period last year.

YOUR MINISTER SAYS

by Rev. Arno H. Melz
"I will praise Thee, for I am fearfully and wonderfully made, marvelous are Thy works, and that my soul knoweth right well". Psalms 139:14

As the summer passes the half-way mark, the summer slump in church attendance is much in evidence. People on vacations are often having such an exciting time they do not want to share an hour each week with God. The people who stay home are either too tired, too hot, or disappointed because they did not get a vacation, so they do not go to church. There are many excuses given for lack of interest in God's work, but really only one reason, a lack of appreciation.

Anyone who counts his blessings daily will seek the opportunity to worship God publicly and privately. David reminds us of one of the greatest blessings, saying I am fearfully and wonderfully made. Our body warns us when it is hungry, tired, or sick. It mends itself when we break a bone or have surgery. Even the center of our life, the heart, will repair itself with rest and care.

With all the modern automatic cameras on sale today, not one will compare with the human eye. God has given us ears to hear and a tongue to talk so we can communicate with others. He has asked us to use this communication system to tell others about Jesus, their Savior. These are only a few of the wonders of our body, not to mention our arms, legs, feet, emotions, taste and sense of smell.

As we count our blessings, certainly we can join David in praising God for our wonderful body. This praise should be given in the Summer, Winter, Spring and Fall. It should be given daily in our private worship and weekly in our public worship. Give God thanks today because you are wonderfully made. Amen!

The Signature of Our Son

Under a certain degree of duress, he has now signed his first legal document. And, though he doesn't look much different from all of his tiny neighbors in the nursery, the world knows WHO he is.

But the world cannot know—nor can we, his parents—WHAT he will become!

A man of character—loyal, trustworthy, courageous? A leader—strong, capable, resolute? A friend to many—kind, unselfish, understanding?

Identification is so easy to establish. But character is the product of careful moral and spiritual training. The religious atmosphere of our home, the earnest participation of our family in the worship and life of the Church—these will determine our son's destiny . . . the path in which his footprints will be known.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake, (2) For his children's sake, (3) For the sake of his community and nation, (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Fourteen Sutton County Stockmen Named Regular Directors of TSGRA

Fourteen Sutton County stockmen were elected regular directors of the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers' Association at the 52d annual TS&GRA convention in San Antonio. They are Robert Pfluger, Lea Allison, James T. Hunt, W. R. Cusenbary, Edwin Sawyer, Stanton Bundy Jr., W. B. McMillan, R. A. Halbert, Armer Earwood, Jimmie Rieck, Bill Morris, Norman Rousselot, Buddy Mayer and Dr. Joe David Ross.

Three Sutton County ranchmen, as past presidents, are permanent members of the board. They are Fred T. Earwood, Bryan Hunt and Vestal Askew.

In the business portion of the meeting, ranchers were told much tighter restrictions are likely to come against use of Texas underground water as competition for this water increases.

Frank Booth, executive director of the Texas Water Rights Commission, said stockmen and farmers cannot be complacent that they will always enjoy in the future the same unrestricted rights they have today to the use of water under their land. Oil companies, industry and municipalities all want the same water. Some curbing of present-day rights is almost certain. Landowners must be vigilant in the Legislature to keep their share, Booth warned.

The association elected Worth Durham of Sterling City its new president, succeeding Howard Derrick of Eldorado. Gene Whitehead of Menard and Jimmie Rieck of Roosevelt are the new first and second vice presidents, respectively.

A South African mohair expert told Texans they need a drastic improvement in the manner in which they package and sell their mohair if Texas mohair is to survive. Dr. C. C. Kritzing said the Texas one-price system is archaic, ignores the needs of the market and discourages improvement of the clip.

1040 U.S. Individual Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q— We had to sacrifice some of our furniture for practically nothing when we moved. Can we deduct this loss?
 A— No. The law does not allow losses on the sale of personal property to be deductible.

Q— I'm a student and am banking my summer earnings. The bank wants my tax account number. What is that?
 A— This is your Social Security number. The law requires financial institutions to ask the depositor for his number and to use it when reporting to IRS the interest payments on all savings accounts earning $10 or more during the calendar year.

Q— Will I get any "tax breaks" when I reach 65?
 A— Yes, there are several changes which could reduce your Federal tax liability. You are entitled to an additional $600 exemption when you become 65 and you may be entitled to a retirement income credit.

"Tax Benefits for Older Americans," IRS Document No. 5569, describes these and other benefits for persons 65 and over. A free copy may be obtained by sending a post card to your IRS District Director.

Q— I paid a lawyer to fight a speeding ticket I got. Are his fees deductible?
 A— No, legal fees for this purpose are considered a personal expense and not deductible.

OUTDOORS IN TEXAS

By Vern Sanford
 Some fads remain fads. They're here today and gone tomorrow like the hula hoop. Just fads—That's All.

Other fads, however, outwear the "fad-dish" tags and become true sports.

Surfing started as a fad on the Texas coast a little over a year ago. It has since snuck the fad tag and become an honest to goodness outdoor sport.

Although most surfers are teenagers, the sport isn't strictly reserved for the young. It appears a teen-ager sport since whenever big crowds of surfers gather, the young outnumber the older folks about 10 to one.

But get away from the crowd, or as they say "where the action is," and you'll find a lot of older folks riding the boards. They're all up and down Texas beaches.

You even see a certain amount of surfing on inland lakes in the form of "riding the wakes." This is nothing more than riding the wave created by a large slow moving powerboat. As long as the hull remains displacement and throws up a wake, you can ride the board. However, such a wake vanishes if the boat operator speeds up the craft enough to get it on plane.

But back to surfing on Gulf of Mexico waves. It doesn't compare with the surfing you'll find in Hawaii or on the Pacific Coast where breaking waves are of huge size.

You won't get quarter-mile long rides on Gulf waves as do the folks in Hawaii and the Pacific Coast. Gulf Coast breakers will run three to four feet in size as compared with Hawaii's eight to 12 footers.

Even so the Gulf waves are big enough to sustain exciting rides of about 100 yards.

On summer days it's common to see several thousand surfers riding the waves in front of the Seawall at Galveston. Dead of winter doesn't stop them either. If the waves are there you'll find several hundred hardy souls out riding the boards. Their protection against the weather and cold will be wet suits.

This sport has blossomed to the extent that surfboards now are standard items in sporting goods stores. One Houston concern—Nil's Products Co.—had turned to making boards specifically designed to give maximum rides on the small waves typical of the Texas coast.

Called the Gulf-Flite board and due to a change in materials used, it averaged about 15 pounds less than other boards. Cutting down the weight has in no way sacrificed any strength.

Surfing on the Texas coast is also leading to competition. Most of the competition to-date has been between clubs from various cities. But there's already talk about state and regional meets.

Since its advent on the Texas coast, the surfboard has found an additional use other than surfing. Some fishermen are using them to get to out of the way places on placid water.

FROM ORANGE TO EL PASO Completed Construction on Interstate Highway 10 Now Totals Over 334 Miles

Eighty-seven new miles of Interstate highways were completed to full freeway standards during the second quarter of 1967, the Texas Highway Department reported today.

On July 1, a total of 1,615 miles was complete to full Interstate standards. This compares with 1,528 miles under rubber on April 1 of this year.

At midyear, three-fourths of the 3,028-mile Interstate network in the State was completed to full Interstate standards, under construction or fully adequate to accommodate present traffic volumes.

When the national 41,000 mile Interstate network is finished in the early 1970's, Texas will have more miles of Interstate than any other State.

Interstate Highway 10, now under construction in Sutton County, will extend from Orange, on the Louisiana border, to El Paso. The route will be 878 miles in length when completed. Thus far 334 miles have been completed in compliance with interstate highway standards. Another 334 miles are now under construction in the state with over 12 miles under construction locally.

1,239,455 Horses

Chee Keams rides herd on 30,500 horses. Iron horses.

An operator at an El Paso Natural Gas Company compressor station, Chee assures that the mammoth engines of his station are constantly at their best. Fuel combustion must be excellent; oil must flow to all parts; pressures must be maintained; operating temperatures are precisely controlled.

Chee's station is one of 130 on the El Paso Natural system. Chee's station has 30,500 horsepower; the 130, in total, are rated at 1,239,455 horsepower.

One of many Navajos who work with El Paso to serve the West, Chee is dedicated and skillful. His high competency along with that of the other 5,400 employees of El Paso Natural—who specialize in fields ranging from electronics through aviation to mechanics—is among the reasons that the West has assured supplies of natural gas.

Lakes to Provide Amistad with Fish

Extensive fishery surveys just completed by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department indicate fish life in the new Amistad Reservoir on the Rio Grande will get off to a flying start.

Abundant desirable game fish were found in upstream reservoirs that will be inundated by the mammoth impoundment.

Significantly the recent fishery surveys also reversed previous fishery decisions calling for selective chemical renovation in Lake Walk and Devil's Lake on the Devil's River.

George Henderson, fishery biologist in charge of the survey project, determined that the two lakes support many more desirable game fish than previously assumed.

These fish, he said, can serve as brood fish in Amistad when water levels rise and inundate Lake Walk and Devil's Lake.

Game fish, approximating 50 percent in the two lakes, would be lost in the event of chemical treatment, said Henderson.

Detailed fishery surveys showed 62 crappie, 20 channel catfish, and 66 black bass per surface acre in both lakes. Such densities, Henderson said, equal national averages for good fishing lakes.

Sonora Boy Attends Youth Range Camp At Texas A&M Adjunct Near Junction

Steve Thorp, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Thorp, is attending the 13th annual Youth Range Camp at the Texas A&M Adjunct near Junction this week.

The camp, which is sponsored by the Texas Section of the American Society of Range Management, is for outstanding 4-H Club and FFA boys. According to Sutton County agricultural agent, D. C. Langford, Thorp was chosen as an outstanding member of the senior range and grass judging team for 1967.

The week-long camp will give the boys an opportunity for additional training in range management, leadership and recreation. Included in the program are two field trips, one to a local ranch and another to the Ranch Experiment Station near here.

Ben Sims, president of the Texas Section, will present awards to outstanding campers at the close of the camp, Saturday, August 5.

Silverfish Damage Household Goods

The silverfish or "slicker" is a small insect pest that lives on materials with a high starch or sugar content found in the home.

County Agent D. C. Langford says silverfish will seriously damage wallpaper, book bindings, pastes, starched clothing and lace curtains unless it is controlled.

Silverfish are soft bodied insects about a half-inch in length with three long tail-like appendages at the apex of the abdomen and are covered with scales which give them a uniform silvery or gray color.

DDT or chlordane dusts or DDT, chlordane or dieldrin household sprays will give effective control, says the county agent. The dust or spray should be applied on baseboards, in closets, bookcases, and other places where the insects hide or will be forced to crawl on the insecticide deposit. A solution of DDT or chlordane in refined kerosene is recommended for use in the home.

Langford says he has available at his office a publication, L-311, "Texas Guide for Controlling Household Insects" which gives detailed information on silverfish control and other insects commonly found in the home.

Persons having trouble with their shade trees dying, should contact Langford at the county agricultural agent's office for information on saving the tree.

Coastal Bermuda Experiment Yields 10 Tons Per Acre

A result demonstration in Waller is producing some fantastic yields of coastal bermudagrass.

The 12-acre demonstration is on the farm of C. W. and Richard Frey.

Results are not all in for this year, but last year, a three-acre plot getting 400 pounds of nitrogen yielded over 21,000 pounds an acre of 10.3 percent crude protein forage. And it was not irrigated.

Burl Richardson, Waller County agricultural agent, said the demonstration compares four fertilizer rates: 100, 200, 300 and 400 pounds of nitrogen and proportionate amounts of phosphorus and potash.

The first two plots, those getting 100 and 200 pounds N, were completely out of the picture in terms of yield and crude protein content, said Richardson.

The plot getting 300 pounds of N yielded over 19,000 pounds per acre. Crude protein for four cuttings averaged 8.5 percent.

Richardson said if the hay was sold on a quantity basis alone, the same price for all hay regardless of protein content, the plot that got 300 pounds N made the most money.

But putting a value on digestible protein—it's worth about 13.8 cents a pound in cottonseed meal—the plot getting 400 pounds N netted the Freys an extra $51 an acre.

Richardson pointed out the extra $51 an acre would be realized only if the hay was sold on a protein basis or fed to the owner's livestock.

He said there is a trend now to charge higher prices for hay with a higher crude protein content. This year the Freys plan to keep their hay separate according to protein content and price it accordingly.

From the entire 12-acre demonstration last year they harvested an outstanding 95 tons of hay.

DID YOU KNOW THAT:

The Texas Forest Service, a part of the Texas A&M University System, provides forest fire protection to 16,960,000 acres of forest land in East Texas. This is equivalent to the total land area of the States of Connecticut, Massachusetts, New Hampshire and one-third of Vermont.

Little Hope Given Over Age Oaks

Several people in Sutton County have been concerned lately because their oak trees are dying. Preventive maintenance from year to year is of greater value than a crash program to save the declining tree.

Some people are willing to pay large sums of money to anyone promising to save the trees. In order to properly care for shade trees it is necessary for County Agent D. C. Langford to understand how these trees grow and what they warn area residents that in many instances once the tree is past a certain stage of deterioration there is nothing that can save it.

If the light green tissue just under the bark is dry, Langford suggests the tree is beyond the point where money can save it. When the tree is declining there are measures that can be taken to save it, but this may involve several tons of plant material. Langford says legitimate nurserymen should be called to work on the tree.

Persons having trouble with their shade trees dying, should contact Langford at the county agricultural agent's office for information on saving the tree.

Dr. and Mrs. John B. Bosch Sr. of Fulton, Mo., were guests of Mrs. Edgar D. Shurley and Derry Kay recently.
