With the Poor People's Campaign and Freedom Village in full bloom it might be interesting to note that Sutton County had a short-lived "freedom camp" last week.

It was born and it died on the Bud Halbert ranch west of Sonora. Bill Fish, who lives on the place, first came on the camper trailer. He asked the Negro man what he was doing there and was informed of the man's intentions to stay permanently.

Later, after being surrounded by law enforcement officers and brought to town, the World War II veteran from Houston explained that he had "wanted to get away from it all" and chose the area because it looked like a good place.

He was fined $35 for trespassing and sent on his way.

Nelson Stubblefield was in Wednesday complimenting Mrs. Tom Nevill on the efficiency of Tom's watchdog, Ringo.

Nelson had made a house call to fix the Nevill television and found the dog very effective in protecting the house.

"He lay down in front of the door so that I couldn't get in!"

"Then when I started to leave he was lying in front of the pickup and didn't even bother to get up when I started the motor. I guess he knew I was going to back out."

Matt E. Adams, 87 Dies In Kerrville

Matt Estes Adams, 87, last member of a pioneer Sutton County family, died in a Kerrville hospital June 17, 1968. Mr. Adams was born May 9, 1881, in San Saba County, and was the last of his family of 13 children born to the late Mr. and Mrs. David Quincy Adams. His sister, Mrs. Rena Trainer, died June 5. He had lived with his sister for several years.

Mr. Adams was connected with ranching all of his life until ill health forced his retirement several years ago. At that time he was ranch foreman for the late Mr. Clayton Puckett in Fort Stockton. At one time he worked for the late Mr. Lea Aldwell, breaking and training polo ponies for Mr. Aldwell.

Mr. Adams, who was a member of the Methodist Church, was married to Ella Theirs who died here January 28, 1913. He later married Dollie Parker and she died in Fort Stockton, in 1944.

His survivors include two sisters-in-laws, Mrs. D. Q. Adams, of Roosevelt and Mrs. Tom Adams of San Angelo, and several nieces and nephews.

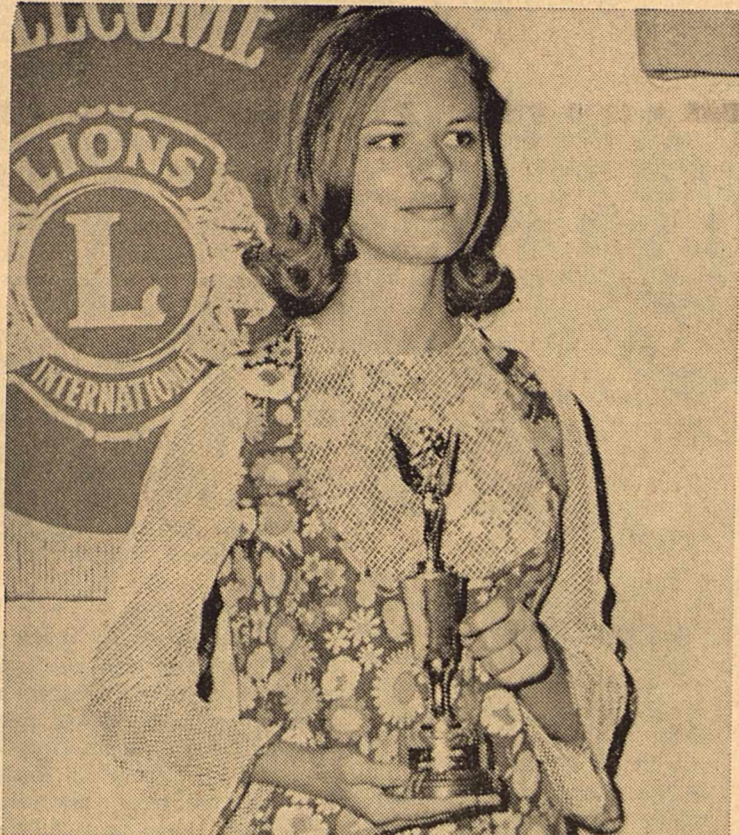

Graveside services were held at Sonora Cemetery under the direction of Ratliff-Kerbow Funeral home June 18, at 4 p.m. The Rev. Ross T. Welch, Methodist minister, officiated. Nephews served as pallbearers.

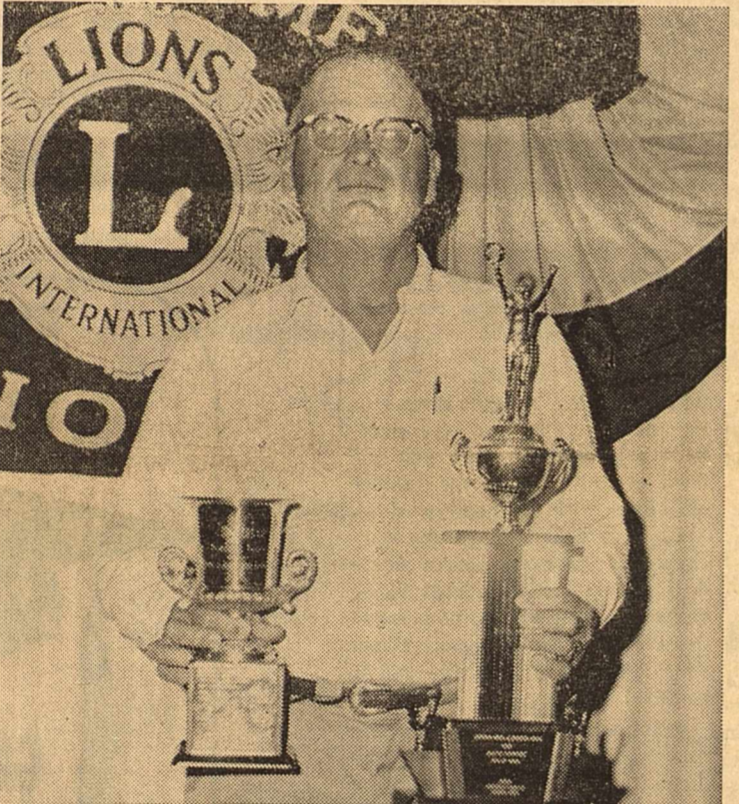

FROM EIGHT 6-INCH PLANTS J. M. "Shorty" Taylor and Bob Teaff have grown a tomato garden that would put many others to shame. Taylor explained that the garden, about 10 feet square, was built by placing a piece of plastic on the ground and using building blocks to hold up the edges. Then he and Teaff filled the area with sandy loam, black dirt and fertilizer. The resulting growth has surprised many gardeners. Small Porter tomatoes are already forming on the vines.

Eatons Have Visitors

Mrs. Gene Groom and children, Diana and Mark, of Fort Worth are here for a two week visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Eaton.

HIGH INDIVIDUAL of the National Wool Judging Contest was Kathy Lindig of the Bandera County 4-H Club. She had a high score of 597 and was followed by Bonnie Amspoker, Converse County, Wyoming, 4-H Club, who had 593 points.

RETIRING THE JOE BERGER MEMORIAL TROPHY requires that a contestant be the premier junior wool exhibitor for three years. Charlie Joe Wittenburg of Edwards County won the trophy for three consecutive years. Here his father, James Wittenburg, displays the Berger trophy his son has earned the right to keep and also the trophy won by his son for the grand champion bag of wool.

Annual Community Worship Service Scheduled July 14 on Courthouse Lawn

The Sonora Ministerial Alliance will sponsor the fourth annual community worship service on July 14 beginning at 7 p.m. with a basket supper on the courthouse lawn.

Everyone is invited to participate in the evening meal and afterward to hear the speaker, Dr. Gordon Clinard, Baptist minister.

Dr. Clinard is pastor of the First Baptist Church in San Angelo. He was born in Springfield, Tennessee, and is married to the former Christine Browder. They have three children, Patricia, Truitt, and Tracey. He was formerly a professor of preaching at the Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary in Ft. Worth. He has had several writings accepted for publication in theological journals.

Dr. Clinard is presently president of the Baptist General Convention of Texas and serves as a trustee of Baptist Memorial Geriatrics Hospital of San Angelo. He is also a trustee of the Mexican Baptist Bible Institute of San Antonio, and has been a speaker at numerous assemblies and conventions.

In San Angelo he is a member of the Board of City Development, Rotary Club, Board of Planned Parenthood and former trustee of the San Angelo board of mental retardation.

WINNERS OF THE NATIONAL WOOL JUDGING CONTEST with a score of 1773 was the Converse County, Wyoming, 4-H Club. Members shown with the rotating trophy are Larry Reed, Steve Nicholls, Tom Reed, Bonnie Amspoker, and O. L. Nicholls, coach.

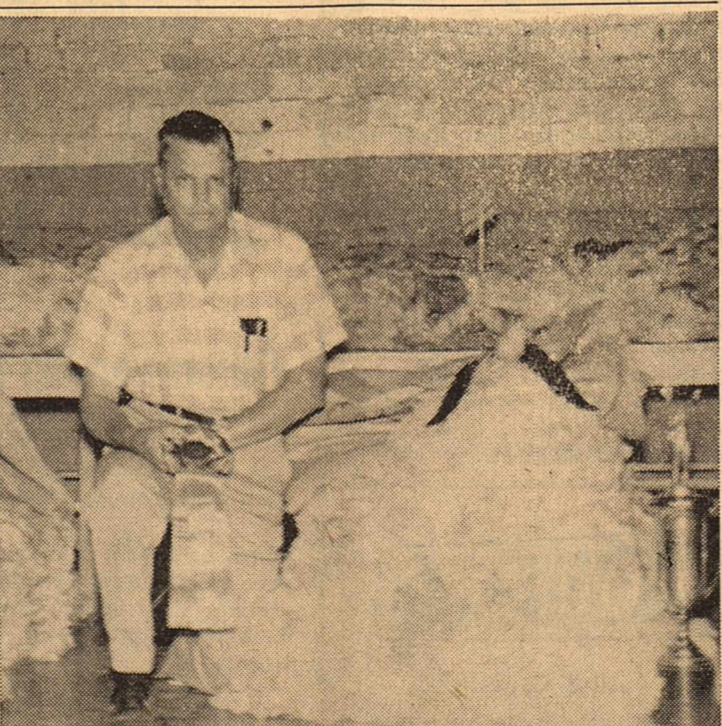

Chamber of Commerce Office To Be Moved

In an effort to curtail overhead expenses, directors of Sonora Chamber of Commerce in a meeting June 12 decided to move the chamber office to Morgan & Hunt Insurance Agency location. The two organizations will share office space and personnel. Doyle Morgan was hired as secretary for the Chamber office.

Overhead expenses for the Chamber had been almost equal to income leaving only a small budget with which to work. In moving the office and engaging Morgan the directors hope to cut fixed expenses to about half the present amount and build a reserve fund for promotion and advertising of Sonora.

Robert Johnson, former Chamber of Commerce manager, assumed duties as manager in June, 1964, replacing Buzzie Stokes who had resigned. Johnson, who came here from Louisiana after retirement from the U. S. Air Force, attended Sonora schools in the early 30's.

Jimmy Harris, president of the organization, pointed out that directors commend Johnson for his efficient handling of the chamber affairs.

EDWIN SAWYER, SUTTON COUNTY ranchman, was the grand champion winner of the aged ewe bag of wool in the adult division of the Sonora Wool and Mohair Show. Sawyer gives credit to his foreman, Jesus Noriega, for grading his wool fleece entry to the show.

Sonora Exhibitors Win In Wool Show

The thirty-first annual Sonora Wool and Mohair Show held June 11-13 had a total of 350 entries registered for the show with approximately 1,019 pounds of mohair and 7,069 pounds of wool received.

Superintendent of the show was James Gray of San Angelo, Extension Service sheep and goat specialist, and his assistants were Bryan Hunt, Joe M. VanderStucken and Edwin Sawyer. Show committee chairman was Fred Earwood of Sonora Wool and Mohair, where the show is held each year.

Edwin Sawyer, Sutton County ranchman, was grand champion winner of the aged ewe bag of wool in the adult division of the show, which saw top quality wool and mohair fleeces entered by West Texas producers making competition extremely keen.

In adult competition, another Sonoran, Edward Earwood, 7-year-old son of Armer Earwood, showed the champion range wool fleece, and had the grand champion wool fleece.

The grand champion mohair fleece in the junior division was exhibited by Maudie Pember, 16-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Pember of Bandera. Miss Pember has been exhibiting mohair at the show for several years, but this was the first win for the Bandera County 4-H girl.

Mary Lee Wittenburg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Wittenburg of Rocksprings, had the grand champion bag of wool in junior division. Charlie Joe Wittenburg had the champion wool fleece in the finewool division.

In the highly competitive National 4-H Wool Judging Contest, the Converse County 4-H Club of Wyoming took top honors, edging Texas teams which have dominated the contest for a number of years.

Kathy Lindig, Bandera County 4-H club member, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Werner Lindig, was high point individual in the national contest, amassing a total of 597 points. Close behind her and a member of the winning national championship wool judging team was Bonnie Amspoker of the Converse County 4-H Club of Wyoming. She scored a total of 593 points.

Sutton County 4-H was over-all high point senior team with 4,114 points in the range, livestock, wool, and mohair judging contest. The team was also a first place all-around club, winning 4,559 points.

Steve Street of Sutton 4-H was over-all high point junior individual, and Stuart Speck of Edwards 4-H was senior over-all high point individual.

100 - Pound Fleas

The late Will Rogers once said: "It's not our public men that you can't put your finger on, it's our public. We are the only fleas weighing over 100 pounds. We aren't sure what we want, but we are ready to bite somebody to get it."

Today it is most popular to head for the nation's capital on some kind of protest march and demand increased aid and-or watered down power of the law. Inadvertently, "the bite" is put back on the taxpayer.

Presently, thousands are making their way to Washington to camp in the shadows of "the hill" hoping to acquire a government hand-out of some sort.

We can't blame anyone for wanting better homes. Yet, the thousands of dollars it is costing—in transportation, in acquiring sufficient temporary housing, in food—would set up the majority of the marchers in housekeeping ... maybe put a number of them in business.

Instead of increasing aid, it might be well to cull through the clutter of welfare programs (which are doing little or nothing for the poor) and reconstruct one strong, sound program. There are over 7 1/2 million on welfare already.

The day's work for a day's wage philosophy must still have a place in this land. A boy who earns a buck cutting a lawn has learned a lesson compared to the boy who is given a buck. The first boy feels a lot better about the dollar in his pocket, too.

The job route is a good one. And, possibly a haircut would open the door to a promising career for the long-haired guitar plucker ... if he were interested.

In the Southwest, the sheep shearer is earning more money these days than ever before in

PHILOSOPHER SEZ

Machines Should Do The Thinking To See if They Could Do Any Better

cure we are, and you begin to wonder.

At least with machines in control they could be blamed instead of us.

I was holding a copy of a newspaper in front of me, I don't remember now where I got it, it's not important, but I was suddenly tired of reading the news.

I can see the militant fringe of college students now saying, "We've got to overhaul the machines from top to bottom. They're sick. They're using the same cogs, the same gears, the same old principles, producing the same type of air-conditioning at the same monotonous temperature we've lived in for years. In fact, the principle of the internal combustion engine itself is rotten to the core, and that goes for electric motors and windmills too, and jets are even worse. What the world needs is more monkey wrenches."

I don't know why, it was just I guess that it was averaging two crises to every inside page and twelve on the front, just as the last one I found did and like the next one will too. I don't know whether the world has more crises now than it used to or whether they're just better reported, but nonetheless I was tired of reading about them and started reading the ads.

Understand though I'm not trying to offend college students. I don't want any of them invading my office out here on this bitterweed ranch. Although if they do and I'm not here, I wish they'd leave a notice on the door saying they've wrecked the place. Otherwise I'd never know they'd been here. My office, I have to report, under the standards of the Federal Government, with its tin roof, plain concrete floor, littered roll-top desk, cardboard boxes for file cabinets, and homemade fireplace, is considered sub-standard.

I'm not sure it helped. There was this one ad promoting some electronic computer, an item I'm not in the market for, I don't need one, I never think up a problem requiring that long an answer, and its slogan was: "Machines Should Work, People Should Think."

It has long been my contention that the slogan is right, that unless a machine throws me out of work I'm not interested in it, but I have begun to have my doubts. Maybe we've got it backwards. Maybe machines should think and people should work. You other people, anyway. Me and the college students have got other things to do.

Mrs. Ernest McClelland, president, reported that the War Service Club, gave $150.00 to the memorial hospital fund.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Cahill and children left for a week vacation in Kansas and Colorado.

I don't know that machines could do a better job of thinking, but it's hard to see how they could do any worse.

You take a world where the more civilized we get the less se-

Hilary B. Doran Jr. Gives Report On House of Representatives Action

Most of the action in the House of Representatives took place in committee meetings this past week. The two bills receiving the most attention and causing the great amount of controversy and concern were the tax bill and the liquor bill.

The liquor bill is really not its correct name or title as it actually deals with the regulating and sale of alcoholic beverages in miniature bottles and also contains many other provisions that seek to correct or change existing provisions of the Liquor Regulation Act. This bill has had major surgery performed on it in the State Affairs Committee and looks like it is headed for a bitter and heated fight when it comes up before the whole House of Representatives.

State can get revenue from other sources without taxing services such as those performed by barber shops beauty shops, shoeshine parlors and laundries or dry cleaners, and in my opinion, the amount of taxes that would be collected by the taxing of these services (approximately fifteen million dollars) would not justify the inconvenience and unfairness by the singling out of any one group or groups of people to bear this tax burden.

I am also unresponsive to the idea of abolishing the optional city sales tax that we passed only last year and, in its place, giving a rebate to every incorporated town in Texas on a per capita basis.

The tempo of the Legislature is starting to quicken and the fireworks will be starting from this week on, but unless a radical change takes place, it is unlikely that a tax bill will be passed before the Fourth of July.

Two Lakes Show Big Fish Population
Studies by fisheries biologists of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department show that two lakes in southwest Texas, Devil's and Walk, have at least 23 species of freshwater fish, with at least half of them interesting to anglers.

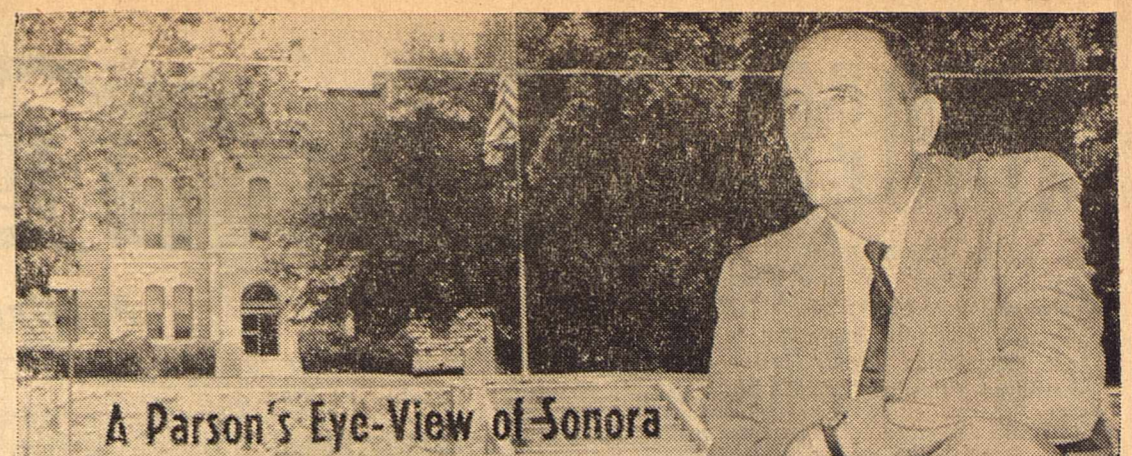

Both lakes will eventually be flooded by the waters of Amistad Reservoir which will sprawl over thousands of acres of Texas and Mexico.

Biologists George Henderson and Ron Anderson are optimistic that fish now found in the Amistad area will supply anglers with an immediately catchable population of fish, and as new fry and fingerlings are stocked from State fish hatcheries the population will grow increasingly interesting.

BY THE REV. ROSS T. WELCH

I had a new experience this morning. I received a Father's Day greeting from my grandson. Of course, the grandson had to have some assistance from his mother, but she chose the kind of card I think he might have selected if he had exercised a choice.

It was colorful and had a big one-eyed lion on it. And it was addressed, naturally, to "the nicest grandpa of all." David Andrew will never know his other grandfather who, I can truthfully say, was one of the finest men I have ever known.

Frances seems a little reluctant to assume the title of 'grandma' but grandparenthood is an estate I do not mind entering. After all, the parents have been married nearly five years. Even though the father has not reached his goal of a Ph. D. in research chemistry, he should be able to reach it now without too much difficulty.

This is a tradition that started with the 75th anniversary celebration, and seemed worthy of continuation.

It is not too soon to begin writing some of your friends who have lived here in the past and would like to return for a visit. Tell them you will have a picnic supper ready so all can eat on the Court House lawn.

There will be some good old fashioned gospel singing and then a sermon by Dr. Gordon Clinard, pastor of First Baptist Church, San Angelo, and president of the Texas Southern Baptist General Convention.

Furniture has arrived at the Lutheran Parsonage and the parishoners are eagerly awaiting the arrival of the newly elected pastor and his family. Pastor Firmhaber is due to be inducted on Sunday, July 7, and will serve a few months as a vicar before he is fully ordained.

The pastor has taught for sixteen years in a parochial school and his wife is also a teacher. They have four children.

Just a word from the Rev. Lea Roy Aldwell that there is also new furniture in the Episcopal Rectory. The new rector, the Rev. Norman Griffith, will be installed the first Sunday in July also.

Mr. Griffith worked for a number of years for du Pont Chemicals and comes to this parish directly from seminary. There are two children in this family.

Fred Adkins says experiences in the period when his church has been without a pastor have convinced him that preachers do work a little after all.

Norm Rousselot still needs some help trying to operate a pony league type baseball program. Have you volunteered your assistance?

We understand there is volleyball in the gym every Wednesday evening for those adults who like to play the game. Come on over at 7 o'clock and be sure you wear your tennis shoes if you want in on the play.

We are happy to find there is also a three morning a week athletic program for the girls of the community under the direction of Liz Hemphill and Doris Rousselot.

The girls meet for volleyball at 10 a. m. on Mondays and for softball at the same hour at the Little League Park on Wednesdays and at Allison Field on Fridays. Additional participation is encouraged, so if some of you girls are beginning to get bored with summer vacation, how about getting in on this program?

Mrs. Martha Jimenez, Sonora Native Submits Prize-Winning Recipe

Mrs. Martha Jimenez, a former resident of Sonora, was notified recently that her recipe for caraway skillet slaw, submitted to the Family Circle Magazine's contest for clever cooks, has been selected as one of the 25 first-place winners.

The recipe, which was chosen from among 3,400 entries, was carefully reviewed and tested during the last two months. The 25 first-place winners have been published in the June issue of the magazine.

The recipe, which won a cash prize of $50 for Mrs. Jimenez, was as follows:

CARAWAY SKILLET SLAW

"Saute 4 slices bacon until crisp in a medium-size frying pan; drain on paper toweling, then crumble. Pour off drippings; measure 1/2 cup and return to pan. Stir in 1/4 cup cider vinegar, 2 tablespoons sliced green onion, 1 tablespoon brown sugar, and 1/2 teaspoon salt. Heat, stirring constantly, to boiling. Stir in 4 cups shredded cabbage and 1 teaspoon caraway seeds; sprinkle with bacon. Serve warm from the pan. Makes 4 servings."

Mrs. Jimenez, who now resides in Wink, is the wife of Candelario Jimenez, Jr., and is secretary.

Step Number One, after you buy a car, is to buy insurance. But it might take the insurance company several days—or even several weeks—to consider your application. In the meantime, the company may give you a "binder" for temporary protection.

How good is a binder? Does it really protect you in case of an accident?

Generally speaking, a court will indeed enforce a binder—even an oral one (although that kind is harder for you to prove). While a binder lacks most of the details to be found in a formal insurance policy, the courts are willing to read in what is missing—provided that can be done with reasonable accuracy.

Legal Notice

SEALED BID OFFER: HWY 1310, 11:00 A.M. June 26, 1968 Sealed bids will be received in the office of the State Board of Control, Sam Houston State Office Building, 201 East 14th Street, Austin, Texas until 11:00 A.M. of the above listed date covering the sale of 1 improvements belonging to the Texas Highway Department located at Sonora, Texas and may be inspected by contacting: Mr. Joe Lane, Texas Highway Department Sonora, Texas. 2c40

Consider this case: A motorist was involved in an accident shortly after taking out a binder for "10-10" liability coverage. In a court test, this was held to mean that the man had coverage of $10,000 for each accident and $10,000 for each injury—because that is how such a phrase would ordinarily be understood in the insurance business.

On the other hand, your binder probably will not stand up in the court if it leaves some essential fact in real doubt. Omitting the amount of coverage, or the type, or the term, could mean that a court would have to use guesswork to figure out what the parties had in mind. Then, the binder would lack that "meeting of the minds" necessary to constitute a legal contract.

Furthermore, a binder, just like a formal insurance policy, may be cancelled in most states if it was obtained by false representations. As the judge put it, deception is "material to the risk"—that is, important enough for the insurance company to have turned down the application if it had known the truth.

Know Danger Signal For Each Appliance

Sick appliances have warning symptoms as do sick people, says W. S. Allen, extension agricultural engineer, Texas A&M University. If heeded, these warnings may prevent fire, damage to property and dangers to personal health.

Here are the four main symptoms as listed by the engineer:

Is your appliance blinking on and off? If it is, you're being warned that there is a loose connection somewhere. It may be only a loose screw, but repairing it is a good idea.

Ever touch an appliance and feel a little tingle? This is another sign of trouble. It calls for close inspection for loose wiring for poor insulation. In some cases, the appliance may need a ground wire.

Watch out for the short circuit. A symptom of this is a shock from a metal lamp base. The trouble is usually exposed wiring.

Blown fuses or tripped circuits, after plugging in your appliance, point to a serious malady—an overload. This is a major cause of fires within the home. Too many appliances on one circuit throw your electrical system out of balance. Something has to give, and too often it's the homeowner.

Remember the fuse must be fitted to the size of your wiring. If the fuse will let more power through than the wiring can safely carry, it's not a safety device.

"THIS IS OR WAS THE ROAD THAT LEADS to the compound where Jim works. It is about a 10 minute drive from main base. This portion of the road was moved nine feet. It is still a mess. It took Jim two hours to get home after the quake on the 16th as this road was impassable. He had to go around Misawa to get back to the base."

MRS. VAN KIRK SAYS THIS IS the remains of an off base gas station. She reports that gasoline off base is about sixty cents per gallon.

THIS SHOWS AN AISLE IN THE BASE commissary. As Mrs. Kirk said, "What a mess that place was!"

MRS. KIRK SAYS THIS IS AN OFF BASE HOUSE, and these are the type of houses G's and their families live in who live off base. Most of these houses were damaged severely in the quake.

Van Kirk Family Tells Incidents Relative to Japanese Earthquake

Editor's note: (The following is a letter from Mrs. Jim Van Kirk, former Sonora resident and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Templeton. This letter and pictures give some idea of damages in Japan during the earthquake in mid-May. The Van Kirks are stationed at Misawa Air Base.)

Dearest Mother and Daddy:

Well, we are all alive and well, and I guess that is all that counts. At least that is what I keep trying to tell myself. I can think of only one way to describe it—a living hell!

I was sitting down to call the hospital and make an appointment to have Joan's eyes checked again when I felt a tremor. I didn't get concerned as we have them all the time. This time instead of stopping, it just got worse and worse.

Everything started falling. Janice and Jane were in their room playing. They just went wild. I caught hold of them, but couldn't find the baby. I finally heard her screaming. She was crawling out of the kitchen. I don't know how many times she got hit. I then got them down the stairs and outside.

Our house was a mess. All but a few pieces of my china were broken, several pieces of my brown dishes, most of the jars of food that were in the cabinet, my glass pie plates, all of our bowling trophies and our tape recorder was smashed.

I just sat down outside and cried. This happened at 9:30 a.m. Thursday morning. It took Jim two hours to get home. We couldn't go back in the houses. From that morning until Saturday night we lived in an open field in the car. We still have tremors quite frequently. You never know whether to sit still or run.

The girls were so good to be put through all of that. Until today we had no heat or water or electricity. It came on for a couple of hours and then went off again. During that time I got some clothes washed for the girls.

The temperature has been in the 40's and 50's and we have about frozen. Those nights in the car were terrible. That first night there were ten of us in our car. We didn't get too cold then, but were cramped! We made it though.

I had been to the commissary on Wednesday and spent almost $40. We didn't have a thing left. The ice box and freezer both came open and everything spilled out in the floor. I have never seen such a mess.

We have had to buy extra diapers, disposable diapers, rubber pants, food and numerous other things.

Do take care and don't worry, for we are all o.k. We send our love to all.

Mary, Jim, and girls

EVERY JOURNEY...

THE CHURCH FOR ALL ... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

BACK IN THE SADDLE—OF SHOW BUSINESS — Sonora rancher John Tedford, seated at the piano, rehearses the chorus for the Dallas Summer Musicals production of "Desert Song" as he begins his first season as head conductor for the State Fair Music Hall attractions.

It's A Double Life For Rancher-Musician

By ODENE CRAWFORD
Standard-Times Amusements Editor

It may seem a long way from a West Texas ranch to the glamorous world of show business, but Sonoran John Tedford makes the transition each summer, and more and more often during the fall and winter season.

Tedford, his wife, Dell, and their two children have been in Dallas since the first week in June to get ready for his first season as head conductor for the Dallas Summer Musicals. But Tedford has been combining a show business and ranching career for the last seven seasons, first as staff accompanist, then as assistant musical director for Dallas Summer Musicals, with salaries into the world of night club shows and big corporation industries.

A native of Dallas, where he attended Southern Methodist University as a music major, Tedford and his wife moved to the ranch owned by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Davis, 10 years ago.

The musician tried his hand at ranching under the tutelage of the Davis' family, and liked his experience. But with his background, which included high school and college years as staff organist at Dallas' First Methodist Church, musical directing for a Dallas Theatre Center production of "Can Can," and some success as a composer of religious music, he found himself gravitating back into the music world.

The last year has been one of the busiest. Tedford left the ranch for two weeks to direct Donald O'Conner's show which played at Harrah's at Lake Tahoe, then directed the change-over when the show moved to the Sahara in Las Vegas. In addition, he directed music for productions of "Sweet Charity" in St. Paul, Minn., and Des Moines, Iowa. Then there was the four-months tour with an industrial for General Electric Company to New York, Miami, Las Vegas, Dallas and other points.

"It was the longest-running industrial in the history of the business," says Tedford, who nevertheless found the four months away from the ranch and the family too long for his taste. "I prefer to do the two-weeks rehearsals for people like O'Conner, or a job like the summer musicals so that I can bring the family along," he states.

The family, which includes 7-year-old Gregg and 5-year-old Valerie, also enjoys the three months in Dallas, taking full advantage of the pool at the Maple Terrace Apartments in the Stoneleigh Hotel complex which houses most of the summer musicals out-of-town staff. The two youngsters renew their acquaintance with the children of choreographer John Sharp of New Jersey and attend Vacation Bible School at the First Methodist Church where their father was organist. Their contact with show business is limited, though, and since neither of them has evidenced strong interest their father states, "I'm certainly not going to push them into it."

Early last week in State Fair Music Hall, Tedford began the two weeks rehearsal for the Summer Musicals opening production of "Desert Song." Ann Blythe was to arrive later for her starring role.

The rehearsals began a full summer schedule with only one day off, "technically," Tedford says, between shows and rehearsals. Though he has conducted for performances while he was assistant, he is scheduled to be on the podium for all 70 performances of the musicals this summer.

Then, late in August, the Tedford family will head back to Sonora where Gregg will be a second grader this year, for the ranch which grazes sheep and Angora goats and Tedford's horses, and for a fall and winter season away from show business. Except, of course, for "a few things which are cooking now," says musician-rancher John Tedford.
