Frosty Fred had a distinguished visitor last week. Frosty has perhaps the greatest number of coin-operated contraptions in town and, one of the appliances is a hobby horse. For a dime it gives a child a thrilling rocking ride. The horse is a tempting item to a hungry child waiting for hamburgers.

Last week a hippie, "at least 20 years old," was reported to be feeding dimes to the rocking horse and thoroughly enjoying his ride.

The other day Pablo Favila was telling of one of his experiences in Mexico. Pablo attended schools in Mexico and was a teacher before coming to the United States.

In high school he played basketball, and his team, Saltillo, was pitted against Monterrey for the state championship title.

Although the Saltillo folks team had only seven players and the Monterrey team had 14, Saltillo folks thought they stood a good chance of winning a state victory. The team from Monterrey had no money or transportation and would have to walk the 100 miles to Saltillo for the game.

Pablo said the Monterrey team walked in one day, showered, and soundly trounced the Saltillo team, and started their 100 mile trip back home.

Two stores in Sonora were mighty busy Sunday, but they weren't open for business. Morrison's Variety Store was receiving a new tile floor. George Stinnett Jr. said that he had men working until midnight Saturday and all day Sunday. They completed half the floor covering job and plan to finish this coming weekend.

At Western Drug men were busy cutting holes in the roof for a new refrigerated air conditioning unit. Jimmie Lott said he hoped the unit would be operating Wednesday or Thursday.

Some 125 ranchmen and others interested in goats attended the second annual Angora Goat Field Day at the Ranch Experiment Station on July 10.

A lively goat judging clinic was sponsored by the Texas Angora Goat Breeders Association. Ranchmen judged classes of Angora does and billies in the hair, rating them as to body conformation and fleece characteristics. The goats were then sheared and Gilbert Dunstan, mohair buyer, graded and "dollared out" the fleeces.

Following a barbecue lunch served by the Sutton County 4-H Club, the group met for an interesting program on various phases of the goat industry. After a welcome by Dr. Leo Merrill, in charge of Ranch Experiment Station, Armer Earwood gave an informative slide talk on his recent trip to study the mohair industry in South Africa.

Jim Menzies, station animal husbandman, discussed the Angora performance tests results and research at the Ranch Experiment Station. Dr. James Bassett, of the Texas A&M Animal Science Department, discussed the scouring results from one of the classes of goats and explained a scouring display. Fred R. Campbell, former station animal husbandman, presided over the days activities.

Numerous ranchmen complimented the program and expressed the desire that Texas A&M University would greatly increase goat research at the station.

Following the goat program, the Sheep and Goat Raisers Association members met and elected directors for District 5 for the coming year. Fred T. Earwood was reelected chairman of District 5 which includes Sutton, Schleicher, Menard and Kimble Counties.

Sutton county directors elected are Robert Pfluger, Lea Allison, James Hunt, W. R. Cusenbary, Edwin Sawyer, W. B. McMillan, and R. A. Halbert. Also elected were Armer Earwood, Bill Morriss, Norman Rousselot, Ralph Mayer, and Dr. Joe D. Ross.

SHARING THEIR BASKET SUPPER with a visitor are Millie Pettiet, Kitty McMinn, and Marche Lane. The occasion was the fourth annual homecoming and community worship held Sunday evening on the courthouse lawn. Dr. Gordon Clinard, pastor of the First Baptist Church of San Angelo, was guest speaker and Joe Lane was song leader.

This 48 L Cable Tool Rig is on the way to Mexico City, where it will be used in the drilling of water wells for the city. The rig, belonging to Wesley C. Young Drilling Company, will be trucked to Laredo, and then travel by railroad to Mexico City. Young, who has two other rigs in Mexico City, says that many wells are being drilled in the vicinity of the city at this time. For some time Mexico City has been sinking. Engineers are working on a plan in which they hope to remedy the situation by flooding the now dry lake bed under the city with possible waste water, thereby raising the ground level. Young adds, however this is entirely theoretical and is still in the planning stage.

FIREMEN'S CORNER

Besides visible fires, the ones that can be seen, and whose scope and dimension are obvious, there is another type of fire—this is the concealed fire. Concealed fires are problems because they travel out of sight and reach of the fire department. It is difficult to decide where the fire originates, where it is traveling, and exact extent of involvement.

Generally the concealed spaces may be listed under the eight following categories: chimneys, attics, cocklofts (hanging ceiling space), partitions, framed out spaces, pipe chases and shafts, horizontal runs of non-fire stopped floor joists, and ductwork. (Excerpts from "Fire Chief")

The Holy Name Society had Communion Sunday July 14. It was very well attended. Their monthly meeting was held immediately after 7 a.m. Mass.

At the meeting it was decided the society would sponsor a picnic for the parishioners at Llano Park July 27. The week before the picnic, the organization will serve a barbecue chicken dinner for the benefit of the society. It was also decided that each week, at least four men will come to the church grounds to maintain the upkeep and neatness of the Church yard.

For several weeks now, 7 a.m. Mass on Sundays has been broadcast over the local radio station. It is a sung Mass, and is being well received by many people who are unable to attend Mass because they are shut-ins or unable to attend Mass for some serious reason.

Teen-Age Colts Thump Grape Creek

By Norm Rousselot

The Sonora Colt teen age baseball clubs racked up two more victories in their summer recreation baseball program by downing the Grape Creek Lions from North San Angelo.

In the first game (13 and 14 year olds) the score was a lopsided 19 to 5 with Sonora banging out 19 runs while pitcher Freddy Virgen struck out 12 of the Angelo batters.

While Solis, Virgen and Samaniego had a good day with the bat, Fields, Rousselot, Browne and H. Perez played tight defensive ball.

The senior game was a pitcher's duel between C. Rusler of Grape Creek and E. Lumberras of Sonora with the visiting pitcher striking out 17 Sonora batters but still coming out the loser of a 4-3 tightly played ball game. Sonora came up with the winning run after two were out in the bottom of the seventh and A. Samaniego singled in Robert Mata from third base. Playing outstanding defensive ball for the Colts were Mitt Joel, F. Gonzales, S. Perez, M. Taylor, A. Samaniego and A. Hodges.

THE DEVIL'S RIVER NEWS

Who keeps the roof on ...
(when everyone is raising it?)

With all the theological ferment these days there is more unrest in our churches than we have known in many years. Issues divide the congregations and sometimes the whole debate seems endless. It would be easier to stay home in bed on Sunday mornings.

But through it all, the houses of God stand, because regular churchgoers know that men are inconstant, that they are subject to numerous temptations and influences. They also know that God is omnipotent, is omniscient. His care is constant. His creative spirit continually sustains the earth, and His love is always sensitive to the plight of man.

It is not easy to be a Christian; it never was. Houses of God stand because there are those who are willing to be channels of God's care—who assume responsibility for church schools, missions, social justice, and—oh yes—that roof.

Decision Making Important Before Shopping For Today's Carpeting

Few carpets will endure as much quick action as the 450 foot custom designed, black and white check carpet laid curb-to-curb in front of the reviewing stand at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway on Memorial Day. Visitors to HemisFair find many creative uses for carpeting—on walls of exhibit buildings, on outdoor walkways and on theatre seating. About 30,000 square yards of carpeting were used on the 92-acre HemisFair site.

Today, carpet fits almost every need. Variety permits more appropriate selections but, says Jane Berry, Extension specialist in housing and home furnishings, it can also confuse the consumer.

While every consumer need not be an expert on the rapidly changing picture in carpet design and technology, one of the most important things to assure good choice is to make some decisions before shopping.

Where the rug or carpet will be used and the amount of wear and abuse it must withstand are keys to remember. Floors of a seldom used guest bedroom covered with an inexpensive, low quality carpeting may hold up well for many years. The same carpeting in a busy family room would be a disaster.

Color or design choice in a carpet or a rug are more than aesthetic considerations. The rate at which a carpet shows soil and the amount of maintenance required are related to color and texture.

Medium shades of any solid color, color mixtures or patterns show soil less than very light or dark colors. Tight, dense pile of one length or felted carpets without pile are easier to maintain than those with long or high-low pile variations.

Before shopping, decide how much to spend. Prices range from a low of $3.00 a square yard to more than $20.

Summer Recreation

Keeping busy and having fun is one of the major pastimes for Sonora young people in the summertime. This series of photos seeks to show some usual (and unusual) summer pastimes.

ENJOYING THE SHADE, THE BREEZE, and the gentle motion of the glider are these typical Sonora youngsters whose summer recreation seems to be—at the moment—a lazy-day swing fest. Holly King sits contentedly in Margaret Black's lap, while Margaret's brother, James, swings "above the crowd". Kelly Ward shows a smile over the shoulder of Natalie Redman.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Break for Veterans
Three men apply for a single government job. One is a war veteran, the other two are not. Should the first man get the job just because he is a veteran?

To some degree veterans have been getting this kind of break ever since Civil War days. The motive, of course, is to give them an extra reward for their service to the nation.

Still, they get this reward at the expense of non-veterans who might legitimately complain of discrimination. For the non-veterans are, in effect, penalized for something that may in no way be their fault.

To reconcile these conflicting considerations, the courts have worked out some practical guidelines.

In the first place, if a civil service law shows flagrant favoritism for veterans, it will probably be held unconstitutional. Thus, a court voided a law that allowed veterans to get on the local police force without taking an examination. To point out that a veteran so hired might be totally unfit for the job, the court said:

"Public offices are created for the common good, and not the profit, honor, or private interest of any one man or class of men."

On the other hand, a court upheld a law that gave a more modest advantage to veterans seeking to be firemen. Here a veteran was given the edge if he had shown, by competitive examinations, that he was just as qualified as other applicants. The court said it was fair to assume that his experience in the service might make him a better fireman.

Likewise, the law may—and often does—give reasonable advantages to veterans in the matter of firing. For instance, the federal civil service law gives them extra procedural safeguards in case of discharge.

In one case a veteran employed at a federal shipyard was fired on charges that he had gotten too fresh with certain young women at a party.

But he won reinstatement when the management failed to come up with sufficient details of his alleged misconduct. The court said he had not been given the consideration to which, as a veteran, he was entitled.

Cedar Hill School Reunion Set

Ex-students, friends and relatives of ex-students and former teachers will meet at Camp Allison July 20, for the twentieth anniversary of the ex-students reunion.

Open pit barbeque will be served at noon and night meals. A dance is planned for Saturday night at the Camp Allison platform. The music will be provided by Leroy Valliant and his Sutton County Playboys.

Lester Shroyer is in charge of the arrangements this year and he says that all ex-students and friends are welcome to attend the celebration.

Wood used in outdoor projects such as patios, picnic tables or fences should be protected by the use of preservatives. The best treatment is the pressure process. Pressure treated lumber is readily available. A paintable preservative should be requested if painting is required or if the wood will be in contact with clothing or the skin.

Child Rearing Problem Changing

Today, parents have half the time grandparents had to influence children.

Dr. Lannis Hope, associate professor and counseling psychologist at Texas A&M University, told the area Young Homemakers of Texas Seminar July 1-2, children were the crucial point in our changing society.

A hundred years ago little boys knew what they were supposed to do as men. They saw Father at work and helped on the farm. Today Father is not in the home, he said.

Pointing to another changing aspect, women are in a period of upheaval and turmoil today. She was dominated totally for 10,000 years, he said. Now she has a more defined individuality, going out of the home socially and working in competition with men.

Males feel a real threat with a female competing with them. The revolution has made women relook at herself to see what she wants to do today.

Because of the roles a woman might play, including housewife-mother, career woman and glamour girl, the professor predicted the turmoil to continue.

The problem of getting water to a part of the pasture or range which is undergrazed may be solved through the use of plastic pipeline, suggests B. J. Ragsdale, Extension range specialist. Conventional float controlled water troughs or the newer automatic fountains can be used to control the flow of water in such an installation, he says. The plastic pipe should be placed below the soil surface to prevent deterioration from sunlight but it isn't necessary to bury the pipe below frost line if the pressure is to be removed during the winter, he says.

My mind just isn't what it is finally got it to the club house. supposed to be. L. P. is a marvelous cook, but without the assistance of W. B. McMillan, he just might have decided to jump into the pot himself the day that all that chicken cooking took place. W. B. was chief chicken cutter-upper, along with the onions. He did some of the cooking too, by golly.

GN

The scene of the week took place last Tuesday, when four big men were trying to get the huge plate glass window from Neville's store out to the golf course. J. W. and Jo Neville donated the beautiful window to the Club—but when the moving of the valuable article started, all heck broke loose. Melvin Hearn, George Johnson, Patch Cochran, and J. W. stopped and rested three times before it was finally loaded. It was a big job, made bigger by the fact that it was raining like the dickens. Patches, I think, was the most relieved of the bunch when they

From what I hear, the trip from Neville's to the bridge was the most hectic.

GN

Aside from the moving of the glass that night, several of the club members decided it was just about time to get on the end of paint brushes, George Johnson, as boss man and his co-workers Ann and Whiskey Hill, Sammie Espy, Bobby Fawcett, and J. W. and Jo Neville painted the pantry. It is a beautiful and clean sparkling white, it really looks immaculate. Frieda and Kelley Sue Sentell put new shelf paper on the shelves. Says Frieda, "here it's fun, at home it's nothing but a chore."

GN

There was one relieved pro, I know when that glass was put in place, and the painting completed, in fact, Francis Archer was so relieved, he served refreshments to all the workers.

GN

Well, you old lefties! You had a new one to add to your team—Ella Archer belongs to your clan, and says she is really enjoying the game. There is just one thing she wants—a bridge to cross over on number nine. Sorry about that Ella.

Speaking of lefties—did you know that every year there is a tournament held just for left-handed players? Well there is, and it is for the whole state. This year, it was held in Seguin, and Jerry Hopkins went—got all the honors too. On Monday, he won the Sweptake Tournament, and on Tuesday, he won first place in the First Flight. Nice going, Jerry.

GN

A. W. Awalt has been a big help to us. As you know, a number of our trees have been trimmed, and he has donated the paint which keeps insects from the freshly trimmed parts, and aids the trees a great deal. Thanks, Big A.

GN

Del Rio had a golf tournament last weekend, and Sonora was represented in a very fine manner. I might say, J. W. Neville and George Johnson were runner-up consolation in the Championship Flight, while Norm Rousselot and partner, Nobel Taylor won consolation in the First Flight.

Other members from the Sonora Golf Club were Ralph Mayer, Donnie Letsinger, and Tom Glasscock.

GN

Joan Nichlas, from Ozona joined us on Ladies Day last Wednesday. Hope she enjoyed the course; we enjoyed having her.
