

COLD WEATHER---The year changed during the past week, but there was little change in the weather. Cold temperatures kept snow on the ground that fell in 1969. Snow was piled on the streets of Bovina, left, by crews attempting to make driving safer for area motorists. Cattle grazed on bare spots, center, as a new blizzard swept through Monday morning. A snowman, made after the snowfall Dec. 28, still braved the elements this week.

Zero Temperatures Bring 'Deep Freeze'

WHITTLIN

By DOLPH MOTEN

Weatherman Willie Williams has a harder job than we thought. When Willie left town before Christmas for a two-week holiday vacation, he turned the weather predictions over to Billie Sudderth and this department. That wasn't too bad an assignment, we thought then, especially if we could get Billie to tend to it. We got that done, all right, but it was still bad. We forgot about the critics. Billie is a pretty good substitute junior weatherman, we'd guess, and he didn't make any mistakes, as yet, in two at-bats. But he's still so new at the game that he can't keep the critics happy, even though he's semi-right about what he tells them.

And the weather didn't cooperate much, either. Just a few days after Willie turned it over to us all the great outdoors became a deep-freeze.

Billie confided to us this week that he hoped Willie could get some thawing out started. "Looks like I've got it in such a mess we're gonna freeze out," he said in such a way that he implied he might be overmatched when it comes to publicly predicting the weather.

Anyway, Willie, the sur-nuf weatherman, is scheduled to be back on duty this week.

That may not affect the weather, but it will sure help to take the pressure off a couple of novice weathermen.

The dawn of a new year is traditionally characterized with resolutions to do better or at least differently during the forthcoming 12-month period. We're not overly strong in the resolution department, but we have a couple of changes scheduled for 1970 if we can remember to make them when the times come.

They concern a couple of contests which appear in this newspaper. First, we need to move up the deadline date for entering the first freeze contest. Last Fall, for instance, the first freeze was here, or almost, before it was time to quit guessing. That's a bad deal and we'll make every effort to get the deadline for entering moved closer back to summer-time so the first freeze will have a better chance of coming after it's time to quit guessing.

Also, in regard to the football contest, we play to add a rule which says that the teams have to be listed on the entry blank in the proper places.

Those changes won't excite anybody much, but they might help make better contests which are already good.

"Wonder what we'll gripe about now?" quizzed a coffee shop wit this week. His question was referring to the fact that the Texas Tech Red Raiders have a new football coach, something the critical fans of the Lubbock-based entry in the Southwest Conference have been howling for.

With that problem out of the Beauty Salon Relocates On Main Street

Fantasy Beauty Salon opened Tuesday morning in a new location on Main Street.

Lillian Rogers' shop will be housed in the Ed Isaac building, formerly occupied by Merle Norman Studio. It was recently redecorated with wall paneling and carpeting.

Fantasy Beauty Salon has formerly been located in the Rogers' home on Eighth Street. Mrs. Rogers has operated the business for seven years, although she has been a beautician about 20 years.

Associated with the downtown salon are Mrs. Jessie Sisk and Mrs. Pat Turner.

Puckett's Hip Breaks In Ice Fall

Marvin Puckett received a broken hip Thursday night when he fell on ice after alighting from a car in front of his house on Second Street.

He received emergency treatment at Parmer County Community Hospital and was sent to High Plains Baptist Hospital in Amarillo.

Reports are that it was an hour or two before Puckett was found on the street Thursday night. Thinking he was not hurt, Puckett was taken inside his house. It was another hour or two before someone arrived, who summoned an ambulance.

Mrs. Masey Rites Friday

Funeral services for Mrs. Faye Ellen Masey, 47, were held Friday in the Chapel of Edger's Funeral Home in Burnet.

Burial was in Burnet Cemetery.

A former resident of the Bovina area, Mrs. Masey had lived in Burnet for eight years. She was a graduate of Friona High School.

Survivors include her husband, Eugene; one daughter, Deann, of Burnet; one son, Jimmy Carl Hensarling of Clovis; her father, J. W. Robards, formerly of Bovina and now of Lubbock; eight sisters, Mrs. Kathryn Johnston and Mrs. Charlie Jefferson, both of Bovina; Mrs. Erma Rury and Mrs. Peggy Polson, both of Clovis; Mrs. Ruth Terry of Friona, Mrs. Margaret Dillard and Mrs. Irene Wylie, both of Lubbock, and Mrs. Lucille Livingston of Temple; two brothers, Charles Robards of Lubbock and Winfred Robards of Clovis.

Family Illness --

Dr. Murphy's Arrival Temporarily Delayed

Delay in the arrival of Dr. Michael Murphy has been announced by members of the board of Bovina Medical Clinic.

In a telephone conversation over the weekend, Dr. Murphy said he was called to the East because of illness in his family. He is expected to contact the clinic board sometime this week in regard to his arrival here.

Dr. Murphy was scheduled to open his practice at Bovina Medical Clinic Monday, but illness in his family required his making a trip there first.

Mrs. Hazel Hemke is currently keeping the clinic open this week for convenience of patients in the area. She has been employed at the clinic since its opening here about 18 months ago.

Dr. Cornelius Blestus, who has practiced at the clinic as its first doctor, left the first of the year for Dallas to enter residency and further his studies.

Voter Registration --

Blank Appears For Citizens

To assist citizens of Parmer County in registering to vote before the Jan. 31 deadline, an application blank appears this week in The Blade.

Registration blanks are also available at city hall, Mrs. Mary Ruth Martin said.

All one must do is fill in the application and mail it to the office of Hugh Moseley, Parmer County tax assessor-collector.

Requirements for registering to vote are the same as last year, Moseley said. No changes have been made in voter registration laws this year, but some are expected in 1971, Moseley said.

Registration early this month had been about normal, but was only about one-third of the number qualified for voting in the county.

Moseley points out there will be county, city and school elections this year, as well as possible amendment and bond elections.

It is an off-year on the national and state level, but voters from this Senatorial District will name a U. S. Senator.

In county and district elections, Parmer voters will choose two county commissioners, one for the Bovina precinct, a county clerk, county treasurer, district and county judges.

On the local level, a mayor and three city councilmen will be elected, as well as two school trustees.

Weather By Willie

You remember I told you to look for a cold Winter. More snow before this is gone.

I think Billie did a good job while I was away. ---Willie

IN MY OPINION

Well, the Soaring Sixties are gone.

Now we are in the Sobering Seventies.

Let us sober up. I hope this will be a better decade.

We should all work to that end and do our part to have a better understanding of things. We should attend church more regularly.

We have some disadvantages in the Panhandle, but nothing like Central Texas, it's Bovina for me!

In the Seventies, you will see men traveling on the moon in Jeeps. What a world!

---Willie

MICKEY PATTERSON

Mickey Patterson --

Resigns Church Ministry Here

Mickey Patterson has submitted his resignation as minister of the Church of Christ in Bovina, effective Feb. 1.

He will become minister of the Fourth Street Church of Christ in Portales, N.M. at that time.

The church is currently seeking a new minister for Bovina.

Patterson came here in the summer of 1968 and has served the Bovina congregation for one and one-half years.

"I have enjoyed working here," Patterson said. "This is a good place to work and live. I welcome the opportunity to serve the Portales church."

The Portales congregation maintains the Portales Children's Home, Patterson said, as well as the Bible chair at Eastern New Mexico University.

Proves Itself --

Snow Makes 'Weight Felt'

That fluffy, white stuff that covered Bovina over a week ago was not as soft and fluffy as it may have seemed.

The damage left behind carried more "weight" than many would have imagined.

A portion of the roof of Gaines Hardware collapsed under a snow drift that collected on the west side of the building. Some merchandise was also damaged inside the store, according to Neal Mager.

The heavy weight of last week's snow became a proven fact. Arriving at Elcor Corporation west of Bovina Monday morning, several men guessed at the weight of a waist-high drift on the scales there. All guessed less than 1,000 pounds. When the drift was weighed, the scales pointed to the vicinity of 3,600 pounds.

According to reports, the drift on the scales at Bovina Wheat Growers weighed a total of two tons --- 4,000 pounds.

since little warmth has occurred to melt the snow.

Low temperatures turned the snow to icy snow, causing streets to become slicker. Some thawing turned snow to moisture, only to freeze again at night, causing a glaze on streets.

Highways have been clear since last mid-week, but ice and packed snow still remain on city streets in many places. Driving has continued to be a hazard locally, although conditions on highways was back to normal.

City, county and state road crews have been busy the entire week or 10 days clearing roads. Much of the snow piled alongside Bovina streets still remains.

Snowfall Monday did not accumulate on the streets, partly because of accompanying winds -- and its "on again, off again" spasms.

Livestock owners had difficulty at times feeding and watering their animals. One said he had to haul water because troughs became solid ice. Others reported chopping through the ice to water became increasingly difficult as the cold week wore on.

Not since 1966 have temperatures remained below freezing for so long a period. In January that year, snow stayed on the ground for over two weeks.

Probably one of the most significant factors in Bovina is the lack of accidents during the hazardous driving period. There have been no reports of so much as a bent fender within city limits, according to City Marshal Ronald Mitchell.

Only report was on Dec. 29 when two calves were hit and killed on Highway 60.

Schools Begin Annual Census

School census will be taken during the month of January, announces L. F. Jacobs, superintendent.

Children who will be of school age will be enumerated in the census along with other students. This includes all who will be six years of age on or before Sept. 1, 1970 and not more than 18 years of age at the same date. The latter includes those who may be married.

Census blanks may be obtained at Bovina Schools, Jacobs said. Those who have children who will attend school for the first time next year especially are urged to obtain these blanks.

Students currently in school will be counted there. They will also be asked to list brothers and sisters that will attend for the first time next year. Although this method enumerates many of the pre-schoolers, not nearly all of them are counted in this way, Jacobs said.

Farmers are asked to make sure children of their farm hands are included in the census.

Deadline is Jan. 31 to meet state requirements.

Blanks may be obtained at the school tax office in Ridgelea Elementary or the superintendent's office.

PRESENTED CERTIFICATE --- Jerry Rigdon holds a certificate of license presented recently by the First Baptist Church of Bovina. A reception was held following the service.

First Baptist --

Church Honors Jerry Rigdon

The First Baptist Church of Bovina recently recognized Jerry Rigdon, currently serving in the Army at Ft. Bragg, North Carolina, with a reception following the evening service in which he was licensed by the church to the Gospel ministry.

The licensing of a minister, according to the pastor, Rev. Ken Moore, constitutes the recognition and encouragement of a congregation concerning the "gift" of preaching. It is not to be interpreted as an ordination, which is the act of setting a minister aside for a particular responsibility in a local congregation.

Rigdon, who is a native of Oklahoma, was graduated from Eastern New Mexico University at Portales with the B.A. and M.A. degrees. He is presently professor of mathematics for North Carolina's State University extension department. Rigdon will enter Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary in Ft. Worth as soon as he is separated from the service next year.

The Rebekah Sunday School Class sponsored the reception at which time they presented Rigdon with a gift of appreciation.

After Four Months --

Student Finds College 'Good'

Elodia Serna has spent her first four months in college.

She is grateful for the experience, provided primarily by her desire for a higher education and the Grace Paul Fund.

Graduating from Bovina High School in May, Elodia decided she'd like to be a physical education teacher. Knowing her desires, board members of the Grace Paul Fund here, in conjunction with Opportunity Plan, Inc. with headquarters at West Texas State University, approved her for sponsorship.

Arriving on the campus at Canyon, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Luis Serna soon found she wouldn't have the free time she had expected. It took most of her time keeping up with her school work.

Since beginning college, Elodia has also received a Civil Defense Grant. This enables her to attend school without relying so heavily on the Grace Paul Fund, which now will be used only as a supplement for her needs.

Both are made available on a "loan-type" basis. She must repay funds used from the Grace Paul program, but without interest. If she becomes a teacher, only one-half of the Civil Defense grant will have to be repaid.

With a major in elementary physical education, Elodia is minoring in history. She is doing well in all classes "with the exception of biology." The Opportunity Plan prefers its students to make a "C" average. If they do not, they are entered in a special study program and unless they prove they are trying, are dropped, Elodia says.

Tommy Allen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Allen of Bovina, is also attending WTSU on the Opportunity Plan. Tommy Sisco of Bovina was accepted for the Grace Paul Fund at University of Texas at El Paso, but so far has found it unnecessary to use the funds.

Elodia says she'd like to thank the Bovina people who made the Grace Paul Fund possible "to help students like me go to college."

"If it weren't for people like you in Bovina, there would be far less students having this kind of opportunity for an education."

"I am only sorry Miss Paul didn't live long enough to see this fund established in her honor. She believed in helping boys and girls achieve their goals and this would have made her happy."

Miss Paul died in October of 1968.

Elodia is happy. She has the opportunity of achieving her goal.

New Year's Breakfast Honors Coach Nitcholas

A breakfast held in the home of Meloney Marshall Thursday morning honored Coach Bill Nitcholas.

The event was held by the Fillies, Bovina girls basketball team. Nitcholas is the Fillies' coach.

Also attending were Mrs. Nitcholas and daughter, Stacey. Following basketball practice that morning, the team members and honored guests were served waffles, ham, bacon and sausage.

The Fillies passed a New Year's resolution, "A team that works together, wins together."

Twenty-seven girls attended. A New Year's pink elephant was the centerpiece for the event.

HAPPY NEW YEAR --- Coach and Mrs. Bill Nitcholas and Stacey, along with 27 members of the Fillies basketball team, started 1970 with a waffle breakfast Thursday morning. The event was given in honor of the Fillies' coach.

DEGREE WORK -- Over 20 members of Future Homemakers of America are beginning work toward a State Degree. First step is the Junior degree, which is now in progress by freshmen through senior girls. The Chapter Degree is the step before work is done on the State Degree, according to Mrs. Janie Potts, homemaking teacher. Making plans, top, are LaVerne Hambrick, Yolanda Mesza, Linda Stanberry, Becky Wellborn and Christina Garza. Planning landscaping project, center, are Gail Dixon, Kim Langer, Patti Mills and Yolanda Mesza. At bottom, Debra Sorley, Janee Russell, Honey Mast and Rosa Mesza talk over plans for redecorating an FHA bedroom in the homemaking cottage.

Scoopin' --- By Pat Jacobs

Barbara Spears brought a reproduction of a 1902 Sears Roebuck catalogue down to the office last week. It provided the staff with much entertainment. Those of us who collect antiques "had a ball" looking up items in possession and finding how much they originally cost.

For instance, Barbara has a high chair for which she has been offered over $60 that originally cost $1.69. Then there are the iron tea kettles going for $15 and over, at the low, low price of 38 cents. And that coffee mill priced $75 in the antique store first sold for $12.60.

The ones that "take the cake" are the lamps. We thought we had stolen a brass store lamp once for $35 -- especially after an offer of $75 was made for it. Actually, it originally cost $2.45.

And the very best "Gone With the Wind" lamp, treasured so highly by collectors, was only $6.95. Now one is lucky if the price tag is under $100.

Then there are round tables (with claw feet) for $12.45; hand-carved cupboards for $6.20; and gold leaf frames for $1.25.

Marble tombstones are even offered -- from $5.10 the best at $15.15.

The Venables could have bought their sleighs, back in 1902, for as low as $19.95. And the finest saddle on the market was $22.98.

Those trunks, available in almost any condition for in the neighborhood of $15, were only about $3 brand new.

The farm machinery section is almost an education in itself -- especially to those who weren't around to use it in those days.

We figured it'd make Possum Richards sick to look at those prices he could have bought all those items for -- so we didn't even show him the book.

It's always amazing how small this world proves to be. Christmas Eve found this family searching for a room down at Kingsland. Finally, checking into a remote motel we noticed only one other cabin was occupied. The car in front had a Colorado license tag.

The owner proved to be the operator of an antique shop in Gunnison, where we've left a few dollars over the years. A renewal of an old acquaintance turned up the fact the couple lives in that motel every winter on the shores of Lake LBJ.

No matter where one goes --- there's always someone you know.

Names Given Riley Twins

Two marriage licenses have been issued in Farmer County during the past week. The permits to wed went to Frank Goff and Franciel Erwin on January 1; and to Kelley Howard Graves and Susan Elaine Miller on Dec. 31.

dry up, lady!

Think about it.
Your biggest complaint about washday is probably the clothesline

And sheets, and jackets,

You don't like lifting,

CONSIDER THE TIME --- A NEW YEAR

It is a time for initiative -- for ten million actions great and small to set in motion a tide of care, converting desires into deeds and opportunities into accomplishments.

It is a time for courage -- to examine your conscience and measure how well you are meeting your responsibilities to God.

It is a time for self-examination --- to identify what new or added steps you can take as a responsible Christian citizen to meet the challenges which are before you.

It is a time to speak and act --- because participation is the essence of Christianity and democracy and the surest method for strengthening both. No one of us can forecast the future, but each of us can look forward to what is possible and probable. There are clear signs of oncoming requirements which shall require the best that each of us has to offer.

It is a time for initiative -- because great values are in the balance. Changes are being made for the betterment of man and more are coming. What is happening is worthy of our concern and needs our action.

It is a time for joining -- to bring your experience and views to bear, along with those of your neighbors, to developing possibilities and to establishing resource goals in our communities.

It is a time to become involved -- because inaction is usually an evidence of fear or apathy and neither is creditable to a man of honor or a servant of God.

It is a time for commitment -- because the job to be done is as large as the nation and the years for doing it may be short.

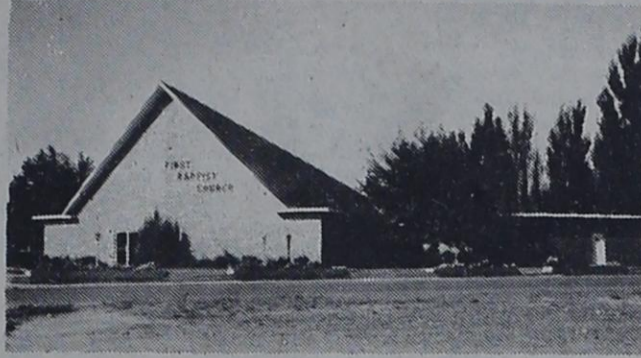

Consider the time! Consider it long! Consider it seriously! Consider it now!
