Splash day is set for Sunday afternoon at Sonora's Municipal pool. This will be the first day the pool will be open. Bob McMinn will be in charge of pool operation, and he plans to offer swimming lessons later in the summer.

The recipe for a successful vacation to take along half the clothes you'd planned, and twice the money.

Ever wonder what football yells were like way back when? John Eaton provided the answer when he loaned us a copy of "Texas Songs and Yells" published for the University of Texas (at Austin), 1910-11. Smith and Wilcox, a men's clothing store I don't remember as being around any more, published the book. Here are a few examples:

One Check Serves Purpose Of Many For Buyers Holding BankAmericards

will be found elsewhere in an advertisement giving the names of the participants.

The holder of a BankAmericard can make purchases from any firm—local, national or international—which honors the card, up to the limit set by the issuing bank.

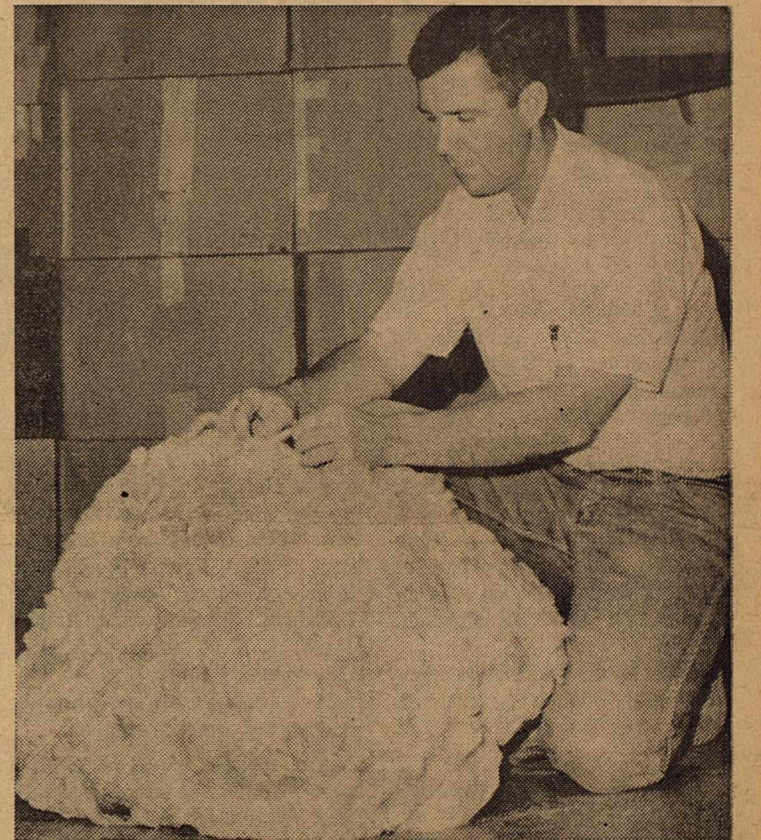

There are advantages to the consumer and to member merchants under terms of the program.

Some of the conveniences of the consumer is that they are not charged for obtaining a BankAmericard and there is no membership fee. Cardholders receive a monthly statement containing the total amount of their charges, plus individual copies of sales slips for each purchase.

Cardholders may pay the balance entirely, and if the balance is paid within 25 days of the billing date, there is no additional charge. Extended payment privileges are offered under the program for a small monthly service charge.

HOLDERS can use the card to make their purchases and have only one bill at the end of the month.

Several local merchants and businessmen are participating in the program. A list of these firms

AS THE DATE of the annual Wool & Mohair Show nears, Fred Campbell, manager of Sonora Wool and Mohair Co., displays an aged ram fleece entered by Mike Street. Campbell said that he expected a good many more entries before the deadline and hoped for several out-of-county entries. He said that clips were two to three pounds lighter than in the past, but that this was a general condition over the county, and not local. Dates for the show, which features the National 4-H Wool Judging Contest, are June 10, 11, and 12.

Wildlife Hearing Set For June 3

Nolan Johnson, game warden, reminds interested persons that a public hearing will be held June 3, at 10 a.m. at the 4-H Center for the purpose of gathering information concerning proposed hunting, fishing, and trapping regulations for Sutton County.

Johnson says that as the result of action taken by the Texas Legislature, the Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission is responsible for the setting of seasons, bag limits, and means and methods of taking the wildlife resource in the county.

All interested persons are urged to attend and comment upon the procedures.

The possibility of a spring season on turkeys will also be discussed at the meeting.

Teen Baseball Sponsors Needed

"We have the equipment but need personnel to help coach and manage teenage baseball," said Norm Rousselot, Tuesday. He and Jimmy H. Harris have plans to work with boys age 13-17 in a baseball program this summer, but need help from adults in some phases of the supervision.

While Rousselot expressed a desire to continue the program as it has been in the past, he emphasized that without adequate adult volunteers, there would be no boy's baseball program offered this year. Mrs. Warren Hemphill is in charge of the girl's baseball program.

THE LARGEST GRADUATING CLASS in Sonora High School's history make final adjustments to their caps and gowns before marching to take seats on the campus lawn for the commencement exercises. A youngster in the foreground probably dreams of the day he can take his place in line for his own graduation ceremonies.

Commencement exercises were held last Friday with Doyle Morgan as speaker, and Armer Earwood, president of the School Board, presenting the diplomas. Class president, Austin Stockton, introduced the speaker, and Sonora High School band played the processional and recessional.

Minimum Wage Law for Texas!

In a tricky bit of fast footwork and clever maneuvering, Senate sponsors of a proposed State Minimum Wage law succeeded in gutting a house-passed bill and substituting in its stead the same Senate bill they had earlier passed and delivered to the House.

Senate, the bill provided for virtually no exempting. Purpose was to include every business and every activity, including farming and ranching, under the minimum wage law.

Stubborn opposition faced the House bill when it came up in the lower chamber. As a consequence, some 40 amendments were tacked on—two of them probably due to your voters response.

Mob Action of College Students Said to Reflect Badly on Admittance

An outgrowth of the mob actions among college students is a considered opinion among many educators that too many young people are being admitted to colleges these days whose backgrounds do not qualify them for the advanced studies implicit in college training.

A survey of these disorders reveals that a majority of the trouble-makers are Negro militants, aided and abetted by radical whites and some fuzzy-minded professors.

Convincing evidence that many of the Black Union, Black Panther, Students for a Democratic Society (SDS) and other extremists are really seeking more easy money and preferred treatment than education, is becoming increasingly apparent.

Along the same line, but not confined to college students, in a "Black Manifesto" a newly formed Negro militant group is demanding that $500 million in "reparations" be paid to Negroes by white churches and synagogues throughout the country.

For more than 50 years The Federal Land Bank of Houston has provided DEPENDABLE agricultural real estate loans to Texas farmers and ranchers.

Many comparable demands, not related to college training, feature the excuses given for disruptions and disorders. Yet, a good many of this class are admitted (or are clamoring for admission) to colleges where this militant element practice mob-and-jungle type of warfare—wholly unrelated to education.

The tragedy of it is that so many school officials supinely yield to outlandish demands, thereby encouraging more and more of it. But surely the schools will in the future take a closer look at the qualifications—and motivations—of those who seek a higher education.

Our big annual festival is over, and it was a great success, thanks to the whole community. Except for little doings now and then, it will be September before we have our big Bazaar.

Our monthly Masses and Communion were held with the monthly meetings and breakfast after Mass. The main topic of conversation discussed, naturally is the building of the new church.

C.C.D. classes are over for the summer, but will reconvene in September. In the meantime, some of our teachers plan to take courses in teacher planning this summer.

After the luncheon, a meeting was held. It has been decided we need to have some roof repairs done, and hope to have it done soon. Our present stove has gone on the blink, and can't be repaired, so Ann and Whiskey Hill have donated another one. Thanks a lot you two.

Whether a redskin Rembrandt or just a feathered graffiti writer, the Indian of the Southwest has left his story on the rocks and cave walls of his former hunting ground. And it is this ancient art work that has become the subject of an intensive research by Mrs. Miriam Lowrance, associate professor of art at Sul Ross State University.

Her study of rocks in the Big Bend country has involved trips to sites in Brewster, Jeff Davis, and Presidio Counties.

Indian art designs on a decorative border around the old Big Bend Museum which was located on the Sul Ross campus promoted Mrs. Lowrance to photograph the border which was to be destroyed in a campus renovation project.

The art designs were said to have their origin in the Trans-Pecos so Mrs. Lowrance set out to find the sites of the Indian designs.

"We are getting our leads wherever we can," she says. "Four men have written about this area, but their work just touched the edge of the Big Bend area. We use their information to trace some art but lots of our finds come from information given to us by ranchers and deer hunters."

Mrs. Lowrance pointed out that rock art is fast disappearing. "We are attempting to record the art with color slides, drawings, and tracings of all findings," she said, "and we are checking on work discovered by other researchers and recording the amount of deterioration since their time."

The Indian paintings and designs range in size from two or three inches to six or eight feet. Sometimes the work is found at eye level and sometimes it is so high that a ladder is needed. Some of the art is hidden where one could easily pass over it.

"You have to know what you are looking for," says Mrs. Lowrance. "This area is one of the oldest settled and lends itself to many prehistoric as well as historic designs."

Some of the more recent findings give the Indian interpretations of the 16th century missions that were established on the Rio Grande. Also among the findings are petroglyphs, or carvings, depicting Indian life, varying colors of hand prints, footprints, maps and hunting routes.

One particularly interesting one says Mrs. Lowrance is the story of an Indian's life and adventure. It begins with one figure that could be going on a hunt, later adds a woman and a child, ends up with the one lone figure again. It even depicts Indian fashions by displaying a bone in the woman's hair.

Another, soot covered cave, was decorated with wide yellow and red designs on the ceiling. On fallen rocks in the cave were designs of covered wagons, horses, a tent, a water jug, and an Indian looking over a cliff. Two weeks later the cave was reported to have fallen down the canyon.

"This cave had not been recorded anywhere," said Mrs. Lowrance. "If we had not stumbled upon it when we did, many fine examples of rock art would have been lost. We do not know why, but many of these caves are falling. We are working against time, people, and nature, too."

The research is beginning to pay off as Mrs. Lowrance and her cave crew are now finding traces of the same techniques. In the past all findings were thought to be entirely different.

"I think it will be several more years before this art is researched," says Mrs. Lowrance. "But we are making headway."

So, either in the leather bound books of the masters or in the scratched rock glyphs of the Indian, the library of man continues to record his story.

THE FIRST OF ITS KIND EVER BUILT, this 4,000 horsepower V-16 engine arrived in Sonora recently and is shown here ready for unloading. The huge engine with a 13 inch piston and a 15 inch stroke will be used at the Coastal States Gathering Plant booster station 21 miles south of Sonora on the Del Rio highway, picking up natural gas at 600 psi and delivering it at 900 psi. Other booster stations are scheduled for Sanderson and Bandera areas. F. C. (Dink) Griggs of customer service, De Laval Turbine Inc., said the 4-cycle 130,000 pound engine which was manufactured in California uses natural gas as fuel, naturally, has a 10½ to 1 compression ratio, and runs at 600 rpm (compared to a car's idling speed of 800 rpm).

"Bull's-eye!" The arrow flew straight to the heart of the target. And so, straight to the heart of the matter fly the minds of young people today. In this age of advanced technology and far-flung communication, youngsters are better informed, geographically, politically, scientifically and economically than at any other time. No vague generalities, no sugar-coated probabilities will satisfy them. They want the facts and straight-to-the-point answers.

That's why your church recognizes the importance of having trained and devout leaders and teachers for its youth programs.

Graduation time salutes these people who give so much of their time and training to the Christian development of our children. Their dedication and devotion reflect their love of God in their ministry to the men and women of tomorrow.

When is the best time to go fishing?
Answer: Anytime you can get away!

There are many gadgets, tables and even devices that purport to tell you when there is a major biting period. And maybe they work.

However, with most of us, we go fishing whenever we can. And that's not enough.

Some fishermen go only when there is a run on. For instance, we have runs of white bass (sandies) at certain periods of the year in Texas. This is especially true during the spawning season in the early spring.

There is also a crappie run, usually about mid-March. Some fishermen are always ready for these runs, fair weather or foul. But again, most of us just go when we can.

Our fishing must fit a schedule of work or family obligations. Perhaps the best answer is to keep some tackle in your automobile at all times.

Several tackle companies—Shakespeare in particular—issue little pocket calendars which tell you that certain days and weeks are "best, good or poor". You can find almanacs which show good fishing days, or tell you when the moon is right.

But none of these can arrange your work so you can get away at just the precise time the biting is supposed to be best. Unless you are like the man who never lets business interfere with his fishing. Only a few can be so lucky.

Besides the fishing calendars and almanacs that tell you when it is the best time to fish, there are mechanical and electronic gadgets which tell you the best place to fish. They are supposed to locate fish, or if not fish, the reefs and holes where fish may be found.

Costal and off shore fishermen have been using this equipment and depth finders for years. But smaller and less expensive devices now have been developed for the inland fisherman. One by Lorance, Tulsa, called the Fish Locator, fits over the outside of the boat like an electric trolling motor. It costs considerably less than a motor. However some do run as high as $200. Smaller and less complicated measuring and temperature devices can be had for just a few dollars.

There are times of the year when it is interesting to study

"Lamb With a Future" Show Scheduled in San Angelo

The second annual "Lamb With a Future" Show is scheduled for June 20-22 in San Angelo. Sponsored by the Texas Sheep & Goat Raisers' Association, the show is designed to assist sheepmen to produce a more acceptable lamb for the market.

The live show will be June 20 at the San Angelo Fairgrounds. Carcass evaluation will be at the Armour and Company Plant in San Angelo June 21-22. Entry deadline is June 1. Entries must be in place by Thursday, June 19 at 5 p.m.

The lambs will be weighed on arrival. To be eligible to show they must fall within a live weight range of 75 to 105 pounds. The lambs must have a high dressing percentage and one that will grade high in the carcass. He must yield a high percentage of leg and loin which is highly palatable, and must reach market weight quickly with a minimum amount of feed.

The main objective of the annual "Lamb With a Future" Show is to assist producers in locating and intensifying bloodlines within the various breeds of sheep that will produce the lamb with a future.

Additional entry blanks may be obtained from the Texas Sheep & Goat Raisers' Association, 233 W. Twohig, Box 1486, San Angelo, Texas 76901.

TEXAS LIVESTOCK INDUSTRY CONTINUES TO GROW
Cash receipts from the marketing of livestock in Texas in 1968 were close to the billion dollar mark, reports Dr. Ed Uvacek, marketing specialist. The breakdown shows that cattle and calves accounted for over $900 million of the cash receipts; hogs and pigs for $52.3 million and sheep and lambs for more than $34 million.

Card of Thanks

Sincere appreciation to all of you who visited, sent cards, and other remembrances during my stay in the hospital. We especially thank the hospital staff and doctors for their care and kindnesses.

State Reports
Screw worm Cases

Texas finished the week Friday with 14 cases of screw worms—the same number as the previous week—and bringing the total to 107 in the state.

Arizona concluded the week with one more case, also the same as last week, bringing its total to 10 for the year.

Screw worm case outbreaks apparently have leveled off during the past few weeks, but recent rains and warm, humid temperatures are expected to be highly favorable for more cases, Mission Screw worm Eradication Program officials warn.

They urge all producers to continue the use of preventive practices and to report all suspected cases to the Mission Laboratory for identification.

Four screw worm cases were confirmed Friday, with one each in Starr, Hidalgo, Jim Wells, and Frio Counties. On Thursday, two cases were confirmed in Jim Hogg County and another in Kimble County near Junction.

BUSINESSMEN: Do You Suffer from LOST SHEEP?
Are you advertising to get new customers or to hold the ones you already have?
BOTH are important to the success of every business. It's not enough just to get new customers. You must also retain those you've had for many years... that is if you want to grow and grow and grow.
These lost sheep are especially important if they have been in your flock for a long, long time. Once lost they are harder than ever to find and to get them back into the fold takes much more effort than the initial sales job.
NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING is a written invitation to all the young and old, to do business with you. Don't ever forget to invite customers in... to thank them for coming... and to invite them back.
Best, most economical and most effective way to greet and meet the multitude is through the most effective media known to man... the Hometown Newspaper.

Dr. J. F. Howell Recovering At Home

Dr. and Mrs. J. F. Howell returned home Saturday from San Angelo, where he has been a patient in San Angelo hospitals since May 3, after he had suffered a slight stroke.

In talking with Mrs. Howell Monday, she said doctors told Dr. Howell that in time he could continue his work, but would have to limit his practice. At this time he has made no particular plans as to when he will resume his work.

Everyone was glad to see Dr. Howell downtown Monday morning and out at the hospital—"just to be sure everything is still here".

As Mrs. Howell pointed out, the most difficult part of the doctor's convalescence is keeping him satisfied in curtailing his activities after so many years of being on the run every place he went. Sutton Countians wish for Dr. Howell a continuation of his recovery, and are pleased with the progress he is making.

Construction crews will be in Sonora beginning Monday, June 2, to begin building a completely new television cable system throughout the town.

Although there will be slight interruptions in service (24 hours, or less, in most cases) while workmen replace cable and equipment in your area of town, we know the short interruption will be more than worth the quality of reception you are soon to receive.

The microwave transmission company that supplies us with television signal has applied to the Federal Communications Commission for a permit to replace their transmission system with new, more powerful, transistorized equipment. Upon approval and installation of this equipment difficulties arising outside our company's distribution system should be minimized.
