School Heads Get Ready To Begin New Term Aug. 25

With schools to open in less than three weeks, superintendent of schools Ken McAllister said most of the faculty openings have been filled. The kindergarten-music teaching position is open however, with requirements for teaching kindergarten stricter than most people realize, McAllister said.

Miss Jan Brown, a graduate of Angelo State University, of Harper, will be one of the teachers of English in high school.

John Partin has been hired as an assistant coach and teacher in Junior High School. Partin, who was recently discharged from the United States Navy, made his home with his parents in Keller. He is a graduate of Stephen F. Austin where he majored in Physical Education and Social Studies. He will assist in junior high football and track coaching and also girls' basketball.

McAllister said the first faculty meeting is scheduled for Thursday, August 21, and an additional meeting is planned August 22.

HIGH SCHOOL REGISTRATION
High School principal James Pollard says that high school students will begin pre-school registration August 18. High school enrollment is expected to be approximately 246. Sonora schools will officially open and classes begin August 25.

Seniors and Juniors will register August 18, 9 a.m. to 12 noon, and sophomores and freshmen student registration has been set for August 19, at 9 a.m. to 12 noon.

Pollard says that all new students coming in for the first time are asked to register as soon as possible in order to avoid unnecessary delays. These new students may register at any time in the high school office.

JUNIOR HIGH REGISTRATION
Junior High School registration dates are the same with eighth grade students registering the first day and seventh graders Tuesday, according to Bob McMinn, principal of the Junior High School. The hours for registering will also be from 9 a.m. to 12 noon.

CENTRAL ELEMENTARY

Clay Cade, principal of Central Elementary School, says registration for kindergarten pupils is planned for August 18 and 19 from 9 a.m. to 11:30 a.m.

Cade adds that to be eligible to attend kindergarten classes, children must have reached their fifth birthday on or before September 1, 1969, and must present a birth certificate at the time of registration.

Tuition is tentatively set at $15 a month, and is payable the first of each month in advance, Cade said.

Also on the above dates, pupils who will be new to Sonora schools, and who will be in grades 1-6, are asked to pre-register at this time.

BAND DIRECTOR HIRED

Coming as band director is Herb Faseler of San Antonio, whose parents live in Hondo. Faseler plans a general meeting of the band members at 8 p.m. August 15, with rehearsals to begin Monday, August 18. Band members will receive a letter from Faseler giving details of practice plans.

Faseler will move his family here the latter part of August. He and his wife have five children and the family is Methodist.

$2.4 Million Pumped into Economy Of County in 1968 From Oil & Gas Wells

Sutton County oil and gas wells pumped some $2.4 million into the county's economy last year, according to a study just released by the Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association.

Value of production from oil wells was $1.7 million and from natural gas wells, $717,000 based on the most recent U.S. Bureau of Mines figures compiled by the Association. The county ranked 143rd in the state in value of production.

"Output from Sutton County is part of this country's domestic oil supply which is endangered by some of the proposals now before Congress," commented Corbin J. Robertson, Associate president. "Attempts to destroy percentage depletion provisions of our income tax laws and to nullify present controls over imported oil markets now shared by the county would be given over to foreign producers.

Last year, the county produced 592,000 barrels of crude oil and 5.5 billions cubic feet of natural gas.

Of this total, county landowners and others with mineral interests received royalty payments of $306,000.

The state received $130,000 in production taxes with crude oil accounting for $80,000 and natural gas $50,000.

Drilling expenditures were estimated $1.1 million. Of the 12 wells drilled in the county, 1 was completed as an oil well and 1 as a gas well, according to Ira Rinehart's Yearbook. The 10 dry holes cost $751,000. There were 7 wild-cats drilled.

Lions Luncheon With Germans Planned Friday

Lions will host 34 German youths who are touring Texas with a barbecue luncheon at the City Municipal Park Friday at 12:15 p.m. Accompanying the group are Mr. and Mrs. George E. Bushong, Surry G. Shaffer Jr., Karen Spivey, Mark Sivertsen, Cindy Dickinson and Joanne De Angellis.

HISTORY TALK FOR SCOUTS

When Sonora scouts meet tonight (Thursday) at 7:30 p.m. at the Scout Hall, John Eaton will talk to the group on the history of Sonora. All scouts and interested adults are invited to participate, according to Jimmy Cahill, scoutmaster, who also reminds scouts that Saturday's fishing trip will be discussed.

THESE PRE-SCHOOLERS completed a two-week swimming course last week at the municipal pool. Mrs. Bob McMinn taught the group of youngsters who received instruction in basic principles of swimming. Espy Whitehead, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bud Whitehead, and Holly King, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John T. King, are shown in the foreground. Other children shown include Joe Will Ross, Taylor Whitehead, Kitty McMinn, Kathryn Parker, Louise and Ben Ingham and Brad Johnson.

Community Outdoor Services Scheduled By First Baptist Church Membership

The membership of the First Baptist Church will host two outdoor fellowship meetings in August. The first meeting will be held at the Joe Lane home, west of town August 10, and the second will convene at the Jamie Parker ranch home east of town (Fort Terrett ranch) August 24.

Services will begin at 7 p.m. on each occasion and a picnic supper will follow. The Rev. Clifton Hancock, pastor of First Baptist Church, said each family is urged to bring a picnic supper and enjoy the meetings, visiting and fellowship. He added that the church will furnish the drinks — "Baptist Brands only" — for the outings.

The Rev. Jim Hancock, pastor of First Baptist Church in Ozona, will be the speaker for the August 10 meeting, and the Rev. John Weston, pastor of the First United Methodist Church, will speak at the August 24 meeting.

Joe Lane will lead the singing, and the Rev. Mr. Hancock says that everyone is invited.

Mrs. Gail Espy Schoenewolf has gone to Hawaii to meet her husband. He is on R&R from Vietnam.

CINDERS

By John T. King

Wanda Cahill came by with this article which we pass along to our readers for their enlightenment. It is surprising to note how applicable these statements that were written in 1919 are to many situations of the present time.

In May of 1919 at Dusseldorf, Germany, the Allied Forces obtained a copy of some of the "Communist Rules for Revolution. Nearly fifty years later, the Reds are still "following the rule." As you read the list, stop after each item and think about the present-day situation where you live — and all around our nation. We quote from the Red Rules.

- A. Corrupt the young, get them away from religion. Get them interested in sex. Make them superficial, destroy their ruggedness.
- B. Get control of all means of publicity, thereby:
  1. Get people's minds off their government by focusing their attention on athletics, sexy books and plays and other trivialities.
  2. Divide the people into hostile groups by constantly harping on controversial matters of no importance.
  3. Destroy the people's faith in their natural leaders by holding the latter up to contempt, ridicule and obloquy.
  4. Always preach true democracy, but seize power as fast and as ruthlessly as possible.
  5. By encouraging government extravagance, destroy its credit, produce fear of inflation with rising prices and general discontent.
  6. Foment unnecessary strikes in vital industries, encourage civil disorders and foster lenient and soft attitude on the part of the government toward such disorders.
  7. By specious argument cause the breakdown of the old moral virtues, honesty, sobriety, continence, faith in the pledged word, ruggedness.
- C. Cause the registration of all firearms on some pretext, with a view to confiscate them and leaving the population helpless.

HERBERT FIELDS HAPPILY EXHIBITS the kind of bait worm that fishermen as well as commercial breeders are delighted to find when they are out for the "big ones." Here are shown a portion of the concrete troughs that house the African night-crawlers where they are produced in a mixture of peat moss and peanut hulls. The troughs have concrete bottoms in order to lessen chances of escape for the bait worms.

Raising Commercial Bait Worms Adds To Woes Of Herbert Fields

The day of digging for bait worms in a garden spot is fast disappearing with the commercial raising of worms for the ever-growing needs of the fisherman. It is generally conceded that the common field or garden worm is the best possible bait worm, but these worms are available only two or three months out of each year and do not lend themselves to easy propagation because their reproduction rate is so slow.

Many commercial earthworm raisers are turning to the African nightcrawler, and a new business opened here when Herbert Fields decided to try his hand at raising the worms.

Fields bought his first bunch of worms in November, '68 and just as quickly almost went out of the business when the whole batch of 30-35,000 froze. It does not take freezing temperatures to freeze worms, Fields pointed out. He said he has not really discovered just what the temperature has to be to kill them but he suspects when it gets below 50 degrees it is too cold for the worms.

Many types of worms are used for bait when fishing, and there are probably seven or eight that are raised commercially; however some say the African nightcrawler, as it is known, is fast becoming the choice of fishermen because of its availability, and of worm breeders because of its adaptability to propagation in pits and bins.

Fields is raising the nightcrawlers, which incidentally were discovered originally in Florida and the southern states, in concrete troughs filled with a mixture of peat moss and peanut hulls. Fields says nearly every commercial breeder of worms has different ideas as to the "secret" for successful raising of the earthworms, but most of the breeders are quick to state that no one person can ever learn everything about the operation and what proves profitable for one might not for the other.

A majority of the producers try to sell worms when they average two to four inches in length. Fields packages them in pint boxes. Currently he is seeking new markets for placement of the crawlers, although he supplies some locally to business establishments.

Fields, who says there are many things to learn in producing good worms for satisfied customers, believes he has a degree in college in "wormology" now and told this to a friend, who is an earthworm breeder, in San Antonio. He agreed with his friend that he has a long ways to go to earn his "masters", and many more years of hard work for the "doctors" degree.

Although it may sound simple and easy to one not familiar with all the science of raising earthworms, the truth is that producers have much to learn and work hard. The worms must be protected from many different

A Calendar of Facts and of Opinions

"In our country, we believe that our established democratic system under the rule of law is the best means to achieve rights and freedoms," states Mr. J. Edgar Hoover in the publication "FBI Law Enforcement Bulletin."

"Justice and equality should be the goal of all men, but not all men want the obligations which make these ideals possible. Rights and liberties under a free society are not automatically accrued. They require a heavy and continuous investment of civic duty and individual responsibility—let us remember that these cherished freedoms depend upon the law—and each of us."

The Argentine telephone company will for the first time have a time and number limit on telephone calls. Theoretically, a housewife could have made 500 calls in one month, each lasting over an hour and still pay the basic rate of $2.28. Now, however, a three-minute time limit has been set on all calls. A one-cent charge will be levied for each additional three minutes. And all phone owners are limited to a certain number of free calls per month, according to the magazine "Telephone."

It was noted by the Management Center of Cambridge in Burlington, Massachusetts, that the secretary, beyond pencil and typewriter, is in many ways the "forgotten person" in business. She is not only an extension of her employer, who assigns and directs her activities, but also largely her own boss. She must determine her own goals, conduct her own human relations program and guide her own development. The more effectively she can do these things, the more she will find personal satisfaction in her job—and the more she can contribute to her company.

According to a release of the Public Service Company of Colorado, the United States produced more oil than any other nation last year with a record-breaking output of more than 3.3 billion barrels. The nation's oil production has doubled since 1944. The 1968 figure was more than 130 million barrels above the total for 1967. Second place among the oil-producing nations was held by the Soviet Union. Although increasing its output, the USSR still lags behind the United States by more than a billion barrels a year. Oil production in the U.S. during 1968 averaged 9.1 million barrels a day, compared to about 6.2 million for the Soviets.

A colorful booklet, published by the American Red Cross, entitled "What Generation Gap?", reports: "When disaster strikes or threatens, everyone is part of the now generation. This was true when Red Cross first moved to help victims in the Michigan forest fires of 1881. It was even truer in the spring of 1969 when flooding rivers waged a muddy assault on hundreds of communities in North and South Dakota, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa, Illinois, Nebraska, and Missouri. As the protection of life and property became the pressing problem of the day, the generation gap closed tight."

Associate Justice Alfred T. Goodwin of the Oregon Supreme Court remarked: "Governments have been instituted among men because human society does not tolerate anarchy."

STATE Capital NEWS
 By VERN SANFORD

September 1 is the date suggested by Gov. Preston Smith for the special committee, now investigating auto insurance rates in Texas, to report its recommendations to the governor.

Former Gov. Price Daniel, chairman of the committee, has expressed doubt that the group will be able to make that deadline. But he says "we are going to try."

Lots of insurance industry representatives showed up to listen, chat with reporters, and speculate as to just what was likely to come out of the committee's work.

Governor Smith, in his address to the committee, stressed that the investigation was not a "witch hunt" nor was it an attempt to "punish" the insurance industry. But he also said that unless increases in auto insurance rates were "absolutely essential," they should not be made—and if they were absolutely necessary, the people deserved to know why.

Capitol press rooms were deluged with memoranda and bulletins from various insurance associations, giving background information, stating positions and generally pledging support and assistance to the committee.

First meeting of the committee produced little information, except a show of determination by its seven members to find a way to lower auto insurance rates or to present a "concise and clear explanation" to Texas drivers as to why their rates are going up.

And this will take a lot of explaining.

State Board of Insurance has agreed to a 30-day delay in its auto rate decision, usually made on August 1. Board has proposed a minimum rate hike of 11.4 percent. This increase would apply only to drivers of private passenger cars. Individual rates would fluctuate in keeping with the accident experience record in each area.

EDUCATION

Coordinating Board of the Texas College and University System has increased the rate for loans to students from six to seven percent. This rate applies to all future loans granted under the Hinson-Hazelwood Act.

Board also approved a common calendar for all state supported colleges and universities. Such schools will begin classes for the first week of September. Final examinations for the fall semester will end just prior to the Christmas holidays.

INTEGRATION

More than thirty school districts around the state are threatened with losing federal funds if federal desegregation guidelines, proposed by the Department of Health Education and Welfare, are not followed.

A Houston Federal Court may have found a way for the Houston School Board to get around losing funds because of integration problems. It has ordered the Houston School Board and the Educational Desegregation Technical Assistance Center at the University of Texas to work out the integration problems.

Bob Reynolds, project director said no contract has yet been made and noted that this is the first time the federally-financed center has been ordered by a court to work with a local board.

COURTS

Sundaco, the "Only - on - Sunday" retail firm which leases other stores on a once a week basis, can stay in business until Attorney General Martin proves it is illegal.

State Supreme Court has turned down Sundaco's appeal of a lower court's refusal to say whether Sundaco is violating antitrust laws. And the Supreme Court endorsed the appellate court's decision not to issue an opinion on antitrust or Sunday closing laws until the State Attorney General takes action.

Sundaco buys merchandise from certain stores every Saturday night, and sells it back to the owner every Sunday evening, thus circumventing the Sunday Closing Law and allowing the merchandise to be sold seven days a week.

State Supreme Court also has reversed the decision of an appeals court in the George Riveria Santana case.

Santana was tried as a juvenile delinquent in a Texas Youth Council hearing and convicted.

An appeals court reversed that decision saying he should have been tried as an adult—in which case he might have gotten off.

However, the Supreme Court reversed the appeal's court decision and said the trial court will decide if a trial or hearing was needed and upheld his conviction as a juvenile delinquent.

THE DEVIL'S RIVER PHILOSOPHER SEZ
He Can List A Number of Advantages Of Man's Conquering of the Moon

Editor's note: The Devil's River Philosopher on his bitterweed ranch on Dry Devil's River reacts to the moon trip this week, in his own particular way.

Dear editor:

"Now that we've got to the moon, what are we going to do with it?" a neighbor asked me yesterday.

I know this is a question a lot of people are asking but that's because they haven't put their minds to it.

Didn't they see those astronauts striding around up there? Take a step and go six feet instead of three before your foot comes down. Bounded out of sight of the camera before you knew it.

Right off, anybody ought to be able to see that's the place to hold the 1972 Olympics.

It'd be sensational. Pole vault 50 feet, high jump 20, while down here on earth athletes are straining themselves trying to see which one can be first to pole vault a measly 18 feet and high jump 8. What's the record on earth for the shot put? Less than 72 feet.

Up there I figure 200 feet would be a snap. Furthermore, no contest would ever be postponed on account of rain.

This is just a start. There are other uses for the moon.

Think how easy it'd be to have a crop control program up there.

Also, how could you have an air-pollution problem when you've got no air at all?

Furthermore, you won't catch any cities dumping their sewage into lakes and streams up there.

Having to carry your oxygen in a back pack, think how few people would risk using their supply singing with a rock-and-roll band. The hollering thus eliminated would justify a large portion of the moon costs.

Think the earth eventually will be paved over entirely with highways? The moon is paved already.

People aren't taking a broad enough view of the moon business.

Yours faithfully,
 J. A.

STATE Capital NEWS

By VERN SANFORD

By Vern Sanford
Texas Press Association

It started all over again Monday (July 29). Legislators were back at the capitol, finishing up the finance chores they left dangling in their regular session.

Gov. Preston Smith, who called the special session after he rejected lawmakers' no-tax, one-year budget and insisted on adoption of a balanced biennial appropriations bill, apparently spelled out his recommendations on opening day.

Smith has been conducting a series of talks with business and industry leaders, exploring tax ideas. Legislators are expected to have to come up with a revenue measure totalling $300 million or more.

Governor abandoned the idea of waiting until after August 5 vote on an $80 million welfare spending limit and other proposed constitutional amendments. Advisors and legislative leaders told him lawmakers will need every one of the 30 days allotted for the special session to complete the big money job at hand.

Key legislative leaders have already done some spadework on a $5.6 billion two-year budget for the fiscal period extending through August 31, 1971. No major difficulties are anticipated here, although some hitch could develop.

New court bills also are being drawn in preparation for special session effort to enact a measure to replace the courts measure vetoed by Smith last month as reaching his desk too late.

INSURANCE PROBE ON

Two tough critics of the insurance industry on occasion were named by the governor to his nine-member citizens committee which will investigate auto policy rate increases.

Smith named the panel after State Insurance Board staffers recommended an 11.4 percent rate increase.

Chairman will be former Gov. Price Daniel, who took on the insurance companies in 1961 when claims arising from Hurricane Carla damage were being rejected. Another member is former Secretary of State John Hill, a Houston attorney, who frequently handles cases against insurance companies. Other members include Highway Commission Chairman D. C. Greer of Austin; Harry Hubbard of the AFL-CIO staff (which has repeatedly challenged auto insurance rate increases); Odessa attorney W. O. Shafer (who defends insurance companies); Lubbock accountant Edwin E. Merriman; Austin editor Sam Wood; Dallas television newsmen Eddie Barker and Dr. Alford R. Hazzard, an Austin physician.

OIL ALLOWABLE SLICED

For the second consecutive month, Railroad Commission cut the statewide oil allowable, setting the August figure at 53.1 percent of potential.

Top production would be 3,310,997 barrels a day. Allowable was lowered from 63.5 percent of potential in June to 54.7 percent in July. Nine major producers requested the same allowable as July, three sought less and only two asked for more oil during August.

COURTS SPEAK

Supreme Court affirmed a farm anti-picketing order which labor unions claimed blunted the strike of field hands in the Rio Grande Valley.

Court also upheld the Ector County District Court's decision that it did not have jurisdiction in a libel case brought by Nathan Curry of Odessa against Dell Publishing Company because a story in Front Page Detective said he was guilty of a murder after he had been found not guilty by a Palo Pinto County jury.

A former employee of Sears, Roebuck and Company had no good reason to wait 16 months before filing claims for on - job injuries, Supreme Court said.

Third Court of Civil Appeals overruled state cancellation of two Rio Grande Valley water permits (of 1918 and 1928).

Court of Criminals Appeals has thrown out the conviction of a San Antonio man who dressed as a woman in public because he was tried under an old Ku Klux Klan law prohibiting wearing of a mask in public.

ATTORNEY GENERAL RULES

A Richmond State School employee who got tuberculosis as a result of a psychological exam of a tubercular patient is entitled to medical expenses from the school appropriations, Atty. Gen. Crawford C. Martin held.

In other recent opinions, Martin concluded that:

—Potter County officials can keep land granted in 1904 for a courthouse and jail though they plan to build on other property and sell the old tract.

—New amendment concerning drive-a-way in transit license plates applies only to movement of new house trailers, trailers and semi-trailers.

127 Voters Cast Ballots In Election

Sutton Countians followed the trend more or less with other Texas voters in voting for Amendments 1, 5 and 7 and for the water amendment 2, which apparently was approved in West Texas, but disapproved in East Texas.

Only 127 voters of the county's 1500 qualified voters cast ballots in the election.

Zesty Vegetables Aid Heart Diet

(Moderate changes in the typical American diet can reduce the risk of heart attack, says the Texas Heart Association. Medical and nutrition authorities of the Association recommend a change to fat-controlled, low cholesterol meals. This article discusses the preparation of vegetables and polyunsaturated oil dressings.)

An endless variety of vegetables can be eaten in a heart-helping diet. Herbs and spices can give added zest to cooked vegetables, and when used in combination with polyunsaturated oils in sauces and dressings, can provide subtle flavorings while avoiding the use of butter, cream and egg yolks.

Polyunsaturated fats, used in cooking vegetables and in sauces and dressings, may help lower cholesterol levels by helping the body to eliminate excess, newly-formed cholesterol. Polyunsaturated fats usually are liquid oils of vegetable origin, such as corn, cottonseed, safflower, sesame seed, soybean and sunflower seed oils. Olive oil and peanut oil are low in polyunsaturated fats and neither raise nor lower blood cholesterol.

Here are some recipes for cooking vegetables and making sauces:

SEASONED BROCCOLI
1 (1-pound) bunch fresh broccoli, or 1 (10 ounce) package frozen broccoli
1 tablespoon vegetable oil
¼ teaspoon dry mustard
Salt and pepper as desired
3 tablespoons water
¼ teaspoon dill seed

If using fresh broccoli, trim and wash but do not dry. Measure oil into a saucepan or skillet with a tight-fitting cover. Add broccoli, dry mustard, dill, salt, pepper, and water; cover. Cook over medium to low heat about 15 minutes, or until tender, separating frozen vegetables with a fork during first few minutes of cooking. Shake covered pan several times to prevent sticking. Makes 3 servings.

RICE AND MUSHROOM PILAU
¼ cup vegetable oil
½ pound mushrooms, sliced
½ cup chopped onions
¼ cup chopped green pepper
One 1-pound can (2 cups) canned tomatoes
½ cup water
1 cup uncooked rice
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
1½ teaspoons salt
Few grains pepper

Heat oil in large, deep skillet. Add mushrooms, onions and green pepper and cook slowly until tender and lightly browned. Add tomatoes and water; bring to boil.

Add rice and remaining ingredients. When mixture boils again turn heat low. Cover and cook, about 30 minutes or until rice is tender. Makes about 6 servings.

NOTE: If drier rice is desired cover may be removed for last 5 minutes of cooking.

NEVER FAIL MAYONNAISE
½ teaspoon sugar
½ teaspoon dry mustard
¼ teaspoon salt
Dash red pepper
1 egg white
1 cup vegetable oil
4½ teaspoons vinegar

Stir sugar, dry mustard, salt, and red pepper together in bowl. Add egg white; beat well with rotary beater. Beating constantly, add half the oil, a little at a time. Continue beating while adding 1½ teaspoon vinegar, then the remaining oil, a little at a time, and then the remaining 3 teaspoons vinegar. Makes about 1 cup.

BASIC FRENCH DRESSING
2/3 cup vegetable oil
1/3 cup vinegar or lemon juice
Seasonings to taste:
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon pepper
½ teaspoon sugar
¼ teaspoon paprika

Combine ingredients in jar and shake well. Vary seasonings to taste with dry mustard, minced onion or garlic, etc. Makes 1 cup. For additional recipes and information on the heart-helping diet, ask the Texas Heart Association for the companion booklets, "The Way to a Man's Heart," and "Recipes for Fat-Controlled, Low Cholesterol Meals."

THE WINNING SIDE

The kids in the grandstand are yelling, "Strike him out!" and our young pitcher is going to do exactly that. This is his day for a shut-out game . . . his day to win.

He's feeling pretty good about it, and who's to blame him? But what if things had gone the other way? What if some other boy had been warming up in the bullpen, about to have taken his place? But he is a well-balanced youngster, and he would have taken that in stride, too.

He has learned about being a good sport, about regard for his fellow men, and about many other equally important things in Church. For, like thousands of other American youngsters, the Church already plays an important part in his life. That is one reason why his parents have faith in the fact that he will grow up to be a pretty fine man.

Summertime Jobs

HARD AT WORK is Betty Hearn, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hearn. Betty spends several hours a day arranging, and dusting merchandise, etc., at Westerman Drug.

Vandals throughout the nation continue to be a roadblock against more open-recreation facilities which could be made available to those who want to enjoy the great outdoors.

From Washington the American Forestry Institute recently issued a report on this subject covering a survey of 254 company-owned forest areas.

In 60 of the areas they found signs destroyed. In 58 trash and litter were dumped at unauthorized places. There were 44 thefts of company property; 36 improvement destructions; 31 forest fires started; 36 instances of killing and cutting trees; 30 gates destroyed; and many other illegal acts.

This destruction was on private property, where, through a cooperative effort, the owners made the property available and even furnished facilities for recreation users.

Estimated cost of this vandalism was $436,000.

AFI's survey covered 65 million acres of land where public facilities were made available. Some at a slight charge. On this acreage there were 1,832 campsites and 2,315 picnic tables, all for use of the general public. Yet the public persisted in its destruction.

Vandalism continues to be one of the greatest flaws in our recreation program. Vandals and litterbugs cause needless waste of millions of dollars in recreation money each year.

Our own Texas Highway Department has litter barrels every few miles along the state's highways. These are emptied daily.

Still there are literally thousands of tissue paper, beer bottles and soda pop cans tossed along the highways. These are the major items, but there are others. Some drivers don't even worry about seeing that their discarded glass bottles do not fall on the highway.

These "Scatterbugs" are the people who make it harder on those who want to enjoy the outdoors. They should be reported, so that they may be taken into court and given whatever punishment is prescribed by law. Maximum fine is $200.

As a result of vandalism and littering, many of the companies owning forests lands now are charging fees for their use. More will do so if the littering and breaking continues. This is to help take care of such needless expenses.

Naturally whatever is spent for repair and replacement as well as "housekeeping" comes out of funds appropriated for improvements. So it behooves those of us who want more parks, more boat launching ramps, more lakes and more recreation to report those who violate and vandalize.

Texas has experienced much vandalism. Even its new state parks and sometimes the roadside parks along the highways are badly damaged. Highway department trucks are busy every day picking up bottles and papers that have been strewn along otherwise beautiful roads by litterbugs. Just by littering we can destroy the very outdoors we want to enjoy.

It's time to quit saying we don't want to get involved and start lending a hand to those who need help to enforce our laws. The least we can do is report the violators.

Accent On Health

Cancer often is spoken of as a "silent disease" because of the way it develops in many cases without producing any noticeable symptoms. And this silence can be deadly.

Pain, which is most often thought of as accompanying diseases, generally isn't present with cancer until it is far advanced and has passed the "silent" stage, reports the Texas State Department of Health.

Usually cancer can be treated satisfactorily if detected in the early stages. The difficulty in cancer control lies in early detection of the disease. This is the reason regular—at least yearly—physical examinations are so important.

Only a physician can tell if cancer is present. Any suspicious symptoms should be examined by the family physician. But often, by the time symptoms of cancer show up, it is too late for cure. Treatment of advanced cancer is difficult.

All physician's offices should be cancer detection centers. The family doctor is the front line against cancer. And for a physical checkup, whether cancer is suspected or not, the personal physician is the logical person to see. If cancer is suspected, the family doctor may refer his patient to a specialist, if necessary.

Cancer of the uterus, or womb, is the third most deadly form of cancer in women. Yet, it can be detected in the very early stages by a simple test—the Pap smear—which can be done painlessly and quickly in the doctor's office. Early detection can lead to a 100 percent cure. Last year at Dallas and San Antonio cervical cancer detection projects, supported by the State Health Department, 13,914 tests from around the state were screened with 38 reported as positive.

The thorough physical examination should include inspection of the skin surface followed by examinations of various organs such as the heart, lungs, stomach, intestines, rectum, reproductive organs and breasts.

X-rays of the chest and other parts of the body if indicated and a proctoscopic examination (visual inspection of the lining of the rectum and lower bowel with a lighted tube) should also be performed.

A proctoscopic examination is important since cancer of the colon and rectum can be discovered this way.

If a physician suspects cancer, a biopsy may be performed and a sample of the suspect tissue sent for microscopic examination by a pathologist. This type of examination is the only way to differentiate the presence of a cancer or a benign tumor.

The individual is the key to the prompt diagnosis of cancer. For only if a person presents himself to his physician can the presence or absence of cancer be determined.

With regular physical checkups the "silent" disease can often be detected.

THIS MARKER INSCRIPTION reads: Established March 14, 1852 by the United States War Department as a protection to frontier settlers against hostile Indians. Named in honor of Captain Henry McKavett, who fell at the battle of Monterey, September 21, 1846. Evacuated by Federal troops March 22, 1859. Reoccupied April 1, 1868-abandoned June 30, 1883.

Fort McKavett Cistern Again Covered

Fay Cox, Standard Times staff writer, in an article in the San Angelo Standard-Times said the folks of Fort McKavett are beginning to learn the outs and ins of fort restoration from the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

FORT MCKAVETT—The folks at Fort McKavett are beginning to learn the outs and ins of fort restoration from the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

The department, at Fort McKavett to restore portions of the fort decided to erect a flag pole somewhere near the original site.

Under the direction of Bob Houser, head of the Parks and Wildlife Department in San Angelo, workers began digging in an area on private property to situate the flag pole. As luck would have it, in digging the hole they found seven feet of the original flagpole and the four support stanchions.

However, the group having the "luck of the Irish" with them, also found something else there—a hand-dug cistern.

The group excavated the cistern and looked at it, took pictures of it and then filled it back in.

Most Fort McKavett residents have no earthly idea why the group filled the area back in instead of leaving it uncovered and marked.

According to the postmaster there, the men just dug it up and filled it back up and graded over it because it was in the middle of the road.

The cistern is 4½ to 5 feet in depth and is 4 by 6 foot in width, according to Mrs. Francis Fish of Menard, a member of the Fort McKavett Restoration Corp.

"How it got to be there and who used it is a mystery at this point. Houser has a man in Washington checking the records there for some information on it," said Mrs. Fish.

The cistern, according to Mrs. Fish is estimated to be approximately 100 years old and is in the midst of the Fort complex.

"The Parks and Wildlife Department won't do anything with the cistern until sometime this winter or next spring when they begin work on the rest of the fort again," said Mrs. Fish.

"I think they covered the cistern back up to protect it from vandalism. We wouldn't want to lose it after all this time," she said. The big story, according to Mrs. Fish is not the cistern but the part of the old flagpole that was covered.

"We were lucky they found that piece of the fort's history," she said.

The project is to provide information through research, excavation and testing, that will assist in the authentic restoration and interpretation of the fort buildings and structures.

Fort McKavett is one of five historic sites acquired under authority of the Historic Sites and Structure Act.

Established in 1852, the fort played a vital role in frontier defense until it was abandoned in 1883.

Described as an impressively large establishment at the height of its development, the complex at one time included officers' quarters; barracks; kitchens; mess rooms; shops for carpenters; wheelwrights, saddlers and blacksmiths; commissary and store-kind of natural enemies, they must be fed, watered, sheltered, harvested and sold. None of these things are easy, and some can run into real labor.

The Fields ranch is a busy place indeed with the many projects that are undertaken on the ranch. Besides ranching operations, planting of fields, and the job of caring for the cage hen layers, housing is also available for hundreds of young chickens. These are raised to take the place of the older hen when production falls off and keeping them would not be profitable for one in the egg business. With all this then is added the raising of the giant worm, perhaps it is no wonder Fields wife, Loise, calls the place "Fields Folly!"

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department is struggling to begin restoration of a few of the abandoned ruins that are almost all that is left of Fort McKavett. The department is formulating plans for the restoration of the three buildings now under its jurisdiction, the schoolhouse and two barracks.

Long range plans of the Department include the establishment of an historic park for Texas at Fort McKavett.

The Restoration corporation has plans to build a displays and visitors center for the general public when the park is developed, according to officials.

Sonoran's Nephew Cited for Bravery

Captain Robert T. Wood, son of Mrs. Catherine Wood of Lewisville, has been recommended for an award for bravery in Vietnam. Captain Wood is a nephew of J. Wray Campbell, and graduated from Sonora High School several years ago while he made his home with Mr. and Mrs. Campbell.

The First Officer of B Co., Lt. Donald I. Paquin stated that his company had been in heavy combat with the enemy and withdrew to a small loading zone in Vietnam to call for a Medevac aircraft. The company had suffered six wounded during the day's fighting.

"Two helicopters approached the loading zone and were unable to land because of intense and accurate automatic weapons fire," Medevac 5, piloted by Captain Wood, arrived and was advised of the enemy situation by Lt. Paquin who explained that two helicopters had been hit earlier and the loading zone was not secure.

Captain Wood replied to Lt. Paquin, "I'm not going to worry about that, get your wounded ready. I'm coming in."

With great skill and precision,

Medevac 5 was guided over the loading zone and began to settle to the ground.

Approximately 50 feet above the zone, the skids on Captain Wood's helicopter received hits from an automatic weapon located in a concealed position southwest of the zone.

With complete disregard of the enemy ground fire, Captain Wood continued his approach and landed the aircraft. He took aboard four walking wounded and two litter patients.

Captain Wood holds other decorations for bravery in combat while on a previous tour of duty in Vietnam.

He took his helicopter straight up into full view of the enemy and successfully got the wounded to safety, without regard to his own personal safety, according to Lt. Paquin.

"His heroic and extraordinary courageous action undoubtedly saved the lives of our two litter patients," Lt. Paquin said.
