

Futurity Trials Provide Weekend Racing Excitement

Saturday and Sunday racing at Sonora Park Association track last weekend proved to be of considerable excitement and enjoyment for racing enthusiasts as the weather cooperated nicely.

With slightly humid weather and cloudy skies, but no rain, the crowds saw two area horses qualify for the $25,833.75 Futurity purse to be run this coming weekend. They include Fluff Up, owned by W. F. Whitehead of Del Rio, and Miers Art owned by Willie Miers.

Among those qualifying to run in the consolation trials were The Last Star, owned by Miers and Kissing Kid and Talented Lady both owned by Bob Sykes of Eldorado.

Some local organizations and persons will be honored at the races May 2-3, according to Park officials. One of the four blankets to be presented will be given in honor of the Sonora Fire Department officials in appreciation of the yearly work the firemen do for the association. One race will be run in honor of firemen sometime during the weekend.

With the track and grounds in the best shape in years with work done under the direction of Bud Whitehead, crowds should find conditions excellent for the Thoroughbred races to be run Sunday, as well as the West Texas Quarter Horse Futurity to be run Saturday.

Eligible to run in the Futurity this Saturday are Fluff Up, Gates Dividend, Birthday's Son, Sunny Spur, Miers Art, Vanny's Echo,

Five Vie For JP Slot In Saturday Primary Race

1970's political year will begin Saturday, May 2, when Democrats and Republicans go to the polling places to vote for the candidates of their choice.

The Republican party has no local contested race in its primary, although Robert Morris and George Bush are seeking the same office—U.S. Senator, and Robert Martin and Paul Eggers are opposed in a contest for governor.

Those voting in the Democratic primary will be casting ballots for state, district and local offices, with the office of Justice of the Peace, being the only locally contested race. The office of justice of the peace, held for the past twenty years by Alfred Cooper, is being sought by five contestants, Buddy Brown, Mat Adams, R. S. (Bob) Teaff, L. D. (Big Boy) Martinez and John Eaton.

Dr. W. T. Hardy was recently appointed as temporary Justice of Peace to serve in the absence of Cooper, who will serve in a limited capacity for the balance of his term due to ill health. Other local offices to be voted upon are County Judge, J. W. Elliott; District and County Clerk, Erma Lee Turner; County Treasurer, Mrs. Lucille Hutcherson; County Commissioner Precinct 2, Collier Shurley and County Commissioner Precinct 3, R. L. Hardgrave. All the above mentioned candidates are incumbents.

POLLING PLACES
In the Republican Primary, polling places have been consolidated and all who wish to vote on the Republican ticket, may do so at the office of Dr. Charles F. Browne, located at 807 S.E. Concho. Polling hours are from 8 a. m. to 7 p. m.

According to John Fields, Democratic Chairman, there will be polls at the Courthouse for Precinct 1, Wool House for Precinct 2, Cedar Hill School for Precinct 3, and the Dantes Riley ranch home, now occupied by the Dick Street family, for voters in Precinct 4.

REGISTERED VOTERS
Sutton County has a total of 1,273 persons registered to vote, a slight increase over 1969, which was an off year.

ABSENTEE BALLOTING
According to County Clerk, Erma Lee Turner, 51 Sutton Countians voted absentee during the period from April 13 through April 28.

Crosby, was among the finalist qualifying for the $25,833.75 purse in the Futurity Trials to be held at the Sonora Park Association arena this weekend. Miers Art will be competing against nine other horses, among them Fluff Up, owned by W. F. Whitehead of Del Rio.

REMAINS OF THE 3 in 1 Courts, built in 1929 have been removed and the land cleared by employees of Carl J. Cahill, Inc. At one time these cabins accommodated guests from almost every state in the Union. Owned and operated by the late Mrs. Buelah Pfister, the courts were closed in 1960 when she retired. The once successful business, then located on Highway 290, also had groceries and gasoline available for customer convenience. (See story page 4.)

Safety Campaign To Begin May 1

A home safety campaign sponsored by Lone Star Gas, in cooperation with The Devil's River News, was announced today with the proclamation of May 1 as the beginning of home safety week in Sonora by Mayor Norman W. Rousselot.

Lone Star manager W. T. Irwin said today that "with more than 42 percent of all accidents occurring in the home, we're all involved with home safety. This home safety campaign in Sonora is part of a system-wide effort by Lone Star to promote basic safety habits to help reduce that figure."

A key feature of the campaign includes distribution of a recently published Lone Star booklet, "Home Safety - So Much Depends on YOU!" The booklet offers home owners a handy source of safety tips ranging from poisons to a special section on child safety.

Lone Star is also promoting home safety within the company through employee discussions and monthly articles in the employee magazine BLUE BLAZE.

PROCLAMATION
WHEREAS: The home exposes a person to more hazards in a routine day than he or she is likely to encounter anywhere else, and

WHEREAS: Accidents in the home annually kill nearly 29,000 persons and injure some 4,400,000 more, and

WHEREAS: Home safety is both an individual and a community matter, and

WHEREAS: Lone Star Gas Company is sponsoring an accident prevention campaign designed to call attention to home hazards and ways to correct them, THEREFORE: I, by the power vested in me as Mayor of Sonora do hereby proclaim the week of May 1, 1970, to be "HOME SAFETY WEEK" and urge that all public spirited citizens and organizations support this program wholeheartedly.

Old Cure Still Works

Over the past quarter of a century or more, people have been taught that economists and governmental planners can control business cycles. That has been the crux of the "new economics". One of the main troubles today may be that people are becoming unsold on the invincibility of the managed economy. As the Spokane, Washington, Valley Herald expresses it, "We have tolerated governmental excesses which have led to inflation under the assumption that economics had now become a manageable science — that governmental action and policies could be used to speedup or slowdown business activity. This principle remains to be proved."

Business has been slowed down according to the indices, but not so much by the practice of new economics it seems, as by a dose of good old-fashioned belt tightening that has appeared to do little so far to stem the inflation psychology inspired by the new economic theories we have lived with for so many years.

More Six-Footers

Highly-publicized, scare stories flowing across the country from hearings in Washington concerning everything from the pill to artificial sweeteners have made hypochondriacs out of a lot of otherwise normal people. This situation is alleviated somewhat by efforts of various authorities to present a commonsense scientific perspective.

One of those on the side of the reasonable approach is Dr. Frederick Stare, head of Harvard University's Department of Nutrition since 1947. Dr. Stare has a word to say about food additives that is encouraging. He says, "I would like to dispel the notion that our foods are increasingly tainted with in undesirable, unhealthy ways... "As a physician and a student of nutrition for the last 30 years, I am convinced that food additives are far safer in actual use than the basic natural foods themselves, because of improper food preparation, poor food habits and overeating. The very few instances of harm from excessive or careless use of additives, or from their unanticipated effects, are overwhelmed by their many beneficial effects." Vital statistics, with respect to longevity, general physical well-being, to say nothing of the rising number of six-footers in our population, bear out Doctor Stare's convictions.

The Obvious Answer

The potentially disastrous consequences of removing import controls on foreign oil become more apparent everyday, as the nation's most eminent authorities on the subject make their views known. It is gratifying to read an AP dispatch that reports an indefinite postponement of a major policy decision on the oil import question. The postponement will allow time for further contemplation of the economic repercussions of changing the balance in foreign versus domestic petroleum output. Recent remarks of one of the country's top oilmen illustrates the basic issue. He observes, "Where would we be today without controls? A simple projection gives us some idea. If we eliminate controls now, U. S. productive capacity will stand at less than 50 percent of total U. S. demand by 1985. If controls had not been in effect for the past 15 years we probably would be in similar circumstances today.

There probably would have been no North Slope discovery, no significant offshore development, and we would now be dependent on foreign sources for at least half of our crude oil supplies... Elimination of import controls means dependence on foreign oil—and dependence on foreign oil will make this nation insecure. When the last word has been spoken, this is what we must remember. "As more information comes to light on control or no control of oil imports, consumers should ask themselves whether saving—theoretically—a cent or two a gallon on gasoline is more important than the economic and military security of the nation. The answer is obvious.

A little-noticed switch-over which saves taxpayers $1-million a year: It happened at Ft. Richardson AFB in Anchorage.

Several years ago the Air Force asked Congress of $1-million needed to convert that facility's fuel requirement from coal to natural gas. But the Alaska coal company which had enjoyed a monopoly in fuel supply for years, objected. With powerful political support, including an assist in Congress from the Alaska delegation, the coal people managed to forestall—year after year—the inevitable.

Then, three years ago I led the successful fight in Congress to switch to gas, maintaining it would save a million dollars a year. Coal lobbyists scoffed at this, but finally the change-over was okayed.

A few days ago the Air Force revealed that amortization of the cost of the conversion from coal to gas took less than a year, and that the net savings in the fuel bill now amounting to $1,141,540 annually. And the conversion licked the air pollution problem. This saving to the taxpayers will continue for years to come.

A powerful coalition of House Republicans and liberal Democrats last week approved the Administration's super welfare reform. A sizeable bloc of conservative Republicans, however, deserted the Republican leadership and voted with the Southern Democrats against the revolutionary venture in welfare stateism.

I joined with 15 other Texans in opposing the bill. Four Texans voted for it.

The net immediate effect of the measure will be to add 15-million additional low-income people to the relief rolls, at an estimated annual cost of $4.4 billion. But this estimate is conservative. It will more likely be twice that amount in a year or two. It will cost Texas $22-million a year to participate in it.

A hard core provision in the bill would guarantee an annual income to heads of families of four, $1600, plus $800 in food stamps. Once this hand-out concept is approved, constant pressures will demand that the $1600 base be increased from year to year. And the cost will, of course, zoom upward.

Where will the money come from? It means more taxes or more inflation, producing deficit spending.

Instead of being a welfare reform, this bonanza will become a welfare expansion scheme. Once on the books, it will be with us from now on.

Bloodworths Fund Food Scholarship

The first scholarships in the state in food management have been established at New Mexico State University in honor of the founder of the Nex Mexico Restaurant Association.

Funded by the family of the late Lloyd P. Bloodworth, the scholarships will be awarded at the rate of two per year for $500 each. The first will be given for 1970-71, according to Dal Rasmussen, NMSU food service director and a member of the scholarship selection committee.

A new four-year curriculum leading to a bachelor's degree in commercial food management began in the NMSU home economics department last fall.

Philosopher Runs Out Of Newspapers So He Examines Some Old Sayings

Editor's note: The Devil's River Philosopher on his bitterweed ranch on Dry Devil's River ran out of newspapers this week but that didn't seem to stop him.

Dear editor: Off and on over the years, in between newspapers, I've been working on a fence out here on this bitterweed ranch and was hard at it more or less the other morning when a neighbor stopped by and said: "Still working on that fence, huh? How long you been at it? Must be 15 or 20 years now. My grandfather once told me a man should never start something he can't finish. See you later."

Not having a newspaper to read I sat down and thought about what he'd said. After long reflection I have concluded it's just another of those old sayings, like what goes up is bound to come down, which was said by a man who never paid any taxes.

You follow the principle of not starting something you can't finish and see where you get. For one thing, we wouldn't have any highways, as I've never seen one yet that was finished. One end is worn out before the other end is completed, and if they're not widening it they're double-decking it or re-routing it.

Or take cities. There never was one that was finished and never will be, although of course this might be an argument proving people should never start something they can't finish. Some cities, I understand, are in as bad a shape as my fences.

Come to think of it, and reversing my field, most arguments, which can't be finished, should never have been started. They wouldn't have been either if people followed my rule: take positions but never defend them.

Or take Vietnam. Some people say it shouldn't have been started because it can't be finished, and there are others who twist the old saying and say they don't want to finish what somebody else started.

Me, I always take the middle ground. If my neighbors will take care of my outside fences I'll take care of my middle ones.

Yours faithfully, J. A.

...3 in 1 Courts as it looked when it was built in 1929, then known as 3 in 1 Camp.

Remains Of Local Landmark Cleared Away

Another old Sonora landmark has been torn down with better things in mind for the cleared land. The 3 in 1 Courts built in 1929 on the old Highway 290 East, was first called 3 in 1

Camp, but the name was later changed and now the buildings have been removed. These courts, owned and operated by the late Mrs. Beulah Pfister, consisted of seven tourist rooms and a service station when they were first built. Later Mrs. Pfister added a small grocery store to better serve tourist customers' needs. The small residence next to the courts, now belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Bob Vicars, was built by Mrs. Pfister and used as her home, but was later sold to the late C. D. Wyatt. After selling her home, Mrs. Pfister added a kitchen-breakfast combination room to the station and lived there. According to her daughters, Mrs. Pauline Barnes and Mrs. George Phillips, she enjoyed meeting the overnight guests and always made them as comfortable as possible. Most of them, they said, always came back to stay again whenever they were in this vicinity. These guests encouraged the addition of the small line of groceries that she carried as a favor to those who spent the night there. Later she discontinued the grocery and service station accommodations, operating the tourist courts only. According to accounts from both daughters, people from almost every State have at one time spent a night in the courts. Mrs. Pfister, just naturally a lover of people, had a motto, "If you treat people right, they will treat you right". In 1960 because of ill health.

Mrs. Pfister closed the courts. She died June 7, 1962. The removal of the small cabins has been done by Carl J. Cahill, Inc. Some of these, Cahill plans to use for storage houses, with some to be moved to property he has outside Sutton County. The last traces of these buildings and the debris is now gone and a once successful business has become another part of the history of Sutton County.

IN HER KITCHEN at the 3 in 1 Courts when the courts were still a thriving business is the late Mrs. Beulah Pfister. She discontinued operations of the courts in 1960.

Miss Irene Yvonne Jones Weds Gary Harrell In Ozona Rites

Miss Irene Yvonne Jones became the bride of Airman Gary Leslie Harrell in ceremonies held at Faith Lutheran Church in Ozona, Sunday, April 19. The Rev. Stuart Firnhaber officiated. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack D. Jones of Ozona and parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Harrell.

her mother. Her dress was of white slipper satin, accented by a lace yoke, high collar, and long tapered sleeves. The high empire style with back pleats formed a train. A mid-shoulder length veil of tulle was attached to a headband of roses. She carried a wedding bouquet of small white roses.

ATTENDING THE FIRST annual meeting of the Big Country Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association held April 18 in San Angelo were Miss Emily Boyd of Austin, field consultant; Mrs. Williamson of Glasscock County, Mrs. Dennis Dunnam of Sutton County, and Mrs. Jackson of Menard County. The group meets quarterly and the next meeting will be held in Midland.

Traditional wedding music was presented by Ronnie Mickulka, who also was soloist. The bride was given in marriage by her father and wore a wedding gown designed by Miss Barbara Jones, sister of the bride, served as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Karen Harrell, sister of the bridegroom and Miss Cynthia Herman of San Angelo. Matron of honor was Mrs. Tommy Weddle of San Angelo.

HILF Grazing Tested By Researchers

A system that amounts to a complete turn-about in grazing management thinking is being tested by Texas A&M University researchers.

There is promise that the project will point the way to rangeland production five to six times higher than it is now. The new technique appears at first to go along with the biggest taboo of all—overgrazing of native pastures. Large numbers of livestock are deliberately allowed to graze forage close to the ground.

"But before anyone gets upset, let me say right quick that the stock is not kept on the pasture any longer than it takes to get most of the forage," says Dr. C. L. Leinweber, head of the A&M Range Science Department. "When the best grazing is gone, the animals are moved to another pasture in a multi-pasture system, and they don't return until about five months later."

"This is why we call the project the high intensity-low frequency grazing system. We are calling it HILF for short."

No matter what the title, the new system has produced some startling grazing figures. At the A&M Agricultural Research Station near Sonora, small scale HILF work has been underway for 22 years under the guidance of Dr. Leo Merrill. Proper grazing under ordinary conditions is considered to be about 32 animal units per section of land at this location. But with the new method, researchers have grazed 110 animal units per section with improvement in range condition.

An animal unit is a cow and calf or five mature sheep or six goats.

Leinweber emphasized that HILF is for native ranges and would have to be modified for use on tame pastures. The system should have wide application throughout Texas.

He said a more extensive program on larger pastures is already underway at the Sonora station. This is in addition to current work near Bamhart farther west and proposed work at Throckmorton in North Central Texas.

"We feel that HILF is a logical system. Ranchers in Rhodesia in Africa have been using it successfully for a number of years, and A&M people have gone there to study its operation," Leinweber explained. Length of time animals are allowed to stay on one pasture in a HILF system is determined by forage availability. The period is usually two to four weeks. By the time the stock is rotated through the other pastures, the first pasture will have rested four and half to five months.

Leinweber says animal performance so far has been good. What HILF can mean is calf production per acre about three times higher than with continuous grazing and increased income due to lower per animal unit overhead cost.

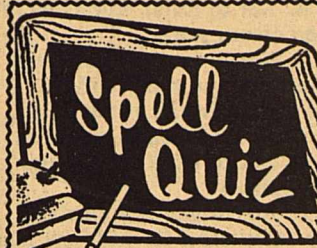

In conjunction with the project, A&M animal scientists are working on twinning traits and other calf production techniques which are expected to boost cow-calf rations and increase efficiency of each mother cow. "With these methods and HILF we can think in terms of five to six times the current production on Texas rangeland," the scientist added.

Methodist Group Plan Special Meet

Members of the Women's Society of Christian Service and the Wesleyan Service Guild of First United Methodist Church will participate this week in one of the most important annual observances of United Methodist women throughout the United States. A Call to Prayer and Self-Denial for women of the church will be celebrated at 4 p. m. May 6, in the church chapel.

The Call to Prayer and Self-Denial focuses on "A Time for Celebration: A Service of Dedication," a deepened spiritual life, a guided mission study, and a much needed offering for special world and national projects. More than 1,800,000 women in 38,000 societies and guilds in all 50 states will join in the observance.

The theme of the 1970 Call to Prayer and Self-Denial is "for the NOW," inspired by the needs and the opportunities to be made possible by self-denial gifts.

The major events of the observance are prayer, meditation, and an interpretation of the mission projects for which the special offering will be made.

If you have central gas heating, you can buy central gas cooling. For less money than you might think. You already have a furnace blower and, probably, adequate ductwork. Times are changing rapidly, most everyone will agree to that. And if you don't think they have, consider the following conditions of a woman teacher's contract dated 1915. Women really had a problem then.

1. Not to get married.
2. Not to keep company with men.
3. Be home between the hours of 8 p. m. and 6 a. m. unless at a school function.
4. Not to loiter downtown in ice cream stores.
5. Not to leave town at any time without the permission of the chairman of the board.
6. Not to smoke cigarettes.
7. Not to drink beer, wine or whiskey.
8. Not to get in a carriage or an automobile with any man except her brother or father.
9. Not to dress in bright colors.
10. Not to dye her hair.
11. Wear at least two petticoats.
12. Not to wear dresses more than 2 inches above the ankles.
13. Keep the school room clean; sweep the floor at least once daily, scrub the floor at least once weekly with soap and hot water, clean the blackboards at least once daily, and start the fire at 7 a. m. so the room will be warm by 8 a. m.

I certainly hope no one paid strict attention to my column last week when I said turn back your clocks an hour in compliance with Daylight Saving Time. If anyone followed my advice they were two hours late for church Sunday morning. Each year I try to remember the saying of spring forward, fall backward, with no luck as you can see. So, please set your clock up one hour so that you will be in step with the rest of the state.

Growing up

Look at your lanky, teen-age son! It's hard to believe that he once wore these shoes. It seems only yesterday that he was a baby, yet he himself is the best testimonial that the years have passed. Now he stands almost as tall as you. He is a fascinating maze of contradictions—an eager, lovable youngster one minute, a scowling, angry adolescent the next.

It takes patience to understand a teen-ager—patience, and a lot of love. Though he strives to be adult, he is still a boy. Though he clings to childhood, he is almost "grown-up." You may not always be aware of it, but he still looks to you for many things. And he sees in you an example that he will, almost unconsciously, follow in many ways.

Are you setting a good example? How about church, for instance? If you haven't been going lately, start again next Sunday for your son's sake, as well as your own. And don't forget to take him with you!

Luncheon Honors Betty Jack Cooper

Mrs. George Beams honored Miss Betty Jack Cooper with a luncheon April 18, held in Dallas at the Beams' home. A centerpiece of pink ruffled net centered with a tree of white branches in a crystal bowl accented the dining room table. Pink bows and flowers decorated the tree. Frosted pink candle holders and candles were also used on the table. Each guest brought the bride-elect a recipe and gadget. Eighteen guests attended the luncheon. Among them were Mrs. Pat Cooper, mother of the bride-to-be; Mrs. Cleve T. Jones of Fort Worth; Mrs. G. E. McNeely of Oklahoma City, Oklahoma; Mrs. Jimmie Martin of Abilene, and Mrs. E. A. Brodhead of Fairfield. Other guests were Kappa alumnae, cousins, and other friends of the bride elect.

The hostess, Mrs. Beams is a college friend of Mrs. Cooper's and she is the former Ona Stribling.

The Sonora Colts baseball team defeated Winters Sunday by a score of 7-5. Managers of the team are Manuel Mata and Jesse Favila.

home was not satisfied.

It lacked only about an hour to the closing of the polls and he had me hitch up the wagon and we started to town. Just as we got to these trees, we came across two young fellows cutting timber.

"What's the matter with you boys? Ain't you voters and ain't you Democrats?", said my father.

They answered in the affirmative and stated they had not voted because one of them, Billy, was barefooted. He was too proud to go to the polls without his shoes. My father asked his shoe size, and was told the size was 10's.

"Mine won't fit, but maybe Dan's will. Dan, what's your size?"

I wore 10's, so my parent remarked, "Daniel, shuck them boots. Climb in the wagon boys". Away we drove to the polls.

Well, the result of that election was that the Democratic candidate for the Legislature in Scott County was elected by one vote. By his election the Democrats led the Legislature by one vote, and this occasioned the election of Ned Hannagan to the United States Senate by a majority of one vote.

"In the U. S. Senate, Hannagan's vote was badly needed, for only by the slender majority of one was Texas admitted to the Union...."

"Of course," continued Mr. Pence, "I told the story that afternoon, and it was received with thunderous applause. When I had concluded, Col. Blocker got up amid wild cheering and gave his word that the story was true in every detail. And he exhorted every man in the audience to go forth and work for just one more vote."

HOW TEXAS GOT INTO THE UNION

This is a strange yet true story of how big events in the history of this county hinge on one vote as told by Colonel Dan Blocker of Scott County, Indiana, and retold by Lufe Pence, humorist and orator and ex-member of Colorado Congress, to a group of friends at the Riggs House.

"The Democratic National Commission," said Mr. Pence, "in 1896 wanted my services on the stump". So he was sent to Lexington, Scott County, and was seized upon by Col. Dan Blocker.

We had much to talk over and finally the old man pointing to a little clump of trees that stood nearby said: "Mr. Pence, in your speech this afternoon I want you to allude to those trees and tell of a scene that happened under them when I was an actor".

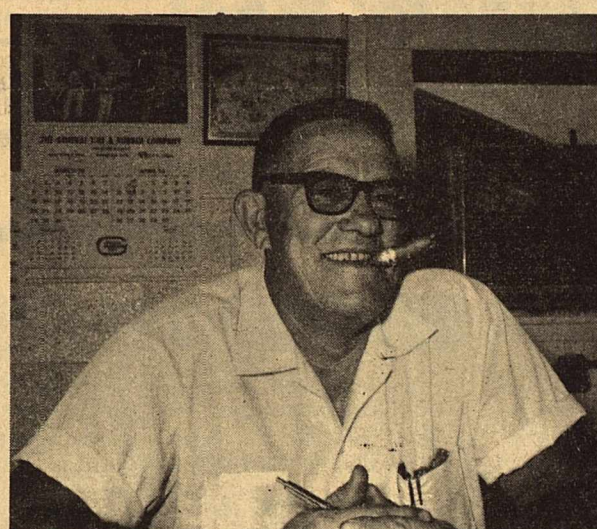

All this country was once well wooded but that little clump is about all left of the original forests. It happened this way: My father was about the craziest Democrat that ever lived in Indiana. On a certain election he had done his usual vigorous work, but after going

DON'T FORGET! ONLY YOU CAN CAST A VOTE! It is your right as an American to be able to vote; it is your responsibility as a citizen TO vote. Don't let your country down. Go to the polls Saturday and protect your rights. ERMA LEE TURNER Candidate for County and District Clerk Pd. Pol. Adv.

To The Citizens of Sutton County:

It has been thirteen years since I first asked for your support at the polls. Your votes have been sincerely appreciated and as a member of your School Board, I have tried to justify them in striving to act for the best interest of Sutton County's children, regardless of personal consequences--at times these consequences have been hard to live with. Good friends or relatives were angered and some of my regular customers were so displeased over School Board decisions they took their business elsewhere. My endeavors to serve the community became a financial penalty to my family. But even so, I have considered it a privilege to serve the children of this county as a member of your School Board, and will continue to do so to the best of my ability for the rest of my tenure. There is no legal conflict with serving as Justice of the Peace and finishing my term as a School Board member.

However, at the end of this term, my youngest child will have graduated from High School (I hope) and I believe the School Board should be comprised of parents with children in the ages concerned in the system so I will no longer be eligible for this office. Now that I have served the children of this community for thirteen years, I ask you to graduate me too, and allow me to serve the adults. It would be my earnest hope that none of our children would need my services as Justice of the Peace.

In asking for your support at the polls May 2, I offer for your appraisal and analysis these years to serve the interests of all concerned and be impartial and fair.

This is a time when everything that makes life stable is under attack, even the educational institutions which have benefitted so many. Our nation is the most progressive in history and our men were the first to set foot on the moon. The freedoms we enjoy were bought with the lives of over half a million Americans who believed the democratic way of life was worth dying for. Let's get together and prove their sacrifices were not made in vain. Edward Hale stated what I believe and feel when he said, "I am only one, but I am one. I can't do everything, but I can do something. And what I can do, that I ought to do. And what I ought to do, by the grace of God, I shall do."

Your vote will be deeply appreciated Bob Teaff

Sure Signs Of Spring Appearing

by E. B. KENG
Spring, it appears, is finally here. Even the most skeptical weather watcher, the mesquite, is leafing rapidly.

Bluebonnets adorn the countryside, with the most abundant crop of flowers seen in many years. Patches of Texas filaree with dark red blooms, may be spotted here and there. Yellow and pink flowered evening primroses are abundant. False dandelions, a lemon-yellow daisy flowered plant is abundant on the divide country.

The scissor-tail flycatchers have returned—another good harbinger of spring. Songbirds of many varieties are nesting. Yellow breasted blackbirds are migrating through the area, and are beautiful to see.

John Mittel reports that the buzzard family has returned to nest in the hollow oak tree on his ranch. This is quite remarkable in that access to the large hollow is some 7 or 8 feet above the ground. The birds go down through the hollow and nest at ground level.

The blue herons that nest on the Duke Wilson Stuart ranch have returned. They use the same nests year after year, adding to the accumulation of sticks that form the nest.

Wild turkeys have been spreading north and west from winter roosting areas to find nesting sites. They will be laying soon, if they have not already started.

Nature in the Spring in the Edwards Plateau is truly remarkable as well as beautiful. The beauty of the countryside is one of the great privileges of living in West Texas.

Most accurate clock in the world is in the Copenhagen Town Hall, Denmark, and its celestial pole motion will take 25,700 years to complete a full circle.

TEEN SCENE

By KAY KERBOW

Regional events were concluded Monday bringing about an end to a hectic two weeks for about three-fourths of the contestants.

Golf, literary and track meets were held Friday and Saturday with the track girl's regional meet concluded Monday.

The golfers, David Wuest, Mark Rousselot, Steve Thorp, Jess Cook and Tony Renfro, led by seven strokes after the first round but lost by three strokes in the meet and came in a disappointing second behind Farewell.

Only first place is qualified for the state tournament, so the golf clubs will be stashed until next year's competition when the Broncos hope to have a better crack at the state tournament. David Wuest tied with a golfer from Farewell, but lost in a play-off to take second medalist honors.

—SHS—
Kelly Sentell was the only survivor in the regional meet, and will represent SHS in the state tournament in poetry interpretation contest. Rick Street was third in poetry, but even so, he did not qualify for state.

Paul Finhaber informed me that all the rest "bombed out", himself most of all. I think, however, that the experience gained by each contestant and the fun had by all was worth all their efforts. How can such knowledge gain and wholesome fun be considered a "bomb out" !?!?

—SHS—
Regional track events were held in both girl's and boy's track. The boys went to Lubbock to try to achieve a qualification for the state meet. The mile relay won fourth, the 440 relay reached the finals, and Arnold Samaniego placed in the top ten 880-yard runners in the meet.

Paul Page of Eldorado was the only contestant in district 8-A to qualify for the state meet in Austin. Page won the regional 440-yard dash.

The girl's meet was held Monday in Robert Lee. Several girls in SHS's district won the right to advance to the state contest to be held May 15-16 at Abilene Christian College. Vickie Hardgrave set a new regional record, 27.0, on her way to a first place finish in the 220 yard dash and little sister, Carol, leaped 16'6½" in the broad jump to gain second place behind Borden County's Sharon Billeck.

The 440 relay team, composed of Carol and "Lightening" Hardgrave, Lesa Whitehead and Becky Tittle finished fourth and this same team in the 880 yard relay placed second, one-tenth of a second behind the winner, Borden County.

Carol also placed fifth in the 100-yard dash and Jessie McCutchen received sixth in the 880-yard run. Other district girls in SHS's district qualifying were: Eldorado, 880 yard relay, Janet Oglesby, 880 yard run, mile relay and Kathleen O'Hara shot and discus; Wall—Sherry Carpenter, discus, broad jump and mile relay; Robert Lee, 440 yard dash, Jackie Connelly 100 yard dash, and Linda Blair, 220 yard dash.

—SHS—
These seniors have brought with them the approaching climax of the year—May 22—graduation day.

The final four weeks of school bring laughter, tears, finals, and jubilation to the halls of SHS. The approach of the end of school always brings anticipation to all students but tears mingle in as the seniors' memories of the football and basketball games push themselves into their minds.

These seniors, too, see the new door opening to them as they end their high school career and prepare to meet the world, standing only on their experiences, and the background given to them by their parents, teachers, and concerned friends. It is the hope of all students of SHS that these products of Sonora and especially of Sonora Public Schools will bring honor to this town and school.

Many things are included in these busy four weeks. A senior trip is in the offering, a band concert is to be played May 7 in the auditorium, state track meet for the girls, and of course the dreaded final exams must be taken before the year is over.

—SHS—
A GAA sponsored volleyball game is to be held May 5. The GAA girls will be faced by a team composed of Coaches Hays, Hopkins, Phillips, and McMinn, Smith Neal, Mmes. Prugel, Kordzik, Evans, and Wilson. How's that for a star line-up!!

Referees Davis and Brown will officiate the action beginning at 7:30 p.m. in the gym. A concession stand will be provided for all the students and crowd(?)

A charge of 50¢ for adults and 25¢ for students will be collected at the door as this is a charity game—the charity being the GAA's.

Bringing Back the Buffalo...

Roaming herds of buffalo were a prized source of food, clothing and shelter for the Indian. An outbreak of disease among the buffalo was disaster, for it meant an end to good hunting and brought a threat of starvation. In the illustration above, the herd has disappeared and a lone Indian appeals to his spirits to once again bring back the buffalo.

Times Have Changed

Today you need not call upon mysterious forces to help keep your sheep or goats healthy and free of costly worm infestations.

There is a simple, modern way to handle the problem. It involves routine drenching with Early Bird wormer... plus feeding products containing phenothiazine daily.

Why the two-way program? Because it's the only thing that really works.

Drenching with Early Bird will rid your animals of existing worms. It's quick, effective—made with purified phenothiazine so there are fewer inert and inactive particles. Early Bird gets up to 25% more worms with every drench—is effective against all the important types... including resistant varieties that the higher-priced wormer misses.

Good as it is, Early Bird won't stop new infestations. No drench will, because grass may be alive with worm larvae and animals start picking up a new worm load almost as soon as you're through drenching.

The small daily dose of phenothiazine adds the extra touch that's needed. It keeps new worms from laying the usual number of eggs inside the animal. Eggs that are laid and pass through are mostly abnormal and do not hatch. The daily dose of phenothiazine helps "clean up" pastures and reduces new infestations.

The cost is only a fraction of a cent per animal per day. A small investment—but one that greatly increases the value of drenching, increases per-acre production... pays extra dividends on every animal in your flock!

Stop in... ask your dealer for Early Bird Drench and feed mineral blocks, grain rations, mineral supplements or protein supplements containing a small daily dose of phenothiazine! There's no better time to get started than right now.
