LITTLE LEAGUE MOTHERS ARE RECOVERING from the effects of a baseball game Friday night where they raised over $500 to buy new uniforms for Little Leaguers. The team led by Mrs. Bob Snodgrass went over the team of Mrs. Bill Savell by a score of 25-8. Mrs. Snodgrass reported that her team had several good players, but especially one—Mrs. Helen Flood, who was "powerful" in hitting home runs, a feat not easily accomplished in softball play. Here some of the mothers sit on the bench enjoying the antics of fellow players.

All Star Little Leaguers To Host Ozona July 20

All races will run under rules of the Texas Racing Circuit, and reserved seats for the grandstand are available at the Fair Office.

Fawn Possession Termed Illegal

Nolan Johnson, game warden, reports two fawns have been picked up recently within the city limits. The fawns were released by persons who had brought them in from the countryside.

Johnson said possession of fawns can result in fines from $50 to $200, and it is unlawful to pick them up as well as being dangerous. By the time fawns reach the age of six months, they can be hazardous to children, he warned.

game to meet Big Lake at Big Lake, July 26. Winner of that game will meet the Sonora-Ozona winner July 30 at 8 p. m., game site undecided presently. Sonora All-Star team members will be chosen this week and announcement of the selection will be made by the managers. All Little League boys ages 11 and 12 who are selected for the All-Star team must have a legal birth certificate to be turned in to the managers by Monday, July 5, said Wuest, tournament director.

Managers of the All-Star team will be managers of the winning Little League team for the season play.

Local schedules will be completed this week unless a tie results. If a playoff is needed to determine the winner, the game will be played next week, Wuest said. The Cardinals won the first half of play and are one game out in front in the second half. The last game of the regular season play is scheduled tonight (Thursday), with the Cardinals meeting the

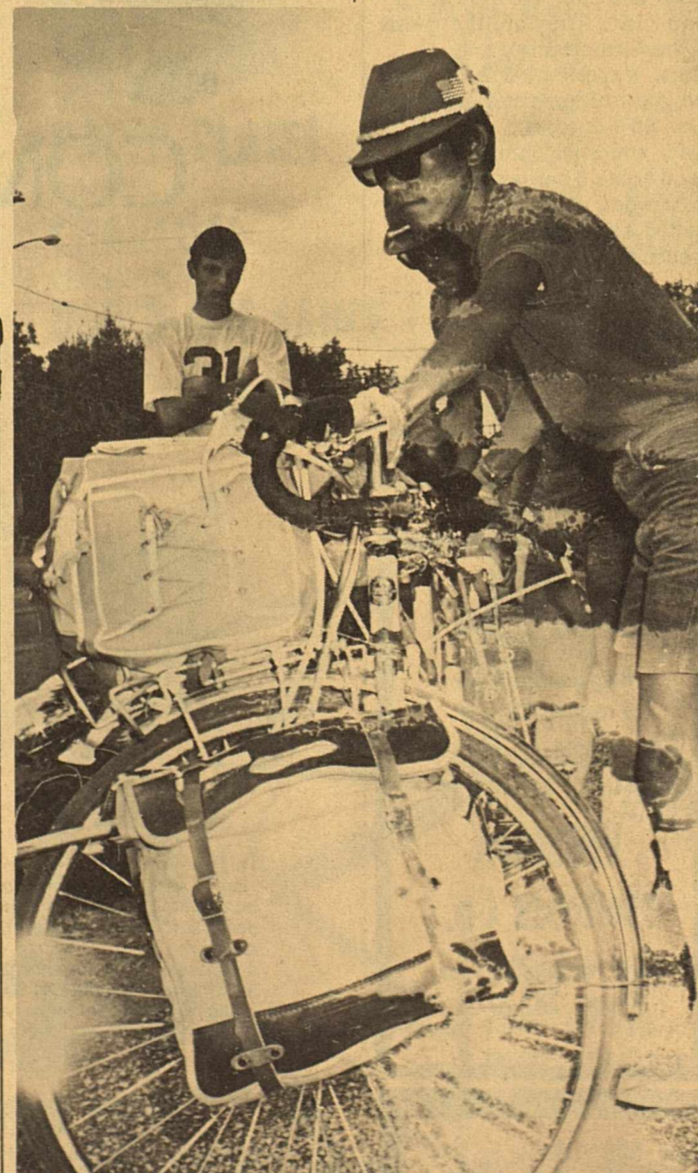

Social Security Benefits Increase In Sutton County

Social security benefits were being paid to residents of Sutton County at a rate of $36,000 a month at the close of 1970, J.M. Talbot, social security manager, said.

A benefit increase signed into law by President Nixon on March 17 raises the monthly rate of payment by 10 percent for most of the 399 social security beneficiaries in Sutton County, Mr. Talbot added. A small number of beneficiaries over age 72 who are not receiving regular social security cash benefits will get a 5 percent increase.

Of the social security beneficiaries living in Sutton County, 262 are retired workers and their dependents. Another 108 are receiving benefits as the survivors of workers who have died, and 23 are getting benefits as disabled workers or their dependents.

Indians and the Dodgers vs Colts. Team standings for the second half of play follows: Cardinals, won 4, lost 2; Colts, won 3 and lost 3; Indians, won 3 and lost 3; Dodgers, won 2 and lost 4.

TWO JAPANESE BROTHERS are making a tour of the United States on a two-wheel bicycle built for two passengers. Hitoshi Nakazono, 21, of Kobe City University and a senior student and his brother Noboru, 20, of Ritsumeikan University in Kyoto, where he is a junior, are spending a year away from studies. They left San Francisco May 11, and were enroute to New York, when they stopped here to spend the night Sunday. They spent the night in the First Methodist Church and treated the Rev. John Weston family to a private showing of slides from Japan. They usually average about 50 miles daily. From Sonora they will travel to Corpus Christi, where they plan to visit a young woman with whom they have been corresponding for the past six years. Hitoshi said "every day is a new experience".

The scouts plan to spend seven days in Japan touring the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag

I pledge allegiance to the flag of the United States of America and to the Republic for which it stands, one Nation under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all.

The original author of the pledge was Francis Bellamy, who was born at Mount Morris, New York, May 18, 1855, and died August 28, 1931. He was ordained in 1879 at the Baptist Church in Little Falls, New York. The pledge he wrote was first used at the dedication of the World's Fair Grounds in Chicago on October 21, 1892, the four hundredth anniversary of the discovery of America, and has been recited from that day to this, with some changes, by school children throughout our land. Reverend Bellamy's original wording was altered slightly by the First and Second National Flag Conferences in 1923 and 1924 and his work was officially designated as the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag by Public Law 287, Seventy-ninth Congress, approved December 28, 1954, Flag Day, President Dwight D. Eisenhower signed into law House Joint Resolution 243, introduced by Representative Louis C. Rabaut of Michigan, which added to the Pledge of Allegiance the compelling and meaningful words "under God".

MISS MARGIE SHARP of Salt Lake City was named the new Miss Wool of America in San Angelo, Friday night. First runner-up was Chris O'Connor with Texas Judy Womack second runner-up and Leslie Becker, third. After the show, which was termed outstanding, Art James, his wife, Jane, and their daughter, Jennifer, were Saturday and Sunday visitors of the John Tedfords. James, emcee of the Miss Wool Pageant, is a Russian and is host of the "Who, What or Where Game".

They toured the Sonora Caverns and found it to be particularly interesting, remarking it was the first cave they had ever visited. The family lives just outside New York City, so they also were pleased with a visit to the G.H. Davis ranch where they were fortunate in seeing deer, turkey and javelinas. James plans a tour to Russia in the near future. Young Gregg Tedford was especially pleased to have James teach him some words in the Russian language.

HONOR AMERICA DAY

The 4th of July weekend offers time for a taste of recreation, a bit of fun popping off fireworks, maybe a thought or two about that old-fashioned virtue patriotism, and innovative ways to HONOR AMERICA.

Pondering over patriotism—real patriotism—we inevitably reach the conclusion that this country just didn't happen to flourish. Much of the toil and struggle that helped make the United States strong and free represented someone's contribution in self-sacrifice, either in peace or in war.

Carrying this train of thought a bit further, many of us can't ignore the indications that America didn't wax robust from material sources alone. The idea of reverence for a Supreme Being is intertwined with the nation's development since the day the country was founded 195 years ago.

On this comfortable, lazy weekend, the churches and synagogues will have their doors open as usual on the Sabbath. If we juggled the family schedule a bit, and perhaps arranged the family picnic or golf date or trip to the beach an hour later, we could slip into our chosen church or temple and listen to the men in the pulpits reading the Scriptures and discussing the truths that weathered the test of time for centuries before 1776.

Obviously, most of us are aware—often, we're not allowed to forget—that separation of Church and State is a fundamental principle in the United States. This premise in an official sense, and undoubtedly has steered the nation away from some grave pitfalls.

But individually, throughout the country's history most leaders have been influenced by the Judeo-Christian ethics, the source of the Ten Commandments. Anyone familiar with American tradition will observe the concept of divine guidance was seldom far from the minds of those who played significant roles in shaping United States' destiny.

Here are a smattering of instances in which reverence for Sacred Providence was indicated. The list could be much more extensive.

On the day of this country's birth, the Founding Fathers wrote into the preamble to the Declaration of Independence "... and to assume among the powers of the earth that separate and equal station to which the laws of Nature and of Nature's God entitle them..."

As school children or adults, when we pledged allegiance to the flag we recited the words "I pledge allegiance to the United States of America and to the Republic for which it stands, one nation under God..."

Since then we've seen the motto "In God We Trust" on our money so frequently, we've virtually forgotten it exists.

On the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Arlington National Cemetery is carved the inscription "Here rests in honored glory an American soldier known but to God."

So the idea of a religious observance on this Independence Day weekend assumes validity. Both Church and State today are confronted with new perplexities that the Founding Fathers never dreamed of. Consequently, religious bodies are assuming increasingly activist roles.

The questions leap out at us. What can we do about peace in Vietnam and the world? Threats to the environment? Drug addiction and disillusioned youth? Disadvantaged minorities? Unemployment? Poor housing? Hunger? Education?

These problems cry out for innovative approaches and hard work. Perhaps, as has been said about New York's vast, interrelated difficulties, they can't really be solved, but must be managed. On the other hand, maybe you hold the magic key to certain solutions.

There is an ironic footnote to current religious activism. Karl Marx contended that organized religions—particularly Christianity—diverted man's attention from the problems at hand by insisting that suffering was mankind's lot on earth and salvation could be found only in the hereafter.

But events in recent years have shown that religion is abandoning this ostrich posture and is trying to cope with temporal affairs. There is room for you to share in these programs.

Theologian Paul Tillich observed that in weighing the price of space exploration, with its effect upon social priorities, a tendency toward cynicism often follows. "These spiritual factors, however," he continued, "should never lead to a decision to give up either the production of technical tools or attempts to penetrate into outer-terrestrial spaces... For danger is not a reason to prevent life from actualizing its potentialities."

And in this matter of priorities, let's make a list of our own. Putting first things first, the allotting of some time for religious contemplation this holiday weekend should be tops on the schedule.

The Devil's River News will give a free street dance Saturday night, July 21 in front of the news office. The Bronco Stompers will start the music about dark. Come and bring the family. You won't be bothered with commercials about the subscription drive either. We just figured it was about time somebody had a dance around here.

The Devil's River Philosopher Sez... He Tackles The Big City Problem Just To Come Up With Nothing

Editor's note: The Devil's River Philosopher on his bitter sweet ranch on Dry Devil's River reflects some more of the plight of the cities this week and seems to regret it.

Dear editor: On the well-established principle I guess that Washington should leave you alone when you're doing well and bail you out when you're doing bad, the country's biggest railroad, biggest plane manufacturer, and biggest cities help from hollering for financial help from Congress running well up into the billions of dollars.

But it's the situation with the cities that interests me this week. One problem at a time. According to a newspaper article I read last night, the mayors of some of the nation's biggest metropolises are frankly saying their cities face bankruptcy if Washington doesn't furnish them billions of dollars before the summer's over.

I don't know anything about such high finance, although I suspect that when a city needs that kind of money to keep from going busted, it's already busted, but the question I'm working on is, what happens when a city does go bankrupt? Who takes it over? What does he do with it when he does?

Hold a garage sale and hope some other cities come over and buy whatever parts they need?

This is a problem not enough thought is being given to. Doesn't the Pentagon have contingency plans for such an eventuality? Doesn't the New York Times have a copy?

Now I know that when farmers who used to make up over 50 percent of the population, started going broke, the experts said oh, they're just marginal farmers, let them go under and get a job somewhere else, and today only 8 percent of the population are farmers.

You suppose they'll now say oh, these busted cities are just marginal cities, inefficiently operated, let them go under and do something else?

All right, suppose that happens, and cities start dwindling to where only 8 percent of the population lives there.

That's 8 percent in the country, 8 percent in the city. Where in the world are the other 84 percent?

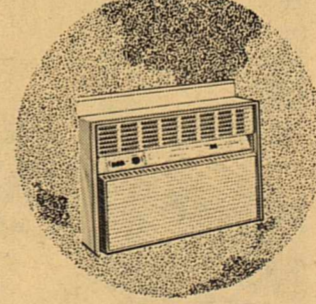

I'm sorry I brought the matter up. Yours faithfully, J. A.

A Bishop Looks At Life Good Retirement

By Everett H. Jones, Retired Bishop of the Episcopal Church

A great deal can be learned by looking around us and noting the different kinds of retirement.

There are those for whom the worst things they feared have come to pass. They are bored, restless, frustrated and miserable.

On the other hand, there are those for whom retirement becomes a new beginning in which they find creative outlet for their energy and ability—but often at a slower tempo.

In this latter group several things are apparent. Almost always they have planned their retirement well in advance. They have considered such things as how to adapt to anticipated income, choice of a place to live, and exploration of possible activities.

Frequently this self-examination uncovers interests that have been dormant during the first career. An army officer decides he would like to teach. A business man finds that he is really an artist. A scientist becomes a social worker. Today men from many secular pursuits decide to enter the ministry.

There are now counselling services and aptitude exams that can help in these discoveries.

In addition to these tangible aspects of good retirement there are important intangibles. People must have inner security enough to accept a change in status. There must be enough mutual love and support for husband and wife to understand each other's new needs. Above all, there is need for genuine desire to be of service.

The late Albert Schweitzer put it well: "Open your eyes and look for some man or some work for the sake of man which needs a little time, a little friendship, a little sympathy, a little toil. Search and see if there is not some place where you can invest your humanity."

Last week in my column I wrote what little I could about the art of water witching. Today I received this letter from my very reliable source of information, E.B. Keng. I would like to share it with my readers.

The art of "dowsing" for water, which you skeptically referred to as witchery in your June 24 column, was around well before the birth of Christ. It apparently gained much credence in the Middle East, where underground water was both scarce and hard to locate.

The validity of the claimed ability of dowsers to locate underground water has been questioned for centuries, but has never been proven or disproven. The yearbook of the USDA on "Water", published 10 or 15 years ago, has an interesting chapter on the subject. The learned volume, however, merely presents the "pros and cons" and takes no official stand on validity.

In recent years Sonora has lost two "water witchers" of rather wide acclaim as to reliability for finding water—the late Mr. Fred Nichols and Mr. John Cauthorn. Mr. "Nick", as he was affectionally called, was employed on many occasions to locate elusive water, and his apparent success kept his services in demand.

George S. Schwiening is the only remaining "dowser" known to the writer. Wallas Renfro will testify that after drilling a dry hole in a water scarce area on the old Trav Glasscock ranch, George was called in to "dowse" the area. His divining rod twisted downward only a few feet from the dry hole—and a strong well of water was obtained. George recently demonstrated his ability on the courthouse lawn. "You only get a gentle tug when you cross a pipeline, but the twig twists downward when you cross the vein of water", said George recently.

When the El Paso Gas Company was asked to pinpoint a gas line crossing an irrigated field, one of the employees held two bent welding rods in a parallel position in front of him, and walked at right angles over the area where the gas line crossed the field. When he passed directly over the line the welding rods crossed each other—and X marked the spot where the line was located. As your very reliable husband said, "I seen this with my own eyes".

If a buried gas line can be located with two pieces of bent wire, perhaps a dowser with the "gift" can locate underground water with a forked branch. Who knows? —SKH—

Miss Jan McClelland was home over the weekend visiting with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John McClelland. Jan is working at Camp La Junta at Hunt, during the summer months.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Crowell were recent visitors of Mrs. Frank Turney. Howard is "Mama" Turney's grandson.

Royce Regeon visited with Mr. and Mrs. Cashes Taylor and Mr. and Mrs. Billy Wright Taylor over the Father's Day weekend. Regeon left Thursday from San Antonio to fly to Toledo, Ohio, where he and his nephew, Billy Cash, were met by Mrs. Regeon, Nanetta, Resa and Rhonda and returned to their home in Archbold, Ohio. Billy Cash will spend the remainder of the summer with the Regeons. —SKH—

Marilyn Morgan is glad she isn't a proofreader for the Phoenix, Arizona daily. One of their proofreaders dropped by the news office for a visit Thursday and reported that the daily usually runs 150 pages both Sunday and Monday. I don't think we will lose Marilyn to Phoenix, any time soon.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Teaff left Monday for California to attend the funeral services of Bob Swimmer, a nephew of Bob's. The Swimmer youth died as a result of an automobile accident. The family lives near Los Angeles.

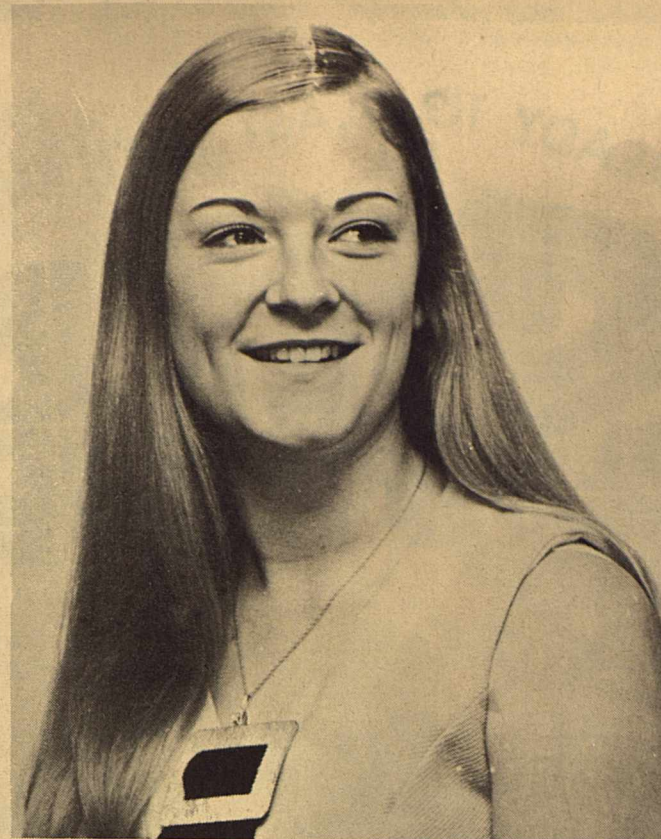

Fifty-fourth wedding anniversary celebration was held honoring Mr. and Mrs. Billy H. Sanders of San Angelo recently. They are the parents of Mrs. Billy Wright Taylor. Mr. Taylor was also honored at the same time in honor of his birthday. Those attending the festivities were David, Sammy and Billy Cash Taylor, Du Ray Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Cashes W. Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Palmer West, Mrs. J. H. Emmons and Miss Roberta Finklea of Eldorado, and Royce Regeon of Archbold, Ohio. Mr. and Mrs. Cashes Taylor hosted a barbecue for the honorees.

DUPLICATE BRIDGE
Mrs. Jimmy R. Harris and Mrs. Ethel Olson were first place winners Monday night when the Sonora Duplicate Bridge group met at the golf clubhouse to play 3-table Howell. Second place winners were Helen and B. L. Blakeway of Eldorado; third, Roy Allen Adkins and Mrs. E. L. Harrell, and fourth, Mrs. Lottie Adkins and Mrs. Tom Nevill.

—SKH—
Clint Langford and Albert Ward, who are attending summer classes at Texas A&M University, were home last weekend visiting their families. E. B. Keng, who is also attending A&M visited with his wife, Martha, in Evant, where she is visiting her mother, Mrs. Bessie Brown.

42 FUN CLUB
Hosting the 42 Fun Club Thursday night were Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Loeffler. Guests were served refreshments of homemade ice cream, cake, sandwiches, nuts, mints, tea and coffee. High score was held by Ervin Willman for men, and ladies bingo prizes were won by Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Wright. Others attending the party were Mrs. Willman, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Awalt, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Nevill, Mr. and Mrs. Pete Thompson and Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Crites.

Only a few foods contain much iron. Liver is a particularly good source, but the United States Department of Agriculture suggests you don't overlook lean meats, heart, kidney, shellfish, dry beans, dry peas, dark green vegetables, dried fruits, egg yolk and molasses as good sources.

OVER ONE HUNDRED DESCENDANTS of the John Berry family met here last weekend for the annual family reunion. Jack Pope, Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of Texas, and a family member spoke to the group on the history of the "humble windmill", which was so important to pioneers. Claude Brown, president, of McCombs presided at the election of new officers, and Mrs. Glenna Robbins of San Antonio was elected president. In the mid-nineteenth century four couples, descendants of John Berry, came to the Juno country and settled on the Dry Devil's River. Eunice and "Uncle Johnny" Johnson, pioneer settlers of this area, were a part of this family and lived here bringing up their children. Some of the children were the late Lem Johnson, Cliff Johnson, Mrs. Fannie Gahagan and Mrs. Clayton (Thelma) Puckett. One of Cliff's grandchildren, Joy Pace of Baytown, was the youngest descendant at the reunion, with Mrs. Pearl Gaines of Abilene being the oldest one present. Mrs. Gaines is a surviving child of Texas Revolution hero, Captain Andrew Jackson Berry, who came to Texas in 1836, and fought with Gen. Houston and the 800 Texans who defeated a Mexican army of 1,500 at San Jacinto, capturing Gen. Antonio Lopez de Santa Anna. Young Berry was charged with guarding the hated Santa Anna. His brother, John Berry, also fought in the Mexican war in 1846. The family reunion was held here at the 4-H Center.

give a little... for safety's sake!

The vacation season is in full swing, and this weekend our highway traffic will probably reach its summer peak. Unfortunately, this also means more tragic accidents on our roads and highways. The National Safety Council urges you to exercise special care in the days ahead. Drive carefully, and take extra precautions. Make sure your car is in good mechanical condition. Check your tires, brakes and lights in particular. Drive under the posted speed limits and obey all traffic signs and signals.

Remember that the 4th of July will bring out many people who will try to stretch a few extra minutes into a busy, fun weekend. Give a little. Give a little extra room and extra time to help prevent highway accidents.

THIS OUTSTANDING CENTURY PLANT has provided much enjoyment with its majestic beauty to neighbors near the Norman Roussetts. Commonly known as century plant, the Mexican agave after maturing, flowers only once in many years (not every 100 years), then the plant usually dies. This particular plant is unusually tall and sturdy and loaded profusely with its many blossoms.

HEALTH & SAFETY

Mainly for Mothers
by Carol Hart

Safety at home—while parents are away

In the United States today, an estimated five million children under the age of six are left in the care of another person while their parents are out working.

According to the United States Department of Labor, women today represent one-third of the nation's work force. As employment opportunities for married women increase and the number of child day-care centers grows, there will be more and more mothers of preschool children holding jobs.

How safe are these youngsters? Only as safe as the homes are made by parents, says the Council on Family Health. The Council, sponsored by the manufacturers of medicines as a public service, suggests some safety measures to insure the safety of children while parents are at work.

Teach the children to obey the person in charge, and emphasize to the sitter that she should never leave the children alone at home.

To avoid accidental poisoning, be sure to store all medicines and cleaning agents safely out of the sight and reach of children. When you use medicines at home, remember to return them to the cabinet immediately after use.

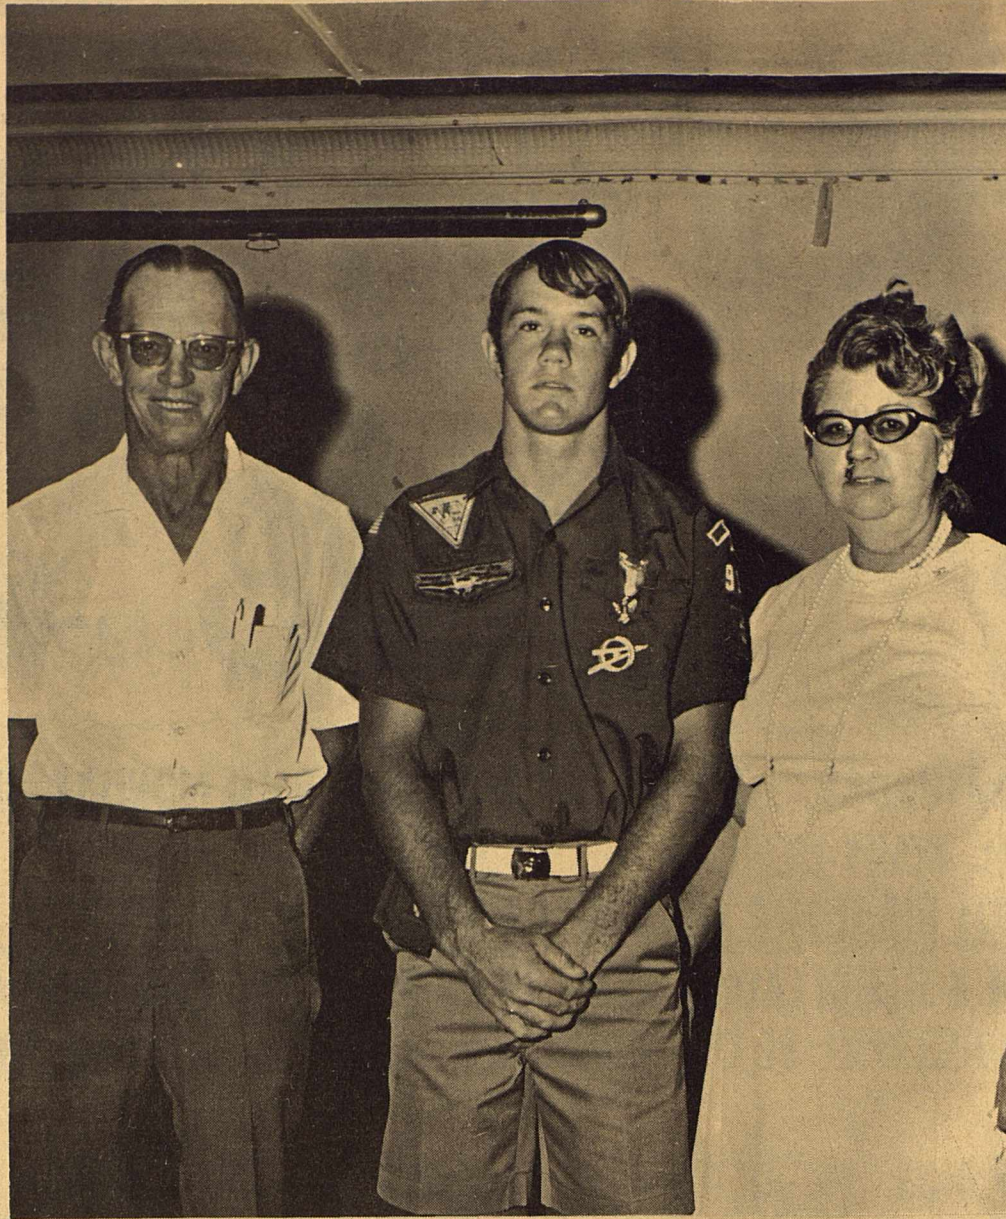

To help prevent burns and scalds, teach the sitter to keep pot handles turned toward the rear of the kitchen stove, to test the children's bath water before letting them enter the tub and to keep all matches out of children's reach.

Keep a list of the name and telephone number of your doctor, nearest friend or neighbor and the telephone number of your place of employment. Keep it near the phone and show it to your stand-in.

Parents are the guardians of their family's health and safety. It is up to all parents to make their homes as safe as possible when they are away.

TRYON FIELDS RECEIVED HIS EAGLE SCOUT badge in ceremonies Tuesday, following the Lions Club luncheon at the First Methodist Church. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Fields, were on hand for the ceremonies. J. B. Morris, scout executive from San Angelo, was here for the presentation of the Eagle badge to Tryon.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Double Indemnity

Harvey, the "other man" in a domestic triangle, heard some alarming news: the woman's husband had bought a gun and was spoiling for trouble. No coward, Harvey decided to confront his rival face-to-face.

It was a fatal mistake. Words led to bullets and Harvey was shot dead.

In due course, his relatives tried to collect on his $10,000 life insurance policy. They claimed not only the $10,000 but also an extra $10,000 as "double indemnity," payable in case of accidental death.

However, a court denied the extra $10,000, saying Harvey's death was not really an accident at all. The court said he was well aware, when he sought out the angry husband, that he had an excellent chance of being killed.

Double indemnity for accidental death is a common feature in life insurance policies. But it is not payable if the victim had recklessly courted danger.

This is true even if what he did was simply in the name of fun. Thus, double indemnity was denied to the family of a young man slain in a game of "William Tell." In a spirit of playfulness, he had allowed a friend to shoot at a tin can on top of his head. "One who volunteers," said the judge, "must anticipate injury."

Suppose the act was dangerous, but the danger was not apparent at the time. Then, as a rule, the death would still be considered accidental. For example: A motorist skidded into a ditch. While waiting for a tow truck, he ran the motor to keep his heater going. What he failed to realize was that the end of the exhaust pipe was trapped in a mud puddle, causing deadly carbon monoxide gas to seep into the car. Result: he was dead by the time the tow truck arrived.

Was this accidental? Yes, ruled a court, awarding double indemnity to the victim's family. The court said his conduct could fairly be judged only by what he knew at the time, not by the wisdom of hindsight.

Green News

by JO NEVILLE

Last Sunday there were 46 golfers playing in the Scotch Foursome. It sprinkled rain off and on all day. The winning team was Wanda Cahill, George Johnson, Joe Stewart and Tony Renfro, with a score of 10 under.

There was a tie for second place between two teams, with 9 under. The sudden death playoff went to the fourth hole, where the "Judge", Web Elliott, chipped in to win. Web's teammates were Ann Herrmann, Buddy Brown, Clayton Hamilton and Lea Allison. Lea, by the way, putted like a pro and we're trying to get him to give lessons.

Third place winners were Marilyn Bloodworth, Charlie Preston, Lawrence Holland, Lawrence Holland, Jr., and Whiskey Hill.

Doyle Morgan and Norm Rousset went to the San Angelo Country Club tournament, starting last Thursday and lasting through Sunday. They qualified for the Fifth Flight and played long and hard to come in second place. First place winners in that flight were Wilson Page and Jack Hext of Eldorado.

July Plentiful Foods Program Features Turkey

Shades of red, white, and blue! July is almost here and what better way to greet Independence Day than with a sampling of America's plentiful foods.

Turkeys top the U.S. Department of Agriculture's July plentiful foods list, so why not try some outdoor barbecuing ideas with this all-American bird, says the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The monthly plentiful foods list, compiled by USDA commodity specialists from fact finding sources in government and food industries, also include eggs, fresh plums, watermelons, fresh vegetables (tomatoes, cucumbers, sweet corn, cabbage celery and carrots in particular) rice, frozen and fresh salmon and cranberry juice and sauce.

Turkey marketings and cold storage holdings exceed those of a year ago, and egg production is continuing in an upward trend, so July supplies of both products should be abundant and consumers may look for attractive prices.

Supplies of fresh plums and fresh vegetables will increase seasonally during July, and drought conditions delaying early harvesting in some sections will result in a heavy volume of watermelons from the southeast and south central states.

Ample stocks of rice, cranberry juice, cranberry sauce, and frozen and fresh salmon will assure plentiful supplies in July.

CECIL WESTERMAN WOULD LIKE TO BE YOUR PHARMACIST

Betty Stewart, our club diplomat, received a nice letter from lady pro, Lee Spencer of San Antonio. Lee said how much she enjoyed the school-age golf clinic we had here a few weeks ago and mentioned how organized Betty was. The clinic was a great success and we have more activities for the young golfers.

Don't forget the tournament, and be sure and bring your chicken—CUT UP—and ready to barbecue!
