SCHOOL IMMUNIZATION PROGRAM

Texas school children will soon be among the best immunized in the country.

The recent session of the Texas Legislature amended the Texas Education Code to require immunizations against certain childhood diseases as a condition for entering school.

"This new law will have great impact on the immunization level of the school population and, eventually, all the population of Texas," says Dr. J. E. Peavy, State Health Commissioner. "We are delighted with the law."

The Texas State Department of Health now has authority to set the rules and regulations for implementation of the compulsory immunizations. The Board of Health has set January 1, 1972 as the date by which all children's immunization series must have begun.

School districts that have required compulsory immunization series must have begun. School districts that have required compulsory immunizations in the past will still maintain their usual September deadlines for proving immunizations to enter school.

The immunizations previously required for all the school children were set only by the individual school districts, but now the state is requiring immunizations for up to six childhood diseases in some cases.

Elementary students will now be required to be immunized against diphtheria, tetanus, polio and smallpox. If there is no history of measles, that shot will also be required. All children under 12 years of age must also be immunized against rubella.

The number of required immunizations is fewer for junior high school, and college-level students. Junior high and high school requires immunizations against only diphtheria, polio, tetanus and smallpox. College requires full immunization against diphtheria, tetanus and smallpox within the past ten years.

Nearly every student in the state will be covered by this broad new law. Immunizations will be required of students in kindergartens that are associated with elementary schools, all the elementary or secondary public schools, private or parochial schools, academies, colleges, universities, schools for the blind, deaf, mentally retarded. The only children exempted are those with religious conflicts, or medical problems—those that a physician determines would be injurious to health.

Dr. Peavy said he "urged all parents to contact their physician or public health clinic now, and begin their children's immunization program long before they enter school."

The Devil's River Philosopher Sez... He Is Against New Chemical That Makes People Remember Better

Editor's note: The Dry Devil's Philosopher on his bitterweed ranch on Dry Devil's River tackles a new problem this week. Dear editor:

According to an article I read yesterday while resting my brain from all the secret documents the newspapers have been filled with lately, scientists have been working on a new chemical they claim will improve man's memory.

They haven't tried it on people yet, but they say it may be possible to develop a chemical that'll perk up the memory section of the brain and enable a man to remember far more than he now does.

If there ever was a piece of information that ought to have been classified as Top Secret and not to be published for at least a hundred years, that should have been it.

That sort of chemical, if it works, will wreck most governments of the world. What politician could stay in office more than one term if people remembered today what he said six months ago? From the Peloponnesian War to modern times, how many peace candidates have wound up as elected war leaders? Don't ask me, because I forget.

If taxes had been reduced every time a cut has been promised, a man could live mighty cheap just on pleasant memories.

If Congress is smart it'll ban this new memory chemical before it gets out of the test tube. A forgetful electorate is the key to a happy officialdom, and the same goes for most marriages, all human relations and a good many children.

Other people's forgetting is one of the handiest things ever invented to keep a man going. Those scientists are working on the wrong chemical. What I want is one that'll blot out, not freshen, some of the recollections some of my neighbors have.

You show me a man who can remember everything and I'll show you a man who knows more than he should about you and me.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

A Bishop Looks at Life Counting Our Assets

By Everett H. Jones
Retired Bishop of the EPISCOPAL CHURCH

The last thing we need in America today is a refusal to see our failings, a blind optimism, or a Pollyanna superficiality. But it is simple honesty to balance our assets against our liabilities.

Dr. Bergen Evans of Northwestern University recently compiled statistics on the half-century from 1920 to 1970. It should be of particular interest to the "Now generation" to see what their parents and grandparents accomplished.

Dr. Evans found that in these 50 years life expectancy was increased by 50 percent. Epidemics and such specific diseases as typhus, polio, smallpox, measles, mumps, scarlet fever and tuberculosis have been almost wholly eliminated. The red quarantine sign which many of us can remember from our youth no longer appears on the front doors of our homes.

Not only has the work day been cut by a third (with further decrease around the corner) but countless forms of monotonous manual labor have been lifted from the back of man and turned over to machines.

We lived through history's greatest depression, and won out of it a series of social and economic reforms that have strengthened the nation. In this period two devastating wars tested the ability of people to defend freedom and overcome dictatorships.

Scientific achievements included conquering space and landing on the moon, the transistor, the computer, the laser beam—and countless new medicines and medical techniques.

There is, in spite of periodic demonstrations and outbreaks of violence, a greater awareness of the needs of the poor, the ignorant, the unemployed and the sick. While much remains to be done to establish complete equality between all races, there is a new shame over the blindness of the past and a new determination to have no second-class citizens.

The purpose of these reminders is not to make us complacent, but to give us hope for what, with God's help, can be done in the next half-century.

UP AND DOWN

"Wow!" "I left my stomach back on that last hill!" "What a ride!" Excitement on wheels. That's a roller coaster—up and down, up and down.

Just like a roller coaster, all of us realize that our very life is a series of hills and valleys. We are enjoying a smooth and peaceful existence, when suddenly we find ourselves far from the peaceful valley on what seems like a mountain of confusion and distress.

At such crucial times we need to remember there is a nearby fortress of stability. It is that place of power that stands ever ready to provide the necessary faith and courage to face tomorrow with enthusiasm. Discover the inner peace that comes from divine love. Worship in church this Sunday.

Plans were approved for the historical marker to be placed on the highway marking the town of Wentworth and the Masonic Building when the Historical Society met Tuesday night at the Miers Home Museum. Funds for the marker will be divided evenly between the historical society and the Masonic Lodge.
 A marker will be placed on the highway showing where the town of Wentworth once stood and the Masonic building that was built there and later moved to Sonora, and used for a school house, as well as a meeting place for the Masons.
 The Society also voted to sponsor a story hour to begin this fall. The purpose of this story hour, according to Mrs. Ben Cusenbary, is to acquaint children with the early-day culture of this country, and to interest them in reading.
 An annual spring picnic is planned for the fourth Sunday in September, at which time membership to the society will be renewed.
 Attending the meeting were Mr. and Mrs. Cusenbary, Dr. and Mrs. W. T. Hardy, Mrs. Bryan Hunt, Mrs. C.M. Epps, Mrs. James Hunt and Mrs. Bill Savell.

POEM FOR THE COURT
 This poem by an anonymous author is dedicated to those justices of the United States Supreme Court who are still more concerned with the rights of atheists, communists, killers and traitors than they are with the rights of God-fearing, law-abiding Americans.

 For this great nation, under God Finds public mention of Him odd."

select your freezer carefully!

Large families can easily pay for a freezer investment from food bill savings. But not every family can justify the purchase of a large food freezer. For instance, a childless couple may find all the freezing space needed in a combination refrigerator-freezer without the additional investment in a separate appliance. Other small families disagree, finding the convenience of a food freezer well worth its cost, or planning ahead to the time when the family may increase.

Since the life expectancy of a freezer or refrigerator-freezer is long, smart consumers will shop carefully. According to figures furnished by the U.S. Department of Agriculture, the average life for these appliances is 14 to 16 years.

A major consideration in your freezer selection should be your anticipated source for large quantities of food, either grown or produced yourself or purchased from nearby wholesalers. Another important consideration is the frequency of your family's shopping.

The frozen food compartment in a refrigerator-freezer should be large enough to hold at least one week's supply of meats and groceries, with additional room for convenience items, party foods, beverages and storage of leftovers.

Select the special features carefully. For instance, automatic ice makers and special compartments for meat are popular and desirable. But, depending on your family's needs, these features may occupy space needed for frozen food storage. Automatic defrosting is extremely important, providing better ice storage and easier reading of frozen food labels. It will prevent packages from freezing together and put an end to messy defrosting chores.

Your best bet is to get out and shop. Take a look at many brands, models and features. You may prefer an upright or a chest type or maybe a refrigerator freezer. But whatever your taste and space needs, shop carefully. It will be worth the effort.

Wonders of Nature

by E. B. Keng, SCS Technician

The wonders of Nature never cease to amaze us. With our abundant variety of wildlife, both animals and birds, Sonora citizens are much better informed than most on our flora and fauna. The following notes, gleaned from Utah Science, provides interesting comments on wildlife not generally common to our area.

The vicuna is the smallest of the camel family and has never been domesticated, owing to its wild and active nature. Birds are able to sleep, without falling from trees, by the muscles in their feet which close tightly around a limb when the leg is bent.

A dog hunts with his nose, not his eyes. He sees best when things move, and the rabbits, deer and pheasants he hunts seem to know this. They freeze when hunted.

The electric sparks from a cat's body when the fur is under friction are probably caused by the peculiar dryness of the hair which is free from the oily substances common to the coats of animals.

Beavers have an average life span of 10 to 12 years. The condor ranges from 40 to 50 miles daily in search of food. Sea lilies are really animals, but they look like the plant for which they are named.

Among the best camouflaged forms of wildlife is the snapping turtle. Even its eyes are expertly hidden by a pattern of little spots similar to extra pupils. A 20-pound snapping turtle has a striking range equal to the diameter of a bushel basket.

A mole can dig a tunnel 225 feet long in a single night.

PHOTOGRAPHER SCOTT CAMPBELL took this shot of the end of Interstate 10 as the big highway approaches town from west of Sonora. The bridge where he stood, overpasses IH10 and leads to the Sonora Veterinary Clinic and old highway 290.

Construction will begin soon to complete this link through town and eventually connect with the super-highway on the east side.

Children's Theatre Workshop Planned

James Buchanan, speech and drama teacher, has announced a Children's Theatre Workshop to be conducted for three weeks starting Wednesday, July 21 for students from third grade to seventh, from 1:30 to 3:30 p. m.

Buchanan will direct the production and will be assisted by five of his high school drama students. The course features exercises in movement, pantomime, acting, dance and music and utilizes course work in Creative Dramatics, an art for children, done at Angelo State University.

Registration will be Monday and Tuesday, July 19-20, in the First Methodist Church basement, where the course will be conducted. Fee for the three week course will be $15.50, Buchanan said.

Buchanan said every large community has had great success with children's production and he feels this will be an asset to Sonora to establish one. Any interested parent with questions may contact him at 120 Castle Hill, or at the registration times.

Den 4 Cub Scouts Have Fun Trip

by LILLIAN MAURER
Den 4, Pack 19 of our local Cub Scouts is having a busy summer. This past Friday evening and Saturday, they went on an overnight camp-out. The boys met at the home of their Den Mother, loaded the gear and proceeded to the Caverns of Sonora.

After setting up the tents and gathering firewood, they ate supper. Before bedtime the boys had a popcorn party.

Early risers (6:30 a. m.) built the fire to cook breakfast. With surprising ease the boys cooked scrambled eggs, bacon, hot cakes, made hot chocolate and had breakfast rolls and orange drink. They cleared the table and did the dishes.

The boys worked on various achievements and electives which must be done in order to advance and earn gold and silver arrow points. Games were organized and played, then luncheon was fixed, Hamburgers, corned beef salad, beans and baked potatoes were prepared. Dishes were done.

Tents were taken down and the area cleaned thoroughly — all in compliance with Cub Scouts standards.

We looked around our campsite and said farewell and thank you to the personnel at the Caverns. The boys arrived back home a little grimy, perhaps, a little tired, but with a week-end to remember.

Those going on our camping trip were Daniel Hernandez, David Creek, John Creek, Dennis Jolly, Randy, Doug, Tommy and Rob Mounce, Wallace Nations, Cades Pope, Jerry, Rick, Scott and Barry Maurer, and Corbie Dubose, Lee Burch, special guest Lorraine Creek and adults chaperoning were Mr. and Mrs. Jack Burch, Mary Creek, Margie Mounce and Virgil and Lillian Maurer.

We wish to thank our parents for giving the boys the opportunity of camping out, and a special thanks to the chaperones!

Small Business Drought Assistance Representative To Be Here July 23

The Small Business Administration drought assistance representative will be here July 23, at the County Judge's office in the courthouse. The SBA representative will be seeking out businesses injured in this year's Spring drought, according to Jim Reed, District Director of the San Antonio SBA office.

The Administration has empowered the SBA to make 5 1/2% direct loans in amounts not to exceed $100,000 for periods up to 30 years to businesses that have suffered from drought conditions.

Though the drought has been broken by a joint effort of Air Force cloud seeding and nature, the business people in this area are still suffering from a lack of business due to the Spring drought. Farmers did not plant and many of the ranchers sold their cattle off at reduced prices, anticipating a continued drought situation. The effect of these protective measures on the part of farmers and ranchers is just being felt by the retail merchants in our rural communities. It is the Administrator's intention to help these business people through a rather difficult period, Reed said.

Eligible businesses may use the loan proceeds to replenish working capital and to pay financial obligation (except bank loans) which the borrower would have been able to meet had it not been for the loss of revenue from the adverse weather conditions in his area.

To qualify for a loan under the program, a business must be able to show a substantial loss resulting from the drought conditions. The business must have been in operation over 12 months and be able to provide financial records.

Farmers and stockmen are not eligible for disaster loans from SBA, but should apply instead to the Farmers Home Administration.

If time permits, SBA representatives will be glad to discuss any Agency program with interested people during this visit, Reed said.

Services were conducted in the Hodges-Fife Funeral Chapel in Junction, July 5 at 10 a. m. with burial in Cedar Hill Cemetery.

Survivors include his wife; a daughter, Mrs. Winifred Went of Roosevelt; a brother, Floyd Benton of Menard and two grandchildren.
