Win Assures Broncos Of Another Playoff

Sonora Broncos won their ninth game of the season with a 27-6 victory over the Eldorado Eagles Friday night in Bronco stadium.

This win assures the Broncos a playoff spot against the winner of District 10-A, even if they should lose to Robert Lee as Sonora defeated Mason, the other contender for district honors. District 10-A championship will be decided Friday night when Goldthwaite plays DeLeon.

The first quarter of the Friday night game was uneventful with neither team able to move the ball consistently. The Eagles covered a Bronco fumble on the Bronco 20-yard line and moved to the 8-yard line where the Sonora defense held.

Sonora Broncos started the second quarter on their own 20 and moved 80 yards for the first score of the game. Tryon Fields made a long 30-yard run to set up Milton Noel's 1-yard plunge for the score. Henry Mata kicked the extra point.

With 30 seconds remaining in the first half, Steve Street dashed 56 yards for a TD. Mata kicked the point and the first half ended with the score 14-0.

SECOND HALF
During the third quarter the Bronco defense gave up very little to the Eagles but fumbles stopped any Bronco scoring threat. With one minute left in the quarter, S. Street broke for the second time and carried 51 yards for the third Bronco TD. Mata's PAT was good and the third quarter ended with the score 21-0.

Midway of the fourth quarter with a first and ten on the Sonora 30-yard line Street, for the third time played "chase me" and went 70 yards for Sonora's final score.

Late in the game the Eagles covered a Bronco fumble at mid-field and moved down to where Archie Nixon scored from 20 yards out. A two-point conversion attempt was no good and the final score was Sonora 27, Eldorado 6.

Increased Evaluation Of Ranch Lands Cited As Possibility Within County

Considerable discussion was had at the county commission meeting Monday in regards to the possibility of raising the value of ranch lands for the purpose of taxation. Presently the assessed value is $3.85, but it appears that it may become necessary to raise the value to $5, in order to offset revenue losses occurring when the collection of school taxes was moved from the county office, according to the court.

County Judge J. W. Elliott said the officers' salary fund is presently $1,770.61 in arrears. The proposed increase in the county land evaluation would add approximately $7,000 additional funds to offset the loss of the approximately $6,000 previously paid by the school for tax collection.

This year for the first time the county is using a processing computer service for tax records. The court expressed pleasure with the service and said the savings to the county should be considerable in comparison to previous years cost of printing, billing, etc.

In other county business commissioners R. L. Hardgrave, Preston Love and Collier Shurley approved the appointment of a new cemetery committee, replacing those persons who have served for the past several years. The court recognized the long and faithful service rendered by the previous committee in announcing the new appointments. Serving on the new committee will be E. B. Keng, Jack Kerbow and Edwin Sawyer. Members of the cemetery committee usually are in charge of employment of workers and the record-keeping in regards to available grave plots.

The monthly report of Peace Justice Mat Adams was approved. Only one bid was received from the call for bids on a new caterpillar for county use. The bid of Holt Machinery Company for $26,770.66 was approved by the commission.

Discussion was held in regards to a probation and youth officer who would serve Sutton and Schleicher Counties. Judge Elliott said Bob Turner of San Angelo, contacted him in regards to a supervisor for this county. He said Turner would serve as coordinator of the proposed project. At a minimum cost to the county the officer would serve as supervisor to adult and youth offenders. No definite decision was made, but the court favors the recommendation.

Sonora Juniors Rip Eldorado 49-6

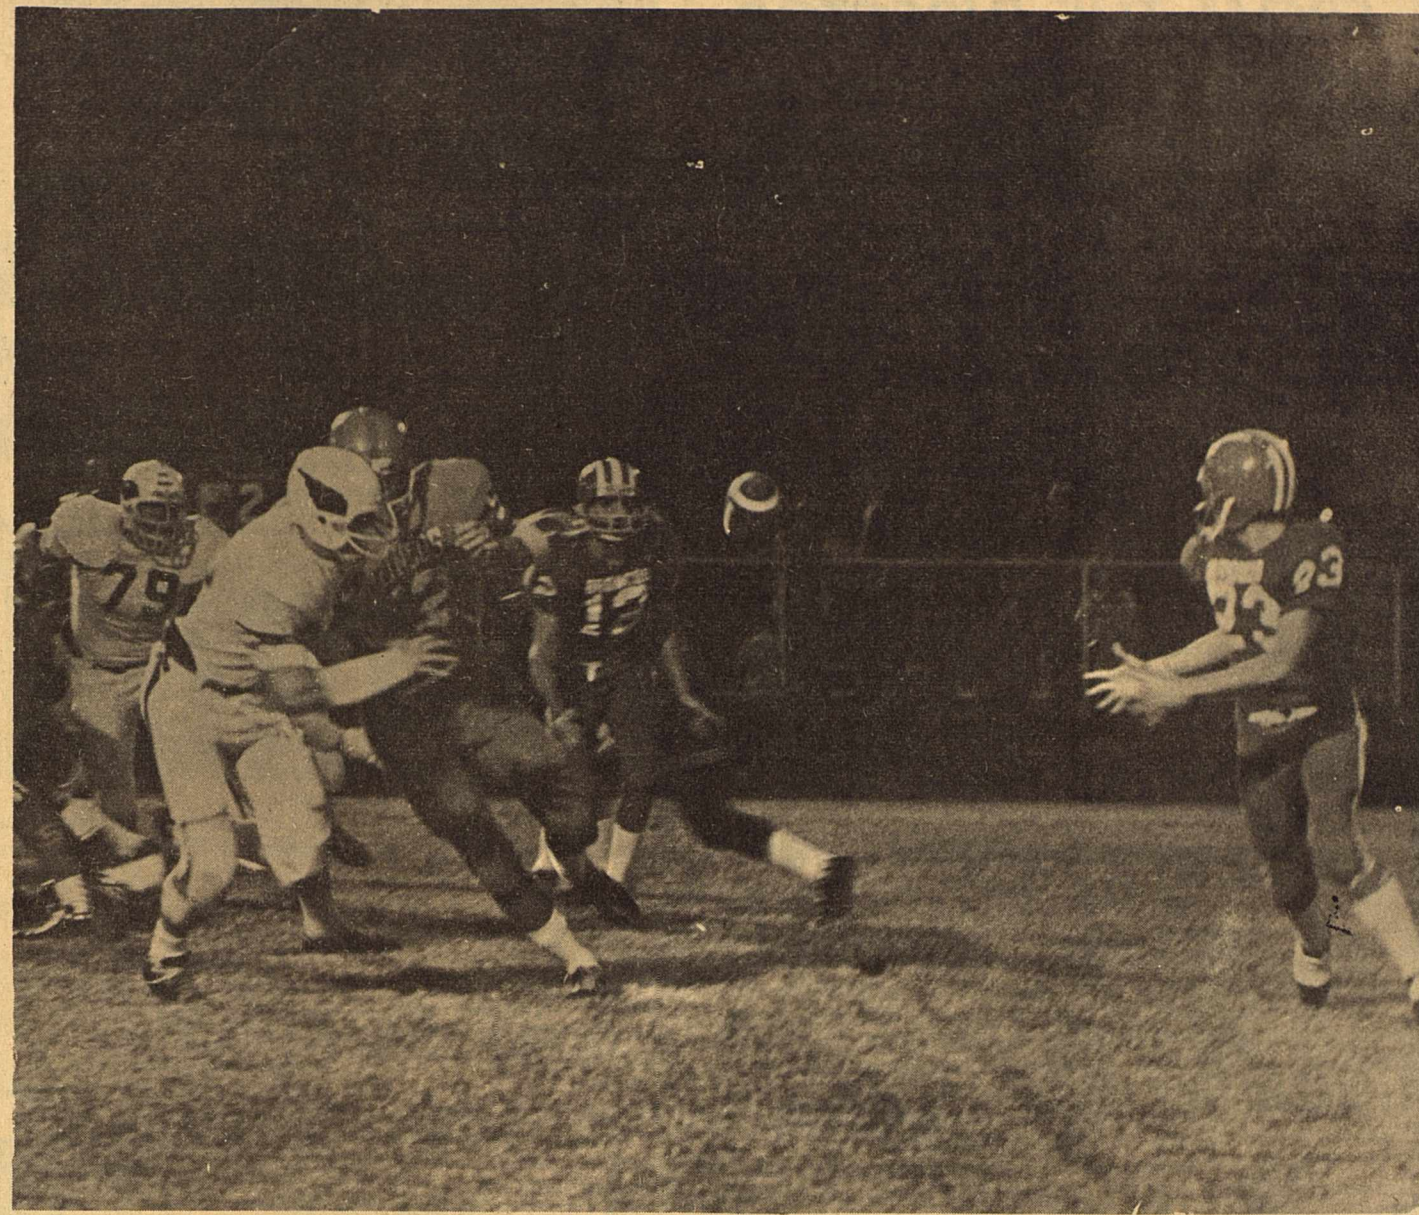

The Sonora Junior Varsity Broncos rolled over the Eldorado Junior Varsity Thursday night by a score of 49-6.

Gabe Espinosa started the scoring off on a one yard plunge. Alan Harris added the two points.

Espinosa added two more TDs to his total, and Harris kicked both extra points.

Albert DeHoyas scored next and again Harris added the extra point. Next to score was Mike Scoggins, followed by Johnny Gonzales. Extra points were good, David Wallace added the final six points to the game.

Eldorado's only score came in the fourth quarter. This game ended the "JV's" season. The Junior Varsity posted a record of seven wins against one loss.

ELDORADO EAGLES WERE UNABLE TO PREVENT the Sonora Broncos from rolling on for their ninth win of the season in district 9-A competition. After meeting the Robert Lee Steers in play in Robert Lee Friday night, the Broncos will head for bi-district play against the winner in 10-A. Head coach Bill Scoggins and coaches Wayne Shaw, Jerry Phillips and Jerry Hom have seen the Broncos go undefeated, thus far in the district play. A win Friday would make it ten for the season and leave the Broncos among the undefeated and untied teams for season play in Texas. The Broncos defeated the Eagles 27-6.

Beef Evaluation Center To Be Established Here

The Sonora Feed Company plans to establish the "Big Oak Beef Evaluation Station" to offer bull performance testing services to all local and area registered and commercial cattle breeders.

An informational program concerning the services to be offered by the Evaluation Station will be held at the Sutton County 4-H Center at 2 p. m. November 18.

Details concerning the length of the proposed test, rations to be fed, cost of testing and testing facilities will be discussed.

All registered and commercial beef cattle producers and other interested persons are invited to attend the meeting, the company spokesman said.

Speech Students Place 2nd Overall In Tournament

Sonora High School speech students in a tournament held in Odessa, November 6, won second place in over-all competition against several 3-A and 4-A schools.

Fifteen schools participated in the Odessa Invitational Tournament with Midland High School winning first place. Sonora speech students, under the tutelage of James Buchanan, high school speech teacher, had more students named to finals than any of the other participating schools.

Four of the students placed first in the various events and they included: Rick Hill, prose; Rick Street, boy's poetry; Molly Sawyer, prose and Michelle Rouselet, poetry.

Molly Morriss and Ruth Ella Wallace placed second in duet acting, Debe Roper and Steve Street placed third in the same category.

Larry Berger won third place in poetry, and Matt Davenport third in prose. David Wallace and Kelley Sue Sentell were also competitors in the finals.

Midland Lee High School of Midland placed third in the over-all competition.

Other students competing were Carol Weston, Janet Pope, Jimmy Weston, Mark Wilkinson, Jim Pollard, Roy Adkins, Karen Hemphill, Claire Langford, Pattie Cockrell, Terry Mitchell and Bruce Kerbow.

Attending the speech meet as sponsors along with Buchanan were Travis Harkins and Louise Stephens.

Gold Star Award Program Attended By Local Youths

Sutton County 4-H Gold Star award winners, Cora Pope and Bill Finklea, were among honorees at the District 7 Gold Star awards luncheon held at the Cactus Hotel in San Angelo, November 3, and at the District 6 4-H Gold Star awards banquet held at the Pecos Valley Country Club, in Pecos, November 6.

Attending the San Angelo awards program with the Gold Star award winners were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Pope III, Mrs. Lawrence Finklea and Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Langford. Janet Pope, co-chairman of the District 6 4-H Council, assisted a representative of the utilities companies serving West Texas in presenting the Gold Star awards to 4-H members at the Pecos banquet.

The Finkleas and the Pops attended the banquet at Pecos with 4-H members.

Sutton County 4-H members were honored at both Districts 6 and 7 programs as Sutton County was transferred from District 6 to District 7 in October. Both districts invited Sutton County 4-H members to their respective awards programs.

Miss Pope will continue to serve as co-chairman of the District 6 4-H Council until her term expires.

The West Texas Utilities Company was the sponsoring organization for Sutton County 4-H club at both of the achievement programs.

Joe David Nance Cited As Outstanding Student

A Sonora High School youth has been cited as one of the outstanding high school students of English in the country. He is Joe David Nance, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland Nance. The National Council of Teachers of English has named him a 1971 national runner-up in its annual Achievement Awards competition. Nance was one of 23 Texas students chosen for this honor.

Last spring a committee of English teachers from the high school nominated Nance to represent Sonora High School in the competition. The school was allotted one entry from the junior class for every 500 students in the total school enrollment, according to Smith Neal, the English department chairman.

After nomination each student submitted his best writing, including an autobiographical sketch, and wrote a one-hour impromptu essay. These materials were evaluated by state judging teams of highly qualified college and high school teachers directed by state chairman.

The nation's schools participating nominated almost 7,000 juniors for the NCTE citation. Of that number, only about 850 finalists were chosen. They represent over 600 schools from 50 states, the District of Columbia, and American preparatory schools abroad.

In announcing the winners, Robert F. Hogan, executive secretary of the National Council of Teachers of English, said that the council recommends these students, now seniors, for college scholarships in 1972, should they need such assistance.

The names of these students are sent to admissions officers and English department chairmen at U. S. junior colleges, colleges and universities.

The NCTE sends to all winners and runners-up certificates of recognition and also honors their high school English departments with certificates of merit, reports James Pollard, principal.

Mrs. Leo J. Wilson, Miss Lois Dolan and Neal have been Nance's English instructors. Mike Gosney, a 1968 graduate of Sonora High School, was a 1967 recipient of the same award. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Billy C. Gosney.

ALTHOUGH HUNTERS CONVERGING HERE for the opening of deer season Saturday are not likely to encounter mule deer and black bear, such as these shown by Bob Teaff, nevertheless hunting in the area should be good. Teaff, along with Mrs. Teaff, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Mayfield, Mr. and Mrs. Willie Miers, Mr. and Mrs. Bubba Foster and Mr. and Mrs. William Foster of Sterling City, all had a hand in getting this 300-pound bear on a recent hunting trip to Colorado. The bear, as well as a number of wild game delicacies were enjoyed by persons attending the hunting party given at the 4-H Center Tuesday night. Several local merchants are planning to give prizes to hunters during the season. Branding Iron plans to give free processing to the first out-of-town hunter bagging a deer and bringing the deer to the local locker plant.

Texans Observe Food And Fiber Week

Eat hearty this Thanksgiving and enjoy all those gourmet dishes to your heart's content. At the same time, be thankful for the feast before you because much of it is produced right here in Texas and you can be sure of the best eating ever, says County Agricultural Agent D. C. Langford.

"This is the time of the year when we should all be thankful for our heritage and the abundance of food and fiber that is available to each of us," Langford points out. "Thus it's only fitting that the week of November 15-21, the week before Thanksgiving, be designated as Texas Food and Fiber Abundance Week."

"The great story of American agriculture and the success of this industry is one of the greatest success stories in the history of this nation," contends Langford. "This nation's agriculture has its roots in technology, a viable people and helpful public policy. There is no way of dividing the interrelationships of the three. Research, education and the application of technology transformed agriculture in our lifetime from what we call a labor intensive to a capital intensive industry." Texas Food and Fiber Abundance Week provides an opportunity to tell the story of agriculture, the story of "food-power."

"The next time you see a farmer or rancher, take a moment to tell him that you appreciate his efforts," suggests Langford. "Tell him that he's doing a good job and that you're proud of him."

Sonoran's Brother Dies After Illness

John Wesley West, 66, died at 10:35 a. m. November 6, 1971 in Hill County Memorial Hospital in Fredericksburg. He was a half-brother to Freeman Mears.

Services were held at 2 p. m. Monday in Schaeffer Funeral Chapel with burial in the Fredericksburg cemetery.

Mr. West was a retired heavy equipment operator engaged in road construction work. He was born February 28, 1905. Other survivors include a daughter, Mrs. Ted Stehling of Fredericksburg; his mother, Mrs. Belle Mears of Johnson City; a step-brother, William Thomas Mears of Kerrville; a half-sister, Mrs. Harvey Everett of Johnson City, and a step-sister, Mrs. M. J. Chisum of Westmoreland, Calif. He was also survived by three grandchildren.

JOE DAVID NANCE and JESSIE MCCUTCHEM appear to be in deep concentration as Jessie operates the slide rule. Nance was recently cited as one of the outstanding high school students of English in the country. He was one of 23 Texas students chosen for this honor in the runners-up competition.

THE LAND

THE LAND is one of man's most valuable assets—we think it is prime collateral. In the past 54 years the Federal Land Bank of Houston has made almost 200,000 loans on Texas farms and ranches.

In other words, we specialize in making farm and ranch real estate loans—long term loans with prepayment privileges.

FROM THE DIRECTOR...

Many authorities believe that our sluggish, time-consuming criminal justice process is a major obstacle to effective crime control in our country today. I share this belief. Over the years, I have stressed the urgent need to speed up this process, especially in the areas of prosecution and court administration. Dilatory maneuvers and palliative approaches must be replaced by prompt, decisive action.

Meaningful information and access to all the facts in matters involved in our criminal justice process are vital to the results attained. Thus, the quicker such data become available to appropriate authorities, the better justice is served.

This month, the computerized criminal history information system becomes operational through the expanded services of the FBI National Crime Information Center (NCIC). For many years, the FBI, through a manual system, has exchanged criminal history information with local, State, and Federal agencies by mail. Now, working with State and local authorities, the FBI will accept criminal identification records for computer storage and make the computerized records immediately available to Federal, State and local police, prosecutors, courts, and correctional agencies for day-to-day use. In view of the ever-increasing interstate criminal mobility, this is a significant advancement for law enforcement and the administration of justice. Speculation, on the part of some, that the computerization of criminal history will lead to the wholesale misuse of such data is completely unfounded. Detailed security procedures have been established throughout the NCIC to insure that criminal information is used only for those purposes approved by law. Under Federal statute, the FBI is authorized to exchange criminal identification, crime, and other records with "authorized officials of the Federal Government, the States, cities, and penal and other institutions."

The data to be included in criminal history records are documented information furnished by police, courts, and correctional agencies to accurately depict the individual's formal contacts with the criminal justice system from arrest until final disposition.

As in the past, persons and agencies that misuse the computerized identification records will be immediately denied the services of the system. I am in full agreement with pending proposals to have Federal penalties established for the unlawful use of information obtained from the system. Further, individuals or agencies responsible for the unauthorized use of identification records can be sued in civil court by persons who feel they have been wronged.

Where our criminal justice process is concerned, substantial progress is long overdue. The advent of the computerized criminal history program is an important development in the cause of justice. The FBI is pleased to join other law enforcement agencies and institutions in this noteworthy undertaking to bring a greater measure of security and protection to the public. If a true balance of justice is to be achieved, we must strengthen the ways and means by which our society can quickly and firmly deal with the modern-day lawbreaker.

THE DEVIL'S RIVER PHILOSOPHER SEZ...

He Finds New Hope, He Claims For Old Domino Players In Their 40's

Editor's note: The Devil's River Philosopher on his bitter-weed ranch on Dry Devil's River must have had a birthday, his letter this week sort of indicates.

Dear editor:
I got tired of international news the other day, tried to rest my mind on the editorials in The Dallas Morning News, that didn't help, so turned to the sports pages.

After reading that, I'm not sure a man has any place to tum.

For example, there was an article telling about the exploits of old men still playing professional football. Bob Lilly of the Dallas Cowboys, it said, is still going strong even though he's 35 years old. Quarterback Johnny Unitas at 38 is still throwing the football. A lot of players for the Washington Redskins are well over 30. And so it went.

I'll tell you, when a man is past his prime at 30 and old at 35, the world is moving too fast for me and probably you.

But it's getting even worse. Another article in the same paper reported on a chess match between Bobby Fischer of the U.S. and Tigran Petrosian of the Soviet Union. The Russian, former world champion, lost, and the article said: "It was a bitter defeat for the 42-year-old Petrosian. He made the bid despite his age, which is considered old for the exhaustive demands of tournament play." And it added: "Fischer, 28, is at the peak of his powers, according to most chess experts."

You mean chess is even worse than football? You're at your peak at 28 and over the hill at 42? What's a man supposed to do when he's past 40? Retire and run for Congress? Edit a newspaper?

However, there's hope for all such old people. I didn't know this until I saw it on television the other day, but a man has invented and is now selling ballbearing dominos.

That's right. There's a tiny ballbearing on the face of each domino and you can shuffle with practically no exertion. The dominos glide and spin with the slightest shove. Practically any old football or chess player can do it, and with a few corrective exercises to build up his hand muscles probably the chairman of a Congressional Committee could get the hang of it.

This should extend the playing days of domino experts almost indefinitely. Is somebody working on something like this for newspaper editors?

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

In the Speech Club's first tournament for the year, Sonora was victorious. The team placed second overall high in the entire meet at Odessa High School, bringing home a total of 12 medals and four first place trophies. The only school to beat us was Midland High, with a student body of over 3,000.

Twelve of the 24 contestants from Sonora got into the finals, more than from any other school and all 24 passed high in preliminary competition. Other schools that Sonora topped were: McCamey, Eldorado, Denver City, San Angelo Lake View, Fort Stockton, Seminole, Kermit, Andrews, Lubbock Coronado, El Paso Irving, Midland Lee and Lubbock Estacado.

Those winning first place trophies were: Ric Hill, boys' prose; Rick Street, boys' poetry; Molly Sawyer, girls' prose and Michelle Rousselot, girls' poetry.

Winning second place was duet acting team Molly Morris and Ruthie Wallace.

Those receiving third place medals were Matt Davenport, boys' prose, Larry Berger, boys' poetry and duet acting team Debe Roper and Steve Street.

Also in the finals were Kelley Sue Sentell, girls' prose and David Wallace, oration.

Word was received last Friday that Joe Nance was a winner of the National Council of Teachers of English award for this year. Joe's name was submitted as Sonora High School's representative.

One of every 500 Junior English students could be nominated and only 12% of those nominated were winners. This means that Joe's name, along with the other winners, will be sent to every college and university in the nation to be considered for a scholarship.

The girls basketball teams began their season last week against Comstock. Their 'A' team topped ours, and our 'B' team scored a victory. They will be playing against Comstock again next Tuesday, November 16, here beginning at 6 p.m. The concession stand will be operated by the Speech Club.

To sum up their season, the Junior High and 'B' team played Eldorado last Thursday evening. The Junior High team scored a victory of 28-6 and our 'B' team 49-6 to end an overall victorious season.

Sonora stomped Eldorado last Friday night 27 to 6 to wrap up the District 9-A championship. Although the Broncos made a few mistakes early in the game, fumbles and penalties that caused them not to look quite as sharp as they have at times, they played their usual hard fought game.

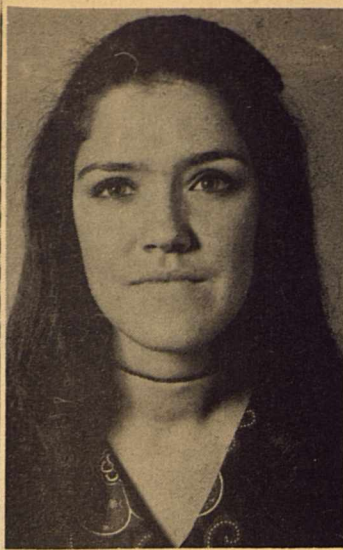

Steve Street had a really great night; the Eagles were keying on Milton Noel so that he didn't make much yardage, but made them take him inside and turned Steve loose. The defense was able to shut off Eldorado, which gave the Bronco even more enthusiasm.

Ladd Turner on offense and Joe Gutierrez on defense both did very well filling in for Gene Trainer who was unable to play due to an injured collarbone.

Ric Hill, Mike Dillard, Ladd Turner, Wayne Hill and Humberto Villarreal all did very well and Frank Taylor played his usual good defense. On the secondary, Wade Richardson, Freddie Virgen, Rick Street and Freddie Gonzales all played a very solid game against Eldorado.

Mark Rousselot, Tryon Fields and Joe Eustace had a really fine night, and Tryon and Richard Bernal did well blocking on the sweep. Bruce Kerbow and Richard both stood out on down-field blocking, and John Weston, Wesley Richardson and Gonzales also played a fine game.

Now that they have won district, the Broncos are looking forward with great enthusiasm to the playoffs, but first they will play Robert Lee there this Friday. Everyone turn out and support them as they wind up their district play with a 10-0 record.

Sue Morris Plans Marriage

The engagement of Miss Sue Ann Morris of Eldorado to Monte Roy Dillard has been announced. The couple plan to marry January 1, at the First Baptist Church here. Parents of the couple are Charles M. Morris of Ozona, and the late Mrs. Morris and Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Dillard. Miss Morris is a 1971 graduate of Eldorado High School and Dillard is a 1969 graduate of Sonora High School. Both are presently attending Angelo State University in San Angelo.

COMPOSTING FIGHTS POLLUTION

Rather than burning leaves this fall and polluting the air, use them for a compost pile, suggests Janne Everett, Extension landscape horticulturist. This will provide a good source of organic matter for potted plants, for topdressing the lawn, and for building up the soil in flower beds and shrub borders. To make a compost pile, alternate layers of vegetable matter and garden soil. Each layer of vegetable matter should be watered thoroughly and sprinkled with a commercial fertilizer.

WASTE—Did you know the average American throws away five to seven pounds of solid waste each day? That's over a ton a year, and the amount is increasing.

Coffee Break

by Shirley Hill

Hey, how about our speech students in the Odessa Tournament? Sonora has indeed been fortunate in the young people they have produced. These young people have litterly put Sonora on the map.

We have won three state football championships, many speech tournaments and other events too numerous to mention.

For every case of youthful, disorderly conduct that makes the headlines, there are probably thousands of worthy youth activities that are never mentioned.

For the sake of balance and perspective, a little more attention should be given to the builders rather than the burners. The builders are probably predominate in every community and this should provide a silent denial to the common cry that America is sick and falling apart.

Received a short note from an old friend the other day and thought some of my readers might like to hear news of her. She was formerly Mrs. Mary Jean Baldwin. Mary Jean writes: Hi, just a note to say hello and to tell you how much I look forward to the Devil's arrival every week. I still like to keep up with my friends in Sonora, and I especially enjoy reading about my former students, who are now freshmen in high school, and eighth graders in junior high.

Our whole family has taken the mumps, one by one. I have been out of school (I teach fourth grade at Shields Elementary) for four weeks trying to recover from complications caused by the mumps. I am still a bit shaky, but hope to be back in full swing before long.

DREAMS ARE THE DAWN OF TOMORROW

And like the first light of a new day they seem distant, unreal. Yet out of our dreams we often fashion tomorrow.

The dreams of the daylight hours are not in the subconscious. Rather they project our hopes on a screen of reality. They grow into goals and aims and ambitions.

Whether tomorrow will fulfill those dreams depends on certain values which must be acquired today. Ideals, standards, moral principles, religious faith—these inspire dreams worth dreaming, and help us to translate them to reality.

Never worry about your daughter's daydreaming. Be concerned about her opportunities for spiritual development. The Church shares that concern. It can help you do something constructive about it.

A Bishop Looks at Life How It Began

By Everett H. Jones, Retired Bishop of the Episcopal Church

No American holiday is so poorly observed as Thanksgiving Day. For that reason I have come to feel we should consider the whole month of November as a time to recover the meaning of gratitude in our lives. This message is the beginning of an effort in that direction.

Most of us recall that the Pilgrim Fathers in New England gathered in 1621 to express gratitude to God "for a fruitful and liberal harvest." They were also thankful to have survived innumerable perils in the new world. Their gratitude rose in the midst of their danger and great privation.

But most of us do not recall that it was 242 years later, in 1863, that the first national Thanksgiving Day was proclaimed. The idea had been advanced many times but was consistently turned down, partly because it was considered a violation of separation between Church and State.

Much of the credit for establishing the holiday goes to Sara Josepha Hale, novelist and editor of Godey's Lady Book, who campaigned vigorously for such an observance from 1827 to 1863. In the latter year, despite the fact that our country was locked in deadly internal conflict, Abraham Lincoln issued the first proclamation.

There is something timeless about the words Lincoln used. After mentioning the bounty of Nature, he wrote:

"No human counsel hath devised nor hath any mortal hand worked out these great things. They are the gracious gifts of the Most High God, Who, while dealing with us in anger for our sins, hath nevertheless remembered mercy."

"It has seemed to me fit and proper that they should be solemnly, reverently, and gratefully acknowledged as with one heart and one voice by the whole American people. I do, therefore, invite my fellow citizens... to set apart and observe the last Thursday of November as a day of thanksgiving and praise to our beneficent Father Who dwelleth in the heavens."

Expulsion of the Republic of China by the United Nations sent shock waves through the Congress. The action was unwarranted and terribly unjust. It set loose demands for a re-appraisal of U. S. financial contributions to the UN.

The expulsion, demanded by Red China, as a condition for admission of the Peking regime, makes it apparent the Communist bloc is now dominant at the UN level--at least on some major issues.

The American effort to keep Formosa in the organization was lost on a procedural vote of 55 to 59. Among the 59 were such pipsqueak nations as Bhutan, Burundi, Guyana, Sierra Leone, So, Yeman, and Zambia. Ever hear of any of them? And each had the same voting power as did the USA!

A strong move is now developing in Congress to trim Uncle Sam's annual contribution to the UN budget to the proper level. We now pay more than one-third of the bill.

The United Nations now faces bankruptcy. Last year the U. S. contributed $318-million, of the total UN receipts of $967-million. Under the UN charter each member nation is assessed a certain amount, but may ignore that. There are 76 nations in debt to the organization, which right now owes $176,-699,974.

Among the debtors in the Communist bloc, which owes a grand total of $118,753,898, the Soviet portion of which is $86,864,900.

Thus, the USA has been suckered into paying a disproportionate share of the UN budget. The United States should quit being a patsy. If the United Nations is to continue, each member nation should be required to pay annual assessments, which should be based upon its percentage of the population of all the members. I have introduced a bill to that effect, under which the U. S. annual assessment would be $68-million--thereby saving American taxpayers $250-million a year.

Any nation which defaults should be dropped from membership.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Fresh Salesman

Shopping for a studio couch, Myrtle followed the friendly salesman to an obscure nook at the back of the furniture store. Suddenly, while they were talking about fabrics, the salesman seized her in a violent embrace.

Myrtle was so outraged that she not only had the man fired but also sued the owner of the store for damages.

"This was a clear case of assault and battery," she charged in court. "And every employer is responsible for the acts of his employees."

But the court disagreed and rejected her claim. The judge said the owner was not responsible for an act that was so completely separate from the job of selling furniture.

This is a general rule of law, that an employer is not liable for an employee's personal misconduct outside the scope of his job. Thus, the owner of a bar was held not liable when a mischievous waiter gave a customer a painful hotfoot.

It is a different story, however, when the employee's duties do include a certain amount of physical contact with the public. Take this case:

At a movie matinee, a noisy teen-ager was ejected from the theater by an irate usher. In doing so, the usher used considerably more roughness than was necessary.

This time, when the teen-ager sued the management for damages, the court pointed out that policing the customers was part of the job of ushering. Even though the usher overdid it, the court said that the theater, as his employer, would have to pay damages.

Furthermore, certain employers may be held liable because of an extra duty they owe the public. For example, a railroad had to pay damages after an amorous conductor forced several kisses on a reluctant woman passenger.

To be sure, kissing passengers was not within the scope of a conductor's job. But the court said that the railroad, as a public carrier, owed an extra duty to protect its passengers from harm—a duty which in this case it had clearly not performed.

The last time you blew a fuse, you were pretty irritated, right? The fact is that the fuse was protecting you. Here's how:

■ A fuse is a device through which electricity passes. But it is designed to limit the amount of electricity that may pass through. If you attempt to use 16 amps on a circuit that includes a 15-amp fuse, the fuse will blow.

■ Most fuses have a small metal link through which the current passes. When too much power tries to crowd its way through, heat melts the link and the flow of electricity stops. Result: electricity is cut off from that wiring circuit before the wiring itself heats up to cause damage.

■ When you replace a fuse, be sure the fuse is the correct size. Don't just put in a larger fuse, because that does away with the very protection the fuse is designed to give.

■ The real answer to overloaded wiring circuits is to have your home's wiring systems checked by a qualified electrician. He can correct the problem that's causing fuses to blow or circuit breakers to open. If new wiring or a larger service entrance is needed, your electrician can give you the facts.

SAFETY MANAGER IN THE KITCHEN

Put a safety inspector in the average American kitchen and his list of accident factors would probably include such things as razor-sharp knives, wet floors, open flames, hot stoves and utensils, fragile glass and china, chemicals poisonous if ingested, flammable liquids, and appliances to wash, dry, slice, mix and dispose.

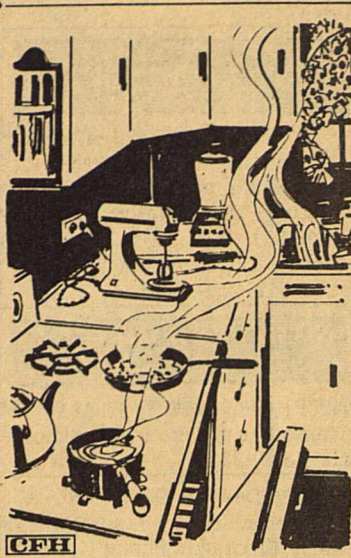

No wonder over a million disabling injuries occur within the kitchen confines each year, according to the Council on Family Health. To help reduce this statistic, the Council, sponsored by the manufacturers of medicines as a public service, offers these tips for the woman who, at home, must be both worker and safety manager for the whole family.

— Work in proper lighting. Darkness can cause accidents. Lighting should be brightest around the range and work-storage areas, where cuts and burns are most often incurred.

— Keep the air clear. Adequate ventilation is essential to prevent build-up of smoke or fumes from cooking or cleaning. Built-in range hoods should be inspected at least once a year, along with the range itself. A window should always be kept open when cooking or cleaning.

— Store chemicals with care. Accidental poisoning can cause serious injury to children who may discover toxic chemicals stored beneath the sink or on a low shelf of a closet. Keep all chemical products, such as ammonia, turpentine, furniture polish or drain cleaner, on a high shelf.

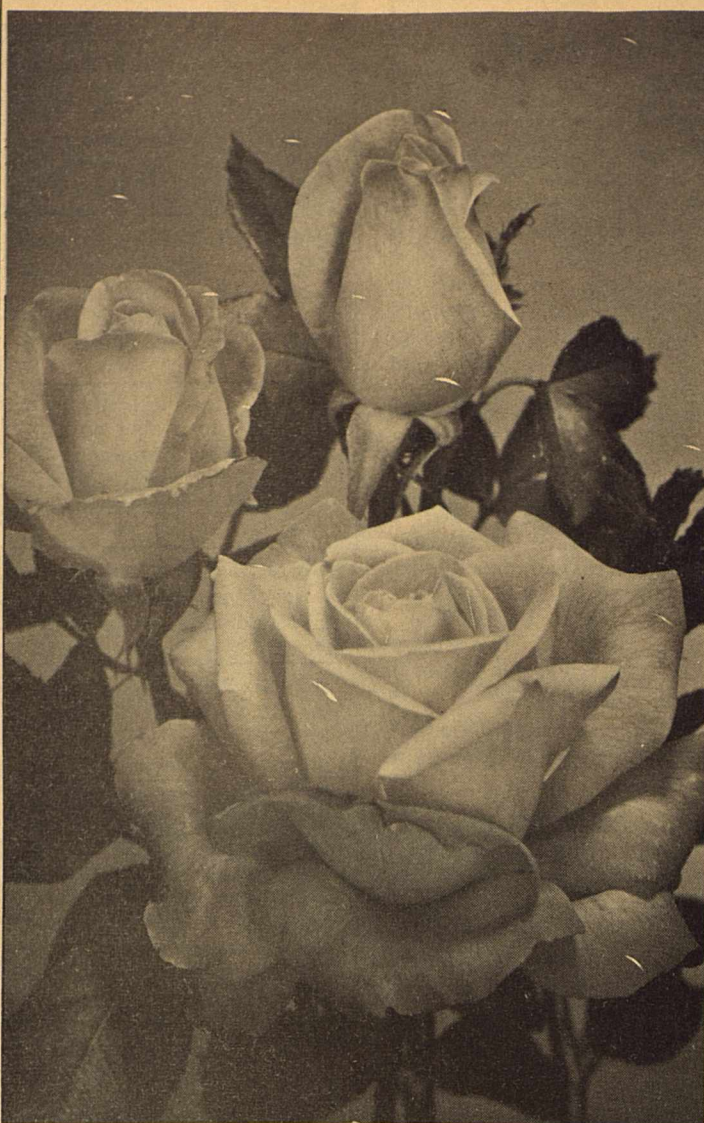

— Dress properly. Avoid flowing garments and elaborate jewelry when working. And choose a flame-proof curtain fabric for maximum fire protection.

— Treat appliances and utensils with respect. Point handles of pots and pans toward sides of the stove, away from the reach of children, and similarly avoid dangling or stretching electrical cords across wide areas. Knives, to perform properly, should be kept sharp, but also stored as far away from children as possible.

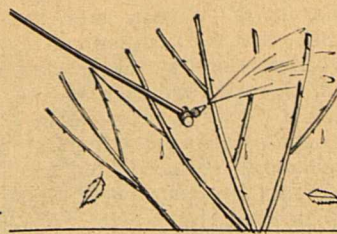

WINTER PROTECTION OF ROSES

It's Simple
And Easy

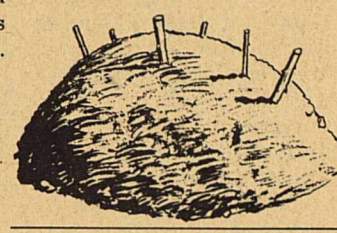

Wherever temperatures go below 15 degrees, roses need winter protection. All-America Rose Selections, a group of professional growers, hybridizers, and introducers of fine roses, have devised the following fundamental routine of winter protection which is practiced in their extensive test and display gardens scattered throughout the United States. They recommend that you use the same simple procedures in protecting your own roses. They are as follows:

SPRAY

SPRAY — Remove all dead stems, leaves, and debris, raking carefully around each plant. Spray the entire plant and surrounding soil with a good fungicide and insecticide to prevent carrying over of diseases and insects on and about the plant.

MOUND

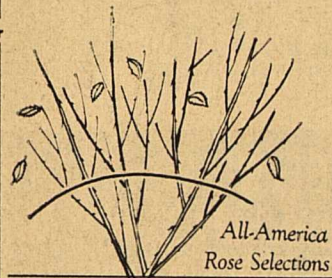

MOUND — Mound a pile of loose earth up, over and around each plant to a height of about 12" and firm. Prune the canes of the roses so that only 4" to 6" of the tips remain exposed after mounding. The purpose of this mounding is to protect the plants from rapid changes of temperature and to guard the canes against winter wind and ice damage.

Evergreen boughs, leaves, hay or straw, thrown over the mounds will prevent washing during the winter, but such added protection should not be applied until after the ground freezes.

Carefully remove mounds in spring when new growth starts, but before the ground freezes. As far as possible, plant your floribunda, and grandiflora roses back to 18". This makes it easier to work around them in providing winter protection, and prevents them from becoming battered by the wind and ice of winter.

TRIM

TRIM — After a hard frost or two, prune all canes of your hybrid tea, floribunda, and grandiflora roses back to 18". This makes it easier to work around them in providing winter protection, and prevents them from becoming battered by the wind and ice of winter.

Senator Snelson Becomes Governor For A Day Dec. 4

A special invitation is extended to all residents of Sutton County to attend the ceremonies and activities honoring Senator Pete Snelson when he becomes Governor of Texas Saturday, December 4, according to Lewis R. Timberlake, chairman of the host committee.

Senator Snelson is President Pro Tempore of the Texas Senate and who under the provisions of the Texas Constitution becomes Governor during the absence from the state of the Governor and Lieutenant Governor.

"Since Sutton County is in the 25th Senatorial District represented by Senator Snelson, it is particularly appropriate for its residents to be special guests of honor during the traditional 'Governor-for-a-day' festivities," said Timberlake.

"This Little Town"

(Editor's note: This poem was given to us by Arcadia Johnson who moved here from Tennessee several years ago. She said she read a poem similar to this and "...so I have dared purloin enough of its verse and made it my very own, as this is what Sonora means to me as about my way I go...")

"THIS LITTLE TOWN"
I like to live in this little town
Where the leaves meet over the street.
You wave your hand and say "hello" to everyone you meet.

I like to stop for a minute outside a grocery store,
And listen at the kindly gossip of the folks going in and out its door.

For life is interwoven with friends you learn to know,
And you feel their joys and sorrows as they daily come and go.

So I'm glad to live in this little town,
For every house in this little town,
Is more than a house—it's Home!

Party Honors Bride - Elect

Miss Becky Tittle, bride-elect of Bill Glasscock, was honored with a lingerie shower and luncheon November 6, at the Sonora Golf Clubhouse. Hostesses for the party were Miss Regina Trauer and Miss Melissa Brown. The bride's chosen colors of blue and white were used in the decorations. Twelve girls, friends and former classmates, attended the party.

BEANS—Know the difference between green beans and wax beans? Wax beans are so called because of their waxy yellow color. Green beans are more common. The two types of beans have little difference in nutritional value.

Fall Comes To The Countryside

by E. B. Keng, SCS Technician
Fall is becoming much in evidence in the vegetation in Sonora and the adjoining countryside.

Leaves on the pecans are yellowing, and with the first hard frost will end their years work. The flame leaf sumac along the highways near Sonora is decked out in brilliant orange and red hues.

On rangelands, many of the better grasses are taking on the characteristic red color—particularly the bluestems and sideoats grama. Grasses that cure red are said to be stronger because of a higher sugar content.

A brilliant red vine growing up in trees along draws with 5 or 7 leaflets is the Texas or Virginia creeper. The Caroline snailseed is adorned with clusters of red berries, each with a hard seed resembling a snail.

On the fence near the 4-H Center is a vine with bright orange red balls. This is slim-lobed globeberry, a member of the cucumber family. The tasajillo, turkey pear, or jumping cactus is now loaded with a heavy crop of red seed pods. A few blue flowered asters may be seen here and there—one of the last native flowers to bloom before winter. With the abnormally heavy rainfall, however, a number of native flowers are blooming "out of season".

Rangelands are densely covered with annual weeds, most of which will furnish excellent feed for livestock and deer. Bitterweed, another winter annual weed, is abundant on wet ranges and disturbed areas, and may cause trouble later.

Vegetative growth since July has been remarkable—probably the most unusually heavy rainfall in the history of recorded weather for this area.

COOKING FOR THE HOLIDAYS

When gathering supplies for holiday cooking, remember that spices deteriorate and quickly lose their pungency in heat and humidity. Always be sure to store them in air tight containers.

UNDER THE COACHING OF HEAD COACH BILL SCOGGINS and his coaching staff, the Broncos are assured of the district win as they went over Eldorado Friday night by a 27-6 score. In Scoggins first year here as head coach, the Broncos have now won nine with no losses for the season. They meet Robert Lee Friday to close out district play. In the event they lose to the Steers, Sonora would still represent the district in playoffs as they defeated Mason, who ranks second in district 9-A play.

MRS. ELAINE FREE, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Mears, and a local high school graduate, is a teacher of the home furnishings class of Irving High School. Mrs. Free's class is planning the decoration for the house the building trades class is constructing. Here a student points to the type paneling she would chose for the house. Mrs. Free holds the samples of paneling up for comparison. Mrs.

Free commented that in decorating the buildings trade house, they have to decorate conservatively because they don't know the family needs of the future residents of the house. She said several of the students plan to be interior decorators and others in the all-girl class plan to be housewives and use this information in planning their own apartments and homes.

8th Graders End Season With Win

by M. STREET and L. ROGERS
Sonora punished Eldorado 27-8 as Oscar Galindo made history by kicking the first PAT in Sonora's Junior High history. Frank Gallegos hurried 35 yards for the opening score. The extra point was toed by Galindo.

On a 5-yard run, Eldorado scored and made the two point conversion.

Trailing 8-7, Larry Finklea scampered 43 yards to put Sonora ahead to stay. Galindo again kicked the PAT. Gallegos scored again on a 39-yard run. The PAT failed as Galindo's kick was blocked.

The scoring ended on an 81-yard carry. Galindo booted the PAT to end the game with a 27-8 victory by Sonora.

The season play ended with a 4-5-0 record.

BE READY FOR WINTER

Prepare for a safe and happy winter by making sure that furnances, heaters and other heating aides are in good working order, advises Bill Allen, Extension Agricultural Engineer. The central heating and hot water systems should receive careful checks. Chimneys and flues should be cleared and all motors should be oiled. Insulating, painting, weather stripping, and repairing of roofs, gutters and other areas are important jobs before cold weather sets in.

TIPS FOR OUTDOORSMEN

by Vern Sanford

Use Care With Repellents

Read directions carefully on insect repellent spray cans. Some have chemicals that will damage synthetic material. Some repellents will soften plastic shotgun shells, causing them to jam in the gun, and turn nylon line on a fishing reel into a sticky jelly.

Match Box From Hulls

Used shotgun shells make handy, waterproof match stick containers. Put the matches in a 20-gauge hull and then slip a 12-gauge hull over the open end.

Film Spools For Line

Those empty roll-film spools are handy for the storage of extra fishing line and leaders.

Trim Dorsal Fins

When scaling a fish, use scissors to trim off the dorsal fin. This will save many a scratch or getting stabbed with a sharp fin. Such wounds can cause infections.

Fish Like The Shade

In lake fishing always try a few casts around any boat that has been anchored in one spot for several days. Big lunker bass like to lie in the shadows of these boats.

Pitch Tent In Clearing

When pitching a tent, locate it on the edge of a clearing on high ground and on a slope for drainage. Don't pitch the tent under trees, for they will continue to drip water long after a rain has stopped.

Metal Stringer For Drag

A metal-chain fish-stringer with all hooks open is useful in retrieving a rod and reel dropped overboard. Drag it back and forth over the spot. The open hooks will snag your lost gear.

Smoke Is A Barometer

For a tip on the weather watch how smoke acts. If it hugs the ground, it's a sign of falling barometric pressure and you can expect rain. If the smoke rises high, it's a sign of fair weather.

Light Prevents Rust

If you keep your guns in a cabinet, install a small-watt light bulb. The burning bulb on a humid day will evaporate moisture and prevent the guns from gathering rust.

Aerating Aids Taste

When on a camping trip, boil water if you are not sure of its purity. Then pour it back and forth in containers to aerate to remove the flat taste.

Bright Light Irks Worms

Use a colored filter over your flashlight lens when searching for night crawlers. White light irritates worms and causes them to seek cover.

A WATERCOLOR PAINTING by Mrs. Arner Earwood was named "Painting of the Month" by the San Angelo Art Club. The painting "November Mist" will hang at the Tom Green County Library during the month of November.

Plans To Begin Use Of Memorial Fund To Dr. J. F. Howell Made

A very fitting memorial to honor the memory of Dr. J. F. Howell, Sr. has been made possible through the contribution of friends, family and associates.

The Dr. J. F. Howell Memorial Fund has been established, at the request of the Howell family, as a nursing scholarship loan fund. The fund will be administered by the Board of Trustees of the Lillian M. Hudspeth Memorial Hospital.

At a recent Hospital Board meeting the president, Joseph Vander Stucken appointed a committee consisting of Doyle Morgan, Web Elliott, Clayton Hamilton and Mrs. W. R. Cusenbary to meet with Mrs. Howell to formulate plans and guidelines whereby the fund can be put to use.

The committee met at the home of Mrs. Howell this past week and plans are now underway and application forms will soon be available for men or women wishing to enter the nursing profession. It was also decided that priority be given to applicants entering the local vocational nursing program.

Anyone wishing to make a contribution to the fund either to the memory of Dr. Howell or others may do so by contacting Hamilton at the First National Bank. Persons so memorialized will be listed in a book on display at the Hospital.
