"Helping Hand" Memorial Details, Committees Told

The Helping Hand of Sutton County, a local memorial fund, has been established at the request of the family of the late Carl J. Cahill. In establishing the fund committee members announced that contributions are acceptable as tributes to anyone designated.

The purpose of the fund is to lend a helping hand to persons in the community who might need financial assistance during sickness, a death in the family or other calamity.

A committee composed of T. R. Coker as chairman, Doyle Morgan, secretary, Mrs. Dorothy Baker, treasurer, R. W. Wallace, Lea Allison and Jim Cahill will serve in an advisory capacity.

The committee of six will serve two year terms. At the beginning of each year, three new members will be selected by the committee, retaining three of the old members. In this way, the committee will always have three members with one year experience.

DUTIES OF ADVISORY COMMITTEE:

- 1—receive and act upon information concerning prospective recipients of benefits from the fund.
- 2—make necessary investigation of such prospects.
- 3—when the prospect has been declared worthy, the committee will not grant benefits in excess of 10% of the total fund.
- 4—in cases of extreme emergency requiring immediate action, the agreement of any two members of the committee will be valid.

QUALIFICATIONS OF RECIPIENTS:

- 1—recipients shall be residents of the Sutton County area.
- 2—worthiness of the recipient will be left to the discretion of the committee.

GENERAL:

- 1—The First National Bank of Sonora will be the depository of the fund and each check written must be signed by two members of the Advisory Committee.
- 2—from time to time if the need should arise the declaration of this fund may be changed by a two-thirds majority vote of all members of the committee.

Voter Registration Lags As Deadline Approaches

With less than two weeks remaining in the voter registration period, Sutton Countians are lagging behind previous election years in registering to vote. Only 630 persons had registered Monday, according to the sheriff's office. In past years, particularly during the presidential election year such as this one, over 1200 persons normally obtain voter registration certificates.

Locally several positions in the School District and the City and County government will be open.

Terms of two members of the five-man County Commissioners Court will expire this year. They are Preston Love, representing the first precinct and J. E. Adams of the third precinct. Each member serves a four year term with two members being elected each election year. Both Love and Adams have filed for reelection with the County Clerk. Lester L. Shroyer filed Tuesday for the office of commissioner of precinct three, opposing incumbent Adams.

Waymon Giles DuBose, Jr. will seek his first elective term to the County Attorney post.

Sheriff Herman E. Moore has previously announced that he will not be a candidate for reelection. Pryce Taylor, deputy sheriff, is the only one who has filed for the office. Time to file remains however, with the first Democratic Primary to be held May 6. City and School Board elections are scheduled for early April.

City-wise, Sonorans will elect a complete slate of officers. Positions open will be mayor and two city commissioner places. Mayor Norman Rousset and Commissioners W. B. McMillan and Walter Pope, III are the incumbents.

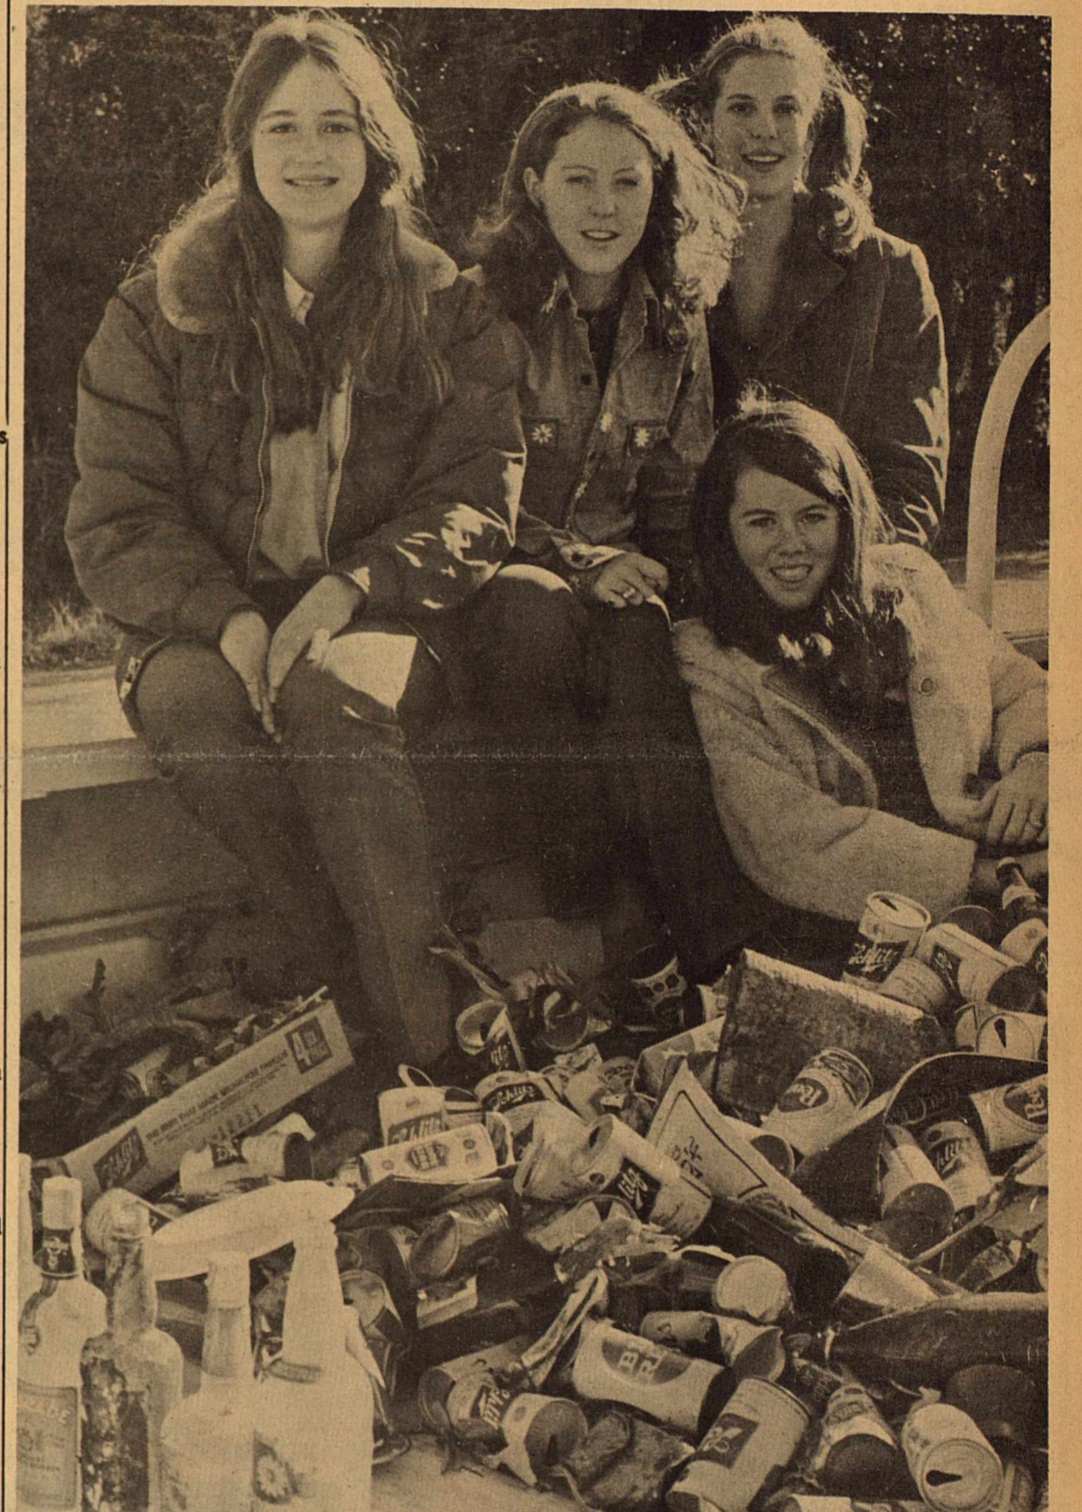

City Secretary Mrs. James L. Robbins said no one has filed for the positions as of Monday; however, the deadline is normally early in March. Requirements include swearing of a loyalty oath and producing normal proof of citizenship.

Terms of two of the seven-member Sonora Independent School Board expire this year. Last year the board approved and adopted a policy whereby each board member announces for a specific place on the board. This year the terms of R.S. (Bob Teaff, place 1, and that of George D. Wallace, place 2, expire. Candidates have until early March to file for the places at the office of Ken McAllister, superintendent of schools.

Personnel at the sheriff's office said voter registration applications will be accepted as long as they are postmarked before midnight January 31. With the possibility a number of candidates will seek posts in the local, state and national elections, voter registration interest is likely to increase considerably during the balance of time left to register.

A TRULY WORTHWHILE PROJECT, and a voluntary one, was undertaken by these four young women recently when they gathered litter along local streets and highways. Ruth Ella Wallace, Michelle Rousset, Molly Sawyer and Karen Hemphill had little trouble quickly gathering a pickup load of discarded cans and bottles in the area. This should serve as a reminder to all littering is unsightly as well as costly to remove since most of the litter is not picked up by volunteers as it was in this case.

Lester L. Shroyer Seeks Commission Post Precinct 3

In an announcement Tuesday Lester L. Shroyer said he has filed as a candidate for the office of County Commissioner of the third precinct. Shroyer will be opposing J. E. Adams, incumbent.

Shroyer, a ranchman, is a 1936 graduate of Sonora High School and is a lifetime resident of this county. His parents are the late Mr. and Mrs. Steve L. Shroyer, were longtime residents of this county.

He and his wife, Margaret, are parents of three children, Mrs. Richard Wharton, Dewey and Larry, both of Lubbock. Larry is a student at Texas Tech University.

In announcing his candidacy Shroyer submitted the following statement:

"After serious consideration I hereby announce my candidacy for office of Commissioner of Precinct 3 of Sutton County.

The support and influence of all friends and neighbors will be greatly appreciated."

Construction Crews Moving Into Area Create Flurries Of Local Activity

A number of strange faces are appearing on the local scene with at least two road crews, a pipeline construction firm and other contractors moving into the area. Some changes of ownership locally have also occurred.

S&B Constructors, Inc. have leased the building formerly occupied by the late Jerry N. Shurley and David Anderson, office manager, said the Houston firm will construct compressor stations for Intratex Gas Company at Bakersfield, Ozona Junction and Comfort.

Hank Hull, local butane dealer, has purchased the franchise for Mobil Oil from Hub Hale, former Magnolia dealer here for a number of years.

Monday the office of the Soil Conservation Service was moved to its new location in the First National Bank building. The SCS office, formerly located in the courthouse, will be occupied by County Attorney W. G. DuBose, Jr. A replacement for the late E. B. Keng has not as yet been named, according to Soil Conservation officials.

McVean and Barlow, pipeline constructors, have a small crew in the area presently constructing a feeder line for El Paso Natural Gas Company. They are temporarily maintaining an office at the Glasscock Shell Station. The company later will be in charge of a portion of the construction of the 334-mile gas pipeline, which will run from a point near Coyoanosa in western Pecos County to New Braunfels.

An initial portion of the line, a 146-mile segment running from New Braunfels to Houston, has been in service since the summer of 1970, and has been owned in the past by Intratex, a Houston Natural Gas subsidiary. The new 334-mile line will bring West Texas gas into the Houston area from various gathering systems and gas treating plants in West Texas.

The beginning segment of the 108 miles of 36-inch line will run from Coyoanosa to a point about midway between Sheffield and Ozona and is being constructed by Whittaker Pipeline Constructors of Houston. They maintain office in Fort Stockton.

With a number of persons arriving daily anyone having available rental property is requested to notify the Chamber of Commerce office.

GRASSROOTS OPINIONS

BASTROP, LA., ENTERPRISE: "Although prayer is the order of the day in Congress; although we pay to have chaplains conduct religious services for our soldiers; although both an invocation and a benediction are in order at any public gathering, official or unofficial; although we publicly honor God as our Creator and even remind ourselves on our money 'In God We Trust', the Supreme Court denies the right of prayer to children in school. This deplorable inconsistency is captured in this anonymous school prayer: 'Now I sit me down in school where praying is against the rule. For this great nation, under God, finds public mention of Him odd.'"

SAN MARINO, CALIF., TRIBUNE: "The main cause of inflation over the years has been increased government spending. It may have sounded 'businesslike' to make each piece of mail pay its way, but the government seems to have forgotten that all of its mail, including the military as well as the frank privilege of the politicians is carried without charge. Does it really want each piece to pay its own way, or is it trying to soak the rest of us for all the free-loading federal mail? The post office used to collect millions of dollars from magazines such as Look, but one after another they are dropping out of business. The government wanted to collect twice as much from Look. Instead it is going to get nothing. A lot of newspapers will be forced out of business unless government relents on its unprecedented postal hike." COLLEGEVILLE, PA., INDEPENDENT: "So, we are becoming confused... now they say leaded gasoline is bad, but still tolerable... phosphate detergents are bad, but not too bad... mercury tainted fish are bad, but not fatal... so, never mind cleaning up now, but do it later... let's say it like it is... the world is dirty and we must clean it up now."

BLOOMSBURG, PA., PRESS: "A leading journal for pharmacists, 'American Druggist' reports that 'make it do, use it up, do without' has become an outmoded philosophy. It has been replaced with the new view 'use it once and throw it away'. According to the publication, disposable products are often cheaper and healthier. It lists a number of such items and concludes, 'A disposable hairbrush is also under consideration.' This comes as a surprise. Looking at the shocking number of juvenile delinquency cases we had concluded that Mom and Pop had disposed of the hairbrush about ten years ago."

CORVALLIS, ORE., GAZETTE-TIMES: "Congress is on a big war against secrecy in government. Good. We're for it. Perhaps the best place to unlimber the first cannon would be in the halls of Congress. Press-banned hearings are getting more numerous all the time."

EDGEMONT, S. D., HERALD-TRIBUNE: "Every phase of government desires to do the utmost job possible as well as expanding their operations and enlarging their department. After all, a director of 100 is a much more important person than one with only a dozen, so if he can find excuse to enlarge his department, he certainly is going to do just that. And, each enlargement requires a good bit more funding so up go tax requests."

The Devil's River Philosopher Sez.....

He Comes Up Against Problem Of Keeping Things The Same

Editor's note: The Devil's River Philosopher on his bitterweed ranch on Dry Devil's River may get the ecologists in after him but that's his problem, not ours.

Dear editor:

I have long felt that whooping cranes, like farmers and space scientists, ought to be preserved if possible, but lately I've begun to wonder how far man ought to go in trying to keep all endangered species alive.

For example, I read an article in a newspaper last night that reported wildlife biologists were disheartened because their efforts to raise black-footed ferrets in captivity so they could later be released were failing. The only four captured females in this branch of the weasel family died and the scientists aren't sure any more are living in their natural habitat which used to stretch from Texas to Canada.

That's too bad, I said at first, although frankly up to that point I didn't know there was such an animal as a black-footed ferret, although I know if you let an ecologist know that something is about to become extinct the fire of battle lights up in his eyes and he jumps into the fray. Wonder what they'd do if they heard the mosquito was becoming an endangered species?

But I read further in the article and found out the black-footed ferret, if he's still around, lives in prairie dog burrows and rarely shows itself during daylight, "preferring to stalk sleeping prairie dogs under cover of darkness."

Well, maybe ecologists want to preserve the ferrets but I have a notion the prairie dogs wouldn't be interested in that program at all.

Furthermore, say the scientists do capture some more of the rare weasels and produce enough to turn loose again. How long would it be before the prairie dog became an endangered species? This of course would call for a program to capture prairie dogs, nurture them while they multiplied, and turn them loose, meanwhile keeping a close count on the ferrets who may have been thinning out pretty fast what with no prairie dogs to slip up on in the night. The thing could go on forever.

There are times maybe when we should just leave things alone, letting prairie dogs, ferrets and foreign nations work their way out of their own problems.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Well, girls, guess after Sundays Super Bowl game, your husband is easier to get along with. Being a fan of the Cowboys myself, I was certainly impressed with the entire team and feel that is one more thing Texans have to brag about.

Was a little surprised to hear certain Sonorans bet against the Dallas team—now that's just like betting against the Broncos.

A special news feature on the afternoon news last week caught my eye. In China, persons who were deaf were being treated with a needle or several needles inserted in their ears. This ancient and highly controversial procedure is called acupuncture.

Acupuncture involves inserting needles at precise points in the human body so that sensations are deadened.

A recent release from the Big Country TB association repeated a recent article in the New York Times written by Dr. Samuel Rosen of Mt. Sinai School of Medicine in New York which described how the procedure was used in the surgical removal of a lung from a patient who had tuberculosis. The article did not state whether the surgeon-patient was Chinese.

Dr. Rosen states that science cannot explain this phenomenon and neither have Chinese medical men. Surgery as described in this article is performed in this country, but rarely and only in extreme conditions.

The acupuncturist twirled the needle during the operation and according to the article, the patient at no time during the operation felt pain.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Drennan of Coleman were here last week visiting family and friends.

Mrs. Jack Wardlaw and Mrs. Tom Nevill spent several days in the Houston area last week. Mrs. Wardlaw visited her daughters, Mrs. Bill Stallworth and Mrs. Don McLarty and their families. Mrs. Nevill visited her brothers and sisters and their families.

nese, but I assume he was.

The story continues by stating the acupuncturist began by inserting a fine needle about an inch into the arm of the patient midway between the wrist and elbow. After slowly twirling the needle for twenty minutes, she gave the signal that the operation could begin without pain. The attending surgeon immediately took the scalpel, made a deep incision near the spine, across the left side of the chest wall to the breastbone. He then carefully cut away each rib.

The acupuncturist twirled the needle during the operation and according to the article, the patient at no time during the operation felt pain.

If you do not worship at some other church we will be very glad to have you worship with us.

Here's the population explosion in personal terms. To the proud parents, it's their first child—and they love her! But to the statisticians, who deal only with cold facts, she's just one more person on an already crowded earth.

What a dilemma! We want children, but we want them to face a secure future. When almost no one is optimistic about the present, how can anyone look forward to the future?

Other generations have faced momentous problems, too. Yet, with God's help, they surmounted them.

And God—if we turn to His Church—will do the same for us!

Revised Driver Qualifications Effective January 1

Texas Agricultural Commissioner John C. White has reminded Texas farmers and ranchers of revised driver qualifications regulations which should give significant relief from the stringent regulations that were in effect in 1971.

New exemptions were made for farmers and ranchers by the U.S. Department of Transportation after many complaints were filed against restrictive farm driver qualification regulations last year.

The new regulations which became effective January 1 include:

1. Farm vehicle drivers operating trucks weighing 10,000 pounds or less are totally exempt from the driver qualification rules.

2. Farm vehicle drivers operating straight trucks weighing in excess of 10,000 pounds within 150 miles of their farms are totally exempt from the rules.

3. Farm vehicle drivers 18 years or older operating a tractor-trailer unit within 150 miles of the farm are exempt, except they must be physically qualified but need not be physically examined and certified until January 1, 1973.

4. Drivers employed by custom operators are granted total exemption while transporting custom harvesting machinery to or from a farm and while transporting the custom harvested crops to storage or market.

5. Beekeepers transporting bees during seasonal movements are exempt.

The original regulations requiring drivers to be 21 years of age, submit to road tests, written and physical examinations, background checks and other regulations imposed undue burdens on farmers whose families helped in growing and harvesting crops, Commissioner White said.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Proof by Poll

Science has long played a vital role in the courtroom. X-rays, blood tests, photographs, fingerprints—all are familiar ingredients in the judicial process.

But what about the data provided by a modern public opinion poll? Are polls considered scientific enough to be trusted?

To a growing degree, yes. As polling has become more skillful, courts have become less skeptical. The fact remains, however, that the law will take a hard look at any particular poll before putting faith in its findings.

To begin with, the poll must be extensive enough to be significant.

In one case, an accused felon sought a change of venue on the ground that the local populace was prejudiced against him. But the only proof of prejudice was a poll of a few dozen individuals. The court decided that such a poll did not carry enough weight to make its point.

Nor will the results be persuasive if the questioners used "leading questions." A soap company claimed in court that the name of a new chewing gum was so similar to the name of its soap that the public would be confused.

To prove it, the company produced a survey that seemingly did show such confusion. But the questions had been slanted to induce the desired answers. The court decided this poll wasn't worth much either as a means of proof.

On the other hand, in a case involving a charge of false advertising, a carefully conducted poll was accepted as good evidence of how the ad was understood by the average consumer.

And in a case testing the use of radios on buses, a poll helped to prove that most of the passengers liked the idea.

Most successfully, polls have been used in trademark cases to ascertain how familiar the public is with a brand name.

Of course, polls will never be as scientific as fingerprints. But when the state of the public mind is at issue, polling can give justice a kind of help it can get in no other way.

A doctor who operates on himself has a fool for a patient.

It's an old saying, but it's never made more sense. There are some jobs in life that you just don't tackle by yourself. The preparation of your income tax should be one of them.

And that's where H & R Block, The Income Tax People, come in. H & R Block is America's largest tax service with more than 6,000 conveniently located offices to serve you. Your H & R Block representative is specially trained and can provide information on legitimate income tax benefits and opportunities that the average man on the street doesn't even know exists.

For instance, do you know all about deductions for child care or casualty losses? Or, that if your income increased over the last few years, you may save tax dollars by "income averaging"? After all, you're an amateur when it comes to doing income tax.

H & R Block's charges start at $5 and last year averaged under $12.50 for over 7 million returns we prepared.

And, if we make any error in the preparation of your tax return that costs you any interest or penalty on additional taxes due, while we do not assume the liability for the additional taxes, we will pay that interest and penalty.

Our one time fee entitles you to year-round tax service and assistance.

Come to the company that more than 7 million Americans placed their confidence in last year. Come to the people who will fill out your next income tax return efficiently, quickly, confidentially. Come to H & R Block.

Dr. Paul Law Freshman Again

Paul Law, son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Neill, is a freshman at the University of Texas Medical School in San Antonio, and according to the San Antonio Evening News he is already a doctor.

To be exact, Law, 39, is a doctor of philosophy in electrical engineering with 10 years working experience at Southwest Research Institute.

Although it may seem strange for someone of Law's age and background to start all over again as a medical student, he is actually not so unusual. Among the students at the school are several PH.D.s, an optometrist and at least two clergymen.

Moreover, while Law may be older than any of the other students at the school, he is representative of a growing number of Americans who are switching their careers at mid-life.

Law, married to the former Nancy Neill, earned a bachelor's degree in agricultural engineering from A&M in 1952. After a hitch in the Army, he did graduate work at Southern Methodist University and the University of Texas, receiving his doctorate at the latter institution in 1961.

He immediately took a research job at Southwest Research Institute, moving up several years later to manager of communication systems. While there, he discovered medicine.

"I became interested in medicine some six years ago when we first set up a bio-engineering section at the institute and hired our first M.D. on the staff", Law said.

"I was interested initially in medical electronics and started taking some supportive-type course work at SAC and St. Mary's University. I guess just the acquaintance there got me even further interested. As I took more and more courses, my interests changed to being a medical practitioner rather than a bio-medical engineer."

Despite his extensive background in electronic engineering, Law does not presently plan to enter any technically oriented area of medicine, such as radiology or anesthesiology.

"Although I haven't cast that possibility aside, right now I want most of all to have a practice," he said. "I would like very much to get into the family practice program which should be getting started here soon."

Law said that the one hindrance to his acceptance to the medical school was his age.

One of the deans expressed reservations about approving a man of almost 40 for admission, "but I explained that I thought I could finish up all this course work and still have a service period to society of about 20 years. . . I was accepted in the first draft in January"

Law said it didn't come as too much of a surprise to his wife, Nancy, when he told her he was thinking about becoming a doctor, since he had been taking medically-related courses for several years with growing interest.

"I guess we first talked about it after I had my initial interview with the dean," he recalled. "She was eager to help me and was just as excited as I was when I was accepted."

Lamb Buyers At 4-H Show

A number of firms and individuals attended the auction and made purchases at the annual 4-H Livestock Show and Sale held Saturday at the 4-H Center.

Making purchases at the 1972 4-H sale were Wesley Sawyer, First National Bank, Hemphill-Wells, Nathan's Jewelry, City Light and Power, Stockmen Feed, West Texas Utilities, and

Sonora Wool and Mohair, Dr. Joe David Ross, Bill Morris, Sonora Feed Company, Juno Ranch Company, Robert Allison, and

Robert Massie Company, Jackson House, Mayer & Rouselet, Ben Cusenbary, Paymaster Mill, Abilene, Joseph Vander Stucken, Producers Livestock and Bryan Hunt.

A ceiling price of $100 was set on the two champions and champion lamb carcasses. 4-H members are given the first $75 purchase price, with all over that amount going to the club for operational expense.

Fifty-nine persons paid a total of $1595 in the Chinese auction. This is the only fund raising event held by the Sutton County 4-H club each year.

TTDA Spotlights Pecos Trail

The Texas Pecos Trail, which features Sonora among its many other attractions, will be spotlighted nationally next month by the Texas Tourist Development Agency. (TTDA)

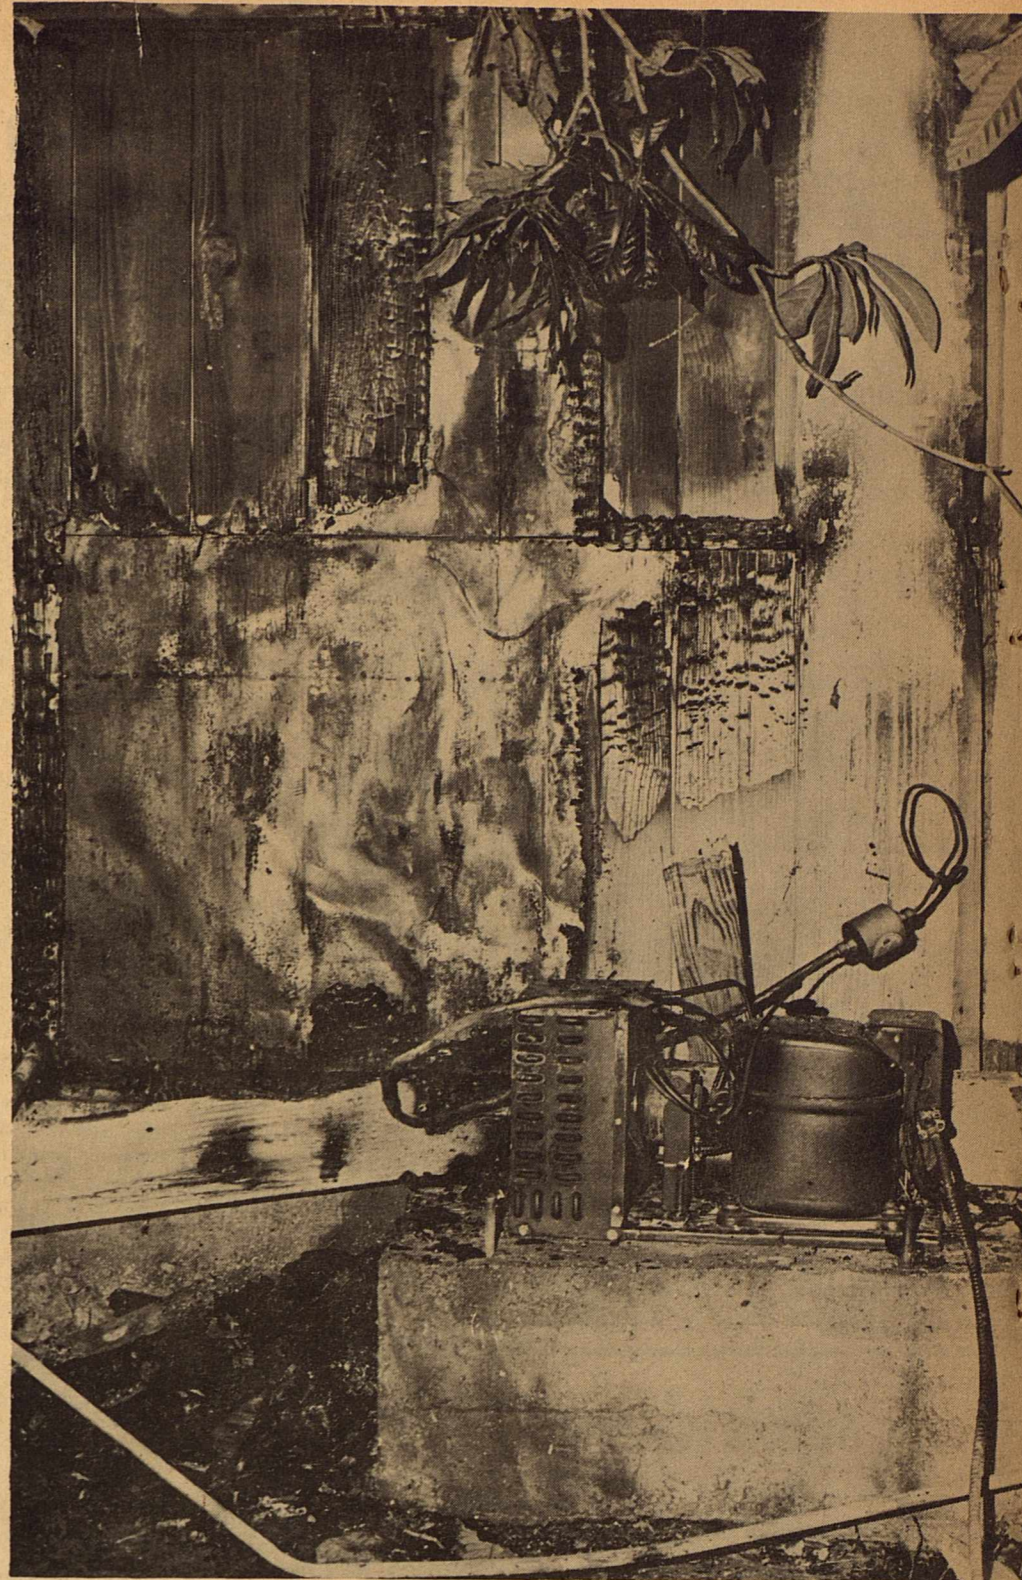

The trail is the subject of TTDA's second in a series of 10 advertisements promoting Texas Travel Trails.

The Pecos ad, which will run in four national magazines, features Judge Roy Bean's "Jersey Lilly" saloon/court-house at Langtry. The first is Southern Living's February issue. This will be followed by insertions in March issues of both Camping Journal and Woodall's Traller Travel and the April 15 issue of TV Guide.

Readers who return the coupon contained in the ad will receive the Texas Highway Department's new 208-page travelguide to the state as well as the Pecos Trail pamphlet.

The first ad in the Travel Trail series ran last fall. Highlighting the Texas Tropical Trail in the South Texas-Lower Rio Grande Valley area, it resulted in unprecedented autumn response from readers.

Pecos Trail attractions include Amistad Dam and Reservoir Recreation Area and Val Verde Winery at Del Rio, Monahans Sandhills State Park, Odessa Globe Theater, Midland's Museum of the Southwest, Castle Gap and King Mountain Scenic Drive at McCamey, Alamo Village at Brackettville, Judge Roy Bean's "Jersey Lilly" Saloon in Langtry, Caverns of Sonora and many others.

A FIRE, WHICH APPARENTLY started from a fire in this motor damaged Saunders Flowers last Thursday. This outside wall was damaged and some water and smoke damage was confined to the interior of the shop.
