High School Registration Set

According to an announcement made Monday by high school principal, Bill Mayfield, high school registration has been scheduled for August 13 and 14.

Seniors are to register August 13 from 8 a.m. - 12 noon; Juniors from 1-5 p.m. August 14. Sophomores will register from 8 a.m. - 12 noon, with the Freshmen class registering from 1-5 p.m.

Mayfield urges all students who will be in Sonora High School this year to be present on the days mentioned above to register for classes. Even those students who have pre-registered or attended the Sonora Schools last semester are expected to register again on the above given days.

Sonorans' Mother Dies In Denton

Final rites were held July 15 in the First United Methodist Church in Granbury for Mrs. F. B. Morrison who died July 13 following an illness.

Mrs. Morrison was born April 17, 1883 in Hood County and was a life-long resident of Granbury. She was preceded in death by her husband in 1956.

Fifty-six direct descendants survive Mrs. Morrison, including one sister, two brothers, a number of grandchildren and great-grandchildren. She is also survived by six great-great grandchildren.

Mrs. Morrison had been a frequent visitor here in the home of her son, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Morrison and family.

Firemen Attend Training School

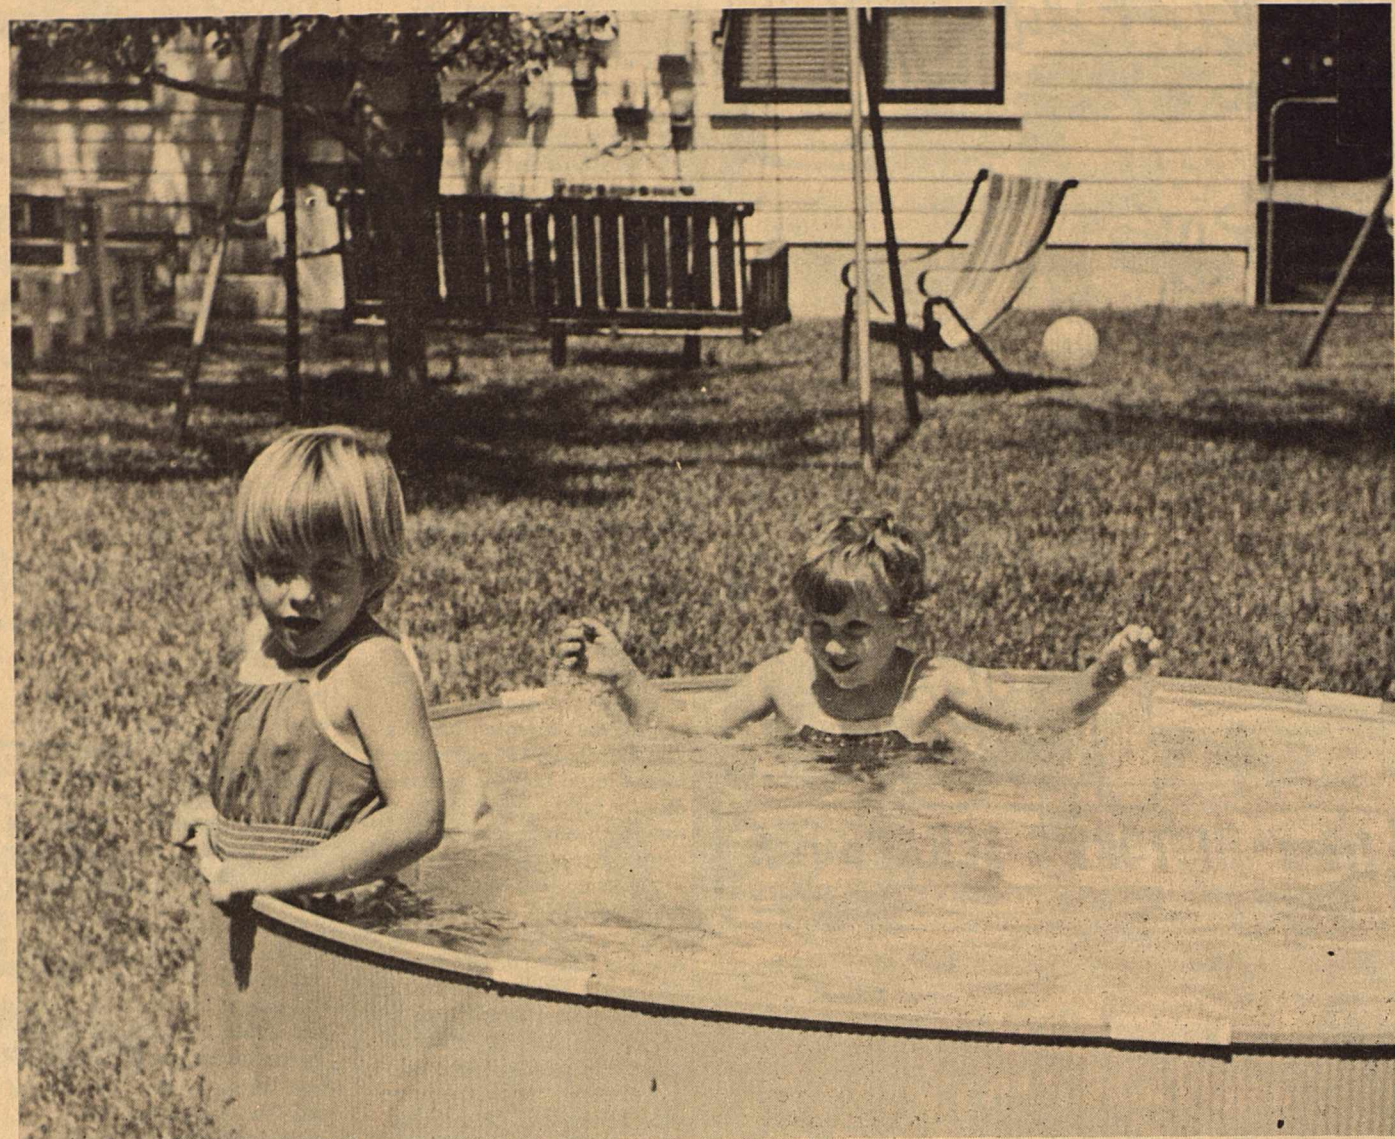

Three local firemen are among the 3,500 participants at the Texas Firemen's Training School which began its 44th annual session at Texas A & M University on July 22. They are Gene West, Louis Olenick and Pat Carroll.

The school, conducted by the Engineering Extension Service, a division of TAMU, in cooperation with the Texas Education Agency, is being sponsored by the State Firemen's and Fire Marshall's Association.

The school features 18 separate courses for firemen, covering all aspects of fire fighting and prevention, from basics and rescue to military fire protection and public relations.

The most important benefit a community receives by sending its firemen to the school is the increased ability to provide fire protection and save lives. Another benefit is seen in the form of insurance premium reductions.

Insurance rates are based heavily on the abilities of the local fire department.

BEATIN' THE HEAT. With temperatures jumping up around the 100 degree mark for the past few weeks, the 'in' thing is how to stay cool. Crystal and Shawna McLaughlin seem to find their backyard pool the favorite cooling off spot. Calm, cool and collected, these four year old twins are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. James McLaughlin.

Broncos To Report August 8 To Corral

It won't be long until the Broncos will get shod. The day will be August 8 from 5-7 p.m. at the Bronco Corral. Some 70 plus are expected to check out shoes at that time to begin breaking them in.

Many young men have been working the past two weeks beginning to get in condition for the August 13 date for the start of two-a-day workouts. Workouts will begin at 8 a.m. and 4 p.m. during the week of the 13th.

Physicals will be at the office of Dr. Charles F. Browne for all football boys. Seniors will report for physicals at 3 p.m. and Juniors at 4 p.m., Saturday, August 11. Sophomores are scheduled for physicals on Sunday, August 12 at 3 p.m. with Freshmen due on the same day at 4 p.m.

Anyone wishing their personal physician to examine them should pick up a physical form from Coach J. T. Hill.

School Trustees Accept Resignations

In a special meeting of the Sonora Independent School District Board of Trustees Monday afternoon, board members accepted the resignation of Tom Barclay, High School math teacher. Barclay resigned his teaching position to enter into private business in Brownwood.

In similar business, the board discussed the verbal resignation of David Porter, teacher and girls' coach in the local school system, and tabled further action on such pending submission of a written resignation by Porter. He is resigning to accept a coaching position in the Buena Vista School District.

The trustees approved transfer of funds for payment of the renovation of the Junior High School building. Renovation of the building, approved in the regular June meeting of the Board, is deemed necessary to accommodate the increasing number of students within the local system.

In other school business the following action was taken:

- Board members authorized Carroll King and Mrs. Patsy Schwiening to sign cafeteria checks.
- School taxes for 1973-74 will be based on a rate of $1.28, maintenance and $0.10, debt.
- Elementary and Junior High registration is scheduled July 30 - August 3.
- Some discussion was held on the following:
 - Payment of a new 54-

passenger bus.
--Physical examinations required for bus drivers.
--Progress on the renovation of the Junior High building.
--Cost of the school annuals.
--Some discussion of the dress code was held.
--Employment of two math teachers to fill vacancies created by the resignation of Tom Barclay and David Porter.
The next regularly scheduled meeting of the Board of Trustees will be August 13 at 7 p.m. The formal budget hearing will be conducted at this meeting.

New Teachers Named For School Opening

Several new teachers for the Sonora Independent School District have been hired recently to replace those who have moved on. Bill Mayfield, new high school principal, is making preparations to register high school students August 13 and 14. Mrs. Mayfield will teach junior high English.

Mr. and Mrs. Willie Carl Rayphelt come to the Sonora Schools from Waeldon. He will teach junior high math with Mrs. Rayphelt teaching in the elementary school.

Mr. Wayne Potter will assume the duties of high school basketball coach and teach a biology class.

Another coaching position was filled with Mr. Floyd Pierce being hired on the junior high coaching staff. Pierce is a native of Crane and will graduate from Tarleton State University in the near future. Along with his coaching duties he will teach social studies.

Two kindergarten teachers, Mrs. Bill Kames and Miss Debra Dail will teach the pre-schoolers this year. Miss Dail is a resident of Eden. Miss Cynthia Kroeger will replace Louise Stevens Kerr in the high school business and typing classes.

Long time Sonoran, Reed Jennings, will teach junior high history. Jennings is a graduate of Sonora High School.

LL All Stars Smack Big Lake Team 12-4

The Sonora Little League All Stars continued to roll on as they traveled to Big Lake July 19 to rack the Big Lake All Stars 12-4. Good pitching, good defense and timely hitting again was the difference for the local team.

Joey Kirby went the route on the mound for Sonora as he scattered eight hits and issued only one walk. Only in the second inning when Big Lake collected three hits and scored two runs did Joey experience any difficulty. Joey also registered three strikeouts.

The locals wasted little time in taking the lead. After a scoreless first inning, Wayne McLaughlin led off the second inning with a hit. After Wayne's hit, the Big Lake pitcher walked the next three hitters. Billy Bob Galbreath then stepped up and pounded out a double to send the Sonorans into a lead they never lost as they scored six runs in the second and fourth innings.

Coaches To Attend Dallas School

Head coach and athletic director, J. T. Hill, has announced that coaches in the local school system plan to attend the annual Texas High School Coaches School, which this year will be held in Dallas. More than 6,000 coaches are expected to attend the school.

The coaches will return after the conclusion of the All-Star games. The All-Star basketball game will be played August 1, and the football game will be played in Texas Stadium August 2.

Wayne McLaughlin and Pat Street collected two hits each to pace the Sonora hitters. Outstanding defensive efforts were turned in by catcher Billy Bob Galbreath, Center Fielder Wayne McLaughlin and Pitcher Joey Kirby. McLaughlin caught a fly ball in the second inning which was a sure home run, but a tremendous leaping catch saved the day.

The All Stars left early Tuesday morning en route to El Paso to engage the El Paso All Stars Tuesday night. The El Paso team defeated

Crane 9-8 Saturday night to earn the right to play Sonora. Should the locals win this one, it will be the first time Sonora has won three playoff games. Several times they have advanced this far only to lose. Hopefully, that record will end this year.

West Home Guffed By Fire Tuesday

Sonora Volunteer Firemen answered a call Tuesday morning to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gene West.

Firemen were on hand to fight the blaze that started in the kitchen area of the house, apparently caused by faulty wiring.

With the exception of mostly items of clothing, the West family lost by fire or smoke damage, all of their household goods.

Many inquiries have been made already as to some assistance for the family.

Any donations you would like to make may be mailed in care of Doyle Morgan at 210 Main Street.

Primera Baptist To Hold VBS

Primera Baptist Church, located at Chestnut and Santa Clara Streets, will hold their annual vacation bible school from 8:30 a.m. to 12 noon Monday, July 30th, through Thursday, August 2nd. All children ages 4 years through the 8th grade are invited to attend.

Assisting with the teaching of the children will be 30 to 40 members of the First Baptist Church of Urdandale in Dallas. Children will be taught bible stories, make projects, have a time for recreation, and enjoy refreshments each day. Last year a Primera Baptist had 120 children enrolled in bible school and they hope for an even greater number this year.

Graduation exercises are planned for 8:00 p.m. Thursday, August 2nd. Everyone is cordially invited to attend.

Services Held For Garrett Swafford

Funeral services were held July 19, 1973 for Garrett Wynn Swafford, 8 year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Swafford of San Angelo.

Death occurred July 13 near Uvalde, when the youngster drowned while on a family outing.

Services were held at the local cemetery with Mr. D. L. Harguess, San Angelo Church of Christ minister, officiating. He was assisted by local minister, Kenneth Sturgeon. Ratliff-Kerbow Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

Survivors include his parents; paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Odie Mosley of San Angelo; a sister, Nicole; one brother, Carter; maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Garrett; and his maternal great-grandmother, Mrs. Joe Lambert.

COMPLETION DATE has been set for October of the Devil's River Motor Inn, under construction on the IH-10 site near the Golf Course. Alexander Brothers Construction Company of San Angelo is in charge of construction of the motel that will feature a swimming pool. Plans for a December construction of a restaurant in conjunction with the motel, are underway. Joe David Ross and Alexander Brothers of San Angelo are owners of this new business. Several other business places should be under construction in the near future in the IH-10 area.

GRASSROOTS OPINION

HEALDSBURG, CALIF., TRIBUNE: "The country is moving ahead toward a cleaner, more ecologically pure balance. It can't be done overnight, as some woody witchdoctors would have us believe. Matter of fact, we have among us some instant-experts who by their gospel would like to see the country go back to its disease-ridden, often hungry wilderness state of 200 years ago. There's just one problem with this saving every weed, doing away with every pesticide, fighting the cutting of any lumber tree, and eliminating fertilizers--200 years ago there were only a few million people in this nation; today there are over 200 million to feed and house. It's interesting to note that so many of the people against anything that might help improve the lot of their fellowman are people who are housed most comfortably, have extraordinarily fine jobs and have nothing but complete security in their future...yet often forget about the need for the well-being of other human beings."

BLOOMSBURG, PA., PRESS: "In one sense, the federal government has played a leading role in the battle to preserve our natural environment. Congress has taken significant legislative steps in this direction. The other side of this coin is quite different. Agencies of that same federal government are among the worst offenders when it comes to despoiling the scenic beauties of public lands and parks. The point has been freshly made by the General Accounting Office. Following inspection of 131 solid waste disposal sites operated by federal agencies in six states, the GAO reports that 91 percent of these sites do not meet federal standards for sanitary landfills. The agencies involved are the Forest Service, the Bureau of Land Management and the Army. These agencies had better pay attention to the thrust of congressional actions in recent years, and take prompt remedial steps."

LENNOX, S. D., INDEPENDENT: "A system that penalizes workers with taxes and rewards the non-workers with hand-outs cannot work, because the work needed to support such a system won't get done."

LAKE PARK, IOWA, NEWS: "The next time you go grocery shopping use two carts. In the first buy just what you will be able to eat--in the other put all the paper products, drug items, cigarettes, etc. and perhaps you'll be satisfied that food isn't as high as you might be led to believe."

BURLINGTON, WISC., STANDARD PRESS: "It is important that people read newspapers with understanding, think for themselves, and take responsible action when they believe it is necessary. One of the best ways to take responsible action is to write a letter to the editor. This time-honored way of presenting differing viewpoints and ideas is an important part of our free society and our free press, but all letters cannot be printed. Oftentimes space is lacking; sometimes the words or ideas may be spiteful, abusive or even libelous. But, most readers and writers have the opportunity to say what they think. In this way, free speech and a free press will continue to guarantee a free and open society."

No Miracles Waiting

History books and parents have told the younger generation how fleets of airplanes and ships came into being during World War II as if by the waving of a magic wand. Every national emergency up to now has been met in a like manner, but there is a limit. There is no magic wand that can be waved to suddenly cure our largely self-induced energy shortage--self-induced because of such things as the delay in construction of the Trans-Alaska pipeline.

The pipeline was first proposed in 1969, and as Time magazine has reported, it has been stalled by environmental issues and legal controversy. The pipeline is but a single instance of induced delay in resource development. The same has been true of offshore drilling and the restoration of incentives for oil and gas exploration. This time there is no production miracle standing in the wings waiting to come on stage. It will take years to make up for lost time. Here are some of the lead times in oil industry development: Geophysical work required to find commercial petroleum fields runs from one to three years; offshore drilling involves one to two years to drill wells, 6 to 18 months to set platforms, and 2 to 3 years in development; refinery construction entails 3 years to obtain a site, design the facility and acquire the necessary permits---after that, 2 to 4 more years to build.

Many will ask what can be done to shorten these lead times. The answer is, not very much. A paper on the subject published by a leading oil company states that in some activities a sufficient concentration of brains and money can solve problems through "crash" action. In the oil industry, however... planners must think in terms of several years, not months. An understanding of the time factor in oil operations is fundamental. These are facts about the energy story with which the public should be familiar. They should help to stimulate less tolerance toward unnecessary delays in undertaking the tremendous job of catching up with America's energy needs.

Viewpoint

By T. DRISCOLL

After studying, off and on, for 34 years at the university level, a retrospective look seems in order. The transcripts? They show nearly 500 semester hours running the gamut from archeology to elementary zoology. Take a second look, however, these transcripts do not show a thing that has been learned, instead they show in a superficial manner the ability of one's backside to endure a hard chair (how many hours one could sit there). To one side of the backside resistance factor you will find a letter which reflects the student's agreement (or unfortunately disagreement) with the professor. That is all--not a word about what was really learned, or could be applied by the student.

Another fact emerges from this drawn out experience. Apparently one's learning ability shows little change with age, but the young student has a distinct advantage. The young student's learning processes are simpler. He takes a fact and stores it directly in his memory and it is finished. The older student takes the fact and goes to memory to store it only to find that memory bank is all cluttered with experience, interrelated facts or contradictory facts. He then has to sort it all out before he can store (or reject) the fact. It all sums up that you can write more easily on a clean slate because you do not have to erase it first. The originator of the old adage, "You cannot teach an old dog new tricks" was all wet, or at least very damp. It should have been, "You have more trouble teaching an old dog new tricks, particularly tricks that do not work."

Today's students are a whole lot sharper than they were 30 years ago, but the same old grouping is still there, so let's look them over. The elite group of university students are the young men and women who are going somewhere, know where they are going and see the university as a stepping stone. Unfortunately, this elite represents too small a percentage.

Just below the elite you find a collection of odd-balls which we must call professional students. They study to satiate curiosity or to expand the scope of their knowledge. Concealed in the professional student group are the lazy-loafer's group who are dedicated to extending parental support to the maximum possible extent without working.

The next group down the scale we must call "lost children". Some of them are superb students, but they know neither where they are, nor where they are going. Worse than that, they are too overawed with growing up to integrate the available education. This group is large and in terms of return for the invested capital they represent a very high risk. The hazard lies in the fact that many of them substitute peer group guidance for parental guidance. There is nothing wrong with peer group guidance, but unfortunately in a student body the segment of the peer group which has time to provide guidance is hardly the segment which would be selected for optimum results.

Our next grouping must be called "the thing to do people". It contains most of the semi-students. They are in the university to meet the requirements of family sociological pressure. Many parents send a student who has no inclination and no business in the university. Included in this group are those daughters which parents hope will become self-supporting either through marriage or a career with utter disregard for her desires or aptitude. One must conclude that the older generation surely harbors some wild illusions.

The next group, although you could hardly call them students, we will have to label the "fun people". They consist of a small percentage of the enrollees from wealthy families who, to use a colloquialism, know they have it made, amply padded by members of the "thing to do" and "lost children" groups who gravitate toward the "fun life" much as a candlefly is drawn to a lantern. This group has leisure, no responsibility, and no urgency whatsoever to learn so monotony is a hazard. The steps taken to avoid boredom are sociologically very interesting if you can main-

The Devil's River Philosopher Sez.....

He Thinks Russia Needs More Cars If U.S. To Maintain Power

Editor's note: The Devil's River Philosopher on his bitterweed ranch on the Dry Devil's River thinks he has discovered a new international strategy.

Dear editor:
Some people can't understand why the U.S. should have spent ten years and 100 billion dollars fighting the spread of Communism in Viet Nam and then turn around and sell the Communists in Russia all that wheat, but that's because they don't understand international strategy.

Russia right now, according to an article I read last night, is on the verge of the automobile age. The country now has two million private car owners, expects to double that by year after next, and is opening up new automobile plants.

All right. You can't build more cars unless you're well fed, can you? The wheat deal was sound, although I know a banker or two around here who wouldn't have recommended selling it on credit. But the point is, if we're going to maintain a balance of power, Russia has got to be overwhelmed with as many cars as we are.

How can you have a polluted city with only a fraction of the population driving cars to work? How can you even have a gasoline shortage? How can we maintain our balance of power if two-thirds of the Russians aren't tangled up in traffic jams?

No, sir. Anything we can do to keep the Russians building more cars we ought to do. Ship them food, send them some technicians, teach them about assembly lines, and above all let them in on $100 down and 36 months to pay.

Then after they get their cars flowing off the assembly line by the thousands, get some road building equipment to them. There's no place on earth that won't attract a steady stream of traffic if you'll build a road to it. It's a proven fact: the more cars you build, the more highways you need, and the more highways you build, the more cars that will show up to over-crowd them, from here to the setting sun.

No person in this country should rest easy until Russia is in crisis--crossed with multi-lane highways backed up with bumper-to-bumper traffic, with radiators boiling over. Balance of power demands it.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Visiting

The Rev. and Mrs. W. H. Marshall of Utopia, and former Sonorans, were visiting in Sonora Monday enroute to New Mexico. The Rev. Mr. Marshall was pastor of the Methodist Church for nine years.

Don't expect everyone to agree with you; variety of opinion makes the world interesting.

Guess Who ?

This week's 'guess who' appears to have been a little modest when she posed for this picture. If you don't recognize her right off, you will surely see the resemblance in her own twin daughters. Last week's 'guess who' was Jerry Ingham.

THE UNEXPECTED

What if you looked out your window and saw an elephant standing in your back yard? Would you think you'd been transported to Africa—or that the zoo had lost a boarder?

Situations just as bizarre and unexpected can happen anywhere, anytime, to anyone. When they happen to you, are you able to cope with them?

Merely attending church isn't going to solve all your problems. But it will help build a base that teaches you how to take the unexpected in stride. And life, when you get down to it, is in itself unexpected.

Start going to church next Sunday.

Hill Country Symposium For Cattlemen

Producers in Brady for the Hill Country Cattle Symposium in August can inspect Simmentals, Limousins and other exotic breeds as well as several crossbreeds.

Scheduled August 10 at the Cattleman's Commission Company, the symposium is also to feature five specialists discussing production from as many angles.

The program, from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m., includes Dutch treat barbecued beef for lunch at the commission company on Hwy. 190.

Topics to be discussed include the selection of protein supplements, managing for a higher percentage of calves, the use of exotic breeds, and recognizing and combating reproductive diseases.

Among speakers will be beef cattle specialists L. A. Maddox and Dr. Dennis B. Herd, livestock specialist Dr. T. L. Woodward and veterinarian Dr. James M. Armstrong, all of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service in the Texas A & M University System.

Keynote will be Dr. O. D. Butler, discussing the "Beef Cattle Business: Smiles and Frowns." He is head of the TAMU Animal Science Department.

Oceans Breathe Air Pollution

Fact or fiction? Carbon dioxide from smoke stacks of the northern hemisphere is being "inhaled" by the North Atlantic and "exhaled" by the South Atlantic.

It's a fact, according to the prestigious Woods Hole Oceanographic Institute in Massachusetts. Just how it works and what it all means may not be apparent for some time. But that it happens at all is a revelation.

Tracing the path of carbon dioxide through the oceans of the world is one of the goals of an international project in which the research skip Knorr was involved. The Knorr surveyed the Atlantic, while other ships are now probing other oceans. The measuring and sampling devices aboard the ships are said to be the most elaborate and highly computerized equipment of their kind ever sent to sea.

Carbon dioxide is absorbed by oceans as well as by plants. But there have been fears that current production of the gas by industrial activity could overwhelm the capacity of the oceans to absorb it. This could lead to excessive levels of carbon dioxide in the atmosphere that might even produce changes in the climate. Carbon dioxide in the atmosphere functions much like the glass roof on a greenhouse--it permits sunlight to pass through it and generate heat but prevents the heat from escaping back into the atmosphere. Excess amounts of the gas could, conceivably, alter the earth's temperature.

The new finding by the researchers on the Knorr does not resolve any questions. But the information indicates that the oceans are still capable of removing quantities of the gas from the most polluted latitudes. However, oceans themselves are being defiled by all kinds of pollution. And the future of the air and water--and people--of this planet are a matter of grave concern.

Revision Of Constitution Is Well Underway

The once in a century effort to revise the Texas Constitution is well underway.

The Texas Constitutional Revision Commission, charged with studying the need for constitutional change, has entered the decision-making stage of its program.

The report will be a report to the legislature November 1. The legislature will meet as a Constitutional Convention in January, 1974, to act on that report. The revised document will be submitted to the people for their approval in an election.

The process actually started in the general election last November, when voters approved Amendment Four, which authorized revision of the 97-year old Constitution and provided a procedure for doing so.

The 1972 amendment was the first time since 1876 that Texas voters have agreed to look hard at the framework of their state's government. The last, and only other, call to a Constitutional Convention was overwhelmingly rejected by the voters in 1919.

The 1972 amendment provided for a Constitutional Revision Commission, which the 63rd Legislature promptly created.

The Commission has 37 members, selected by the governor, the lieutenant governor, the speaker of the House, the attorney general, the state Supreme Court Justice and the Chief Judge of the Court of Criminal Appeals.

The commissioners, who were nominated by the public, come from all areas of the state and represent a broad spectrum of occupations, interests and political persuasions.

The Commission was ordered by the legislature to seek public opinion on the Constitution by holding six public hearings. One of the first official acts by the body was to expand the number of hearings to 19.

In May and June, the Commission traveled across the state, holding one-day hearings in every major geographic area. The hearings, which ended in Austin June 29, produced a wealth of testimony on the content of a revised Constitution.

The Commission is now deep into committee work. To facilitate the process, the Commission divided into seven standing committees, dealing with the Executive Branch, the Judiciary, finance, education, local government and general provisions.

These committees, in keeping with a schedule recently approved by the Commission, will present preliminary recommendations to the Commission at a meeting July 27, 28 and 29 in Austin.

Runaway Trailer

To move some household goods to the country, Watson hitched up his trailer and set out along the highway. But as he was climbing a hill the trailer broke loose, veered across the center line, and slammed into a car coming the other way.

The other driver was seriously injured, and in due course brought suit for damages. At the trial, Watson insisted that he was not to blame because "it all happened so suddenly."

But the evidence showed that the trailer hitch had a faulty weld, and that the defect had been plainly visible before the accident. Result: Watson was held liable.

Anyone who undertakes to haul a trailer on the public roads must also undertake reasonable precautions. He must exercise a degree of care commensurate with the size and speed of this extra vehicle.

Furthermore, he must conform to the special requirements--such as a "fail safe" set of chains--that may be called for by the local traffic code.

Even if a trailer does not actually break loose, it may still be dangerous because of swaying. Another driver incurred liability because his trailer, swinging from side to side, knocked down a woman walking on the shoulder of the highway.

On the other hand, not every injury inflicted by a trailer is the driver's fault. Consider another case in which a runaway trailer caused a collision. This time, the trailer came loose as a result of the shearing off of a pin in the hitching mechanism.

But there was nothing to put the driver on guard for such an eventuality--no visible defect, no prior experience to warn him of danger.

"The collision," said the judge, "was the result of an unavoidable accident."

cedented demand for Texas' crude oil and natural gas. Sutton was one of the 190 of Texas' 254 counties which produced oil and gas valued in excess of $100,000 in a record production year for the state's No. 1 industry, according to figures compiled by the Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association.

The county ranked 16th in the state in the value of petroleum produced, $3.5 million. The sale of crude oil brought $572,000; natural gas, $3 million.

But despite this record year, due in part to nine months in large production at 100 percent of the maximum efficient rate, the nation's largest producer of petroleum could not produce enough to satisfy demand.

"To further stimulate production, we need a restoration of the open market force," said Robert Bushman of San Antonio, president of the Association.

"This would produce two much needed effects: First, it would channel the state's petroleum products to the most efficient and highest priority uses; second, it would help provide part of the capital needed so desperately to build refineries and supereports and to carry on expensive exploration and production activities," Bushman added.

This study by the Association also shows that production last year in Sutton County resulted in the payment of $442,000 to royalty owners.

The State of Texas received $249,000 in production taxes from county wells; $26,000 on crude oil output and $223,000 from natural gas production.

Oil and gas producers and developers spent $6.2 million drilling 91 wells in the county last year, with $1.2 million of that figure lost in 31 dry holes.

According to the Texas Employment Commission, 70 oil and gas industry employees worked in the county in 1972 and shared a payroll of $680,000.

ceremonies were attended by a crowd of around 200 citizens of the Uvalde area.

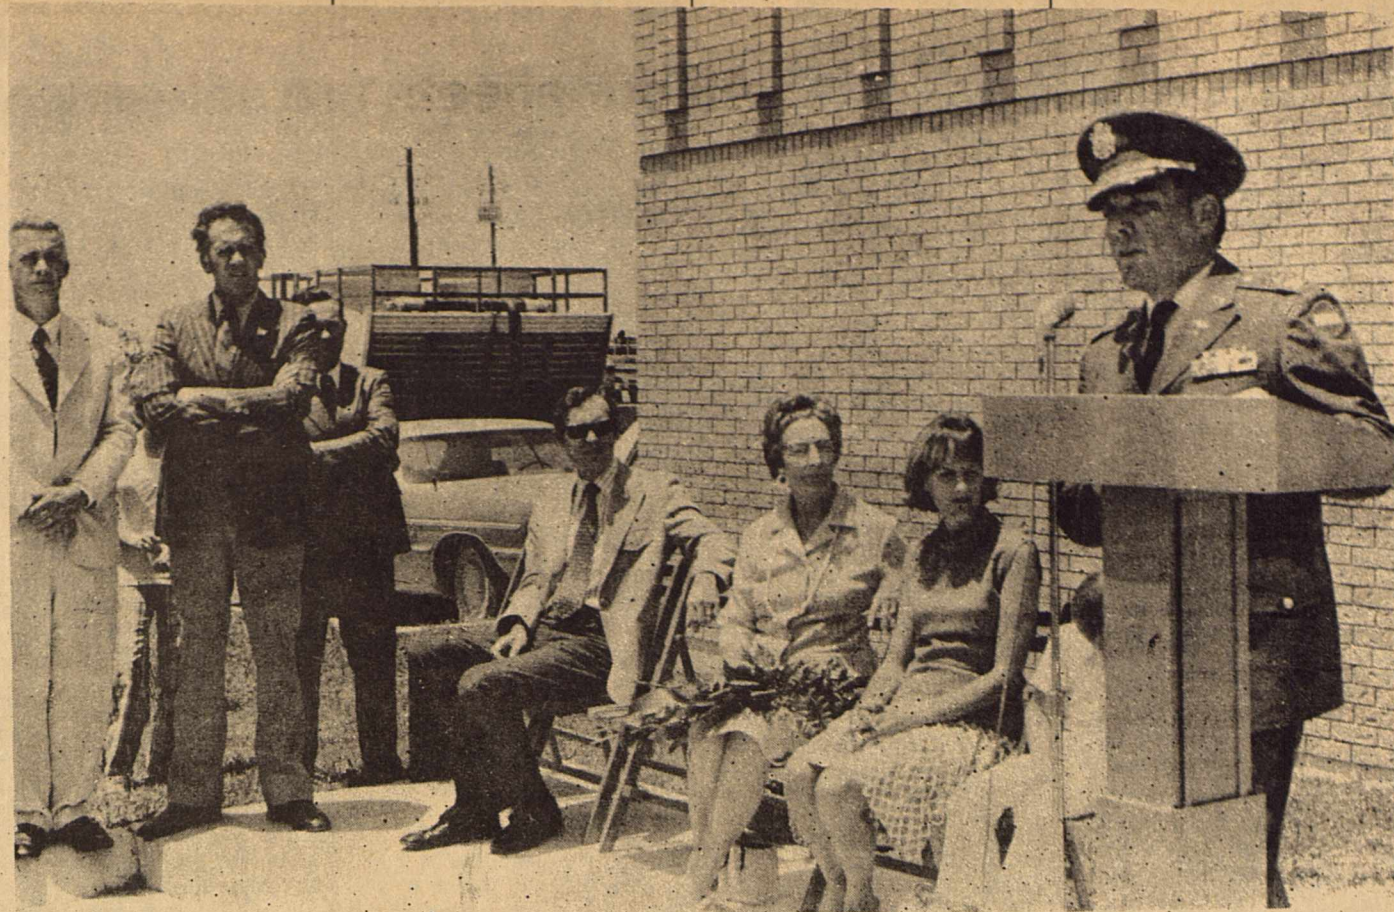

Wyllie Walden, president of the Uvalde Lions Club, acted as the Master of Ceremonies for the activity. The Uvalde Lions Club is the organization that organized and handled the construction of the helipad.

He served as district governor and international counselor for Lions International. He also attended many state and international conventions as a Lion. Stokes was Agricultural Editor of the Uvalde Leader-News at the time of his death.

The helipad is 40 feet by 40 feet of six-inch concrete. In each corner of the pad is a recessed light for night landing. In the center of the pad is a large, bright red cross with a white H in the center. This identification marker will aid pilots in landing during daylight hours.

LOOKING BACK . . .

BY SONORA MOTOR CO.

IN THE EARLY DAYS Sonora's water system was a privately owned plant, which was purchased by the city in the late 1930's. Water is now drawn from Edwards limestone on different locations in town, one being Eaton Hill where the water and electrical system is located. The power plant, built in August, 1941, at that time had three diesel engine generator units. Workmen in the picture are shown pouring foundations that were to support these engines. Since that time the City has added a sewer disposal plant and weekly garbage pickup to aid utility users. Progress is also going on at Sonora Motors where Joe Hull is showing new Ford cars and pickups. Test drive a Ford today.

SAUNDERS ATTENDS GROWERS MEETING

A. W. Saunders, Sr. recently attended the 52nd Annual Texas Pecan Growers Conference held in New Braunfels. Saunders stated that statistics given at the conference indicated that this district, which covers the area from San Saba to the Pecos River, will have about a 10% pecan crop this year. May trees, he stated, have dropped most their pecans due to insufficient pollen to fertilize the nuts because of late freezes that killed blooms. Saunders reminds pecan tree owners that the semi-drought conditions in this area are causing stress on the trees and only frequent and heavy watering thru September will prevent this.
