Markets Have Vacant Look

Beef In Short Supply

By Shirley Hill America... the land of lenty, has suddenly become the land of shortages. Stretch, extend and substitute are the words used regarding the key to all homemakers meal base. meat. Most housewives plan their meals around the usage of meat of some sort. Ninety percent of the meat sold in markets across the nation, as been, and is beef.

Local grocers are ordering, re-ordering, trying to get enough of the once plentiful commodity into the kitchens of Sutton County. Hamburger meat, which is used in hundreds of ways, is very scarce on the home front. Of the three markets, Foodway Store, Modern Way Grocery and the of Foodway Store stated Tuesday morning that of the 4½ sides of beef ordered, which involved some 1400 pounds, he was shipped 12 sides. In other words he has approximately 300 pounds of beef to meet the demands of customers who shop the store during the week.

The supply on chicken, which has climbed to nearly $1 per pound, is so great, that he is unable to obtain enough to meet the demands.

Pork, on the other hand, remains in short supply, with what's available relatively expensive. Prepared and packaged sandwich meats are being shorted to the grocers. Meats used in these cuts are being processed and sold without the Hershel Davenport, manager cost of grinding and packaging

Dick Black who owns and nanages the Modern Way rocery, stated Tuesday morning that he had a total of 15 T-Bone steaks in his market, and had been out of any ground meat since Saturday morning. He expects no beef this week.

While talking with local neat processor, Freeman Miears of the Branding Iron Smokehouse. calls were coming in inquiring is to whether he had ground meat, steaks, and roasts.

Miears stated that since the price freeze, he has received only seven full sides of beef. Before that time, he was ordering and receiving a total of 6 sides per week. He also stated that wholesalers are not selling beef by the side but weighing out certain portions of the beef into sections and selling each section at the going price for that particular cut of meat.

This Means War

Whoever heard of freezers and microwave ovens as weapons? The smart consumer who wants to win the battle of the budget, that's who!

"Buying bargains in quantity and freezing them....innovative use of leftovers...and cooking 'from scratch' are among top tips offered by appliance industry home economists.....", reports a news release by the Association of Home Appliance Manufacturers The kitchen is a veritable arsenal of "artillery" to be used in the fight against high food costs especially the freezer. Dayold baked goods actually improve with freezing because thawing adds moisture; homemade TV dinners, pot pies and freezing of leftovers for emergencies can be lifesavers. In this time of awareness of an wave oven save on power. Blenders are especially valuable for salvaging leftovers, which can be pureed and made into soup bases, sundae toppings or baby food. So before you surrender to inflation, think again. There are a thousand strategies aval-

Home Ownership Problems

Who needs food stamps?

Everybody?"

Any way you slice it, a lot of people are being priced out of the home market. Construction costs continue to skyrocket, and mortgage experts, according to one news story, have estimated that each one precent increase in mortgage interest rates removes as many as 3.4 million families from the home buying market. What the net result of all this may be no one can yet say, but one thing is certain, people still need to have a roof over their heads.

An answer will be found, and it seems likely that it is going to be in the direction of such things as mobile homes and ready-built compact houses. There is an additional problem of finding the land on which to set the homes we build, and land use planners are making that evermore difficult and more costly too. The custom-built home on five acres of ground will, to an increasing degree for the vast majority of Americans, become a vanishing dream -- a casualty of inflation and land use planning.

N. B. C. recently devoted a portion of its news time to what the perpetrators had the audacity to call a reprogramming. It involved the attempt to reconvert a girl from the cultism of Love Somebody or other. There is not much doubt that the reprogramming was an infringement on the girl's civil liberties There is, however, less doubt that what had insufficient order or level of reason to be program med initially could be reprogrammed at all. The ultimate was a wide-eyed woman on television stating that they had driven fourteen devils out of the girl. Shades of the exorcism of the Inquisition. Considering that the girl escaped and return ed to Love Israel or others nest, it appears that the balance of effectiveness slopes toward the medievals although their

The religion of their ancestors does not seem to meet the needs of the present generation. The major hang up seems to be in two areas--our raising of our children and the evaporation of the American work ethic. Many of the commune dwellers of the past decade have vanished into the cults-always the same, an ovine following, accepting some other individuals logic, and doing as little as possible on a self devel oped ethical code. There might be a beef shortage, but of lamb we shore ain't short.

One must wonder what effect it would have if suddenly the relief laws were changed to require forty hours per week out of all able bodied unemployed on welfare? There are hundreds of jobs that need to be done, but the tax payers cannot afford them. Such a law would surely crimp the cults the communes whose major product seems to be recipients for Aid to Dependent Children pastime among those of us who want to lose weight.

The term "calory" is used as a unit in expressing the energyproducing value of food. When we say that a tablespoon of honey contains about 100 calories, it means that the honey, when utilized by the tissues of the body, will release that amount of energy to be expended in bodily activity.

The usual weight-reduction goal of one or two pounds' loss per week is achieved by a daily intake of 500 to 1,000 calories less than the intake needed to maintain the weight at which reducing was begun.

The American Medical Association's home health book, Today's Health Guide points out that 1,000 calories represent the smallest practical intake that can provide the recommended daily allowances of essential minerals and vitamins through usual food sources. For children, the minimum figure on which to lose weight is close to 1,600 calories, with 1,800 often recommended to ensure a margin of safety.

But all of us are different, and caloric needs are an individual affair. They should be worked out in consultation with your physician. He can help you arrive at a reasonable figure, permitting you to lose weight steadily and gradually, and at the same time maintain good health and not go tionably have helped many persons to lose weight. ### A Bishop Looks at Life

LET'S FACE DEATH.

By Everett H. Jones. Retired Bishop of the Episcopal Church

In an old motion picture called "The Best Man" (about a national political election). the aged and disillusioned president of the country complains "It's no fun dying." No person is spiritually mature until he has accepted death as part of God's plan, an experience to be faced with courage and faith. I read recently about a cabinet-maker who not only made chairs, tables and beds for his home but also made his own coffin. For him this was not a form of morbid obsession. It was a reminder of work to be done, love to be shared, back. spiritual discoveries to be made It was a recognition that he had an allotted time to do what God wanted him to be ... I thought, by contrast, of people I know who fear even the mention of death. I thought of families who are thrown into emotional chaos when death occurs. Sometimes even a person who professes faith in God turns against Him when a loved one dies. I have also read recently of another fine example of facing death. Frank Chang is the minister of youth at the commuity Church of Honolulu. He is only 28 years old and has a beautiful wife he loves dearly. But he has a serious form of cancer. Chang says that he has found old friends and new friends and his family all coming together to meet over his hospital bed. He got a whole new idea of the crucifixion and the resurrec tion, for over his brokenness people came together and met one another.

"Maybe that's what Easter is all about. Not brokenness, but really being together," he has said. "People think death is solitary, but I think it is one of the few things that unites us all. One of the important things is to understand how close we are to other people. "To understand one's finiteness, to understand I will die, makes it necessary to ask oneself what is a good like. Is it living to be 95? Is it consuming as much goods and services as I can consume? You question the quality of your life.

"It's a freeing-ness. I am not really concerned any more about accumulating goods and services, but people. If my time has come to a clos would say I am ready. If not, there are a lot of things I'd like to do - a lot of people I'd like to meet.

CROSSROADS

Who am 1? What is life? Where am I going? Why am I here??? When will I know???

Almost everyone who's ever lived has at one time or another asked himself one or all of these questions. Or others-What shall I do? Where shall I turn? Why did this have to happen to me? Who will help? When???

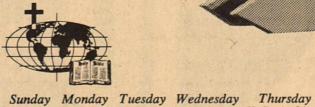

Sooner or later every man seeks understanding. The seeking can be exhilarating, depending upon where one searches.

Those who turn to God and His Church find unlimited opportunities opening for them, as their concept of life is enriched and enlarged.

If you stand at the crossroads and the world seems a turmoil of conflicting ideas, turn to your church. Its truth never wavers. Its strength and purpose can make your life fuller and happier.
