A. A. Simmons Dies July 11

Mr. Auther Allen Simmons, 90, a resident of Sutton County for more than 80 years, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Joe Hull, July 11. Mr. Simmons had resided with his daughter since he was involved in a car-pedestrian accident some time ago.

Mr. Simmons was born January 6, 1884 in Bell County and moved to Sonora some ten years later. He was a rancher until his retirement in 1957; and had been a member of the Sonora Lions Club for thirty years, a member of the Masonic Lodge and the Eastern Star for fifty years, and was also a member of the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers' Association.

McAllisters Resign

Ken McAllister tendered his resignation, along with that of Mrs. McAllister, to board members at a meeting Monday held at the school. McAllister has served as superintendent of Sonora Schools for the past five years, replacing Ralph Finklea, who resigned in March of 1969.

Mrs. McAllister has held a teaching position in the elementary schools, teaching third grade.

Prior to moving to Sonora,

Aerial Spraying Controls Mesquite

Low volume aerial application of herbicides can cut costs and still be just as effective as standard dosages in controlling mesquite brush.

That conclusion came out of a Texas Agricultural Experiment Station project in which an estimated 30,000 acres were treated at 20 locations in the Rolling Plains, Trans Pecos and South Texas.

C.H. Meadors of the Texas A&M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center at Chillicothe-Vernon said the goal of the continuing research program is to combine economics with safer, more dependable brush control methods. The result should be better and cheaper forage production along with easier livestock handling.

The study so far has involved herbicide rates varying from 1/8 to 1 pound per acre in volumes of 1/8, 1/2, 1 and 4 gallons an acre. Carriers have been oil-water emulsions, diesel oil, special oils and pre-packaged formulations.

Meadors said applications of 1/2 pound, 2,4,5-T, combinations of 2,4,5-T and picloram, and 2,4,5-T and dicamba, in one gallon of a 1 to 3 diesel oil-water emulsion have been as effective for mesquite control as 1/2 pound of the herbicides in 4 gallons of a 1 to 3 diesel oil-water emulsion per acre.

Low volume, low pressure aerial spray equipment was used in 42 foot swaths. This low volume system is a reduction of 6 pints of diesel oil per acre and 18 pints of water per acre compared to conventional 4 gallon volumes, Meadors pointed out.

Further Experiment Station research is aimed at developing more efficient low pressure spraying equipment, optimum swath widths, chemical formulations, carriers and more precision flagging.

Dress Revue Winners Named

Mrs. Jean Holland, county extension agent at large, gave the welcoming address when Sutton County 4-H students met for the Dress Revue July 9 at the 4-H center.

Miss Nora Galindo, winner of the junior division, and Miss Gloria Gomez, senior division winner, will represent Sonora at the district dress revue to be held July 30 in Abilene.

Celia Hernandez was the winner of the blue ribbon award in the beginner division. Winning red ribbons in that division were Valerie Tedford, Prissy Cook and Betty Garza.

Mary Sue Galindo also participated in the senior division and was also winner of a blue ribbon.

Other girls participating in the summer project were Veronica Garza, Tammy Williams, Marion Samuels and Leticia Longoria.

Project leaders for this year were Mmes. Pedro Galindo, Jr., Santos Hernandez, Joe Longoria and Lemuel Lopez.

Miss Maggie Galbreath served as fashion commentator of the show.

Ken McAllister

McAllister served four years as superintendent of Schools in Sanderson. He served as high school principal at Fort Stockton for eight years and was teacher, coach, junior high and elementary teacher in other schools.

McAllister told the newspaper staff Tuesday that he and his family sincerely hated to leave Sonora as it was a town full of very nice people and that he had enjoyed his years here in association with the students, their parents and the many friends he had made outside the school.

As for plans, McAllister stated that he had had three offers for school related jobs and would reach a decision at a later date. He did add, however, that he planned to continue in school business.

CITY TO CLOSE ALLEY

City aldermen voted in the Monday meeting to close the alley located in the city block designated as 15A, unless property owners abutting the alley come forth and object.

Trustees Set Tax Rate

The motion was made, seconded and approved that tax rates remain the same for the coming year, when the Board of Trustees of the Sonora Independent School District met Monday. The rate of $1.38 in addition to the interest and sinking fund rate of 5c, and the maintenance rate of $1.33, were discussed at length by trustees and the decision to leave the tax rate on the present level for another year was reached after much debate. Board members stated that in order to have funds available to renovate the auditorium which is bad need of repair, taxes could not be valued at a lower rate, although it was indicated that a reduction in the tax might be expected next year.

PERSONNEL

In the Monday meeting, both the resignations of Mr. and Mrs. Ken McAllister were submitted and accepted. Contracts previously approved for Travis Harkins and Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Potter, were returned. Harkins, and Mr. and Mrs. Potter have recently accepted positions with other

Grass Fires Plague County

Sonora Volunteer Firemen answered a call July 11 about 6 p.m., regarding a fire that had started near the Lone Star Gas Plant located near the Gene Wallace ranch on FM Road 1691.

Sonora's three fire trucks along with two from Eldorado fought the blaze, bringing it under control about 11 p.m. The fire started near the gas plant but strong winds blew flames away from the plant, doing most of its damage to the 8 Point Ranch, formerly belonging to Mrs. Joe Nell Johnson Queen. The ranch is now owned by Houston residents. Very little damage was done to the Wallace Ranch although dry cedar made the fire have a very destructive appearance.

On July 13 volunteer firemen fought a grass fire at the James Hunt Headquarters Ranch that burned away a section of rangeland before it could be controlled.

Light rain showers teased parts of the county last Friday but no measurable precipitation was recorded.

STATE AND NATIONAL HORSE SHOWS SET

More Screwworm Cases Confirmed

Two more cases of screwworms were confirmed in Sutton County last week, according to County Agent Clint Langford.

One case was reported on the Jerry Johnson ranch located 25 miles Southwest of Sonora, and was found in the ear of a cow that had been tagged.

Nann Karnes Ranch, located 35 miles Southwest of Sonora, had the second confirmed case. Worms were discovered under the eye of a sheep.

Langford urges all ranchmen to be on the alert for screwworms and to inspect and spray their livestock. Any suspected cases should be reported to the Mission Laboratory.

Two Sonorans Named At A&M

Sonora students, Wade C. Richardson and John Mark Weston, are among those students at Texas A&M University who have earned distinguished student ranking, as announced by Registrar Robert Lacey.

Richardson is a sophomore chemical engineering student and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Richardson.

Weston is a sophomore student in range science and is the son of the Rev. and Mrs. John Weston of Harlingen, and formerly of Sonora.

Soil Conservation Service Names Virgil Polocsek As District Head

Virgil A. Polocsek, a native of Sealy, has been transferred to Sonora as District Conservationist for the U.S.D.A. Soil Conservation Service. Polocsek replaces Dalton Merz who was transferred earlier to Sterling City.

Polocsek and his wife, Jackie, have two children, Cathy, age 10 and Mike, age 8.

Moving here from Alice where he served five years with the Conservation Service, they are members of the Methodist Church.

He is a graduate of Pearsall High School, Sul Ross State University and New Mexico State University.

Polocsek was raised on a ranch near Pearsall and completed his degree in range management at Sul Ross and attended New Mexico State on a fellowship with Agriculture Research Service and worked on his masters degree in range management.

He began work with the Soil Conservation Service in Marfa in February of 1962 and was transferred to Alpine the following June, where he worked in many community activities including park and school projects.

The family moved to Alice in 1969 and were again active in school affairs such as the P.T.A. and the Community Education program. Polocsek also assisted with the F.F.A. chapter and the 4-H Range Judging Contests.

He is a member of the Soil Conservation Society of America, the American Society of Range Management, Masonic Lodge and the Eastern Star.

In the past he has served as president of Community Education in Alice, chairman of Methodist Evangelism, president of the P.T.A., secretary of the Coastal Bend Chapter of the Soil Conservation Society of America, and holds an honorary Lone Star Farmer Degree.

Destructive Influence of War Lingers For Vietnamese Veterans

They fought in "a war with no friends and no fronts," returning home scarred in body and mind. Haunted by painful memories of combat in the monsoon-drenched rice paddies and jungles of Vietnam, the surviving U.S. veterans are finding civilian life laced with landmines of a different sort-but just as deadly in their own way.

It has been over a year since the last U.S. troops left Vietnam, yet the destructive influence of the war lingers on in many forms for the nation's 2.5 million veterans of the Vietnam conflict. In the opinion of the Veterans Administration's department of medicine and surgery, "serious and prolonged readjustment problems exist in one out of every five veterans..." Many of the men place the blame directly on the American people: "The whole attitude of the country is really the biggest problem vets have."

The present atmosphere apparently makes it possible for a full 10 percent of those in the 20-24 age bracket to land jobs. Even skilled veterans find job hunting a frustrating experience; because, as often happens with other minorities, they are victims of prejudice and stereotyping. For the first time, many Americans feel uneasiness and suspicion toward their men in uniform. One Air Force vet sums up the phenomenon: "How do you get a nation to accept the people they hold responsible-or at least partially for a war that no one wants to remember."

Nevertheless, the plight of the ex-servicemen is receiving more publicity, spurred by incidents such as the brief "occupation" of the Washington monument this spring when 750 angry Viet vets descended upon Washington. Their protest was based on the sonal expenditures.

The other major shortcoming seems to be in the medical and hospital program. In 1973, 1.7 million ex-G I's underwent care in some 170 veterans' hospitals across the U.S. An additional 10.7 million outpatient visits were made to VA and private hospitals under VA auspices.

Yet it is maintained that medical care is second-rate, particularly in regard to drug addiction, and indignation is still being heard over the famous "case of the faceless veteran." In that instance, combat soldier Leroy Bailey was on duty in Vietnam in 1968 when his face was literally shot off in a rocket explosion. After 3 years in a VA hospital and 32 operations, the VA refused to reimburse part of his treatment at a private facility. This prompted a blast from the White House over VA procedures.

The debate shows little sign of dying. In an exclusive interview with U.S. News, the Administrator of Veterans Affairs, Mr. Donald E. Johnson, stepped into the fray, defending the VA against charges of educational and medical deficiencies: "...every GI bill was to be an assistance to help in readjustment. It was never meant to be a full ride to go to school. If the Congress wants to change the philosophy behind the GI Bill, then they should ask for increased benefits..." On the subject of medical care, he firmly states, "The quality of care in our hospitals is very high. We have some of the finest doctors available..."

Whether a thorough investigation of the Veterans Administration, as ordered by the White House, will lead to reform remains to be seen. But it is clear that the nation must respond to the needs of those they sent to war. As one former Green Beret observes, "Vietnam Vets bought a dream. They largely bought the star-spangled dream of serving one's country and trusting the judgment of those in power to do the right thing. Tragically and inexcusably, that dream has disintegrated into a nightmare, and is now dissolving into a red, white and blue struggle for survival-a struggle by forgotten Americans."

Viewpoint

by T. Driskell

One must look at our society with and feel a little anguish. The police in Baltimore strike for a more decent pay scale and a certain irresponsible segment of our society turns out and is responsible for widespread looting.

Two prisoners seized five or six hostages in the Federal Court building in Washington and hold them for three or more days. The ransom, a plane to Cuba or wherever. Looking at those prisoners, with a collective sentence of more than 70 years and considering the costs of prison operation one can see little justification for the expenditure of almost three-quarters of a million dollars on those two.

Atlanta, Georgia pays its welfare on the first of the month and Birmingham pays its welfare on the third or fourth. It is a mute point whether or not the surge noted in Cadillac and Continental traffic on the road from Atlanta to Birmingham in the first three days of the month has a correlation. Drivers of those big cars might represent some over welfareed recipients.

No doubt some contributors to the Republican party invested heavily in pools that they will not swim in and jewelry their wives will not wear and legal defense they do not personally need.

What am I saying? Look at it yourself, there are few manifestations which are not the characteristics of a sick society. Someone has said that democracy is inherently self destructive and there is certainly prima facie evidence that the hypothesis is valid. We stumble along, like the proverbial most sheeplike sheep viewing everything through rose colored glasses distorted to show things as we wished they were, not like they are. I admit the concept of democracy with a non thinking and actively, honest involvement of every citizen is a miscarriage of intellect. Still we are stumbling closer to, by the minute, that brink beyond which recovery is possible only through a rigidly regimented police state. It is an odd mixture of pathos and humor that we have driven ourselves to that point.

What have we done? First from the way we overspread our income on a personal, city, state and national level there is some doubt whether or not we learned to count in school, few did at best. Next we must think we have tremendous powers or reformation because we apprehend a criminal again and again and again and introduce him into our supposedly corrective penal system at a cost of about $10,000 per year, money badly needed elsewhere. The lariat over the oak tree limb might well be remembered as the "good old days".

It seems we have built a program of incentives not to work--we talk free enterprise and then we subsidize everything from the price of sugar to outright laziness as a way of life. It would seem that economic prudence would demand that for subsidy, a return of labor or kind be realized.

Political contributions are a sore subject that should be prohibited except where they are government controlled and monitored by the General Accounting Office. I realize it is "pie in the sky" because the people who must change it are the precise ones who have the most gain from things as they are.

These are only a few of the facets of our dilemma, and I do not know where the breaking point is, but above all we had better start looking at us as we are, not as we wish we were, and making personal corrective moves because at least now we have the prerogative of counting for ourselves--a luxury not to be enjoyed under the auspices of the new left or the new right.

The Devil's River Philosopher Sez.....

Two Startling Things About Economy Overlooked By Experts

Editor's note: The Devil's River Philosopher on his bitter-sweet ranch on the Dry Devil's River claims he has noticed something about the economy others have overlooked.

Dear editor:

Because economists are too busy trying to decide whether or not we're in a recession...as I figure it, economists are two lengths behind doctors; doctors can recognize when a man has a bad cold, they just can't cure it, whereas economists not only can't cure a recession, they can't even agree on whether we've got one...at any rate because they're so busy they have overlooked a couple of vital things about the economy. I noticed them just yesterday. They are: interest rates are now equal to the inflation rate.

That's right. Inflation is now pegged at 12 per cent a year and big city bank interest rates are now at 12 percent.

I don't know how the economists missed this, but I have been figuring, if the two keep abreast of each other for a few more years, they will of course reach 100 percent.

All right, you say you need to borrow $1,000. You borrow it at one window and then if you're smart you'll race to another window and pay it back before the interest eats you up.

That takes care of 100 percent interest rates, but about how to handle inflation, I'm not very clear. The trouble is, not everybody believes in inflation.

You take a rancher. He goes into a cafe and the waitress tells him coffee has gone up to 20c a cup on account of inflation and he believes her. He hands her 20 cents. But when he takes some steers to market and says they're worth 40 cents a pound, nobody believes him.

When one part of the population believes in inflation and another part doesn't, you've got a complex situation on your hands.

It seems to me the rate of inflation ought to be set by Congress and it ought to be made to apply to everybody. How long could the game of football last with one end of the ball inflated and the other end flat?

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

VISITING
Mrs. Dick Morrison and her daughter and grandson, Mrs. Janet Young and Mark of Big Lake, visited relatives in Granbury and Fort Worth recently. While there they also enjoyed at day at Six Flags.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Phillips and family of Lubbock are in Sonora this week visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Granger.

Miss Kathryn Louise Allen Weds Robert E. Ferrell in Perryton

Miss Kathryn Louise Allen of Arlington became the bride of Robert Earl Ferrell of Garland, in ceremonies held at the First Methodist Church of Perryton July 6. The Rev. James Tidwell of Floydada officiated at the double ring, special candle-lighting ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Jack M. Allen of Perryton and Mr. and Mrs. Robert O. Ferrell of Atlanta.

Wedding vows were exchanged before the altar of the church which was flanked by spiral floor candelabra and bouquets of white gladioli, white daisies and lemon leaves. Floor baskets filled with white blossoms sat before the chancel. A large white candle entwined with ivy sat before the altar. An altar cloth of white and gold covered the altar which was centered with an open Bible and white tapers in brass candle stick holders. White satin ribbons marked the pews.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her father and given in marriage by her parents, chose a wedding gown fashioned of candlelight organza. The empire bodice was overlaid with re-embroidered Alencon lace. Lace medallions were applied on the A-line skirt, which extended into a cathedral length train. Her headpiece was a veil of tulle designed to match the wedding gown and was accented by re-embroidered Alencon lace and pearls.

She carried a bouquet of yellow roses and white daisies with trailing ivy. Her only jewelry was a diamond and sapphire necklace, a gift of the bridegroom. She carried a handkerchief belonging to her mother, which had previously belonged to her great-grandmother. She also wore the lucky six pence in her shoe which she had brought back from England.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was her sister, Miss Nancy Allen. Bridesmaids were Miss Suzanne Allen, also the bride's sister, and Miss Mary Beth Ferrell, sister of the bridegroom.

Attendants wore dresses of mint green cotton flocked with white daisies and fashioned with empire waists and A-line skirts. Their accessories were white horse hair and braid picture hats trimmed in yellow ribbons. Each carried a basket of white daisies with trailing ivy.

Serving his brother as best man was Mr. Ed Ferrell of Shreveport, La. Groomsman were Tommy Baker of Arlington and Robert Cosby of Memphis. Ushers were Brent Allen, brother of the bride; Greg Allen of Austin and Al Rupprecht of Fort Worth, cousins of the bride; Charlie Howell, uncle of the bride; and Jim Hudson of Houston.

Traditional organ music was presented by Mr. Ray Castle and Mrs. Steve Sanford of Houston was soloist.

The bride's mother chose a dress of lemon yellow chiffon with matching accessories. The mother of the bridegroom wore a dress of yellow organza and chose white accessories. Each wore an orchid corsage.

Grandmothers of the bride, Mrs. J. Franklin Howell and Mrs. Jack R. Allen of Perryton, were honored guests.

The bride is a graduate of Perryton High School and Southwestern University and also attended Texas Women's University. She taught at Nichols Junior High School in Arlington and will continue her teaching career at Mesquite Junior High School in the fall. Mr. Ferrell is a 1972 graduate of the University of Texas in Arlington, receiving a degree in Civil Engineering. He is employed as a civil engineer by the Texas Highway department in Mesquite.

The couple will make their home in Garland following a wedding trip through parts of Texas and New Mexico.

A reception was held in the Perryton Club following the ceremony. Guests were registered in the main entrance by Mrs. Hugh Morrison of Dallas. Mrs. Chris Vines presented music for the reception.

In addition to the bride and bridegroom, their parents also received guests.

The bride's table was laid with a white satin cloth, accented by white satin bows. Centering the table were two white turtle doves on a cloud of greenery. Completing the centerpiece were silver candelabra. The three-tiered wedding cake was topped by a miniature bouquet of white daisies and roses.

Serving punch was Mrs. J.F. Howell, Jr., of Amarillo and Mrs. Charlie Howell of Perryton. Mrs. G.K. Rupprecht of Spearman and Mrs. Ted Vailes served wedding cake. All were aunts of the bride.

The bridegroom's table was laid with a green cloth. The double wedding ring cake decorated the table, along with a single candelabrum. Those serving punch were Miss Dina Whigham of Dallas, Mrs. Jim Strickland of Lubbock, Mrs. Tom Baker and Miss Kathy Cummings of Arlington.

Miss Kay Kerbow Honored With Lingerie Shower

Mrs. Bill Harle, Mrs. J.T. Hill and Mrs. Oliver Wuest were hostesses to a lingerie shower and brunch June 29 at the Harle home honoring Miss Kay Kerbow.

Party rooms were decorated with daisy centerpieces. Sausage balls, oatmeal muffins, melon balls, coffee and cold drinks were served to the twelve in attendance.

Miss Kerbow is the bride-elect of Don Holdridge. The couple will be married August 10 at First Methodist Church.

MRS. J.F. HOWELL VISITS FAMILY AND FRIENDS

Mrs. J.F. Howell has recently returned from a trip to northern Texas where she attended the marriage of her granddaughter, Kay Allen.

Enroute she spent the night in Big Spring with Mr. and Mrs. H.W. Smith and picked up granddaughter, Lesley, who had been visiting in the home of her grandparents. She traveled to Amarillo and visited with her son and family, Dr. and Mrs. J.F. Howell, Jr., and then to Perryton where she was the house guest of Mrs. Jack R. Allen. Later she visited with Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Howell, Franklyn and Charlie Watts.

While in Perryton Mrs. Howell also attended three pre-nuptial affairs honoring her bride-elect granddaughter.

Mrs. Paul Turney Honored With Party

Where are You Going?

"Look, Daddy! A stopped freeway!"
Eight-year-old Kristen pointed at the span of concrete that soared over the road ahead of us and then ended abruptly as if it had encountered an invisible wall.

Two months later, we took a hike in the country. A small trail led us through green fields of waving grass and wildflowers. There the trail ended, gradually, as if reluctant to stop.

Is your life like a freeway—fast, impressive, known to many? Or is it more like a trail—plain, but comfortable, less well-known, but quite adequate?

It really doesn't matter. The important question is: Does your life have a goal?

A freeway or trail can end, gradually or abruptly, without ever reaching a specific destination. In God, your life can have a goal. In church, He'll tell you how to reach it.

Shrimp-Around-The-Rice

2 cups cooked rice
3/4 cup shredded sharp natural Cheddar cheese (3 ounces)
3/4 cup chopped pimiento-stuffed olives
1 egg, slightly beaten
2 tablespoons melted butter
1 package (1 lb.) frozen breaded shrimp
Bottled meat-and-fish sauce
Combine rice, cheese and olives; stir in egg. Chill 1 hour. Shape into 4 or 5 rounded mounds on buttered cookie sheet; make a depression in center of each. Brush with butter. Bake at 350 degrees for 20 minutes. Meanwhile, prepare frozen shrimp as directed on package. To serve: Place a rice mound on each plate. Holding by tail end, arrange shrimp around rice mounds so that curved part is hooked over rim of mounds. Fill depressions in rice mounds with sauce. Makes 4 to 5 servings.
Serve with peas, crusty French bread and fresh garden salad for a gourmet meal. Shrimp will never put a crimp in your style.

News Letter

By O. C. Fisher

To bus or not to bus—that issue keeps raising its ugly head in the congress this year. An amendment to the extension of the big education aid bill—an amendment designed to remedy the evil embodied in forcing children to ride for miles to schools, bypassing their own neighborhood schools, was approved in the House on last March 26 by a margin of 293 to 117.

Then, on June 5, the house voted 270 to 103 to instruct the house conferees on the Senate-House conference to resolve the differences in the education bill, to persist in the House position on busing. Again, on June 5, while the conferees were still working, the House took the extraordinary step of re-instructing the House conferees to persist in the House version on busing. Unpopularity of compulsory busing in the North, West, and in the big cities has become so intense that members of Congress from those areas have swung over to join southerners in efforts to outlaw the policy by legislation. The Senate persists in demanding forced busing. But no matter what the Congress does, the courts will have the last word.

A few days ago 140 of us in the House sent a letter to the President urging him to veto the education bill in the event the House anti-busing provision should be omitted from the final version of the measure. This move, will serve as an additional warning to the conferees that we really mean business and will not tolerate watered down busing language. A few weeks ago President Nixon hinted a possible veto of the education measure if it does not contain a meaningful anti-busing provision. The President will now know that he can count on at least 140, more than enough, to sustain a veto.

FIRST SAVINGS OF SAN ANGELO

The Consumer Alert

by John L. Hill
Attorney General

In just a few weeks, we can expect another Texas hurricane season, since historically most of our big storms have occurred from August to October. And we've just come through our traditional spring tornado months.

As Texans, we are familiar with natural disasters and the misery they can bring because we have suffered through some of the worst: the Great Galveston Storm of 1900, Hurricanes Carla and Beulah, and the Lubbock tornado are just a few.

Often the worst aspect of a disaster is the aftermath, when victims face the heartbreak of cleaning up and the strenuous fraud becomes another problem to be faced by residents trying to pick up the pieces.

At a time when many are confused, tired, and vulnerable, it is unfortunate but true that unscrupulous persons may move in to take advantage of the situation.

Many consumer decisions and transactions are necessary to get back to normal after a disaster. And most will require the expenditure of large amounts of cash or heavy use of credit.

Attorneys in our consumer protection division warn that consumers who find themselves in such a situation should use extreme caution before making major purchases or home repairs.

Most businessmen and repairmen are honest, reliable, and trustworthy, and in such trying circumstances will attempt to be as fair as possible with consumers.

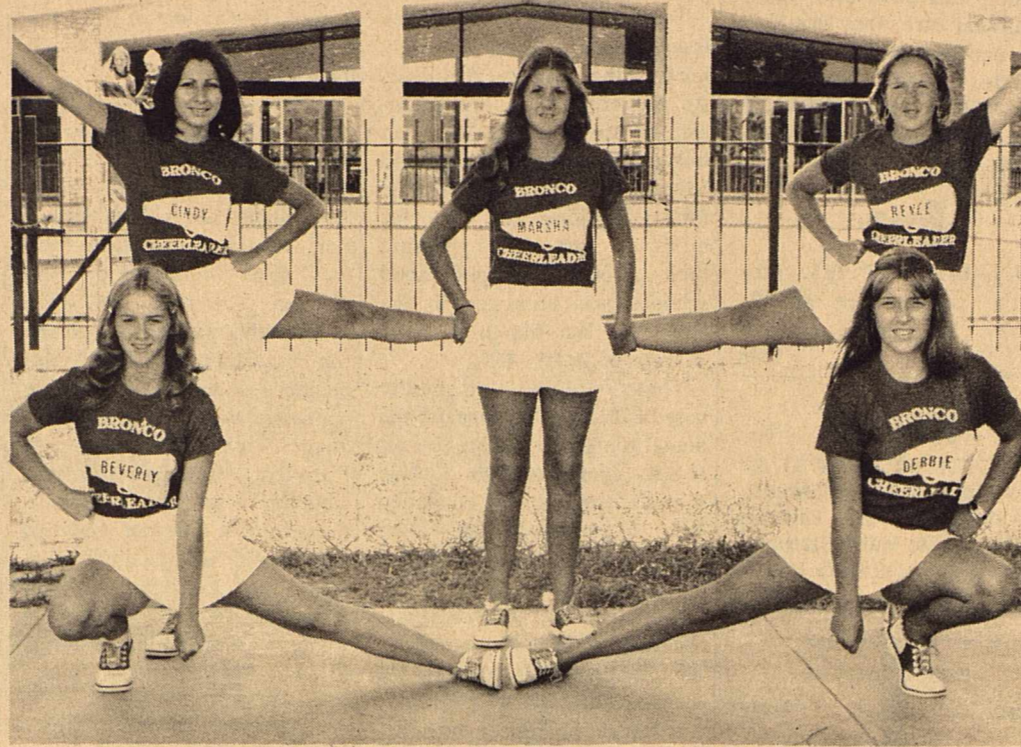

But many times the reports of a disaster will bring an influx of itinerate salesmen and repairmen...many from out of state...who are determined to make their fortune at the expense of others.

Our consumer protection attorneys recommend that you take a few precautions that save the money and anguish associated with disaster frauds.

--Do not pay in advance for materials or repairs
--Remember that high pressure and scare tactics are often the mark of a phony deal
--Make sure that a contractor or salesman has a permanent place of business, preferably in your area
--Get at least three estimates include a starting and completion date, description of the work to be performed and the type of materials to be used, total cost, guarantees provided, and methods of payment (lump sum upon completion, installment, etc.)
--When you have selected a contractor, ask for a written contract based on his estimate. Make sure before signing that you understand all parts, that there are no blanks, and that the contractor himself has signed first. Remember that both Texas and federal laws allow you to cancel any door to door sale for $25 or more if you notify the seller of your intention within three days.

And remember, too, that in cases of disaster many state and federal agencies stand ready to assist victims. If you have a question about disaster related problems, they can help. For information about consumer protection at such times, consult our attorneys, your county or district attorney, or your local Better Business Bureau.

Newly elected cheerleaders for the 1974-75 school year have recently returned from a five day cheerleading camp held at Schriener

Institute in Kerrville. Cheerleaders are Beverly McDonald, Debbie Howard, Cindy Favila, Marsha Finklea and Renee Rousselot.

WASHINGTON AND SMALL BUSINESS

What's The Rush?

There's an old adage that runs something like "make haste and repent at leisure." This is probably most applicable to the Congressional consideration of some sort of a national health plan.

At the recent National Governor's Conference in Seattle, Senator Edward M. Kennedy presented a discussion of the Kennedy-Mills bill, and HEW Secretary Caspar Weinberger presented the administration's.

Both, essentially, envision a mounting payroll tax for financing the cost, estimated to be around $40 billion under either plan. This brings up the very substantial question as to just how much more payroll tax the small and independent business community can absorb and still stay solvent. Surveys by the National Federation of Independent Business indicate that mounting Social Security payroll taxes, plus Medicare, have reached the breaking point.

There is also the question of containing inflation. As payroll taxes mount, production costs increase, resulting in still more inflation.

Dr. Russell B. Roth, president of the American Medical Association appearing at the same conference, explained the features of bills known as S. 444, or HR 2222, popularly known as the "Medicredit Bill."

This would permit income tax payers to deduct up to certain limits of their income, payments for comprehensive medical care insurance. For those at the poverty level, who do not pay income tax, the Federal treasury would issue warrants to the medical insurance carrier of their choice.

It is estimated that this would not only require no new taxes, would amount, in fact, to a minor tax cut, and would cost no more than $12.1 billion dollars per year, or less than one-third of the other proposals.

California's Governor Ronald Reagan took the position that so far there has been no actual figures on those who actually need Federal medical assistance. He said that information available to him indicates that no more than 10 million people have this need, as compared to the 25 million or more claimed to be in need.

There is a strong point in the Dr. Roth proposal for "medicredit" it would seem. That is that it would eliminate any meddling or control by the Federal bureaucracy as would the other two plans.

And perhaps when people consider turning their health care over to Federal bureaucrats, they should perhaps recognize that these bureaucrats are the wonderful people who brought them inflation, an expensive postal system, and a most expensive Amtrak.

Joe says the thought of dying, and leaving his hard-earned money to his spend-thrift relatives just about kills him. I told him, worse than that is to out-live your money. Joe says that won't happen. He saved a bundle for retirement and bought an annuity that pays him a good monthly income for life. Not bad eh?
