School Board Accepts Insurance Proposal

In the regular meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Sonora Independent School District, an insurance proposal presented by Web Elliott and other local agents to continue to write the district's insurance, was accepted. Ranger Insurance Company of Houston had offered a higher deviation rate on the policies which would result in a small savings to the district; however, the Board felt the local service and good will would be more advantageous to the school.

A new contract with Thos. Y. Pickett Company, valuation engineers of Dallas, was approved for the years 1975 and 1976. The company provides appraisal services of oil, gas, minerals, utilities and railroads for the district's tax purposes. The Board also approved the payment of current bills; appointed Dr. Joe Andrews to serve on the Region XV Service Center Joint Committee, and authorized the district's participation in a credit union sponsored by the San Angelo

Independent School District. In other business, the Board gave their approval regarding a contract with the Texas Educational Consultative Services of Austin for the Title I Program. The contract includes assistance in developing the program, preparing budgets,

Bronco's Defense Overpowers Junction

A completely defense-dominated game saw the Sonora Broncos and the Junction Eagles leave the field at half time with a score of 0-0 Friday night. The Eagles, playing in their home field, won the toss and received the Bronco's kickoff. Play began with a series of turnovers by each team. Several Bronco attempts to get scoring drives going were thwarted by the Junction team. Early in the game a Sonora punt was fumbled by the Eagles and recovered by the Broncos, putting them on the 11 yard line only to have a pass intercepted during the drive. This set the Eagles up in easy scoring position on their nine yard line but the strong Sonora defensive unit held them back from the end zone. The Broncos fumbled the ball late in the first quarter and along with a penalty for clipping, put the Eagles' offense back on the 14 yard line.

Two downs later a call of illegal procedure was called against Sonora, moving the Eagles to the 12. Again the Bronco defense held the Eagles on downs and took over possession of the ball. With less than one minute left in the half the Broncos were again penalized, this time for having an illegal receiver down field, ending the half with the 0-0 score.

A large crowd of both Junction and Sonora fans were entertained at half time by fine performances from both the high school bands.

With the beginning of the third quarter, Sonora was unable to mount any serious threats until Junction, punting on fourth down, had their kick blocked by Sonora's Johnny Solis. Scooter Surber scooped up the ball and carried it 31 yards for the only touchdown of the night. John David Cook kicked the extra point, giving the Broncos a 7-0 lead, which they held throughout the game.

Good defensive playing by Mark Parker, Richard Dunnam, Elba Adams and Lindsey Hicks, along with offensive plays by Paul Browne, Surber, Larry Kirby, Solis, Robbie Hard, and Juan Perez, was instrumental in holding the Eagles to the 7-0 victory.

STATISTICS

First downs - Sonora 2, Junction 6; penetrations - Sonora 2, Junction 0; yards rushing - Sonora, 71, Junction 58; passes - Sonora 3 of 9 for

National Highway Week 22 - 28

Country music star Eddy Arnold is the national chairman for the observance of National Highway Week, September 22-28.

Arnold has used his role as national chairman to call attention to the need for improved highway safety.

"Much has been done to improve highways in recent years," he said. "Our modern Interstate Highways are the safest man has built. Increased emphasis has been placed on safety features in the motor vehicle itself. That leaves you and me--the drivers," he added.

Highway Week is sponsored by the American Association of State Highway and Transportation officials and member state agencies.

In Texas the Texas Highway Department will sponsor a variety of activities during the week, according to State Highway Engineer Luther DeBerry.

Theme for this year's observance is "Better Roads--Better Living." DeBerry said the theme was particularly fitting because of Texas' dependence on the highways as the prime mode of transportation for this state.

"Take the food on the table, for example," he said. "Dallas, Fort Worth and San Antonio receive nine-tenths of their fruits and vegetables over the highways and Houston, even with its superb combination of transportation resources, receives almost 80 percent of its produce shipments by truck."

The highways are important to industry and commerce. Practically everything Texans buy, sell or manufacture make at least part of the trip from producer to consumer over the streets or highways, he said.

Further, the highway system has opened opportunities to individual Texas families by widening their range in which to seek jobs, education and recreational opportunities, DeBerry added.

"Even so, we have some 14,000 miles of primary highways in Texas which are in need of reconstruction," DeBerry said. "Funds available for this work as well as needed maintenance always have been tight. Inflation has further cut into money available. It is estimated that highway expenditures in Texas this year will be $133,000,000 short of actual needs."

Bill Stewart Historical Society Chairman

Mr. Bill Stewart was appointed chairman of the Texas Historical Committee when the Sutton County Historical Society met September 10 at Miers Home Museum.

The committee, along with the chairman, is appointed from Austin and the duties of this committee are to record sites in the county that should be marked with historical markers.

Stewart replaces Dr. W. T. Hardy who has served as chairman the past several years. Other members of the committee are Mrs. Bob Vicars, Dr. Hardy, John Eaton and Mrs. Ben Cusenbary.

In other news from the historical society, it has been announced that the Edwards Plateau Historical Society will meet in Sonora on October 5 for an all day meeting that is scheduled to begin at 9:30 a.m.

Bronco quarterback Paul Browne was able to complete only three of his nine passes for ten yards against the powerful Junction Eagle's defense. Both teams were dominated by excellent defensive tactics and were held to two first downs for the Sonora team and six for the Eagles. The Broncos scored early in the third quarter to defeat the Eagles by a score of 7-0.

News Letter

By O. C. Fisher

Should Rhodesian chromium be allowed to be imported into the U.S.A. in the future? In 1966 the UN imposed a trade embargo on Rhodesia, and President Johnson gave UN approval. Then in 1971 the Congress approved legislation which ignored the UN and allowed Rhodesian chrome to be admitted. Now, three years later, the Senate has passed a bill to repeal the 1971 Act and resume our embargo. A house committee okayed the Senate bill, and the measure is now ready for debate in the house.

The absurdity of this repeal move is self-evident. No chromium is produced in the U.S. During the sanctions against Rhodesia the Soviet Union was our chief source of supply, and during the embargo period the price of chrome jumped from $35.78 per short ton in 1965 to $68.45 in 1972, then back to $51.73 per ton in 1973 after our sanctions against Rhodesia had been lifted.

It happens that Chromium is essential in stainless steel. It is the ingredient that makes steel stainless, corrosion-resistant, able to serve for food processing tanks, surgical tools, power plant piping, filters and valves in water purification plants, and thousands of other ways.

To be stainless a steel requires 10-1/2 percent chromium, but most grades have 18 percent.

For racial reasons there are some people around Washington who want to resume the boycott against Rhodesia. They are willing to cut America's nose off to spite its face. They are quite willing to pay tribute to the Soviets for forcing us to again depend heavily upon the Russians for our chrome, which would be sure to impose much higher prices...as the USSR did before.

There is a substantial number of us in the White House who are determined to fight this outlandish proposal all the way. We think we have a fair chance to win.

guardian of a free society--the constitutionally guaranteed free press. Unlike many other countries, the U.S. possesses a highly-vocal, inquisitive press. Whether or not you agree with its philosophies or methods of news gathering, one point must be acknowledged. U.S. newspapers are "freedom's watchdog." They must never be hobbled in their right of opinion expression nor in their efforts to bring all the news to all the people. The demise of the free press in the U.S. would mean the end of American life as we know it.

Medicine Show Tactics

Those old panaceas for curing economic troubles--government pump priming and a show of reducing taxes for "the little fellow"--belong to the old-time medicine show. As taxpayers, voters and citizens, the people of this country should now realize that pump priming--i.e. vast government deficit spending--merely invites inflation and more trouble.

Highly publicized tax cuts sound big in the aggregate. But they are infinitesimal when spread among millions of taxpayers. Medicine show tax policy has led the nation into the present deadly trap of escalating prices, unemployment and a cycle of inflation.

It is now becoming more widely recognized that government spending must be controlled and tax policies must be directed toward encouraging producers and investors to put their efforts and investment dollars into the development and expansion of industries that provide the tax revenues and the employment needed to support government and a decent living standard for all. One of those who has expressed the deepest concern about the trend toward the attrition of capital resources is Mr. Robert B. Anderson, former Secretary of the Treasury. He notes that it takes $25,000 of someone's money to create a single job in industry today and warns that, "Unwise tax policies that discourage savings and dampen the psychological climate for investment have an adverse effect on our total national well-being...Of particular importance...is the impact of the federal tax on profits earned on the sale of an investment--the capital gains tax." This tax now stands at the crippling level of some 35 percent. Mr. Anderson calls for a reduction to 25 percent which was the rate in effect prior to 1969. He believes it may be "...necessary to make additional reductions in the capital gains tax to further stimulate capital formation so vitally needed."

Genuine tax reform should start with a hard look and corrective action to modify the taxes that are now crippling job and investment opportunities and U.S. productivity.

Viewpoint

BY T. DRISKELL

The 1974 Bronco football team has been on the field twice and returned with two victories. There is plenty of player enthusiasm, but hanging in the wings is the intuitive feeling that as the old adage says "unfortunately enthusiasm is hardly a substitute for experience." The results to date also might be considered as supporting a conclusion that "somebody up there is looking out for us."

Coach Bundy has apparently done an excellent job, the players are enthusiastic and their physical conditioning seems to be better than the teams they have met to date. True, the games to date have lacked some of the former luster and the scoring has been heads up defensive work, but the spirit is there. The look at our schedule indicates that there is an abrupt termination to the honeymoon. It therefore might be a good idea to look from an uninformed fan's standpoint at the 1974 Bronco's performance.

The defense seems good with excellent lateral pursuit and good fundamental tackling. They have some instincts that need a little honing like a line-backer who occasionally gets lured out of a play without being blocked and a tackle who occasionally goes around the wrong side of a blocker, a cornerback that is a little slow in picking up a flying wide receiver. These in terms of one single game are vital, but in terms of a player, they build experience and help him sharpen his instincts. You will see them sharpen their instincts as the season progresses. I invite you, go to the game and watch one player on offense and one on defense and see what he does on each play. This will give you a feeling for the fact that Bundy has the most difficult job in this community. Fact or a rote process you can teach, but with instinctive instantaneous application of various processes, you can only create an environment and the student assimilation is entirely up to the student, his natural learning ability, his reaction time, and his subconscious desires and apprehensions.

The team's offensive efforts look a little rough in spots, but it is not that bad. In the two past games, the successful accomplishment of nine key blocks would have completely changed the game's complexion. The timing is occasionally a little uneven. Occasionally, a brush block in the middle of the line is a little soft bristled. There is plenty of game film work in the offing. Film shows some strange things. Blockers deciding which player to block while the tackler goes by; backs crossing too late; poorly executed fakes; improper pass patterns make coach's game films very poor movie fare, but a most valuable teaching medium.

Coach Bundy, and our players, have their work cut out for them and I for one bet they make it. Why write then? Their work will be easier if the fans recognize that some rebuilding is necessary and the finer appreciation of football involves a great many things that are not evident on a scoreboard. You can see it coming if you watch the finer points of the game as they evolve. You can anticipate a surprise before the opponents do. Some of them have surprises in store when it all falls into place, and it will!

The Devil's River Philosopher Sez...

He's Dying To Know Who Owns 700 Best Brains In The U.S.

Editor's note: The Devil's River Philosopher on his bitter-weed ranch on the Dry Devil's River is back on inflation again this week.

Dear editor:

Inflation reminds me of a famous statement...I forget

A Bishop Looks at Life

By Everett H. Jones, Retired Bishop of the Episcopal Church OUR RELIGIOUS HERITAGE

Recently a Presbyterian church in Bryn Mawr, Pennsylvania, decided to conduct a worship service in the form and words used in America 200 years ago. The pastor, Dr. David P. Watermulder, explained that it was an effort to make the nation's Bicentennial a spiritual occasion. He said, "We will return to our roots so that we may recall who we are and whence we came."

Extensive research went into planning the service. It was found that the hymns of the 18th century were mostly psalms. A "foresinger" would intone a phrase of the psalm and then have the congregation repeat it. This same official had another interesting duty. When the preacher began his sermon, he would place a large hourglass immediately in front of the pulpit. As the sand ran out he would ostentatiously turn the glass over to call the preacher's attention to the fact that his sermon was entering its second hour.

The researchers found sermons in abundance--and at great length. The one chosen for the service was by John Witherspoon, delivered May 17, 1774. Witherspoon was president of the College of New Jersey (now Princeton), the only clergyman who signed the Declaration of Independence, and a delegate to the Continental Congress of 1776.

What surprised the congregation most was the contemporary quality of the sermon and the prayers. This quality was heightened by the fact that the service was held during the Watergate hearings.

"You are all my witnesses," said Witherspoon, "that this is the first time of my introducing any political subject into the pulpit. At this season, however, it is not only lawful but necessary, and I willingly embrace the opportunity of declaring my opinion without any hesitation, that the cause in which America is now in arms is the cause of justice, of liberty, and of human nature. There is not a single instance in history in which civil liberty was lost, and religious liberty preserved entire."

"What I have here in view is to point out to you the concern which every good man ought to take in the national character and manners...It is therefore your duty in this important and critical season to exert yourselves, every one in his proper sphere, to stem the tide of prevailing vice, to promote the knowledge of God, the reverence of His name and worship, and obedience to His laws."

who made it...about employment. "When you have high unemployment a lot of people are out of work." When you have run-away inflation you're in for some awfully high prices.

That's all I know about it, but what intrigues me is the attack that's going to be made on this world-wide problem. As I understand it, 700 of the "best brains in the United States" are being called to Washington for a summit conference to figure out what to do about it, all wearing belts I guess so they can tighten them.

I'm not interested at this point in their answers, which will range from less spending to more spending, from higher taxes to lower taxes, to stiff wage and price controls to no wage and price controls, but I am interested in finding out who those 700 people are with the best brains in the country.

For instance, will they be selected on a geographic basis? I mean, will they pick the best brains in say a Congressional district or so many per state or will they rub out such lines and just pick the best 700 brains in the whole country? Will it be by professions? Will it include football coaches? Congressmen? And who's going to do the picking?

It's not going to be easy. For example how would you go about picking the best brain in Sonora? What if there's more than one? What if there aren't any? What if you pick the best brain in the whole country and he can't go to the meeting because he's busy going to cover an over-draft?

And furthermore, if those 700 top brains have the answer to inflation, how come they've been keeping it to themselves for the last 24 months? Or have they been thinking so hard they didn't know chewing gum is now 15c a package, gasoline, 55c a gallon and sugar, $2.60 per pound?

As I see it, the cure for inflation is lower prices, if you're buying, not if you're selling.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

DENTAL FACTS

Patients tend to associate periodontal diseases with aging, but in some university clinics, dentists see children with periodontal problems as young as nine and ten years old.

Clenching or grinding teeth during sleep contributes to loosening even healthy teeth in their sockets.

Bleeding gums may mean gum disease, or a too stiff toothbrush.

Teeth that are overly sensitive to cold drinks and to sweets can often be helped by using Sensodyne, a therapeutic dentifrice instead of the cosmetic kind. The gentlest toothbrush available is important for individuals with dental hypersensitivity.

Hospital Auxiliary News

BY JAN VANDER STUCKEN

The Lillian M. Hudspeth Memorial Hospital Auxiliary met at the Joseph Vander Stucken home September 9 with thirty members and guests in attendance.

Mrs. Louie Trainer, president, gave a resume of projects completed since the last meeting in May.

Minutes of the previous meeting were read by Mrs. Ernest McClelland, secretary. Mrs. Charles Browne, treasurer, read the financial statement and reported on the status of the vending machines and television set rentals in the hospital.

Plans for entertainment of nursing home residents were discussed. It was suggested that anyone having articles suitable for bingo prizes contact a member of the auxiliary. Names of nursing home residents were distributed to members in order that special needs of the patients be taken care of.

Refreshments were served by the officers who served as hostesses.

Officers for the ensuing year are president, Mrs. Louie Trainer; vice president, Mrs. Joseph Vander Stucken; treasurer, Mrs. Charles Browne; recording secretary, Mrs. Ernest McClelland; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Edgar Glasscock; auditor, Mrs. Bob Vicars; parliamentarian, Mrs. J. F. Howell; and reporter, Jan Vander Stucken.

Regular meetings of the auxiliary will be held on the second Monday of each month at 3 p.m., in the conference room of the nursing home.

The engagement of Miss Kathleen O'Harrow and Mack West, Jr., has been announced by Mr. and Mrs. James West. The couple will exchange vows October 5 in the First Baptist Church.

Homemaking Survey Held

In August a survey was mailed to some local women and some in the Devil's River News reading area. It was felt that these and maybe others would be interested in the results when they were asked for suggestions for improving the homemaking program in Sonora.

All felt their courses had been worthwhile and they use their clothing selection and construction skills along with nutrition information, continuously. Useful information which they could have used were meals for single persons, finance and budgeting, problems all newlyweds face, dating, and better understanding their husbands.

Important goals for these women's children are for them to have inquisitive minds, practice honesty, believe in God and country, have tolerance for others who are different, ability to make rational decisions, to seek quality in life, and to become useful members of society.

A complete summary of the survey is on file in the Homemaking Department for any interested person to read.

It's thinking about that $250 seat—the one that was empty last Sunday.
Haven't you figured out what your seat at church is worth? Say the building—at yesterday's prices—cost roughly a hundred thousand. And there are four hundred seats. That's an investment of $250 per seat.
That's little enough for a seat occupied regularly by a person eager to worship the Lord. (Men have given their lives for the Gospel.)
But to preach Christ to an empty seat—$250 is a lot of investment in the man who isn't there! I realize my kind of arithmetic isn't likely to save souls. But it would do a lot for my blood pressure if just a few people in every congregation across the land would start thinking about that empty seat the way I do!
I don't mean the money. Just the fact that spiritual opportunities are here to be claimed . . . and only when wasted do they cost us dearly.

Consumer Market Report

Economical, high-quality protein is at seafood, dairy and poultry counters this week.

Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt said recently.

One protein source is the now increasing supply of fresh seafood, according to the consumer marketing information specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

"Fish is usually filleted and has very little waste. At dairy counters, features include cream, cottage cheese and a variety of cheese slices. For high nutrition in snacks, a glass of milk is still low cost compared with carbonated beverages," the specialist added.

Prices on large-size eggs show fractional advances--if the price difference between sizes in the same grade is more than seven cents a dozen, buy the smaller size. Mrs. Clyatt advised.

"Fryer chickens and parts still lead the list of most-frequently featured protein foods, and turkey hindquarters and drumsticks offer an economical change of menu."

Other meat features include beef chuck roasts, round steak and beef liver, ground beef, sirloin and rib steaks.

Pork specials are scattered--some appear on quarter loin cut into chops, Boston butt roasts, semi-boneless and canned hams.

Fresh fruit and vegetables items in good supply at the most reasonable prices include prunes, plums, grapes, nectarines, cantaloupes, watermelons, cabbage, carrots, cooking greens, dry yellow onions, squash and potatoes.

Consumer Watchwords: Sausage meats, in more than one hundred varieties, make quick and easy meals for hot summer days. Use unit pricing knowledge to figure cost per ounce--or cost per pound.

A weekly public service feature from the Texas State Department of Health

Accent on Health

J. E. PEAVY, M.D., Commissioner of Health

Despite the rich bounty provided to us by the land, Texans and Americans in general are described as nutritional illiterates.

Nutrition is a relatively new science. For this reason there is room for misunderstanding, and even intentional misrepresentation. Although much malnutrition is the result of poverty, a full pocket doesn't mean a nourished body, says the State Health Department.

The focus on the high price of meat has made Texans more aware of their eating habits. But one group of individuals--the food faddists--are willing to pay through the nose (and sometimes through their health) for items no better than those offered in the supermarkets.

Like hula-hoops and Nehru jackets, fads come and go. But for some the memory may linger on, since food fads can affect health and the quality of living for a long time.

A big fad at the moment is the weight reduction kick, which is tied in by food faddists with better health and some particular foodstuff which they say can cure all the ills of the believers. Some reducing diets, when followed too long, can lead to permanent health problems.

Nutritionists say there is no one particular cure-all food, and they have scientific proof. Faddists, on the other hand, push hundreds of different contradictory food systems, including the current "organic" food theory.

Many diet or nutrition advocates are opportunists whose major motivations are economic. Some of these persons appear to be sincere, albeit misguided and close-minded in their nutritional beliefs.

A look at some highly-publicized diets gives you an idea of the perplexing situations greeting those interested in dieting--either for weight loss or other health reasons.

The drinking man's diet, Zen diet, grapefruit and egg diet, vegetarian diet, cereal diet, low protein, high-protein, low carbohydrate diet--are all a part of the present day food craze, says the Health Department. Some, such as the Zen macrobiotic diet, can result in malnutrition.

And, there are the vitamin and food supplement faddists who push all types of supplemental concoctions off on the willing indulger. Vitamin E and Vitamin C, both essential to the body, are among the vitamins being pushed at present.

Dr. Linus Pauling advocated great amounts of Vitamin C to prevent the common cold. Research failed to substantiate his claim.

The State Health Department says you can get all the required nutrients, including Vitamins C and E, through a wise selection of foods. Selecting foods properly will also ensure efficient utilization of the food dollar...something that can shrink rapidly in today's supermarkets. Supplements generally are expensive and unnecessary, unless prescribed by a physician.

The Nutrition Program of the State Health Department says the basic food groups still are the best guide for the average person who needs strength and vitality to meet each day's challenges. These are divided into the milk group, meat and protein group, fruits and vegetables group, and the bread and cereal group. While giving you sufficient energy, these basic food groups also supply the trace elements of minerals which your body needs.

If these basic food groups remain unchallenged scientifically, why do people succumb to faddism?

Nutritional quackery appeals to desperate people who want to believe in the impossible and the incredible. In the case of weight-reducers, they want to believe in something simple and easy, in a cure-all calling for no effort on their part. Traditional calorie counting is too slow, too limiting for their appetites. People with illnesses want a miracle to help them.

An Ohio State nutritionist writes, "Compared to the exotic nutritional advice, which borders on the occult or is rendered with spiritual fervor, normal everyday nutritional education lacks pizzazz. That is why the voices of the home economists--the dietitian--the nutritionist--food technologist--are not heard when they contradict the often untrue and sensational health claims being made by those who so avidly degrade the American food supply."

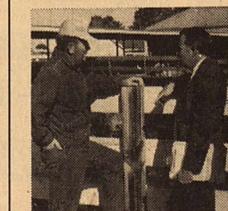

Significant progress has been made in the science of diet and its relationship to health, but science advances by slow, difficult steps which are much too slow for impatient, desperate people who want immediate solutions.

But when the fads have run their course, the accepted, scientifically proven four food groups still stand tall as the one way to receive proper nutrition from the foods you eat and drink, says the State Health Department. A place to look for reliable information about nutrition and health is your local physician or your local health department. You may go also to a home economics teacher, or the county extension agent. They too will be able to give you sound advice and information.

LOVE AND THE LIVING DEAD

Love is not only for the living
But for the living dead!
Ask any recovering alcoholic
And on this subject some light he can shed!

How? Why he has traveled far
With no glimmer of hope
From even a star;
And his cringing footsteps have only led
Him down this road of the living dead
Where nothing else mattered:
There was only despair,
Unquenchable thirst, and
No answer to prayer;
And weary miles have taken their bitter toll
Of his wretched mind, body, and soul.

When into this darkness, faintly heard
Came the voice of one, carrying the word:
"Come with me, fellow, and you will see
Proof of a Power greater than you or me!
Miracles walk from a disease with no cure
Into a new way of life, and it's yours, I'm sure!
Your entrance fee? Just a desire to quit drinking--
You'll be amazed at the change in your way of thinking!

"Why do I Bother?" you ask--well, let's just say
I understand and care--I've been along that way!
And a loving hand reached out to me
With understanding, love, and sincerity
To lift me up and help me to my feet,
And tell me it's only 24 hours I have to meet.
So accept this program of spirituality,
And you'll do an about face and meet reality.
There will be freedom from fears for you now,
And new meaning to the words WHO and HOW!

So partake of this, do, and with me share
The love of God and those who care.
To win, we must surrender--
Then strive towards perfection;
For you see, your way is death,
But his one brings resurrection!"

Love is not only for the living
But for the living dead!
How do I know?
I'm the alcoholic
Whose poem has just been read!

IF YOU WANT TO DRINK, THAT'S YOUR BUSINESS--
IF YOU WANT TO QUIT, THAT'S OUR BUSINESS!
