

Marsha Finklea, Will Wallace 4-H Gold Star Award Winners

The Annual Sutton County 4-H Achievement Party and 4-H Ball were held at the Sutton County 4-H Center Tuesday night with Miss Maggie Galbreath serving as master of ceremonies. Marsha Finklea gave the invocation followed by the Pledge of Allegiance and the 4-H Motto and pledge, led by Miss Cathy Ward.

4-H members, 4-H leaders and friends of 4-H were honored for their outstanding contributions to the Sutton County 4-H program during the past year.

Winners of the Gold Star Awards were Marsha Finklea, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Finklea, and Will Wallace, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Wallace.

Miss Finklea has been a member of the 4-H Club for the past seven years. She participated in Angora goat and food projects. Her activities have included wool, mohair, plant, range, sheep and Angora goat judging. She has been a member of the junior state champion 4-H Wool and Mohair teams and both the junior and senior state champion 4-H Grass Judging teams at the Sonora Wool and Mohair Show. She is a junior leader for judging, a member of the County 4-H Council and reporter for the County 4-H Club.

Wallace has been a member of the 4-H Club the past eight years. He has served as reporter for the club and is a member of the county and district 4-H councils. He has participated in livestock, wool, mohair, range and grass judging and has been a member of the state winning 4-H grass and range judging teams.

His projects have included beef cattle, market lambs, Angora goats, horses and breeding sheep. Outstanding project honors include showing the grand champion bag of wool in the Sonora Wool and Mohair Show and the champion beef heifer in the county show.

Miss Maggie Galbreath, daughter of Mrs. Margaret Galbreath and Billie Galbreath, was the winner of the 1974 Fred T. Earwood Memorial Trophy. This trophy is presented each year to a senior 4-H member with an outstanding 4-H record of having encouraged other boys and girls to participate in 4-H.

Miss Galbreath has been active in the 4-H Club for nine years and is currently serving as president of the County Club and the 4-H Horse Club. She has also served as a member of the District 7 4-H Council and is a junior leader for horse judging and projects.

Outstanding honors won include 8 champion and reserve champion awards in the county horse show, the grand champion halter mare of the District 6 4-H Horse show and the high individual award in junior horse judging in District 6. Her leadership in the overall 4-H program in the county and her willingness to assist and encourage younger 4-H members with their judging and horse projects made her a logical choice for the Earwood award.

13 year old Mark Van Hoozer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Van Hoozer, was named winner of the 1974 Billy Gillit Memorial Award. This award is presented each year to the outstanding junior member of the Sutton County Club by Mrs. Anna Rose Gillit and Mr. Ray Glasscock, as a memorial to Mrs. Gillit's late husband. The purpose of the award is to encourage junior boys and girls to participate in 4-H work.

The junior 4-H'er has been a member of the 4-H Club for four years and has participated in range, grass, wool, mohair and livestock judging as well as in market lamb projects.

Outstanding honors won include being a member of the first place district grass judging team, the state champion junior 4-H range judging team and the overall high junior judging team at the Sonora Wool and Mohair Show where he was overall high individual of the junior judging contest.

ADULT AWARDS

Mrs. Louis Powers, treasurer of the Sutton County 4-H Parents Club, was presented a 4-H Spur Pin for being the Outstanding Woman 4-H leader for 1974. Mrs. Powers has assisted with the livestock show and sale, the county and district horse shows, the district horse judging contest and has kept the 4-H books the past five years.

She has served on numerous committees including the 4-H executive committee.

Albert Ward, past president of the Parents Club, was presented a 4-H Spur Clip for being the outstanding man adult leader for the year.

Ward has assisted in training and hauling members to horse showing and judging events. He also took over a large share of the county agent's responsibilities at the county horse show, the district horse show, the Sonora Wool and Mohair Show in 1973, and with the assistance of other 4-H leaders, made these very successful events. Ward continues to be a member of the 4-H executive committee and is chairman of the livestock show committee.

Two 4-H contributors were honored for their contributions to the county program in 1974.

Joe Stewart, a former staff member at the Sonora Research Station, received a plaque for five years of assistance to the program. Dalton Merz, former SCS District Conservationist in Sonora, was honored with a 4-H Contributors plaque at the wool and mohair show in June.

Merz assisted in training district and state winning junior and senior range judging teams and also assisted with judging contests during the Sonora Wool and Mohair Show and the County Livestock Show.

OTHER AWARDS

Achievement awards were presented to Paula Friess, Tonia Mittel, Cathy Ward and Trina Powers.

Agricultural awards went to Clay Friess, Duray Smith, Ben Ingham and Mark Van Hoozer. Rick Powers, Rex Surber, Julie Stewart and Brad Johnson were conservation award winners.

Mrs. Celeste Prugel made presentation awards to Mary Sue Galindo, Marsha Finklea, Laura Gibbs and Martha Elliott, for participation in the senior foods division.

Junior foods awards went to Michele Mooney, Sandy Wright, Shelly Behrens and Trudy Draper.

Gloria Gomez was recognized for participation in the senior dress revue. Nora Galindo was honored for junior dress revue participation.

Horse awards went to Rae Ann Draper, Jamie Condra, Louise Ingham and Julie Harris.

Leadership awards were presented to 4-H'ers by Larry Finklea. They were: (Readers Digest) Susan Schwiening, John David Cook, Pam Powers and Mark Hemphill. (Producers Grain Corp.) Will Wallace, Richard Dunnam, Dennis Dunnam and Carey Draper.

Citizenship awards were presented by Dr. Joe Andrews to Tammy Dietz and Jeffery Barton.

Sheep and goat awards were made to Marshal Doran, Wesley Barton, Cades Pope and Larry Finklea.

Nathan's Senior 4-H awards were presented by Mr. George Bundren to Maggie Galbreath, Richard Dunnam, Laura Gibbs, Cathy Ward, Mike Stewart and Debbie Howard.

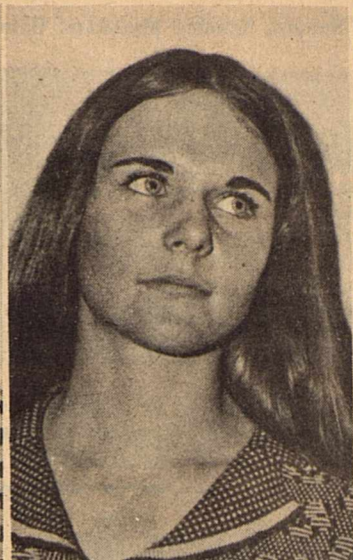

Miss Maggie Galbreath, 4-H Sweetheart, and Richard Dunnam, 4-H Beau, were honored at the 4-H Ball following the achievement party. Music for the ball was provided by Nolan McCleary and His Western Echos.

Broncos Take 2nd District Win

The Sonora Broncos won their second district football game Friday night over the Ozona Lions by a score of 7-0. The win gave the Broncos a 7-1 record for the season and a 2-0 record in District 7AA.

On their first possession of the game the Broncos needed only seven plays to move 70 yards for the game's only touchdown. John David Cook added the PAT. The score came on a 40 yard pass play from Quarterback Paul Browne to End Robbie Hard.

In the second quarter Sonora carried deep into Ozona territory but the drive was stopped with a pass interception by a Lion defender.

Midway of the third quarter the Broncos took possession of the ball on their own 28 yard line and Juan Perez carried to the Ozona 35. Curt Mooney moved the ball to the 25 and David Snodgrass carried to the 9 yard line. The Ozona defense rose to the occasion and stopped the drive on the 4 yard line as the quarter ended.

In the fourth quarter another long Bronco drive was stopped on the Ozona 19 and a field goal attempt failed.

Late in the fourth quarter Mooney intercepted a Lion pass and the game ended with the Broncos inside the Lion 5 yard line.

Services Held For Sonoran's Mother

Mrs. E. B. Tipton, Sr., a resident of Gunner's Twin Oaks Nursing Home in Jacksonville, died October 22. Among her survivors is a daughter, Mrs. Ruth Shurley. Funeral services for Mrs. Tipton were held October 25 at the Jacksonville Methodist Church with burial in Rest Haven Cemetery.

Mrs. Tipton resided in Sonora for five years, moving here in 1946. Other survivors include two sons, Ralph Tipton of Jacksonville and E. B. Tipton, Jr., of Houston; another daughter, Mrs. W. F. Weaver of Snyder, and one sister, Mrs. C. A. Richter of Azusa, California.

Spook Parade, Carnival Set For Thursday Night

Work will begin on carnival booths at 1 p.m., Thursday in preparation for the annual Halloween Carnival that will get underway at approximately 6 p.m., when the newly elected queen declares the carnival open.

Spooks will gather at the courthouse at 4:15 and the parade will begin at 5 p.m., when the youngsters model their various disguises beginning at the Courthouse and traveling to the end of the

ART CLASS SETS THREE-DAY EXHIBIT

Members of the OJS Art Class in Ozona will hold an exhibit Thursday, Friday and Saturday so that persons in the area will be able to view work of the class. The exhibit will be held in the building adjacent to the Baggett Insurance Company in Ozona from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on all three days.

carnival area at the corner of Concho and Oak Streets.

Following the opening of the carnival, booths will be open for the enjoyment of young and old alike. The junior class will hold a car bash in addition to the raffle, sponsored by the class each year. The seniors will be in charge of the concession stand while the sophomores will feature a dart and football throw. A basketball toss and sponge throw will be sponsored by the freshmen class.

In addition several organizations will have booths. The Girl's Athletic Association will hold their annual cake walk and the band will sponsor the dish throw. A sling shot and ring toss booth will be set up by the Industrial Arts Club.

The National Honor Society will tell your fortune in case you're in doubt, and the yearbook staff will have a grab bag concession for those who have no talent for tossing sponges, basketballs, footballs or manipulating the sling shot.

For the younger group, the Future Homemakers of America will set up the fish pond.

Vying for the queen's crown this year are Melinda Earwood, senior; Lesa Joy, junior; Lorie Olsen, sophomore, and Janice Grider, freshman.

The Speech Club's Halloween show this year is entitled, "For The Love Of Money", and is a musical comedy spoof of the way Americans spend their money. This annual fund-raising show is always an original production conceived and written by speech and drama students, and satirizing some aspect of our society.

There will be three performances in the basement of the Methodist Church.

Carnival booths will be confined to the block between the First National Bank Building and C. G. Morrison Variety Store. All booths will close at 9 p.m. to allow students and their sponsors time to tear down the booths and finish any clean-up that may be deemed necessary.

Issuance Date Set For Deer Tags

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department has announced that special antlerless deer tags for designated areas of Sutton County will be issued at the Courthouse in Sonora on November 6, 1974.

Landowners or their agents can apply for tags between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. on these dates. All interested landowners or their agents are urged to obtain antlerless deer tags during this issuance period.

Absentee Voting Light

Only a handful of voters thus far have shown interest in the November 5 General Election judging from the light turnout in absentee voting that began October 16. Voters will be able to cast their vote by absentee ballot through Friday, November 1.

Political forecasters have predicted a very light turnout of voters for the election this year, even lighter than the small percent of registered voters who cast ballots in the primaries. Only 505 Sutton Countians turned out to vote in the primary election.

Lagging voter interest in this county may be contributed to the lack of local race competition. County-wide, the offices of county judge, county attorney, district and county clerk, justice of the peace, and two county commissioners, were all unopposed in the primary election and no write-in candidates for any of the offices have been made public.

The office of United States Representative for the 21st Congressional District, has raised the most interest with both Democrat Bob Krueger and Republican Doug Harlan, vying in Sonora on many occasions. Also vying for Congressman is Ed Gallion of Crane, who is the candidate of the American party. Incumbent O. C. Fisher announced prior to the May primary that he would not seek re-election to the office.

Five persons are in the running for Governor of the State of Texas. Incumbent Dolph Briscoe is being opposed by Jim Granberry of the Republican party; Ramsey Muniz of the Raza Unida Party; Sherry Smith of the Socialist's Worker's Party, which is a new party being added to the ballots this year, and by American party candidate, Sam McDonnell.

Other offices where voters have a choice of candidates is the office of lieutenant governor, attorney general, comptroller of public accounts and state treasurer, along with railroad commissioners and supreme court justices.

State Senator W. E. (Pete) Snelson does not have an opponent in the race.

The office of State Representative of the 70th District, which was a hotly contested race in the primaries, is being sought after by Susan Gurley McBee of Del Rio, a Democrat, and Raza Unida candidate, Elpidio Lizcano. Hilary B. Doran, Jr., of Del Rio, who has served as state representative of this district for a number of years, chose not to run for re-election to the office.

Polls will open at 8 a.m. and close at 7 p.m. Voters in precinct one will vote at the Courthouse; precinct two at the Wool House; precinct three at Cedar Hill School, and voters of precinct four will cast their votes at the Clarence Simon Ranch house.

Rabbit Project Plans Underway

Efforts are being made to start a 4-H Rabbit Project Group in Sonora. Anyone interested in joining such group should contact Clint Langford at the county agent's office, Dennis Dunnam at 387-2427 or Mrs. Tommy Isenburt at 387-2097.

This group must be formed and have their rabbits before November 15, 1974, in order to participate in the stock show January 10 and 11, 1975.

Scooter Surber (#7) carries the ball around the end to gain some yardage for the Broncos in Friday night's bout with the Ozona Lions. The Broncos held the Lions scoreless throughout the game. They will host the Reagan County Owls this week at Bronco Stadium for the last home game of the season.

Halloween Lore Tied To Religion, Superstition

Historically, Halloween has been an extremely superstitious time when the devil's disciples run rampant over the land mischievously making life miserable.

Halloween is almost as old as civilization itself. Romans first celebrated it and did so with some elaborate knee-bending to Pomona, the goddess of fruits and gardens.

Centuries later, conquering Roman legions took the custom to the British Isles. The enthusiasm of the medieval Britons for harvest celebrations sent Halloween's popularity soaring. Singing, dancing and thanksgiving to the local sun god began; and haystacks became popular symbols.

After a few days of gaiety, however, the peasants began to shudder in fear. They believed that the spirits of the dead used ghoulish bodies for one night in order to inflict reprisals on all who had offended Samhim, the local god of the dead.

In Wales people lighted Halloween bonfires for fortune telling. It was the custom for each member of a family to throw a marked stone into a dying fire. If a person's stone was missing in the morning, it meant he'd die before the year ended.

Superstitious folks believed that all the dead who were released in spirit from their graves on Halloween also light fires.

As for jack-o-lanterns, the Irish tell an interesting tale about a poor soul named Jack who couldn't get into Heaven because he hoarded his worldly wealth. Jack was even barred from Hell for playing practical jokes on the devil. So he had to walk the earth with a lantern until Judgment Day.

Scottish people were also quite superstitious about

Halloween. In their curiosity to discover whom they would marry, Scots tried to foretell the future with special Halloween ceremonies.

In one such event, a group of people went hand in hand with eyes closed into a field to pull the first stalk of kale (cabbage) they found. A crooked or straight, small or large, tender or tough stalk told a lot about their future mates. After putting the stalk over the door, anyone whom fate then sent knocking became a good prospect.

The Druids, an order of priests in ancient Gaul and Britain, firmly believed that imps practiced harmful deeds on humans. They also believed that cats were super-sacred since these furry creatures were really humans transformed into cats as punishment for their evil deeds.

Italians were the first to regard them as the favorite form assumed by witches. Gradually, as Christianity took a firmer hold in Britain, the belief in ghosts faded out and people began holding religious services in preparation for "All Saints Day." The English introduced Halloween to the New World, and the day took enthusiastic root here in America.

These superstitions and many like them have helped make Halloween what it is today. To say the least, the modern Halloween has changed drastically from its mystical superstitious beginnings.

Have a happy (and safe) Halloween!

THE DEVIL'S RIVER PHILOSOPHER SEZ..... He Takes A Sidelong Look At Idea For Lowering The Price of Meat

Editor's note: The Devil's River Philosopher on his bitter-weed ranch on Dry Devil's River explores a new idea on inflation this week.

That must be what the Department of Agriculture is counting on. Yours faithfully, J. A.

Dear editor:

In order to whip inflation, all the experts agree, we've got to take some bold new steps but nobody is very clear about exactly what those steps are. If you took every step recommended you'd get tangled up before you got out the front door and as a result patting their foot is about as far as most of the leaders care to go.

But I was interested in a step if you want to call it that to reduce the price of meat in the supermarket, not on the hoof.

In order to bring the retail price down, the U. S. Department of Agriculture has come up with an idea that has limitless possibilities. Discovering that people aren't buying as much of the choice grades of beef as they did everybody expected to get a raise every six months and eventually become a millionaire if they ever got their car and house paid for, the department says the way to increase such purchases is to lower the quality but still call it choice. The grade of beef formerly called good is now to be called choice. Thus overnight the price of choice beef would drop about 20 percent and we've got inflation on the run.

There are all sorts of possibilities for this new idea. Want to lower the price of a loaf of bread? Cut the price by 20 percent and the size by 40 percent. Good news! The price of a loaf of bread has come down, and the kid at the end of the table who sees the slices disappear before the plate reaches him can bite a bullet, although he's going to have a hard time sopping gravy with it.

Speaking of biting the bullet, if we've all got to do that to whip inflation I guess it's all right, but it's hard to get a dental appointment as it is. But back to the earlier idea. Want to lower the price of a Cadillac? Just change the name of a Ford to Cadillac and get a luxury car for half price. Want more educated teachers? Call a B.A. degree a Ph. D. Want lower interest rates? Rearrange arithmetic and make 6 stand for 12. With 6 percent money business would boom.

You could keep going with this line of thinking but the whole idea reminds me of the sharp guy who was selling apples for 10 cents apiece or two for a quarter. Said it was amazing how many people bought two, if you didn't give them time to stop and think.

Even the darkest night has a few bright spots. For years some people have contended that our economic ills are beyond the capability of our existing political system. The present problem area should provide a positive answer to that one. The indications to date favor the hypothesis that our system needs overhaul and a return from practical to theoretical politics as our founding fathers visualized. It would also be nice if we could have a statesman thrown in every once in a while, but he could not even be elected dog catcher.

This situation comes into sharper focus when you look at the proposals of President Ford to combat inflation -- a feeble 5 percent surtax on income tax, a token measure at best. Look at the reaction -- along party lines -- a political campaign joke. In reality if we are to survive, the 5 percent surtax is a joke -- it will not be that painless.

There are some fairly safe predictions. The November elections will probably provide a Democratic plurality, and after the election, tighten your safety belt, it is going to be a rough ride, one way or another. The things that must be accomplished are: (1.) Energy conservation; (2.) erosion of surplus buying power; (3.) a competitive industrial stance, and (4.) lower food prices. The question is: Will a democratic congress go along? If so, we make it, after some trying times. If not, there are two alternatives; a runaway inflation that makes last years' appear a snail's pace, or an underlying necessity to reach an agreement with Russia and Iran for seizure of the Arab oil lands bordering on the Indian Ocean. Peaceful it will not be, seize, put out the fires, reconition the wells. One wonders if this was what President Ford was alluding to in recent speeches.

This is a wonderful age -- live, some of us anyway, will live to see the evident answers to many of these questions.

Viewpoint

By T. Driskell

Most of us, it seems, are a little bit tired of the standard brand of politics, but it appears that we are in for another dose of the same. You know the bit, independents who have spent $150,000 plus on their campaigns, and one will get you three those funds did not come from the candidates personal assets. That is the strange independence of American politics, a genuine pseudonym. Incumbents pointing out the qualified candidate, naturally a member of his party. It looks like another dose of the same old stuff.

President Ford points out that an overwhelming majority in the legislative branch would destroy the system of checks and balances built into the Constitution. It is valid since a legislative branch which could continually override a veto would create a legislative dominance over the executive. The democratic bigwigs then throw up the dominance of the executive of recent years, forgetting to mention that it resulted from legislative default.

One can hardly wait until the campaign heats up and the democratic hopefuls start blaming the Republicans for the inflation and recession, somehow forgetting to mention that the legislative branch has been in control of the Democrats since 1932 and the Democrats have maintained a loose money policy which accelerated inflation. The recession is the buzzard of our collective economic sins coming home to roost. Through sheer inept stupidity and economic shortsightedness we have passed the control of the economy of the most powerful nation on the earth into the hands of some oriental islanders and Mohammedan sheep herders. Any way you look at it -- we have blown it.

Even the darkest night has a few bright spots. For years some people have contended that our economic ills are beyond the capability of our existing political system. The present problem area should provide a positive answer to that one. The indications to date favor the hypothesis that our system needs overhaul and a return from practical to theoretical politics as our founding fathers visualized. It would also be nice if we could have a statesman thrown in every once in a while, but he could not even be elected dog catcher.

This situation comes into sharper focus when you look at the proposals of President Ford to combat inflation -- a feeble 5 percent surtax on income tax, a token measure at best. assuming a dual role of both judge and prosecutor.

And the special prosecutor had a subservient Watergate grand jury at his disposal, 17 of the 21 being blacks and only one of the 21 being Republican. While blacks are capable of being good jurors, Washington jurors are products of an environment which in 1972 voted 10 to 1 against Nixon for President.

In addition, Jaworski was aided by anti-Nixon publicity, whether justified or otherwise, which for two years completely saturated the District of Columbia. But Sirica resolutely refused to change the venue. He recalled that only a few months ago the Mitchell-Stans Watergate-related trial in New York resulted in acquittal. Sirica seems to think moving the case out of the district would be too risky.

The 12 petit jurors chosen under rigid Sirica screening include 8 blacks and 4 whites. The trial may last three or four months.

It's rumored Leon is worried about obtaining a conviction and is also concerned about being able to sustain a conviction or appeal. He has skillfully engineered the groundwork for the current trial, and now he will be content to relax and read about it.

Resignation of Leon Jaworski, Watergate Special Prosecutor, who succeeded Professor Archibald Cox, was not unexpected. Rumor of his departure on the eve of the trial of 5 alleged Watergate defendants, had been going the rounds.

When Jaworski was appointed by President Nixon to take Cox's place, many skeptics frowned in dismay, fearful he would not be tough enough. After all, they warned, he was from Texas and he had wealthy clients.

But the fears were soon dispelled. Determined to outdo Cox, Leon retained the 40 special aides Cox had recruited. Mostly liberal Democrats, those 40 assistants were eager lawyers and were very prosecution-minded. In fact, according to the press, 7 of the first 11 senior appointments among them were former associates of the Brothers Kennedy.

Moreover, Jaworski's job was made easier by having a Watergate Judge, John Sirica,

A Bishop Looks at Life

by Everett H. Jones, Retired Bishop of Episcopal Church

THE MORAL DEMANDS OF DEMOCRACY

As I listened to President Ford's recent address to the United States Congress about our economic problems, I came to realize the realization that beneath all his proposals there was a moral challenge to every individual in America. We are now facing the moral demands that go with being a democracy.

We are challenged to think and act in terms of the total welfare of the nation. It is not enough to think only of how a proposed remedy pleased me or those in my social group. The only right questions for me to ask are: What is best for America? How can we work together to make America strong enough to fulfill her role in the world?

This is the same challenge that faced the constitutional convention in 1787. There were conflicting interests between the colonies in the north and those in the south. It was only by a series of compromises thought out for the benefit of all that what has been called the miracle at Philadelphia could happen.

Another challenge is to recognize that the strong always have an extra responsibility to help the weak. Of course there must be new taxes for the programs that are needed, especially for the poor and the unemployed, and of course these taxes must come from those best able to pay them.

We have a moral challenge to have faith in the basic integrity and sincerity of our national leaders. It is true that this kind of trust has been badly shaken by the revelations of the past two years. Our recent experiences have left us with a habit of critical and suspicious reaction to any policy formulated in Washington, D.C.

I believe that our present leaders, who are faced with such complex and difficult decisions, deserve the benefit of the doubt. Moreover, the very machinery of democracy comes to a halt without the lubricating oil of a basic confidence from leaders to people, and from the people to the leaders.

A final challenge is to believe that what I do as one single individual in a nation of over 200 million persons really makes a difference. The President is right: the fight to whip inflation now is everybody's business. I am helping to destroy democracy when I say there is nothing I can do about it.

It is not too much to say that America faces tough moral decisions that will decide, as we come to our 200th birthday, whether we are strong enough to continue as a democracy or whether we are forced to turn either to a dictatorship from the left (Communism) or from the right (Fascism.)

Nothing To Fear

Hallowe'en today means children flocking from door to door to enjoy the bounty of neighborliness. But in the Dark Ages this night was regarded with dread and apprehension.

Warmth, friendship, kindness, generosity inspired by our religious faith have replaced superstition. Believing in the Love of God man has nothing to fear.

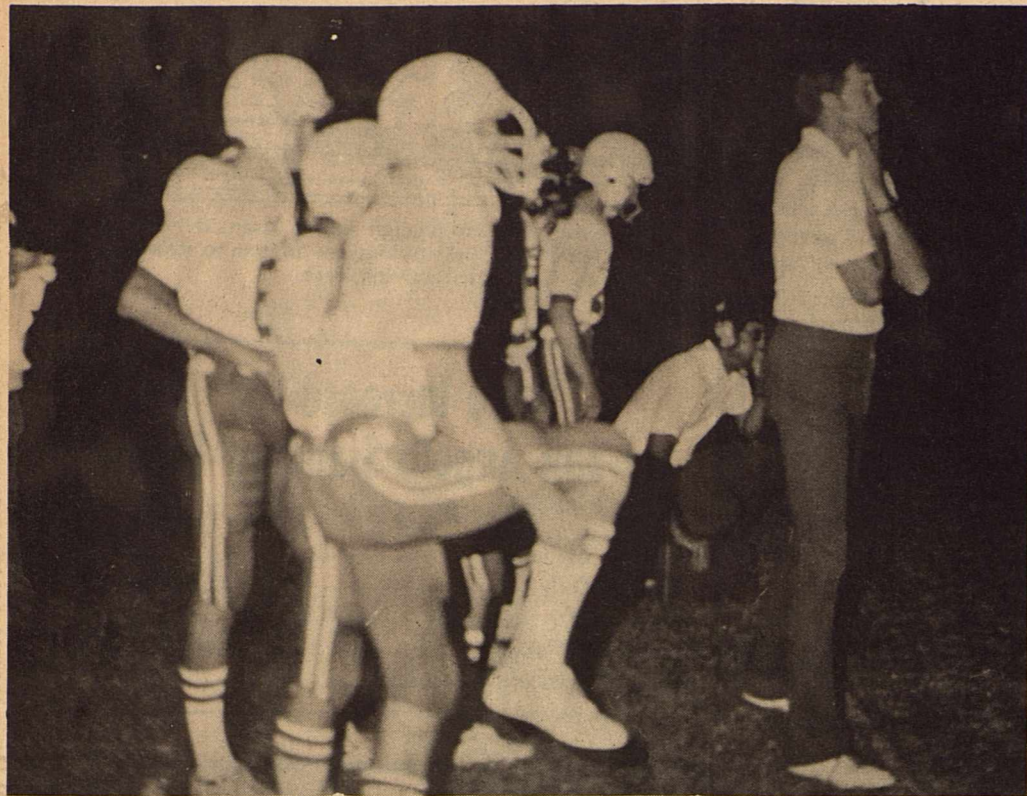

Your children will remember for years the fun of Hallowe'en. Are you making sure they are learning the fundamental spiritual truths that have turned yesterday's fear into today's faith?

Once a year we celebrate the death of superstition. Every Sunday we celebrate the birth of Believing.

DOUG HARLAN TALKS LIVESTOCK.

I've been to Sonora on several occasions and have had an opportunity to visit with many of you.

I know how important livestock is to Sonora's economy and can fully understand the pinch of rising costs and lower prices. Something must be done. I'll remember this in Washington by fighting for:

- ✓ Opening Common Market countries and Japan to the importation of American beef.
- ✓ Unregulated use of sodium cyanide in the M-44 device for predator control.
- ✓ Continuation of the screwworm eradication program.
- ✓ Keeping a free market economy that shows no favoritism to Russia and Algeria in foreign trade.
- ✓ Including farmers and ranchers in the policy-making process on matters which affect them.

The Consumer Alert

by John L. Hill
Attorney General

So you built a better mousetrap, but the world hasn't beaten a path to your door?

At this point, you may find yourself attracted by advertisements for idea or invention promotion and marketing firms. After all, what you really need is an expert to handle such details for you, right?

You could be wrong, in some cases. The Attorney General's Consumer Protection Division urges caution before paying large fees to firms offering services variously labeled invention or idea promotion, marketing, or development or patent searches and development.

Last summer, our consumer protection lawyers testified at a Federal Trade Commission hearing in Dallas—the first of a series of hearings nationwide to determine if a trade regulation rule is needed to curb fraudulent activity in the idea and invention promotion field.

Our attorneys described the method of operation found time and again in the invention marketing cases we have investigated or taken to court for violation of the Texas Deceptive Trade Practices-Consumer Protection Act.

Someone with an idea or an invention sees an ad promising patent search and protection; evaluation and feasibility studies to determine product marketability; engineering and production services; or exclusive contacts with manufacturers.

The would-be inventor pays a fee averaging $1,000 or more and submits his idea or gadget. Virtually all those submitted are judged by the firm to be "highly marketable."

Inventors are assured that their product will be exhibited in fairs and shows and that the market development firm, through its extensive arrangements with manufacturers, will locate a distributor.

While some few inventions have been marketed by such firms, our attorneys stress that the overwhelming majority of persons have never received a return that even approaches the amount of money they pay as fees.

In fact, many of the services offered are ones an inventor could handle as well himself, especially in light of the fact that the market evaluators or analysts for most such firms are merely salesmen who push the "special services" offered by their employers.

In addition, inventors with a possibly saleable item could find themselves inadequately protected if they rely on such idea promoters to conduct patent searches or to process patent applications.

The chief of our Consumer Protection Division and the head of the U. S. Patent Office have issued joint warnings of consumer fraud in the invention development field.

Patent office officials say that while inventors can even prepare their own patent applications, file it with the office, and conduct the prosecution of the application themselves, it is extremely difficult for anyone unacquainted with patent law and the procedures of the patent office.

They suggest that persons who are not experts in such matters hire patent attorneys or agents registered to practice before the patent office. Otherwise, inventors may fail to get a patent or may get one that doesn't adequately protect their invention.

Since there are more than 300 subject classes and 90,000 subclasses of patents, it's obviously a complicated matter for an amateur to determine if an idea already is patented. Inventors who wish to do so themselves, however, can conduct a check at the Patent Office Search Room in Virginia, or in one of several special libraries across the country. Or they can hire a qualified person registered to practice before the patent office to do it for them. A list of registered attorneys and agents is available from the U. S. Government Printing Office.

Persons who have a complaint about an idea or invention marketing firm should contact the Attorney General's Consumer Protection Division, their county or district attorney, or their local better business bureau.

Predator Control Workshop Scheduled

A workshop here Thursday, November 7 will provide livestock producers with field experiences in several techniques of predator control. The workshop begins at 9:30 a.m., in the Sutton County 4-H Center, where specialists will discuss the techniques of calling up wildlife, den hunting and aircraft hunting.

After a Dutch-treat barbecue catered at noon by the Sutton County 4-H Club, the producers will go to the field for demonstrations of snares, traps and the M-44.

Sutton County Extension Agent Clint Langford said sponsors of the November 7 program are the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, the Texas Rodent and Predatory Animal Control Service and the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers Association, whose president, Armer Earwood, will welcome the producers to Sonora.

Others on the program will be Milton Caroline of the Fish and Wildlife Service and supervisor of the Rodent and Predatory Animal Control Service, and Dr. Milo J. Shult of Uvalde, area wildlife specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Still others will be district supervisors of the Rodent and Predatory Animal Control Service Jodie H. Webb, H. D. Ellard, V. K. Carpenter and Raymond Trimble.

Predators continue to increase in the Sonora area causing decreased lamb and kid crops which is cutting into the profits of the sheep and goat industries.

All sheep and goat producers in the area are being encouraged to attend the workshop and to invite their ranch help to attend at least the afternoon session where experienced trappers will demonstrate the use of traps, snares and the M-44.

SUSAN GURLEY McBEE
STATE REPRESENTATIVE

Pd. by Susan McBee Box 954, Del Rio

It's that time again...

...time to start getting your home ready for the winter months ahead. By starting now and checking your home for those energy leaks, you'll stay warmer this winter and conserve energy.

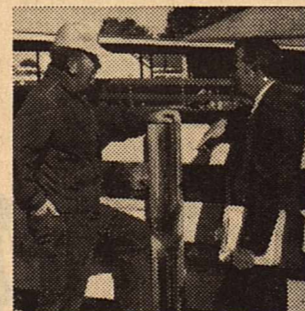

Take a few minutes and check the following items to make sure your home will be winterized:

- 1 Insulation is most important... and can pay for itself in energy consumption savings. The usual recommendation is 6 inches of insulation for the attic and 4 inches for outside walls. Check FHA requirements for further information.
- 2 Weatherstrip doors and windows, and caulk cracks and crevices to prevent drafts and the loss of heated air.
- 3 Maintain heating equipment for maximum efficiency by having it checked by a competent serviceman.
- 4 Dirty filters cause heating equipment to work harder and use more fuel. Check your filters every 30 days. If they're the permanent type, clean them according to the manufacturer's directions. If they're the disposable type, replace them at least every 90 days.
- 5 Don't be a "thermostat jiggler". Turning the thermostat up or down doesn't cause the equipment to heat or cool faster. It simply works longer to satisfy the setting. The national conservation program calls for settings of no more than 68°F. in heating weather. If you are going to be away for several days, lower the temperature to 60°F.
- 6 Don't place curtains, furniture or other objects in front of heating registers or return air openings. This blocks the flow of warm air.
- 7 Open blinds and draperies on sunny days to help heat your home during the day but close them at night to help reduce heat loss.
- 8 Keep the fireplace damper closed when the fireplace is not in use.
- 9 Storm doors and windows are not customarily used in this part of the country, but they do reduce heat loss. As a temporary substitute, a sheet of clear plastic stapled or tacked over screen doors or windows works well.
- 10 Keep the opening and closing of doors to a minimum to reduce the loss of warm air.

A weekly public service feature from the Texas State Department of Health

Accent on Health

J.E. PEAVY, M.D., Commissioner of Health

Texas restaurant owners, operators and supervisors are going back to school and the end result will be higher quality service and food for the restaurant goer, says the State Health Department.

Anyone who has suffered through the agony of "food poisoning" can attest to the effects of improper sanitation.

The Texas Restaurant Association is kept aware of breakdowns in the food handling chain. As a move to forestall such future occurrences and to keep abreast of current needs of the food industry, the Texas Restaurant Association is offering a new 12-hour course on sanitation, safety and food service productivity.

The first course was held in Abilene and followed by one in Victoria. After a third course later this month, the TRA will survey results of the first three training sessions and schedule others.

"We're shooting first for owners, managers and supervisors," said W. H. (Buckshot) Price, executive vice president of the TRA. "However," he added, "anyone connected with the food service industry is welcome to the free training courses scheduled three hours a day for four days."

Objective of the course is to train high-echelon personnel to teach others. "We've got to train them before they can instruct others," said Price.

With 5,000 TRA members in 21 chapters (zones) in Texas, TRA is biting off a big chunk of training. But by getting core people in each chapter to provide training, Price thinks the job can get done.

James M. Doughty, Jr., director of the State Health Department's Food and Drug Division says, "I'm enthused with the interest shown by the Texas Restaurant Association in its training program and think it is a good approach. It is an excellent way to reach more people in the food service industry."

Food hygiene has long been a concern of health officials. Training programs for food service personnel formerly were carried out statewide from the State Health Department's Austin headquarters. But with recent activation of Health Department regions, active courses for food handlers and others are given regionally or at the local level by trained sanitarians.

Customers, the federal government and state and local health departments have renewed their demands for better food service, says Giles Spillar, the Restaurant Association's educational directors.

Outbreaks of food poisonings some of them involving scores of persons—are reported periodically. Often it is incidents at large gatherings, where food may be prepared in advance and improperly cooled and stored, which gain press coverage.

"Publicity from the news media on bad sanitary habits in food service has hurt in other states and in some parts of our own state," said Spillar. "Adverse coverage of bad sanitation practices can create a bad image and hurt the restaurant business," he said.

Spillar is a man who can tell it like it is in talking to restaurant owners and personnel. He learned the restaurant business from the ground up. Spillar managed the famous Night Hawk Restaurant on South Congress in Austin before accepting the education-training position with the statewide Texas Restaurant Association. His 39 years of front-line food service experience commands attention.

State Health Department personnel welcome the increased training activities of the Texas Restaurant Association and believe it is another forward step in looking after the health of all Texans. The Health Department will continue its training programs and expects to see the results of the TRA's work in future sanitary inspections once the TRA program has gone statewide.

The TRA program will use a teaching booklet from Texas A&M University, slides, films and film strips in its presentations. And it has quizzes on foodborne diseases and sanitary food service for participants in the course. This will effectively measure the success of the course.

By Jack House, The Director, Teacher's Scotch Information Centre

I'LL TAK' THE LOW ROAD

One of the most famous of all Scottish songs is "The Bonnie, Bonnie Banks o' Loch Lomond." It refers to the sides of the loch and not to any financial establishments in the neighborhood.

The chorus goes—
Oh, ye'll tak' the high road
and I'll tak' the low road,
And I'll be in Scotland be-fore ye.

Why should taking the low road be quicker than taking the high road? Teacher's Scotch Information Centre comes up promptly with the answer.

The real story of the famous song is of a supporter of Bonnie Prince Charlie and the Jacobite cause who had been captured and was being hanged at the Border town of Carlisle.

The superstition among Highlanders is that the soul of a man who meets sudden death in this way will travel rapidly under the ground to Tir-nan-Og, the Heaven in the Highlands. That is "the low road."

But his companions, who have seen their fellow Jacobite executed, have to take the high road back to Scotland, and they will arrive there a long time after the dead man's spirit.

With this information you can really say that Scottish spirits are fast!

In England, dill has been used to stop hiccupping!

FIRE ANT COLONY CALLS IT HOME—Around 100,000 fierce fire ants may live in a mound of this size which begins with one queen and takes three years to reach two to three feet in height. According to Agriculture Commissioner John C. White, the ants infest more than 20 million acres in Texas. They can ruin pasture and hay, destroy small animals and have been known to attack human beings.

Sonora Teachers Attend ASU Orientation

Dr. and Mrs. Joe R. Andrews and Mr. and Mrs. Smith Neal were among some 100 area public school officials and spouses who attended an orientation program October 26 on the campus of Angelo State University in San Angelo.

Andrews is superintendent of Sonora ISD and Neal is principal of Sonora Junior High.

The public school personnel were attending an annual program entitled "Area School Administrator's Evening on Campus." The basic purpose of the program is that of familiarizing the school officials with programs and features of Angelo State.

The campus visitors were the guests of the university at a reception and dinner in the Houston Harte University Center. Following the dinner, they viewed a special presentation on the university featuring a 10 minute color slide program that covered all aspects of the university.

Special guests at the dinner were State Senator and Mrs. W. E. (Pete) Snelson of Midland and their children, and State Rep. and Mrs. Tom Massey of San Angelo.

Jacoby Elected To Alpha Pi Mu

Mark Jacoby was elected to Alpha Pi Mu, an engineering society, at Texas Tech University in Lubbock, where he is working on his Master's Degree.

Jacoby, son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Jacoby, is past president of AIEE, an industrial engineering club, and is a member of the engineering student council.

Hunters Chosen To Hunt Wildlife Areas

Some 995 Texas deer hunters found a way to beat the ever-rising price of a deer lease.

They put their names in the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department's public drawing for hunts on six wildlife management areas around the state.

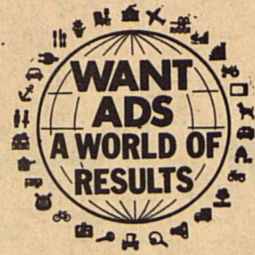

The names were selected from more than 15,000 applicants in a public drawing October 10 in the John H. Reagan Building in Austin. Department officials also drew an additional 260 names above the number which will be allowed to hunt to cover any possible no-shows.

Wildlife management areas open to hunting this fall include the Black Gap and Sierra Diablo in West Texas, the Chaparral in South Texas, Engeling in East Texas, Gene Howe in the Panhandle and Kerr in the Hill Country.

Officials say that those selected to hunt on one of the areas will be notified by mail of the dates they are scheduled to hunt and asked to remit a $20 fee for two days of hunting. Alternates also will be notified by the department and those not selected will have their cards returned.

The first hunts are slated for November 16 on the Kerr, Chaparral and Engeling areas.

Fortified foods have one or more nutrients added so that the food contains more of the nutrients than was present originally before processing, according to Frances Reasonover, foods and nutrition specialist, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Teen Scene

By Linda Behrens

This week has been a busy one at high school with seniors getting final arrangements on magazine sales. Which, by the way, the girls nearly doubled the boys with money. So Scooter is really feeling the "Smack" of a cream pie!

SHS

At the junior high pep rally they tried something different. The cheerleaders dressed up as football players and played a "mini" game. The boys acted the part of "sexy" cheerleaders. Everyone had a lot of fun and excitement ran through the crowd and players alike. Keep up the good work, Colts!

SHS

Congratulations to the Junior Varsity on their defeat of the Big Lake J.V. The Broncos scored in the second quarter on a pass from John Elliott to Craig Parker. The extra point pass went to Gregg Parker. The touchdown was set up by a pass from Elliott to Zeke Gamez. The Broncos scored once again on a pass play from Elliott to Gregg Parker. This touchdown was set up by a 47 yard catch by Jeff Doran.

Outstanding offensive players were John Elliott, Jeff Doan, Scott Brasher, Gregg Parker, Craig Parker and Zeke Gamez. Outstanding defensive players consisted of Garry Jones, Larry Jones, Tommy Valliant, John Elliott, Mark Hemphill and Jimmy Black.

SHS

The Home and Family Class instructed by Mrs. Prugel, sold pigs-in-a-blanket in order to earn a little money and try to help some famished kids between classes.

SHS

The Bachelor Survival class traveled to the Herbert Fields chicken farm last week. Everyone seemed to enjoy the trip except Chris Mathews, who seemed to get "something" on his shoes. Chris, consider yourself lucky to learn early about such tragedies that man must come in contact with.

SHS

Several weeks ago the junior high school elected class favorites. Chosen from the 8th grade were Jenni Smithart and Billy Bob Galbreath.

Linda Smith and Pete Gomez were elected by the 7th grade and the 6th graders chose Annabelle Gonzales and David Creek.

SHS

This week seemed to get just a little hectic because of school pictures. Monday was the setting for the senior portraits, followed Tuesday morning by cap and gown pictures. The junior high class pictures were taken Tuesday also with the elementary students posing for their prints on Wednesday.

SHS

I would like to take this time to congratulate the mighty Broncos for a game well played. But this is just the beginning. Keep up the good work and go all the way!

The band is busy once again getting the roughspots out of a new routine. But they will come out shining.

Junior Varsity Takes 16-0 Win

Sonora's junior varsity football team traveled to Big Lake Saturday morning to play the Owls in a game that was postponed Thursday night due to heavy rains that fell during the day.

Sonora's scoring began early in the second quarter on a pass play from John Elliott to Craig Parker with the extra point pass from Elliott to Greg Parker.

Early in the third quarter, Elliott tossed a 47 yard pass to J. Doan to put the Broncos within one yard of the goal line. Elliott carried the ball across to add another six points to the score. A pass play to Greg Parker added the two extra points and the game ended with a 16 to 0 win for the Junior Broncos.

Outstanding offensive players in the game were Elliott, Doan, Brasher, Craig Parker, Greg Parker and Zeke Gamez. Jones, Valliant, Elliott, Hemphill, Black and G. Jones showed good defensive work in the game.

Members of the Christain Church in the Sonora area are invited to attend these services - - others not attending any church are also invited.

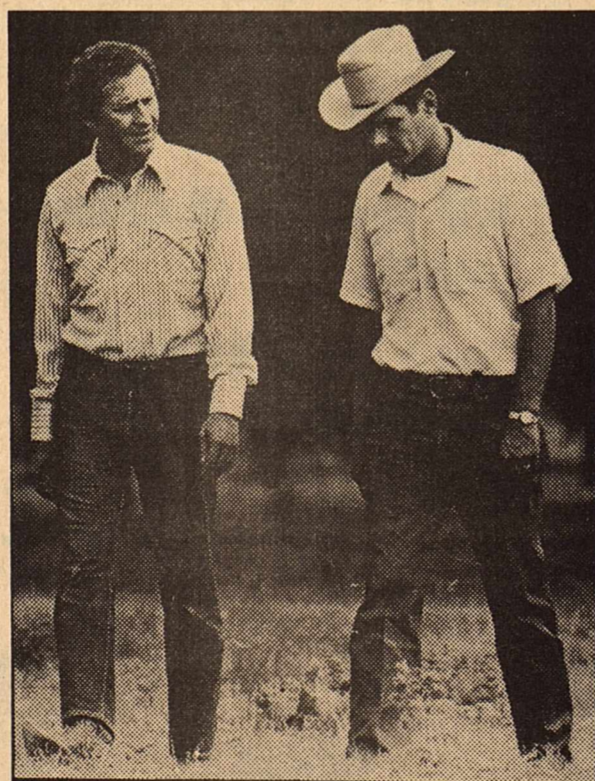

Coming from a small town, Bob Krueger is independent, straight-talking, and conservative-minded.

We can trust him to work on the REAL problems facing all Americans.

Inflation is a problem that can't be covered up. Krueger believes that we've paid a high enough price for irresponsible fiscal management. No one man can solve all the problems, but one honest, independent congressman can make a difference.

Krueger believes that we must:

- Balance the Federal budget.
- Oppose the Administration's 5% sur tax on the already overtaxed middle income families.
- Stop the selling of wheat to Russia at ridiculously low prices.
- Re-impose important regulations on foreign beef.
- Eliminate excessive "paper work" on small businesses.
- Return to a supply and demand economy.

The kind of man we need in Washington.

You know, the worse inflation gets the more we need somebody like Briscoe. He's created a lot of good jobs and he knows how to get things started.

We need new jobs and more income in this state and Governor Briscoe is helping us get them.

In times like these when the economy is so shaky, I'm going to stay with Governor Briscoe.

Briscoe's kept pace without adding new taxes - I voted Republican in 1972, but I'm voting for Briscoe this time.

It's quite refreshing for me to know that we have a man like Dolph Briscoe... a man who puts integrity before all things....

They all promised no new taxes; Dolph Briscoe kept his promise.

Dolph Briscoe's proved he has the contacts and the know how to bring new business to the State of Texas. We can't afford to lose him at a critical time like this.

I think Dolph Briscoe is a Governor you can believe in. I'm looking forward to voting for him in November.

Highway Dept. Hosts Golf Tourney Monday

The team of Bob Harris, Carl Runge and Frank Jordon of San Angelo, Butch Gray of Ballinger and James Alexander of Sonora were first flight winners in the Texas Highway Department's Golf Tournament held Monday. The first place team had a score of 62.

45 state employees, their families and friends, participated in the tournament held at the Sonora Golf Course Monday.

Second flight winners, with a score of 63, were Winston Koerth of Ozona, Bob Robinson of San Angelo, Harry Bergman of Kerrville, Gene Hirschfeld of San Angelo and Keith Taliaferro. Jerry Ramirez, Danny Olin and Sid Awat of San Angelo, Leslie Cole of Sterling City and Chris Reeve of Ozona, held third place.

In fourth place were Steve Page of Ozona, J. B. Arrott of Ballinger, Cullen Luttrell, Nolan Johnson and Elaine Donaldson. Third and fourth place winners both held scores of 66.

Butch Gray of Ballinger won a dozen golf balls, donated by Ken Braden, Motors, Inc., for having the closest drive to the pin on hole # 9. Winner of the $25 saving bond from Sonora's First National Bank, was Bruce Land of San Angelo.

Following the tournament, approximately 100 golfers, family and friends, were served a hamburger supper.

Sonoran's Brother Part of Task Force To Aid Honduras

H. E. Crawford of Brady, brother of Doyle Crawford, is part of an eight man task force helping to feed up to 12,000 homeless people a day in hurricane-ravaged Honduras through the facilities of Texas Baptists' disaster relief mobile unit.

Crawford left last week to minister to flood and storm victims in the South American country.

The truck and crew has been ready to roll since Hurricane Fifi struck Honduras in mid-September and Mrs. Rosagentina Pinel Smith, Honduras consul in San Antonio, appealed to Texas Baptists for help.

Recent heavy rains have deluged Honduras, compounding the problems for the hard-hit country.

The primary function of the emergency relief unit and crew will be to feed the hungry and homeless people. Food is being taken in aboard the truck and arrangements have been made where food can be purchased nearby.

The unit, a self-contained tractor-trailer rig, has a complete kitchen, refrigeration, generators and shortwave radio equipment.

Funds to support the massive relief program are being raised among Texas Baptists.

The unit was driven across Mexico and Belize—formerly British Honduras— and out aboard an oil company barge for the final leg of the journey.

The effort marks the first time Texas Baptist relief workers have been involved in an international relief effort. Previously the unit has been used in emergency relief in stricken areas of Texas.

Eldo. Sorority To Sponsor Carnival Oct. 30

The Xi Xi Chi chapter of Beta Sigma Phi sorority is sponsoring Eldorado's annual Halloween carnival at 6:30 p.m., Wednesday, October 30 in the Eldorado Memorial Building.

The sorority is manning the spook house, concession stand, balloon throw and bingo stand. Other organizations are sponsoring booths such as apple bobbin', cake walk, tamale sale, craft booth, ball throw and popcorn sale.

Proceeds from the carnival will be used by the sorority for local and state service projects.

Public Hearings Held On Revision of Ordinances

Two public hearings have been held recently regarding the revisions of two city ordinances.

The city's planning and zoning committee met October 24 at the 4-H Center to make recommendations on the revisions to be presented to members of the City Government. These revisions regarding sub divisions and zoning ordinances were heard Monday night at the courthouse by members of the City Council and other interested citizens. It was decided that revisions of both ordinances would be made according to discussion held.

Before passage of these revisions are made however, another hearing will be held and council members stated that any interested party may go to the city hall and read the contents of both revisions or may pay to have their own copy made.

Special Education Services Provided For Children With Learning Problems

Special education services are provided for Sonora's students by a special education co-op unit composed of the school districts of Menard, Eldorado, Junction, Nueces Canyon, Rocksprings, Comstock and Sonora. The co-op unit is a part of the State Minimum Foundation Program

S S REPRESENTATIVE SETS NOVEMBER VISIT

Harold Tabor, social security representative for the San Angelo Social Security Office has scheduled his November visit to Sonora. He will be at the County Courthouse on Thursday, November 21 from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m.

Anyone desiring to file a claim for benefits, get information or transact other business with the Social Security Administration may contact him at this time.

DENNIS NANCE JOINS NAVY

Dennis Nance, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland Nance, is stationed in Orlando, Florida, where he will remain during six weeks at the Naval Training Camp.

and was authorized by Senate Bill 230, 61st Legislature. The co-op unit operates under the direction of an advisory committee composed of the districts' superintendents.

The co-op unit has a budget of $236,484.00 to provide the salaries of sixteen teachers, seven teacher aides, and three supportive staff, operation costs of the unit and supplies and materials for the students.

The co-op provides two teachers and one teacher's aide for Sonora. Mrs. Lorenza Solis works with grades K-6 and Mr. Ben Solis works with students in grades 7-12. Mrs. Oleta Kellogg is the teacher's aide.

In addition to the instructional staff, the co-op provides a special education supervisor, counselor and diagnostician for the district plus educational supplies and materials for the students.

The purpose of the co-op is to assist the local district in meeting the needs of children with learning disabilities. This is a fine program and parents are urged to cooperate with the principal, teachers and special education program staff.
