Davis Construction Company Gets Water Loop Contract

The City of Sonora entered into a contract with Birl Davis, Incorporated when city aldermen met at the city hall Monday. The contract is for construction of the South Water Loop that will supply water for a city water well located near the local hospital. This additional water service was proposed to alleviate the city's water problem during the summer months when usage is at a maximum.

Davis' low bid was $20,990.90, as opposed to the highest bid from H. B. Zachry Company in the amount of $52,325.02. Six other bids were received.

The water loop extends from the Tommy Thorp hill to Highway 277 South. Construction should be complete in 90 days.

City aldermen and County commissioners agreed on a joint purchase of a rural fire truck. The truck is of military design and is complete with a 750 gallon capacity water tank. Cost of the truck is $3,500, to be divided equally between the county and city.

City aldermen also entered into a contract with Carter Johnson of Rauscher Pierce Securities Corporation, to do a feasibility study of financing water and sewer improvements in the city. This study consists of the probable recommendation of $280,000 in water improvement revenue bonds and sewer general obligation bonds in the amount of $85,000.

Joe David Ross, representing the Sonora Park Association, met with the council concerning the public park proposal at the race track area. Plans for the park include tennis courts, rodeo arena, softball diamonds and picnic area. The council voted to be the sponsoring group for application of the project.

THE DEVIL'S RIVER PHILOSOPHER SEZ.....

He Sees No Need To Protect People From Outlandish TV Commercials

Editor's note: The Devil's River Philosopher on his bitterweed ranch on the Dry Devil's River looks at TV commercials this week, or something.

Dear editor:

That government that governs least is not necessarily the best, any more than the one that governs the most is. Somewhere in between there ought to be some sort of a happy medium, but it doesn't look like it's being struck.

For instance, the governmental agency that regulates television has come out with a ruling that's going to throw a monkey wrench in TV commercials. If two women are comparing detergents, it says, and pretending to be next-door neighbors but in reality are actors, then the commercial has got to say so. If a man claims his wife whom he loves very much eats right, exercises and takes two of those tablets every day to make sure the patent medicine company makes money, then, I suppose, she really has to take two of the things every day, plus exercising and eating right. And if her husband stops loving her I suppose she's got to get one that does or drop the commercial.

I don't understand such rulings. If women can be taken in by two hired actors praising soap, there's not a governmental agency in the universe smart enough to devise a law to protect them. If they start taking two tablets a day because some bright-eyed actress claims she does, let em.

If you're going to have complete honesty on television, the next step of course would be to require Marshal Dillon to use live bullets. And when a villain swerves his car off a State Representative Susan McBee and Senator Pete Snelson look on as Governor Dolph Briscoe signs into law a bill introduced in the House by Mrs. McBee and sponsored in the Senate by Snelson. The law provides that in sparsely populated counties the Commissioners Courts may establish voting precincts of less than 100 voters. The Law becomes effective 90 days after being signed by the Governor.

Conservation . . . Key To The Future

Will Wallace's conservation essay was submitted for national judging recently. Will was first place senior winner in local competition.

By Will Wallace

This is the only world we have to live in. If there is no world there can be no future. We must conserve our natural resources. Our soil is so precious to us. It nourishes our human bodies with the food we get from it. If we waste our soil we will not have good food for if the soil is depleted of minerals, we also are depleted of minerals. We can do things to keep our soil better. Such as crop rotation, fertilizers, pesticides, and wind breaks to prevent erosion. Without the soil the human race would starve to death.

The water we drink is vital to our future. It keeps our vegetation alive for us to eat as well as for other animals to eat. Water keeps us alive. If we don't conserve this precious liquid the entire world would be in a bind with no future.

Trees and plants do much more than just sit in the ground. Plants provide the people and animals with food. They also hold down our precious topsoil. Trees provide us with our homes, furniture, pencils, even this paper I'm writing on and much, much more.

The air we breathe is just as important as the trees, plants, water and soil. We must breathe this air to live. The plants must have this to survive.

So, as you see, it's just one big chain. If we waste our precious resources we are in bad shape. If one living thing is deprived of a resource we all must suffer the consequences so, we must conserve this place of ours or there will be no future.

Our News Letter

By Bob Krueger

While travelling in the district last weekend, I was struck by two repeated refrains. One was the strong support and respect for the President's decisive action in recovering our sailors. I commend the President for that action. The second was the echo of what I have been hearing for a long time: the desire of the American people for strong leadership.

The task of providing sustained national leadership is not demonstrated in a single action, but is a long-term undertaking. The national leaders we have most respected, in our nation and other nations—people like Lincoln, Washington, Churchill—have asked their fellow countrymen not to give less, but to give more than they would normally give to their nation. Leaders must speak from a strong sense of their own inner spiritual resources, and they must tap that well of inner spiritual strength that allows them to hold firmly to basic principles when confusing events would tend to distract others. Leaders, in our nation and in other nations, who have succeeded have done so because they responded to an awareness of their inner potential, and the potential of all mankind. Moreover, because they recognize an inner bond among all mankind, they are able to call out our best hopes and our finest action.

The reservoir of goodness is waiting in the American people. If, instead of asking our people to consume more, our leaders at the national, state, and local levels will help people to discover what they can offer their nation, our country will be propelled in new and positive directions as we look toward our bicentennial year. That would be to our shared advantage.

The number of births is headed up again. The main reason is that the number of women of child bearing age is the highest ever - yet women are having fewer children than before, reports Dorothy Taylor, family life education specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Another Fine Texas Recipe

WHOLE WHEAT BREAD

- 1 package active dry yeast
- 1 1/2 cups lukewarm water
- 1 1/2 cups milk
- 1 1/2 tsp. salt
- 3 Tbsp. brown sugar
- 3 Tbsp. shortening
- 6-7 cups unsifted whole wheat flour

Dissolve yeast in lukewarm water. Scald milk and pour in large bowl. Add salt, brown sugar and shortening to scalded milk. Stir until sugar dissolves. When milk mixture has cooled to lukewarm, add yeast mixture. Gradually add whole wheat flour. Stir well after each addition as whole wheat flour absorbs water slowly. When dough is stiff enough to handle, turn it onto a floured board and knead thoroughly, gradually adding as much of remainder of flour as necessary. Try to keep dough soft by kneading in only enough flour to keep it from sticking. All-purpose flour can be used when kneading. Place dough in well-greased bowl and let rise 2-3 hours or until doubled in warm place. Punch down and shape into 2 loaves. Place in greased 9 x 5-inch loaf pans and allow to rise until almost doubled, about 2 hours, still keeping dough warm. Bake at 325 degrees for 1 1/2 hours, or until loaves sound hollow when tapped with fingers. Remove from pans and cool on wire rack.

KOLACHES

- 1/2 cup butter or shortening
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1 tsp. salt
- 3/4 cup scalded milk
- 1/2 cup water
- 1 cake compressed yeast (or 1 package dry granular yeast dissolved as directed on package)
- 1 egg
- 4 cups sifted flour

Cool milk to lukewarm by adding water. Combine butter, sugar and salt with milk. Add yeast and mix well. Blend in egg. Gradually add sifted flour mix until blended. Roll out 1/4 inch thick on well-floured board; cut with 2 1/2 inch round cutter. Place on greased baking sheet. Let rise in warm place (80-85 degrees) until double in bulk, about 1 hour. Press indentation in center of each bun. Place pitted, cooked prune or peach clipped in nuts in each indentation. Bake in 350-degree oven 20 minutes.

Topping

- 1/2 cup flour
- 2 Tbsp. or more melted or soft butter
- 2 Tbsp. sugar
- 1/2 tsp. cinnamon

Mix ingredients. Crumble on top of each bun.

Six Flags, Inc. Takes Over Astroworld

Six Flags, Inc. announced recently that it is assuming the management and operation of Houston's Astroworld theme park.

Ned P. DeWitt, president of Six Flags, said his company has entered into a twenty-year lease with Astrodome Corporation, owners of the property. The terms of the agreement call for a graduated scale of lease payments. Six Flags also has an option to renew the lease for an additional ten years. The lease includes approximately forty-five acres of undeveloped property surrounding the park.

If she has kept up with the course all term, she'll not flunk because of this nap. BUT - if she is counting on the midnight oil to pull her through the exam . . . Too bad!

You've heard of people being converted to Christianity on their deathbed. True! As Christ promised salvation to a penitent thief on the cross, so God's love reaches out even in the final hour to those who call on Him in faith.

But don't live your life on the dangerous principle that last-minute cramming will satisfy all your religious needs.

There will be millions of adults and children in church next Sunday. They are seeking spiritual truth, gaining Christian convictions . . . not because they need some religion to die with - because they need Faith to live by.

Pecans Trees Should Be Examined For Presence Of Nut Casebearer Eggs

Pecan trees are rapidly recovering from the freezing weather of March and homeowners and orchardists should begin to examine developing nutlets for the presence of pecan nut casebearer eggs. The greenish-white to reddish colored casebearer egg is usually laid on the base of the developing nutlet and is barely visible to the naked eye. Eggs hatch three to five days after being laid by the light gray colored casebearer moth. Warm, still nights are particularly conducive to moth activity and pecan producers should be aware of environmental conditions that favor moth flight and egg laying activities.

The worm, or larval, stage of the casebearer is regarded as the most serious early season pest of pecans. A single casebearer larva can frequently destroy an entire cluster of nuts. In addition, each adult moth is capable of laying in excess of 150 eggs. Damaged nutlets soon darken and bits of grass and webbing may be observed projecting from the injured nuts. Several insecticides are available to the homeowner for pecan nut casebearer control with a wider selection of insecticides being labeled for commercial use. Pecan producers may want to incorporate zinc sulfate and a fungicide with their pecan nut casebearer insecticide to control disease and improve the general nutritional state of their trees.

REDDY'S HELPFUL FREEZER TIPS

Lock in flavor: Use moisture and vapor-proof materials especially designed for freezers to wrap your foods. Tightly sealed, these lock in flavor and moisture and prevent "freezer burn" (surface drying) on foods. Don't use wax paper, bread paper or regular cellophane for freezer foods.

Label packages: Date and identify freezer packages so (1) you don't accumulate a lot of mysterious shapes and (2) you'll be able to pick out foods that have been in the freezer longest.

Take advantage of sales: Avoid overstocking with commercially frozen food that's always available; use your freezer as your own bargain counter and store foods you can buy on sale. But do allow space for short-time baked goods, leftovers and special party foods.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Missing Letter

There is something reassuring about the click of the mailbox latch, as your important letter slides down and out of sight. Whether you are making an insurance payment or meeting a tax deadline or completing a business deal, you feel relief: "Well, that's taken care of."

But what if the other party, perhaps weeks or months afterward, insists that your letter never arrived? If it came to a showdown in court, how would you stand?

Fortunately, the law offers you a helping hand in the form of a "presumption." That is, the law will presume that the letter did arrive, provided you had the correct amount of postage and the correct address. As one court explained:

"It is a presumption founded on the probability that (postal employees) will do their duty."

Furthermore, you may get the benefit of the presumption even if the letter was not placed directly into a mailbox. One court applied the presumption to a letter handed to a mailman (while on duty). Another court applied it to a letter dropped into the mail chute of an office building.

However, there are limits. The presumption was denied when a man simply left some mail in an open lobby, in the expectation that the mailman would eventually pick it up.

Furthermore, like most presumptions, this one is subject to being defeated if there is sufficient evidence against it.

In one case, an embattled debtor claimed to have mailed an important legal notice to the office of his creditors. But in a court hearing, both partners in the firm took the witness stand and solemnly swore that the notice had never been received. Then their bookkeeper took the stand and swore the same thing.

This testimony was enough to convince the court that the letter had indeed failed to reach its destination. It was more likely, said the court, either that the debtor had neglected to put it in the mail or that the post office had—for once—neglected to do its duty.

Texas Is Hosting Two Different Growing Screwworm Populations

"We seem to have two different screwworm populations in Texas," says Dr. James E. Novy, director of field operations for the U. S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) Screwworm Eradication Program.

One is growing from the South Texas over-wintering area. The other is "spearing" into the Trans-Pecos and Hill Country region. This strong invasion is bolstered by increasing populations of this parasite of all warm blooded animals south of the Rio Grande River in Mexico's State of Coahuila.

and Hill Country with weekly rains of a half inch or more have created an environment favorable to the screwworm fly. Stormy conditions and heavy "smaze" have severely hampered aerial distribution of sterile screwworm flies.

Novy comments that the screwworm population in Texas' eight southernmost counties is statistically losing ground as reports of cases farther north in the state increase.

Counties recording their first officially confirmed cases of the year during the first half of May were: Bandera, Blanco, Bee, Coryell, Crockett, Gillespie, Hamilton, Kendall, Maverick, Pecos, Presidio, Sutton, Terrell, and Zavala. Forty-nine Texas counties had laboratory confirmed infestations by May 16.

A Bishop Looks at Life

Where Is The Backbone of America?

I have a friend who is a sculptor. His name is Malcolm Alexander, and he is the stepson of Mrs. Donald Alexander of San Antonio.

In the past Malcolm has made a name for himself both as a painter and as the creator in bronze of athletes in action. (One of his athletic figures was given to the late Avery Brundage, former chairman of the Olympic Committee, on his 85th birthday and will soon be placed in the Olympic Museum in Olympia, Greece.)

Malcolm is now making his contribution to the Bicentennial celebration of America thru a new series of sculptures called "The Backbone of America." He explains the project in these words: "America needed a Washington, a Jefferson, a Lincoln and all the other leaders. But America also needed the unknown and unsung working people who pioneered, struggled, and set the course of the nation and its heritage."

One of his pieces in the new series is called "The Washerwoman." It shows the pioneer woman bending over her washboard set in the wooden tub so common in early America. Of this piece, he says: "Here is the wife, mother, lover, who worked silently and alone in the shadow of her man. Her strength is not only in the character that holds the family together—her role is the selfless 'keeper of the flame' in the home, the citadel of America."

Another piece is called "The Birth of the Blues." It depicts two black men, one older and one younger in a relaxed pose on the New Orleans docks. The young one is playing a battered old coronet, and the old one is clutching his cherished harmonica.

"The old man was once a slave," says Malcolm. "He worked and sang the songs of the conditions of his lot as he worked in the fields. His music came from Africa, later to develop into the early black spirituals, a necessary ingredient for keeping his spirit alive. Now he hears a young dock worker playing his coronet—new sounds evolve from this young man's head—music influenced by the funeral dirge and the marching band. Both men listen to the sounds of the other—it is 'the birth of the blues.'"

As I responded to Malcolm's figures and his interpretation of them I asked myself these questions: Who are the persons that represent the backbone of America today? What can we do to recognize and honor these persons during our Bicentennial? How can I in some way be part of the backbone of America?
