School Enrollment Continues To Grow

The school enrollment continues to grow. The enrollment now totals 1,114 with 562 in the elementary grades, 284 in Jr. High and 268 in high school. Although the school district has built additional classrooms and is using rooms not previously used for classrooms, the growth is being felt in the classrooms and on the playgrounds.

If the growth trend continues, the enrollment will exceed the capacity of the high school in 1979. The estimated capacity of the schools, based on 25 pupils to a room, is 625 for the elementary grades, 300 for Jr. High and 369 for high school.

Since 1970, the enrollment has increased 31.3 percent. The largest percent of increase was in the years 1973 and 1974 when the increases were 9.6 percent and 12.4 percent respectively.

If the growth trend continues, the school district must give thought to the acquisition of additional property, says Dr. Joe Andrews, superintendent of schools.

Brandon, Lucy Morriss, Jane Wallace, Lorraine Creek, Ree Dine Hill, Abby Sanchez, Kelly Ward, Cindy Favila, Denita Mobley and Darrell Mobley, Rebecca Sisk, Jennie Wilson, Donna Schaffner, Emily Elliott, David Jennings, Nora Galindo, Cody Savell, Linda Smith, Craig Cooper, Mickey Mooney and Joyce Noriega.

Receiving honorable mention were Terri Simpler, Gary Wuest and Stephen Terry.

Grass Fire Near Thorp Residence Fought Monday

A grass fire broke out Monday around noon near the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Thorp. Firemen and a number of volunteer oil-related company men with equipment, fought the blaze for nearly two hours before bringing it under control.

The fire that began to the south of the residence, destroyed approximately three acres of grassland on the hillside, and a greenhouse belonging to the Thorps, located only a few feet from the residence.

Two Sonora fire trucks were in Eldorado fighting a fire at the time and had to be called back. The efforts of many oil and construction companies in town as well as local townspeople, prevented the blaze from reaching the Thorp residence.

30th Annual Speech Meet Gets Underway Friday

Twenty-five schools are expected to participate when the 30th annual Sonora Speech Tournament gets underway Friday for two days of forensics.

Visiting students, who will be housed by local residents, will be entertained Friday night with a dance at the 4-H Center. The all-school dance will host a live band. A barbecue supper, hosted by the Sonora Lions Club, will be held for visiting participants and local speech department students, prior to the dance.

The awards program is scheduled for 6:30 Saturday night in the elementary auditorium, according to Mrs. Edwina Braden, speech and drama teacher.

Judging events will be various persons in town as well as school faculty. Speech department students will be in charge of the meet and serve as timekeepers.

The speech tournament was first held March 1 and 2, 1946 under the direction of Mr. W. W. Weant, who was speech teacher at that time. 25 schools participated in the debate tournament and again townspeople were judges and also housed the visiting students.

A party at the Hunt ranch was held on Friday night with students spending the night at the ranch.

On Saturday night, during the awards presentation and dance, the Sonora Speech Class presented a floor show billed as a "Killer Diller".

Those Sonora students entering the debating contest during that first meet were Charles Lee Cusenbary, Sue Frenzel, Mary Jim Caldwell, John Allen Ward, Polly Allen, James Hunt and Joyce Johnson.

Ninety Years of Living Enjoyed by Pioneer Lady

By Shirley Hill

Attractive, entertaining, amusing and 90 years young. There are many, many more adjectives one could use to describe Mrs. Jim Cauthorn... a pioneer lady who celebrated her 90th birthday Monday, when numerous friends and neighbors came by to enjoy birthday cake and pass the time of day.

Still active in church activities at the First Baptist Church, where she holds the honor of having passed the most years, she enjoys reading, watching television and helping around the kitchen. Her daughter, Mrs. Rip Ward, says all the fancy cutting, dicing and shaping done for her parties, dinners and such like, are done by her mother.

Mrs. Cauthorn came to live with her daughter and son-in-law in 1960 when Mr. Cauthorn's health began to fail. She is one of the fortunate ones who does not suffer from loneliness as she not only enjoys the company of her daughter and son-in-law, but her grandson and granddaughter-in-law, Cynthia and Albert Ward, and the activities and antics of three great-grandchildren, Cathy, Gus and Kelly Ward.

Born February 9, 1886 in Eddy New Mexico to Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Earwood, Mrs. Cauthorn was one of nine children. At the age of three months, she and her family moved to Kimble County, Texas where she lived for a number of years. She began school there and said she and her brothers and sisters walked four miles each morning and afternoon to attend the nearest school.

They later moved to what is now the Wheat Ranch, later to the Carr Ranch, (now part of Turney ranchland) where her father worked for Mr. George Hamilton. From there she walked to what is the Paul Turney ranch to attend school. The family then again moved, this time to the John Putnam ranch, owned by her grandfather. From there she attended school in Rocksprings, living in Rocksprings with Judge and Mrs. Huff, for whom she worked for her room and board. Working for the Huffs consisted of washing lots of dishes and attending babies, she added.

Her first teaching job came at the Cauthorn Ranch where she taught the younger Cauthorn children at the ranch, arriving Monday morning and leaving for home on Friday evenings, making the trip both ways by horseback. There she met another Cauthorn...Jim...who was an older brother of her students.

As the romance progressed, Mr. Cauthorn would escort her 14 miles home on Friday evenings. At that time Jim had a horse he called "Go Devil". The young teacher...whose love was and still is, horses... desired more than anything to ride "Go Devil". She finally got her opportunity one evening when Jim dismounted to open a gate and she took this opportunity to show the young rancher her ability as a horsewoman. She smiled while remembering that Jim said the reason she married him was to get his horse.

On August 2, 1905 Miss Earwood became the bride of Jim Cauthorn in ceremonies performed at the office of Judge Huff in Rocksprings.

Her first car...a gift from her husband...was an Oldsmobile which had more power than she was accustomed to and she laughingly said that was the most fun she'd had since getting to ride "Go Devil".

The Cauthorns resided at their ranch home some 20 miles south of Sonora, until the time of Mr. Cauthorn's illness. Grandson Albert and his family now operate and live on the ranch.

Mr. Cauthorn died in May, 1966 at the age of 94 years.

Only a small part of the many interesting and amusing things related by this lady are covered in the above paragraphs. But as with most of the older generation, I could have spent numerous hours listening to her reminiscing of her life with her parents, her brothers and sisters, and mostly her life today, where she plays a major part in the home of her daughter and son-in-law, striving to make her remaining years valuable to her family, friends and to herself.

...MRS. JIM CAUTHORN 90 years young and still likes to spend her time in the kitchen.

THE DEVIL'S RIVER PHILOSOPHER SEZ.....

He Has Some Doubts About Extent of Federal Judge's Power

Editors note: The Devil's River Philosopher on his bitterweed ranch on the Dry Devil's River may be in contempt of court this week, but that's his worry, not ours.

Dear Editor:
Everybody knows Federal judges, appointed for life by whoever's President if they happen to be a member of his party, have a lot of power and authority.

If a law is unclear, you get a Federal judge to step in and tell you what it is, or what it's going to be from then on. If there's some question about say, school bus routes in Boston, a Federal judge can straighten things out, give or take a few thousand kids this side of town or the other.

Federal judges, who never have to run for office, can nonetheless tell you how you've got to.

Now I'm not complaining about this, the country needs somebody with authority to speak out and lay down some rules once in awhile, if more parents had done that with their children it's possible more children would have turned out better than their parents, but there's bound to be a limit to how much power a Federal judge has and I believe I have run across such a case.

When Friday came the first week of the Patty Hearst trial with only a handful of jurors selected out of a panel of 36, the judge told the rest, about 25 of them, to go home for the week-end and instructed them not to "read newspapers, watch television, listen to the radio or discuss the case."

This may be a case of the law falling apart in the face of human nature. If each of those 25 prospective jurors was a bachelor or an old maid--wait a minute, I'd better say single woman--living along, the judge's instructions might work, but if there are lots of other members of the family living there, somebody's going to be in contempt of court. Furthermore, what do you do if the people in the adjoining apartment have their radio on loud? Spend the week-end with the covers pulled over your head?

I believe if I were a Federal judge I'd rather stick to mapping bus routes in Boston.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

DISHWASHER

- ★ Clean the filter screen often. A clogged filter can reduce the efficiency of your dishwasher.
- ★ Use only detergents manufactured specifically for dishwashers. A wetting agent helps prevent water spots on glasses and silverware.
- ★ A dishwasher will usually hold a whole day's dishes. It takes as much hot water and energy to wash 1 dish as it does a full load. Stack your dishes out of sight in your dishwasher and wait until you have a full load to turn it on.

Committee On Aging Finds Permanent Meeting Place

The Sutton County Committee on aging is pleased to announce that through the generosity of W. S. Anderson & Son, Inc., they now have permanent facilities in Sonora in the Home Economics Room of the former Elliott School. This room will be utilized as a center for the 60 Plus Club and other needs of the residents 60 years and over of Sutton County.

Cleaning and renovation work is to start this Thursday. It is hoped to make this a comfortable and pleasant facility for eventual daily use. Your help is needed and would be greatly appreciated. This can be in many forms, such as cleaning, painting, donations of tables, chairs, games, cards, card tables, scraps of materials for quilts and any kind of craft supplies.

Further equipment for the center desired would be a television set, piano, pool table, radio and stereo. Urgent need is heating and air conditioning units.

The committee is a non-profit organization so any donations made are tax deductible.

The need is great for this type of facility and as Sutton County is known to be generous in aiding their citizens, it is hoped that all who can, will participate in donating time, work or money to make this outstanding community effort.

Further information can be obtained by calling Mrs. Hershel Davenport at 387-2768 or Mrs. Bobby Kinard at 387-2883, co-chairmen of Sutton County Committee on Aging, or Elvira Holquin, Sutton County Senior Citizen Outreach Worker at 387-3497.

Telly Savalas On Greek Cookery

Born Aristotle Savalas, Kojak star Telly Savalas has an ethnic background which qualifies him as an "expert" on authentic Greek cooking. Attempting to describe the special combination of subtle flavors and seasonings that gives dishes "their wonderful Greek-ness" Telly listed ingredients from some of his favorite dishes.

"There's honey for sweetness, along with lemon, mint, oregano and cinnamon as seasonings. All, of course, are carefully balanced."

Taking a break between rehearsals for a Greek dance segment to be featured on his television special airing February 18 on CBS-TV, Telly expressed a fondness for the following lamb recipe.

"Just serve it with some celery egg-lemon, potatoes a la Greque and chilled retsina" says Telly, "and I'll be right over."

Telly's Lamb Pallakari

1 4-5 lb. leg of lamb	2 garlic cloves, minced
Salt	2 tablespoons chopped parsley
Pepper	1/4 cup olive oil
1 tablespoon oregano leaves	1/2 cup lemon juice
2 teaspoons mint flakes	2 lbs. baby onions

Rub meat with salt and pepper; pierce on all sides with fork. Combine oregano, mint, garlic, parsley, oil and lemon juice; pour over meat. Cover; marinate in refrigerator overnight, turning occasionally. Simmer onions in enough water to cover, 5 minutes; drain. Place lamb and onions in roasting pan; brush with marinade. Roast at 350°, brushing occasionally with marinade, 2 1/2 to 3 hours or until meat thermometer registers 165° to 170°. Garnish with watercress and olives, if desired. 8 to 10 servings.

Telephone Customers May Sign Up For Company's Bank Draft Plan

General Telephone customers can save the increasing cost of postage involved in paying their telephone bill each month by signing up for the company's bank draft plan, according to Jack Goss, San Angelo Division manager.

Goss explained the convenient payment plan automatically pays a customer's telephone bill through the customer's bank each month at no extra cost or charge.

"Customers need only to call or come by our business office to obtain a bank draft agreement," Goss said. "Thereafter we will mail their monthly phone bill to them in the usual manner and they need only to deduct the amount from their bank balance. We do all the rest."

He said the customer would continue to review the statement and call the business office with any questions or errors that appeared on the statement. Credits for any erroneous charges would appear on the next month's statement as they presently do.

Carefree

People smile and turn around to look at them as they run down the street hand in hand. For this moment they are carefree with the exuberance of youth, with seemingly endless tomorrows stretching before them.

But, life being what it is, there comes an end to this sort of thing. Just now they are in love. If they stay in love, if they marry, responsibilities will follow.

If their love subsides, there will be the pain of separation . . . and perhaps a little heartbreak. Whatever happens there will be good times and bad.

Somewhere along the line they will need more than themselves. All of us do! If they have found the Church they will be lucky. Incidentally — have you found the Church?

COOKIES FOR VALENTINE'S DAY—Valentine's Day is a special day for people of all ages. For young children it means a party complete with lots of Valentines, and what's a party without a variety of homemade cookies? Honey Cookies, Orange Gumdrop Cookies and Honey Crunchies are sure to be favorites with children and adults, too, says the Texas Department of Agriculture home economist.

HONEY COOKIES
 2/3 cup shortening
 1/2 cup sugar
 1 cup Texas honey
 1 egg, beaten
 1/2 cup sour cream
 5 cups cake flour
 1 tsp. baking soda
 1 tsp. cinnamon
 1 tsp. nutmeg
 1/2 tsp. cloves
 1 tsp. salt

Cream shortening and sugar. Add honey and blend well. Sift dry ingredients and add to creamed mixture. This cookie dough can be rolled and cut in various shapes with cookie cutters, formed with a cookie press or dropped from a teaspoon. Bake on greased cookie sheets at 350 degrees for 15 minutes. Serve the cookies plain, decorate with frosting or before baking, sprinkle with colored sugar. Yield: approximately 10 dozen.

ORANGE GUMDROP COOKIES

1 cup shortening	1 tsp. baking soda
1 cup granulated sugar	1/2 tsp. salt
1 cup brown sugar (not packed)	2 cups quick-cooking oats
2 eggs	1-1/2 cups chopped Texas peanuts
1 tsp. vanilla	1 cup chopped orange gumdrop slices
2 cups flour
1 tsp. baking powder

Cream shortening and sugars. Add eggs and beat well. Add vanilla, flour, baking powder, soda and salt. Mix well. Add oats, peanuts and gumdrop slices. Drop by teaspoons onto greased cookie sheet. Bake in 325 degree oven for 10-12 minutes. Yield: 5-6 dozen.

HONEY CRUNCHIES

3 cups quick-cooking oats
 1 cup flaked coconut
 1 cup chopped pecans
 1 cup all-purpose flour
 1-1/2 cups brown sugar, firmly packed
 1 cup butter
 1/3 cup Texas honey

In large mixing bowl, combine oats, coconut, pecans and flour. Combine brown sugar, butter and honey in heavy saucepan and heat to boiling. Pour mixture over dry ingredients, mixing until well combined. Drop by teaspoons onto greased muffin cups. Bake at 350 degrees for 12-15 minutes or until browned. Cool in pans. Yield: 50 cookies.

A Bishop Looks At Life

By Everett H. Jones, Retired Bishop of Episcopal Church

EVERYBODY NEEDS A WALLING WALL

One of the places in the Old City of Jerusalem which impressed me most was the Walling Wall. Not because of its architectural beauty. It is just a simple, sturdy, battered and unadorned stone wall. But it is the only remnant of the western wall of the famous Temple of Solomon.

For centuries this spot has been a holy place for the Jewish people. It is where they go to confess their past sins; to unburden their souls in times of personal or national crisis; in a word, to cry their hearts out.

Ever since I first saw it some years ago I have felt that everybody needs a walling wall. Everybody needs a place to go—in most cases, the place will be a person—where he can literally unload his sins, his sorrows, his defeats, and his frustrations.

The person who is the walling wall may be a husband or wife, a minister, a doctor, or a dear friend. The important thing is that he or she be understanding, able to listen, and trustworthy. (A stone wall does not repeat secrets entrusted to it!)

In every life there are occasions when nothing less than this kind of spiritual catharsis will bring relief or healing. We sometimes assume that a person in deep sorrow is to be admired if he sheds no tears and keeps his grief totally within himself. He would be far wiser to let it all out. This has been called the necessary work of grief. Perhaps it is one reason God has given us the capacity, at every stage of life, to have a good cry.

Sometimes people are reluctant to go to such a walling wall because they do not want to be considered neurotic or unstable. There is of course a time to stop crying and face life with courage and confidence—but this does not invalidate the occasional need for emergency help.

The Consumer Alert
 by John L. Hill
 Attorney General

AUSTIN—With living expenses rising and those holiday bills still rolling in, some consumers find their monthly outgo for payments may be nearing or occasionally exceeding their income.

Some, overwhelmed by the problem, may begin to look for ways to ease the financial burden. They may see newspaper or magazine ads for "budget counselling," "debt consolidation," or "debt adjusting" firms which promise to "pay all your bills and leave you plenty for living expenses—and extras, too!"

Our Attorney General's Consumer Protection Division attorneys caution that such "debt consolidation" firms are illegal in Texas, but note that there are many out-of-state "debt adjusters" operating by mail.

If, for example, your take-home pay is $600 a month, bills total $350 a month, rent is $150, utilities are $50, and there has to be enough for groceries, clothes, and other expenses for a family of four, an offer to "take all your money worries away" can sound very tempting.

If you contact such a firm, you find they offer a service under which you mail them a payment that's considerably lower than your combined bills. For a service fee, they promise to arrange a debt repayment plan with your creditors, and pay them with the payment you mailed.

Sounds too good to be true, doesn't it? It is. What happens in many cases is that the "debt adjuster" charges a hefty fee for such services, possibly 25% or more of the payment you send, leaving very little to divide between your creditors. He may not contact your creditors in advance and obtain their agreement to the extended payment plan, with the likely result being that you find overdue charges tacked onto your accounts. Since your creditors will be getting less than their minimum payments, and since they have not agreed to any different payment plan, you may find your accounts eventually turned over to bill collecting agencies.

Our Consumer Protection Division has received reports from other states that indicate some "debt adjusters" make no payments at all to your creditors, but pocket your entire payment themselves. And since such unscrupulous operators are out-of-state, it may be difficult and time-consuming to take legal action against them.

Instead of falling for such illegal schemes in an effort to solve money problems, our attorneys suggest that consumers who find themselves in a bill-paying bind try the following:

1. Call or write the credit manager of the firms to which you owe the money. Explain your financial situation and ask if you may arrange for smaller payments over a longer period. Most firms will try to work out a reasonable repayment schedule with you.

2. If that doesn't work, shop around for a bill consolidation loan from a credit union, bank, savings and loan institution, or finance company. This will allow you to pay off all your creditors and repay the loan in affordable payments. Remember that you will pay an interest charge on the loan. It's important to shop around for all loans, since the cost of borrowing and the terms of repayment could vary considerably.

3. Another alternative is to visit a non-profit consumer credit counselling service in your community. This might be the local child and family service agency affiliated with United Way or a local affiliate of the National Foundation for Consumer Credit. These agencies assist in setting up a budget and family financial plan, and may arrange extended payment schedules with creditors, if needed.

If you have a consumer complaint about an out-of-state "debt adjusting" firm, contact our Attorney General's Consumer Protection Division or your county or district attorney.

Planting Intentions Up For Cotton and Corn

AUSTIN—According to planting intentions figures released recently, Texas farmers will plant 13 percent more corn and 10 percent more cotton in 1976 than they did last year, Agriculture Commissioner John C. White has reported.

Projected corn acreage for the state is expected to top 1.35 million acres while projected cotton acreage is up to some 4.8 million acres.

"Each year, more and more acreage on the High Plains is being converted to corn," White noted, "and on this irrigated acreage the yield per acre of corn is usually better than that of sorghum." White also noted that at this time, the price of corn is better than that of sorghum, which has influenced this year's planting intentions. Price is the main reason for the increase in cotton planting intentions, since cotton farmers have been averaging around 50 cents per pound, White said.

With more acreage being converted to corn and cotton, sorghum acreage fell two percent to an estimated 7.8 million, and oat intentions were 1.3 million acres, down seven percent.

Acreage intentions for barley are 88,000; flaxseed, 80,000; and sugarbeets, 35,000.

Nationally, corn acreage has been estimated at 80.8 million acres and cotton at 11.2 million acres, up 17 percent from 1975.

Picking ripe melons at the store is particularly tricky. If a melon is ripe, it should give under a little pressure around the stem-end.

Bob Krueger's Weekly Report

Upon arriving in Congress, many Members of the "freshman class" set out to complete the Congressional reform begun in the previous Congresses, an effort which toppled several powerful committee chairmen and brought about substantial changes in the once restrictive seniority system. Of all the new Members, perhaps I benefited most by the relaxation of that particular system. It allowed me to present legislation of national importance that I believe the American people wanted.

A series of complicated parliamentary maneuvers was used by my opponents to prevent my bringing legislation to the floor. (My proposal provided for the long term decontrol of natural gas prices at the well head, something which would result in lower energy costs to the consumer and increased supplies of natural gas. However, my colleagues on the other side of the issue wanted to consider only short term approaches, including increased regulation.) Therefore, I went before the Rules Committee to ask permission to be heard before the House. My colleagues who disagreed argued that the rule was somehow unfair or unusual, although there are ample precedents for it. The House agreed with me that the American people should be heard, the rule was adopted 230-184, and the House considered my legislation.

This explanation brings me to the major point I wish to make: that those most opposed to my being heard on the floor of the House, and those who most strongly argued against my being able to present this legislation, were the same people who earlier in the Congressional session argued most strenuously for openness in government and a free discussion of the issues the American people want aired. I supported many of the reforms that were made early in the session, because I believe that openness and trust are the basis of sound government and democracy; and, frankly, I was disappointed to see my colleagues reverse themselves because they happened to disagree with the legislation I was presenting. My committee chairman and both of my subcommittee chairmen opposed my efforts to let the House work its will, and I suppose they also have found that, with the reforms they earlier supported (when they could be used to political advantage), they were faced with having to deal directly with a freshman Member proposing legislation a majority of the American people wanted to see enacted into law.

Unfortunately, my bill was amended so drastically (on a vote of 205-201) that it hardly resembles the original proposal. Some attributed this setback to intense lobbying efforts by organized labor, while others apparently wanted to give the impression that they were compromising. In reality, the bill the House passed, (in the unlikely event that it should ever become law) will hurt labor and consumers. In several years, prices will go up with no substantial supply response, and people will lose jobs because their factories cannot get gas to keep running. It is likely that those who voted on the basis of political considerations will later find themselves in the position of having supported a bad piece of legislation that does virtually nothing to meet our nation's energy needs.

When the reforms achieved by this Congress are measured and remembered, I hope that increased openness and honesty are at the top of the list of achievements. I am proud to have been a part of that element of reform. I regret only that some of my colleagues have not been totally consistent in supporting that ideal.

Texas Farms To Decline

AUSTIN—According to preliminary estimates, the number of Texas farms and ranches will decrease by 2,000 in 1976, Agriculture Commissioner John C. White said.

This is a decline of one percent from 207,000 acres last year to only 205,000 in 1976.

The number of farms and ranches in Texas had remained at 209,000 from 1972 through 1974 with the decline beginning in 1975 and continuing into this year, Commissioner White noted.

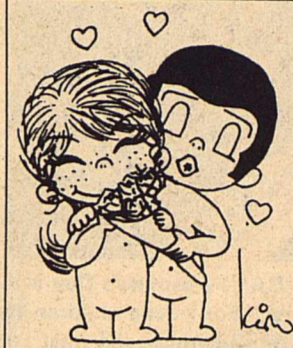

"If a nation expects to be ignorant and free, it expects what never was and never will be."

DANDRUFF WOES PLAGUE THOUSANDS

Thousands of flurries of little white flakes are falling across the state. It's not snow that's affecting people from the Panhandle to South Texas. The winter dandruff season is going strong.

According to the Texas Medical Association, almost everyone's scalp flakes and itches somewhat after shampooing. But dandruff becomes a problem when it is severe or annoying.

Regularly washing the scalp helps control dandruff so actually any good shampoo is a dandruff shampoo to some degree. Preparations specifically marketed to control dandruff may help control the problem even more. However, frequent shampooing and some shampoos themselves dry out the scalp and can increase the flaking problem.

Severe dandruff can cause some hair loss. Dandruff symptoms can become so serious there is redness and inflammation along with itching and flaking. Sometimes this problem occurs on

County Trust Established

It was revealed last week that a trust has been established to be known as "The Sutton County Community Trust" which is a non-profit tax-exempt organization entrusted with administration of charitable funds donated to it for use in Sonora and Sutton County. The purpose for establishing the trust is to provide a vehicle whereby contributions may be made and supervised by local trustees for general charitable purposes or for specific charitable purposes if the donor so desires.

In accordance with the trust instrument, a person, through a lifetime or testamentary gift, may utilize the fund as the medium for which charitable contributions may be made for federal tax purposes and would be assured that the desired purposes of the donation would be accomplished through supervision by the appointed trustees. It will eliminate, in the future, the establishment of separate funds, each with a different purpose, and each incurring the expense required to properly set up such a fund and have it tax-exempt under the federal tax statutes. It will also assure all donors a tax deduction for all contributions made to the trust.

The purpose clause of the trust permits the trust funds to be used for "educational, scientific, medical, social, hygienic, musical, artistic, historical records, public health, housing, civic improvement, the care of the aged, sick, helpless, poor, incompetent, children, as well as any other agency for the improvement of the moral, mental, social or physical well-being of the inhabitants of the County of Sutton, Texas." Further, in the event a donor does not wish his or her donation to be used in a general manner, the donor may specifically provide a specific purpose for which he is making his contribution of which the trustees of the trust will be bound by in using the contributed funds.

Within the trust structure, the general trustees will be the President of the First Loan Company of Sonora, George H. (Jack) Neill, president of Sonora's Lion's Club, George D. Wallace, and the superintendent of Sonora Independent School District, Dr. Joe R. Andrews. In addition to the general trustees, a trustee's committee has been established to coordinate and to ensure the unity of purpose of all trustees appointed to the trust agreement. If a donor desires to appoint a person or organization as trustee in lieu of using the general trustees, he may do so with the appointed trustee working in unison with the general trustees under the supervision of the trustee's committee.

The Sutton County Community Trust is a charitable organization that has been needed to be created in Sutton County for several years so that persons who wish to make contributions for use in Sutton County can make the contributions and be assured that the purposes for the contribution will be fully followed and will be able to receive a tax deduction for the contribution.
