Susan Pool of Del Rio and Mary Tucker of Big Lake were first place winners in the championship flight of last week's women's tournament held at the local golf course.

Second place winners were Mary Robinson and Imogene Featherston, both of Midland. Johnnie Rowalot and Eleanor Bolen of San Angelo were third place winners in that flight.

In the first flight Jym Tittle and Joyce Pomroy of Brady were first; Sue Anderson and Effie Harrell of Brady were second; and Bobbie Fawcett of Sonora and Char Collyns of San Angelo, third.

Maxine Lawson and Kathy Schwenbach of Del Rio were first in the second flight; Joanna McAdoo and Sandy Griffin of Winters, second; and Johnny Legg and Sybil Gregory of Ballinger, third.

Debra Hill and Becky Tittle of Sonora were first place winners in the third flight. Second place winners were Nancy Jackson of Big Lake and Fay Wood of Sonora, with Kitty Monrow and Jean Montgomery of Del Rio, third.

Ms. Robinson was credited with having the longest drive and Ms. Pat Cheney of Midland, closest to the pin.

Thirty-two teams participated in the tournament. Pewter trays, salt and pepper shakers and bowls were given as prizes.

Tournament members were granted the usage of golf carts by local individuals and the Sonora Women's Golf Auxiliary would like to extend their gratitude to Harold Martinez, Gay Copeland, Ken Braden, Norm Rousselot, Don Grider, Mike Story, Danny Crowder, Rose Ann Allbritton, Cathy Preston, John Cotten, Jodie Finklea, Cullen Luttrell, Steve Thorp, Mike Hale, Louie Trainer, Jerry Don Balch, Ken Minatra, Durwood Neville and Ethel Olson.

Texas Sees Growth

"Major metropolitan areas continue to attract the majority of new plants and factory expansions in Texas," points out Dr. Richard Floyd, economist in business development with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Recent reports show that only 17 per cent of 448 new and expanding plants located outside the state's major metropolitan areas in 1976. In contrast, 33 per cent of 700 new and expanding plants located outside the major metropolitan areas in 1973.

"Rural areas appear to be less competitive industrial developers," believes Floyd. "Rural business and community leaders need to reexamine industrial development efforts in light of their lessened competitive position."

An array of factors determine the community's attractiveness to new industries. Factors which can be altered directly by local communities include fire protection, availability of contract trucking, police protection, processing industrial water supply, industrial sewage processing, and solid waste disposal.

"A complete analysis of the availability of these services should be a part of any rural industrial development effort," emphasizes the economist.

Looking At Finest Wool in the World

Texas A&M University Professor Jim Bassett (Left) and research associate Frank Craddock inspect the wool which was sold by sealed bid recently at the Sonora Wool and Mohair Co. Bassett called

Sheep and Goat Raisers To Reward Members

The greatest recognition received by most of the people involved in the sheep and goat industry comes when an unexpectedly high-priced sale allows them to pay off their current pickup before the engine falls out. Not even the livestock seem to appreciate the man who carries them through a cold, hungry winter on a warm feed sack.

It could be this general lack of recognition that has prompted the industry to reward the achievements of some of its own members, as well as those who play supporting roles. At any rate, the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers' Association has for years acknowledged those whose efforts have aided wool and mohair producers.

Particular attention is given to youths, especially those whose club work has demonstrated their interest in sheep or goats.

Youth awards include those for top 4-H wool and mohair judging, state level; top FFA performance related to sheep or goats, state level; superior achievement in 4-H clothing design and construction using wool or mohair, and exceptional sheep and wool, Angora goat and mohair projects, county level. The state-level FFA award includes $75 to help finance a trip to the national FFA convention. State-level 4-H winners receive a $100 savings bond.

A special youth award is the Bryan Hunt Memorial Scholarship, established in 1975 by the family of the late Bryan Hunt, Sonora. It is intended to provide assistance to deserving students majoring in agriculture and from the main sheep and goat areas of Texas who would not be able to attend college without financial aid.

The Hunt Scholarship is presented at the TS&GRA Annual Convention, as are the remaining five major awards. The most coveted presentation made annually by TS&GRA is the Fred Earwood Memorial Award. Created nearly a decade ago through contributions of friends of the late Fred Earwood, the Earwood Award is given annually to a person whose contributions to the industry exemplify Earwood's own dedication and efforts on behalf of sheep and goat producers.

Remaining annual awards include those for outstanding county agent, outstanding vocational agriculture teacher and outstanding news reporting, weekly and daily papers.

Referendum Registration Begins

There has been much discussion about the proposed Beef Research and Information Program which will be voted on this spring by beef and dairy cattle owners. The registration period for producers to qualify in the election is set between June 6-17 and the actual voting dates are July 5-15.

Eligible producers should contact their county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service office to receive a registration form. The county ASCS offices will conduct the referendum, explains Clint Langford, county Extension agent.

"There are two separate parts of the referendum, registration and voting," he reminds. "A producer must register during the first period and must make another trip to vote during that designated period."

At least 50 per cent of the cattle owners who register must vote—and 2/3 must vote affirmatively—in order for the referendum to be valid. Those eligible include 4-H youths, FFA members, men and women who own livestock.

"There is no age limit or minimum requirement of numbers of cattle owned in order to qualify to vote. Any questions about bonafide ownership can be resolved by tax records, sales slips, registration papers or any other valid papers showing ownership of livestock," adds the county agent.

A partnership, cooperative, corporation or similar business is considered as only a single entity for the purpose of voting in the referendum. Where a husband and wife own cattle jointly, this will be considered a single entity and only one may vote. If each owns cattle separately and has documented proof of ownership, this is considered as two entities and each may vote.

In the event that a person owns cattle in a county other than where he lives, or if he cannot make it to the polls during the registration or voting period, it will be possible to write or telephone the county ASCS office for an absentee ballot, explains Langford.

If approved, the Beef Research and Information Program will allow establishment of projects for advertising, promotion, education, producer information and consumer information with respect to the use of cattle, beef and beef products.

Kuykendall Reports Screwworm

James Kuykendall collected San Saba County's first known 1977 screwworm sample May 20 from the navel of a calf ten miles west of Cherokee.

This is the 20th known 1977 Texas screwworm case, according to Dr. M.E. (Cotton) Meadows, Jr., director of the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) Screwworm Eradication Program. By May 24 of 1976 the state's screwworm case count totalled 1755.

The San Saba County case is 100 miles northwest of the two cases which were collected on a Guadalupe County ranch near Staples May 12 and 14. A screwworm case was treated in Kinney County May 9; two in Terrell County May 13 and 14.

Fred Campbell's Wool and Mohair Report

The overseas wool market continues to be druggy at steady prices. Price support programs in the various countries are holding up the prices as demand has slackened.

In the U.S. most of the domestic wool clip has been sold. Sales of wool are being reported in all states as the clip comes in. Most of the spring clip is shorn by this time.

Texas wool is probably 70-80 per cent sold at this time. Possibly the last warehouse sale of the season is set for Junction on June 1. Prices being paid are the same on a clean basis as for the past year. Grease prices are slightly higher because the 1977 clip is higher yielding. Prices for ungraded wools are generally 75-95 cents per grease pound.

Our graded wools at Sonora are committed and are being delivered. Near one-half million pounds of graded, skirted staple is being sold at grease prices ranging from $1.00 to $1.15 depending on yield. About 150,000 original bag wool has been delivered at prices generally from 90c to $1.03. At this time slightly over half of the clip has been delivered.

This past week our warehouse had a clean up sale on the last remaining spring mohair. The mohair was sold in six lots and brought these prices: adult - $2,877; low young goat - $3,277; good young goat - $3,803; low spring kid - $3,577; average spring kid - $4,277; and good spring kid - $4,603. We believe the price paid for the good spring kid is the highest price ever paid for Texas mohair in a sale.

South Africa has one more sale for the season - set for June 7 and this will virtually clean up remaining mohair stocks.

Sutton County Livestock Producers Scheduled To Register

All eligible livestock producers in Sutton County are reminded that they will need to register June 6-17 if they are to vote in the forthcoming producer referendum on the Beef Research and Information program July 5-15, says County Extension Agent Clint Langford.

County offices of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) will conduct the registration and referendum.

The law requires that beef producers register at least two weeks before the referendum in order to vote.

Producers eligible to register and vote are those who owned cattle during the past 12 months, prior to the referendum, including 4-H and FFA members, men and women.

If the vote is favorable, a Beef Board will be appointed. This board is to consist of not more than 68 members, selected from the beef producer ranks by the Secretary of Agriculture as nominated by their producer organizations. Representation on the board would be proportional to cattle production in each state or geographic area.

Warning: Protect Livestock

by Wes Burnett

There are persistent reports around the county that livestock are being exposed daily to the dreaded screwworm.

Even though most Sutton County ranchers know how important it is to keep their livestock from getting open wounds this spring and summer, there apparently are some who just don't understand the current battle.

It is a state-wide fight to permanently destroy the dangerous screwworm. And the fight crosses state lines and into Mexico, with millions of federal and state dollars dedicated to eradicating this menace to livestock producers.

With all the publicity, talk and continuing demand by producers, it is just amazing that any Sutton County rancher could ignore the obvious need to stop all activity which invites a home for the screwworm.

I am a real rank beginner and novice in the ranching business, but one thing I do know is importance of protecting our vital resources from the screwworm.

As ignorant as I am about the ranching business, I do know one thing, if we don't destroy the nasty creatures this year, we may lose this battle for generations to come.

There are a number of reasons for this opportunity...the first is that we had a good solid cold winter, which slowed the development of the screwworm...and we have had an all-out production of sterile flies imported in the major areas of screwworm growth in Mexico and South Texas.

The full cooperation of Mexican officials and the total effort of state and federal agriculture officials are major factors in the possible success of the battle this year.

If we fall this year...we may never have all these ingredients together again...who knows when we will have another really cold winter? And who can guess at the whims of the federal bureaucracy...

And so much rides on this fight...which could be lost by the simple act of one rancher, cutting the tail off one sheep...which gets infected with screwworms and spreads the seeds of destruction all over the county.

Who could blame the federal government for ignoring our cries of help if we allow ourselves to "keep doing business as usual", disregarding the seriousness of the fight?

Yes, there will be sacrifices demanded of producers...you know you need to dehorn, or cut tails, or mark or castrate...all these are important to your business...but if the screwworm is to be eliminated, it must be deprived of any

Vaccinations Urged For Horses

Horse owners are urged to vaccinate their animals against equine encephalitis (horse sleeping sickness) which is often a serious problem as mosquito populations increase during warmer months.

Effective vaccines are available. However, these are effective for only one year, so revaccination is necessary each spring, points out Clint Langford, county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Combined killed-virus vaccines are available for eastern and western equine encephalitis (EEE and WEE) and also for eastern, western and Venezuelan (VEE). EEE and WEE occur seasonally in many parts of the country. VEE has not been diagnosed since 1971 when this foreign disease invaded south Texas.

Research has shown that VEE has a complex natural history and many hosts, notes Langford. It isn't known which of these hosts may exist and harbor the virus in Mexico or the United States, or when the virus may reemerge to affect either country.

And that is just where the screwworm lives...in the sores and wounds of your animals...sheep, goats and cattle.

Before you cut your livestock for any reason, stop just for a while and think about what it might mean in the long run.

Sure, there will be situations when you just have to do some work on your animals...take the time to pen the animal and watch it carefully until the sore is healed.

This critical problem exists from now until the first freeze...

Wouldn't it be something to read in the Devil's River News next spring that the screwworm had vanished from Texas?

It can be, if we all work together to make it happen.

Briscoe Calls for Deregulation

Editor's note: Governor Dolph Briscoe recently testified before the U.S. House of Representatives Subcommittee on Energy and Power of the Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce.

His statements are important to Texas, Sutton County and the nation. We will present the Governor's testimony in a special three part series beginning this week.

Part I

Mr. Chairman, I appreciate the opportunity to meet once again with this distinguished Committee of Congress.

The rapid rise in oil imports has endangered the independence of our foreign policy, distorted our balance of payments, and threatens the prosperity of our economy as a whole.

I agree with President Carter that in facing our energy crisis we face the moral equivalent of war.

I agree that the minimum targets for energy production are at least those set out in the proposed National Energy Plan.

I have attached those targets to this statement. But it should be pointed out that those minimum energy production requirements are one-third greater than the production achieved last year.

Those minimum requirements must be met in face of the current overall decline in domestic energy production.

The pricing policy outlined in the National Energy Plan will not achieve its production target. It will provide, instead, for continued shortfalls of critical fuels which this country has the capability to produce.

The principal point I want to make is that the proposed National Energy Plan's pricing provisions will not allow the country to develop the energy resources which the plan acknowledges are necessary.

I speak on this point as Governor of the State which has produced nearly one-third of all the energy this nation has ever produced, and which will bear heavy responsibility in the attempt to meet the high production targets called for in President Carter's proposal to Congress.

As you know, natural gas reserves in the United States have been declining since 1967. Natural gas production has been declining since 1972 and the annual rate of decline is now running four to five percent a year.

The National Energy Plan calls for us to turn that falling curve upward and to achieve again by 1985 nearly the same level of natural gas production we now enjoy.

That will call for a drilling rate of approximately double the footage drilled last year. We can see what is involved by looking at the attached chart. We know from careful analysis that the amount of development and exploratory drilling increases as the average price of oil and gas increases.

The pricing policy established for oil and gas in the National Energy Plan is simply not consistent with the amount of drilling required to achieve the production targets of the Plan.

In calculations we have made, we conclude that under the pricing policy of the National Energy Plan, the present rate of decline in gas production will slow somewhat but that the production level by 1985 will be short of the gas production target of the Plan by the equivalent of approximately two million barrels of oil per day.

The shortfall in oil production measured against oil production requirements of the Plan will be even greater.

I do not believe in price regulation. History clearly proves that price regulation of any commodity has never worked for the long term benefit of the American consumer.

The natural gas shortages of this past winter in the interstate market dramatically illustrate the inevitable results of 23 years of federal regulation of the natural gas industry.

ERDA Funds Texas Survey

The U.S. Energy Research and Development Administration will soon award a $265,000 contract to the Bureau of Economic Geology at the University of Texas to conduct geologic studies in the Texas Panhandle.

ERDA said studies by the Texas Bureau of Economic Geology will determine whether there are areas in the Palo Duro and Dalhart salt basins that may have potential for development of deep geologic facilities where nuclear waste could be permanently stored.

If any areas proved to be promising, additional studies would be conducted to confirm suitability.

The scientific studies to be performed by the Texas Bureau include such tasks as basin analysis, rock analysis, geohydrology, and identification of field confirmation study locations.

The contract will cover an initial period of five months ending September 30, 1977, and can be extended to cover studies for up to five years.

ERDA initiated the National Waste Terminal Storage Program in 1976. The program calls for deep geologic disposal of solid nuclear waste generated from commercial nuclear power reactors which supply electricity.

Scientific studies are moving forward this year in other sections of the United States to determine the suitability of various geologic formations for potential development as repositories.

The studies are being conducted for ERDA by the Office of Waste Isolation of the Union Carbide Corporation Nuclear Division, at Oak Ridge, Tennessee. Selection of the first two sites is expected in 1978 with the facilities operational in the mid-1980's.

Geologic project managers are expected to be named soon to conduct similar studies of salt domes, shales, and a wide variety of granite and other crystalline rocks and volcanic formations in other sections of the U.S.

The purpose of the activities in Texas, like those in other states, is merely to gain information.

The activities should not be construed as indicating that any area has been determined to be suitable for a waste repository.

Selection of locations must be preceded by intensive field studies to gain greater understanding of those formations in which there is a potential for safe, deep geologic disposal of nuclear waste.

El Paso Settles with FPC

The El Paso Company announced that the Federal Power Commission has approved a settlement proposal by El Paso Natural Gas Company, its natural gas transmission subsidiary, covering increased rates for the period August 1, 1976, to May 31, 1977.

The Company stated that its financial statements have reflected the effect of the settlement proposal since the time of its filing and, therefore, the Commission's action would have no effect on the Company's previously reported earnings.

Sen. Bentsen Pushes for Atlantic Drilling

Senator Lloyd Bentsen last week said he will push for early passage of legislation to overturn a court ruling that has barred drilling for oil and gas in the Atlantic Ocean, off the Eastern U.S.

Bentsen is cosponsoring a bill to validate existing oil and gas leases in the Baltimore Canyon, which lies in the Atlantic Ocean.

"The best available estimates are that Baltimore Canyon may produce as much as 1.4 billion barrels of oil and 9 trillion feet of natural gas; production that is sorely needed in this time of energy shortage," Bentsen said.

Last week Interior Secretary Cecil Andrus announced that a new lease sale would not be held until December, 1978.

"It isn't fair for them to come and drill off the Texas Coast and then block efforts to drill off their coast," Bentsen said.

"Texas has shown, through our experience with off-shore drilling, that you can increase the supply of energy and still protect the environment."

Summer Annuals Provide Abundant Garden Color

A home gardener can have brilliant success with the colorful "lucky seven". These annuals and perennials require little care and are perfect for the away-from-home summer gardener, says Clint Langford, county agent for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Zinnias are an old favorite for summer landscapes. They are sturdy and tolerate intense summer heat. They look much like the daisy family and come in many vivid colors, including flashy red, orange and pink.

The Gloriosa daisy is a summer perennial that will return each year to provide a variety of colorful blooms. These large flowers have stout stems which are excellent for cutting, notes Langford.

For a delicate touch to cover bare areas, pale lavender or white periwinkles can provide the answer. This robust summer annual grows profusely and close to the ground to create a carpet of color.

The pert marigold, in both the dwarf and giant sizes, can be added to any garden from early spring until frost. With its rich, vivid colors, the marigold is one of the most productive, carefree summer annuals.

Summer annuals such as the salvia and portulaca or "moss rose" will tolerate dry conditions brought on by a hot summer. The moss rose is a chosen border plant and lives up to a dull rock garden. The tough salvia thrives longer when faded blooms are trimmed back. Deep scarlet or royal blue spikes of bloom are typical of this showy annual.

The cosmos put sprinkles of brilliant yellow or striking orange into deserted patches of the garden or landscape. This late bloomer starts in the middle of summer but continues to flower until the cold of winter sets in, adds Clint.

"Wise Men Seek Jesus"

In the Gospel of Matthew, beginning with Chapter 2 we read: "Now when Jesus was born in Bethlehem of Judea in the days of Herod the King, behold, there came wise men from the East to Jerusalem."

Just as the wise men of that day came seeking Jesus, so would wise men of this day also seek and find Jesus.

There are many who should show the ultimate of wisdom and seek out

Jesus. Jesus described them in Luke 4:18:

The Poor, or those who feel unworthy of His attention. You will find He dearly loves this type of person and longs to have them come to Him.

The Brokenhearted, or those whose hearts have been shattered by some terrible experience. Regardless of how shattered your life may seem or why it was shattered He will put it together again.

The Captives, or those in the grip of a moral habit, or guilt or ignorance. This is why he came into the world and wants to come into your experience, to break the grip of whatever is holding you back.

The Blind, or those who cannot see the way out of their problems or those who cannot see the way to take that will really lead to happiness. He wants you to be happy and He can help you to achieve happiness.

The Bruised, or those suffering from deep physical, mental or psychological wounds. If you have been wounded - and most people have - He wants to bind up and heal your wounds.

Jesus is the one person who can attend to each of these problems or conditions of being in life. Why not seek Jesus? It is the WISE thing to do!!!

Ft. McKavett Trail To Be Dedicated June 10

The Fort McKavett Historical Trail sponsored by the Concho Valley Council of Boy Scouts of America will be formally dedicated Friday, June 10 at 3 p.m., at Fort McKavett. The announcement was made by Don Treadwell, Council Historical Trail Committee Chairman.

The five-mile trail from Camp Sol Mayer to Fort McKavett was established by the Council so the youth of today may follow in the footsteps of the men of the 1800's and thus have a better understanding of how West Texas was settled.

The trail may be hiked by Webelos, Scouts, Explorers and Scouters. The requirements for earning the Fort McKavett Historical Trail Award are as follows: 1. Hike the entire 5-mile trail, 2. Camp overnight at Camp Sol Mayer, 3. Cook at least three meals, 4. Do a historical service project and 5. Write an essay of at least 200 words on Fort McKavett. Upon completion of the requirements the participant may purchase a patch and/or trail medal for wear on his Scout uniform.

The Historical Trail Committee is composed of Frances Nixon of Fort McKavett, Frances Fish of Menard and Gully Cowser (Superintendent of the Fort McKavett historical site).

The first hikers of the trail will leave Camp Sol Mayer at 1:30 p.m. and will arrive at the Fort at 2:45 p.m. At 3 p.m., a special slide presentation will be shown and awards will be presented to those who helped make the trail possible.

The general public is invited to participate in the dedication ceremonies.

Comptroller Representative Sets Visit

Comptroller Bob Bullock will have a representative in Sonora June 9 to meet with local taxpayers. The representative will be in the judge's office at the courthouse at 9:30 a.m.

Assistance or questions regarding tax matters will be the primary concern of the comptroller's assistance. He will remain on duty until 11:30 a.m.
