

Wool, Mohair Show Gets Underway

The 43rd Annual Sonora Wool and Mohair Show, including the National 4-H Wool Judging Contest gets into full swing today at 8 am today with livestock judging and judging of wool and mohair entries of junior and open division exhibitors.

Sponsored by the Sonora Lions Club in cooperation with the Sonora Wool and Mohair Company and the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the contest has a four-fold purpose: to encourage a thorough knowledge of range vegetation; to encourage production and preparation of wool and mohair and to sponsor a type of club work applicable to the ranching area.

Other Wednesday activities include the range judging contest at 10 am, the wool and mohair entries at 1 pm, a tour of the Caverns of Sonora at 4 pm, registration and grouping of teams for the National Wool Judging Contest at 5 pm, a meeting of all persons interested in improving the show at 7 pm and recreation for junior participants in the wool show at the City Swimming Pool from 7 til 10 pm.

Thursday's schedule includes the National Wool Judging Contest at 8 am, an educational program at 10 am and the awards luncheon at 11:30 am.

Sutton County Agent Preston Faris said he expected approximately 115 youngsters to participate in the program with 25 junior exhibitors expected in the wool and mohair contest.

At least 8 counties had registered by Monday including Kendall, Real, San Saba, Val Verde, Runnels, Four teams will compete in the National 4-H Wool Judging Contest with state champion San Saba County representing Texas in competition with Wyoming and two teams from New Mexico.

Sinaloa Annexation Measure Fails

The referendum held Saturday to canvass public opinion on the Sinaloa annexation issue failed as only a handful of voters cast their ballots.

The measure officially tied at 12-12, but after a called City Council meeting Tuesday to canvass the election, one voter was disqualified for not living in the annexation area while another was not registered.

The outcome left the Council with three options: call another election; ask for another petition; or dismiss the motion due to voter apathy. The City Fathers chose the third option.

Drawing For Beef, TV Set

Tickets are now on sale for a drawing to be held with proceeds going to the ambulance fund.

A 19-inch Magnavox television has been donated by O'Bryan's Fashions, and Food Center has given a side of beef for the drawing. Winners will be named at the Reba McIntyre dance June 21.

Hospital administrator Dennis Roberts stated approximately $5,500 has been raised to date, but almost $26,000 more is still needed.

Roberts stressed that the additional ambulance is needed since the county is left without ambulance service when out-of-town runs are made.

Tickets are $2 each or three for $5, and may be purchased from Roberts, patient, leaving Sonora without an emergency vehicle.

The City Fathers purchased a new paging system for the crew. The new system will facilitate paging the crew members.

With the new system all members are paged simultaneously from the hospital. The new system is superior to the mobile phone now in use.

The goal of $31,000 needed to achieve the purchase price of the vehicle has received approximately $5,500 of pledges and or donations.

Community Outlook

By Don Holdridge

This column started a little over a year ago when I moved to San Saba. The paper there had an editorial page, and when the old editor left, I naturally had an empty hole to fill where his column had been. As they say, necessity is the mother of invention, so to avoid having a glaring splotch of white space, I started writing this column to fill the void. The range of topics varies constantly from what's going on around town to politics to the economy right on down to something clever I stole from some other newspaper. (They say there's no such thing in the newspaper business as originality, only stolen ideas. Move over, Milton Berle.)

I have to admit it is nice to be back in Sonora. Although I've been back quite a bit for visits, it's a lot different when you live here. Sonora really has a lot of things going for it. With the general good state of the economy in Texas, Sonora is no exception. In fact, Sonora may have one of the strongest economies of any town in the state. Unemployment is virtually non-existent, and most workers make far above the statewide average.

The town is finally beginning to catch up with the phenomenal growth spurt of the 1970's. I can count at least eight new businesses since I left in April of last year. There are a number of new homes, and with interest rates beginning to come down, there should be even more under construction before too long.

As many people as there are who work with oil companies, I should know better than to gripe about the pains of moving, but I'm going to anyway.

For the benefit of those of you who have never moved, take a word of advice--don't! Somebody must have planned moving as the ultimate test of a person's stamina and patience.

And never try to plan everything in a week. The packing may be the worst part of it. Finding boxes is bad enough, but putting things in is the hard part. And even worse is trying to find the things you packed after finding out you needed them before you left after all.

For example, Kay had everything in the kitchen all packed up last week except for a few essentials. Suddenly, she found out she had packed every serving and storage dish we owned. Somehow, a heated can of green beans doesn't look too appetizing sitting on the kitchen table.

Then of course she took off Wednesday to come get the house clean and bring a few things. I got a call to play softball Wednesday night, and naturally my shoes were already in Sonora. Have you ever tried playing shortstop in western boots?

Then comes the day before M-Day. Everything was all planned. Murphy's Law struck! (You know, the one about everything that can go wrong will go wrong and the second part that says, left to themselves, things will always go from bad to worse.) The truck we were going to borrow to move in broke down. All the thundering hordes that volunteered to help us move came down with a case of other things to do.

So at the last minute, we borrowed a stock trailer (ankle deep in you-know-what) and a pickup, hired a 90-pound weakling and commenced to load. There we were, an injury-prone woman, a high school girl, me with a chronic backache and of course, the 90-pound weakling. (Somewhere along the line, I failed to mention our house was built five feet off the ground and the front steps look like they were designed for the Empire State Building.)

Surprisingly, we got loaded with few serious incidents. And all the way to Sonora, nothing flew out except for a few cushions and some old book reports (teachers think they have to store everything).

But sure enough, we got within a couple of miles of the house, and I see this brown blur go flying off the pickup and hear a crash that sounds like a two year old turned loose in the house of mirrors at the carnival.

I quickly turned around (it's not easy to turn around a pickup with a 16-foot trailer on Bond Road) to inspect the damage.

I found Kay's mixer transformed into a portable model with the off-on switch on stuck on. Both mixing bowls were shattered, and I was going to rescue her two flat cake pans. Before I could get there, a car beat me to them. Maybe they'll work for pizza.

Anyway, I'm here and still in one piece. Despite all the problems, it's good to be back home.

Sutton County Ranch News

Jerry Lackey's Country Folk

Spring flowers...and lots of tall green grass...arrived in the Texas Hill Country late, but all the beauty is there and in living color. Thanks to general rains, Central Texas is in good shape.

Robert Mezger of Marble Falls says that old saying about the "county havings its Sunday clothes on is true these days." Mezger added: "What we need now is one more rain in June to set us up for the summer with plenty of old grass."

The Marble Falls area had over 5 inches during the recent May rainy spell. That makes 15 inches for the year.

Weldon Davis, Hereford breeder and banker at Coleman, described that county is good shape "but mainly in the south and eastern parts where some 15 inches of rainfall has been recorded in the last five or six weeks. The northwestern part of Coleman County looks bad."

Werner Moehr lives at Doss on the Gillespie-Mason County line. He says his garden is growing with 6.80 inches of moisture. "Oh, her pastures look good," he remarked. "All of it (rain) soaked in the ground. There was no runoff to speak of."

Dale Malechek, manager of the LBJ Ranch at Stonewall, thinks with "May behind us, perhaps we can harvest a good wheat yield and not get it hailed out." The merry month of May has always been a bad time for hail on small grain in that section of the Texas Hill Country.

Malechek said in the 21 years he has operated the ranch of the late President Lyndon Johnson's, the wheat has been hailed out at least 11 years.

Mrs. James Rieck reported 4 inches of rain on the Rieck Ranch at Roosevelt. "It came exactly the right time," she smiled.

Gene Whitehead said good rains on his Hereford Ranch at Menard and the Granite Hills Hereford Ranch in Llano County has early summer looking like spring.

Well, just about everywhere I traveled the last several weeks has been a pleasure because of the green and colorful terrain.

On the annual ranch tour of the Greater Hill Country Hereford Association a couple weeks back, the back country is just as good looking as the roadside. And the Hereford cattle look good too.

Joyce Jordan of Mason, secretary of the Hill County Hereford Association, reminds all the organizations of the Fall Sale Oct. 22 at the Gillespie County Fairgrounds in Fredericksburg. Some 80 bulls and 20 females will be offered.

Legal Questions About The Windfall Profits Oil Excise Tax

Even before the Windfall Profits Oil Excise Tax was passed by Congress and signed into law by President Carter, there were doubts about the legality of the tax.

Some lawyers say the oil excise tax may be unconstitutional and studies are now being made in anticipation of filing a lawsuit against the tax.

The Permain Basin Petroleum Association supports these efforts by the Texas Independent Producers Legal Association and the Mountain States Legal Foundations.

Texas Governor Bill Clements recently told those attending the annual meeting of the Texas Independent Producers and Royalty Owners Association that the state is also studying the possibility of filing a lawsuit. The Texas Railroad Commission and the State Comptroller's Office estimate the oil excise tax will claim 65 billion dollars for Washington that normally would have gone to the state government of Texas over the next ten years.

The General Counsel for the Independent Petroleum Association of America told the TIPRO meeting that about $350,000 would be needed to research and pursue the suit. One argument is that the tax is discriminatory and is not being applied uniformly as required by the Constitution.

The oil excise tax has awakened the estimated 1.5 million royalty owners in America. The tax, averaging about 33 percent on most royalty checks, caught most of the royalty owners by surprise and they are now organizing to amend the law.

Texas Farm Bureau Urges Congress To Defeat Insurance Program

The Texas Farm Bureau is urging Congress to defeat a proposed compulsory national health insurance program, according to Carrol Chaloupka of Dalhart, president.

A number of health insurance bills are under consideration, including Senator Edward Kennedy's 'Health Care For All Americans Act-S. 1720,' said Chaloupka. Projected costs to taxpayers for these proposals, he said, run from the $28.6 billion needed to begin Senator Kennedy's proposal, down to about $7 billion for the Republicans' 'Medical Expense Protection Act.'

'Costs would, of course, increase rapidly each year of operation,' he said. In a letter to Farm Bureau county leaders, Ed McKay, TFB national affairs director, asked members to write their Congressman and urge defeat of all compulsory national health insurance legislation.

'National health insurance proposals differ primarily in the amount of coverage offered to individuals, and in the amount of federal control involved,' McKay said. 'Senator Kennedy's proposal simply directs the federal government to take over the private insurance industry and provide comprehensive benefits to all without any consideration of the ability of the individual to pay.'

The Republicans' 'Medical Expense Protection Act' concentrates on filling in the gaps in existing coverage provided by the private insurance industry to assure unlimited catastrophic protection for all Americans, he said.

Farm Bureau policy reads in part: 'We oppose compulsory national health insurance in any form. Nationally implemented and administered health insurance... would be one more step in the socialization of this country. We believe reliance should be placed mainly upon the private sector to solve the financial aspects of health care problems.'

Nutritionists Have No Beef With Beef

The prestigious National Academy of Sciences released new diet guidelines last week that support what cattlemen have said all along--beef is good for you.

In an Associated Press story from Boston, the Food and Nutrition Board of the National Academy of Sciences was quoted as saying "There's nothing wrong with a meal consisting of a thick, juicy steak, a green salad and a baked potato with sour cream, as long as you have variety in your diet."

The food board is the panel that recommends dietary standards for the food industry.

John S. Cargile, president of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association, said his group was encouraged by the report in light of attempts by some "food experts" to link beef and cholesterol to heart disease.

"The food board says there is no convincing evidence that what you eat will affect your body's cholesterol levels and we think that pretty well buries any allegations that eating beef will hurt you," Cargile said. "In fact, a three-ounce serving of beef provides thiamin, riboflavin, niacin, pyridoxine, vitamin B-12 and other B-vitamins, minerals like iron and zinc and, of course, protein. Off hand, I can't think of a single food more nutritious or more tasty than beef."

Henry Kamin, vice chairman of the food board, says much the same thing. Contemplating a steak dinner, Kamin said, "I would love to have that sort of meal, and if I add up the constituents of a potato, meat and salad, I can see that it certainly is adequate in protein. It is not excessive in fat. It is certainly adequate in calories. And I can't think of any vitamins it is deficient in."

Americans consumed only 2.77 ounces per day of cooked (lean plus marble) red meat cuts in 1979, according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture. Nutritionists generally recommend two three-ounce servings from the meat group daily.

"This tells me that Americans can and should eat more beef. The good news for the consumer is that retail beef prices as of mid-May were averaging 15 cents per pound lower than the same time a year ago. Considering the inflation rate, beef is a good buy and now the National Academy of Sciences confirms it is healthy for you," Cargile said.

Shown are three examples of how rising prices are affecting the cost of producing electric energy. Of course everything else has gone up, too. Materials, equipment, labor - nothing has escaped the effects of inflation.

Which means that we at WTU are striving harder than ever to operate efficiently and economically as we meet the daily needs of our customers.

As always, WTU's goal is to provide a dependable supply of electric energy at the lowest practical cost. We hope you'll use it wisely.

Friendly face around town this week was John Tedford.

Added to the growing list of Sonorans interested in the Little Theater organization is Mr. and Mrs. W. A. McAndrew. Lorenzo Nastasi, who is president of the Civic Theater, San Angelo, will be mailing the local group sample charter and by-laws in the near future. The Joe Lanes have also expressed an interest in LTO.

Thanks to Effie Harle, who donated and made the 'Yard of the Month' sign-saving the C of C approximately $55! The sign is in Elsie Schweining's yard at 702 SE Crockett.

Gary Pair has been busy looking into possible buildings and sites for a permanent location for the C of C office.

Sonorans are reminded to go by the C of C office and pick up a nomination form and nominate a localite for the 'Citizen of the Month' award. A nice way to honor those citizens who are giving hours to civic duty--and those who have done so in former years.

Industrial committee members are encouraged to select a 'back-up' for their particular data information. The completed industrial brochure is available to all Sonorans at the C of C office. The brochure is an over-all picture of what we in Sonora have to offer prospective industrialists and interested persons.

CITIZEN OF THE MONTH AWARD IMPLEMENTED

Glen Fisher, president, Sonora Chamber of Commerce, announced this week that the C of C voted to implement a Citizen of the Month award.

Nomination blanks may be picked up at the Chamber of Commerce office in City Hall.

The same guidelines that are used to select the annual Outstanding Citizen of the Year will be used in the selection process' informed Fisher.

The following is a guideline to use in submitting your selection: (1) Organization memberships (2) Church Denomination (3) Offices held (4) Youth Program activities support (5) Public offices held (including school board) (6) Awards and honors received (7) Why does this person deserve the award.. other than the above accomplishments? (such as financial support, donation of time, distinction to self or Sonora.)

The selection for Citizen of the Month for June will be made at the C of C board meeting in July.

West Germany Electromagnetics Rail Program Presented To RRC

A rail system that would whip Texans across the prairies between Dallas, San Antonio and Houston at speeds averaging 250 miles per hour could be built for a little more than $5 billion, a West German expert on advance ground transportation estimated today.

Klaus Glatzel, project monitor for the Bonn government in the seven-company Transrapid consortium effort to develop high-speed electromagnetics, 'no contact' rail systems, made the estimation during a meeting with Railroad Commission Chairman John Poerner and Commission rail planners.

Glatzel and G. Von Lieres und Wilkau, marketing director-advanced transportation systems for Messerschmitt-Bolkow-Blohm, GmbH, Munich, described the consortium's work and progress in magnetic levitation and linear motor propulsion technology during an hour-long session with Poerner, Transportation Director Owen T. Kinney and members of his staff.

'To date,' reported Glatzel, 'seven maglev research and demonstration vehicles have been built and successfully tested at speeds up to 200 miles per hour on a test track in northern Germany.'

By the end of 1982, Glatzel further reported, the consortium expects to have in operation a 200-passenger vehicle on a 20-mile test track.

Glatzel pinned the $5 billion-plus cost tag to a double-track, mostly elevated rail system that would traverse the Texas triangle route, anchored by the state's three largest metropolitan areas.

He and von Lieres ticked off these advantages that high-speed maglev trains would offer: Swift travel with high transport capacity per lane, track investment costs with high-speed conventional wheel-on-rail systems, flexible route alignment with minimum special construction requirements such as tunnels and bridges.

Low wear because of contact-free operation, electric propulsion therefore independence of oil as prime energy, prime energy consumption comparable with private car and substantially lower than short-haul aircraft, acceptably low noise level, predominantly aerodynamic.

'High-speed maglev trains will be able to fill the speed gap between car and railways on one side and air transportation on the other side,' Glatzel observed.

The Transrapid consortium is sponsored by the German Federal Ministry of Research, Research and Development of an electromagnetic rail system has been going on in West Germany for more than a decade. This year, Transrapid is spending some $45 million on the program, upping the total investment to more than $150 million.

Von Lieres advised the Commission audience that once the R&D phase is completed, the program will be turned over to German Railways system, Lufthansa, the West German national airline, and a service corporation to operate the maglev transport system that results.

Eventually, the consortium looks to a system that operates with five-minute intervals between trains on short and intermediate routes and with 100-mile stops on long distance routes.

Following their presentation, Chairman Poerner told the West Germans that he is impressed by the work of the Transrapid consortium.

'We are highly pleased to have your explanation of West German's high-speed rail technology and will be watching further developments with great interest,' said Poerner, a strong advocate of rapid rail passenger system for Texas.

'If the maglev rail system proves as practical as it appears to be, it is good to think of traveling from Austin to Dallas by surface transportation in about one hour,' Poerner told Glatzel and von Lieres.

64 Gas Discoveries Reported In Last Half Of May

Texas operators reported 64 gas and 41 oil discoveries during the May 16-31, 1980, period, the Railroad Commission's Oil and Gas Division announced recently.

In the year-earlier period, 43 gas and 19 oil discoveries were filed with the state's energy regulatory agency.

Through the first five months of 1980, operators have reported 599 gas and 320 oil discoveries, against 550 gas and 187 oil discoveries in the year-earlier period. Successful exploratory and field completions in the five months of 1980 total 5,016 oil and 2,306 gas, against 3,233 oil and 2,342 gas completions in the same period last year.

Gas discoveries in the last half of May included 26 in deep South Texas, 16 in Southeast Texas, 12 in the Refugio area, two each in East Central Texas and West Central Texas and the San Angelo and Midland areas, and one each in East Texas and the San Antonio area.

Oil discoveries included eight in deep South Texas, six in the San Angelo area, five in West Central Texas, four each in Southeast Texas and the Refugio area, three each in the Midland and Lubbock areas, and two each in North Texas, East Central Texas, East Texas and the San Antonio area.

In the May 16-31 period, operators reported 204 exploratory and field tests wound up as dry holes.

New applications for permits to drill oil and gas tests totaled 1,157 in the last half of May compared with 993 in the same period of 1979.

Applications to drill, deepen, plugback and for service wells in the May 16-31 period amounted to 1,288 against 1,151 a year earlier. Operators filed 255 amended applications to drill. A year earlier they submitted 247 amended requests.

There have been 12,343 applications to drill new oil and gas tests this year, against 7,867 in the same period of 1979. Applications to drill, deepen, plugback and for service wells so far this year total 13,670 against 9,242 in the five months of 1979.

RRC Continues Top Crude Oil Allowable Through June

The Railroad Commission today set the Texas oil production rate for June 1980 at 100 percent of market demand for the 40th month in a row and the 96th time since the Commission went to the ceiling level in April 1972.

Chairman John H. Poerner and Commissioner James E. (Jim) Nugent directed the continuance of the maximum statewide allowable after receiving and reviewing purchaser nominations for Texas oil in June totaling 2,622,425 barrels daily, a decrease of 25,013 barrels daily when compared with May buyer requests. June 1979 nominations totaled 2,758,745 barrels daily. Commissioner Mack Wallace was attending the annual meeting of the Interstate Mining Compact Commission in Tulsa.

June's permissible rate of output is calculated to average 3,425,744 barrels daily with actual production estimated at 2,580,000 barrels daily. The maximum allowable applies to all but 11 fields in Texas that are assigned lower legal rates of flow for conservation reasons. Actual production in June 1979 averaged 2,685,412 barrels daily.

Poerner reported that June 1980 nominations for the purchase of Texas gas totaled 24,137,602 Mcf daily. Gas nominations for May amounted to 24,379,796 Mcf daily. June 1979 gas nominations totaled 23,239,089 Mcf daily.

The next statewide oil and gas hearing will be held on Wednesday, June 18, at 9 a.m. at the Quality Inn here.

Major purchasers filed these floor nominations for Texas oil in June:

J.E. Woolley of Arco Petroleum Products, 150,000 barrels daily, unchanged from May nomination; A.L. Gagneux of Mobil Oil, 223,000, down 1,200 barrels daily; Mason J. Nevill of Shell, 227,000, down 2,000; L.R. Lawless of Union Oil, 38,300, up 100 barrels daily.

Wayne Glasgow of Phillips, 80,000, unchanged; D.L. Williams of Gulf, 123,000, down 2,000; George Ethridge of Amoco, 242,500, down 2,500; C.J. Boudreaux of Exxon, 349,000, down 5,000; Don Pierson of Sun, 92,425, down 90,000, unchanged; M.R. McKown of Marathon, 67,460, unchanged; and M.S. Curtis of Conoco, 56,000, unchanged.

Mobil, Shell, Gulf, Amoco and Sun representatives indicated that their lower nominations were normal for this time of year. The Exxon spokesman said his company's reduction is an attempt to adjust forecasts to anticipated receipts of crude oil RRC Districts 2, 3, and 6 (the Refugio, Southeast Texas and East Texas Field areas.)

Chairman Poerner reported that crude oil and petroleum products imports into the U.S. averaged 6,659,000 barrels daily in the four weeks ending May 2, representing a decrease of 1,210,000 barrels when compared with the same 1979 period. In the four weeks ending April 4, imports averaged 6,980,000 barrels daily.

Comments Of RRC Chairman Poerner

Recently there was a conference held at the Railroad Commission office on the tight sands issue. It will be very important to gas production in Texas. We have invited the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission to come and attend and be a witness to what is being said by Texans who are in the production of natural gas, particularly the tight sands formations.

I want to invite each of you to go by that hearing if you have time. I think it will be very interesting.

I also want to say, as I announced a couple of months ago concerning the hearings to be held next year, that within a month or two the Commission will set the time and the place and location of a particular city in which the statewide hearings will be held next year. The Commission has heard from about two or three of you about the possibility of holding them somewhere other than Austin. If you do have an opinion please send a letter to the Commission, stating your opinion about holding these hearings in a location other than Austin. I suspect that we will take this matter up sometime about July or August.
