Ambulance Fund Still Short By $4,200

The new ambulance is expected to arrive this week, but approximately $4,200 is still needed in donations to completely pay for the new vehicle.

Two weeks ago, Sutton County Commissioners agreed to underwrite the additional cost of the ambulance until the balance could be raised, and the City Council last week agreed to foot a $4,100 bill for radio equipment.

Pat Campbell, local Emergency Medical Technician, stressed the need for the new ambulance, especially in light of the many times Sonora and Sutton County are left without ambulance service during out-of-town runs.

"A trip to San Angelo usually takes 3 1/2 hours," Campbell said, "while delivering a patient to or from San Antonio takes a minimum of 6 1/2-7 hours, leaving us without any ambulance service."

"Twice in the last three months, we have had to make back-to-back trips to San Antonio," he added. "On the last one, we left at 4:30 in the morning and didn't get back (the second time) until 11 p.m."

Needless to say, Sonora was left without ambulance service during this entire day.

Campbell cited another recent example while delivering a patient to San Angelo. A car wreck occurred 10 miles west of town, and the Ozona ambulance had to be called, taking just over an hour to respond to a serious emergency.

On another occasion, the ambulance was bringing a patient back from San Angelo and had to respond to an accident east of town without unloading the patient.

On occasion, the ambulance has to make runs to towns as far away as Odessa, Temple and even Tyler, he added.

Campbell said the need for the second ambulance was needed, especially due to the sporadic nature of emergency calls.

"Last month, we only had seven or eight calls," Campbell went on, "but this month we have already had 21 calls."

The new radio equipment will be invaluable since the high band police frequency will allow both ambulances to communicate with any hospital in the state.

The need for the new radio equipment was vividly pointed out recently on one of the back-to-back San Antonio runs.

The crew had delivered a patient to a hospital there, and turned around to come back. The hospital there tried to radio them another patient needed to be transferred to Sonora, but the Sonora ambulance did not have that frequency on its radio.

The result was a trip all the way back to Sonora before finding out about the incident.

"The additional ambulance will give Sonora two fully equipped ambulances for either deliveries or emergency runs," Campbell said. "We will also have enough people for two full crews. We have four people enrolled in EMT school now."

"We really believe this will give better coverage for the city and county," Campbell said "and it should give us one of the best EMS systems for any town our size."

Suzie Rosford at first National Bank will handle all donations, and checks should be made payable to Sutton County Trust Fund.

Cathy Poloczek was selected first chair clarinet and Homer Samaniego was named third chair in the same section.

Brad Johnson was named second chair trombone, while Donna Moore and Clalene Stewart were picked second and fourth chair flutes, respectively.

The disappointment shows on the faces of Sonora Bronco Coaches Donald Patton, Jerry Hopkins and Bob Snodgrass as the realization of Sonora impending loss sets in. The Broncos dropped their bidistrict title to Stamford Friday night in San Angelo, 37-15. For full story, see Page 6A.

Jerry Lackey's Country Folk

My travels of recent date have been on the increase, much to my enjoyment because it gives me an opportunity to see and visit with folks. Besides, the roadside scenery is so beautiful, especially in the Texas Hill and Big Bend country. One doesn't need much of an excuse to travel. One problem I am running into as word gets out that I now have my own public relations and advertising firm in San Angelo is: what about Rehab? Well, if the editor will allow me a few lines here, perhaps we can clear-up this matter!

I still represent the West Texas Rehabilitation Centers as public relations director in the Southwest Texas Region. My duties with WTRC have been altered to a point allowing me time to spend my 25 years of experience as a journalist to other clients such as the Federal Land Bank Association and others. All my public relations/advertising accounts for Agri-Business Communications (my agency) are related in a way.

For example, this weekly column, the Cattleman's Round-Up for Crippled Children and Agriculture News Services (A branch of ABC offering writing and photography to cattle breeders and associations). All are inter-related.

I bumped into Chesley McDonald of Sterling City the other day. Back at the ranch after open-heart surgery, Chesley looks and feels great, by the way! Anyway, his question: "Now, I don't quite understand what your doing with this new business?"

I explained that legally I could help him promote his registered Hereford business and at the same time visit with him concerning CRCC of which he is a chairman in Sterling County. "Just doing my part to save energy!"

Community Outlook

By Don Holdridge

Rumors have it the Texas High School Coaches Association is seriously considering the possibility of filing suit against CBS.

The purpose—a loss of revenue at the gates of Friday night football games due to all those "Dallas" fans staying home to find out who shot J.R.

While all the Fuss over J.R.'s assassin has been a windfall for CBS (how about a windfall profits tax on them, with a commercial costing $250,000 for a 30-second spot—and to think, people gripe about our ad rates), many high school football coaches and athletic directors are deeply concerned about their budget for the rest of the year.

Even the women's libbers are thinking of joining forces with a group that has usually been on the opposite side of the fence.

Since gate receipts at football games are often a very important part of the overall athletic budget, these hostile women fear the loss of revenue may cut into the expansion of girls' sports which are seldom able to pay their own way. As one coach, whose losing record probably didn't help attendance, either, said, "I can't imagine nobody styin' home to watch some stupid soap opera when they have a chance to help build America's future at the football games. When our quarterback, Johnny Pipsqueak, gets sacked for a 25-yard loss and plum squished by som go-willa, that builds character. Now, if nobody shows up to watch Johnny get cremated, then just how long do you think he'll keep playin'? He wouldn't play football 10 minutes if there weren't nobody there to watch him! First thing you know, he'll be out messing around with the girls and them funny cigarettes and gettin' hisself into into all sorts of trouble."

"It's up to us to put a stop to this sort of thing before them #%/5 steal all our thunder and put the future of America in ruination."

Wanting to get all the facts before the public, I called the network's corporate headquarters for their side of the story, but as can be expected in such cases, a low level spokesperson said no comment would be forthcoming until any action was actually taken by the "enemy".

I did manage to contact one source high in the company ranks. Our squealer, who of course must remain unnamed, said the network legal brass was planning on blaming low attendance figures on the unseasonably cold weather in Texas—if they can ever get their weather forecasters to get the facts straight.

A special thanks goes out to all our friends in the oilfield for their help in keeping us up-to-date on local happenings in their companies. Hardly a week has gone by without someone bringing in some news from their company.

It is the only way for us to keep up with the various happenings, and we feel your employees will appreciate seeing their names in the paper. Again, thanks and keep up the good work.

David Creek finds some daylight in Friday night's 37-15 bidistrict loss to the Stamford Bulldogs in San Angelo. The usually potent Sonora offense could never get

David Bultron tackles Stamford's Edward Gardner after a pass reception, forcing a fumble. The Broncos were unable to capitalize on the break, while Stamford jumped on three Sonora miscues in the first half to take an insurmountable 16-3 lead in the 37-15 win.

Execution On Offense Key To Loss, Hopkins Says

"There's not that much difference in the two teams," Sonora Bronco Coach Jerry Hopkins reflected Monday after his squad's 37-15 bidistrict loss to Stamford Friday night. "We really didn't play that bad the first half," he said. "We just made it too easy for them to score. The Broncos trailed 16-3 at halftime of the game in San Angelo. One Bulldog field goal was set up by a fumbled punt snap, a touchdown was scored on a blocked punt and yet another was set up on a 40-yard return of an interception that was tipped in the air.

"We made mistakes offensively we haven't made since the first of the year," Hopkins said. "We just didn't execute like we worked out last week."

"They're a good club," he added, "and their play-off experience after winning bidistrict last year probably helped some."

"We should have gotten to them in the first quarter, but the kids were nervous. We needed something good early to calm us down."

Assistant Coach Bob Snodgrass added if Stamford's bad punt snap had come before Sonora's, the game might have gone the other direction.

Hopkins did brag on the defense, saying "we played a pretty good, reasonable defense" and singled out tackle Wesley Barton as having an outstanding game.

The Broncos finished the season with a 9-2 record, while Stamford at 11-0 will advance to the regional contest to meet Canutillo.

Broncos Top All District Picks

Two way selections Wesley Barton and David Sanchez headed a Sonora sweep of the 8-AAA All District team as the Broncos placed players in eight of the 22 positions.

Barton and Sanchez anchored both the offensive and defensive line and were the only two-way picks named.

They were joined on the offensive team by quarterback David Creek, fullback Rex Surber and end Ervey Vallejo.

Also named to the defensive squad was back John Blankenship.

Receiving the honorable mention nod on defense were back Joe David Favila, lineman Rodney Oliver and linebacker Robert Ponsetti, while Johnny Doan made honorable mention on offense at running back.

in number of positions of the honor team with six, followed by Brady with five, Coleman with three and Ballinger with one.

Other players voted to the elite squad were (offense) backs, Strube, Comanche, Woodruff, Coleman, McDonald, Brady; end, McMillan, Brady; guards, Franklin, Coleman, McDonald, Brady; and center, Works, Comanche.

Those named to the defensive team were linemen, Griffin, Coleman, Evans, Comanche Slayton, Comanche; linebacker, Price, Brady, Slaton, Comanche; defensive backs, Morris, Comanche, Stuart, Ballinger, and Ellilson, Brady.

John Blankenship (10) and Mike Villanueva (61) close in on Stamford's Edward Gardner during Friday night's 37-15 bidistrict loss to the Bulldogs. Gardner was the main offensive weapon for the Bronco opponents, scoring three times, two of them coming on runs of 54 and 84 yards.

The Stamford Bulldogs capitalized on three big breaks with 16 points in the first half and carried the momentum into a 37-15 bidistrict victory over Sonora Friday night in San Angelo.

Fumbles on two punts and a pass interception return set up all of Stamford's first half scoring to give them an insurmountable 16-3 lead over the Broncos at intermission.

The Bulldogs then turned the speed loose in the second half with all-state candidate Edward Gardner scoring on runs of 54 and 84 yards and Mike Cox hitting Kyle Whittenmore on 53-yard pass for another touchdown.

Sonora's 13-yard line proved a lucky spot for the Bulldogs as two of their first half drives started there.

Sonora cranked out a first down on their first series of the game, but came up a yard short at Bulldogs 42, forcing a punt.

Stamford sent the speedy Gardner into the Sonora defense three times, netting a loss of one yard.

The teams exchanged punts, then trying to punt again, Rex Surber could never get a handle on the high snap, giving Stamford possession at the 13.

The Bronco defense stiffened, allowing only four yards on three plays, forcing the Bulldogs to settle for a 26-yard field goal by Bart Rosenquist, his first successful attempt of the season.

On the second play of the next series, David Creek was intercepted by Don Howard who returned the ball all the way back to the Sonora 27-yard line.

A motion penalty slowed the Bulldogs temporarily, but Cox completed a 19-yard pass to Paul Gomes on third down for new life at the 13.

Gardner slashed 10 yards on the first play, then just inched over on a third down sweep.

Rosenquist booted the PAT for a 10-0 lead with 11:27 left on to play in the first half.

After Joe Longoria was stopped for a five-yard loss, Creek hit Johnny Doan on a 17-yard aerial to the Stamford 48. But a five-yard procedure penalty killed the drive, forcing another punt.

The punt snap sailed over Surber's head. He retreated to recover the ball and get the kick off, but Joe Garcia charged in just in time to block the kick

Sporting Chance By Don Holdridge

I usually don't like to criticize officials, although I have upon occasion (usually getting myself in hot water). But this particular criticism deals more with a trend overall than a specific problem.

Three years ago, the UIL changed girls basketball from the old six-player, halfcourt variety to the standard fullcourt. I was in favor, at least slightly, at that time and still am, although we probably won't see as good a brand of the game as possible for another year or two.

What bothers me is the increase in the number of injuries I have seen since that time. Perhaps I've just been in the wrong spot at the wrong time, but it certainly seems there are more serious injuries now than before the rule change.

Where under the old rules, only six girls could be around the ball at one time, there are now 10, and on rebounds and jump balls, it seems every single player is going after the ball.

The extra congestion creates an atmosphere of people bumping together, often causing tempers to flare. The end result is that the more contact involved, the more chance there is for injury.

Where officials have often overlooked such incidental contact in the boys games, players will feel their way to see how much they can get away with before they are called for a foul.

What at least seems to be the case is that officials, wishing not to call every nitpicky foul, find the game out of hand before long with more possibility for injuries.

By clamping down at the first of the game, officials can get their message across to the players quickly before the game has a chance to get out of hand.

I'm not trying to say this will eliminate all injuries--that would be ridiculous. But it should be a point for all officiating chapters to consider. If it stops one injury, then it is well worth the effort.

Sonora's bidistrict loss to Stamford was disappointing, to say the least. It had to be one of the strangest games I've seen in a while with the punt snap problems setting up three (yes, three) touchdowns and a quarterback throwing a pass, then catching it himself.

Stamford had a good football team, no doubt about it. But I have to believe the game would have had a different complexion without the three big breaks in the first half. Any way you look at it, the game was not as lopsided as the score would indicate.

Unfortunately, my picking luck wasn't much better than that of the Broncos. I hit on only 12 of 21 attempts, bringing my season total down even farther to 157 of 238 for a .660 season percentage. I would have had a fairly decent week, but the four games I added on besides those all four.

Texas A&M at Texas

The Aggies are hoping to save some pride with a win in this old rivalry, but only the Longhorn injuries are keeping it close. Texas 24-13.

Texas Tech at Arkansas

The Razorbacks, if they have any pride, have to win this one to really be worthy of a bowl. Arkansas 14-6.

Rice at Houston

Nothing would round out the Owl's season in better fashion than to win this crosstown rivalry, but it won't happen. Houston 34-17.

Auburn at Alabama

The Tide is out, at least as far as the national championship goes, but they're not down yet. Alabama 27-10.

Army at Navy

Pittsburgh at Penn State

The Panthers looked to be the better team at the start of the season, but appearances are deceiving. Penn State 10-7.

Seattle at Dallas

The Seahawks always play well against the Cowboys, but Danny White always seems to come back strong after a less than stunning performance.

Cleveland at Houston

This one's hard to judge. It may well depend on how many of the Oilers' casualties return--especially a certain one. I think they'll be back, since this is a MUST game. Houston 27-23.

Tampa Bay at Green Bay

The Battle of the Bays. The Packers have caught fire lately, but even hot fires have to smoulder some. Tampa Bay 13-10.

Minnesota at New Orleans

Upset of the week. The Saints are ailing, but they're due to win one sometime. New Orleans 17-16.

Philadelphia at San Diego

Maybe this is finally the week for the Eagles to get shot down. I'm bound to get it right sometime. San Diego 42-38.

Other Picks

Buffalo over Baltimore, Cincinnati over Kansas City, Pittsburgh over Miami, New England over San Francisco, Los Angeles over NY Jets, St. Louis over NY Giants, Atlanta over Washington, and Oakland over Denver.

Girls Drop Two Cage Contests

Foul problems, poor free throw shooting and injuries combined to send the Sonora Bronco girls down to two defeats last week.

The Broncos fell victim to a second half rally Tuesday night by Junction, falling 46-37, then were blasted in Eldorado, 56-25, Thursday night.

Sonora jumped out to a 15-7 first quarter lead and held on as Junction slowly chipped away at the edge, pulling to within one point at the beginning of the final period, 30-29.

Disaster began to strike as Rosa Noriega fouled out and first, Jessica Robledo, then Annabelle Gonzales went down with injuries.

The Bronco girls got off only four shots in the fourth stanza and scored only seven points while the Eagles were amassing 17 to capture to win.

Sonora was tagged with 25 personals in the foul marred contest to only 19 for Junction and shot a cold 53 percent from the charity line, hitting only 15 of 28 free throws.

Robledo with an ankle injury and Gonzales with a knee injury are both expected to be out of the rotation for at least two weeks.

Paula Friess led the Bronco scoring with 12 points, followed by Robledo with 11, Noriega and Daphney Smith with four each and Gonzales and Tonya Evans, both with three.

The Broncos kept within striking range during the first half at Eldorado, trailing on 8-6 after the initial period and 18-11 at half-time.

But the Eagles came back on a tear in the third quarter, outscoring their visitors, 22-3, for an insurmountable 40-14 lead.

Again foul problems cost the team as they were whistled 26 times to only 22 for their hosts.

The free throw shooting was a problem again, also as they could hit only 13 of 27 for 48 percent.

Noriega paced the scoring with seven points, followed by Debbie Kemp with six, Friess with five, Evans and Julie Stewart with three each and Tonya Ridgeway with one.

The girls' next game will be Tuesday in Menard.

JV Girls Split, Freshman Fall

The Sonora junior varsity girls split a pair of games last week while the freshman team dropped its only decision.

The JV put on a fourth quarter rally to down Junction Tuesday, 34-33, then were downed by Eldorado, 64-43.

Sonora held a 20-14 lead at the half of the Junction game, but were outscored by their visitors, 13-2 in the third quarter to trail by five points.

They put on a scoring splurge in the final period to gain the victory.

Sonya Ridgeway headed the scoring attack with 10 points, while Kristi Hill and Delma Noriega each canned eight, Lora Lea Kordzik nailed four and Anna Mata and Tanna Tyler each added two.

Eldorado held a commanding 33-15 lead in the Thursday night game before outscoring this time fore outscoring their visitors 31-28 in the final half.

Kordzik led the scoring this time with 12 points, followed closely by ridgeway with 10.

Other scorers were Noriega with nine, Hill with six and Mata, Tyler and Debra Maldonado with two each.

The freshman found rough sledding in their game with Eldorado Thursday, falling 52-18.

The game was close in the first half, as they trailed only 8-4 and 24-15 after the first two quarters, but were outgunned, 28-3 in the last half.

Patricia Bible was the leading scorer for the ninth graders with seven points, followed by Lisa Herrington with five and Kathryn Parker, Casey Crites and Debbie Pohl, all with two.

Patricia Bible was the leading scorer for the ninth graders with seven points, followed by Lisa Herrington with five and Kathryn Parker, Casey Crites and Debbie Pohl, all with two.

The JV led 13-11 after the opening period, but the Lions knotted the score by halftime, 29-29.

Sonora edged ahead, 37-33, by the end of the third quarter, then outscored their host, 17-10, in the final stanza for the victory.

Ronnie Anderson with 13 points and Allen Stewart with 14 paced the Sonora scoring, followed by Armando Martinez with seven, Lace Love and Joey Samaniego with four each and Jeff Brittain with two.

The ninth graders were not so fortunate. After trailing 11-4 at the end of the first quarter, they cut the lead to 14-11 at intermission.

Gardner finally broke the explosive Bulldogs loose on their second series of the second half with a 54-yard draw play.

Rosenquist again hit his kick true, pushing the margin to 23-3.

DeVoe Smith got an 18-yard return out to the 36-yard line, and Creek ripped off 11 yards on the first play, but again the usually potent Broncos offense stalled, forcing a punt.

The defense then went to work, sacking Cox for losses of three and two yards, then forcing an incomple-

The Broncos then got their first break as Cox suffered Surber's fate as the punt snap sailed over his head and into the endzone.

Instead of taking the safety, Cox tried to run the ball out and was tackled on the three-yard line.

Two plays later, Surber powered over the right side for the first Sonora TD of the night. Creek's kick sailed wide left.

The Bulldogs needed only seven plays to cover the 76 yards after the kickoff, with the 53-yard bomb to Whittemore covering the final distance and giving Stamford back whatever momentum they might have lost.

Rosenquist's PAT pushed the score to 30-9 with 3:25 remaining in the third stanza.

The Bulldogs got another chance to score on their next possession, moving down to the Sonora 15 before Rosenquist missed a 21-yard field goal attempt.

The Sonora offense stalled again, but Surber boomed a 56-yard punt that supposedly pinned Stamford at its own 15.

The Bulldogs refused to stay caged, and on the second play, Gardner circled left end, put some moves on some would-be tacklers and simply outran the others 84 yards to paydirt.

Rocky Lewis kicked the conversion this time, moving the margin to 37-9 with 7:10 left in the game.

Interceptions on Sonora's next two possessions sealed the Bronco fate, but Johnny Doan started a face-saving drive by intercepting reserve quarterback Ted Scarborough and returning it 11 yards to the Stamford 46.

Creek hit tight end Mark Doan for a 19 yard gain, then connected with the older Doan on tosses of 14 and 11 yards that put the ball at the Bulldog 10.

Four plays later, Creek rolled out and covered the final yard of real estate for the tally. His pass attempt for the PAT was intercepted, leaving the final score at 37-15.

World Oil & Gas Show Slated For December

A conference featuring the latest techniques in production and drilling, gas liquids and petrochemicals is planned for the World Oil & Gas Show and Conference to be held in Dallas, Texas, December 14-17, 1981.

Gerald L. Farrar, president of Gerald L. Farrar and Associates, Inc. of Tulsa, Oklahoma has been appointed executive director of the conference, according to Martin Dwyer, the show's general manager.

Dwyer said that Farrar's 25 years experience as Editorial Director for Engineering of the Oil & Gas Journal and five years with Mobil Oil Corporation, as well as his present Worldwide Oil Industry consultant will assure a most worthwhile conference.

Farrar plans an opening general session Dec. 14, three simultaneous meetings Dec. 15, and another general session Dec. 16 and a half day on the Mexican oil situation, Dec. 17.

Farrar holds a B.S., M.S. and Ch.E. degree in Chemical Engineering from Texas Tech A&M University and is a member of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers and Instrument Society of America.

"The talent selected for the Conference Director is the calibre to be used throughout to insure a show of value in getting new and improved technology and equipment before the oil industry faster than normal," said Dwyer.

"Thus, the show will be part of the United States oil industry race to develop more conventional energy as fast as possible."

Dwyer is head of Martin C. Dwyer, International, Chicago, Division of Clapp & Poliak, Inc.

The World Oil and Gas Show is being schedule biennially.

Exhibit space sales have so far exceeded all expectations, said Dwyer.

El Paso Company Has Bright Future

Exploration and production will soon become the most profitable activity of The El Paso Company, Travis Petty, chairman and president, told members of the New York Society of Security Analysts.

"This is a growing facet of our business which I would expect to surpass our transmission division in terms of profitability within the next few years," Petty said. He also stated that exploration and development provided $41 million of operating income in 1979 which would increase to roughly $50-52 million in 1980. For 1981, he projected a substantial increase over 1980's gain.

In discussing 1980 earnings, Petty said that the nine months and third quarter net income results were principally affected by the curtailment since April 1, 1980, of LNG deliveries from Algeria. He also stated that fourth quarter earnings will be negatively affected because the LNG project is still in a state of idleness. "With earnings through the third quarter of $1.05 per share and no immediate start-up of the LNG operation, it now appears 1980 earnings should be in the vicinity of $1.25 per share," he said.

He noted that although recent meetings had been held between representatives of the Algerian government and the U.S. government with respect to the price impasse under the Company's Algerian LNG project, no agreement has yet been reached. Assuming an early agreement with Algeria, which the Company is hopeful will be achieved, a six-ship operation should be achieved by the second half of 1981. Given this scenario, Petty stated that it is not expected that LNG earnings for the full year 1981 will reach the breakeven point; however, the contributions of the other business segments of the Company should be in the range of 1979's net income level. He concluded, therefore, that 1981 earnings should be materially improved over 1980, but still below the record level achieved in 1979.

Exploration and production will receive the lion's share of El Paso's expenditures proposed for 1981 -- $226 million -- out of a planned $405 million budget. The other major expenditure -- $156 million -- will be for the interstate transmission system. Much of this investment will be used to attach new gas supplies, Petty stated the transmission segment should provide a stable and growing earnings base for the Company.

With respect to capital financing in 1981, Petty said that he would expect the Company to issue approximately $250 million in the form of senior securities. He said there are no plans to issue additional common stock at this time.

Petty noted that the El Paso Directors, within the past two weeks, declared the regular quarterly dividend of 37 cents, a level established a year ago. In this connection, he stated that the Company was quite aware that dividend increases were necessary to provide stockholders income protection, particularly during periods of high inflation. He said the directors would review the current rate with an eye towards rewarding the stockholders as soon as earnings return to a more normal level.

The El Paso Company is an energy company with major interests in natural gas transmission, gas and oil production, liquefied natural gas transportation and chemical manufacturing.

RRC Approves Secondary Recovery Operations In Texas

The Railroad Commission has approved the initiation of secondary recovery operations in southwest and west central Texas fields that are expected to result in the production of more than 2.6 million barrels of additional oil.

Chairman John Poerner and Commissioners James E. (Jim) Nugent and Mack Wallace acted on applications of the Getty Oil Co. and Sands Energy Corp., Inc., to unitize and operate waterflood programs in portions of the Camar (Strawn-Oil) and the S.L.C. (Tannehill) Fields during the weekly conference on Oil and Gas Division matters. Sands Energy is based in Abilene.

Camar (Strawn-Oil) is located in Schleicher County and S.L.C. (Tannehill) is in Jones and Stonewall Counties.

Approval of both applications was recommended by Senior Staff Engineer Willis C. Steed and Legal Examiner Susan Cory Kovar, who conducted public hearings on the two requests last October.

The Getty-operated unit in Schleicher County consists of 3,200 surface acres of which 1,680 are considered productive. Since first production in March 1959, the unit area has yielded more than 2.9 million barrels of oil. Some 1.9 million barrels of oil are expected to be recovered as the result of direct injection of salt water under Getty's secondary recovery program.

Camar currently has 36 producing wells, averaging three barrels of oil per day from the Strawn formation that is encountered at approximately 4,300 feet. Getty plans to use 19 injection wells that will be cased and cemented so that all fresh water zones are protected. Maximum injection rate will be 8,000 barrels of salt water daily.

Sands Energy's Pastura Unit is the S.L.C. (Tannehill) Field will consist of some 386 surface acres. Since production was first opened there in early 1959, the area has yielded 110,642 barrels of oil. There is no production in the area at present.

The newly approved secondary recovery program is expected to result in the recovery of an additional 754,975 barrels of oil.

Plans for the new unit call for the drilling of 12 producing wells and one injection well at this time. Also, four additional wells will be reentered and completed as injection wells. Salt water will be injected at the maximum rate of 750 barrels daily.

The Tannehill formation occurs at a depth of approximately 2,450 feet.

Letter To The Editor

To the Editor:

1. We made a mistake when we gave the Governor of Texas the power to remove his appointees.
 2. Texas is the best governed of any large industrial state. We should not change our state constitution without careful and lengthy deliberation. When we have a good thing going, we don't want to mess up.
 3. Conflicts between Governors and appointees are likely to arise. The appointee may know more about the state agency than the Governor when he is first appointed to the position.

His special knowledge or talents in this area may have been the reason for his selection. After a short time in his Director's post, he should be considerably more knowledgeable about the issues, responsibilities and finances of the State agency than the Governor. In any conflicts with the Governor, the odds are that the appointee will be in the right.
 4. When people are put into positions of great power they sometimes change and do not exercise the good judgement they showed in the past. The Governor had enough power before Amendment No. 6 was approved by the voters.

 5. You take greater care in selecting directors when they are hard to remove.
 6. If the Directors of State Agencies are easy to remove, they are more likely to put individuals on that will do as the Governor directs.
 7. There is now danger that the Boards of Directors of State agencies will be used by the political parties or a Governor running for President, reelection, or U.S. Senator to remove salaried people in the State agencies and put their own people in.

8. Increases the influence of large contributors who are not willing to take the time themselves to serve on the Board of Directors of State agencies.

9. Strong, capable governors in the past were able to govern effectively.

10. Texas State Government has a good record of withstanding Federal pressure. Governors are easier to manipulate than Boards of Directors of State agencies made up of business and professional men.

11. The Constitution says that an officer may not be removed unless charges specifying cause for removal are brought and the officer is given the opportunity to defend against the charges in a trial or trial-type hearing. Amendment No. 6 provided an additional method of removal that eliminates the requirements that cause for the removal be specified and that a trial or other opportunity be held for the officer subject to removal to answer charges.

12. The resulting publicity of removal proceedings without the opportunity to answer charges brought against the director can be very damaging to him as an individual and to his family.

13. The people of Texas should have the opportunity to vote on this issue again.

into the categories which appear on Schedule A Form 1040, the IRS says. When itemizing, taxpayers should bear in mind interest paid on loans and mortgages, as well as payments for medical insurance which are documented on various financial statements. These amounts are often deductible, and frequently overlooked.
 Medical expenses, union dues and charitable contributions are a few other commonly claimed deductions for which IRS examiners often request supporting evidence. Keeping cancelled checks, pay stubs, and bills can be helpful in supporting these claims. However, the IRS notes that taxpayers should not attach receipts or cancelled checks to their tax returns.
