Hunter Van Pelt Makes Stopover In Sonora

Hunter Van Pelt, a victim of Cerebral Palsy who is bicycling across the country, stopped in Sonora last Tuesday and touched the hearts of everyone that greeted him. "We started from the United Nations Building in New York City on August 31, and plan on being in Los Angeles on about December 8," Van Pelt said. "I'm doing this to raise donations for braces and wheelchairs for handicapped children," Van Pelt added. Vickie Van Pelt, Hunter's sister who is traveling with Hunter, has written a movie about Hunter. "It's being negotiated with a network right now. It's called 'Ride a Crooked Mile' and it deals with the courage, faith, and adversity that Hunter has faced," Mrs. Van Pelt said. "I see his knees bleed at night and see him fall off his bicycle, but I always see him get right back on," Vickie said. When asked how Hunter liked Texas, he replied, "I've had so many fabulous experiences in Texas. The people are so friendly and they just seem to do everything bigger and better in Texas." Ms. Van Pelt added that Hunter was the first bicyclist allowed to travel on Interstate 10 in Texas and they have had state troopers escort them most of the way. Van Pelt said that he had ridden from Kerrville to Sonora that day. "I stayed a few days in San Antonio, but only after having ridden 130 miles the day before," Van Pelt said. "We've been invited by the U.N. to take a European cross-country trip for U.N.I.C.E.F. We might do it after we finish this trip," Ms. Van Pelt said. From the small group of people that met Van Pelt at Ashley's, over $200 was collected in donations. Ashley's Western Wear presented Hunter with a generous donation of a goosedown jacket and the cowboy hat of his choice.

Sandra Cooper, president of the Chamber of Commerce, presented Hunter with an honorary membership to the Chamber of Commerce. Van Pelt stayed overnight in Sonora in a room furnished by Twin Oaks Motel. His meals were furnished by Big Tree Restaurant. Donations can be sent to: Hunter Van Pelt; G.A.T.S.E. '81; 535 S. Alexandria Ave. #125; Los Angeles, Calif. 90020. The small group of Sonorans that greeted Hunter Van Pelt are not likely to soon forget him and his example of determination over disability.

Planning Committee To Meet

With School Board November 30

Superintendent Joe McAndrew announced in the School Board meeting Tuesday, Oct. 10, that the representatives of the long-range planning committee will meet with the Board of Trustees and the public on Monday, November 30 at 7:00 p.m. The Planning Committee has been doing research on the growth patterns of Sonora in order to help the school board come up with long-range plans. The representatives will be in the school administration building all day on Nov. 30 to hear suggestions from citizens and the public is invited to offer any suggestions they might have. The board also accepted a bid from Sonora Ford to lease a Driver-Education car for $145 per month. A bid was accepted for a new speaker system to be installed at the stadium. The amplifiers had been stolen from the stadium this past summer and the school is currently leasing one.

The complete new system will allow the volume to reach the visitor side without turning up the volume. The board also decided to have an auction on surplus equipment that will be announced at a later time. The total student enrollment is 1,344.

Rios Resigns From Sheriff's Department

Sheriff Bill Webster announced Monday that Deputy Joe Rios has resigned from the Sheriff's Department for personal reasons. The resignation will be effective November 24. Before coming to Sonora in June, 1980 Rios had worked in the sheriff's department in Odessa. "It is with deep regret that I accept this resignation, but I understand and wish Joe the best," Webster added.

Jones House To Host Open House Friday

The Jones House promises to be a most unique, welcome addition to Sonora. Food will be served in the Jones House unusual dining room from 7:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Monday through Friday and a lunch menu will be served daily from 11:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m. with the menu changed weekly. The Jones House offers a gift shop, pastry room, dining room and a meeting room for small parties. Unique gifts in a price range from $5.00 to $5,000.00 will be put together and individually packaged.

School To Be Dismissed Early For Holiday

All schools in Sonora will be released early on Wednesday, Nov. 25, for the Thanksgiving holidays. Schools will dismiss at 2:30 on that day, with the buses to run shortly thereafter, according to W.A. McAndrew, superintendent. All classes will resume on regular schedule on Monday, Nov. 30.

Davenport Wins Football Contest

Richard Davenport took first place in last week's Devil's River News Football Contest by missing five games. They were Rice at Baylor, Florida State at Southern Mississippi, Oklahoma at Missouri, Southern Cal at Washington and Dallas at Detroit. Winning second place honors was Elmer Garlitz of Eldorado. Third place winner was Mark Doan, both missing five. First, second, and third place were decided by the tie-breaker. Ernest Gonzales also missed five games. The most often missed games were the Oklahoma at Missouri, Southern Cal at Washington, and Dallas at Detroit.

Funds Still Needed For Deena DeMarco

The Sonora Petroettes have announced that more funds are needed for Deena DeMarco who was severely burned October 27. Expenses for Miss DeMarco are running approximately $1,680 a day and only $1,000 has been raised in donations so far.

Collection jars have been placed in local businesses and persons are also reminded that donations made at the bank can be written off the donor's income tax. Businesses are asked to donate and challenge other businesses to match the donations.

Kappa Gamma To Hold Blood Drive Thursday

Kappa Gamma will sponsor a blood drive Thursday, November 19, in the Founders' Room of the First National Bank from 1:00 p.m. to 7:00 p.m. To be eligible to donate, a person must be between the ages of 17 and 70 and in good health. All 17-year olds must have signed a minor donor permit card which may be picked up at the high school. All donors will be eligible for the two $50.00 drawings. Kappa Gamma members will be on hand serving homemade cookies and juice during the drive. Please call 387-2332 or 387-3096 for more information.

Sonora and And Ballinger Youth Join In Fellowship

A trip to the Sonora Caverns highlighted a joint youth fellowship event for 10 members of Ballinger's First Presbyterian Church recently.

Junior high and senior high members of Sonora's Church of the Good Shepherd hosted the overnight fellowship, which featured a late-night campfire and several hours of "keep-away" on the church grounds.

Ballinger's senior high were guests of the Sonora youth at the high school dance, following the Bronco-Bearcat football game.

Judy Miles, Church of the Good Shepherd youth leader, and Rev. Jim Miles were host leaders for the event.

Following a full night of activities, breakfast of scrambled eggs and sausage with milk, orange juice and donuts were served before the group visited the Sonora Caverns.

For most of the Ballinger youth this was their first trip to the famous "living" caverns.

The Ballinger Presbyterian youth group plans a similar event in the future, hosting the Sonora youth in Ballinger.

Smokeout Planned November 19

In a move sure to break tradition, the American Cancer Society announced today that a real, live 100-pound armadillo will serve as honorary chairman of the 1981 Great American Smokeout in Texas.

A native of South America recently acquired by the San Antonio Zoo, the armadillo will lead Texas' participation in the Smokeout, an event sponsored by the ACS nationwide to encourage smokers to give up their cigarettes for just one day--November 19.

The animal's sudden claim to fame was brought about by ACS volunteers wanting to emphasize the Texas identity of the Smokeout.

"Not only does he not smoke, with his size he's a real attention grabber, believe me," said Penny Reeves, Austin radio personality and volunteer coordinator of Smokeout activities in Texas. "In the past we've had some terrific Texans like Lee Trevino and Larry Gatlin as honorary chairmen--but this armadillo, though not a native, represents Texas perhaps more than any one--or anything."

A survey conducted by the Gallup organization last year indicated nearly 16.5 million Americans attempted to give up cigarettes on Smokeout day. Just under 5 million made it the full 24 hours. One to ten days later, 2.2 million were still not smoking.

Activities to help further celebrate the smokeless day are planned in most cities and towns throughout the state. Rallies with local celebrities are planned in Fort Worth, Houston, Austin, Dallas and San Antonio.

Other cities and towns are planning similar rallies and events with involvement of Youth Against Cancer (YAC) groups; pledge booths at shopping centers and malls; anti-smoking educational programs and a range of publicity events designed to draw attention to November 19.

All Texas smokers are invited to join in the fun. They may contact their local ACS volunteers or office for a pledge card, tips on quitting or information on locally planned Smokeout events.

Reports from Washington

Some Facts On Oil Decontrol

When President Reagan removed the last remaining controls from the price of oil and dismantled the eight-year-long "temporary" allocation program, some skeptics said prices would skyrocket, that massive oil imports would continue, and that no real increase in domestic production would result.

The facts have proved otherwise. Exploration boomed. Consumption decreased. U.S. oil imports dropped. Prices stabilized -- they even declined.

Decontrol has proven that America's energy industries, from the small independent producer to the large corporation, stand ready and willing to embark upon an ambitious program to reduce our reliance on imported oil by providing the greatest amount of domestic energy at the lowest possible price.

Briefly, let's look for a moment at what the latest figures tell us about the effects of decontrol.

Critics said decontrol would not increase supplies or decrease demand. The number of newly discovered producing wells was up 41.6 percent from January to July of this year as compared to the same period in 1980. The number of active rotary drilling rigs in August of this year was up 36 percent over the same period last year. Total domestic production of crude oil has increased by more than 150,000 barrels per day during the past twelve months.

During the first six months of this year our domestic consumption dropped by 232 million barrels of oil from 1980. At the same time, our total oil imports actually fell for the first time in years by 300 million barrels over the same period last year.

Critics of decontrol said it would cause substantial increases in fuel prices, even assuming no large OPEC price increase.

But the average gasoline price for all grades was actually down an average of 2.6 cents in June 1981, compared to April 1981. And the average price of No. 2 heating oil was down 4.1 cents in May compared to March 1981.

The best news by far is that domestic drilling activity is at an all-time high while imports of OPEC oil are down to a 13-year low and likely to dip even further.

While some experts believe that OPEC no longer holds all the cards in the world oil market, this nation's and the world's energy problems are far from being solved. American industry is not to blame. For despite the industry's best efforts, our reliance on OPEC for approximately one-third of our energy needs means that those countries will continue to set the price and determine the availability of the energy we need for American homes and factories until we regain domestic energy self-sufficiency.

Because crude oil and natural gas still provide more than 70 percent of our total energy needs, we must remove still further impediments to the production and use of our great energy wealth:

- Deregulation of natural gas. Allowing the price of natural gas to rise to its true value will discourage the inefficient use of this resource and provide a stable domestic supply of clean-burning fuel for the future.

- Development and implementation of a sound plan for mineral exploration on more than two-thirds of our Federal lands that are either closed or effectively restricted from energy and mineral development. We can develop these frontiers -- which may contain reserves of oil and gas equal to all known deposits to date -- and do so in an environmentally acceptable manner.

- Elimination of the Department of Energy. This is a $10 billion tax drain which has not produced one additional barrel of oil and has added to the costs all of us must pay for running this bloated bureaucracy.

- Accelerate filling of the Strategic Petroleum Reserve. In the event of an oil crisis, we must be prepared to deal with a supply interruption with energy -- not with government rationing stamps.

It is my firm belief that, given the opportunity to earn the necessary investment funds and the opportunity to compete in the marketplace without government interference, America's energy industry will do its job -- using American dollars to provide American jobs to produce American energy for the future.

A new you -- that's what you'll be when you quit smoking. You'll regain your energy, your wind, even your fresh-smelling breath. Learn more about the benefits of quitting cigarettes from the American Cancer Society. Then join the Great American Smokeout, Thursday, November 19, when smokers across the nation go smoke-less for the day.

Cattle Raisers Association Pledges Support For Watt During Meeting

The board of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association passed a resolution wholeheartedly supporting Secretary of Interior James G. Watt during its meeting in Kerrville, Texas, Oct. 31.

The beleaguered Watt, target of a concerted effort to remove him from office, won the cattlemen's endorsement for his efforts to properly manage public lands. An expression of gratitude for his leadership, foresight and courage was sent to the White House, Watt and the Texas delegation, says John S. Cargile, TSCRA president from San Angelo.

Nearly 300 cattlemen from Texas and Oklahoma were on hand to pass the resolution. The group, a 104-year-old non-profit livestock organization, represents 14,000 livestock producers in the South west.

The unanimous resolution noted that, for the first time in decades, the Interior Department has a secretary trying to fulfill the mandate of the President and the majority of the people for preservation, proper management and multiple use of the public lands held in trust by his department.

The cattlemen also pointed to the deteriorating park system under previous secretaries who allowed land-hungry bureaucrats to acquire useless lands for more parks when the existing system suffered from poor management. Watt's effort to curb this situation was praised by the cattlemen, as was his plans for "an orderly and proper multiple use of existing facilities where oil, gas, timber, water and strategic minerals await development vital to our nation's growth and security."

U.S. Rep. Tom Loeffler, R-Hunt, before basically a "hometown" crowd, told the cattlemen that Watt was indeed under pressure, but that the criticism came from those who didn't understand the real world and the need for more available products.

Loeffler, a rancher himself, told the group he would take his hat off to them for their support of the budget cuts earlier this year. He called it the "New Beginning...and it's in your hip pocket for as long as you want to keep it."

As a result, the growth in Federal spending has, for the first time, decreased from annual basic increase in growth of 15 percent to 7.5 percent. Loeffler said a 5 percent growth rate is attainable. Coupled with the largest tax cut in U.S. history, Americans have indeed a "New Beginning." Don't give it up now, he warned.

The controversial immigration program proposed by the Reagan administration was reviewed by Kenneth Starr, chief counsel to the U.S. Attorney General. Additional review was provided by members of Texas Governor Clement's staff.

Among the more interesting statistics cited by Starr was the only 15 to 20 percent of the illegal aliens in the U.S. work in agriculture, according to U.S. Department of Agriculture, statistics. The remainder of the 3.5 to six million work in manufacturing, services, etc., Starr said.

More than 1.5 million illegals enter the U.S. annually. Apprehensions by the Immigration and Naturalization Service (INS) have increased from 64,000 in 1965 to over one million annually for the last four years, Starr said. The INS is at the breaking point.

The Reagan administration's proposal steps up enforcement regulations including criminal penalties against certain employers who knowingly hire undocumented workers.

Cargile, one of several key industry leaders invited by USDA to review its meat inspection standards following the Australian horsemeat scandal, discussed his findings at Newark, N.J., and legislative plans to strengthen meat inspection as a part of the current farm bill.

A coalition of consumer and cattle organizations, including TSCRA, has endorsed the English Amendment to the National Meat Inspection Act now in a House-Senate conference committee after passage by the House recently. The bill requires species testing for imported meat and restricts the importation of meat produced with chemicals and additives banned for use in U.S. production.

USDA and the Reagan administration oppose any meat inspection bill, at this point, as a non-tariff trade barrier and are trying to get the conference committee to drop both proposals.

The chances of the bill's survival if the Administration brings a great deal of pressure to bear will depend on the support of men like Texas Congressman Kika de la Garza, chairman of the powerful House Agriculture Committee.

State Rep. Gerald Geistweidt, D-Mason, discussed wildlife and criminal trespass laws, including hunting in state-owned riverbeds. He was joined by David Palmer and Don Frels of Texas Parks and Wildlife Service who explained "Operation Game Thief" and buck permits.

Board was presented by John Huston of the Chicago-based group. The program is financed through voluntary 25-cent contributions made when cattle producers market their cattle.

Other speakers included Charles Schreiner III of Mountain Home and Charles Ross IV of Roff.

Midland, land use and the environment committee; John M. Shelton III of Amarillo, legislative and tax committee; J.D. Sartwell of Sealy, marketing committee; and J.E. Birdwell II of Lubbock, animal health committee.

TSCRA's next meeting will be its annual convention, trade show and heritage sale in Dallas, March 10-13, 1982.

Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association will sponsor a membership team roping and barrel race at the G. Rollie White Downs Arena in Brady, Texas, Saturday, November 21, says Don C. King, TSCRA secretary-general manager.

"The team roping will be a three-header, progressive after one. Entry fee is $50 per team and includes a $10 stock charge. Both the header and the heeler must be members to rope," King said.

Entry fee for the membership barrel race is $25 and includes one go-round and a short go.

The champion header, heeler and barrel racer will receive trophy buckles.

Competition will begin at 11:00 a.m. Saturday. Non-members can join the Association the day of the contest.

Entries can be called in to TSCRA Field Inspector

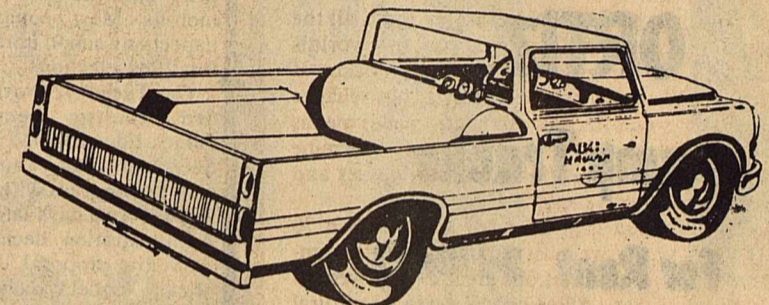

Jack Andrews at 915-597-1416.

"The TSCRA Team roping at Brady is a part of the ongoing membership drive for the 14,000 member livestock producer organization," King said. TSCRA a 104-year-old cattle association, works for all cattlemen in theft protection, animal health, legislative action, and beef promotion.

Search Underway For Rural Hero

The search is under way for Texas' rural hero of 1981.

The Rural Heroism Award, sponsored by the Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council, is presented each year to some person judged to have performed an act of exceptional bravery during a time of crisis, according to Ben Bullard, Council president and assistant safety director of the Texas Farm Bureau.

March 1, 1982, is the deadline for entries to be received by the Rural Heroism Award Committee, Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council, P.O. Box 489, Waco, Texas 76703.

The heroic act or humane life-saving deed must have occurred within Texas during 1981 and should be related to farming or ranching operations.

Nominations should include a written account of the incident and the names, addresses, and telephone numbers of all persons involved. Newspaper clippings and pictures should also accompany the nominations, if available.

Long-term credit that's productive.

A better design from the inside out.

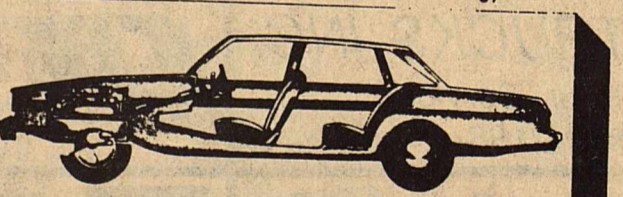

Thanks to significant technological advances in materials, engineering and assembly, today's new cars are safer, more fuel efficient and more comfortable. They've been trimmed of as much as 1,000 pounds of "excess baggage." They're aerodynamically designed to cut down on wind resistance. And, although they're smaller and more lightweight, today's cars give you as much or more interior head and leg room.

Built from stronger, lighter metal alloys, today's engines are more fuel efficient, last longer and require less maintenance. Such advances as fuel injection, on-board fuel metering computers and high energy electronic ignition systems give better gas mileage and improved engine performance.

Lower rear axle ratios, independent suspensions; quicker, more precise steering; fade-resistant, self-adjusting disc brakes; steel beam construction; stronger bumpers, easier-to-use seat belts; stabilizer bars; bigger, brighter head and tail lights and larger windows all make today's cars easier and safer to drive.

There are new compounds to help body parts better resist corrosion and rust, so your new car will stay on the road longer. And many new cars have more "options" as standard equipment now, including steel-belted radial tires, tinted glass and rear window defoggers.

Today's New Car.
A Giant Step Forward in Automobile Technology

- Smaller, more efficient engine built of strong, quiet alloys. Precise fuel metering built into the carburetor.
- High-energy electric ignition. Solid state design gives strong spark, uniform fuel burning, saves gas, eliminates points, rotor, condenser. Spark plugs last twice as long.
- Aerodynamic design reduces wind drag, increases mpg's. Overall weight down as much as 1,000 lbs. without compromising interior room.
- Side-guard beams, steel roof pillars for safety.
- Maintenance-free battery.
- Better rust resistance. Metal dipped in new anti-rust compounds before priming.
- New suspension system corners faster, better.
- P-metric radial tires, less rolling resistance for better gas mileage.
- Lower rear axle ratios deliver more mpg's.
- Quicker steering. Safer, more precise. Many models have rack-and-pinion.
- Disc brakes. Safer, self-adjusting, fade-resistant.
- Front-wheel drive common to many new models.

A new car costs less than it did in 1960!

That's right. When you compare the percentage of annual income and the number of hours of work it took to buy a new car twenty years ago with what it takes today, you'll find today's new cars cost the average American family much less.

The chart below explains. In 1960, it took 6.2 months of an average family's income to buy the average new domestic car. In 1980, it took just 4.3 months of income. Based on a 40-hour work week, that means today you work about 300 fewer hours to buy a new car.

	AVERAGE NEW CAR PRICE	MEDIAN FAMILY INCOME	MONTHS OF INCOME
1960	$2,920	$ 5,620	6.2
1970	3,706	9,867	4.5
1975	5,100	13,719	4.5
1980	7,550	21,000	4.3
1981	8,220	22,650	4.3

Source: Ford Motor Company

In addition, new car prices are rising at a slower rate than both median family income and the Consumer Price Index. For example, since 1967, new car sticker prices have risen 84 percent. But, over the same period, the Consumer Price Index has risen 150 percent.<sup>4</sup>

And there's more good news. Trade-in values for used cars are also rising, up 8.8 percent from 1978 to 1979 alone. Right now, trade-in values are averaging $2,875.<sup>5</sup>

And, if you itemize deductions on your federal income tax, the interest you pay on your new car loan is deductible, and can add up to quite a tax break.

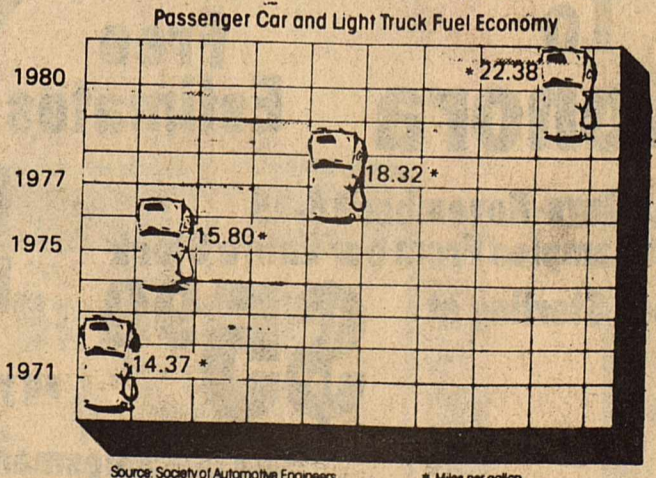

A giant step forward in fuel economy.

When compared to a 1974 or earlier full or intermediate-size car, today's new cars are over 50 percent more fuel efficient. A 1974 car averages 13.9 miles per gallon, compared with 21 m.p.g. for a 1980 model, and 22 m.p.g. for a 1981 model.<sup>6</sup> When you trade in your 1974 mid-size for a new one, you can expect to save over $300 a year on gas alone, based on driving 10,000 miles at a gasoline price of $1.35 a gallon.<sup>7</sup>

If you trade in an older full-size car for a new subcompact, your gasoline savings will, of course, be even more dramatic—as much as 200 to 300 percent.<sup>8</sup>

Your new car will also cost less to maintain because it requires fewer tune-ups and oil changes and comes equipped with longer lasting tires, batteries, spark plugs and body parts. For example, in 1971 the scheduled maintenance costs for one compact model averaged $660 for the first 50,000 miles. Today, for a new compact from the same manufacturer, costs are estimated at just $170, or $43 per year for the first 50,000 miles.<sup>9</sup>

But the benefits of driving a more fuel-efficient car extend far beyond your wallet. It helps our country, too. About one-half of the 100 million cars on the road today are 1974 vintage or older.<sup>10</sup> If these older cars were traded in for new models, we could reduce our oil imports by nearly 2 million barrels a day—more than one-third of our total oil imports.<sup>11</sup>

Nugent Warns Committee Members Of Problems Texans May Face

Railroad Commission Chairman Jim Nugent has warned members of the Senate Energy and Natural Resources Committee that the Natural Gas Policy Act poses "problems for Texas customers--problems in terms of both shortages and consumer prices."

Nugent's testimony opened several days of oversight hearings by the Committee on the implementation of Title 1 of the NGPA and its effects on natural gas pricing, supplies, and distribution.

Some 40 percent of the nation's natural gas supplies will remain under federal price controls beyond the so-called "decontrol" date of 1985 mandated by the NGPA. Nugent reminded the Committee. Interstate purchasers, using this large base of controlled, low-cost gas, will be able to bid more for new supplies of gas resulting in supply shortages and higher prices for intrastate customers, said Nugent.

"The so-called consuming states shrink with apparent horror from the idea of paying a free market price for natural gas," said Nugent. "Let me remind you that Texas is the nation's leading consuming state. And under the current NGPA, Texas consumers will pay more than market price for new gas supplies. We think it's time our consumers will pay more than market price."

Nugent also took issue with a recent report from the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission which predicted adequate natural gas supplies for 1981-82 winter needs. The report, he said, surveyed only interstate pipelines.

"According to our best information and advice, Texas intrastate pipelines will have no excess gas this winter, and many experts are predicting curtailments in Texas in the event of even a slightly colder-than-normal winter," he said.

"When Texas and Louisiana, suppliers of over two-thirds of America's natural gas, face possible curtailments while the interstate market enjoys surplus, something is sadly awry. And if we see the beginnings of problems today, they will be much greater after 1985 when the NGPA re-institutes a dual market," Nugent added.

Nugent told the Committee that changes in the NGPA were in order, but at the very least the FERC should (1) promote increased production of gas, (2) reduce the interstate price cushion, and (3) equalize intrastate access to new supplies.

Concluding his testimony, Nugent said the NGPA and prior federal laws and rules have failed to deal adequately with the natural gas market and that major changes are needed to restore the market to order.

"Changes should be made now," he said, "while the demand for gas is being met. Solutions, in my opinion, will require Congressional action to place intrastate purchasers on a fair and equal competitive footing with interstate purchasers."

Reagan Agrees To Postpone Gas Price Decontrol For Several Months

The on again, off again natural gas decontrol issue has been put on the back burner for the time being. President Reagan met with several Republican Congressional leaders and agreed not to propose gas price decontrol for several months. Most people don't expect any action until after the 1982 elections.

On Tuesday, November 3rd, Energy Secretary James Edwards had said a decontrol plan would be sent to Congress within two weeks. Two days later, the Administration decided to delay the proposal. Republican leaders convinced the President that the only way a gas decontrol bill stood any chance in Congress was for it to have a windfall profits tax attached. President Reagan is opposed to a so-called wind-fall profits tax on natural gas.

Another major factor was the dramatic increase in consumer prices that would result from gas decontrol. Opponents say gas bills would at least double under faster and complete decontrol. Producers say that if gas prices are not decontrolled soon, there could be shortages in Texas and Louisiana. Also, the price paid for gas compared to crude oil will be much less in 1985 and that would cause more shortages. As it now stands, all gas produced after April of 1977 would be decontrolled in 1985. However, all gas produced before that date, about 40 percent of all gas produced, will remain under price controls indefinitely.

In the Permian Basin our rig count for last week was 484. One year ago it was 342.

Nugent Reports August Discoveries

Railroad Commission Chairman Jim Nugent announced that Texas crude oil production totaled 77,991,170 barrels in August.

The figure compares with final compilations of reported July 1981 production totaling 75,475,024 barrels and August 1980 production of 77,574,617 barrels.

Texas oil production averaged 2,419,070 barrels daily in August 1981, down from 2,434,678 barrels daily in July 1981 and from 2,502,407 barrels daily in August 1980.

The August 1981 allowable totaled 100,723,482 barrels.

The preliminary August summary indicated Texas oil production was 25.55 percent under the allowable for the month.
