New Leaders Announced For Mighty Bronco Band

The Sonora Independent School District is pleased to announce the selection of new band directors for the school district. Forrester L. Halamicek will serve as the High School Band Director and John E. Gibson will be the Assistant/Junior High School Band Director.

W.A. McAndrew, Superintendent of Schools, stated that the district received many highly qualified applicants, but felt that the men chosen were the very best due to their excellent band program knowledge and past experiences working with different size band programs affording them with the background necessary for administering the best band program available. Mr. McAndrew stated that both men come very highly recommended and that he was confident they would work together to improve an already fine band program with the district looking forward to another sweepstakes year under their direction.

Halamicek, a native of Fredericksburg, graduated Cum Laude from Texas A & I University in 1970. He received his Master of Music Education degree from Sul Ross State University in 1976 and has ten years of teaching experience.

He began his teaching career at Freer High School in 1972. In 1973 he moved to Menard, where he was band director for six years. During this time, the Menard High School band won four Sweepstakes awards, including the first Sweepstakes in the school's history in 1973 with the last three Sweepstakes being consecutive years. Under his direction, the band also won First Division in Marching 5 years, First Division in Concert 4 years, and First Division in Sightreading 5 years.

During the 1979-80 school year, the Llano High School Band won its first Sweepstakes in 16 years under the direction of Halamicek. He then moved to Sweetwater where he has been high school band director the past two years, winning First Division Sightreading in 1982.

Halamicek and his wife, Mary Ellen, are parents of a son, Bobby, born June 16. They are members of the Methodist Church.

Gibson graduated from Deer Park High School at Deer Park, Texas in 1970. He received his Bachelor of Music Education degree from Texas Tech in 1974 and has seven years of teaching experience.

He began his teaching career at Jayton High School in Jayton, Texas in 1974 where the band won First Divisions in Concert and Sightreading under his direction. He later moved to Junction in 1976 where the Junction High School band won its first Sweepstakes in the school's history, four straight First Divisions in Marching, and a First Division in Marching at the Sandy Lake Band Festival.

In 1980, Gibson moved to Coahoma where he has served as high school band director the past two years, winning the school's first One in Marching in 20 years and going to the State Marching Contest this past year.

Gibson and his wife, Linda, have two children-nine-year old Geoffrey and five-year old Amanda. They are members of the Baptist Church. Mrs. Gibson will also be employed by the Sonora ISD as fifth grade instructional aide.

High School band members (those who will be freshman through seniors) and band parents will have the opportunity to meet and visit with both band directors at an ice cream social to be held at the band hall Thursday, July 8 at 7:30 p.m.

Dorothy Baker Retires After 34 Years

Dorothy Baker retires at First National Bank after thirty-four years. Hers is a history of service to the Bank and the Sonora Community.

Dorothy Jarvis Baker was born in Junction, Texas. After graduation from high school, there she moved to Sonora to live on the Hudspeth Ranch as a teacher.

At this time, Dorothy met and married Rex Baker. It was on the family ranch in the eastern part of Sutton Co. that Dorothy and Rex set up housekeeping, ranching and had their family of two children. Eleven years later, Rex died after a battle with cancer.

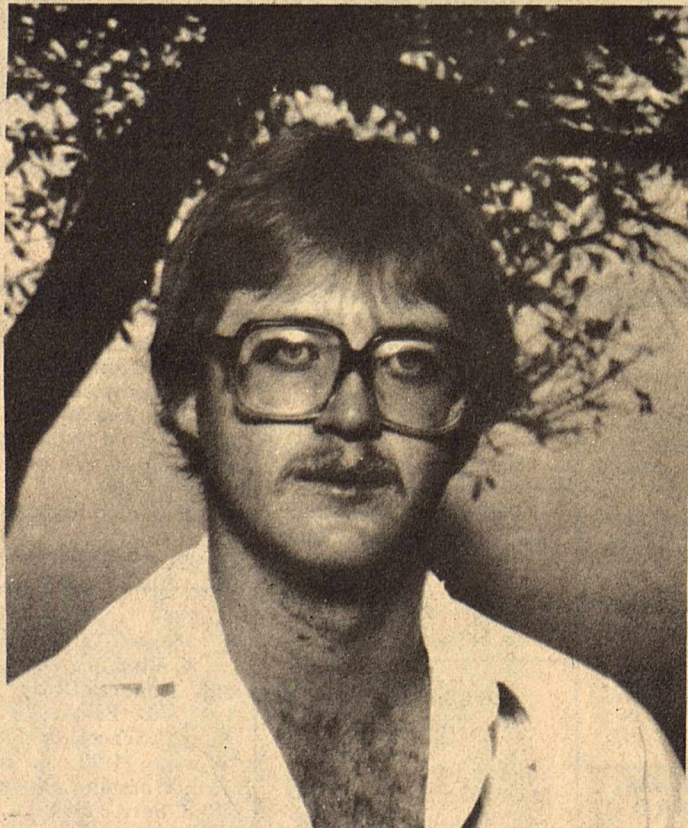

Having a family to make a living for, Dorothy, with all her determination, moved her house and family to town. Time then fell into 3 portions for her--family, work and ranching. All her vacation and weekend time was spent on the ranch for the next 36 years. On Sept. 23, 1948, Dorothy went to work for the First National Bank. After 34 years of the bookkeeping department and many changes in the banking business, Dorothy has decided upon retirement.

The bank hosted a buffet dinner at the Sutton Co. Steak House in Dorothy's honor and surprised her with a microwave oven in appreciation for her many years of service. In thanking everyone, Dorothy said she will miss her work's many friends at FNB.

Dorothy has two children, Jack Baker and Rex Ann Friess, and four grandchildren--Wheless and Lewis Baker and Paula and Clay Friess.

With Dorothy's interest in her family, church, friends and community, total retirement will not be possible.

48th Annual Water Carnival At Ft. Stockton

Take one olympic-sized swimming pool, add a variety of glittery props, a cast of over 250 elaborately costumed swimmers and dancers, an expert sound and lighting system, and mix them all together for about six weeks. With a little luck, and a lot of hard work, you should come up with a Water Carnival.

Better yet, take advantage of the time-tested recipe used by the citizens of Fort Stockton, and treat yourself to their Water Carnival, scheduled for July 15, 16 and 17 at historic Comanche Springs Swimming Pool.

Since 1934, the Fort Stockton Water Carnival has dazzled its audiences with the beauty of precision water ballet and dance routines. The community-wide production recruits performers of all ages to help create this truly unique weekend of entertainment.

This year's show, entitled "Weather Or Not," focuses on the problems of Mary Sunshine, weather girl at radio station KFWC, whose inept forecasting is about to cost her her job. Enter Professor Pumfritz, a wacky inventor, who offers Mary several zany and highly unusual solutions to her problem. Whether or not the Professor creates more problems than he solves is a matter the audience will have to decide, but the entire family is sure to enjoy his efforts.

A beauty pageant, beginning at 8:00 p.m., precedes each night's performance. For information on ticket prices and reservations, write or call the Fort Stockton Chamber of Commerce, P.O. Box C, Fort Stockton, Texas 79735 (915-336-2264).

ICA Elects Officers Views Industry

An Independent Cattle-men's Association awards program for top Texas 4-H beef producers will begin this year, ICA President Roy Wheeler announced recently.

The program recognizes outstanding 4-H beef project participants on the county, district and state levels providing the state winner with a scholarship, an engraved pocket watch and an expense paid trip to the annual ICA convention, he said.

"Cattle producers of today must encourage and lead young people interested in agriculture to insure we have competent cattle producers of tomorrow," Wheeler told the 1982 ICA convention assembly.

"Awarding scholarships, employing these young people and including them in our country and state-wide activities are a few ways we can educate them to preserve our industry."

Adoption of the program followed the association's eighth annual convention June 17-19 emphasizing youth involvement in agriculture. It will be conducted in cooperation with the Texas 4-H Youth Development Foundation in College Station.

In other convention business Wheeler was elected to his fifth term as president of the association. Elected to serve on the executive board with Wheeler were Dr. C.E. Payne of Bryan, 1st vice president; Donald Hoffman of Nixon, 2nd vice president; H.C. Youmans of Beaumont, secretary; and Joe Conti, Jr., of Victoria, treasurer.

Elected to fill positions on the ICA Board of Directors were Mike Broussard of Beaumont; T.W. Buck of Del Valle; Les Fuhrman of Inez; J.B. Gary of Boling; Bill Holbein of Hebronville; Chester Martin of Hico; Chic Power of Tilden; Kenneth Shearer of Poteet; Cliff Wheeler of Tilden; Bill Whitehead of Sonora and Jimmie Zesch of Mason.

The ICA House of Delegates also passed 16 resolutions directing the work of the organization for the coming year. They resolved to ask Congress not to extend any bilateral trade agreements until the EEC and Japan ease their restrictions against high quality American beef. They directed Congress to ask USDA to fund the development of a "dead" brucella vaccine in a program of one test six months after vaccination, allowing free movement of all vaccinated animals after such test. They agreed to urge Congress to consider revival of the bracero program, strengthening the border patrol or tightening visa eligibility rather than adopting proposed legislation requiring employers to prove workers' citizenship. And the group resolved to ask Congress to reduce the federal deficit from $182 billion to $100 billion or less in 1983 and to balance the budget in four years.

Wheeler closed the statewide meeting by urging all members to attend the statewide calf sale in Hallettsville July 17 at 10 a.m. Proceeds from the sale will fund ICA work for the coming year.

Agreements And Peace

The heart of our foreign policy has always been easy to state. We are for peace, first, last and always for very simple reasons. Only in a peaceful atmosphere — with justice and confidence — can America prosper as we have in the past.

But more than a hundred disputes have disturbed the peace among nations since the end of World War II and today the threat of nuclear confrontation is ever present. So far, peace has eluded this generation of mankind.

This nation condemns aggression, yet the tide of belligerence continues to rise. The time has come to resume the struggle for peace in the world.

Our historical record is clear. Citizens of this nation resort to force only when challenged. At the end of World War II our military supremacy was unquestioned. We could have achieved world domination but that was contrary to the character of our people.

Instead we used our power and wealth to rebuild the war-ravaged economies of the world, both East and West, including those nations who had been our enemies. America has no territorial ambitions. We occupy no countries and we have built no walls to lock our people in. Our commitment to self-determination, freedom and peace is the very soul of America. That commitment is as strong today as it ever was.

One of the historical lessons of this century is that tyranny cannot be stopped with words alone. That is why we have sought to renew our strength as a nation while we search for peaceful solutions to today's problems.

We know that men and women of every race and creed can and must work together for peace. And this nation stands ready to take the next steps toward cooperation through verifiable arms reduction. Arms control agreements are useful in reinforcing peace, but they are not magical. Likewise, we should not confuse the signing of agreements with the solving of problems. Peace will not come simply by collecting agreements among various nations. Only when they are kept do agreements reinforce peace.

Since the end of World War II the United States has been the leader in serious disarmament and arms control proposals. We remain deeply committed to those proposals today and to strengthening the nonproliferation framework. This is essential to international security.

In the early 1970s, at United States urging, agreements were reached between the United States and the Soviet Union providing for ceilings on some categories of weapons. They could have been more meaningful if Soviet actions had shown restraint and commitment to stability at lower levels of force.

The United Nations designated the 1970s as the first disarmament decade. But good intentions were not enough. During that 10-year period we saw an unprecedented buildup in Soviet military weapons and the flaring of aggression and use of force in almost every region of the world.

We are now in the second disarmament decade. The task now is to assure civilized behavior among nations and to unite behind an agenda of peace. Over the past seven months the United States has put forward a broad-based, comprehensive series of proposals to reduce the risk of war. The President recently went before the United Nations — a body with its own problems — to announce America's support of a comprehensive program of disarmament. We do support the effort to chart a course of realistic and effective measures in the quest for peace while maintaining our national security.

When more and more lawless acts are going unpunished, as some show a growing disregard for the goals of peace-loving nations, we must condemn aggression and pledge again to act in a way that is worthy of the ideals we have endorsed for generations.

Collins Hits Supreme Court Decision

"A dangerous precedent was set Tuesday, June 15, when the Supreme Court voted 5-4 to strike down a Texas statute that prohibited the use of state funds to educate children of illegal aliens. This decision places an undue burden on Texas' school districts and taxpayers," claimed Texas Congressman Jim Collins.

There are currently an estimated 750,000 illegal aliens living in Texas, making up roughly 5 1/2% of the Texas population. An estimated 20,000 illegal alien children are attending public schools in Texas, at a cost of $50 million to $60 million a year. This will escalate as more illegal aliens take advantage of the court decision and bring their children to Texas. "In Dallas alone, the number of illegal alien children attending public school is expected to double within a year," explained Collins. "The Texas taxpayer will not only have to pay to educate illegal alien children, but will have fewer tax dollars to spend on educating their own children. With this court decision, school districts will be forced to spend more time dealing with the language problems of illegal alien children and will have less time to place emphasis on the fundamentals needed to increase the educational standards of our own children," said Collins.

"The Supreme Court decision represents a clear case of court interference in an area where states should decide," Collins stated. "These decisions are best made by the state and the local school boards who have a clearer understanding of the needs of the citizens and the impact of the decision. For example, the Texas school system already has to provide a bilingual education program, and there already exists a serious shortage of teachers qualified to teach in this program," reported Collins.

"This decision could pave the way for later rulings requiring states to provide food stamps, hospitalization, unemployment insurance and other welfare benefits for illegal aliens. The Justices have provided an incentive to encourage more illegal aliens to come to the United States. This decision goes beyond the intent of the Constitution. The Constitution was written to cover all citizens of the United States. Now the courts have indicated that we should provide governmental benefits for the whole world," claimed Collins.

Mail Order Clothing Sometimes An "Iffy" Question

After you've considered the advantages and disadvantages of mail ordering your clothes, check on the reliability of the company and description of merchandise, suggests Alma Fonseca, a clothing specialist.

Fonseca is on the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

If you aren't sure about the company, contact the Better Business Bureau, your local or state Consumer Protection Agency or the Federal Trade Commission the specialist encourages.

These organizations are operated and funded by the federal government and are geared to protecting consumers, she says.

When paging through mail order catalogues, read the description of merchandise very carefully, Fonseca advises.

Don't rely on the picture to tell you everything. The garment may not be exactly as pictured, she adds.

To be on the safe side, order merchandise from reputable companies that have a "satisfaction guaranteed" provision or money-back guarantee, the specialist suggests.

When ordering by mail, consumers should keep in mind a few guidelines, she says.

Print clearly or type all information on the order blank to assure proper delivery.

Include complete catalogue numbers, description of item(s) and any other special information requested on the order form.

State clearly on the order form if you do not wish to receive substitute items.

Before ordering an item, check to see if it can be returned. On reduced items, refunds, credits or exchanges are not always allowed. In addition, personalized items cannot be returned in most cases. (Examples include monogram handbags, blouses or shirts).

Keep a copy of your order including date order was sent, copy of catalogue page the ad was on, the company's guarantee statement and details about home trial of items.

When you receive the merchandise, examine it to make sure it isn't damaged, or something not ordered or incomplete. If it didn't arrive when you needed it (provided you ordered it in ample time for shipment), then be sure to notify the company immediately. Return the shipping label when you return the merchandise and state whether or not you want a refund or exchange if the original order can't be filled.

Use the United States Postal Service or insure parcel post to return the item, and get receipts.

Merle Norman Beauty Spots On Upswing

Marie Antoniette and Madame Pompadour wore them. Jean Harlow, Ginger Rogers and Marilyn Monroe wore them. And today, they're again enjoying increasing popularity.

They're beauty marks, of course, or "mouches," as they were called in the 18th century when they first appeared. Ironically, though the 20th century considers beauty marks the symbol of Hollywood sex goddesses, mouches were originally designed to cover skin blemishes. However, they soon became a "must" for dedicated flirts and an essential makeup flourish for the Beautiful People of salon society.

Made of specks of black, gummed silk or paper, 18th century beauty spots were cut into tiny full and half moons, little stars and hearts. A series of moons increasing in size from the tiniest to the largest might be affixed to the outer corner of the eye. A few stars at the corner of the mouth were supposed to give a smile added charm and there were also patches of a larger size - suns, doves, cupids. These were called "assassins," because of their devastating effect on the heart.

How important these mouches were can be seen in the current "18th Century Woman" exhibit at New York Metropolitan Museum of Art. There, costume curator Stella Blum has sprinkled as many as 16 beauty marks across the face and bosom of a single mannequin.

You can credit Merle Norman Cosmetics with helping to revive the popularity of the mouch. As the sponsor of the Met's "18th Century Woman" exhibit, the company is responsible for the upsurge in interest in this era. In addition, Merle Norman has developed a makeup collection - called the Cameo Collection - inspired by the colors and fashions influences of the 18th century.

"The mouche is returning because 18th century colors are basically low-key," says Nina Ansley, fashion director of Merle Norman. "The mouche adds extra interest, extra definition to the face."

Celebrating Our 1st Anniversary

Pat Walker's, I love you I feel like I am 20, again!

After losing 67 pounds and 83 inches, I feel that I've found the fountain of youth. For health reasons, I had to lose weight, and I was unable to stay with a diet on my own. I joined Pat Walker's and that was the greatest thing I've ever done for myself. A size 18 was getting too tight for me, and now I'm in a size 6!!!!

From Ozona to San Angelo is 85 miles and I traveled it twice a week, for a total of 340 miles every week (until the Sonora Salon opened). Believe me, it was worth every mile and every penny, and this is one diet I have really enjoyed.

Being middle-aged and a grandmother doesn't mean you can't be thin and feel pretty. When your husband looks at you as if you were 20 again, that's for me! Thanks again, I couldn't have done it without you!

Pearlita Morris
Ozona, Texas

P.S. Since you've had me in your ad, the most popular question I've been asked, is, "How long did it take you to lose all that weight and inches?" It took me 7 1/2 months. I'd also like to add that I don't want to lose any more weight, just inches. I went through the Christmas Holidays having turkey and all the Holiday trimmings and lost 1/2 pound and 3 1/2 inches.

Again - I love you and thanks.

How many inches would you like to lose in 1982?

CAPITOL UPDATE

John Tower
U.S. SENATOR FOR TEXAS
142 RUSSELL OFFICE BUILDING
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20510

The question of whether the federal government should spend money to create jobs or to train individuals for employment is a complex one, and one which requires us to look at the fabric of our economic system.

This system -- the strongest and more prosperous in the history of the world -- is built on the foundation of individuals working in privately owned firms. We believe that this private enterprise system is better able to provide productive employment and to produce goods and services than any means which relies primarily on government to serve these functions.

However, in this technological age many who are willing to work cannot because they do not have the skills required to be productive employees. Sometimes, the private sector simply is not able to bear the cost of training these willing but unskilled workers.

Since the Great Depression of the 1930s, the federal government has stepped in to fill this training gap. Over the past 20 years we have tried a number of methods to bring more workers into the economy. Unfortunately, many of the approaches we have used have been unsuccessful. They have cost vast sums of money and have fallen short of fulfilling their mission. The Comprehensive Employment and Training Act has been the most ambitious of these.

When we look at the reasons these well-intentioned programs have had less success than we had hoped, we usually find that they have not been responsive to the needs of the businesses we counted on to employ newly trained workers.

This summer Congress will consider legislation to create a new program which I believe will prove more successful both in terms of its benefit to participants and its cost-effectiveness.

The Job Training Act of 1982 is designed to encourage businesses and state and local governments to work together to train and place workers in permanent private sector jobs.

Training programs would be designed by a private industry council in cooperation with local elected officials. These councils at the local and state levels would design programs to meet area needs. Programs would be evaluated under performance standards which measure earnings gains and welfare payment reductions.

Special emphasis is given to training young people, welfare recipients and dislocated workers who have no reasonable prospect of returning to their prior employment.

The program requirements would be structured in such a way that 70 to 85 percent of the total cost would go directly into training instead of administrative and support services.

In short, this legislation is consistent with the mandate of the American people to give local authorities, who are in a position to respond to community needs, a greater measure of control over programs, and to make federal spending more cost-effective.

Certainly, the federal government cannot abdicate its responsibilities to bring willing workers, particularly young people, into the economic mainstream. I believe the approach taken in the Job Training Act of 1982 will be much more effective in meeting this goal than CETA has been.

It is my hope that Congress will act quickly to pass this legislation.

Farm Bureau Asks Disaster Classification

Texas Farm Bureau President Carrol Chaloupka has called upon U.S. Agriculture Secretary John Block to use his "discretionary authority" to make disaster payments to the hundreds of cotton and grain farmers in a 30-county area of West Texas hit in recent weeks by heavy rains and hail. Chaloupka pointed out that an estimated 2 1/2 million acres of cotton have already been lost by the severe weather. In some cases, Chaloupka observed, cotton fields have been hit many as five times, wiping out first, second and even third plantings. The most severe damage resulted from hail ranging in diameter from golf ball to baseball sized pellets.

Deputy Secretary of Agriculture John Ford inspected the South Plains area June 29 to receive a general assessment of the crop damage. A decision on disaster payments will not be known until an evaluation of the extent of damage has been completed, Ford told West Texas reporters and farmers.

Chaloupka said farmers would try to plant "second-cary crops" such as grain sorghum, soybeans and cotton farmers," Supak said. "These producers have already in a tight financial bind," Chaloupka stated.

"I wish I could give you an accurate assessment of the total damage, but that won't be known for at least a week after the rain quits," Supak stated. "It's safe to say this has been a record-setter -- the worst year for West Texas cotton farmers," Supak said. Supak called 1982 an "unusually wet and humid (cotton) season."

Historically, West Texas has been among the leaders in cotton-producing regions in the nation, averaging about 20-25 percent of the total U.S. yield, Supak said. However, the weather could cut the cotton yield by half if the weather does not clear soon, Supak said. He expressed doubts that many farmers would attempt to replant cotton this year.

"I would imagine most (cotton farmers) are now looking to some alternate crops," specifically, soybeans, sorghum and sunflowers, Supak said.

Supak said even sunflower, soybean and sorghum planting this late would not hold prospects for any normal yield levels this year. Sorghum, for example, must be planted beneath the herbicide layer, because "herbicides tend to be toxic for sorghum," Supak explained.

Mare-Foal Clinic Scheduled By A&M

The third annual South Central Texas Mare-Foal Clinic here July 30 will focus on foal management.

Discussions will center around examining foals for structural problems at birth, feeding and health programs to maximize growth rates, "preschool" training and weaning systems to produce a top quality foal from every mare each year. The daylong program will begin at 9:30 a.m. at the Washington County Fairgrounds, announces Bill Thane, county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Dr. Joerg Auer of Texas A&M's College of Veterinary Medicine will discuss limb and structural problems in newborn foals and treatments to prevent irreparable damage to their leg bones.

Dr. Jack Kreider with A&M's Department of Animal Science and the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station will talk about the effect of anabolic steroids (body building hormones) on growing horses, including size and muscle development.

Supplemental feeding programs for young horses will be discussed by Dr. Gary Potter, also with A&M's Department of Animal Science and the Experiment Station. Supplemental feeding is needed to make up the difference between a horse's nutrient requirements and declining nutrients in the mare's milk.

Public Notice

Southwestern Bell, in accordance with the rules of the Public Utility Commission of Texas, hereby gives notice of the company's intent to implement a new schedule of telephone rates in Texas, effective July 27, 1982, unless otherwise determined by the Commission.

It is expected that the requested rate schedule will furnish a 13.4 percent increase in the company's intrastate revenues.

A complete copy of the new rate schedule is on file with the Public Utility Commission at Austin, Texas, and with each affected municipality served by Southwestern Bell, and is available for inspection in each of the company's public business offices in Texas. The Commission staff has contended in the past that all rates are subject to change as a result of Southwestern Bell's rate application.

Notice to El Paso Area Customers

Effective January 1, 1982, Southwestern Bell adopted the Mountain States tariffs in effect for El Paso County. Southwestern Bell proposes to merge the separate El Paso tariffs with its tariffs applicable to the rest of Texas. The resulting new rate schedule is on file with the PUC and the El Paso area municipalities served by Southwestern Bell, and is available for inspection at our El Paso business office.

Notice to Customers of Other Telephone Companies

The filing includes, but is not limited to, proposals to increase rates for interexchange private line and foreign exchange (FX) service. Changes in such rates would also affect customers of other telephone companies because such companies provide interexchange private line and foreign exchange service in accordance with rates specified in Southwestern Bell's tariffs. While Southwestern Bell has proposed no increase in long distance rates, any change in those rates would also affect customers of other telephone companies.

Aviso Público

Southwestern Bell, en conformidad a las reglas del Public Utility Commission (Comisión de Servicios Públicos) de Texas, por la presente hace saber su intención de establecer un nuevo arancel para servicio de teléfono en Texas con vigencia a partir del 27 de julio, 1982, a menos que la Comisión haga otra determinación.

Se espera que el nuevo arancel que se ha solicitado rendirá un aumento de 13.4 por ciento en los ingresos intraestatales de la compañía.

Una copia completa del nuevo arancel se ha archivado en las oficinas del Public Utility Commission en Austin, Texas, al igual que en cada municipalidad afectada y servida por Southwestern Bell, y cada una de las oficinas de la compañía para negocios con el público en Texas tiene una copia para lectura pública. En el pasado, la Comisión ha sostenido que toda tarifa está sujeta a cambios que resulten de la manera en la cual Southwestern Bell aplique sus tarifas.

Aviso a Clientes en la Región de El Paso

Con vigencia a partir del 1o de enero de 1982, Southwestern Bell ha adoptado las tarifas de Mountain States efectivas en el condado de El Paso. Southwestern Bell propone unir las tarifas de El Paso con sus otras tarifas que se aplican al resto de Texas. El nuevo arancel que resulta de ésta unión se ha archivado en la Comisión de Servicios Públicos (Public Utility Commission), al igual que en las municipalidades de la región de El Paso servidas por Southwestern Bell, y está disponible para inspección pública en nuestras oficinas de El Paso.

Aviso a los Clientes de Otras Compañías de Teléfono

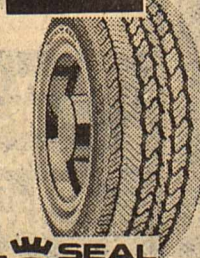

El registro incluye, pero no se limita a, propuestas para aumentar las tarifas para servicio de línea privada entre centrales telefónicas (interexchange private line) y servicio de central telefónica extranjera (foreign exchange FX). Cambios en dichas tarifas de servicio también afectarían a clientes de otras compañías de teléfono porque dichas compañías proveen los servicios ya mencionados en conformidad a tarifas especificadas por Southwestern Bell. Aunque Southwestern Bell no ha propuesto un aumento en las tarifas para larga distancia, cualquier cambio en las mismas también afectarían a los clientes de otras compañías de teléfono.

4th Of July Celebrated With Fireworks Display

The Fourth of July, our nation's independence date is a time of much activity and celebration. For some this may mean a long holiday weekend with days being enjoyed at area lakes, pools, and rivers, and evenings spent with the kids popping firecrackers. This year the people of the community congregated at the baseball park and participated in a group fireworks display that every one could stop and enjoy. All the beautiful array of colors, and forms of the fireworks was a sight to be held, and an enjoyment to everyone. The stressing of the safe use of fireworks was wide spread this year, because if fireworks are not used properly they could injure an individual in ways like putting out eyes and blowing up fingertips. With luck there weren't too many injuries this year in Texas. Last year on the 4th of July, as on any holiday, there are many travelers and tourists. Due to the increased amount of traffic on Texas highways it makes driving a careful time because of dangerous activities such as drinking and driving. Last year there were 63 fatalities on our state highways on the 4th of July alone. Of the 254 counties in Texas, 129 recorded an increase in motor vehicle traffic accident deaths during 1981 as compared with 1980. The number of traffic deaths during both the July 4th and Labor Day holiday periods increased in 1981 as compared to 1980 statistics. July 4th, 1981, holiday death count was 63 fatalities which represents a 21 percent increase over that of 1980. The Texas Department of Public Safety urges people not to drink and drive. The statistics for 1982 have not yet been sent out by the Department of Public Safety, but let's hope that they will be lower for this year.

Major Companies Acquisition Policies Hit

Several major oil companies have been accused of spending increased profits for the wrong things between 1979 and 1981. The Citizen-Labor Energy Coalition, made up of union, senior citizens and community groups, said the companies involved spent more than 16 billion dollars on acquisitions during that period. This was an increase of 600 percent over the three years prior to 1979 according to the report. The Citizen-Labor group said while most of the acquired companies were energy related, the mergers did little to increase domestic oil production. It added that the amount the major oil companies spent on acquisitions and investments in non-petroleum lines of businesses equalled the amount spent to explore and produce oil in the United States during that three-year period. The major oil companies were also charged with a major cause of higher interest rates, not cutting oil prices and not returning more dividends to their shareholders. The American Petroleum Institute replied that the study was a "gross distortion of the facts, typical of the shoddy, biased economic work of the coalition." A.P.I. added, the total industry investment rose from 21.3 billion dollars in 1976 to 50 billion in 1981. In other news, oil analyst Dan Lundberg says gasoline prices should remain stable throughout the summer months. In the Permian Basin our rig count for this week was 298. One year ago it was 445.

Meat Goat Production Subject At IRR Uvalde Meet

Will meat goat consumption soon be rising in the U.S.? What is the export outlook? Will the international market substantially affect U.S. meat goat production?

These and other questions confronting the up and coming meat goat business will be covered in concurrent sessions during the International Ranchers Roundup August 10-12 in this progressive border city.

Production and marketing of meat goats in the U.S., Mexico and Australia will be discussed by experts from the respective countries. A representative from the Australian Department of Agriculture will be here to outline the production and management of meat goat operations.

Major topics due consideration include nutrition and supplementation, breeding and selection for meat production, managing for high kid survival, goat diseases and their treatment, import-export regulations, and outlining a practical flock health program.

Session chairman is Jerome Esquell, Edwards County Extension agent. Simultaneous translation for Spanish-speaking ranchers will be provided.

Producers will have the option of attending additional concurrent sessions in beef cattle, sheep and Angora goats, brush management, and wildlife. Spouses can attend these or a special session for females involved in the ranching operation. "Women in Ranching." These will be discussed by over 100 ranching experts from 12 states.

Headline speakers during the three-day event include Raymond D. Lett, executive assistant to Agriculture Secretary John Block; Charles G. Scruggs, vice-president and editor of Progressive Farmer magazine; Susan G. McBee, Texas State Legislator; John L. "Chip" Merrill, coordinator of Texas Christian University's ranch management training program; Bob Bliss, general manager of cattle feeding division, Friona Industries; and Terry D. Mitchell, Australian Department of Agriculture.

Ranchers have the opportunity to participate in tours of progressively managed ranches in Southwest Texas (August 9) and Mexico (August 13). Those who plan to make either of the tours must register by July 15 and tour capacity is 200 persons per tour. Also, those who participate in the Mexico tour must register for the entire IRR educational program.

Registration material is available by writing to IRR, Box 1849, Uvalde, Texas 78801.

Last year's IRR was the largest gathering of ranching experts ever assembled in the Southwest for such activity, attracting some 700 producers and industry leaders to the border for five days of educational programs and entertainment festivities.

This year the mayor of Ciudad Acuna will host IRR participants with a genuine "Mexican Fiesta" around the downtown plaza. A country-western dance is scheduled the next night after the traditional steak banquet. More time is being made available after sessions so visitors can enjoy the entertainment and varied cuisines of the area.

Coordinated by Texas Agricultural Extension Service specialists based at the Texas A&M Agricultural Research and Extension Center in Uvalde, the IRR is designed to present ranchers with the latest technology and ideas from around the country and world to help make their management decisions economically productive.

Jerry Lackey's Country Folk

A record $1,275 was paid for the champion half-bushel of peaches at the 21st annual Stonewall Peach Jamboree this year.

Just another example that the famous "Georgia Peaches" have nothing on Gillespie County, Texas peaches.

Henry Weed Archer of Stonewall grew the basketful of Harvester variety which sold to Fredericksburg National Bank.

The heaviest peach in the show was a Keystone grown by George Pehl. The peach weighed 16 ounces and sold for $525 to a Honda farm equipment firm. Pehl won nine places in the 22-place show.

Jack and Carol's Orchard had the best individual peach entry which brought $450. The plate of 12 peaches championship went to E.W. Hallford. His plate of Swanee peaches sold for $500. First place peach pie baked by Jerome Jenschke, sold for $550. Top peach cobbler baked by Janice Baethge sold for $275.

The 22 top entries in the peach show sold for a total of $10,550 breaking the old record of $8,725 set a year ago.

Despite a dry spell at the wrong time and a late freeze which combined to reduce fruit set in the Gillespie County area, "there are still lots of peaches for sale here," according to officials. "We experienced some hail damage in scattered orchards this spring, too."

Texas peach growers are expected to harvest 395,833 bushels this season, a 44 percent decline from last year when 615,000 bushels were picked.

If you are a "Fredericksburg peach lover" like this writer, you may want to take a weekend drive to the Hill Country. All the little roadside stands in and around Fredericksburg and Stonewall are in full swing now. Annual marketing season runs through August.

Among the 40 Texas newspapers which carry Country Folk columns each week is The Fredericksburg Standard. I was entertained by reading a special section on peaches a week or so back.

Taking some of their copy from the Fredericksburg Community Cook Book, the newspaper publishers included a number of recipes suggesting the many, many ways to prepare peaches. Some samples: Peach Cobbler (Quick and Easy); Peach Pickles; Peach Ice; Buttery Baked Peaches; Peach Pecan Shortcakes; Spiced Peaches; Tangy Peach Pie; Fresh Peach Ice Cream; Peach Salad; Peach Pudding; Peach Cream Pie and a drink called Peach Cooler which sounds much like a peach shake.

Well, I gained five pounds from just reading the ingredients. Nonetheless, I will likely be among the many motorists driving to Fredericksburg several times this summer to purchase peaches and try all those tasty delights.

Anti-Crime Strategy Urged By Hobby

Texas must develop a strategy for fighting crime in the 1980's that not only increases the effectiveness of law enforcement, but also the courts and correctional system, Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby said today.

"Potential criminals must believe that they face swift and certain arrest, conviction and punishment," Hobby said. "Police must be able to apprehend the guilty, prosecutors must be able to bring them to trial quickly so that judges may impose appropriate punishment."

During his tenure as lieutenant governor, the legislature has attempted to strengthen the effectiveness of anti-crime measures, Hobby said. This includes strengthening and expanding laws pertaining to oral confessions, obscenity, drug crimes, search warrants, capital murder, denial of bail, crimes against children and the elderly and limits on probation.

Hobby said the state must increase its anti-crime efforts, particularly during the population boom that is expected to continue during the 1980's.

The lieutenant governor said he has asked the newly created Criminal Justice Coordinating Council to thoroughly examine the state's criminal justice system. The council is developing a comprehensive crime-fighting program that considers all elements of criminal justice -- police, courts and corrections.

"As we review the workings of our criminal justice system, we must not lose sight of the ultimate goal, the prevention of future crimes," Hobby said. "We must be able to increase the criminal's perception that not only is there a tremendous risk of detection and apprehension, but also he runs the risk of conviction and the risk of appropriate penalties being leveled against him."

80 Texas 4-Hers Off To Washington

Some 80 Texas teenage 4-H members will be taking part in the National 4-H Citizenship Short Course and Heritage Tour in Washington, D.C. this summer.

The group will leave July 14 from Garland and travel to the nation's capitol, making a stop at the World's Fair in Knoxville, Tenn. and visiting several historical sites along the way. They will be at the nation's capitol from July 18 to 24.

The delegation will join some 5,000 4-Hers from across the nation who will be taking part in the week-long sessions throughout the summer.

"These young people will study individual citizenship responsibilities, our national heritage and system of government," said Dr. Lanny Bullard, 4-H and youth specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Special emphasis will be placed on citizenship and leadership skills related to economics, government, community, citizenship, international interdependence, food and agriculture, conservation and use of natural resources, jobs and careers, expressive arts and communications, noted Bullard.

Using the nation's capital as a classroom, the week-long program includes a day on Capitol Hill to meet with members of Congress and see the government in action plus visits to federal agencies and organizations.

Field trips to historical and cultural sites include Williamsburg, Va., Monticello (home of Thomas Jefferson), Mt. Vernon (home of George Washington), U.S. Library of Congress, Smithsonian Institution, U.S. Archives, Washington Monument, Jefferson Memorial, Lincoln Memorial, and Arlington National Cemetery.

Workshops and seminars will focus on citizenship and leadership skills, government and international interdependence, and ways to include knowledge and skills gained in local 4-H programs, said Bullard.

Deadline Of July 15th Set For IRR Ranch Tours

July 15 looms as a critical date for prospective participants of the International Ranchers Roundup. That date is the registration deadline for the two ranch tours that are part of the big gathering of ranching experts, industry leaders and producers set for August 10-12 in this festive border city.

The deadline is necessary so program coordinators can accurately plan the number of buses and meals needed for the two excursions.

"We feel the ranches visited on both tours will provide participants with progressive ideas for managing their own operation," said Dr. Larry White, Texas Agricultural Extension Service range specialist and an IRR coordinator. "The actual program is less than a month away and we must secure tour buses, thus the July 15 tour registration deadline was implemented out of necessity. Because of bus limitations we will be able to transport only 200 persons on each tour. All tour reservations received after July 15 will be granted space based on seating availability."

The August 9 Southwest Texas tour will visit Alta Verde Industries integrated custom cattle feeding operation, the internationally famous Chaparral Ranch Santa Gertrudis and Quarter Horse operation and Happy Shahan's Longhorn Ranch, plus a stop at Alamo Village Entertainment Park. Two meals will be provided during the day's outing.

Participants on the August 13 Mexico ranch tour will spend the day in the State of Coahuila visiting innovative Santa Gertrudis and Beefmaster operations topped off with a genuine Mexican charrida (rodeo) in Cuidad Acuna. Meals and refreshments will be provided.

Tour details and Roundup registration materials are available by writing to I.R.R., P.O. Box 1849, Uvalde, Texas 78801. Last year's I.R.R. was viewed by many industry leaders as the most comprehensive program for the ranch owner and manager ever held in North America. Only a few format changes have been made for the 1982 program next month.

Participating producers will hear the latest technology and ideas as presented by over 100 visiting ranching experts, industry leaders and key policy makers from a dozen states and three countries. Two day-long concurrent educational sessions will explore innovative management plans related to beef cattle, sheep and Angora goats, meat goats, brush management and wildlife production.

A special one-of-a-kind program designed especially for ranch women-- "Women in Ranching"-- has attracted widespread interest and is expected to draw a large audience. The program is designed to provide participants with a variety of information and aids related to the ranch home, family and business activities.

Evening entertainment functions include a "Mexican Fiesta" in Acuna hosted by that city's mayor followed by dinner at any of several fine Mexican restaurants plus a western dance the following night featuring "The Starlight Cowboys." Participants will have ample time to visit other points of interest in the border area due to a restructuring of this year's Roundup format.

Although July 15 has been set as the tour registration deadline, Roundup participants who choose not to take a tour are still encouraged to pre-register for the Roundup to avoid last-minute motel accommodation problems. Registration will be available throughout the IRR at the Civic Center where general sessions occur and Del Rio High School, the site of concurrent sessions.

Performance Tested Billies To Sell At Uvalde July 8

About 50 of the top performance tested Angora billies in Texas will sell Thursday, July 8, at the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station research ranch just off Highway 55 south of here.

The sale begins at 1:30 p.m. according to Jack Groff, Texas Agricultural Extension Service sheep and goat specialist. Producers and prospective buyers are invited to inspect the billies and review results of the recently concluded performance test.

A barbeque lunch will be served at 11:30 a.m. after which a short educational program will update producers in current industry happenings.

Presentations on controlling internal parasites in Angoras, a report on the International Mohair Association meeting and a report on this year's performance test will be provided shortly before the sale commences.

About 31 producers consigned billies to the test which is sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, Texas Agricultural Extension Service and cooperating producers. About 200 billies were consigned to the test. Prospective buyers will have the opportunity to view color slides taken shortly before the shearing which depict each sale animal in full fleece.

Screwworm Case In South Texas

A screwworm case was confirmed in the Delmita community, about 35 miles northwest of Mission; this is the first case for June in Texas.

It was in a calf's foot. The case was reported June 25 and confirmed June 26. "It is essential for livestock producers within a 100 mile area of this case to submit suspected screwworm samples to the fly lab in Mission. This is the fifth confirmed screwworm to be found in Texas this year. The last one was on May 21, "Dr. John W. Holcombe, executive director, Texas Animal Health Commission, said.

The area in which the worm was found is being saturated with sterile screwworm flies as well as being treated with pellets called SWASS which attract and destroy screwworm flies.

Assured Gas Supply Vital Says Lone Star

Stating that the economic vitality of the utility's service area depends on an assured gas supply, Lone Star Gas Co. Senior Vice President Douglas W. Williams announced the utility applied to the Texas Railroad Commission today for an increase in its city gate rate. The company's application requests $90 million in increased revenues for its Transmission Division, including 100 percent recovery of the increased cost of gas purchases. Using a monthly average consumption of six thousand cubic feet per month, a Texas residential customer's bill would increase about $4 per month.

The city gate rate is the amount that the company's Transmission Division is permitted to charge the Distribution divisions for gas delivered for sale to residential and commercial customers and for Distribution company-used and unaccounted-for gas. The Transmission Division buys gas from producers and transports it to 536 cities and towns served in Texas by Lone Star Gas Co. The point at which city distribution systems purchase the gas from the Transmission Division for customer consumption is the city gate.

Since February 1980, the Texas Railroad Commission has allowed the company to recover only 95 percent of its increased cost of gas. This partial recovery has resulted in Lone Star being unable to recover $13.5 million in gas costs through April 1982 and unable to earn the return granted by the Commission in 1980. For the same period, the average cost of purchased gas from $1.85 per Mcf to $3.38 in April of this year, an 83 percent increase.

"To complete successfully for new gas supplies, we must recover the increased costs of buying and providing to our customers this premium fuel," said Williams.

"Only with full cost recovery can we pay these increasing prices and hope to meet successfully the intense competitive pressures that now exist to secure additional supplies which our customers rightfully expect. I am certain," Williams added, "that the Railroad Commission fully recognizes the complexities in today's natural gas market."

The request increase seeks to recover the higher cost of gas, inflation-related increases in operating expenses and a reasonable return on increased amounts of property used to serve the gas utility's 1.2 million customers.

NRA Hits San Francisco's Hand Gun Prohibition

The National Rifle Association today described the San Francisco handgun ban as a "clear breach of the faith with the people and a violation of the laws of California." The ban is scheduled for final adoption by the city board of supervisors on June 28. The NRA said it will immediately seek an injunction against enforcement of the ordinance.

An NRA spokesman said the ban "poses no threat to the violence-prone criminal, but will jeopardize the safety and privacy of hundreds of thousands of San Franciscans who are now faced with giving up their pistols or breaking the law."

According to J. Warren Cassidy, the NRA's top lobbyist, "Government has no right to deny the people the means of personal protection especially when government itself has failed to adequately protect the citizen. In fact, the courts have ruled that government has no legal obligation to protect any individual," Cassidy said.

"When Mayor Feinstein felt her own life threatened she carried a pistol even though armed security guards were available. Is the average citizen to be denied the same means of self-defense that the mayor chose for herself? What Mayor Feinstein is proposing adds irresponsibility to her hypocrisy," Cassidy said.

The NRA contends the ban violates a state preemption law in the area of firearms regulation and that it may violate the state constitution as well. Not only is the NRA threatening legal action, but two city supervisors, Carol Ruth Silver and Quentin Kopp are expected to file suits against the city over the ban.

The board of supervisors initially approved the ban June 21 by a 6-5 vote despite a San Francisco chronicle poll showing 59 percent of the more than 39,000 people responding were opposed to it.
