Consensus Sought Among Sheep Ranchers

Bill Sims

Bill Sims, Candidate Seeks Support

The continued growth of Texas and the 25th Senatorial District dictates a need for long-range planning, according to Bill Sims, candidate for the State Senate.

Sims, a third generation resident of the District, said his work and travel as executive secretary of the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers Association for the past 17 years has provided him with a thorough knowledge of the needs of all 38 counties in the senatorial district.

"The 25th District encompasses a large part of Texas geographically, so it is very important that we work now to meet our present needs and plan ahead to meet future needs," he said.

Sims, a member of the Advisory Committee on Pollution of the Texas Water Resources Commission, believes water supply and conservation is an important issue to all residents of the district. "We have the land necessary to support future growth, but we need to seriously work toward development of our water supply and conservation of our present supply," he stated. "If elected, this will be one of my primary efforts on behalf of the district and the state."

"The petroleum industry and agribusiness remain two primary contributors to the economy of the 25th District, and I plan to do everything possible to keep both of these industries growing," he said.

With federal responsibility being returned to the individual states,

Sims believes the State Legislature will be faced with new responsibilities for establishment and administration of new programs. "Establishment of these programs to meet the needs of Texans is a serious responsibility for the Legislature," Sims said. "It will be necessary from the beginning to insure efficiency in these operations so Texas does not make some of the same mistakes the Federal Government has in the past."

The father of a son and daughter, Sims also believes maintenance of a strong school system is important. "Our area and the State in general will reap the benefits of maintaining a strong educational system," he said. "With the area providing good opportunities, most of the state's young people will remain here to contribute to future growth and progress. Our continued investment in their education will show great dividends in the future years."

Sims, a graduate of Texas Tech University, owns and operates a 3,400-acre diversified farm and ranch near Paint Rock. He serves as a member or advisory member of various state and national committees, and he is past managing editor of The Ranch Magazine.

The son of Mrs. Ellen Sims and the late Ben V. Sims, he is married to the former Sue Lowe of Sterling City. The couple has a son, Billy and a daughter, Sue Ann.

Lamb and wool producers will have an opportunity during an Aug. 16-27 referendum to vote on whether they want the American Sheep Producers Council, Inc., to continue its market promotion and improvement program on their behalf by entering a new agreement with the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

According to Everett Rank, administrator of USDA's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, the agreement to be voted on is similar to one approved in 1978, except it would authorize larger deductions from producer incentive payments. By approving it, producers would authorize deductions of up to 4 cents per pound on shorn wool and 20 cents per hundred-weight on unshorn lambs marketed in 1982. Deduction rates from 1978 through 1981 were 2-1/2 cents and 12-1/2 cents, respectively, he said.

Rank also said the new agreement would provide for USDA to withhold part of any wool incentive payments that might be made to producers on 1983-85 marketings to finance the council's promotion activities.

He said deductions would be used by the council to finance advertising and sales promotion programs for wool and lamb, and programs to develop and disseminate information on product quality, production management and marketing improvement for wool and sheep.

County offices of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service will distribute copies of the agreement and ballots to sheep producers in early August. Producers may cast their ballots by mailing or delivering them in person to county ASCS offices by the close of the referendum, Rank said.

Anyone may vote who has owned sheep six months old or older for at least 30 consecutive days during 1981. Votes may be cast by individuals or by cooperatives.

Members of cooperatives which cast votes would not be eligible to vote separately in the referendum. The agreement requires approval by two-thirds of the total volume of producers, or two-third of the total volume of production represented in the referendum.

The National Wool Act of 1954 provides the authority for deductions and for promotion activities. Sheep producers have approved the program in each of the seven referendums held since 1954. In the most recent referendum of 1978, 75 percent of the producers approved of the program.

IRS Invites Inquiries

If you're a wage earner, you probably pay most of your federal income tax and social security tax through the convenient, pay-as-you-go tax withholding system. If you're self-employed, you still have income tax and social security tax obligations, but you don't have the convenience of the withholding system to help you meet those obligations. Self-employed individuals are required to "pay as they go" just like wage earners, but instead of using the withholding system, self-employed persons file quarterly estimates of their income tax and social security tax liability, and pay their estimated tax four times a year. Self-employed individuals pay their social security taxes at a different rate than wage earners, too. For the self-employed, social security is paid through the Self-Employment Tax at a rate of 9.35 percent. Wage earners pay social security tax of only 6.7 percent through withholdings, but that amount is matched by the employer. Whether you pay social security tax through wage withholdings or Self-Employment Tax, the maximum income on which you pay social security is $32,400.

Estimating requirements and self-employment tax provision apply to those who earn sideline income through self-employment to supplement wage income. Selling home care products in the evening and painting houses on weekends are two examples of part time self-employment income.

The IRS has two free publications that may be useful to you if you're self-employed or contemplating self-employment. Publication 533, "Self-Employment Tax," and Publication 505, "Tax Withholding and Estimated Tax," are available on request. Write: Internal Revenue Service Center, P.O. Box 2924, Austin, TX 78769 and ask for the publications by number.

The Internal Revenue Service along with local colleges and universities also sponsors Small Business Tax Workshops. The 7-hour workshops provide new business persons with information on business taxes, employer tax responsibilities and recordkeeping requirements. For information on the dates and locations of the Small Business Tax Workshop in your area, call 1-800-492-4830, extension 1428.

Collins Hits Bentsen Record

At a stop in Lubbock in his swing through West Texas, Congressman Jim Collins noted another example of how is opponent Lloyd Bentsen "talks like Herbert Hoover and votes like George McGovern."

"I picked up the paper here in Lubbock and it had Lloyd Bentsen speaking out of both sides of his mouth. On Page 1, in a story from Big Springs, Bentsen called for lower interest rates. He is quoted as saying: 'How do we do that? We must get the deficit down. To do that we must balance the budget. If we don't get the deficits down the rates won't go down.'

than Reagan requested and which Reagan has threatened to veto," he noted.

The other bill reported was one by Ted Kennedy of Massachusetts who wanted to increase summer jobs for youths in Northern inner cities. Bentsen voted to support Kennedy for additional spending.

An article in the Lubbock paper also said: "Bentsen leveled criticism of Reagan's economic program by saying there 'is too much being done at the same time and the economy can't absorb it.'"

Collins said: "We repeated again Lloyd Bentsen talks like Herbert Hoover but votes like George McGovern."

Collins also noted that when Bentsen was in Lubbock he was asked whether the campaign waged against him was similar to the one he waged against Ralph Yarborough. The newspaper quoted Bentsen's answer as: "No, because he was a liberal and he said he was a liberal."

"So the difference," Collins said, "is that Yarborough was an honest liberal and Lloyd Bentsen is a closet liberal who does not realize that out of 145 spending bills he voted 'no' only two times. He outspent Yarborough three-to-one."

Bentsen On Security

The United States needs a strong intelligence gathering capability to ensure its security and the security of its allies.

Information provided by our intelligence officers can help us anticipate international crises. Then we can work to prevent to crises or to cope with them in the best way possible.

The world we live in is increasingly hostile. Our adversaries are contemptuous of international law, human rights and national sovereignty.

Whether dealing with the Soviet Union's KGB or splinter terrorist groups, our intelligence officers enter a mean, tough business when they go under cover in foreign countries.

The anonymity under which they must work means that their efforts often go without recognition. While their failures are frequently criticized, their successes are generally unknown.

As a member of the Senate Intelligence Committee, I can assure you that our agents serve at great risk to perform vital tasks. They deserve our support.

The very least they should be able to expect is to have the risks of their work under cover reduced as much as possible. One obvious way is to lessen the likelihood of their names being published.

For the past several years, a group of anti-intelligence zealots has been systematically publishing the names of undercover U.S. intelligence agents.

After his name was made public, the station chief for the Central Intelligence Agency in Athens, Greece, was assassinated while returning home with his wife from a Christmas party.

Another CIA agent in Jamaica, identified by the same group, returned home to find his 12-year-old daughter's bedroom shot up. Fortunately, no one was hurt.

I find the actions of these anti-intelligence zealots to be responsible.

Not only do they place the lives of brave people in jeopardy, but their actions raise questions among our friends and foes about our ability to function effectively in intelligence operations.

For more than six years, I have been working to pass legislation that would put a stop to the unauthorized publication of the names of our undercover agents in foreign countries. I was the first Member of Congress to propose such actions.

Therefore, I was pleased at the recent Senate vote, 81-4, to approve the Intelligence Identities Protection Act.

This act provides for a 10-year prison sentence and a fine of up to $50,000 for government employees who expose the identities of undercover agents in foreign countries. Other persons who show a "pattern of activities" which would "impair or impede" U.S. intelligence operations could be imprisoned for up to four years and fined $15,000.

The legislation isn't perfect. It's got some flaws. And quite a few changes were made in the bill I first introduced.

But it offers sorely needed protection to our intelligence agents serving abroad, and that will significantly enhance our national security.

METER TAMPERING NOW A FELONY

The State of Texas has recently adopted an amendment to the State Penal Code making meter tampering a third degree felony. A third degree felony comes with a punishment of confinement in the Texas Department of Corrections for a term of not more than 10 years or less than 2 years. In addition to imprisonment, an individual adjudged guilty of a third degree felony may be punished by a fine not to exceed $5,000.

Before the amendment of the new law, it was a class A misdemeanor for meter tampering unless the loss of service was more than $200. Under the new law, ANY meter tampering regardless of the amount of loss is now a felony of the third degree.

Meter tampering consists of, but is not limited to:

- (1) Diverting electricity from passing through a meter device.
- (2) Preventing electric service from being correctly registered by a meter device.
- (3) Unauthorized activation of electric service.

As a special note to our customers, it will be considered meter tampering if a meter is reset and electrical service is restored by anyone other than a City employee.

All City meters are sealed. This seal should not be cut or broken without special authorization. In cases where the seal must be cut for emergencies the City should be notified as soon as possible so that the meter can be resealed.

Birth Announcement

James Clinton And Stephanie Hodge

Steve and Debbie Hodge proudly announce the arrival of their twin son and daughter. The babies were named James Clinton Hodge and Stephanie Hodge. They were born June 17, 1982 in Angelo

Community Hospital at 5:36 and 5:37 a.m. James weighed 5 pounds and Stephanie weighed 4 pounds and 14 ounces. Both measured 18 1/4 inches in length. The paternal grandparents are Mrs. Ella Hodge of Rowland, North Carolina and Jack Hodge, also of Rowland, North Carolina. The maternal grandparents are Reverend and Mrs. James Jolly of Lumberton, North Carolina.

Medicare Rates Increased July 1st

Medicare hospital (Part A) and supplemental medical insurance (Part B) premium rates will be increased effective July 1, 1982.

The basic premium for medical insurance—the amount most people pay—will go up by $1.20 a month for the 12-month period beginning July 1, 1982. The new rate will be $12.20 a month, up from the current $11.00. The new premium will be deducted from the social security check in July.

By law, the premium increase is limited to 11.2 percent—the percentage by which social security benefits were increased in 1981. Without this limitation, rising costs of the medical insurance program would have required a much higher premium than the $12.20. The government pays more than two-thirds of the medical insurance premium cost from general revenues of the federal government. Persons who have worked under covered employment and who are insured for social security benefits will automatically be entitled to premium-free Part A, the monthly premium for hospital insurance will be increased from $89.00 to $113.00 effective July 1, 1982.

All who may be eligible are encouraged to apply for Medicare 3 months before they are 65, even if they do not plan to retire. Some people pay more than the basic premium because there was a period when they could have had medical insurance, but did not apply. If they missed their initial enrollment period, there is general enrollment period the first 3 months of every year, with coverage effective the following July, at an increased premium rate of ten percent per each 12-month period that has elapsed.

Loeffler Approves Legislation Eliminating Congressional Tax Break

Congressman Tom Loeffler applauded passage of a bill which repeals the congressional tax breaks passed last year.

The House of Representatives and the Senate agreed to the repealer Thursday as an amendment to a bill providing urgent supplemental appropriations for 1982, and the President will soon sign the legislation into law.

"It was imperative that this flagrantly unfair and abusive measure be purged from the tax code," Loeffler said. "Many of my colleagues and I have worked for the past seven months to achieve this goal."

Loeffler has consistently supported bills that would repeal the Congressional tax breaks and prevent their recurrence in the future, such as measures which will require a specific roll call vote on any measure which personally affects Members financially, and prohibits a sitting Congress from ever voting itself a pay raise.

"My outrage over approval of the original measure as a well-known fact in the 21st Congressional District and among the leadership of the House," Loeffler said.

"Members of Congress must never give themselves any special consideration that is unavailable to other Americans," Loeffler said. "Frankly, this whole mess has been one of the most disgusting abdications of congressional responsibility in recent memory."

Loeffler refused to take advantage of a single new benefit on his 1981 tax return.

The goat was a donation from the Sutton Co. Chapter of I.C.A. for the auction.

Sonya the poodle goat brought in an excess of $1500.00 at the auction.

A 5 month old registered Angora nanny-trimmed like a poodle-was auctioned off at the Independent Cattlemen Association's 5th annual state wide calf sale. The

Office Of Surface Mining Gives Texas Regulations Stamp Of Approval

The Railroad Commission's surface mining and reclamation rules meet all requirements of federal surface mining laws and are being properly enforced, according to a review by the Department of the Interior's Office of Surface Mining.

The review, conducted by OSM's regional office in Tulsa, Okla., included a look at the way topsoil is segregated at Texas surface mining sites and Commission procedures for handling topsoil replacement once mining is complete.

OSM made the study at the request of the Texas Committee on Natural Resources and the Environmental Policy Institute, which is located in Washington, D.C. Letters filed by the groups expressed concern that Texas mine operators were violating federal law by mixing topsoil and subsoil as earth was removed during mining operations.

After a May meeting with representatives from the Commission's Surface Mining and Reclamation Division, the director of the Oklahoma regional office said Texas surface mining and reclamation rules comply with federal statutes and that the Railroad Commission was properly enforcing those rules.

RRC permits for six lignite mining sites where the mixing of topsoil and subsoil has been approved were examined by the regional office at the meeting. OSM found that "evidence presented to the RRC in permit applications, at public hearings, and developed in investigations by the Surface Mining and Reclamation Division staff was sufficient for the RRC to determine that the resulting soil medium is equal to or more suitable for sustaining vegetation than the available topsoil."

The director of OSM's regional office and RRC representatives also toured Texas Utilities Generating Company's Big Brown mine in Freestone County to observe areas where land had been successfully reclaimed using mixed topsoil and subsoil. Independent university studies of the area have concluded the mixed soil promotes plant growth better than the original topsoil.

Railroad Commission surface mining rules were developed in 1979 to implement the Texas Surface Coal Mining and Reclamation Act. After public hearings in the fall of that year, the federal Office of Surface Mining concluded the Texas rules provide the same protection as the federal laws. OSM certified the Texas rules and gave the Railroad Commission authority to enforce both state and federal provisions.

Old Toolpusher Goes to Exposition

"Old Toolpusher," Pool Well Servicing's English bulldog mascot, will be attending the West Texas Oil and Gas Exposition to be held Thursday, July 22 through Saturday, July 24 at the Abilene Civic Center. This Joint Venture for Crippled Children project will benefit the handicapped children and adults treated by the West Texas Rehabilitation Center's three campuses at San Angelo, Abilene, and Snyder.

Push joined Pool Well Servicing as a pup in 1979. Since that time he has traveled over 70,000 miles visiting rig sites, open houses, picnics, and delighting children everywhere.

Push will be located inside the Exhibit Hall at the Pool Well Servicing Display booth in his "especially made" hard hat. Children and adults are invited to come see the bulldog as well as the other inside and outside displays. The show opens Thursday, July 22 at 10 a.m. and continues until Saturday, July 24 at 6 p.m. Refreshments and entertainment will be provided.

The Joint Venture for Crippled Children was established in 1978 by oilmen to help the Rehab Center raise funds for the treatment of the handicapped. The fund-raising goal for 1982 is $750,000, and the projects include the Andy Williams kick-off benefit dinner, held July 9, the upcoming oil show, the PGA sanctioned LaJet Classic Golf Tournament, Oct. 4-10, and the 4th Annual JVCC Oilfield Equipment and Services Auction slated for Wednesday, December 1, 1982.

SERIOUS JOB SEEKERS!

Jerry Lackey Big Funding For Beef Sales Promo

For one year now, since July 1, 1981, Texas cattle producers and feed lot owners have contributed $823,718 for beef promotion to the Beef Industry Council of the National Livestock and Meat Board.

Under the program, 25 cents is collected on cattle and calves sold through participating markets, packers, dealers and order buyers unless the cattleman asks to be excluded. The funds are remitted entirely to the Beef Industry Council of the Meat Board for use in national programs of research, education and promotion.

The plan is endorsed by six Texas organizations are: Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association, Texas Cattle Feeders Association, Texas Farm Bureau, Independent Cattleman's Association of Texas, Livestock Marketing Association of Texas and Southwestern Meat Packers Association.

The investment plan is designed to generate additional funding needed for aggressive beef market development. This writer was in attendance at meetings over the state the past five or six years as this proposal started to unfold. Likewise, I watched 10 and 15 years ago as similar measures were taken in the cotton, wool and mohair industries and a successful future for those commodities came to pass.

The beef industry, like any other business, is best promoted by the people who raise beef. In simple terms, that is what the beef promotion is all about.

The second wave of beef advertisements will appear on network television this summer, according to J.D. Jordan, associate director of commodity activities for the Texas Farm Bureau in Waco. "The campaign will also appear in national consumer magazines in June, July and August."

Television commercials will be seen through July 18 on such early morning programs as "Good Morning America" (ABC), and "Today" (NBC). Commercial will also be seen on other daytime network programs (all ABC): "Love Boat," "Family Feud," "Ryan's Hope," "All My Children," "One Life to Live," "General Hospital" and "Edge of Night."

Commercials will also appear during early and late evening time slots in 22 major metropolitan markets on such programs as local newscasts, "MASH," "Barney Miller" and other popular syndicated rerun programs.

Television commercials

featured during this advertising period are the "Family Dinner" (which ran solo during the first phase) and the "Expectant Mother" spots.

Beef ads will also appear in national consumer magazines during this promotional period. Look for the "secretary" (strip steak) ad in the June 8 edition of "Family Circle," the "baseball player" (hamburger) in the July "Better Homes & Gardens" and the same "baseball" ad in the August 10 edition of "Family Circle."

"We're very pleased with the positive feedback we've received about the first wave of beef advertisements," commented Hilmar Moore, chairman of the Beef Industry Council. "We're particularly proud of the support that retailers have shown through the use of in-store promotion posters and radio ads."

Those of us at Lackey Communications, Inc., the only agri-business public relations and advertising agency in West Texas, have been working with several clients of late in the promotion of beef on the hoof.

The Mobley Brangus Ranch of San Angelo is putting some money into the promotion of the Circle Bar M Bar brand and dedication of top Brangus bloodlines. Names like Cloud 942, Titan, Rocky Joe 650, Champ, Georgie Boy and Aztec will be appearing on their registration papers.

Dr. James Nevins, a name long associated in the administration of San Angelo public schools, has retired back to his ranch near Winters. There he concentrates on the top Char-bray lines.

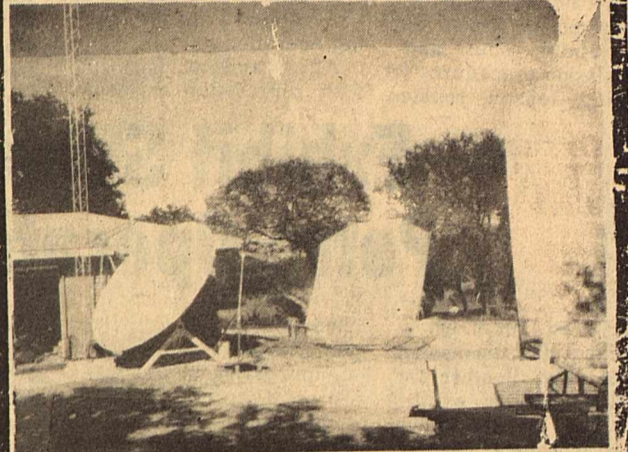

And we are always promoting the Shelley V. Smith Charolais Herd in ads here and there. Smith and Hardy ranches have cattle scattered all over the state.

The breed or color makes little difference to us. We work on the same philosophy as the Beef Council: As long as it's beef, we promote it!

International Ranchers Roundup Cash Flow Talk Slated

Ranchers may not have direct control over market prices, interest rates or other supply-demand factors.

But they do have control over various production-management concepts which can minimize costs and return working capital when used properly, according to a Texas Agricultural Extension Service livestock specialist.

"There are a number of proven practices that ranchers can use to lower production costs and improve cash-flow situations," says Dr. LeRoy Hoermann. "Many of these methods will be discussed in detail at the International Ranchers Roundup (I.R.R.) August 10-12 in Del Rio."

Hoermann says about two dozen of the Southwest's most successful ranchers will appear throughout the three-day program describing how they handle certain situations effectively to remain profitable. He notes that 75 other ranching experts from 12 states, Australia and Mexico will present their expertise in the general and six concurrent sessions which cover every phase of the ranching operation.

Hoermann urges ranchers to ask themselves a few basic questions concerning their operations. Is your production system—breeding, stocker or combination—best adapted to your growing conditions and tax structure? Do you have flexibility to adjust to changing conditions? Is the timing of your breeding, birth and weaning matched to weather, feed requirements and available markets? Have you optimized pasture and livestock management to reduce the amount of feed required? These and many others will be discussed during the Roundup with a variety of ideas for implementing solutions.

One notable general session speaker will point out how ranchers can effectively cut certain production costs and employ various measures to avoid being among the 100,000 American beef producers forced out of business this year.

"There are many alternatives available to the rancher," Hoermann stresses. "Some are very innovative and require information that is available only from specialized sources. A primary reason for holding this Roundup is to 'pool' knowledge and information from experts around the world that any rancher can use in their struggle to produce more food and fiber profitably at lower cost."

The I.R.R. coordinator says this conference could be looked upon as a "conference on rancher survival."
