Chamber of Commerce officials are needing two things to make their Sutton County Days auction successful--more items to auction off and a good crowd with fat billfolds.

The auction, being held for the first time this year, will begin at 1:30 p.m. on Saturday, August 21, the second day of the popular Sutton County Days celebration, which includes a parade, barbecue, rodeo, and oldtimers reunion.

The auction is being co-sponsored by the Sonora Chamber of Commerce and Sutton County Days Association, and is slated for the courthouse lawn.

Local clubs and non-profit organizations are being asked to donate items for the auction, with all proceeds coming back to the respective clubs. "People need to remember that funds from the auction will not go to the chamber, but back to their clubs. This should be an excellent fund-raising activity," Edith James, Chamber secretary, said Friday.

As of Friday noon, only three organizations had come forth with items for the sale, however.

The Halliburton Ladies have chipped in candy by Ilene Stuart, two cakes by Shirlene Smith and Karen Goins, a pecan pie by Gerda Schooner and bread by Alice Barcroft.

Epsilon Sigma Alpha, Kappa Gamma, will be auctioning off a pecan pie, German chocolate cake, macrame wall hanging, a plant and other baked goods.

The Independent Cattlemen's Association will be auctioning off a one-day hunt for a fallow buck on the Bill Whitehead Ranch, a lighted makeup mirror from Merle Norman, $50 worth of t-bone steaks given by Dell Wilson and Ruth Espy, and a K.C. steak dinner for two given by Linda Love.

"Any non-profit organization that wants to include items in the auction should send a list, not to exceed five items, to the Chamber of Commerce," Ms. James reported.

L.P. Bloodworth, an accomplished auctioneer, will be running the sale and everyone is invited. "Bring your money and turn out," the chamber official concluded.

Progress is well underway for the annual Sutton County Days, which will begin with a parade at 5 p.m. on Friday, August 20. Joan Jones is chairing the parade, which will conclude at the courthouse, where a barbecue is set for the lawn at 6 p.m. Gil Trainer and Libb Wallace are in charge of the barbecue.

At 7:30 p.m. the first performance of the rodeo is slated, according to Jim Garrett, chairman. "The rodeo committee is doing a great job and we would like to thank the people of Sonora for their continued support of the rodeo," Garrett said.

Sutton County country and western dance fans will be entertained at the Friday night dance by Sonora native Bill Green, a consummate musician who finds time to run a business and lead a band while he continues to compose such standards as "Texas Greats" and "Rainy Day Song".

With 15 singles currently under his belt, Green is probably best known for "Texas Fiddles" and "Fool Such As I". Six of his singles have made the national charts. Friday's dance will be held from 8 until midnight at the slab, located between the 4-H Center and rodeo arena.

Saturday night's dance will be held from 9 p.m. until 1 a.m. and will feature well known recording star Darrell McCall. McCall has released more than 20 singles, many of which have made their way to the upper portion of regional and national charts.

Those include "Bury the Bottle with Me", "The Marionette", "The First Year", "Wrong Kind of Man", and "Hurry Up". His latest (See Plans, Page 7)

Services for Preston Love held Friday

Funeral services for Preston Love, 71, were held Friday, August 6 at the First Methodist Church of Sonora with Don Jones officiating. Burial followed in Sonora Cemetery under the direction of Kerbow Funeral Home.

Love, a longtime Sutton County civic leader and public servant, died last Wednesday in San Antonio Community Hospital. He was born July 29, 1911 in Bandera County and married Alma Schrier in Eldorado in 1933.

Love was employed by the T Half Circle Ranch for 54 years, and was an adult 4-H leader and on the building committee of the Sutton County 4-H Center since 1950. Love was elected to the Sutton County Commissioners Court in 1960 and served precinct one until his death.

Survivors include his wife, of Sonora; two sons, Preston O. Love and Tommy Love, both of Sonora; one daughter, Martha Sims of Sonora; two brothers, George Love of San Antonio and Clarence Love of Goldthwaite; one sister, Grace Kuykendall of San Antonio; and nine grandchildren.

Pallbearers were Philip Jacoby, Bill Webster, Charles Howard, Charlie Graves, Buddy Kiser, Donald Patton, Gene Wallace and Joe Ed Harrell.

Named as honorary pallbearers were Charles Sherrill, Juan Carlos Gonzales, Bill Wade, Bill Galbreath, Freeman Mears, Royce Mears, Sam Perez, Oscar Galindo, Francisco Perez, Ralph Mayer and all employees of T Half Circle.

Terry Neill named News Editor-General Manager

Terry B. Neill, a Fort Stockton native and veteran newspaperman, has joined the staff of the Devil's River News as editor-general manager, publisher Gus Allen announced this week.

Neill is the son of Mrs. Edwill Parker of Fort Stockton and is a 1970 graduate of Fort Stockton High School.

He started in the newspaper business while still in high school, writing a high school news column and doing darkroom work, and has since owned three newspapers.

Neill owned and published the Stanton Reporter for seven years, and has owned the Van Horn Advocate for the past two years. During his stint in Stanton, the young publisher also owned the Schleicher County Leader in Eldorado.

During his tenure in Stanton, the Reporter was a consistent award-winner, taking general excellence awards in West Texas and Texas Press Associations.

Neill has been active in the West Texas Press Association, where he served as director and president, and the Texas Press Association, where he served on the board of directors.

He has been active in civic work, serving as president of the Martin County Chamber of Commerce at Stanton and on the city council there and in Van Horn, where he was mayor pro tem.

In Stanton, Neill was especially active in youth related activities, coaching and acting as commissioner for youth baseball and basketball programs.

Neill, who will be 30 this month, is a rabid football fan and enjoys roping, fishing and hunting as his main hobbies. He has one son, Chase Jackson Neill, two, who resides in San Angelo.

Neill attends the Methodist Church, and served as youth leader at the First United Methodist Church of Van Horn.

FOR DISTRICT 6-AAA TITLE

Grid magazine picks Broncs

The editors of Dave Campbell's Texas Football magazine, a popular yearly publication devoted to the Lone Star State's high school, college and professional football teams, think the Sonora Broncs are the team to beat in 1982.

Sonora's experienced interior line was cited by the magazine as one reason the "Red Hosses" should stampe this fall, and Colorado City should be the Sutton County lads' main opposition.

Campbell's magazine noted that defending loop champion has been "shuffled" into another district, gave Sonora the "team to beat" tag, and said that Colorado City, with some talented linemen and receivers, will join Sonora High School in the District 6-AAA chase.

Coach Jerry Hopkins' charges will begin two-a-day workouts on August 9, and open the season on September 3rd in Bronco Stadium against the Wall Hawks.

Texas Football had the following summaries on District 6-AAA teams for 1982:

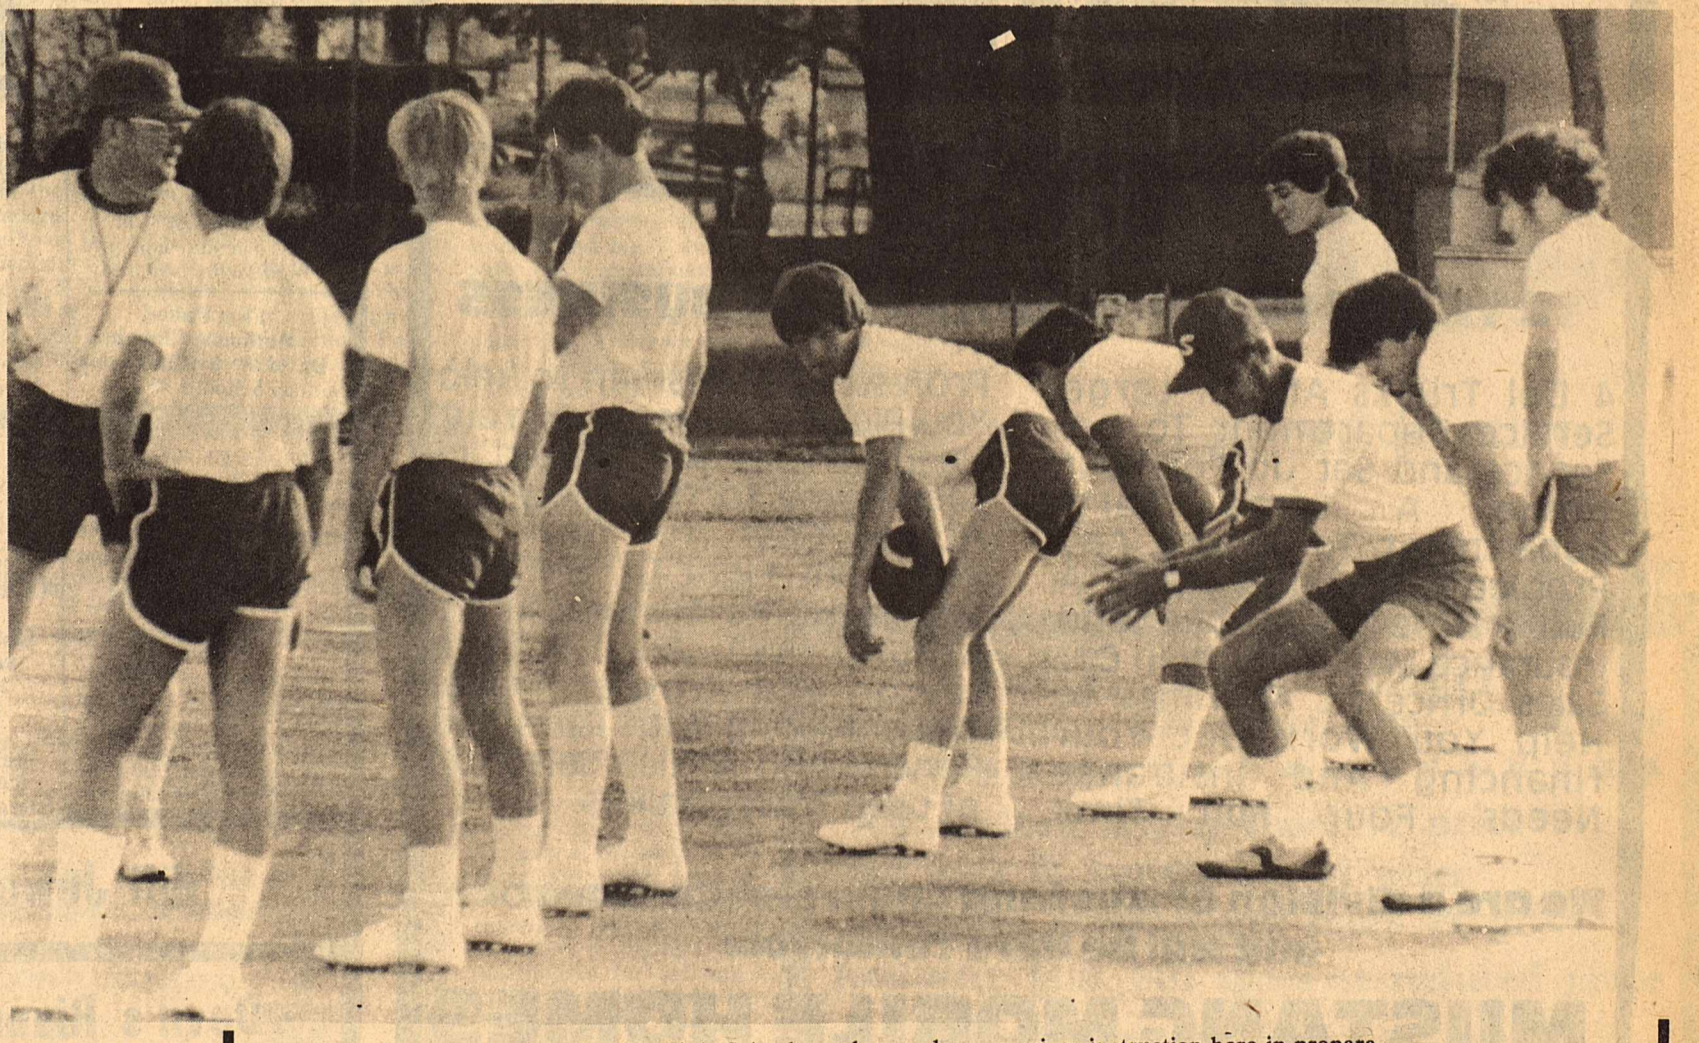

SONORA sculpted an 8-2 record a year ago and finds it has improved size and line strength among 4 offensive and 5 defensive holdovers. Linemen Rodney Jones (6-1, 215), Fermin Sanchez, Espy Whitehead, Jimmy Gonzales and Frankie Gonzales are prize performers, and Tino Martinez, David Buitron, Marney Sorenson and DeVoe Smith are accomplished RBs. Albert Chavez and Jeff Brittain help strengthen the backfield, and Ronnie Munns and Alex Noriega firm up the line picture.

COLORADO CITY counts on 2 offensive and 2 defensive returnees from a 6-4 team-but also has strong competitive notions because of good young talent. End Tom Rees (6-1, 205) is a defensive standout, and backs Stacy Tarter and Tracy Tarter also are long on quality. Guard Bennie Arocha bolsters the line, and more support will come from backs Gerry Hamilton, Larry Hamilton, Dennis Rivera, Doug Chitsey and Ruben Luera, and linemen Frank Marsh, Fred Dakan, John Mayo, Raymond Bassinger, James Blackwell and Willie Martinez.

COAHOMA thinks it could reclaim a lot of past glory with the excellent line prospects among 4 offensive and 5 defensive holdovers from 2-7-1 team. QB Bruce Walker is exceptional in ability and leadership; and linemen Jeff Dever (6-0, 205), James Sanders (5-10, 210), Dee Cagle (6-1, 230), James Gilbert, Ron Clanton and Greg Wilbourn join LBs Chuck Stephen and Tony Burnett, ends Brad Fryar, Todd Engel, Kyle Rackley and Kendall Powell and backs Junior Yanez, John Wilson, Mike McKinley and Richard Seals in a strong bid to move upward.

Sharp improvement at BALLINGER is a good possibility since better size and strength are evident among 4 offensive and 4 defensive regulars who return from a 2-8 team. Tackles Joe Escobar (5-11, 265) and Brian Strube, LB Kevin Jones, QB Aaron Keese and backs David Elliott (5-11, 190), Kenneth Fischer, Matt Allen and Ruben Saucedo are players with more muscle and skill than in 1981.

CRANE finished winless last season, but almost the entire squad-21 lettermen, including 10 offensive and all 11 defensive regulars-returns, determined to crack into the winning column. QB Jeff Pinkston is back to direct the offense, with RB Gilbert Ramirez, Larry Peek and Tony Aguilar handling the running attack and WRs Robert Cadera and Gary Blue handling the pass-catching chores. Tackle Tooter Draper heads the line corps, with center Wally Heridia (6-0, 215), guards Oscar Rosales, Johnny Fox and John Cauases and tackle Trey Morgan also expected to help. TE Clint Barrett (6-4, 180) and RB Ben Blackwood will be other key hands.

OZONA posted a creditable 7-3 mark in Class AA play last season but returns only 2 offensive and 4 defensive regulars for its inaugural season in Class AAA ranks.

9, 48 sheets heavyweight. Third grade teachers ask that parents do not buy notebooks and/or notebook paper for their children. "The teachers will send word when these are needed," a spokesman said.

FOURTH GRADE--Ruler (inches and metric), large sharp-pointed scissors, one box map colors, no. 2 pencils, scotch tape, one box crayons, two boxes Kleenex, three folders with pockets, notebook paper, glue and assorted construction paper. (Fourth grade teachers also request no notebooks.)

FIFTH GRADE--Two boxes Kleenex, two no. 2 pencils, one pair pointed scissors, one looseleaf notebook, one ruler, one box map colors, one glue in plastic container, one box crayons, one rubber eraser, notebook paper, one red lead pencil, five folders with pockets. Teachers request no ball-point pens. All teachers request that students' supplies be plainly marked and identified.

Pupils who will be new to Sonora Elementary or Sonora Middle School will need to register for the coming school year, any day, prior to August 23, 1982, from 9 a.m. until noon, and from 1 until 4 p.m.

It will not be necessary for pupils who were in Sonora Elementary School (K-4) at the close of school to register.

Pupils registering for kindergarten or first grade for the first time must present their birth certificate and immunization record.

School will begin Monday, August 23.

Information about registering may be obtained by calling 387-2414 or 387-5669.

New soil, water act announced

Secretary of Agriculture John R. Block announced the final conservation program this week as a result of the Soil and Water Conservation Resources Act (RCA) of 1977.

Virgil Polocek, district conservationist for the USDA Soil Conservation Service at Sonora, said the Secretary told 13 Midwestern governors that "state and local government must take greater initiatives in soil and water conservation especially as we struggle in Washington to hold down the growth of Federal spending."

Other features of the Secretary's blueprint for action include: A national conservation strategy that focuses on solving two priority needs. First priority is to combat soil erosion in high-production farm areas. Second priority is water problems, with water conservation the goal in the arid West and prevention of damage from upstream flooding in other areas.

Hermann Hospital has noted an increased incidence of young kidney disease patients. In 1977, there were only four pediatric admissions to Hermann. During 1980, there were approximately 118 admissions.

Targeting of an increasing share of USDA conservation funds and personnel to areas where "the need for conservation is critical in national terms."

Continuation of a "base program" that will keep in place the technical and financial help that USDA has been providing for local conservation programs. The base program will receive 75 percent of all USDA technical and financial assistance funds; targeted areas will use no more than 25 percent of total funds by 1987.

Governor Bill Clements wins Lions Club award

Governor Bill Clements has been awarded the Medal of Distinction from Lions Club International for his outstanding contributions toward drug abuse awareness and anti-drug legislation. The medal is the highest service award given by the club to a non-member.

Everett J. "Ebb" Grind staff of Ballinger, President of Lions Club International, presented the award to the Governor in Austin recently. With strong support of the Texas law enforcement community, 14 of the 16 elements of the Governor's anti-crime and War on Drugs legislative package were adopted by the Legislature and signed into law during the 67th legislative session. Lions Clubs around the world are using Governor Clements' War on Drugs program to pattern drug awareness and education programs nationally and internationally. The program was presented at the International Lions Club convention held July 3 in Atlanta. Lions Club is the world's largest service organization, with 35,000 clubs and 1.4 million members.

The Governor has also been honored for his leadership in anti-crime/anti-drug legislation by the Texas District and County Attorneys Association, the Institute of Criminal Justice Studies of Southwest Texas State University.

RANCHING....

An ambitious young man went to a university professor and said "Sir, I desire a course of training that will fit me to become the foreman of a large ranch. How much will such a course cost, and how long will it take?"

"Young man, such a course would cost you $20,000 and 20 years of your time. But, on the other hand, by spending $300 of your money and three months of your time, you may be elected to Congress. Once there you feel yourself competent to direct not one, but all of the ranches in our country."

HOWDY!.....

After driving into Sonora from the west this week, we can understand some of the emotions that the pioneers must have felt when they first glimpsed the rolling country of Sutton County.

We've been newspapering since George (some of you will remember him) and Frank Baker at Fort Stockton first invited us to write a high school column and learn the darkroom several years ago, but somehow we feel we're starting out with a new lease on life in Sonora.

Gus Allen and his crew are first rate businessmen and newspaper folks and we're looking forward to a long tenure here in Sutton County, after owning our own newspapers since 1974.

Private enterprise is wonderful, but the economy has made it hard to make a living on a small newspaper recently, and the security of a chain operation like WesCom is very attractive to this West Texan.

And the Sonora community is attractive. We've liked this neck of the woods for a long time, and are looking forward to making a contribution to the future growth and progress of the area, both through the newspaper and individually.

We've always believed that a person should work for his community and put something back into it, whether it be through youth or church programs, chamber of commerce, etc.

And we've always wanted to cover a playoff team on the gridiron, a definite possibility here in 1982, if you believe what Texas Football has to say about the Sonora Broncos. At Stanton, we fielded some fine teams, but always had the misfortune to be in the same district with Seagraves, a team with a winning tradition similar to Sonora's.

We're hoping the 'Red Hosses' stamped to a championship in 1982, and help us fulfill one of our career-long dreams.

We've already been impressed with the friendly West Texans in Sonora, and they have made us glad that we decided to stay at home in West Texas and not venture off to some other part of the state.

One aspect of life in Sutton County that will be different from Fort Stockton, Stanton and Van Horn is the rolling grass-covered hills and all the trees.

We haven't had the pleasures of living around too many trees, obviously, but the change will be welcome. We'll get used to the "Green," however, and are looking forward to meeting as many residents of Sutton County as possible in the coming days and weeks. Come on by the office for a cup!

CAN'T BELIEVE IT....

One of our staffers who recently bit the dust and repeated wedding vows, unearthed an interesting oddity this week when attempting to change the name on her social security card.

According to an application for a Social Security card she recently obtained from the Feds, a birth record (or birth certificate) is not evidence of identity.

That's right folks, just because you were brought into this world by a physician and your birth was verified by a hospital somewhere, the Social Security people are not convinced.

According to the application, the Social Security administration considers state identity cards, insurance policies, a driver's license, school identification card, adoption record, day care or nursery school records, marriage or divorce record or get this—a newspaper notice of birth.

An amusing aspect of this little governmental boondoggle is the fact that many of the accepted forms of evidence are only attainable by presenting a birth certificate in the first place.

Bluegrass Festival planned

Rod Kennedy's Quiet Valley Ranch, nestled in the beautiful Texas Hill Country nine miles South of this resort community will be ringing with banjos, mandolins and old time fiddle music for the ninth consecutive Labor Day week-end as the Kerrville Bluegrass Festival gets underway for four days starting Thursday, September 2.

Running through Sunday night and leaving Monday, Labor Day, free for fans to drive back home to more than a dozen states throughout the Southwestern U.S., Rod Kennedy's festival has earned the reputation of being Texas' biggest and best festival of bluegrass music, particularly for those who like to hear some of the nation's finest contemporary players in addition to the traditional old-time music.

Campers arriving at the gates find them open 24 hours a day starting at 10 a.m. Thursday morning and families are moving into campsites all day and all night depending on how soon they could leave home and how far they had to drive. Camping is free and children are admitted free with their parents and it really is the last family music fling of the Summer with many youngsters already going back to school. Music fills the stage, the parking lot, the campgrounds and even the ticket booths as it seems that almost everyone plays some kind of instrument. After the on stage concerts it's hard to tell the performers from the spectators as informal jam sessions are going on everywhere.

Good food and a wide variety of beverages are served 18 hours a day at reasonable prices for those who don't bring their own picnics or who don't do their own cooking out. Rest rooms, first aid, security and 50 crafts booths make it like a music village for four days and nights.

In addition to the concerts starring big nationally-known names like Buck White, Hot Rize, Mac Wiseman and Doyle Lawson and Hee Haw fiddler Jana Jae, to name a few, there are three exciting music competitions for banjo, mandolin and bluegrass bands that provide hard-fought super-picking every year at the festival.

Tickets are $20 for four days, with single day tickets available also in advance or at the gate. For more complete information, fans should write: Bluegrass, P.O. Box 1466, Kerrville, Texas 78028, or phone after 10 a.m. weekdays (512) 896-3800.

Tris Speaker, the great American baseball player, was known as the "Gray Eagle" because of his gray hair and his speed in playing the outfield.

Summer of '82 bad year for fleas

The summer of 1982 may be the worst year yet for fleas in Texas - and dog and cat owners need to be aware of some safe, effective steps that can be taken to help control these irksome parasites.

"Dipping or spraying your pet is not enough. Treating the premises, your house and yard, and keeping your pet within the area that has been treated, are just as important," said Dr. Fred Soifer, president of the Texas Veterinary Medical Association (TVMA).

While dogs and cats are the main hosts for these parasites, fleas actually spend most of their lifespan off of the pet. So treatment of the premises is necessary, advises Soifer, a companion animal practitioner from Houston.

Three major reasons for the especially heavy infestation of fleas this year are the weather, a mild winter followed by a rainy spring and hot, humid summer. Products that had been safe and effective for killing fleas no longer seem to do the job - the fleas develop a resistance to some formerly effective pesticides. Population increases have added to the problem.

Scratching is the first obvious signal your pet has fleas. Pet owners should also watch for skin inflammation or bald spots. The fleas' saliva can cause a severe allergic reaction, resulting in extreme itching, scratching and chewing of the skin that may persist for up to two weeks after the death of the fleas. Fleas are carriers of tapeworms, and many animals with flea infestations will have tapeworms.

Kittens, puppies and small dogs are more easily made anemic because of their size. These small animals may become so anemic that they require a blood transfusion when the heavy flea infestation is coupled with hookworm disease.

Flea collars are not enough, and in some cases if not used properly are more harmful to pets than helpful. "Don't forget the improper use of flea and tick products can kill animals, so read the product label carefully," Soifer said.

The best method for controlling fleas varies from one part of the state to the other, and proper flea control measures differ from animal to animal. It is advisable to contact your veterinarian for individual flea control measures for your pet and premises.

In the home, foggers that kill not only the adult but the larvae as well are available. Yards must be treated with a pesticide, preferably the granular form. A commercial pest control individual may also be consulted.

Veterinarians in some parts of Texas are prescribing a systemic insecticide - a liquid or tablet that is given by mouth and absorbed by the system. This is no panacea, said Soifer. The systemic insecticide is not effective unless the premises are controlled and is not effective on animals that are flea-bite sensitive. "The key to flea control is still regular treatment of the pet and premises," reminds Soifer.

Every year another 300 people in the Houston area are afflicted with kidney diseases. Two-thirds of them will develop chronic renal failure.

Reports from Washington

"No!" To Withholding

Proposals to withhold an automatic percentage of interest and dividend income have been defeated seven times by the Congress since 1941. On July 23, however, the United States Senate, by a margin of four votes, approved the current proposal to withhold 10% of interest and dividend income as part of a tax package designed to reduce the Federal deficit for fiscal year 1983 by some $20 billion. The entire tax package is currently being considered by a joint Senate-House Conference Committee.

In order to understand the conference proceedings, it is worthwhile to review the Senate debate on the withholding proposal. Those who favored the withholding proposal argued:

- Withholding of unearned income, interest and dividends, is no different from withholding of earned income, wages and salaries. It is not a tax, it is only a collection device, designed to ensure that every American pay his fair share of taxes, honestly and accurately.

- Since there are exemptions for the elderly, for those on fixed income and for small financial institutions, the proposal will not create burdens for those who live on their interest and dividend payments or for those small banks which do not have the computer capacity to handle withholding easily.

- The proposal will, according to the Treasury Department, raise $4.3 billion in fiscal year 1983 alone. This means that there is $4.3 billion worth of tax "ignoring" going on at present. It also means the withholding proposal will lower the Federal deficit by $4.3 billion.

- The Congressional Budget Resolution called for $20 billion in new revenue to reduce the sky-rocketing Federal deficit for fiscal year 1983. If the $4.3 billion is not raised in withholding on interest and dividends, it may be raised in other ways, perhaps by taxing royalty income, by increased gasoline taxes, or by other energy-related taxes.

Those who opposed the withholding proposal countered with these arguments:

- While withholding of unearned income may only be a collection device, it still amounts to forcing honest taxpayers to give the Federal Government an "interest-free" loan, preventing taxpayers from gaining compounded interest on their interest and dividend payments.

- Despite the exemptions in the legislation, the elderly and those on fixed income will still be burdened by having to file the necessary exemption paperwork. Further, even in this age of computers and sophisticated electronic banking, there will be enormous start-up costs and paperwork for financial and corporate institutions of all sizes. Institutions will be forced to pass on these additional costs directly to savers and investors in the form of lower interest payments and smaller dividends, or in the form of higher interest charges to borrowers.

- While there may be an increase in the Federal deficit if the withholding proposal is defeated, there would be an equally adverse effect on our economic recovery if $4.3 billion is removed from savings and the economy in general.

- We must reduce the deficit by reducing Federal spending, not by increasing taxes, especially during these recessionary times. As I reflect, and as I weigh the arguments, I shall oppose the current proposal on withholding of interest and dividend income as steadfastly as I opposed a similar Carter proposal during my first term in Congress. My bottom line is simple. Right now, each and every American who receives interest and dividend income receives a form 1099 annually, stating the total amounts received. An identical 1099 is filed with the IRS. If the IRS is not paying any attention to the 1099s, then there is no reason for financial institutions to be forced to comply with the additional paperwork burden. It seems clear to me that if there is indeed $4.3 billion worth of tax avoidance going on, it is simply incumbent on the IRS to do a better job of processing and matching those 1099 forms. The IRS should certainly be able to catch dishonesty without imposing an incredible burden on those Americans who honestly pay their fair share of taxes on their investment income.

For three and one half years, I have spoken often about our bankrupt policies of "tax and tax, spend and spend." It makes absolutely no sense to me, therefore, to even think about a proposal to withhold a percentage of interest and dividend income or to raise taxes to reduce our deficit when we have done almost nothing to date to reduce Federal spending. In my mind, we must reduce Federal spending significantly before we ever consider the possibility of raising taxes.

More moms working today

Mom's attitude about her work away from home has a major effect on her children's views toward it, says Diane Welch, a family life education specialist.

"When mothers feel good about their work outside the home, the effect on their children is more likely to be positive," the specialist says.

Welch is with the Home Economics Program of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Of course, many factors affect children's social and psychological adjustment to Mom working outside the home, but her attitude is significant, Welch notes.

MORE MOMS WORKING TODAY

For the first time in history, a majority of American women are in the labor force, Welch says.

Statistically more than half of all Texas mothers with school age children are employed. Of mothers with children under six the figure is only a bit lower—40 percent are employed outside the home.

"This dramatic social change has created concern among researchers and the general public—many are asking, 'What's happening to the children?'" Welch says.

Some of "what's happening" has been documented by studies that focus on children's thoughts about their mothers working.

Finding from these studies provide insight into needs of families in which the mother works outside the home, Welch says.

These family needs also suggest guidelines for parents, she adds.

Here are the guidelines:
1. Mothers, share your work with the family. Children who have some information about their mother's employment are more likely to understand it.

Mothers can help children gain understanding by talking over their jobs with the children, taking the children to places of employment when feasible and introducing the children to people "Mom works with."

2. Mothers, consider the adjustments your children must make. When Mom works outside the home, the whole family has to adjust routines, schedules and responsibilities.

Complaints sometimes voiced by children of working mothers include these:

"We miss out on all the fun."

"We have too many household responsibilities."

"We miss not having Mom at home when we return from school."

Complaints can be avoided when mothers communicate with children about routines and responsibilities, Welch says.

As children mature, they recognize the contribution they make to the balance of home and work life, the specialist says.

3. Mothers, assure your children of your primary interest in them. Children of working mothers need to know they still are a primary interest, Welch stresses.

To increase children's sense of security, take time to listen when they talk about the days activities and about "just things." Also, "be around" when possible.

Make sure that job demands are not all-consuming of your time. In the work world, naturally, peak periods of job demands do occur. Children can accept these times better when job demands in general are not all-consuming of Mom's time, Welch says.

Finally, there is a kind of Handgun law could be illegal

The California Court of Appeals today granted a National Rifle Association legal request and ordered the city of San Francisco to prove that its newly passed handgun ban is not illegal. The court set September 22 for a hearing date.

In Washington, NRA officials were jubilant over their first round victory.

"It's a major step towards knocking out the ban," said J. Warren Cassidy, executive director of the NRA Institute for Legislative Action. "Our attorneys maintained the ban violated several provisions of California law, including the state's gun control preemption statute. Now it is up to San Francisco to legally justify this atrocious ordinance."

The court did not issue a temporary stay against enforcement of the ban, which technically took effect today, since the statute gives citizens 90 days to surrender their handguns. A decision on the ban's legality is expected prior to that time.

The NRA brought suit against the ban July 19 on behalf of city residents George Soracco, William Capilos, Beau Hickory and the San Francisco Gun Exchange, a federally licensed firearms dealer. The San Francisco firm of Pillsbury, Madison and Sutro is handling the case.

Kemp-Johnson vows heard

Deborah Luann Kemp became the bride of Calvin W. Johnson on Saturday, August 7 in a ceremony performed at the First Baptist Church of Sonora with the Rev. J.C. Hancock officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry B. Kemp and the granddaughter of Mrs. Lena B. Young of San Angelo and Mrs. Lorene Kemp, also of San Angelo. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack B. Johnson and the grandson of Mrs. Lodessa Pope.

Linda Hamilton of Austin was maid of honor, while bridesmaids were Carrie Bartz, Stacy Chandler and Anna Belle Gonzales. Chrystal D. Young of Leveland served as flower girl.

Brother of the bridegroom, Mitchell C. Johnson, was best man, with Bruce Bartz, Kevin Snyder and David Gordon as groomsmen. Rhett Johnson was ring bearer. Ushers were Tony Hooper, Lance Reynolds, Duray Smith, and Philip Kemp, brother of the bride.

The bride wore a traditional bridal gown fashioned of white crystal organza. Embellishing the Queen Ann neckline and bodice fitted to the natural waistline, were appliques of shifflil, wedgewood, and shiny silk venice laces sprinkled with tiny seed pearls.

The sheer, bishop sleeves which boasted v-appliques of wedgewood and venice laces at the shoulder were caught at the wrist with a wide wedgewood lace cuff. A full skirt was highlighted with hand-clipped silk venice medallions and ended with a deep flounce of wedgewood lace. Covered buttons enhanced the back of the bodice to the fitted waistline where rows and rows of wedgewood lace ruffles cascaded into a chapel length train.

A scalloped, tiara type headpiece was made of seed pearls outlining a dainty shifflil lace design. The two tier scalloped veil of silk illusion had a rolled edge and was trimmed with a pearl motif at the point of each scallop.

Mrs. Johnson attended Sonora High School and Angelo State University and is employed by Dr. D.E. Owensby. The bridegroom attended SHS also, and is employed by Sutton special Electric in Eldorado.

Following a wedding trip to Corpus Christi and Padre Island, the couple will live in Sonora.

A miscellaneous shower was given the couple by Judy Webster, Lynn Jacoby and Diana Jacoby at the golf course club house recently.

Other showers given were by Tony and Linda Hooper, and a lingerie shower by Cecilia Smith and Daphney Adams. A ricebag party was given by Dorothea Baker and Mrs. Don Jones and a bridesmaid luncheon was given by Mary Jean Hamilton, Sue Rosford, and Roberta Jones at the Jones residence.

FREE SPEECH AND THE A.C.L.U.

On May 20, 1982, U.S. District Judge John Singleton ruled that the children in Aldine schools, outside Houston, could no longer include a phrase praising God in their school song.

That made the American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU) very happy. They had been party to the suit, claiming that the song violated constitutional provisions of separation of church and state.

On July 3rd, the Supreme Court ruled that states can indeed ban the distribution of child pornography. That made ACLU very unhappy. One of their spokesmen was quoted in the press as complaining this violated the constitutional provisions of free speech.

If this all seems strange to you, perhaps it is because it is strange. The ACLU is constantly worried about the "free speech" rights of pornographers, but seemingly is on the other side of the fence when the question turns on the free speech rights of school children. One cannot escape the conclusion that the ACLU would defend the "right" of school children to distribute smut, but they would deny them the right to sing the praises of God.

And if you ever wonder where the ACLU gets the money to pursue its goals, consider this: a lot of rich people in high places give them a lot of money. Our current Lieutenant Governor Hobby, for example, held a fund raiser for them in his Houston home that raised some $60,000. He is very proud of his efforts in this regard, defending it repeatedly while out on the campaign trail seeking reelection. That is one of the many areas where he and I are in disagreement. I think there are far worthier organizations for Texans to champion. I would appreciate hearing your thoughts. Just write me at 1213 W. 34th, Austin, Texas 78705.

Football Contest slated

Gridiron fans will have a treat in store this fall as the Devil's River News in Sonora unveils its new Jackpot Football Contest in the September 1 edition of the newspaper.

The new contest will differ from the contest conducted by the News last fall in that each sponsor will have a football game listed in their advertisement on the football page.

To enter the contest, local grid fans must pick up an entry blank from one of the participating merchants, fill it out using the games in each ad, and turn it in at the News office by 5 p.m. each Friday.

Prize money will go to the first, second and third place winners each week, and the jackpot will build each week until someone claims it. Prize money and the jackpot will depend on the number of sponsors who sign up for the contest.

"Merchants really like this form of contest because they have three chances to sell their merchandise. They get an ad on the contest, contestants have to pick up their entry blanks from one of the participating merchants and then if they win, must pick up their money from the location where they obtained their blank.

"If the jackpot, which should build up to around $300, is not won by the end of the football season and remains unclaimed, we will donate it to the Bronco Booster Club," News editor Terry B. Neill said this week.

News staffers will be contacting local merchants about sponsoring the contest beginning this week. Any merchant who is not contacted and wants to be a part of the new contest should call Neill at the Devil's River News.

The Texas Kidney Institute will accommodate 53 patients and provide facilities and services in a Medicine Unit, a Pediatric Unit, a Surgery/Transplantation Unit, and an Acute Dialysis Unit.

TO CONGRESSIONAL COMMITTEE

Wallace urges natural gas deregulation

The nation's natural gas market is being seriously damaged by certain federal energy policies and steps must be taken quickly to remedy the situation, Texas Railroad Commissioner Mack Wallace told a congressional committee today.

Wallace warned that unless Congress acts promptly to change its natural gas policies, consumers across the nation who depend on the fuel in one form or another will suffer needlessly.

Wallace represented the Texas Energy and Natural Resources Advisory Council which is preparing an in-depth report detailing the impact of the Natural Gas Policy Act of 1978 on current and projected U.S. natural gas markets.

"The U.S. natural gas market stands at a confusing, but crucial crossroad in our nation's energy history," Wallace said. "This invaluable resource, as a critical segment of America's energy portfolio, cries out for a common-sense resolution to the dilemma in which it now finds itself so entangled."

According to Wallace, growing uncertainty over gas supplies and prices had led to an ever-increasing market instability.

"In the past few years, we have seen curtailments yield to bubbles and bubbles burst to shortages more than once," he said.

"In the past year alone, we have seen an MCF of gas marketed for less than 25 cents—and more than 10 dollars."

Without changes in the NGPA, Wallace said, the first casualty would be the intrastate gas market and the critical industries it supports—refining, petrochemical and agriculture.

Wallace cautioned Congress not to ignore the national implications of disruptions to the Texas gas market.

"Damage to the viability of the intrastate market will have debilitating, rippling effects throughout all regions of the country," he said.

Wallace urged the subcommittee and the Congress to make the necessary changes to the NGPA saying, "The only effective environment for natural gas is a deregulated market unfettered by artificial constraints such as disparate pricing, unequal access to supplies, gas venting and off-system sales."

Wallace pointed out that 70 percent of the primary petrochemical industry which produces feedstocks for plastics, dyes, rubber processing, agricultural chemicals, synthetic fibers and medicinals is located on the Texas-Louisiana

Gulf Coast.

Roughly 60-70 percent of the chemicals and refined products produced by this industry are shipped out of the Southwest region, primarily to the Eastern United States, he said.

"The ties between the Texas gas market and the nation's economic well-being are undeniable," Wallace said.

Wallace said the NGPA and other federal actions have created three significant disorders which cause the instability and damage to the Texas gas market—which, in turn, affects consumers in all fifty states:

- price "cushions."
- off-system sales.
- unequal access to natural gas reserves.

The NGPA guarantees interstate pipelines lower cost, regulated gas at approximately 65 percent of the average price paid by Texas pipelines for gas produced in the state, he explained.

That price "cushion" allows interstate pipelines to bid up the price for newer gas discoveries, forcing intrastate pipelines to pay higher prices—if they can afford it. These higher costs find their way through to the petrochemical and agricultural industries, weakening them as well.

As a result, Wallace said, the U.S. could find itself dependent on foreign sources of refined products in the same way it now depends upon foreign sources for crude oil.

Off-system sales permitted by the NGPA allow interstate pipelines to unload or "dump" excess gas supplies—acquired at lower prices—into the intrastate market, he said.

This cheap gas displaces intrastate gas, forcing the intrastate pipelines to cut back on gas purchases from Texas producers. This would cause a situation where virtually all new gas reserves discovered in Texas will be dedicated to the interstate market. The third disorder described by Wallace is unequal access to natural gas reserves.

He said the NGPA gives a definite advantage to interstate pipelines in acquiring new gas supplies from the Outer Continental Shelf and lands previously committed to interstate commerce.

Wallace said consumers would be better served by competition, giving all pipelines and direct customers equal access to all natural gas reserves from all sources.

"It is imperative, in the interest of all, that the Congress moves with dispatch to reduce and eliminate the many disorders and uncertainties which make a market which is fair, and fair to all, an impossibility," he said.

Joining Wallace for his presentation to the congressional subcommittee were Dr. William L. Fisher, Director of the Bureau of Economic Geology at the University of Texas, and Dr. Walt Rostow, Professor of Political Economy at the University of Texas, and former national security advisory to Presidents Kennedy and Johnson.

State has 192 stikes

Railroad Commission Chairman Jim Nugent announced that Texas operators reported 141 gas and 51 oil discoveries in July 1982.

One year ago, 123 gas and 51 oil discoveries were filed with the state's energy regulatory agency.

each in the Refugio area and the Panhandle.

Through the first seven months of this year, there have been 871 gas and 368 oil discoveries throughout the state. For the same period last year, there were 711 gas and 383 oil discoveries.

In July, operators reported 353 exploratory and field tests wound up as dry holes. New applications for permits to drill oil and gas tests totaled 2,245 in July compared with 3,223 in the same period of 1981.

Applications to drill, deepen, plug back and for service wells in July amounted to 2,566 against 3,516 a year earlier.

Operators filed 796 amended applications to drill. A year earlier they submitted 872 amended requests.

Gas discoveries in the seventh month of the year included 42 in deep South Texas, 25 in the Refugio area, 22 in West Central Texas, 20 in Southeast Texas, nine in East Texas, seven in North Texas, four each in the Panhandle and the San Angelo area, three each in the San Antonio and Midland areas, and two in East Central Texas.

Activity in oil patch still slow

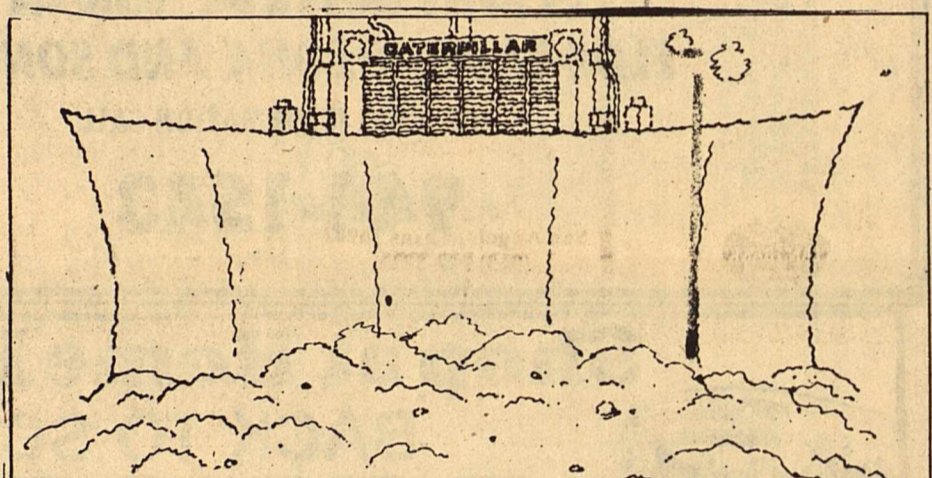

While the activity has slowed down in the oil patch so far this year, 1981 was a boom year for the industry. Today, some highlights from last year in the Permian Basin. Oil production for the 48 Texas counties and the four Southeast New Mexico counties of the Permian Basin totaled 568 million barrels. The amount of natural gas produced was two billion, 593 million MCF.

The value of the oil was 19 billion, 691 million dollars. Natural gas in the basin sold for 4 billion, 482 million dollars. The total value of oil and gas for the Permian Basin in 1981 was 24 billion, 173 million dollars.

In other news, we have some statistics on royalty payments, taxes, drilling expenditures, wells, and payroll from the 48 Texas counties of the Permian Basin. Royalty payments totaled 2.6 billion dollars, oil and gas state production taxes amounted to one billion, 53 million dollars while drilling expenditures were an estimated 1.8 billion dollars.

Last year's drilling totaled 6,622 wells in West Texas. The number of producing wells as of April first of 1982 is 78,000. And, the payroll last year was 1.2 billion dollars. These figures are for the Texas area of the Permian Basin only. We plan to have the Southeast New Mexico statistics next week.

In the Permian Basin our rig count for this week was 286. One year ago it was 468.

Comptroller's Representative Slates Visit

State Comptroller Bob Bullock will have a representative from his San Angelo office in Sonora on August 12 to assist local taxpayers and answer questions about state taxes.

Bullock said Enforcement Officer Oscar H. Gutierrez will meet with local taxpayers at the Sutton County Courthouse from 1 to 2 p.m.

"If Sonora area merchants, or anyone else for that matter, have any questions about state taxes or need help in preparing state tax forms, Gutierrez will be there to assist them," Bullock said.

"We're trying to cut the red tape in this office, and we believe these face to face sessions with taxpayers help do just that," Bullock added.

The San Angelo office serves San Angelo and surrounding counties.

FARM ORGANIZATIONS SAY

Dairy supplies should be reduced

National Farmers Union President George Stone and Texas Farmers Union President Mike Moeller have urged Secretary of Agriculture John Block to reduce government-owned dairy supplies through domestic programs and through export sales as called for in a Congressional mandate.

Farmers Union leaders urged the secretary to expand programs which have begun to distribute cheese, butter and nonfat dry milk to needy people in the U.S. Both Stone and Moeller were critical of the USDA for not selling these dairy products for export "at not less than the prevailing world market price" as mandated by Congress in the 1981 Farm Bill. The refusal by the USDA to sell surplus dairy stocks to foreign countries was criticized by the Farmers Union leaders. "On one hand we have Secretary Block complaining about the cost of the dairy programs and the size of the surplus, yet he has rejected legitimate offers at or

"By refusing to allow the commercial export of surplus dairy products, even at the world price, this policy will, in the end, cost taxpayers even more than the initial loss of selling such products at the world market price," Stone remarked. Stone outlined the six point plan to reduce the government-owned dairy stocks which can be implemented by Block under existing legislation. It includes the following measures:

- * Expand the geographic scope and quantity of dairy products being made available to needy Americans;
- * Expand exports of dairy products through increased utilization of both Title I and Title II of P.L. 480;
- * Increase transfers of dairy products to veteran's hospitals and the military;
- * Institute an aggressive export program of products using private trading companies on a bid basis;
- * Expand commodity distribution to schools, day care centers and elderly feeding programs;
- * And, issue "bonus" Food Stamps to eligible recipients, specifically designed for the purchase of dairy products.

By enacting this plan, Moeller said "we could quickly reduce the dairy inventory to a manageable level. Dairy farmers want to cooperate with the government in a reasonable program which will provide producers with a decent income and enough products for domestic and foreign distribution at the lowest cost possible to the taxpayer."

BY TEXAS LIVESTOCK PRODUCERS

Brucellosis battle joined

Texas livestock producers are continuing to show an increasing interest in establishing certified brucellosis free herds, Dr. John W. Holcombe, executive director, Texas Animal Health Commission, reports.

By the end of this month, it is expected there will be more than 450 certified brucellosis free herds in Texas. By the end of the year, the figure could jump to more than 800. "As of the end of July, 1981, there were only 150 certified free herds in Texas," Dr. Holcombe said.

"The reasons for this are many; a cattleman's best assurance for as much free movement of his cattle as possible within Texas or out-of-state is a certified brucellosis free herd," Dr. Holcombe explained.

The Texas Animal Health Commission had planned to publish a directory of certified free herds. "We are getting so many additions every week and month that a directory would be out of date. However, we will be happy to supply any one with the names of certified free herds by contacting this office or any of the 15 area TAHC offices in the state," Dr. Holcombe said.

Currently, there are 26 different breeds in Texas with certified free herds. These include Brangus, Angus, Maine Anjou, Holstein, Beefmaster, Brahman, Charolais, Santa Gertrudis, Red Angus, Polled Hereford, Hereford, Pinzgauer, Simmental, Jersey, Limousin, Red Brangus,

Cattlemen welcome members

Two new members joined the ranks when the Independent Cattlemen's Association held its monthly meeting and breakfast at the Sutton County Steakhouse on Thursday, August 5 at 7 p.m.

Members of the organization welcomed Mrs. Lawrence and Larry Finklea.

The cattlemen named Miss Kathryn Parker as their candidate for Sutton County Days Queen and are urging all members to buy their rodeo tickets from Miss Parker at the Merle Norman or at Such-A-Deal, the old Ashley's store.

The tickets are good for attendance at the rodeo either Friday or Saturday nights.

Those in attendance also discussed the Sutton County Days auction and voted to donate a one-day fallow buck hunt, a lighted make-up mirror from Merle Norman, t-bone steaks from the Branding Iron and KC steak for two at the Sutton County Steakhouse.

New drug being tested

In an effort to provide better therapy of Parkinson's disease, a new drug is being tested at Texas Tech University Health Sciences Center (TTUHSC) School of Medicine.

Merck Sharp & Dohme Research Laboratories of West Point, Pennsylvania, has awarded a $41,321 research grant to the Department of Medical and Surgical Neurology at TTUHSC for a patient study using a new drug, Sinemet 25/100 Controlled Release Formulation (CSR-I).

J. Thomas Hutton, M.D., Ph.D., associate professor of medical and surgical neurology at TTUHSC and principal investigator for the study, noted that a standard preparation of Sinemet (Carbidopa and Levodopa) is widely used for the treatment of Parkinson's disease. The test drug is a slow release preparation of Sinemet.

Co-investigator for the study is Paul G. Meyer, M.D., associate professor and chairman of TTUHSC medical and surgical neurology. Joseph R. Bianchine, M.D. Ph.D., professor of pharmacology at Ohio State University, is technical consultant for the test study.

Hutton explained that Parkinson's disease is a condition which causes rigidity and tremor of muscles. The condition is sometimes associated with involuntary movements of the arms, legs or face.

There is no known cause or cure for Parkinson's disease, Hutton noted, but drugs offer some relief from the symptoms. However, the effectiveness of the most commonly used drug, Sinemet 25/100 is not long-lasting. "Patients sometimes experience a roller coaster effect from Sinemet," said Hutton. "The symptoms of Parkinson's disease will be controlled for a short period of time, reappear and disappear with the use of Sinemet. Using a stronger drug like Sinemet CSR-I should help to level out the drug in the blood, causing the chemical to be effective longer."

Hutton explained that TTUHSC was the only site selected by Merck Sharp and Dohme for the initial study. Twenty-one patients from the Tarbox Parkinson's Disease Clinic were selected for the study. Involvement in the study is at no cost to the patient and participants are free to withdraw at any time.

Lyndon B. Johnson was the first President to be sworn into office on an airplane.
