Door opens on housing

long waiting lists on rentals are dwindling

"Two years ago when I came here to Sonora to help a friend run a business I couldn't beg, steal, or borrow a place to live - I couldn't even buy a house much less rent one - and now there are all kinds of houses available."

This is the way one local woman described the present housing situation in Sonora.

A Devil's River News telephone survey was made to six trailer parks listed on a handout available at City Hall and five out of six were filled yet all the trailer park managers contacted agreed that housing has opened up.

Vicenta Cervantes of Poles Trailer Park said, "I've noticed that last summer and winter we had many more calls for housing and now we are getting only two or three calls in a month - I'm not complaining but there doesn't seem to be the same acute shortage that we once had."

"I am filled up and I have people that will stay here a long time but I used to have such a long waiting list which has dwindled to almost nothing now."

When asked whether the cost of housing would go down before the end of the year because of lowering demands, all of the managers said no because their prices were already low.

Claude T. Driskell said he had one opening at his trailer park and added, "I'd estimate that about 250 people have moved out of the Sonora area recently due to transfers and layoffs. There is no question that housing is more open than it was although it is still not very open and it is still substandard."

One lot renter who didn't want her name published said she had one lot stay vacant about three weeks and was surprised it rented out again so fast because of all the rumors she had heard about layoffs and rumors about people moving out rather than moving in.

The lot was rented by a boy who had been living in a bedroom that rented for $200 a month and when his father found out about the open lot he bought his son a trailer which would give the son more room.

Information coming from those who take care of utilities in Sutton County seems to indicate that just as many people are moving into the area to replace those that are moving out - and many people who were living in cramped quarters are now finding places to live that have more elbow room.

City Hall clerk Marilyn Adkins is responsible for turning off and turning on utilities and she said, "I don't believe there is a difference in population because when a customer comes in to turn off there is usually someone right behind them to turn it back on - about the same as its always been. I believe the population is stable."

West Texas Utilities manager Earl Johnson thinks that the Sonora housing market is holding its own.

He explained, "We keep a connect and a disconnect count every month and I think we are staying steady and stable right now - if there are any rentals available now its probably only one or two - usually there's not any."

"People are moving into this area hunting jobs and others that already have one see a rental as a chance for more living space - sometimes you'll find three or four boys living together in one little apartment and now they are getting the chance to space out."

W.T.U. had 25 connects and 19 disconnects during the period from September 20th to October 14th for a gain of six but during the previous period they had a net loss of eight so that things appear stable.

Another man who should know about housing in Sonora is Television Enterprises manager Butch Matthews who said he was down 151 customers compared to the same time last year due more to the economy rather than to a lowering population.

He said, "I think there are as many people coming in as moving out right now because, for example, we could have 30 people wanting to disconnect today and then 30 others will want to hook up tomorrow and it will be the same houses again. Most of this turnover is occurring in rentals and trailers."

Employee Odilia Gonzales adds, "A lot of people staying in town are getting off H.B.O. and I imagine that may have something to do with recent layoffs."

One excellent source for leads in finding housing is Edith James at the Chamber of Commerce who has several listings of houses for sale and rent and also several mobile homes. The phone number is 387-2880.

Ken Braden motors sold

An announcement has been made that Earnest Lykins, Jr. has purchased Tom Clifton's interest in Sutton County General Motors dealership.

In the future, Ken Braden Motors will be known as Chaparral Motors.

Chaparral Motors will operate under the philosophy that if the customer isn't satisfied then the dealer isn't through. They will key their business on good repeat service to the Sutton County community.

Earnest has been involved in auto sales for 15 years including nine years at Schuch Motor Company in San Angelo where he started as a mechanic and worked up to general manager.

He covered all fields including financing, insurance, leasing, and service.

He said, "Emphasis will be on service and volume sales of new cars and if a problem ever comes up in the service department, the customer can come to me and I will personally go back to the service department and take care of the situation."

Issuing special deer tags

Texas Parks and Wildlife Department will issue special antlerless deer tags for Sutton County on October 22 from 8:00 a.m.-12:00 noon and 1:00 p.m.-5:00 p.m. in the Courthouse.

The special tags are required for any antlerless deer harvested in this county during the upcoming hunting season.

To qualify for tags, a landowner must own or control acreage in Sutton County.

After the opening of the hunting season, tags will only be available through the Austin office and will not be issued by local department personnel. Landowners or their agents are urged to pick up tags on the scheduled issuance dates.

Question of the week: Do you think Sonora needs a new school building?

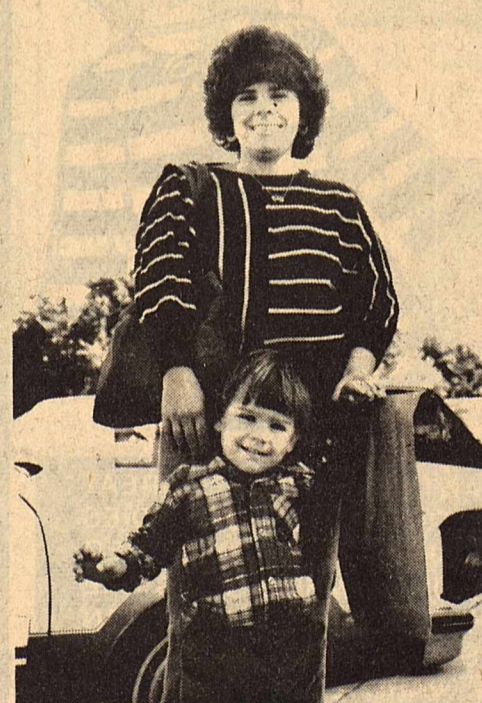

Jeanette Cirrincione

"We need new facilities but I'm undecided as to whether it should be a high school or elementary. The high school is an old building and I've heard arguments about parking problems with the older kids and their cars and a relocated high school would solve this problem. The elementary could use more classroom space and a bigger playground."

Saul Palos

"I got two kids in junior high and one in second grade and we don't have any problems with what we've got right now. There is some problem with finding a place to park - a lot of people are getting parking violation tickets because they are parking on the side and the solution to that is more parking places. All kids here can get a good education."

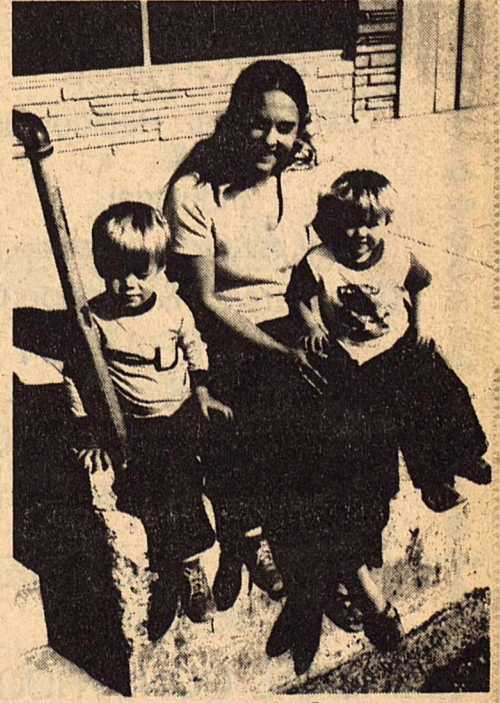

Patti Bougher

"I'm pleased with our school system and if we build I think it should be a high school because we are growing and getting more children and the old building is small. I like the present location because parents picking up more than one child, like when it rains, find it easier to go to one general location rather than to one area and then to another."

James Tralner

"We do not need a school building right away - the local economy and population situation should be studied and observed for another year to see if it will maintain or go up rather than go down and make a new building unnecessary. We need to be conservative for one more year. I had two sons go through Sonora's schools and now three grandchildren."

Debra Eckhardt

"It would like a larger elementary school at a different location because of all the cars around the school grounds and the parking problems. A new high school in a different location - I'm not sure where - would solve the parking problems. I have a little girl in the first grade and the condition of the grammar building seems to be o.k."

CITIZEN OF THE MONTH-This month the Sonora Chamber of Commerce selected Marilyn Adkins, an employee of the City of Sonora. She has a pleasant greeting for every person that enters City Hall. She is married to Frank Adkins, a professional plumber, and has two sons living in Sonora. At the ceremony were Fred Adkins, Lottie Puckett, Vivian Mears, Roy Adkins, Hal Spain, Marilyn, Gloria Mears, Edith James, Joanne Tyner, and Jim Dover.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:
I believe that most Texans agree with the statement that we are paying too much of our hard earned money to support payrolls of government employees. Most Texans would be happy to pay less and have less government interference in our lives.

Governor Clements has kept his campaign promise to begin the process of reducing the bill for state employment. Since Governor Clements took office, the number of state employees has dropped from 128 per 10,000 population to 113 per 10,000 population. The Governor is making state government more efficient! While Mark White was Texas Secretary of State, he oversaw a 75 percent increase in employment in that office. Enough said!

Sincerely,
Mary W. Balch

Dear Editor:
During Governor Clements first term in office, he vetoed more than $100 million in unnecessary spending, the most ever vetoed by a Texas Governor. He has ensured that state expenditures will be limited to a reasonable amount and that expenditures will be covered by available revenues, yet Clements has acted to provide increased funding for prison construction, law enforcement, and education.

to operate the Attorney General's Office on the budget originally appropriated.

The record is clear, the Governor takes better care of our tax dollars than does Mark White.

Sincerely,
Rosanne Albritton

Dear Editor:
Mark White has talked a lot about utility rates during his campaign, but he has mishandled every opportunity he has had as attorney general to cut utility rates in Texas.

ly called for a higher oil and gas tax in Texas, but the other elected officials resisted White's foolish tax increase. This would have cost every Texas consumer $100 more each year in higher gasoline and utility costs.

When you look beyond Mr. White and examine the facts, you'll find that his incompetence has hurt utility rate payers in Texas.

Sincerely,
Larry Finklea

Dear Editor:
1982 is a very important year for Texas. This year I am personally involved in Senator Mike Richards' campaign for State Comptroller.

leadership is to any organization. Mike is the kind of leader that Texas needs. And he is more than qualified to be the best Comptroller Texas has ever had. A victory for Mike Richards, in my personal opinion, will be a victory for Texas.

Sincerely,
Tom Landry

Fire Report by Gene West

No fires were reported this past week. Fires in one and two family dwellings account for 74 percent of all life fatalities. These fires are often caused by carelessness with smoking materials. A smoke detector cannot prevent a fire, but it can alert you to a fire. Every house should have a detector placed outside each sleeping area.

The meeting was called to order by the board president and invocation was given by the superintendent. Sammie Stewart, board president, announced that the board would have a short executive session to begin with according to its right to do so under Article 6252-17 V.A.C.S. specifically for Sec. 2(e) - Potential Litigation/Consultation with Board Attorney. They met in private for about 20 minutes.

The session was opened and Sammie Stewart welcomed visitors and asked if there were any comments from visitors or delegations other than those listed on the agenda.

Clarence Speers addressed the board, taking issue with the cheerleader policy which requires that a cheerleader must maintain an 80 average or be permanently removed from the cheerleading squad.

Mr. Speers stated that he felt there was a double standard for cheerleaders and football players in that if a football player becomes ineligible because of grades he is ineligible only until he brings his grades up; whereas a cheerleader becomes ineligible permanently.

Mr. Speers said that this had happened to his daughter, a junior high cheerleader, who was dropped from the squad permanently at the end of the six-week period because her grade average had dropped to 78.5. He added that he felt that this was rather severe and left no initiative for improvement.

He further stated that he felt a probationary period should be allowed for cheerleaders to get their grades up as is allowed for football players because of the encouragement to improve, financial investment made by parents for uniforms, etc. Mr. Speers asked the board if they might make an exception in his daughter's case and reinstate her cheerleading status.

Sammie Stewart answered saying that policies have to be set and rules have to be made and that students must learn to accept responsibilities for their own actions.

Mary Adele Balch asked Mr. Speers if he was aware that this happened to another cheerleader this year and also to the head varsity cheerleader a couple of years ago when her average had fallen down to 79.5 and that the board had upheld the policy in these cases.

Sammie Stewart advised that the board would review the policy and take the matter under consideration in the future.

Vicki High, representing members of the Grand Parader's Square

Dance Club, addressed the board taking issue with the board's recently amended policy on the use of school facilities in which adult organization are charged a rental fee of $50 and youth organizations a rental fee of $25.

Mrs. High stated that the group had obtained permission to use the snack bar for their monthly square dance meetings two years ago.

She stated that the organization currently has 11 children and 5 adults taking square dance lessons and emphasized that the group is a non-profit organization which dances and donates their time upon request at the nursing home and at various other community functions.

She questioned if the group could be classified as a civic organization in light of their community donations. Civic organizations are not charged the rental fee.

Sammie Stewart again advised that policies have to be set and lines have to be drawn and that it is a difficult decision for board members, but advised the group that they would consider their concerns also.

Jesus DeHoyos, president of the League of United Latin American Citizens (LULAC), addressed the board in Spanish with Mario Sotelo, Middle School principal, interpreting and advised them that the organization was there to express some concerns and that he would turn comments over to Gerardo Martinez, Paralegal with the Texas Rural Legal Aid, Inc. as spokesman.

Mr. Martinez stated that the organization had two issues they wished to take up with the school board as follows:

That the present method of electing school board members does not adequately address the needs of the community because there have been approximately ten Mexican-Americans who have ran for the board in its history with only one of these being successfully elected.

He stated that he and the people he represents feel that this is due to the present voting system and that there is a set pattern denying Mexican-Americans election to office.

Mr. Martinez requested the school board to implement a program that would bring about a ward system or a single-member district that would apportion the entire school district.

He added that the purpose of LULAC is to promote the education of Latin-Americans and that they feel Mexican-Americans are not equally represented on the school board even though half of the student population is Mexican-American. The organization asked that the school board respond to this request. Mr. Martinez stated that in 1972 a request was made to the school board to have a polling place in the Mexican-American community and that this request was denied.

He said they were again making this request for a polling place in the Mexican-American community in order to encourage more voting by Mexican-American people, especially those without transportation. The organization asked that the school board respond to this request also.

(V.L. Chavez, LULAC treasurer, invited board members to visit with Texas Rural Legal Aid representative regarding single-member voting districts.)

Sammie Stewart thanked the group for their comments and stated that the board was there to listen to their concerns and that they would take them into consideration and get back with them at a later date.

In a prepared statement, Superintendent W.A. McAndrew, stated, "We are always ready to listen to concerns that citizens of this district have regarding our schools. We want to try and meet the needs of all of our students."

Added board president, Sammie Stewart, "The board was surprised about the concerns of the League of United Latin American Citizens. I

SIMS talks SENSE

Higher Education

We've talked about our school children and their educations.

Now, let's talk about our colleges and universities and the young adults these institutions produce.

I am a graduate of what are now Angelo State and Texas Tech. During the course of the campaign, I have joked about majoring in freshman English for three years. The truth is I got a good education and had the opportunity for a better one.

Our children are getting even better educations today because we have these regional schools.

For Texans, Angelo State, Sul Ross and Midland Junior College are the flat, dry rocks in the middle of a stream. They are the stepping stones to an educated and informed citizenry.

Were it not for these institutions, I'd be digging more post holes in Paint Rock than I do now.

It has been suggested that these institutions be required to seek funding for expansion and capital improvements every two years.

This is nonsense. The halls of the Capitol will be jammed with lobbyists from every school, fighting over a share of the funding like fishwives over a choice mackerel.

What business, even a small, mom-and-pop operation, doesn't plan ahead?

Texas has made a decision to invest in the future through quality education. That future spans generations, not two-year cycles.

We must think and plan in terms of those generations as we look to the future of our colleges and universities.

We can't let a crop failure or two get in the way of that vision.

A West Texan for our times.

believe this board is interested in providing the best education possible for all students. I have appointed a committee of three board members to study the concerns brought before the board." This committee consists of Sammie Stewart, Mary Adele Balch and Sam Perez.

Sam Perez moved to approve the minutes of September 14 as written. The motion was seconded by Johnny Fields and carried unanimously.

Jimmy Condra moved to approve payment of current bills in the amount of $315,808.79. The motion was seconded by Carl Teaff and carried unanimously.

Johnny Fields moved to adopt Phase II of Texas

Association of School Board Localized Policy Manual Update Number 18.

The superintendent gave board members a status report on present building and maintenance projects in the district. The board authorized him to proceed with the repairing of the light towers at the football stadium on which pipes have worn or rusted out.

Principals gave enrollment reports comparing the present enrollment with that at the end of school last year and the first day of school this year. Present enrollment figures are as follows:

- High School 305
- Jr. High 347
- Middle School 336
- Elementary 393
- Total 1381

Jimmy Condra displayed an "Up" slip which had been sent to a parent whose child had made an outstanding grade on a test. The superintendent explained that this was a fairly new procedure in which good reports were sent periodically to parents as well as notes when there is a problem to help encourage open communication between the school and the home.

Sammie Stewart thanked visitors for coming and invited them to stay after the executive session if they desired. He then announced that the board was going into executive session according to it's right to do so under Article 6252-17 V.A.C.S. for the following:

- a. Personnel (Sec. 2(g))
- b. Discussion of Property Acquisition (Sec. 2(f))
- c. Potential Litigation/Consultation with Board Attorney (Sec. 2(e))

The session was opened and the board president, Sammie Stewart, appointed a committee to study the concerns brought by the League of United Latin American Citizens before the board. This committee consists of Sammie Stewart, Mary Adele Balch and Sam Perez.

Motions were made to adjust some personnel salaries.

The board committees were instructed to continue their work in possible property acquisition.

The board also agreed to review other concerns brought before the board by visitors concerning cheerleading and use of school facilities.

There being no further business, Sam Perez moved to adjourn the meeting. The motion was seconded by Mary Adele Balch and carried unanimously.

NOTICE

IF YOU SMELL NATURAL GAS, FOLLOW THESE 3 STEPS TO SAFETY.

The natural gas industry has an excellent safety record.

The fact that you can smell natural gas is because we add a harmless chemical to it as a safety feature. Otherwise, it would be completely odorless.

If you are outdoors and smell gas, call your local Lone Star Gas office.

If you are indoors and detect faint whiffs of what you think may be gas, investigate. It may be that a pilot light has gone out or a burner valve has been left partially open. These are corrective steps you can take yourself.

If your equipment seems to be working properly and the odor persists or intensifies, please follow these precautions:

1. Do not switch anything electrical on or off. Do not use the telephone in your own home. Do not strike a match. Do not do anything that might cause a spark.
 2. Have everyone leave the house immediately, leaving doors open to help ventilate.
 3. Go to a nearby telephone and call Lone Star Gas Company. Wait until we have found the source of the odor to determine whether it's safe for you to return to the house.
- You may never have a natural gas leak, but we want you to be informed in case one does occur. Please make sure your family is aware of these precautionary steps. And we suggest that you keep this message for future reference.

Planning for a pecan orchard

A prime example of how the Edwards Plateau Soil and Water Conservation Service provides free help to local owners is taking place at the residence of James Hunt who lives just below the dam on the Murphy Draw near the northwest corner of Sonora. James is considering the possibility of a pecan orchard right below the earth dam on unused land and Virgil Poloczek and Tom Payton of the Conservation Service are assisting in the planning and layout stages before final decision is made on whether or not to go ahead with the planting. They are considering a trickle irrigation system if the orchard goes beyond the planning stage. Their free service is provided because landowner James has signed an agreement with the Conservation Board, making him a co-operator of the local district, and allowing the Conservation Service the alternative to improve his land and its production. The idea of the pecan orchard was James and he approached Virgil to see if it was a feasible idea. Now Virgil and Tom, with the help of agricultural engineer Ken Forrester of San Angelo, are looking over the ten acre plot and checking out the types of soil, the availability of water and possible location for a well, how much its going to cost, and how practical it would be to carry the project out. Some of the land will be eliminated because the soil is too shallow and the boundaries will be very uneven because of the draw on one side, a rock ledge coming off a hill on the other side, a tennis court, and several large oaks. The spacing of the trees will be anywhere from 35 to 40 feet apart. Recently the three soil and conservation men were making a detailed topographic map of the plot - when completed it will serve the same purpose as a blueprint does for an architect building a house. Once the land elevations are determined, the type of irrigation system can be chosen because the water distribution uniformity will be known. Virgil explained, "The source of a drip system would be a newly dug well going down somewhere between 300 and 350 feet - how hard it will be to find water is something no one knows until its tried."

Confirmation of three screwworm cases in Mexico, about 80 miles south of Eagle Pass, was reported recently (Oct. 6) to Dr. John W. Holcombe, executive director, Texas Animal Health Commission.

USDA grading changes

The beef grading system used by the U.S. Department of Agriculture will remain as is. Based on more than 4,000 comments in response to proposed grading changes by the USDA, the current system will stay intact, said Dr. Ed Uvacek, economist in livestock marketing with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. "Almost 75 percent of the comments were against the proposed changes," said Uvacek. "Opposition was voiced by 45 percent of the livestock organizations responding, 100 percent of the retailers, 75 percent of the meat packing groups, 100 percent of the hotel, restaurant and food institutional trade, and 97 percent of the individual consumers."

In making the final decision to abandon the proposed changes in beef grading, a USDA statement said: "The Department has decided to withdraw the proposed beef grade changes and to implement in this voluntary, user-paid-for service at this time." The departmental statement further said: "Since this service is a marketing tool, it is obvious that consumer opinion is vitally important to this process, regardless of whether that opinion is based upon fact or perception. Acceptance must come either through changed consumer taste, aggressive industry marketing or both."

Uvacek said that the majority of the comments were in opposition to the changes

Jerry Lackey's Country Folk

The chronicles of agricultural productivity--fewer and fewer farmers producing greater amounts of food for more and more people--is a success story unparalleled in U.S. history. From 100 percent of the original settlers working the land for their own survival to the present total of less than 5 percent of the U.S. population engaged in farming to feed the remainder of the country and a sizeable part of the world, it's a story of amazing agricultural statistics.

At the time of the Revolution, more than 90 percent of the population of the new nation was still engaged in farming.

By 1820, the percentage of farmers had dropped to some 83 percent and about 60 man-hours of labor were needed to produce an acre of wheat.

Gradually, the number of Americans in agriculture continued to slip until by 1870 farmers were no longer in the majority in the U.S. By then, only 47 percent of the country's population was classified in agriculture.

The number of farmers dwindled further and by 1910 only a third of the growing population was in agriculture.

With only 21 percent of the population in farming in 1930, total man-hours required to produce an acre of wheat fell to just three.

In the 1950's, the farming population dipped to less than 15 percent and continuing declines reduced that percentage to less than 5 presently. But agricultural production maintained its upward climb and output per man-hour jumped some 3 1/2 times in the past two decades.

In 1850, the value of equipment and implements on an average farm was valued at $115. Today, that valuation might be multiplied a thousand-fold or more.

The Great Depression saw a massive fluctuation in farm prices. Farmer income skyrocketed from $7 billion in 1914 to $17 billion in 1919, only to plummet to $5 billion by 1932.

The farmer always had to contend with the weather.

The year without summer was 1816. Ice formed one-half inch thick in May; a three-inch snow fell in June and ice was still one-eighth inch thick in July.

Irrigated hay fields just before the Revolution yielded three mowings or 2 1/2 tons per acre. Without water, there was just one mowing.

Early agriculture had a silkworm craze centered in Pennsylvania from 1826 to 1839. But the cold winters steadily killed off the mulberry trees on which the silkworms fed and silk farming died as quickly as it was born.

At the time of the Revolution, wheat fields in New York were yielding 25 to 35 bushels an acre. With poor fertilizing practices, yields dropped to 8 bushels an acre over the next half-century.

In 1886, thought was given to establishing a national storm warning system for farmers. Cannons would be fired at federal locations, such as post offices, to warn of approaching storms, flood or frost. Now, that's a long way from cable television!

Thinking back to where agriculture started--and it is the oldest industry in the world--and where it has come, I would have to say despite all the current problems, we ain't half bad off.

A brand for the future

HONEST ANSWERS TO FAIR QUESTIONS

Our Customers Are Concerned About The Cost of Quality Electric Service, and So Are We. Here's a Sample of the Questions They're Asking and the Answers We're Giving.

Q. Why is WTU asking for a rate increase?

A. There are three related reasons: inflation, the rising cost of capital, and WTU's massive construction program. Mainly, the request is based on capital expenditures during the past year.

Q. When was the last time you raised retail electric rates?

A. WTU has had only three rate increases in its history, while it has lowered rates 14 times. The last increase was February, 1982, and it amounted to an average of just over 8 percent.

Q. Why is WTU having to raise its rates again so soon?

A. The rate relief granted to us by the cities and the Public Utility Commission of Texas last time proved inadequate. It did not keep up with the cost of additional plant, inflation and high interest rates. Our revenues have not provided an adequate rate of return.

Q. What are other utilities doing about rates?

A. Without exception, all electric utilities are having to increase their rates. Some have been filing rate cases every year. Bill comparisons reported by the Public Utility Commission of Texas show that WTU's rates are second lowest among investor-owned utilities in Texas.

Q. Why are you building a big new plant? Isn't energy use declining?

A. Energy use in WTU service area is growing. This summer our peak demand reached 994 megawatts. Our current generating capacity is 1,054 megawatts. The summer peak left us with insufficient reserve margin. We will purchase power from neighboring utilities as a stop-gap measure, but the time has come when we must expand our own generating system, if we are to continue providing service our customers are used to.

Q. What would happen if you could not get a rate increase?

A. The financial condition of our Company would deteriorate rapidly. Our credit rating would suffer. We would no longer be in position to attract capital at reasonable interest rates to finance necessary major construction. We would have to pay higher interest rates at the expense of our customers.

September gas & oil discoveries in Railroad Commission Chairman Jim Nugent announced that Texas operators reported 128 gas and 52 oil discoveries in September 1982.

One year ago, 116 gas and 37 oil discoveries were filed with the state's energy regulatory agency.

Gas discoveries in the ninth month of the year included 44 in deep South Texas, 38 in the Refugio area, 22 in Southeast Texas, seven in the San Antonio area, five in the Panhandle, three each in West Central Texas, North Texas, and the Midland area, two in East Central Texas, and one in the San Angelo area.

Oil discoveries included 18 in West Central Texas, six each in North Texas, East Texas, and the Midland area, five in the San Angelo area, three in the Lubbock area, two each in the Panhandle, East Central Texas, and the San Antonio area, and one each in Southeast Texas and the Refugio area.

Through the first nine months of this year, there have been 1,121 gas and 487 oil discoveries throughout the state. For the same period last year, there were 957 gas and 457 oil discoveries.

In September, operators reported 331 exploratory and field tests wound up as dry holes. New application for permits to drill oil and gas tests totaled 2,667 in September compared with 3,207 in the same period of 1981.

Applications to drill, deepen, plug back and for service wells in September amounted to 3,059 against 3,520 a year earlier.

Operators filed 785 amended applications to drill. A year earlier they submitted 846 amended requests.

Energas Correction

Last week we reported that Energas rates would increase by 26 percent this winter. We are glad to report now that the figure was wrong. There was a misunderstanding about the figure we needed by the original spokesman for Energas.

A representative for Energas in Midland said the figure should be closer to ten percent, rather than 26 percent.

In other news, a large oil and gas lease sale was scheduled for Wednesday, October 13, in Anchorage, Alaska. The sale was for 1.8 million offshore acres in the Beaufort Sea. Between one and two billion dollars are expected to be spent in cash bonuses for the rights to explore 338 tracts in the Diapir Field.

The U.S. geological survey estimates the area has between 500 million to 4.7 billion barrels of oil and 1.8 trillion cubic feet of natural gas.

And, the 1982 Permian Basin Oil Show is scheduled for October 20th through the 23rd in Odessa. The first two days, Wednesday and Thursday, are for oil industry personnel with passes only. No children will be allowed the first two days. The final two days of the huge event are open to everyone. This year's Oil Show Honoree is Texas Railroad Commissioner, Mack Wallace.

In the Permian Basin our rig count for this week was 286. One year ago it was 492.

RRC grants permits

Railroad Commission Chairman Jim Nugent has announced that 23 permits to operate new pipelines in Texas were granted by the RRC in September.

Through the first nine months of this year, the Commission has issued 137 permits to operate new lines. For the same period last year, 128 permits were approved.

Fifteen of the permits in September were for gathering pipelines, four were for trunk transmission lines, and another four were for multi-purpose or other types of lines. Gathering lines bring oil and gas from production leases, while a trunk transmission line is a larger diameter line into which smaller lines connect.

Nineteen of the newly-permitted lines will transport gas, two will move crude oil, and another two will transport other materials.

Private pipelines accounted for all the permits last month.

In September, six permits were granted for lines in East Texas, three each in Southeast Texas, West Central Texas, and the Refugio and San Angelo areas, two in North Texas, and one each in East Central Texas and the San Antonio and Midland areas.

Gathering pipelines approved:

Bam Energy Inc., San Antonio, gas (two lines—one each in Cherokee and Wilson counties); Tangram Transmission Corp., Spring, gas, Live Oak county; Riddle Oil Co., Austin, gas, (two lines gas, (two lines—one each in Harrison and Rusk County) Lindaire Corp., Terrell, gas, Reagan County; K-W Gathering Inc., Kingwood, gas, Eastland County; Cola Petroleum Inc., Midland, gas, Gregg and Rusk counties; Davis Oil Co., Houston gas, Concho County; Warpath Pipeline Co., Corpus Christi, gas, Aransas Bay-Aransas County; Victoria Gas Corp., Corpus Christi, gas, Cherokee County.

Truck transmission lines approved:

Liberty Natural Gas Co., Dallas, gas, Pecos County; Amoco Gas Co., Texas City, gas, Chamber County; Venture Pipeline Co., Houston, gas, Aransas and Refugio counties; Western Crude Oil Inc., Denver Colo., crude, Burleson County.

Multi-purpose and other lines approved:

Termac Gathering Co., Inc., Houston, gas, Harris County; Petrochemicals Co. Inc., Fort Worth, hydrogen gas, Tarrant County; L-TX Inc., Abilene, gas, Fisher and Nolan counties; Liquid Energy Corp., The Woodlands, carbon dioxide, Wise County.

SIMS talks SENSE

An Obligation

I have always believed that every capable individual should pull his or her own load. But there are things we should feel bound to do in helping the elderly and the disabled.
As a society we have a responsibility to help those who can no longer help themselves. I accept that responsibility.
It will become an even greater responsibility in the years ahead as more and more of the federal programs are turned over to the states under the so-called "New Federalism" plans of the administration.
Texas, over the years, has done a good job of administering its social programs. The state ranks among the lowest in the nation in terms of the cost of administering its social programs and in its rate of errors.
We must make sure that it remains so, through instituting good management programs and through zero-based budgeting. We must also have adequate safeguards against fraud in our programs.
It is my belief that we must fund programs that have the goal of rehabilitating as many people as possible. We must find ways to make them productive, tax-paying members of our society.
In other columns, we have talked much of preparing our young to be productive citizens through an adequate public education. It doesn't make sense to me to make that kind of an investment without adequate provisions for those who, in their later years, can no longer care for themselves after a productive life of hard work.
But let's not talk about it in terms of a cold, hard business investment.
Let's talk about it in terms of a social obligation in which we as citizens must all share.
That is the Texas way. More importantly, it's the West Texas way.

A West Texan for our times.

Join Three Governors, Four Attorneys General And Your Neighbors In Re-Electing Governor Clements.

Because of Governor Clements' record, three former Governors—Allan Shivers, John Connally and Preston Smith—and four Attorneys General—Gerald Mann, John Ben Shepperd, Will Wilson and Waggoner Carr—are supporting him for re-election.
This is the first time in history so many elected state Democratic leaders are backing the Republican candidate for Governor. They served Texas in public office for a combined 54 years and know what the job of Governor takes. Although elected as Democrats, when they examined Mark White's record, they found it lacking.
