All Stars results told

The 1983 Sonora Little League All Stars were elected and announced July 1. The 14 players were chosen from all 11 and 12 years olds on the rosters of all four Little League Major Teams. Coaches this year are Sam Perez and Erasmo Lumberras.

Sonora was fortunate in being able to be the host team for the game against Junction Wednesday, July 13.

After the introduction of both teams and coaches and the presentation of the players' All Star Pins, the first game of the 1983 District 4 Tournament began.

Juan Ramirez led the Sonora team with a double. Michael Harris, Michael Todd, George Garcia and Melvin Yarbrough all hit singles for the Sonora effort.

However, Sonora lost to Junction by a score of 5-0. The next game for the Sonora All Stars was Friday, July 15 at Ozona. The Sonora team played the Reagan County All Stars from Big Lake in what ended in being as close and as exciting a game as anyone could expect.

Momentum for both teams was very slow during the first one and one-half innings with Sonora leading 1-0. This was done with singles by Juan Ramirez and Todd Keller. The team from Big Lake decided to change the pace by scoring 8 runs in the bottom half of the second inning. This was done with the help of Mark Young who hit two homeruns.

In the fourth inning, Sonora scored five runs with singles from Michael Harris, George Garcia and Melvin Yarbrough. Danny Hulsey assisted with a double. In the fifth inning, singles by Juan Ramirez, Danny Hulsey and Blake Trainer, and a double by Melvin Yarbrough earned Sonora three runs.

Singles by Juan Ramirez and Blake Trainer and a double by Todd Keller added Sonora's last run in the sixth inning. Obviously, the Sonora All Stars had a great game batting, but the pitching efforts of Melvin Yarbrough held the Big Lake team to their one inning spree. The Sonora All Stars won 10-8.

The Sonora team advances in the tournament bracket to play Pecos Monday night in Ozona.

The Sonora Little League would like to thank the people of Sonora for helping with its fund raising drive. The Little League players worked very hard in selling the cannisters of popcorn, candy, nut mix, and fruit mix, and the people in the community were very generous in placing their orders with the kids. The efforts and hard work of everyone helped earn the league $2,100.

Several of the players earned prizes for their sales. These prizes ranged from sweatbands, batting gloves, baseballs, tee shirts and caps to tennis rackets and gloves.

All of the kids deserve a big Thank You, but there are three that were awarded stereo head-sets for their sales.

Papo Sanchez of the Major League led in sales with 74 units. Adrian Sanchez led the Minor League with 40 units. Kelly Kiowski led the Tee Ball with 93 units.

Thanks again to the people of Sonora, the Little League players and the team mothers for the hard work and generosity.

Physicals slated

Football physicals will be given for the Sonora High School football players Thursday, July 21 at the clinic.

The ninth and tenth graders will have their physicals at 2 p.m. and the eleventh and twelfth graders will have theirs at 3 p.m.

FOR CONTINUING EDUCATION COMMITTEE Condra made chairman

Jimmy Condra, president of the Sonora Independent School District, was elected chairman of the Continuing Education Committee Wednesday by members during a noon meeting at the Fiddlers Restaurant.

Smith Neal, principal of Sonora Junior High School was elected as the vice-chairman of the committee and Carol Jones, assistant publisher of the Devil's River News, was elected secretary.

Members discussed the response from citizens to the questionnaire published in the last issue of the Devil's River News. The questionnaire for interest in college courses in Sonora and the surrounding areas is being printed again for those who may have missed it last week or for those who may need more than one copy. Extra copies of the questionnaire are also available at the SISD administration office, city hall, Hershel's Foodway, and the Devil's River News office.

The Continuing Education Committee is a group of Sonora citizens interested in getting college level courses taught in Sonora for persons in Sonora, Ozona, and Eldorado areas.

Senator Bill Sims has been kept apprised of the situation by the committee and has expressed interest in the improvement of educational facilities for the three-county area. He has also offered the assistance of his office.

The purpose of the extension service is to expand further the education of teachers in the three school districts and to make college level courses available to citizens who might not be able to participate in "on campus" college courses.

Members of the committee include Condra, Neal, Mrs. Jones, Judge Sherill, Davenport, Street, McAndrew, and Allen.

Due to the fact the Angelo State University declined to offer the courses, Texas Tech University in Lubbock and Sul Ross University in Alpine have been contacted.

Generally, extension classes meet one evening a week for 18 weeks with a cost of less than $100 per course, books included.

The actual cost of courses here will not be available until the universities furnish that information.

The questionnaire should be filled out by any persons who may be interested in furthering their education. If a person is interested in courses not listed there is a space provided for "others". Please print the name of the course in that space.

Questionnaires may be taken or mailed to the school administration office or to the Devil's River News office. The forms will be counted and polled Friday, July 27 to determine what courses are in greatest demand so that the university offering the classes may be advised.

It is the hope of the Continuing Education Committee to have graduate courses offered with general or educational choices and undergraduate courses to benefit working people and housewives who may later desire a college degree.

Undergraduate courses listed on the form include English, freshman and sophomore levels; Spanish, freshman and sophomore levels; college math; computer science; and business type courses.

Interested citizens are urged to complete the forms as soon as possible and return them to the designated locations.

For more information contact the school administration office, 387-2220.

Contest plans made

With Sutton County Days just a month away, the annual Miss Sutton County queen contest will be officially underway with a luncheon for the contestants' sponsors Monday, July 25 at 12:30 p.m. at the Sutton County Steak House, hosted by Linda Love.

The purpose of the luncheon is to inform each sponsor of their responsibility toward the contestant and to discuss preparation for the contest.

The contestants will be selling tickets for the PRCA Rodeo as in the past, but the queen will be chosen in a different way than in the past.

The five girls selling the most tickets will be in the finals and will then be judged on poise, appearance and personality by three out-of-town judges.

The queen will be "Miss Sutton County" for a year, representing the county in an official capacity at various social functions.

Contestants and their sponsors include Rachel Chavez, General Telephone, Kristi Hill, First National Bank; Casey Crites, Lions Club; Bonnie Jackson, Sutton County National Bank; Lee Ann Sims, Historical Society; Janice Gomez, San Angelo Savings and Loan; Anita Balch Women's Club; Trudy Dell Taylor, Ladies Golf Auxiliary; and Becca Powers, Independent Cattlemen's Association.

The deadline for entering the contest was Friday, July 15.

According to Ms. Love, Nathan's Jewelers of San Angelo has donated the tiara for the contest to be used this year and passed down each year to the new queens.

Travel agency opens locally

Ilee and Martha Simon and Mary Ann Davis are the owners of the Travelers III, a travel agency that opened this week for the convenience of the people of the Devil's River area, with free services to their clients.

Travelers III is located at 403 Highway 277 North and the telephone number is 387-2587. Mr. and Mrs. Simon and Ms. Davis invite everyone to come by and visit and let them plan a trip to "wherever".

They book air, hotel, car, train, ship and Ms. Davis added that if anyone should choose, by mule train. She stated that they stay abreast of all national and state events, the airfares for economy fares, and the hotel rates.

The clients decide where they want to go, what they want to spend and how long they can stay. In return, Travelers III will research the territory and give the clients alternates and options.

Travelers III also furnishes information about the economy in the location where the clients are going.

The Simons have traveled extensively internationally and have expertise in countries, transportation, hotels, and food.

Ms. Davis has been a commercial and leisure travel agent previously with three years of experience.

Future plans for Travelers III include bus charters to all Dallas Cowboy games. Ms. Davis stated that bus charters are much cheaper than air charters, making it possible for people to make more trips.

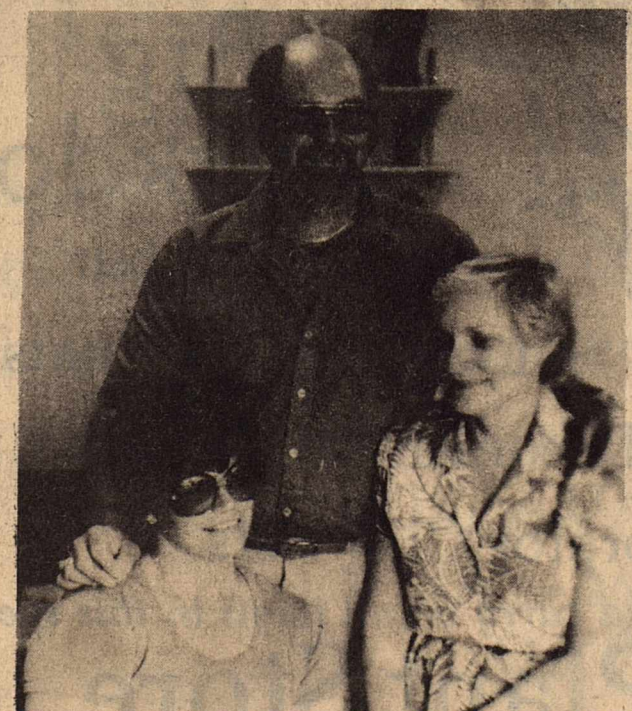

There are also Las Vegas group tours in the planning stages at this time.

The main advantage of using a travel agency is that the agency can compare prices easier than the individual to save more money for the client, according to Mrs. Simon.

Travelers III will have a computer service in August and will eventually have Air Traffic Conference, a federal organization.

Refreshments will be provided and participants may also purchase soft drinks from the machine. The films and their approximate show times are as follows:

"The Taming of The Shrew" 7 p.m.
"Dr. Strangelove" 9:30 p.m.
"Close Encounters-Special Edition" 11:15 p.m.
"Buck Rogers in the 25th Century" 2 a.m.

OWNERS OF TRAVELERS III

VA benefits set

As a result of recent legislation some recipients of Veterans Administration pensions now are receiving monthly checks rounded down to the nearest dollar, advises Ted W. Myatt, Director, Houston VA Regional Office.

For example: A benefit payment of $236.61 would be rounded down to $236.

Beneficiaries receiving pensions under Section 306 commonly referred to as the New Pension Law will note the change on July 1 checks. Beneficiaries receiving the Improved Pension won't be affected until next December since that type pension is tied to the annual cost of living allowance for Social Security recipients, Myatt noted.

The VA already has notified claimants who will be affected by this change. Those beneficiaries with the Improved Pension will be notified later.

For further information, contact the nearest VA office. A VA counselor will respond.

TDA warns about products

The Texas Department of Agriculture wishes to warn consumers about the marketing of a product which may mislead them as to its effectiveness in killing Fire Ants. TDA has placed a stop sale order on Fire Ant Special Ant Liqueur, manufactured by Hide International of Longwood, Florida.

Ron White, TDA's assistant deputy commissioner for regulatory programs, said the order was placed in Fire Ant Special Ant Liqueur because of the company's failure to provide any information about its effect on fire ants and to otherwise register the product under the Texas pesticide law.

"The product label makes no specific claim to control fire ants," said White, "and the label does not disclose its ingredients so it is impossible to evaluate its usefulness."

One Texas distributor of the product has voluntarily agreed to remove the product from sale, but the department does not know how many other outlets may be selling the Fire Ant Special Ant Liqueur, and White said, "we want consumers to be aware of this problem—they may be wasting their money."

Various collection methods available

The tax collection arm of the Internal Revenue Service is its Collection Division, the IRS says. And, briefly, this is how it works:

If delinquent taxes are owed, several methods of collection are available to IRS' collection personnel. For example, the IRS employee may request financial information to determine the best method for payment. Usually, is the taxpayer can pay all the delinquent taxes at once—by selling property, borrowing, or using savings—this is done and the debt is paid immediately.

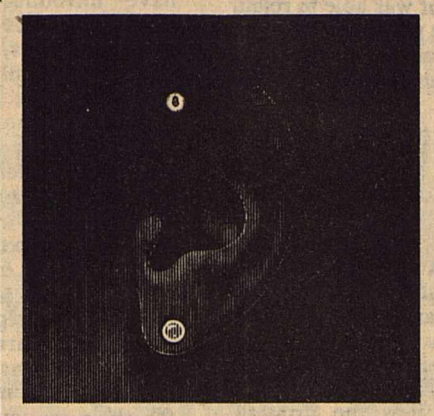

On the other hand, if the taxpayer cannot pay the total amount immediately, he or she may qualify for installment payments.

If a taxpayer can pay the tax immediately or under an installment agreement but chooses not to do so, the IRS can enforce collection through levies on wages or bank accounts and seizure and sale of property.

For more information explaining the IRS collection process, taxpayers may want to read the free Publication 586A, "The Collection Process (Income Tax Accounts)," which may be ordered by calling the IRS Forms/Tax Information number listed in the local telephone directory under U.S. Government.

Germ cell cancer treatment available

When 14-year old Mary Rodriguez was accidentally hit in the stomach eight years ago by her brother, Richard, their mother didn't exactly call their horsing around a miracle.

But, today she does, because that blow followed by vomiting caused Rodriguez to be taken to the family doctor. While treating Rodriguez for the stomach injury, the doctor discovered a mass involving one of her ovaries.

A gynecologist confirmed that the mass was germ cell cancer of the ovary, a rare disease that mainly strikes teenage girls.

Thirty years ago, germ cell cancer proved fatal 95 percent of the time. Treatment for the disease usually involved surgical removal of both ovaries, ending child-bearing.

But, today, 22-year old Rodriguez is cured of her cancer and able to bear children because of a treatment developed in the late 1960's and early 70's at the University of Texas M.D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute. This treatment, a triple combination of anti-cancer drugs called VAC, turned the odds around for victims of germ cell cancer of the ovary. Now 75 percent of them are cured.

Germ cell cancer is a rare form of ovarian cancer—so rare that only 215 cases have been seen at M.D. Anderson since 1944.

The most common form of ovarian cancer, known as epithelial cell cancer, develops in the cells lining the walls of the ovaries and occurs most often in women over 40.

Germ cell cancer, however, develops in the egg masses of the ovaries. It usually strikes those between the ages of 16 and 20, during the early reproductive years, but has been known to occur in girls as young as six and in women in their 30s or 40s. Since the tumors tend to be quite large, the symptoms are numerous. In 5-10 percent of the cases, the symptoms lead doctors to initially misdiagnose the disease as appendicitis.

Before her injury, Rodriguez remembers noticing pain and swelling in her abdominal area. She also remembers watching her bloated stomach pulsate as she lay in bed. Yet, being young and frightened, she said nothing to her mother about these symptoms until after her disease was diagnosed.

Following surgery to remove her engulfed ovary, Rodriguez was referred to M.D. Anderson for VAC treatment, because of the high probability of recurrence of disease elsewhere in her body.

"Prior to the 1970s, germ cell cancer of the ovary was treated with radiation and other chemotherapy (anti-cancer drug) regimens, in addition to surgery. But the results, for the most part, were terrible," says Dr. David Gershenson, an M.D. Anderson associate surgeon in gynecology.

Less than 20 percent of women with this type of ovarian cancer lived more than two years beyond diagnosis. Even removing the entire reproductive system did not improve the survival rate.

Then VAC, a combination of the drugs vincristine, actinomycin-D and cyclophosphamide, put together by Dr. W. W. Sutow at M.D. Anderson in the late 1960s to treat some pediatric cancers, was found to be effective against some gynecological cancers as well, including germ cell cancer of the ovary.

AVOID MOSQUITO HAZARD

With Texas' heavy spring and summer rains, homeowners need to be on guard against a "bumper crop" of mosquitos and the health hazards they bring.

Encephalitis is spread by the bite of an infected mosquito, which receives the infection by first biting an infected animal, says Dr. Mary Ann Shirer, a health education specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Texas offers an ideal environment for encephalitis because of its large bird populations which can become infected with the virus and carry it great distances, she adds.

So far this year, the Texas Department of Health has reported no human cases of mosquito-borne encephalitis. But last year in Texas, 18 cases of St. Louis encephalitis in humans were reported.

In addition, infection from scratching mosquito bites and allergic reactions causing redness, swelling and itching are other possible health hazards.

While many areas have mosquito control districts or local health programs for reducing mosquito populations, homeowners should still take measures to prevent infestations, declares Shirer.

Homeowners should keep doors and window screens in good repair and make sure they fit tightly to keep mosquitos outside. A commercial spray can eliminate mosquitos which get indoors.

The best practice, however, is to eliminate standing water, since mosquitos must have water in which to hatch their eggs. Shirer recommends periodic cleaning of roof gutters and all water holding containers such as bird baths, flower containers and pet's watering dishes.

In the 1970s, the VAC regimen was given to patients with germ cell cancer of the ovary for a period of two years. "Recently, this was changed to one year of treatment without any recognizable decrease in survival rates," Dr. Gershenson says.

This turn of events was fortunate for Rodriguez, who was diagnosed with germ cell cancer of the ovary soon after the treatment was found effective.

Rodriguez had to drop out of her freshman year of high school to begin taking VAC, but was able to rejoin her class for her senior year. While taking treatments, she had a tutor. Every six weeks, her lessons were put on hold while she received her chemotherapy in the hospital's pediatrics unit.

Before being released from M.D. Anderson, Rodriguez had exploratory surgery so that physicians could take a "second look" at her to check for any signs of cancer. She was clear.

Now 22, Rodriguez works as a secretary at L.V. Controls in Houston and is leading a normal life. She is missing an ovary but has been told she will still be able to bear children. Eleven pregnancies have been reported among M.D. Anderson's former VAC patients. All of the children born were normal.

Although the VAC regimen is now the primary treatment for patients with germ cell cancer of the ovary, another regimen is also in use. The combination in vinblastine, bleomycin and cisplatin, looks very promising, Dr. Gershenson says. "This combination has a similar success rate to VAC, and can be used for patients who fail with VAC and for those with advanced disease. Because the new drugs are more toxic, there are more side effects. But the treatment period is shorter—about six months," he adds.

The pattern industry is trying to appeal to home sewers who are more interested in making something simple and fast than in making designer fashions, says Dr. Ann Vanderpoorten, a clothing specialist. Some companies have introduced reduced lines of patterns have fewer pattern pieces, only one view to consult, and instructions that allow for a graded fit. These patterns are also less expensive, averaging about $1.19 each, says Vanderpoorten, who is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. The variety offered by designer styles, standard patterns and simplified versions now give home sewers more choice for their money, adds the specialist.

Cause of crib death is still a mystery

The mother of an apparently healthy infant lays her child in his crib. An hour later the mother discovers that the sleeping child has died, a victim of sudden infant death syndrome, or SIDS.

A scene similar to this one occurs about 8,000 times each year in this country, says the Texas Medical Association. That means one out of every 500 live births.

The death is unexpected and the cause unknown. SIDS itself was unknown until the 1960s, when the phenomenon was given its name. It was the mid-1970s before SIDS, also known as "crib death," was used as a cause of death on death certificates.

Now it is the most common cause of death in infants 2 weeks to a year old, accounting for a third of these deaths. Several groups have responded with funding for research, information distribution, and parental counseling.

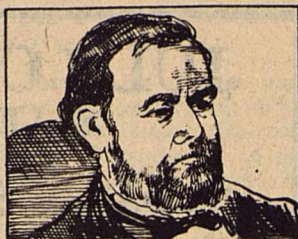

From what is known, SIDS is not believed to be hereditary. It is not contagious, although a viral infection may be present. SIDS occurs most frequently in the third or fourth month of life. The incidence is higher in infants born prematurely or living in poverty. SIDS occurs more frequently in boys than in girls and in winter more than in summer. Most infants with SIDS die in their sleep, with no signs of trouble and no crying out.

Autopsies show that SIDS has nothing to do with suffocation caused by, say, a blanket. There may be minor inflammation of the upper respiratory tract, but this is not the cause of death. Sleep apnea, a temporary inability to breathe, may be a contributing factor.

Theories aside, a true SIDS victim dies of unknown and unexplained causes. This can have a destructive effect on a family. With nowhere to place the blame, parents may accuse themselves, each other, or other family members. The loss of a child to a disease or an accident can be understood, but not the loss of a baby to an unknown.

For this reason, support groups help families of SIDS victims to adjust to the death and to understand that no one is to blame. Two of these groups are the International Council for Infant Survival (phone: 202-833-2253) and the National Sudden Infant Death Syndrome Foundation (301-459-3388). Both groups can provide information on the nearest local chapter.

Hearing slated today

A public hearing on the annual plan for the Concho Valley Council of Governments Area Agency on Aging programs for the elderly will be held at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday, July 20 in the CVCOG offices at 5002 Knickerbocker Road in San Angelo.

The hearing is scheduled immediately before the CVCOG Executive Committee meeting, according to Robert R. Weaver, CVCOG Executive Director.

A hearing also will be held in conjunction with the meeting of the CVCOG Regional Advisory Committee on Aging, scheduled for 1 p.m. Wednesday, July 27 in the CVCOG offices.

The Texas Department on Aging has informed the CVCOG that a total of $525,510 in federal funds under the Older Americans Act will be available for the region in the fiscal year beginning October 1. Funds represent an increase of $14,004 over the federal fiscal year 1983 amount.

Supportive services and nutrition programs for the elderly are provided through contracts with local governments or private non-profit organizations.

Information on the proposed allocation of federal funds will be provided at the public hearings.

Letters to the Editor

Editor:
The following article was published in the Austin American Statesman Wednesday, June 15.

I lived through the traumatic experience of losing a young, handsome son in an auto crash. The young lady involved testified that she had been drinking prior to the accident. I knew that eventually I would find myself at the Capitol fighting for new DWI laws. I had no idea where to begin, but was certain of four things:

- (1) There is no simple solution to the drunk driving problem;
- (2) public education in the community can have a positive effect on people's attitudes toward their drinking habits;
- (3) the judicial system can turn young, inexperienced first-time DWI offenders into master criminals; and
- (4) legislators do not heed scare tactics; they need special information. (I needed to present logical arguments, leave my emotions at home, not be demanding and "pushy," and most of all not take things personally.)

So, with that in mind, I arrived at the Capitol on January 11 ready to help rid the streets of Texas of drunk drivers. For the first three months of the session, as a registered lobbyist, I made appointments with as many as 25 legislators per week. I talked with legislators in their offices, the elevator, the snack bar or the hallways.

Legislators were friendly and extremely concerned about the DWI problem. They were most sympathetic regarding the death of my son; a number of them had, themselves, been affected by DWI. They were supportive of DWI efforts, and constantly shared their own feelings, and where they stood on the issue. Sometimes I agreed, and sometimes I didn't, but, I respected their views and they, in turn, respected mine.

As the session continued, I tried to find ways to make my job easier and to meet other lobbyists. I joined a public interest group and met many lobbyists who were willing to share their expertise, support and encouragement. Never once did I get the impression that they lived in a world all their own with the public not invited.

I was especially interested in knowing how the restaurant industry and the liquor and beer industries stood on the DWI issue. These individuals were friendly, helpful, concerned about the problem and supportive of tougher DWI penalties.

I attended committee meetings in the House and the Senate, and every single meeting of the House Criminal Jurisprudence Committee on the DWI bill. I was amazed at the time the latter committee spent re-writing the Senate-approved DWI bill in the middle of the session. I was further amazed at the hundreds of resource people from all over Texas who came to share ideas and expertise.

On May 30, the end of the session, I had such a feeling of accomplishment; I felt that I had achieved most of what I came to the Legislature for—I lost some and won some. But, overall, I was both happy and excited. I was glad to see that the open-container bill did not pass. I believe that such a law would be difficult to enforce and could have a negative, rather than positive effect. The potential for abuse was definitely there, and it could have been used as a tool for harassment (As we have seen take place with the War-On-Drugs Bill.) The DWI bill that did pass adequately addresses the concerns which I had.

As I walked out of the Capitol to my car, I looked back over the last five months and tears filled my eyes. I was leaving the session far richer than when I came in—not only in knowledge but in friendships as well. What a great feeling to be a Texan and an American! I thank my Lord Jesus Christ for the privilege to live in a country with a government that works for the people.

DEAR EDITOR,

One thing people hate to hear is, "Your taxes are going up". There are many things that cause taxes to increase. Some of these are necessary and most people gladly pay their share to see that all children have a chance for a better education. At the same time there is one reason taxes will soon increase that most people do not realize and this reason will not help our education system in any way but will cost thousands of dollars in tax money. This reason is lawsuits such as are pending at this time against our schools.

In such law suits the tax payer loses regardless of the outcome because the tax payer pays for all court cost, all lawyer fees including those who are suing them. This is the most unfair or discriminating practice I have ever seen.

Our school board has to spend valuable time working on these law suits, time that they could spend working for a better education for the children of this community.

Valuable time is also lost in the superintendent's office as this office is also involved in these lawsuits. Even if these lawsuits are won it will not change the way our schools operate in any way, it will not offer any better opportunities for those seeking an education. The only thing it will do is increase taxes.

PUBLIC NOTICE

At the request of the Office of the General Counsel of the Public Utility Commission, the Commission has established Docket No. 5113 to inquire into pressing issues involving the entire telephone industry in Texas. Docket No. 5113 will deal with many issues resulting from the impending divestiture of American Telephone and Telegraph Company and Southwestern Bell Telephone Company. Some of those issues include establishing the service areas of Southwestern Bell after divestiture and assessing the impact on other telephone companies in Texas of current settlement arrangements between Southwestern Bell and those companies. Additionally, Docket No. 5113 will deal with the issues arising from the Federal Communications Commission's Final Order in Docket 78-72 (the Access Charge Docket) as they impact all telephone companies. It is anticipated that Docket No. 5113 will be evidentiary in nature. RATES FOR SOUTHWESTERN BELL MAY BE DETERMINED BY THE COMMISSION IN OR AS A RESULT OF THIS PROCEEDING. Interested parties seeking further information or desiring to participate in Docket No. 5113 are advised to write to Rhonda Colbert Ryan, Secretary and Director of Hearings, Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757 or telephone the Public Utility Commission Consumer Affairs Division at (512) 458-0223 or 458-0227, or (512) 458-0221 TTY for the deaf.

AVISO PÚBLICO

A solicitud de la Oficina de Consejo Legal (Office of the General Counsel) de la Comisión de Servicios Públicos (Public Utility Commission), la Comisión ha establecido la Acta No. 5113 con el fin de investigar asuntos de importancia que incumben a todas las compañías de servicio de teléfono en el Estado de Texas. La Acta No. 5113 tratará con muchos asuntos que resulten del despojo de American Telephone and Telegraph Company y Southwestern Bell Telephone Company. Algunos de éstos asuntos incluyen el de establecer las áreas de servicio de Southwestern Bell después del despojo y el de tasar los efectos de los arreglos judiciales que están en vigor entre Southwestern Bell y otras compañías de servicio de teléfono en el Estado de Texas. Adicionalmente, la Acta No. 5113 tratará con los asuntos que surjan del Decreto Final (Final Order) de la Comisión Federal de Comunicaciones (Federal Communications Commission) en la Acta No. 78-72 (ó sea la Acta de Cobros por Acceso — Access Charge Docket) en cuanto al efecto que tengan en las actividades de todas otras compañías de servicio de teléfono. Se anticipa que la Acta No. 5113 será probatoria. PUEDA QUE LAS TARIFAS QUE COBRE SOUTHWESTERN BELL SEAN DETERMINADAS POR LA COMISIÓN EN Ó COMO RESULTADO DE ÉSTE PROCESO. A las partes interesadas que busquen más información, ó que deseen participar en la Acta No. 5113, se les aconseja comunicarse por escrito con la Sra. Rhonda Colbert Ryan, Secretaria y Directora de Vistas, Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757, ó llamar a la Consumer Affairs Division (División de Asuntos de Consumidores) de la Public Utility Commission al (512) 458-0223, ó (512) 458-0227 TTY para aquellos que padecen de la sordera.

Pensioners may owe income taxes now

Because pension income may be either fully or partially taxable, federal income taxes may be withheld from pension payments. Withholding is not compulsory, and any person can apply to their payor for exemption.

However, many retirees may find the withholding a convenience that can spare them penalties when they file their federal income tax returns. Without tax withholding, a retiree who owes $300 or more for 1983 may be liable for an estimated tax penalty.

A retiree who chooses not to have tax withheld from pension payments may pay quarterly estimated payments to avoid the penalty. Additional information may be found in Publication 505, "Tax Withholding and Estimated Tax," which can be obtained free by contacting Internal Revenue Service.

TAXPAYERS WHO REQUESTED EXTENSIONS MUST FILE TAX RETURN BY AUGUST 15

Taxpayers who asked for an automatic extension of time to file their 1982 federal income tax return must file the complete return and pay the remaining tax due by midnight August 15, the Internal Revenue says.

For additional information regarding the filing date extension, taxpayers may call the IRS Forms/Tax Information number listed in the local telephone directory under the U.S. Government.

Public Notice

Southwestern Bell, in accordance with the rules of the Public Utility Commission of Texas, hereby gives notice of the company's intent to implement a new schedule of telephone rates in Texas, effective August 1, 1983, unless otherwise determined by the Commission.

A complete copy of the new rate schedule is on file with the Texas Public Utility Commission (PUC) at Austin, Texas, and with each affected municipality served by Southwestern Bell, and is available for inspection in each of the company's public business offices in Texas. The Commission staff has contended in the past that all rates are subject to change as a result of Southwestern Bell's rate application.

As a result of the settlement of a lawsuit brought by the U.S. Department of Justice against AT&T, Southwestern Bell, on January 1, 1984, (or as otherwise ordered by the United States District Court) will no longer be a part of the Bell System, but will be owned by public shareholders. Under the terms of the settlement, Southwestern Bell has identified 15 areas in the state within which it may provide service, and the federal court with jurisdiction of the settlement has tentatively approved these areas, called LATAs (Local Access and Transport Area). On or about January 1, 1984, Southwestern Bell can not provide service between these LATAs, and in addition, must transfer to AT&T customer premises equipment that it leases to customers.

Southwestern Bell has filed a proposed revised rate schedule with the PUC reflecting these changes. These rates would become effective August 1, 1983, if they are not suspended by the PUC; however, it is expected that they will be suspended and that the rates ultimately set by the PUC will become effective on or about January 1, 1984. If the rates were to become effective as filed, they would produce a 48.2% increase in Southwestern Bell's unadjusted test year revenues (or a 76.36% increase in Southwestern Bell's test year revenues adjusted to reflect the effect of Southwestern Bell's divestiture from AT&T). Any change in the rates for any interLATA services offered by AT&T or a subsidiary after January 1, 1984, could affect customers of Southwestern Bell Telephone Company.

Notice to Customers of Other Telephone Companies

While Southwestern Bell has proposed no increase in rates for intraLATA interexchange toll services, any change in those rates could also affect customers of other telephone companies. Southwestern Bell is proposing changes in the structure of the present private line and foreign exchange services. Changes in these rates may affect customers of other telephone companies. Any change in the rates for any interLATA services offered by AT&T or a subsidiary after January 1, 1984, could affect customers of other telephone companies.

Aviso Público

Southwestern Bell, en conformidad a las reglas del Public Utility Commission (Comisión de Servicios Públicos) de Texas, por la presente hace saber su intención de establecer un nuevo arancel de tarifas para servicio de teléfono en Texas, con vigencia a partir del 1o de agosto de 1983, a menos que la Comisión haga otra determinación.

Una copia completa del nuevo arancel de tarifas se ha archivado en las oficinas del Public Utility Commission (PUC, ó Comisión de Servicios Públicos) de Texas en Austin, Texas, al igual que en cada municipalidad afectada y que es servida por Southwestern Bell, y dicho arancel está disponible para inspección pública en todas las oficinas de Southwestern Bell en Texas. En el pasado, la Comisión ha sostenido que toda tarifa está sujeta a cambios cada vez que Southwestern Bell solicite un cambio en dichas tarifas.

Como resultado del arreglo judicial al cual se llegó tras el proceso legal entablado en contra de AT&T por el U.S. Department of Justice (Departamento de Justicia), Southwestern Bell dejará de formar parte del Bell System (Sistema Bell) a partir del 1o de enero de 1984 (ó en la fecha que disponga el United States District Court — Tribunal Federal de Distrito), y llegará a ser posesión de accionistas públicos. Bajo las condiciones de dicho arreglo, Southwestern Bell ha identificado 15 regiones dentro del Estado de Texas en las cuales puede proporcionar servicio, y el tribunal federal con jurisdicción en el arreglo ha dado su aprobación provisoria a estas regiones, que se denominan "LATAs" (Local Access and Transport Area, ó Regiones Locales de Acceso y Transporte). A partir de fecha 1o de enero de 1984 aproximadamente, Southwestern Bell no podrá proporcionar servicio entre dichas LATAs, y además deberá ceder a AT&T todo equipo ubicado en premisas de clientes y alquilado a los mismos.

Estos cambios se han incluido en el propuesto arancel de tarifas de servicio revisado que Southwestern Bell ha archivado con la PUC. Dichas tarifas tendrían vigencia a partir del 1o de agosto de 1983, a menos que fueran suspendidas por la PUC; sin embargo, se espera que si seran suspendidas, y que las tarifas que en último caso establezca la PUC entrarán en vigor a partir de fecha 1o de enero de 1984 aproximadamente. Si las tarifas entrarán en vigor tal y como se han archivadas, aumentarían en un 48.2% los ingresos no-ajustados de Southwestern Bell para año de prueba (unadjusted test year revenues), ó sea un aumento de 76.36% en los ingresos de Southwestern Bell para año de prueba, ajustados para reflejar el efecto del despojo entre Southwestern Bell y AT&T. Cualquier cambio en las tarifas para cualquier servicio tipo-interLATA que proporcione AT&T ó una compañía subsidiaria después del 1o de enero de 1984 podría afectar a los clientes de Southwestern Bell Telephone Company.

Aviso a los Clientes de Otras Compañías de Teléfono

Aunque Southwestern Bell no ha propuesto un aumento en las tarifas para servicios tipo "intraLATA interexchange toll", cualquier cambio en dichas tarifas también podría afectar a los clientes de otras compañías de servicio telefónico. Southwestern Bell está proponiendo cambios en la estructura de los servicios actuales de línea privada (private line) y de intercambio extranjero (foreign exchange). Cambios en las tarifas para dichos servicios podrían afectar a los clientes de otras compañías de servicio telefónico. Cualquier cambio en las tarifas para cualquier servicio tipo-interLATA que proporcione AT&T ó una compañía subsidiaria después del 1o de enero de 1984 podría afectar a los clientes de otras compañías de servicio telefónico.

Chicago symphony set

The San Antonio Symphony recently announced the program for the September 24 performance by the Chicago Symphony Orchestra. The performance is the first performance of the Chicago Symphony in San Antonio.

Garcia Navarro will be the guest conductor and the program will include Dvorak's Symphony No. 8 in G Major, Opus 88, Harris's Symphony No. 3 (In One Movement), Ravel's Daphnis et Chloe, Suite No. 2. The program will be presented at the majestic Performing Arts Center at 8:30 p.m., Saturday, September 24.

Symphony No. 8 by Antonin Dvorak was completed in 1889. Actually begun August 26, the orchestration was finished on November 8. The first performance was conducted by Dvorak himself February 2, 1890 at Prague. Dvorak also conducted the first Chicago performance of the work in 1893.

In 1884 Dvzak made the first of nine journeys to England where he conducted a performance of his Stabat Mater, written after the death of his eldest daughter. Many honors came to him.

In 1890 he was elected a member of the Franz Joseph Academy for Science, Literature and Arts at Prague; incidentally, the score of the Eighth Symphony as published by Novello bears the inscription: "To the Bohemian Academy of Emperor Franz Joseph for the Encouragement of Art and Literature, in thanks for my election."

In 1891 he was given an honorary doctorate by Cambridge University; for this occasion he offered the Eighth Symphony as his "exercise." The following year, in 1892, he became professor of composition at the Prague Conservatory.

The year 1893 found him in New York as director of the National Conservatory; there he composed the New World Symphony. In 1901, his 60th birthday was widely celebrated and he became director of the Prague Conservatory.

In Dvorak's early years, after he overcame a strong Wagnerian influence, most of his works were inclined toward the Viennese tradition of Beethoven and Schubert along with a prominent national Bohemian coloring. He was greatly devoted to Brahms, who, in later years, became his close friend.

Roy Harris, Symphony No. 3 (in one movement): Roy Harris was born February 12, 1898 in Lincoln County, Oklahoma and died October 1, 1979 in Santa Monica, California. Although he was slow to enter seriously upon a career in music, Harris became one of the major figures in American music in the 1930's, and continued to move with the times as his Tenth Symphony (Abraham Lincoln) for chorus, brass and two amplified pianos from 1965 illustrates.

Folk song was a part of his childhood heritage -- his father, who had traveled by covered wagon with his family in the westward migration to Oklahoma and later to southern California, knew many folk songs and ballads. His mother was musical but untrained and could play by ear.

Roy, or more properly Leroy, studied music with a local teacher in California and in high school he played the clarinet in the band and in the Los Angeles Chamber Music Orchestra.

After serving in the Army, he drove a dairy truck and in his spare time served as an usher at the concerts of the Los Angeles Philharmonic. All the while, he studied music and tried to compose. A period in Paris with Nadia Boulanger completed what might be called his formal study.

During the 1930's and 1940's his works were frequently performed; he became a major figure on the American scene. His compositions covered a wide range. He composed 16 symphonies -- the Tenth was performed in Los Angeles in 1965, and Eleventh by the New York Philharmonic with the composer conducting in 1968.

The Third Symphony, composed in 1938, was acclaimed from the time of its first performance on February 24, 1939, by the Boston Symphony Orchestra under Serge Koussevitsky.

Daphnis et Chloe, Suit No. 2 by Maurice Ravel: Maurice Ravel was born March 7, 1875 and died Sergei Diaghilev to compose Daphnis et Chloe for the Pvrences and died in Paris. Ravel was commissioned by Sergei Diaghilev to compose Daphnis et Chloe for the Ballet Russe in 1909.

The first performance, June 8, 1912, was given at the Chatelet Theatre in Paris. Pierre Monteux was the conductor. Nijinsky and Tamara Karsavina danced the roles of Daphnis and Chloe. Ravel made two orchestral suites from the music of the ballet.

The score of the ballet described the music as "a choreographic symphony in three parts." Although this is not a symphony in the usual sense of the word, Ravel indicated that it is "constructed symphonically on a very strict tonal plan, with a number of themes whose developments assure the homogeneity of the work."

Tickets to the September 24 performance of the Chicago Symphony Orchestra are available now at the Symphony Box Office, 223-5591 and beginning August 1st at all Rainbow Ticketmaster outlets.

Seminar slated

A seminar on recent changes in applying for a drilling permit will be held in Midland August 16.

The Texas legislature passed a bill requiring the Texas Railroad Commission to charge $100 for each new or materially amended drilling permit issued.

There are also some procedural changes in the W-1 forms. The new law goes into effect September 1, 1983. These changes will be covered at the seminar scheduled to begin at 1:30 p.m. August 16 at the Midland Civic Center in downtown Midland. The session will be sponsored by the Permian Basin Petroleum Association and conducted by the oil and gas division of the commission.

For reservations please contact PBPA at 915-684-6345 or write P.O. Box 132, Midland, Texas 79702.

HOME ECONOMICS BRIEFS

With Texas' heavy spring and summer rains, homeowners need to be on guard against a "bumper crop" of mosquitos and the health hazards they bring. Encephalitis is spread by the bite of an infected mosquito, which receives the infection by first biting an infected animal, says Dr. Mary Ann Shiree, a health education specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. Texas offers an ideal environment for encephalitis because of its large bird population which can become infected with the virus and carry it great distances, she adds. So far this year, the Texas Department of Health has reported no human cases of mosquito-borne encephalitis. In addition, infection from scratching mosquito bites and allergic reactions causing redness, swelling and itching are other possible health hazards, notes the specialist.

Trust and rain answers a rancher's prayer

Trusts, like rain, are the answer to a rancher's prayer. With the present day complexities of attempting to preserve and to protect the family ranch from excessive taxes and mismanagement, the trust concept has become perhaps the most workable element of a good, solid estate plan.

Through the proper use of a trust, generally, a family ranch can be kept intact by holding taxes to a minimum, and by offering proper management of the ranch during those times when a family member may not be able to provide such management.

How trusts can be used to protect the family owned ranch as well as other assets a ranch family may own will be discussed in detail by trust specialists during ranch family business sessions at the International Ranchers Roundup (IRR). The five-day conference begins August 1 at the San Angelo Convention Center. Registration and program details are available from the San Angelo Convention Bureau (915/653-1206).

Basically, a trust is an arrangement where property is transferred from one person (rancher) to a second person (trustee) with the intention that the property transferred into the trust be managed, administered and protected by the trustee for the benefit of the rancher, or for some other person or entity that the rancher might name.

When a trust is created, actual legal title to the real or personal property is transferred to the trustee, but it is understood in the agreement that even though the trustee actually takes title to that asset, the beneficial interest or title still lies with the rancher or the beneficiary the rancher has designated.

A trust agreement under Texas law can either be oral or written. But most often, they should be in writing so no dispute will arise as to what the actual terms and conditions of the trust agreement are.

Two basic categories exist that classify all trusts, revocable and irrevocable. The revocable trust lets the rancher end the arrangement or amend it at any time for any reason. It is an arrangement in which the rancher remains in the driver's seat at all times. Yet, there are generally no tax advantages with this type since all incomes earned from it are taxable to the rancher, and should the rancher die while the trust is in effect, all the trust assets are includable in the rancher's estate for estate tax purposes. However, despite the lack of tax benefits, ranchers can use a revocable trust to turn management responsibilities over to a trustee who may be better able to manage the property.

The irrevocable trust, once created, remains fixed, unless terms in the instrument provide for changes. Because of the finality of creating such a trust, a rancher must be very sure of his desires. But due to their importance in estate planning, a rancher shouldn't avoid this type of trust because of complexity. Competent attorneys can draft many safeguards into the original trust instrument.

Many different types of trust also exist. Ranchers Roundup speakers will address many of these during the ranch family business management sessions, with emphasis on the trusts most commonly used.

Amram to conduct festival orchestra

American conductor-composer David Amram returns to the podium of the Kerrville Summer Music Festival Orchestra for the third consecutive year at 8:30 p.m. on Saturday, July 23, at the outdoor theatre at Quiet Valley Ranch.

The orchestra concert, highlighted by the appearances of five guest soloists, has become the most popular and best attended of the festival's annual events and this year it serves as the keystone event of the festival's "Celebration of American Music".

Conductor Amram is one of America's most frequently performed composers with more than 400 of his works published in the Peters catalogue and at this third Kerrville Music Summer Festival he will conduct his own "Shakespearean Concerto" and his "Five Shakespearean Songs" sung by grand opera soloists soprano Carmen Balthrop and bass-baritone Dorceal Duckens.

In addition to Amram's music the evening will also include the melodic "Adagio for Strings" by Barber and the lyric Hanson "Serenade for Flute and String Orchestra" with Megan Meisenbach as soloist. Also trumpet star Stacy Blair will be heard in the Hovhaness "Prayer for St. Gregory" and Copland's "Quiet City".

A most unusual climax will be provided for the evening with the performance by Chicago-based folk singer Bob Gibson of the Gibson-North musical narrative "Let the Band Play Dixie".

At 7 p.m., before the orchestra evening, New York's popular Mozart on Fifth will play for an hour "warm-up" as they do each festival evening.

The festival opens with an all-Gershwin evening and closes with a ragtime piano concert and there are also six daytime events including a puppet theatre performance for children.

For a complete festival schedule by return mail, patrons should write: Kerrville Music Foundation, P.O. Box 1466, Kerrville, Texas 78028, or phone (512) 896-3800 after 10 a.m. week-days. Both adult and youth tickets are available and there are three free pops concerts as well.

Suggestions given for better health

Staying healthy is best accomplished through a cooperative effort between the patient and the doctor.

That message comes from a pamphlet titled "You and Your Doctor: Partners in Health Care," produced by the Texas Medical Association. The brochure lists five suggestions for making this relationship work:

--Be a well-informed patient. This means understanding what your health problem is and what might have caused it. Your doctor can discuss these points with you. Know what medications you are taking and what they are supposed to do. Another way to keep informed is to use home health books, which can give warning signs of various disorders.

--Talk to your doctor. This includes telling the physician about past medical problems, allergic reactions to any drugs, and diseases in your family. The doctor must know this information to serve you best. You also may want to discuss a particular treatment or a complaint. If fees are a concern, let your doctor know.

--Follow your doctor's instructions. Most important is taking prescription until you have finished it all, even if you are feeling better. You may also need to avoid certain foods.

--Live a healthy lifestyle. Many ailments can be avoided by adopting some basic habits: Get enough sleep, eat a nutritious diet, don't smoke, limit alcohol intake, use seatbelts, learn to manage stress, and keep immunizations current.

--Keep accurate and up-to-date medical records. This helps a doctor on a first visit or in an emergency.

Benefits of this cooperative effort between patient and doctor include the ability to take better care of yourself, the satisfaction of taking an active role in maintaining your health, and a rewarding doctor-patient relationship that results in conserving your health.

A copy of the pamphlet can be obtained by writing the Texas Medical Association at 1801 N. Lamar Blvd., Austin 78701. The phone number is 512-477-6704.

Ranch resources highlight 1983

Ranchers throughout the Southwest have numerous "nontraditional" ranch resources which can be aggressively marketed. Many of these resources are often easily overlooked since they are usually not in the mainstream of ranch activities.

But some innovative ranchers these days are marketing artifacts, rocks, bird watching, photographic tours, manure, squirrels, varmint hunting, trapping, horseback riding, camping, quail/dove hunting, and many others.

These resource alternatives will be discussed in detail during marketing sessions at the International Ranchers Roundup (IRR) which will be held at the San Angelo Convention Center August 1-5. Registration and complete program information is available by writing IRR, P.O. Drawer 1849, Uvalde, TX. 78801.

Popular as deer hunting may be in the South, cities are full of people who would not pay a dime to hunt them, but would gladly pay substantial fees to hunt quail or dove. It's not uncommon for a landowner to ask and receive $500 to $1,000 per season for hunting rights at one dirt tank or windmill.

Some Central Texas landowners are leasing the rights to dig for cultural or historical artifacts. Many areas of Texas contain minerals and rocks that rock hunters will pay to search through. In addition, rocks suitable for use as building stones increase in value each year. As water becomes more scarce, more and more city dwellers are apt to change to rock, sand, or gravel yards instead of grass. Some Dallas residents are known to have paid $75 each for large limestone rocks to help decorate their front yard. Riverbeds are full of rocks that will soon become in great demand for building purposes.

How about a good manure cleanup job? People will come to your ranch, clean out the barns and goat sheds and pay for the manure they haul away. It must be cleaned regularly anyway, so why not get paid for it and let someone else do the work? Trucks have been driven 250 miles to one Hill Country ranch just to haul goat manure.

Today there are thousands of varmint hunters. Since it has long been determined that cougars and black bear will respond to a varmint call in the hands of an expert, demand for places to call has grown dramatically. Varmint calling leases lay just around the corner.

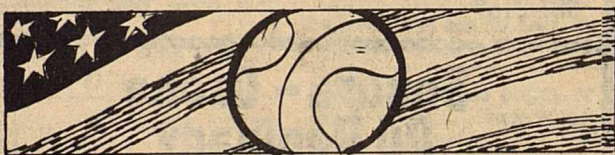

An upsurge in the price paid for the pelt of furbearers has brought a marked increase in the number of fur trappers. Many landowners allow trapping on their property on a percentage basis which runs from one-fourth to one-half the total catch. With no effort, a landowner can get a varmint population thinned and pick up easy pocket money at the same time.

With the increased interest in landscape and wildlife photography, professional and amateur hunters, alike, will pay for the opportunity to photograph all aspects of a ranch. Such visitors rarely cause problems and often are glad to repeat or refer business if desired by the owner. If there's something of interest on a ranch, someone will pay to take a picture of it.

Also, don't forget such possibilities as wildlife management tours, bird watchers, range management tours, and natural ecology tours. Such groups will pay tidy sums for the opportunity of seclusion in a natural ranch setting.

This is but one of 10 programs in the marketing session in the comprehensive IRR five-day schedule. Other concurrent sessions will feature talks in beef cattle, sheep and goats, grazing management, ranch family business management, wildlife and a computer workshop. Over 100 speakers from 12 states will be on hand for the third annual IRR.

Angus entered for show

A record number, 926-head of Angus Cattle from 30 states are entered in this year's Centennial National Junior Angus Show to be held at the Iowa State Fairgrounds in Des Moines, July 20-22.

This show is the second of four special Centennial events to take place in celebration of the American Angus Association's 100th Birthday.

All exhibitors must be a junior, regular or life member of the American Angus Association, and be nine years-old by January 1, 1983, and not yet 21 years of age by that date.

Classes will include divisions for bred-and-owned bulls and heifers, owned heifers and cow-calf pairs.

The National Junior Angus Show promises to be an eventful, fun-filled week of family activities. On Tuesday, July 19, exhibitors and their parents will tour Living History Farms. The tour will give people an opportunity to view farming methods as they used to be.

Stockyards to host auction

Union Stockyards San Antonio will host the "Wildest Auction in the West." Mrs. Geneva German, general chairman for this year's event, has selected her committees and things are underway to make this another successful auction.

The auction is the major fund raising event of the year for the Home. It was originally a livestock auction but over the years has grown to be a social event as well.

The auction no longer features just livestock. A variety of items including hotel and dining packages, art work, jewelry, quilts and afghans, and farming supplies have been on the auction block.

Changes which made the auction become a social event are the catered breakfast, a live western band and the country store sponsored by the Boysville Auxiliary.

San Antonio Bank and Trust will sponsor the breakfast this year. It will be served under a big tent across from the Union Stockyards San Antonio pens.

The Country store is also under the tent and features handcraft items, quilts, homebaked goodies, and jams and jellies.

It takes people helping in many different areas to make the auction work. Ways to help include donating livestock or merchandise, being a cash sponsor, or attending the auction to bid on the selections.

If you can help please call Boysville at 653-8282.

Judges of the contest are: Roger Worthington, princeville, Illinois; Jay penick, Mount Vernon, Ohio; and Kevin O'Bryan, Dawn, Missouri.

A showmanship breakfast for all contestants will be held at 6:30 a.m., July 21. Gene Knop, owner of Knop Angus Farm and vice president/agricultural representative of Ida County State Bank, Ida Grove, Iowa, will be the guest speaker during the breakfast.

Safety tips told

Our country is crisscrossed with thousands of miles of underground pipelines delivering petroleum and related products, such as gasoline, home heating oil, and diesel fuel.

Since pipelines are buried underground, line markers are used to show their approximate location at numerous points along their routes. These markers list the commodity transported, the name of the operator and a telephone number where the operator's representative can be reached at all times.

If you encounter a leak, your first concern should be for your personal safety and the safety of those around you.

You Should: LEAVE THE LEAK AREA IMMEDIATELY, Avoid driving into vapor clouds, Avoid direct contact with the escaping liquids, and Avoid creating sparks or sources of heat which could cause the liquids, or vapor arising from them, to ignite and burn. If you find yourself in a suspected vapor area, do not light a match, start an engine or even switch on an electrical light.

Immediately notify the pipeline operator as soon as you reach safety. Call collect. Give your name, a description of the leak and its location. If the pipeline operator is not known, call your local fire, police or sheriff's department, or the state police. Advise them of the location and nature of the emergency.

This pipeline information was provided by the American Petroleum Institute and Sutton County Emergency Management.

Some taxpayers appeal penalties

Taxpayers who are charged a penalty because of a tax delinquency and feel the penalty is unwarranted may, in some cases, appeal the penalty, the Internal Revenue Service says.

Tax bills contain information on how to request elimination of a penalty charge. Generally, the first step is to correspond with the IRS service center.

If the service center rejects the request, the taxpayer will receive a letter explaining the reason. The letter will also include information on further appeal procedures, along with the name and phone number of an IRS Appeals Office official.

Cases can sometimes be resolved at this point with a phone call to the appeals officer, the IRS says. But, if a formal appeal is in order, the taxpayer should submit the request in writing to the service center penalty appeals coordinator. The coordinator will forward the case file to an appeals office. While a conference may be necessary at this stage, the majority of cases will probably be resolved by phone or correspondence.

The IRS stresses that when penalties are assessed in cases of fraud or criminal intent, there can be no appeal under the abatement procedures. These penalties are subject to appeal prior to assessment. Furthermore, there is no appeal for underpayment of estimated tax, according to the IRS.

For additional information on the appeals procedure, obtain the free IRS Publication 586A, "The Collection Process, (Income Tax Accounts)" by calling the IRS Forms/Tax Information number listed in the telephone directory under U.S. Government.

The first Labor Day in America was celebrated on December 28, 1869.

"Located in Sonora to serve you better"

The average $2.75 home sewers must pay for a pattern isn't the result of inflation alone. "Home sewers are paying for far more sophisticated products than they used to," explains Dr. Ann Vanderpoorten, a clothing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. One reason costs have risen is that pattern companies now purchase the rights to originals from well-known designers, says Vanderpoorten, rather than using only company designers to create the ideas for garments.

Fines established for pollution violations

The Texas Legislature passed several bills in its 1983 session affecting the petroleum industry. One authorizes the Texas Railroad Commission to impose administrative fines of up to $10,000 a day, per violation, for pollution or safety violations.

Another authorizes the Commission to collect a fee of $100 for each application or materially amended application for a permit to drill. Other bills establish guidelines for timely payment, give working interest owners and Royalty owners a security interest in oil and gas proceeds and charge $5 for each half hour that Commission employees spend responding to citizen's requests.

In other news, the House of Representatives energy fossil fuels subcommittee voted 10 to 9 to allow old gas to be included in the natural gas decontrol bill. Old gas is that which was discovered before April of 1977, and is selling for much less than gas discovered after that date.

The decontrol of old gas must still be voted on by a full committee, the full House, a House-Senate conference committee and then the full House and Senate again.

And, U.S. coal production will be only 780 million tons this year compared to the record 829 million tons in 1982.

In the Permian Basin our rig count for this week is 216. Last week it was 208. One year ago it was 288.
