Commissioners declare emergency

BY BECKY COLLINS

The Commissioners Court of Sutton County was in session Monday, June 11 to attend to their regular monthly business.

At that meeting, the Commissioners declared an emergency situation in concern of the Sutton County Road Department which sustained heavy damage from an explosion and fire which ripped through the centrally located yard Friday morning. The fire caused an undetermined amount of damage to that department.

According to County Road Superintendent Joe Ed Harrell, approximately $85,000 would be necessary to put the Road Department back into the paving business. He outlined the damages assessed at the county yard to the Commissioners stating that the tank which had exploded was a total loss as was the gravel spreader which had been sitting beside the tank at the time of the explosion and fire. Also damaged in the fire was the asphalt plant tank, which will have to have the insulation and aluminum "skin" replaced.

The Commissioners then discussed the relocation of the County Road Department Yard, noting that the County had been extremely fortunate that no one had been injured in the accident either pedestrian or county employee.

Two sites have been researched by the Commissioners Court. A 20-acre tract of land is for sale by the Cahill heirs. Commissioner Billy Galbreath proposed a motion in which the County would assume ownership of the land for a price of $5,000 per acre, subject to Cahill family approval and with the understanding that the right of ingress and egress should be secured. The motion died for lack of a second.

Commissioner Miguel Villanueva proposed a motion in which the County would purchase an 8.91-acre tract of land at the old Elliott School. The motion was seconded by Commissioner Gonzales and died for lack of support on the Court due to its close proximity to residential areas and the major highway.

County Auditor Charles Graves cautioned the Court that the money for relocation of the yard would not be so readily available at another time. He urged the Commissioners to study all of the options on resolving this matter, and to come up with an equitable solution. Action on the proposed relocation was tabled until the July meeting.

Another issue of dissent among the Court involved the proposed salary increase of County employees, excluding elected officials.

Commissioner Billy Galbreath proposed a motion raising all of the indicated employees salaries 10 percent. The motion was seconded by Commissioner Villanueva, but opposed by Commissioner Wade, and ultimately defeated due to Commissioner Gonzales abstaining from voting on the issue. County Judge Charles Sherill also abstained from casting the deciding vote on the proposal stating that in instances of that sort, he felt it would be more to the County's benefit to have the Commissioners agree on such a delicate issue.

Commissioner Gonzales made a motion to allow the County employees a 7 percent increase in salary. The motion seconded by Commissioner Villanueva was defeated due to opposition by Commissioner Wade and Commissioner Galbreath from voting on the motion. Judge Sherill again abstained from voting, thus causing the motion to die for lack of a majority vote.

But the County Dads didn't disagree on every issue set before them Monday morning. A request from

by Becky Collins

An explosion and fire Friday morning caused severe damage to the Sutton County Road Department.

According to County Road Superintendent Joe Ed Harrell, two of his men were attempting to repair a storage tank holding some 2,000 gallons of MC-30 primer oil, when a spark from the acetylene torch set off a spark causing the tank to explode. According to Volunteer Fire Department Chief Louis Olenick, this practice is not uncommon or usually dangerous.

The explosion was felt and heard all over our community, and the Sonora Volunteer Fire Department wasted no time in responding to the alarm. Some eight to ten minutes after the explosion, the 23 member fire department was on the scene attempting to extinguish the blaze from which billows of black smoke rose into the sky.

According to Volunteer Fire Department Chief, Louis Olenick, approximately 30,000 gallons of water was used in extinguishing the blaze.

Damages assessed by Superintendent Harrell include total loss of the storage tank; total loss of a gravel spreader assessed at $55-60,000; damage to the tires of a 412 Scrapper at $2,000 for replacement of the tires of that piece of machinery; and minimal damage to a roller. Also damaged in the fire was the asphalt plant tank which suffered from the heat of the inferno loss of some of the insulation and the aluminum "skin".

Harrell commented Friday that he considers the County lucky for the minimal damage sustained in the explosion and fire, and praised the Volunteer Fire Department on their quick response.

BATTLING THE BLAZES

The flames were big, and the billowing smoke could be seen for miles around when an asphalt tank exploded Friday at the Sutton County Road Department. In minutes, the Sonora Volunteer Fire

Dept. arrived and began the dangerous fight to control the fire and keep it from spreading and causing more damage. The firemen succeeded and no injuries were sustained. (Staff Photo-KKN)

Stray pets cause local concern

by Carol Jones

Sometime in the early morning hours Friday, a two month old "dogie" goat belonged to O.L. Richardson Jr. was attacked and killed at 100 Edgemont by what was apparently a "big dog".

Richardson stated that he had brought the goat to town for his daughter to raise. When reporting the incident to Sonora City Manager Jim Dover, Richardson expressed a great concern for the safety of children around stray animals in this area. He stated Friday afternoon that the dog or dogs had apparently been running free all night. The goat was tied with a strong rope to a water hose holder.

Sonora Police Chief Brent Gesch, contracted Monday morning, said, "Starting last week, upon a suggestion by Jim Dover, the offices of the police department are writing citations for violators of Section 5-29 of the Sonora Code to citizens who do not maintain their animals in compliance with the city law."

Gesch stated that the possibility of rabies outbreak is extremely high now due to the hot weather and that many of the dogs that are "turned out" are not vaccinated against rabies.

Section 5-29 of the Sonora Code is under the heading of Division 3. Stray Animals and reads, "A person who owns, harbors or maintains an animal commits an offense, without regard to his mental state, if he fails to restrain the animal in a fenced yard, enclosed structure, or by a leash and the animal strays. (Ord. of 1-18-83, Sec. 5-22)"

Failure to maintain the animals, in a sense, means not obeying the city ordinances applying to animals.

Chief Gesch also stated that all complaints or reports of any stray animals, violators, and livestock violators should be lodged through the Sonora Police Department. All calls received will be investigated by an officer if that department.

Section 5-88 of the Sonora Code comes under Article III Livestock and other Animals and reads, "It shall be unlawful for any person to keep any livestock, rabbit, or fowl within the city limits unless the requirements of this article are met and a permit is obtained as provided herein. (Ord. of 1-18-83, Sec. 5-12)"

In a sense, this section may be interpreted to mean that anyone with livestock such as sheep, goats, or cattle must comply with ordinances applying to their animals.

According to reports from Dover and Chief Gesch, some citizens are allowing their dogs to run loose after 5 p.m. and not restraining them until 8 a.m. the next day.

The police department answers calls 24 hours a day, so reports may be made to that department, 387-3888, if a violator is seen or if a stray animal is found running loose.

Teacher resignations noted

BY BECKY COLLINS

Now that the 1983-84 school year has ended for both the students and the teachers, many of those teachers are off to vacation with their families, while others are preparing to acclimate themselves in different areas of the state.

Sara McAndrew and Roberta Sappington are two of the teachers who won't be returning to the classrooms of Sonora High School this fall. They are going out of our community to seek new horizons, to reach for other goals and to find within themselves that spark of aspiration for excellence which they both have displayed during their years as teachers at Sonora High.

Sara, the wife of Superintendent W.A. McAndrew, will be moving with her family to Castroville where he has accepted the position of Superintendent of Schools for the Medina Valley School District.

She plans to continue teaching in Castroville. Her assignment for the coming year is to teach Language Arts on the sixth grade level. She also sees the possibility of teaching some theatre.

"Mrs. Mac" as she is affectionately known to her pupils, has been notably involved in the National Honor Society and in preparing students for UIL Ready Writing competition. During the time that Mrs. Mac has been the program sponsor at SHS, she has had three State winners.

Her teaching career at SHS has included six years as the English III teacher with a class of students taking Business Communications also. The encouragement of excellence through praise of her students has been noted by the numerous students who passed through her classroom on the way toward graduation.

Mrs. MacAndrew noted that she is sad about leaving Sonora and all of the fine people she has met and had the pleasure of working with. "My children, Patrick and Emily, have gone through the Sonora school system, and I'd like to take this opportunity to thank the many wonderful teachers here in this school district. We have been blessed to know and work with one of the best teaching staffs anywhere," she added.

Roberta Sappington, Sonora High School's Journalism and English IV teacher will also be leaving us this summer as she has accepted the position of associate editor of the United Methodist Reporter.

Mrs. Sappington will be relocating in Dallas to assume her duties by June 15.

The United Methodist Reporter is a national and international newspaper devoted primarily to the Methodist Church, but which also covers religious news in the Episcopal, Lutheran, Presbyterian, and the Disciples of Christ Churches.

"I'm very excited about the challenges to be met from a new job of this sort, I will be traveling and meeting many new people," she commented. She noted the cultural advantages of relocation in the "big city" but added, "the traffic will be a problem." "I'm not too thrilled about that."

Mrs. Sappington has taught at Sonora High School for the past seven years. Under her tutelage, the Journalism department's school newspaper has blossomed into a notably recognized product, Caballo Diablo has received awards for Tops in Division in the ILPC, the past two years. The Bronco Yearbook is also the recipient of many awards for excellence in composition.

Both Sara and Roberta will be sorely missed by the community as they have given so much to our community in the education of our youth who have passed through their classrooms.

We wish them the best of luck in their future endeavors, and hope for them the gratification that comes from a job well done.

Sonora clean-up day declared

Mayor Bill Gosney has signed a proclamation designating Saturday, July 28th as Sonora clean up day.

According to Don Cooper, Chairman of the Sonora Industrial Clean-Up Committee, the town will be divided into four sections and a clean up crew will be designated for each section. The City of Sonora, Sutton County and various businesses in Sonora will be of assistance in some manner.

Don said all would met at the courthouse lawn for instructions. Further information will be forthcoming, the radio, newspapers and chamber of commerce will keep you updated so that a general clean up of Sonora can be done in one day.

This will be a good time to get the unsightly trash hauled away, so make plans for the 28th. A watermelon feast will follow in the evening.

Sesquicentennial celebrations planned statewide

by Edith James

The 150th Anniversary of Texas the sesquicentennial will be celebrated throughout Texas in 1986. Communities throughout Texas are planning some big undertakings and some small, but all foresee a special celebration on the 150th anniversary of our Lone Star State.

The Sesquicentennial theme may be incorporated into the ongoing events in Sutton County in 1986. Texas has been under six flags, so it would be in keeping to fly the six flags over Sonora in 1986. Banners could also be used.

Parades, dances, rodeos, plays or any event might carry out the depression code of 1836. The year 1986 will be a time to use your imagination and expertise in celebrating the sesquicentennial. Ideas are unlimited.

Recording history on tapes, folklore, or a personal family history can be done. There are so many interesting things to remember and record. Now is the time to get it done, just think, it is only 50 years to the bicentennial, and a lot of history can be recorded now for then.

The Chamber of Commerce has received material from the Sesquicentennial office in Austin and any person wanting this material can come by the office and pick it up. It would be good reference as to what other towns and communities are doing for their themes.

Don Young of San Angelo represents an organization called Communicating For Agriculture. He was the featured speaker the other morning at our regular meeting of Professional Agricultural Workers Society and his talk caught my ear on behalf of agriculture people.

Probably no other life work carries such a high risk for occupational accident and injury as agriculture. At the same time, its people are less likely to be covered by health insurance than other Americans.

For self-employed farmers, their families and hired help, this "is particularly significant in light of their lack of coverage under workers' compensation," said Young. "Without health insurance, many farmers and other workers on the farm or ranch may not have access to necessary health care for injuries sustained at work or at home."

One of the reasons for farmers not having health insurance is their lack of access to group coverage, as is the case in much of the nation's urban work force.

In a report written by Helen H. Jensen of the University of Maryland and Production Continues to decline

Texas oil production continues to decline. There were 71,637,000 barrels produced in March versus 73,321,000 in March of 1983. That averaged about 50,000 barrels a day less than the same month last year. The lower production figures also mean less tax revenue to local and state governments which might put more pressure on the legislature to increase severance taxes.

The top six producing counties in order are: Pecos, Ector, Gaines, Yoakum, Andrews and Hockley.

The Texas Railroad Commission is sponsoring two seminars in Midland this month. The first one is scheduled for June 13th at the Holiday Inn Country Villa. It will be on "Oil and Gas Forms and Procedure." The second seminar is the next day, June 14th at the same location. The subject is Gas Proration. For more information contact the Railroad Commission office in Midland or PBPA.

formerly with USDA's Economic Research Service, several main observations were made:

1. Eighty-six percent of the nation's farm people have health insurance, compared to 90 percent of the population at large. Only 82 percent of the farmers and farm managers are covered, with coverage more likely if the spouse is employed, especially off the farm.

2. Families most dependent on farm income—those who are less dependent on off-farm jobs—are the least likely to have health insurance.

3. Young farmers, farmers in the South and West, those with low incomes and those with chronic health problems are not as well covered as other farmers.

"Farm work is dangerous. Agriculture has a higher accident rate than other occupations," the report said, a fact we all know. "Long hours opera-

Long distance charges told

Changes approved by the Federal Communications Commission on May 25, 1984 will affect General Telephone customers using interstate long-distance directory assistance. Customers using AT&T to make long-distance calls, and businesses with more than one line.

An interstate directory assistance charge of 50 cents per call with a two-call allowance for each billing period was approved service. To obtain the two-call directory assistance allowance, the customer must take at least two interstate calls during each billing period. If the customer makes one or no interstate calls, the allowance would be one or zero respectively.

The FCC also ordered

AT&T to reduce its interstate long-distance rates by approximately 6.1 percent.

At the same time, the FCC approved interstate end user access charges of 16 per line for businesses with more than one line.

All of the changes became effective May 25.

Telephone vandalism discussed

"Vandalism can be a serious problem with the public coin telephones" says E.O. Cambern, West Texas General Manager. For that reason, General Telephone asks that you contact local police immediately should you see anyone damaging on of these facilities.

"We know the customer is inconvenienced when a coin telephone does not work," said Cambern. "We would appreciate your reporting the location and telephone number to us so that our crews can repair it as quickly as possible." Sonora customers may report pay telephone trouble by calling 112-655-0686. There is no charge for the call.

Because coin telephones are often exposed to the outside elements, they receive more weather abuse and are easier targets for vandals. General Telephone appreciates the co-operation of local citizens in notifying the company when attention is needed.

Are Frozen Foods as Nutritious as Fresh?
Fresh produce is wonderful, but not necessarily better than frozen fruits and vegetables.

"For some reason, many people have the idea that frozen food is nutritionally inferior to fresh produce." It's true that some vitamins and minerals will be lost in processing, but they are also lost by storing fresh food too long and poor cooking methods.

All "fresh" foods, for example, are not equally fresh. If you picked a fresh vegetable from your garden, brought it directly to your kitchen and served it immediately without cooking, it would probably be higher in vitamins than its frozen counterpart.

But the "fresh" vegetable that traveled by truck across the county, sat at room temperature in the grocery store for several days, spent more days in your refrigerator and then was overcooked, probably would not measure up to a frozen product.

Among all methods of food preservation, freezing is one of the least destructive to nutrients. However, some vitamins can be lost in the processing that occurs before freezing, such as washing, slicing and blanching.

Keeping the nutrients in frozen foods is largely a matter of making sure the temperature is cold enough. Supermarket freezers are designed to maintain temperatures below 0 degrees F. You should keep your home freezer equally cold.

At this temperature, vitamin C in foods will remain virtually the same for a year or longer. Vitamins are actually lost far more rapidly at temperatures above freezing. The fresh broccoli and leafy green vegetables you keep in the refrigerator will lose half of their vitamin C in five days. At a room temperature of 68 degrees, fresh spinach will lose half of its vitamin C in two days.

Frozen orange juice concentrate is very stable and has only about one percent less vitamin C than fresh orange juice. But one study of refrigerated orange juice sold in cartons found they contained 30 to 64 percent less vitamin C than fresh.

Overcooking food will also cause high nutrient loss. In most cases, the greatest loss occurs during the cooking at home, rather than the storage or commercial processing.

To minimize the loss of vitamin C, folic acid and other heat-sensitive vitamins, don't cook vegetables any longer than absolutely necessary.

It's also best to cook in very little water or steam foods to reduce the loss of nutrients that dissolve in water. If you must cook directly in water, use the cooking water or canning liquid to prepare other foods such as soup or gravy, rather than throwing it away.

Freezing leads to some minimal nutrient loss, but it also provides us with year-round supplies of foods that are close to fresh and sometimes even more nutritious.

There is a really good publication entitled Frozen Foods. It is available free for the asking. If you would like one, call or come by the Extension office.

The oldest recorded document on paper made from fibrous material was a deed of King Roger of Sicily, in the year 1102.

The smallest breed of dog is the Chihuahua. At maturity, this Mexican dog may weigh between two and four pounds, but some weigh no more than one pound.

At Higher Risk
According to the American Cancer Society, people with Down's syndrome (mongolism) and certain other hereditary abnormalities have a higher than normal incidence of leukemia.

Environment and Lifestyle
The American Cancer Society estimates that 70 to 80 percent of all cancers may be related in some way to environment or lifestyle.

Just Keeps On Getting Better!

BY REV. DR. RICK G. RUNGE
PASTOR CHURCH OF THE GOOD SHEPHERD

John 15: 12, 15 through 17-

"No longer do I call you servants, for all that I have gotten from my Father I have given to you. You did not choose me, but I chose you, that you might go forth and bear fruit and that the fruit should abide. This I command you that you love one another as I have loved you."

"What A Friend We Have In Jesus." that is the title and the first words of one of the favorite hymns of the Christian Community. As we live our daily lives, and even weekly and yearly lives, if we would seriously count the hours in communication with God, of Jesus Christ, how many would that total be. Would we count the daily total in seconds, the weekly total in minutes, and yearly total in hours?? We are moving toward what has and is called a "Computerized Society." Yet we forget the lessons of some of the first computerized figures.

When space travel was first underway, and the count down was beginning toward setting foot on the moon, The National Space Administration wanted a base to start from and continue with, and in doing so wanted to see and test the effectiveness of their computers. They started the computer counting backward toward the time of man's beginning. As the count down continued, there were two blocks in the count backward in time. They tried every possible way to get around the steps in man's historical record. When they finally gave everything else a possibility, and it did not fill in the necessary blanks of man's historical past, they finally tried the two breaks in time recorded in the Holy Bible.

When this was done the computerized count back continued without a hitch. Odd but true. Yet indicative of our usual living. When all else fails we use our faith in Jesus Christ or the Holy Word of God. When it comes to the church, it is "OK" as long as it does not interfere. When we make the personal choices for daily, weekly and yearly living Christ in most instances is not even included. Yet we have His word that we are His Friends. Is this really the way we treat our friends. Is Jesus Christ someone we would be proud to walk down the street with. Are we proud because He calls us Friend???

Do we call Jesus Christ Friend in return, and do we really love this friend so much that we are putting His love first in our lives?

Now that the summer time has come on our calendars, have we allotted anytime at all for Jesus Christ, to praise His name, to publically proclaim to others that we are grateful He calls us Friend, and that we too call and know Him as Friend? The secret to Friendship, is Love. Not the physical aspect but deep down heart-felt kind that would ask each of us to die for the love of our family members.

We hear a lot these days about the war and about the many retreats and reunions of those who were part of the holocaust of World War II and other conflicts. It is hatred that brings on war. Hatred fosters only division, misery and alienation. Love fosters understanding, peace and communication.

Thus the call of Jesus Christ our Lord is important of us today. He is affirming to us and with us the fact, that whether or not we sincerely consider Him our friend he considers His Friends. A friendship so great that He died to prove His love for each of us.

Make a Countdown of the time span in your life daily, weekly and even yearly. How much time is really spent with Jesus Christ. Do we know Him enough that we can and do spend time with Him?? Is this Evangelism we hear about only for others to talk about. As we ask ourselves these questions and if caring enough attempt to come up with honest answers to them, where do we stand. Does our commitment to Jesus Christ and His Church really mean enough to us, that we are willing taking time each day, each week and every year to say "Thank You Friend," and then as we give thanks doing our best to proclaim His gospel that our witness will and does bear fruit for His Church?

Praising Christ should not be incidental, idle pass time if we are His friends, how much does He really mean to us?? The answers may not be easy one, or even pleasant ones but they are necessary ones if we are serious as Christians.

Take time today, take time tomorrow, take time Saturday, and Sunday to openly, honestly praise the Lord Our God Jesus Christ. Try it - You will like it.

Happy 75th

Energy problems told

Describing natural gas as "the most misunderstood and mangled energy resource in America today," Railroad Commission Chairman Mack Wallace said a revolution in our energy thinking may be necessary to give the nation a secure energy supply.

Speaking at a natural gas conference at the University of Texas sponsored by the Texas Petroleum Research Committee, Wallace said the natural gas issue isn't complicated or difficult to understand.

"In the plainest of terms, we are using it faster than we are discovering it," he said. "And, this is occurring at a time when the national interest requires a record-setting rate of exploration and development of new reserves."

Wallace told conference participants that despite a 10 percent decline in natural gas production in Texas between 1982 and 1983, Washington still effectively discourages increased exploration. He said Congress needs to listen to the statesmen among its members instead of the demagogues.

"I, for one, am sick and tired of reading pronouncements to the effect that a free, unregulated gas market will automatically create huge industry windfalls and widespread public poverty," he said.

Wallace took issue with the latest attempt in Congress to settle natural gas disputes, the Dingell Sharp bill, and called the notion that price controls will provide exploration and production incentives "absurd."

"Although this proposal is cleverly disguised as a consumer protection measure, Americans, I believe, would be worse off than before and ought to be forever unforgiving of such extreme shortsightedness," he said.

"The solution being offered now is unacceptable," he continued. "It will not produce one cubic foot of natural gas. It is demagoguery of the rankiest form to ignore the issue of adequate supply and embrace the political expediency of price controls supposedly in the interest of consumers."

Wallace told the conference that "governmental pricing and regulatory schemes must be put aside, individual regions must their squabbling and look beyond their own borders and toward national energy interest, development of alternative fuels must be vigorously pursued, and energy and environmental conflicts must be tempered."

He advocated a "Texas" answer to the energy challenges of the state and nation through a pooling of talents and energies from the academic world, industry, government and from the public itself.

"This is no time for surrender, retreat, or defeatism," Wallace said. "It is a time for leadership."

Helping Hand Fund started for Gibbs

A "Helping Hand Fund" has been established at First National Bank of Sonora to aid one of our community's dear friends, G.G. "Toby" Gibbs.

Gibbs was employed by Republic Supply Co., in Sonora for many years, and as well known for his friendly nature and ready smile.

Toby is in trouble now, and needs the help of our generous community. He is currently in the Audie Murphy Veteran's Hospital in San Antonio awaiting leg amputation due to a long bout with cancer. His wife, Paralee is by his side.

If any of our readers would like to show the true Sonora spirit of giving, Roberta James at First National Bank will be collecting money for the fund. All donations are tax deductible.

Thanks for small towns

The following humorous item, headed, "Thanks for Small Towns, People Who Live there," appeared in a recent issue of the North Dakota Union Farmer, and as there are lots of small towns in the West, we pass it along:

YOU KNOW YOU ARE IN A SMALL TOWN WHEN

The runway of the airport is terraced.

The polka is more popular than disco on Saturday night.

Third Street is on the edge of Town.

Every sport is played in dirt.

The editor and publisher of the newspaper carry a camera at all times.

You don't use your turn signal because everyone knows which direction you are going.

You were born on June 13 and your family received gifts from the local merchants because you were the first baby of the year.

You speak to each dog you pass by name, and he wags at you by name.

You dial a wrong number and talk for 15 minutes anyway.

You are run off Main Street by a combine.

You can't walk for exercise because every car that passes offers you a ride.

You get married and the local paper devotes a quarter page to the story.

You drive into the ditch five miles out of town and the word gets back before you do.

The biggest business in town sells farm machinery.

You write a check on the wrong bank and it covers for you.

Pickup trucks on Main Street outnumber cars three to one.

You miss a Sunday at Church and receive well cards.

Someone asks how you feel then listens to what you have to say.

Thank God for small towns and the people who live in them.

Forty years since Normandy D-Day

Forty years ago this week - on June 6, 1944 - what is still known as the greatest amphibious assault in history began.

Troops of the Allied Expeditionary Force - composed of our country's brave soldiers, along with those from Great Britain, Canada, Holland and Poland, as well as the French freedom fighters - stormed the beaches of Normandy, France on that early June morning. Strong support was provided by Allied forces in the air and on the sea.

The landings at Normandy, on what is now known throughout the free world as D-Day, marked the beginning of the liberation of Europe and ushered in what has become the longest period of peace in Europe during this century.

The sheer numbers and heroics are still awesome. Four years of planning and preparation were spent so that the almost three million troops assembled in southern Britain could cross the English Channel to France. Five separate beachheads were assigned to be taken, with the United States responsible for two, code-named Omaha and Utah.

In the early predawn hours, Allied aircraft began taking off, ferrying troops and supplies to be dropped off into the flooded countryside of Normandy. At 6:30 a.m., the first wave of American assault craft were hitting the beaches. And, as the light dawned on June 6, the churning sea was full of sailing vessels - some 5,000 ships in all - from the giant battleships like the Texas, to approximately 1,500 smaller amphibious landing vessels.

Throughout the day, the battle raged intensely, as the five Allied Divisions hit the beaches and began to move forward.

As night began to fall on what became known as "The Longest Day," the American forces had taken Utah beach with relatively little opposition and joined forces with paratroopers already dropped inland. Our Allies had overwhelmed the beaches termed Gold, June, and Sword and had already advanced.

The bloodiest fighting took place at Omaha Beach, where 100-foot high cliffs had to be scaled to move forward - a beach staunchly defended by a crack German division on practice maneuvers in France after intense fighting on the Eastern Front. By the end of the day, however, our American forces held the ridge overlooking Omaha Beach and had moved about a mile inland.

Two-thirds of our forces had landed at Omaha Beach and 90 percent of our 1,465 casualties - officially defined as those killed, wounded, or missing - occurred there. Total Allied casualties that day were in the range of 10,000 troops.

D-Day marked the beginning of the end of the War in Europe. By the latter part of July, over 800,000 Americans had landed on the Continent. On August 24, the Allies reached the gates of Paris. While there remained blood to be shed and battles to be won, victory was finally declared on May 8, 1945, eleven months after the D-Day assault.

This week, pageantry and ceremony punctuate the quiet calm of Normandy, as the soldiers who fought and the Heads of State who now serve, join together in a time of tribute to the freedom which endures.

The Alliance forged over forty years ago on the Western Front to free Europe from Hitler's grip continues steadfast, and we remain committed to the defense of Western Europe through our membership in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization - an organization made possible by the international cooperation exemplified on D-Day.

Nations vanquished in the war - notably West Germany - are now firmly rooted in the Western Alliance. Our uneasy alliance with the Soviet Union on the Eastern Front during the war dissolved at war's end as the Soviets extended their sphere of influence into Eastern Europe. Today we recognize that the continued adventurism of this former ally and its surrogates remains a real threat.

As we join with our Allies in celebrating the ultimate victory inaugurated by D-Day, we must continue our unwavering commitment to this vital region and its stability. It is the willingness and dedication of our people and our Allies to remain strong and well-prepared that will ensure this lasting peace.

TAX BREAK ON HOME SALES

Certain taxpayers who sell their home can exclude up to $125,000 of the sale's gain from taxable income.

Taxpayer's who are 55 or older or married to someone 55 or older can make this election when they sell a home. The home must have served as the principal residence for three or more years during the five-year period immediately preceding the sale.

"This option for taxpayer's is a provision of the Economic Recovery Tax Act of 1981," points out Dr. Don Stebbins, real estate specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. "The intent of the provision is to allow older citizens to liquidate the equity in their home and enjoy a higher income during retirement without incurring an excessive tax burden."

One of the important restrictions in the provision is that a taxpayer can use the election only once, notes Stebbins. Once selected, it is building upon both spouses regardless of any future transaction or remarriage.

"Also, taxpayer's should be aware that if they exclude less than $125,000 gain, the difference is forever forfeited," the specialist points out.

Another consideration concerns buying or building a replacement home. If this is done within two years of the original sale, older citizens also reduce their tax liability by the normal rollover provision applicable to everyone. Thus, 55 or older taxpayers can use both the rollover provision and the special $125,000 exclusion for the same transaction, Stebbins says.

"Older taxpayers should seek professional assistance as they make their decisions," recommends Stebbins. "It's especially important for farmers, ranchers and others who use property partly as a home and partly for business to obtain professional guidance."

be done only with a leash according to the above mentioned ordinance.

To allow a dog to roam free especially one that may not been vaccinated against rabies, is inviting a case of rabies infested with the deadly disease. In turn, the domestic animal can expose any person or animal that it comes in contact with.

Rabies vaccinations are not expensive, take only a few minutes and are virtually painless to the animal.

On the other hand, human rabies vaccine is approximately $350 per person and very painful to the individual, not to mention almost always avoidable if you have your pet vaccinated regularly.

The Rabies Control Act of 1981 (State Law) requires that all dogs and cats be vaccinated against rabies by the age of 4 months, and annually thereafter. Vaccination of cats should especially be encouraged because of the current low level of rabies immunity in the cat population, and because of their frequent contact with rabid wildlife. Cat rabies is much more serious problem than dog rabies in all of Texas except along the U.S. - Mexican border.

Take just few minutes from your busy schedule and have you pet inoculated against rabies. Also, follow the city ordinances and report any violators and strays. That is the best way to stop a rabies epidemic from getting started.

Remember that the Sonora Police Department or any other law enforced agency cannot act on something that has not been reported and that they know nothing about. If that dog is bitten by a rabid animal, it is a horrible, slow, painful death.

Other ordinances relating to the "stray animals" ordinance include:

Section 5-5 Penalty for violations--A person violating any provisions of this chapter shall be fined not ot exceed two hundred dollars ($200), for each violation, upon conviction. (Ord. of 1-18-83, sec. 5-41)

Section 5-6 Habitual violators-- Upon the second conviction of any person(s) for violation of any provision of this chapter, the fine shall be not less than seventy-five dollars ($75) nor more than two hundred dollars ($200); upon the third or subsequent conviction of any person(s) for violation of any provision of this chapter, the fine shall be not less than nor more than two hundred dollars ($200). (Oed. of 1-18-83, Sec. 5-42)

Section 5-30 same--Duty of officers to impound-- The animal control officer or any law enforcement officer is authorized to impound an animal which strays in violation of this chapter. In the event an animal is on private property or property of the animal's owner, the impounding officer may enter the property for the purpose of impoundment or issuance of a citation, or both. (Ord. of 1-18-83 Sec.5-23)

Section 5-31 Notice-- The impounding officer shall, upon impounding any animal, attempt to notify the owner of such animal. If the animal is tagged, the animal control officer must give notice to the owner by leaving the notice at the residence of the owner or by mailing the notice to the owner. If the animal is not tagged, the animal control officer shall post three (3) notices in public places in the city, one of which shall be at city hall. All notices shall describe the animal impounded and shall state that unless the animal is redeemed, it will be sold or destroyed on the tenth day after delivery or posting of such notice. (Ord. of 1-18-83, sec. 5-24)

Other ordinances are included in the Code of Ordinances, City of Sonora, Texas which is available for inspection at city hall on the corner of Concho and Main Streets.

Meats in your baby's diet

A child is never too young to start learning good eating habits, but that doesn't mean parents should start feeding meat to their youngsters before the child is eight months old.

"By eight to 10 months of age, the baby is used to eating solid foods and has a digestive system ready to absorb the protein in meats," says Marilyn Haggard, Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service nutritionist.

Although meat is a good source of protein, most babies get plenty of protein from milk. The most important contribution meat can make to a baby's diet is iron because iron deficiency continues to be a health problem for many youngsters, says Haggard. Beef also provides B-complex vitamins.

"The meat chosen for a baby should be tender and juicy with no gristle, fat or bone. A blender is especially handy for producing a suitable consistency," she says. "Purchasing strained meats can be much more expensive than fixing you own."

When babies become toddlers, they will like meat in a form they can handle, such as cold meatballs, small tender beef chunks or thin slices of frankfurters.

Parents shouldn't worry needlessly about much their toddlers eat. Their appetites, matched to smaller needs, often don't satisfy the parent's beliefs about how much a child should eat. "Children rarely go hungry deliberately," Haggard says. "They usually eat as much as they need."

"If your child is ever curious, bright-eyed, with solid-feeling flesh and more energy than you know what to do with, he or she is probably eating enough," says the nutritionist.

Public Notice

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company has filed a tariff with the Public Utility Commission of Texas to make end user common line charges associated with Centrex CO service equal to those to be billed to Private Branch Exchange service. The Commission has suspended the proposed tariff until October 1, 1984, or before, and assigned the matter to Docket No. 5686.

The equalization of end user common line charges for Centrex CO service is to be accomplished by a reduction in Centrex service charges. The net effect of the Centrex service charge adjustment and an interstate end user common line charge will be an increase in total billing.

Persons who wish to intervene or otherwise participate in these proceedings should notify the Commission as soon as possible. A request to intervene, participate, or for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757. Further information may also be obtained by calling the Public Utility Commission Consumer Affairs Division at (512) 458-0223 or (512) 458-0227, or (512) 458-0221 teletypewriter for the deaf.

WTU files for rate increase

West Texas Utilities Company has filed for an increase in its electric rates for retail customers.

Local Manager Earl Johnson said the application was filed Friday June 8, a full year since WTU's last rate application, and is a systemwide request for higher rates. Simultaneous filings were made in all incorporated towns and with the Public Utility Commission of Texas at Austin for an increase in rural areas, unincorporated towns and in 21 municipalities which have ceded jurisdiction over electric rates.

The proposal would produce an annual increase in total revenue of $30,845,695. This amounts to 12.4 per cent.

Johnson said the additional revenue is necessary to carry out WTU's current heavy construction program, which includes a new coal-fired power plant at Oklaunion near Vernon.

"By the time these rates become effective, we will have spent $167 million on the Oklaunion Power station and related projects," Johnson said. "Our last rate increase was not enough to carry us through this construction program, which is essential to continued reliable electric service to our customers."

WTU had requested an increase of $26.6 million in its filing in June, 1983. A hearing in that case was held at Austin in September, and the final PUC order granting about half the requested amount became effective January 4, 1984.

The Oklaunion plant will be completed in late 1986.

almost 10 years after WTU's newest existing generating unit was completed at Fort Phantom Power Station near Abilene.

Citing a "light at the end of the tunnel," Johnson said WTU's spending should taper off as the construction program nears completion. Also, since coal is much cheaper for generating electricity than natural gas or oil, the fuel cost should be more stable after the new plant comes on line.

No major changes in rate structure are included in WTU's proposal. The requested rates would mean that a residential customer using 600 kilowatt-hours a month would pay $7.55 more each month for electricity. A commercial customer using 1,700 kWh would pay 19.37 more. These amounts include fuel costs.

WTU serves customers in 161 separate communities, 82 of which operates as active incorporated towns. The rate case filings were made in 61 towns, while information on the rate case was made available to the 21 incorporated towns which have ceded jurisdiction, to two inactive municipalities and to two unincorporated towns.

The 21 towns which have ceded jurisdiction and now rely on the PUC to decide their cases are Albany, Chillicothe, Dickens, Eldorado, Goree, Hedley, Lakeview, Matador, McCamey, Mertzon, Moran, Paint Rock, Presidio, Roaring Springs, Robert Lee, Roby, Rotan, Rule, Shamrock, Trent, and Weinert.

The inactive municipalities are Odell and Sylvester. The unincorporated towns are Fort Davis and Ozona.

Texas produce at "peak"

The "fresh approach" is the in-thing again this year. Fresh vegetables are plentiful in Texas now, so make sure you get your share.

"Ask for fruits and vegetables grown in Texas," suggest Tom Longbrake, horticulturist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. "You'll be supporting Texans who earn their livelihood from growing your groceries."

Texas supplies broccoli, cabbage, carrots, spinach, lettuce and potatoes in early spring followed by cantaloupes, cucumbers, honeydews, squash, peppers and tomatoes. Blackberries, plums and early peaches will be available in June along with watermelons, blackeyed peas and okra.

"Cost saving produce can be passed on to consumers by farm markets who sell locally grown produce through reduced cost in transportation, packaging and refrigeration."

Tomatoes are the most popular vegetable bought at roadside markets followed by watermelons, peaches, blackeyed peas, okra, squash, new potatoes and green beans, says the horticulturist.

So, "get fresh" with Texas produce. Local radio and newspapers ads can tell you where fresh produce is available.
