THE HEARTS OF every resident of the Texas Panhandle, as well as those from across a wide section of the country, go out to the residents of Claude, Texas, following the tragic deaths this week of five of their teenagers in the ice-related traffic wreck.

With the two earlier teenage fatalities related to the fire truck-train accident, Claude has experienced a "double-whammy," that no community, large or small, should have to endure.

Our friend, Rev. Richard Grisham, has discussed the tragedy much better than we could ever do, and we hope you'll turn over to Page 3 of this issue and read his thoughts concerning the tragedy in his "Looking Up" column.

Scotter Russell's sister in Wisconsin had heard the news that far away. It's bad that the Panhandle had to suffer such a loss to make the national news.

FEBRUARY IS HEART month, and the American Heart Association as well as the Texas Department of Health uses the occasion to promote awareness of heart disease and other heart-related health problems.

Figures we received this week from the TDH revealed that deaths from heart disease, strokes and hypertension (high blood pressure) together claimed 51,123 Texas residents during the calendar year 1993. This surprisingly amounts to roughly 40 per cent of the 134,417 deaths of Texans during the year.

"Not only is heart disease the leading killer every year in Texas and the nation, but the other cardiovascular diseases appear to be increasing at a rapid pace," said Tom Pollard, director of the Statistical Services Division for the TDH.

As an example, Pollard pointed out that deaths from hypertension increased from 618 to 918—a full 50 per cent—in 1993 from the previous year. This is a pretty staggering statistic.

To combat the prevalence of cardiovascular disease in Texas, the TDH, along with the Texas Medical Assn. and other health groups have joined in a new initiative which officially began February 1. The state's promotion coincided with the launch of a similar national initiative.

A spokesman for the Texas Department of Health said that the coalition's strategies will include both short-term remedial measures and long-range programs to eliminate the causes of cardiovascular disease. "Although CVD is the most prevalent killer, it is still considered preventable, since many of the causes of coronary and circulatory disease can be prevented or controlled," said Dr. David Smith, Texas Commissioner of Health.

Research shows that 78 per cent of adult Texans have at least one of the six major risk factors for CVD. These include tobacco use, physical inactivity, high blood pressure, high blood cholesterol, obesity and diabetes.

Charlene Laramy, director of the TDH Chronic Disease Prevention Program, explained that the state's initiative will establish a coalition to create plans for curbing cardiovascular disease among high-risk groups of Texans by promoting exercise programs, better nutrition and more healthful lifestyles.

Members of the coalition will come from both the private and public sectors. They will collect information, conduct public and professional education, coordinate outreach and available services, promote environmental improvements and enlist community leadership.

Although the coalition members for years have separately operated programs to prevent and reduce cardiovascular deaths in Texas, the new initiative marks the first time the leading groups and agencies have combined their efforts toward common goals.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor,

The Texas Legislators plan to spend $187,000,000.00 to refurbish the State Capitol. They have announced terminating about two-hundred employees, cutting back on programs such as Human-Resources, Re-habilitation, Education and others, can't find money for school teachers pay raises.

Now look back at the following item from 1992, ashtrays at $400.00 each because they matched the stairway railings and no doubt the capitol has by now been declared a smoke-free building.

"In state government, ability to pay is not a consideration.

That became obvious last week when the Austin American-Statesman reported the state is purchasing 90 trash cans, at $901.46 each, and 74 "sand urn" ashtrays, at $400.56 apiece.

Meanwhile, state budget officials say the state will have to cut vital services or raise taxes $4 billion to $6 billion during the next two-year budget cycle.

These trash cans and ashtrays represent about $110,000 of the $1 million of the taxpayers' money that is being spent on furnishings for the new underground annex to the State Capitol.

Thus far, state officials make no apology for their extravagance.

The Capitol curator and Preservation Board purchase supervisor concede the new trash cans and ashtrays cost several times what the state paid for the ones currently used in the Capitol. But these furnishings, they say, are bound to be more durable than less-expensive alternatives -- and they match the pattern on the stairways railings.

Texas Rep. John Smithee, R-Amarillo, is among those who are upset. "In tough economic times," Smithee said, "I think this is sending the wrong message." True. But it wouldn't send such a good message even in good times.

If this is the way the state spends money when it's facing a $4 billion-to-$6 billion shortfall, one can only guess what happens when there is a surplus.

If all state officials are this insensitive to the taxpayers, it's easy to understand why Texas has been subjected to five major tax increases -- two by record amounts -- in the past eight years."

Runaway Cow Nabbed After Daring Escape!

Friona law officials and a volunteer cowboy assisted in rounding up and capturing a fugitive heifer that jumped from the truck that was hauling it to Excel on Tuesday, in the city limits of Friona on Highway 60.

The large animal, headed to the slaughter house with the rest of the truckload, led the lawmen and volunteers on a slow chase a-la the O.J. Simpson episode; this time the heifer being the fugitive, and the Reeve Lake area substituting for the freeway.

The heifer jumped out of its truck near the Friona Motors-Sonic area on West Highway 60, and after standing alongside the highway for awhile, began to ease over into the lake area. The lawmen and volunteers then worked to keep it in the vacant area and away from the highway traffic.

Trey Ellis, Department of Public Safety officer, said that a motorist called the Friona Police Department about mid-morning Tuesday and reported that a cattle truck was headed to Friona (from the east), and that the back gate was wide open and several cattle were poised at the back "just looking out."

So the FPD was on the lookout for the truck, but for awhile they could not get the attention of the truck's driver. He managed to get through both stop lights on Highway 60, and was contacted about the time he passed Hurst Real Estate on the highway.

The one brave heifer had jumped out by the time the driver stopped and got the gates fixed.

"The swing gate (outside gate) had come unhooked, causing the sliding gate (main gate) to get loose. We could've had 20 to 30 cattle out, if they had had a mind to jump," Ellis said.

Shortly after the trucker stopped, John S. Baker came by and noticed the situation. He hurried out to his place west of Friona, loaded his horse into a trailer and came back to the scene.

The calf stayed in the small grove of trees and bushes for awhile, but Baker eased it out of the trees and drove it north, away from the highway.

Baker roped the heifer and the episode appeared to be about over.

But the fugitive had one more trick up its "sleeve."

It laid still and motionless,

Looking Up!

By Richard Grisham, Pastor
First Baptist Church, Bovina

The hearts of the families and friends of the seven young people from Claude, recently killed in accidents, are overwhelmed in shock and grief.

The questions come: How do you handle such terrific and horrible grief? How do you cope with so much sudden tragedy experienced in such a short time?

As human beings we are vulnerable because we love deeply. It is so hard to imagine that many young lives being snatched so quickly by death from one community so similar to our own.

Hopefully we will never have to deal with a deluge of heart-ache of that magnitude--by God's grace!

Does that mean God did not love those seven young people from Claude. Of course not, for they were all fine, wonderful, Christian young people, serving their community well, enjoying life and having fun as only teenagers can.

They were volunteers trying to help their fellow man, caring youth who stopped by the hospital to cheer a sick Sunday School teacher they loved. God loved them dearly, just as He loves each of us.

I feel that the pastors of Claude are doing an admirable job of counseling and comforting the other youth and people of Claude.

The Church of Christ pastor on the evening news said some wonderful things about how they must cope with the pain.

The Methodist pastor of the five youth who most recently lost their lives also expressed some very appropriate words. Being a pastor myself, I pray that they will continue to have wisdom to deal with the issues at hand.

One divine resource for dealing with great tragedy is prayer. Even if we know not what to say or what to ask, we can find great solace just by kneeling in the presence of God.

The scripture promises that at such time the Holy Spirit groans with us and offers up prayer on our behalf (Romans 8:26, 27).

As the Psalmist so often discovered, God is big enough and gracious enough to handle and accept our deepest emotions: anger, heartache, disappointment, grief, sorrow, despair, and yes, even doubt. He is there to soothe our deepest pain.

Another way we cope when confused, shocked, and devastated emotionally is through togetherness. Just being there for one another as family, friends, and community. We find within each other strength and grace to share.

The sound of a familiar voice, the touch of tender love, the presence of a collective spirit of caring are essential. A corporate faith of church and community, such as the people of Claude are now exhibiting, bouys up the individuals who cannot stand alone. Together we carry each other along to face one moment at a time. As one united soul, we somehow find grace to carry on.

Need I say that our prayers for our sister community of Claude are essential? And may the Lord help us all here in and around Bovina to appreciate the many fine young people God has given to us a little more. They need our prayers. Hold them closer to your heart than ever before. Do not take them for granted. They deserve our love.

Let us not dwell upon the thoughts of tragedy. Neither let us become over protective. Rather join me in commending our children and youth into God's care.

Area FFA Members To Exhibit Livestock At Houston Show

Thirteen Friona and ten Bovina FFA members will be joining other 4-H and FFA members from throughout Texas for show ring competition at the upcoming Houston Livestock Show, February 17 through March 5 at the Astrohall.

These FFA and 4-H exhibitors compete in one of two divisions of the Houston Livestock Show--the junior show division. The other division, the open show, attracts its exhibitors from the world's agricultural industry, who are primarily professional breeders and ranchers.

Friona exhibitors will include Andy Carthel, Leslie Fangman, Mac Fields, Trevor Fields, Tania Hand, Melissa Hardin, J'Lond Jarecki, M'Kell Jarecki, Justin Jeter, Bradley Perez, Gerrod Salyer, Jessica Smith and Amanda Taylor.

Those attending from Bovina are Ryan Dyer, Robert Kent, Lance McClaran, Kevin Mitchell, Krysta Morris, Jim Prather, Jake Steelman, Levi Steelman, Jason Stone and Lance Teague.

Entries in both the open and junior shows combine with horse show entries to make the Houston Livestock Show the world's largest.

Representing 900 Texas 4-H clubs and FFA chapters, the junior show is expected to exceed 14,000 entries this year. A variety of animals is shown in the junior show division: market steers, market swine, market sheep, market poultry, beef and dairy heifers, breeding sheep, goats, commercial steers and breeding rabbits.

The four market animal categories (steer, sheep, swine and poultry) represent animals raised by the exhibitor as food sources. Top animals in each of these categories are eligible for their individual market auctions. Total money paid in 1994 at the four junior show auctions exceeded $4 million.

"Our junior show is the highlight of our livestock exhibition, placing an emphasis on education, supervised instruction and fair competition," said Don Jobs, Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo assistant general manager.

In addition to world class livestock competition for two weeks, superior horse show competition also is on the event's agenda. The International Cutting Horse Contest, featuring contestants from several nations, kicked off horse show competition on Wednesday, February 15. The 1995 Horse Show also will feature competition in seven different breeds: Appaloosa, Arabian, Half Arabian, Miniature, Paint, Palomino and Quarter Horse.

The daily show parade returns this year. This colorful attraction features the famous Clydesdale horses, fire trucks, Astroworld singers and dancers, a train, music and about one hundred youngsters, rounded up each day from the show grounds, riding on floats, fire trucks and the train. The parade forms outside the south entrance of the Astrohall and travels throughout the complex. The daily show parade starts at 5 p.m. on weekdays and at 3 p.m. on Saturdays and Sundays.

All net proceeds from the annual Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo provide funds for scholarships and research projects throughout the state. Currently, more than 1,500 students receive some form of show-sponsored financial assistance. Since the first scholarship was given in 1957, more than 11,500 awards have been presented to Texas youth at a cost exceeding $35 million.

The 1995 carnival will feature approximately fifty of today's newest and up-to-date rides, roller coasters, fun houses, hundreds of games and prizes and every kind of food imaginable. Many park benches and picnic tables also are available to accommodate carnival visitors.

New to the 1995 show is a special attraction in the Astrohall, the World of Cattle exhibit. This hands-on, interactive display is designed to educate and inform visitors about the nutritional value of beef, the benefits of beef cattle by-products and the importance of food safety issues. Show patrons will learn all about cattle and the species' effect on every aspect of consumers' lives. Children will receive an activity packet as they walk through this educational display.

Show patrons will again be able to enjoy the milking parlor, one of show's most informative exhibits. This entire milk production process, from the cow to the grocery store, is colorfully presented. Actual milking demonstrations are conducted daily throughout the duration of the show and include special commentary by university professors, along with video presentations.

Running pigs take to the track during the pig racing event, held February 17-March 5 in Astrohall Plaza at 10 a.m., noon and 2, 4, 5, 6, 7 and 8 p.m.

Another fun family feature will be the petting zoos, with three locations for young and old alike to enjoy. Children of all ages also will be able to enjoy elephant and pony rides.

Scooter's Scoops

By Scooter Russell

We were in Spearman during the past week and didn't get home until Tuesday night because of the icy conditions on the highways. On Tuesday I drove back and left Spearman all cold and frozen.

Two hours later I drove into Hereford and the temperature was seventy-one degrees. Such a drastic change in the weather all over the country this week.

Spearman got about three inches of snow but Bovina only a trace. The chill factor was about fourteen below for a couple of days up there and was also below zero here too. Warmer weather is predicted for this weekend and everyone is looking forward to it.

NEWS AROUND TOWN

Montie Turner celebrated her 90th birthday at the Community Room of the First Bank Sunday. In spite of the cold, windy conditions over forty people came to honor her on that special day. The reception was hosted by her daughter, Arlene, and Montie's grandchildren.

We will have pictures by next week and hopefully a story. Montie and husband, George, came to Bovina forty years ago. She's a very sweet lady and loved dearly.

Buster Morgan was hospitalized for a couple of days and nights in the Friona hospital. I talked with him and he said they released him a week ago Thursday and he is feeling much better. He said he was having a little asthma and breathing problems. Buster said, "And the rest of the story is cigarettes, cigarettes, and cigarettes..."

June Gay McMeans and husband Bob have gone to M. C. Anderson Hospital in Houston where June will have further tests to find out what kind of treatments will be necessary and where she will have to go to take the treatments, according to her mom, Joe Looney. June and Bob will be home Saturday of this week.

Donald and Nita Dale had company last weekend. Donald's sister, Brenda, and her husband, Vernon Conner and their son Gerald came to Bovina. Nita said they bought cattle from Roy Hartzog for their ranch near San Angelo. The family enjoyed a good visit together.

Alvoy Kersey was released from the Clovis Hospital this week. Friends said family members visited over the weekend. Alvoy has been hospitalized in the Clovis Hospital for a long time. Our thoughts are with him and his family.

Velma Grisham underwent outpatient surgery on Wednesday morning of this week at the Deaf Smith County Hospital in Hereford. Brother Richard called friends and said everything went real well.

Ryn Rains is in Bovina this week visiting with her parents and working for her dad, Jack Rains, at the Parmer County Spraying Service while the secretary is on vacation. Ryn lives in Lubbock and does freelance computer work, she said. She will spend most of the week here before returning to Lubbock.

Bobby Wayne Englant, his wife, Kelly and their three-year-old son, Nicholas, came for a visit from Menomonie, Wisconsin. They came a week ago Friday and will fly back this Saturday. Bobby Wayne's parents are Bobby and Irma Jo Englant. Irma Jo said Bobby Wayne works as a maintenance electrician for the Ideal Overhead Door Company in a town near Menomonie.

On Wednesday the family went to Canyon to visit with Bobby Wayne's sister, Devanee and her husband Galen Cogburn and their new baby son, Andrew.

James Lee Calaway of Portales is a patient at Methodist Hospital and will undergo surgery on Thursday if all goes as planned.

James Lee suffered a ruptured spleen, according to his aunt, Ola Lee Jones. He was in the Methodist Hospital in Lubbock. His mom is Emmagene Calaway.

Our sympathies to Tony and Dottie Neal. Dottie's mother, Mary Littlejohn, passed away February 8 and Tony's grandmother, Bonnie Jones passed away February 1.

Funeral services were held for Mary Littlejohn, 80, in Southern California this week. She died in a convalescent home in Phoenix of lung cancer and had been seriously ill for the past eighteen months. She was survived by two daughters, Dottie, and Barbara Long of Newport Beach, California; seven grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Bonnie Jones, 85, died February 1 and funeral services were held February 11. She was survived by two sons, Sonny Jones of Muleshoe, a former resident of Bovina, and Richard Jones of Clovis; eight grandchildren and 18 great grandchildren. She was buried at the family cemetery on the Ben Hall ranch and Dottie said it was ten miles off the road near Taiban, New Mexico.

grandparents of a new baby boy, Andrew Isabel Marrufo.

Andrew's parents are Charlotte Quintana and Isabel Marrufo of Bovina.

Great grandparents are Ireneo and Gracie Ortiz of Bovina, Pat Quintana of Texico, Celina Quintana of Clovis; Mr. and Mrs. Santiago Romero and Mr. and Mrs. Pedro Marrufo.

The baby was born February 8.

Three ladies, Tammy Willard, Brenda Wilson and Cindy Venable presented Valentine cheer to several as they went around to the homes and sang to several couples on Tuesday, February 14. The couples want to express their appreciation for the lovely thought.

Jimmy and I attended a Valentine Dinner Theater in Spearman presented by the senior high youth group on Sunday night at the Methodist Church. Even though it was snowing and blowing there was a big crowd attending.

There was valet parking, escorts to take us into the building and more escorts to take us to the rooms where the dinner was served. The decorations were beautiful throughout the church and the entertainment was great. Our granddaughter sang a solo and we enjoyed that.

THINK ABOUT IT: The world is divided into two kinds of people—good ones and bad ones. The good ones decide which is which.

Have a great week and pray for rain.....Scooter.
