SISD reduces staff

BY CAROL JONES

Following a three-hour executive session Tuesday night, May 14, the seven member Sonora I.S.D. board of trustees announced that the district's projected financial conditions for the 1985-86 school year left them no choice but to declare the necessity for a reduction in force in the support staff. Several teachers were re-assigned at the same time in an all-out effort to reduce the salary budget.

James Bible, superintendent of schools for the district which encompasses all of Sutton County, said that the personnel cut was the last drastic measure in the board's attempt to overcome the severe budget tightening necessary if the district is to survive the catastrophic effects of the restructuring of state funding mandated by the passage of House Bill 72 in June of 1984.

"This district was in fine shape just this time last year", Bible continued, "with a big tax base and a low taxing rate. All that ended and will get worse before it gets better---with the passage of the reform bill," Bible added.

The lay-off affected primarily the educational aide staff, some of whom had been employed for up to nine years. With the local tax base going down due to the slump in oil and gas production, the elected officials had little choice but to cut personnel, according to another administrative spokesman.

Sonora has recently been notified that its state funding for the coming school year will be cut by approximately $500,000 from this year's funding. The reduction in force and reassignments, which affected a total of 16 employees, will cause the district to realize a savings of more than $231,000 over the present payroll costs.

In addition to the terminations, three teaching positions in the high school were discontinued---two of the involved teachers had already resigned. The vocational program will be revamped, doing away with the existing Distributive Education department, home economics will be handled by one teacher rather than two, and the high school choral music teacher slot will not be filled.

The board's decision Tuesday night rifted 11 educational aides slots and did away with 6 teacher slots.

Also following the executive session, the board authorized Bible to notify Dan Farmer that his son would not be reinstated on the S.H.S. football team for the coming year and to notify James Merrill that his son would have to talk to Coach Hopkins and do make-up work in order to be reinstated.

Farmer had approached the board in the first part of the meeting protesting the fact that his son had been removed from the football team because of snuff-dipping. Farmer stated that he did not feel it was just cause to not allow the student to play football his senior year.

Hopkins informed Farmer that he had warned Danny after a previous incident and had told him he would be dismissed if he was caught dipping.

The board decided to discuss the problem in executive session and notify Farmer the next morning.

Merrill was present at the meeting to protest the action taken against his son after his son gave blood in a recent blood drive in Sonora. John Merrill gave blood that day did not participate because of the warning to not do strenuous work for 24 hours after giving blood.

The others in the workout had lifted weights and run laps and Coach Snodgrass told Merrill that he could make up the laps by running one extra lap the following day and another extra lap the day after that.

James Merrill stated Tuesday night that he did not feel it was fair for his son to have to make that work up because he had done as he was encouraged by the teachers and given blood.

Coach Hopkins informed Merrill that makeup work was necessary to keep the athletes in shape.

This matter was also discussed in executive session.

John Merrill was given the opportunity to make up the laps and all work missed since Merrill quit the team. His father was informed Wednesday morning that he could talk to Coach Snodgrass about this and if Merrill was willing to do the makeup work, he would be reinstated on the team.

In other action, Tom McKenna reported that the new high school should reach completion by the last of February or the first of March, 1986.

Principals of the four schools reported a total of 1306 students enrolled in the school systems.

The new Blue Bird bus was to be delivered Friday or Monday and the board authorized payment to be made upon delivery.

Claudia Dempsey and Rita Hale approached the board asking permission for the National Honor Society to sell advertisements on a stadium seat that the club would sell during football games, basketball games and other school functions to raise money for a scholarship and a marble plate to be placed at the new high school. The board voted unanimously to allow the N.H.S. to do this.

Sonora High School's spring musical, "You're a Good Man, Charlie Brown", played for three performances last weekend to enthusiastic audiences. The directors were Terry Marrs and Bevely Caldwell. Pictured are Scott Miller [Charlie Brown], Rachel Stephen [Snoopy], Glen Love [Linus], Kristin Keel [Patty], Della Heffernan [Lucy], Erika Gremmel [Woodstock], and Teri Williams [Marcy].

Charlie Brown musical proves very successful

BY CAROL JONES

The final presentation of "You're a Good Man, Charlie Brown" ended with a standing ovation from the crowd of spectators who gathered Saturday night to watch the two-hour, two-act musical play.

The audience was treated to a well performed and comical production featuring all of the characters in the famous comic strip "Peanuts" by Charles Schulz, directed by Terry Marrs.

Scott Miller headed the cast as Charlie Brown who could never get the courage to talk to the cute little red headed girl.

Snoopy, also known as Rachel Stephen, was a cute character who did a very catchy song and dance routine in his excitement over finally being fed.

Woodstock, Erica Gremmel, found that "he" was not meant to be an owl because too much light in the eyes causes pain, and owls have big eyes.

Della Heffernan did a great rendition of Lucy, always trying to get Schroeder (Matt Ekstrum) to propose marriage. She also gave her "little" brother, Linus (or Glen Love as we know him), a rough time.

Meanwhile Schroeder has nothing on his mind but playing Beethoven on his tiny piano and he cringes each time Lucy kisses him.

Linus tried in Act I to abandon his blanket but just couldn't seem to do it. He proves to be a confidence builder for Lucy when everyone thinks she is too crabby.

Peppermint Patty (alias Kristen Keel) is a good friend to Lucy until Lucy dents Patty's bike. Patty falls madly in love with Pigpen who is played by Michael Hooper.

Pigpen is the filthiest creature around and only takes showers to settle the dust. His friends avoid any closeness with him due to his odor.

Marcy (Terri Williams) and Sally (Carol Cayce) are also interesting characters.

Marcy gets a 3 a.m. call from Patty when Patty decides she's in love with Pigpen.

Sally wishes on the first star she saw and gets frustrated when she doesn't get the pony she wished for.

All of the characters did a good job and the play was interesting to all from kids to adults.

Of course, the support system to the actors was the orchestra, directed by Bridgette Griffin, Bevely Caldwell, and John Gibson.

The orchestra consisted of Ms. Caldwell, piano; Gay Ann Dobbs, Angie Carrasco and Lynn Ducioame, flute; Karen Shaffer, Carrie Sorenson, Janet Barlemann, and Kristi McCurdy, clarinets; Debbie Shannon and Becca Hulsey, bass clarinets; Shaumarie Scoggins, tenor sax; Zane Dunnam, Sidonna Ridgeway, Rodney Haltom and Greg Anderson on trumpets; Courtney Cauthorn and Samantha Gregory on horns; Kathy Richter and Tracy Hulsey on trombones; John Gibson on bass; and Doug Martin, Victor Fuentes and Lisa Ducioame on percussion.

Sherri Marrs was responsible for the cute costumes and Jody Luttrell was in charge of the light.

The set crew consisted of Steve Harrison, Jody Luttrell, Matt Ekstrum and Kevin Taylor.

Jody Luttrell, Steve Harrison and Terry Duren were the light crew.

If you attended the musical one of the three nights you know how good it was.

If you missed it --- I'm sorry! It was an excellent performance by all who were involved.

Local man becomes new D.P.S. Trooper

The Texas Department of Public Safety has commissioned 85 new Texas troopers and assigned them to various duty stations throughout the state.

Trooper Gilberto R. Capuchina, 26, of Sonora received his commission in a special graduation ceremony in Austin. Colonel Jim Adams, director of the DPS, presented the badges to the new troopers.

Trooper Capuchina is to report to the new assignment in Arlington immediately to work in the Drivers License Service.

Adams said the men and women of this graduating class have been given some of the best police training available during their 18 week course at the DPS Academy in Austin. "Due to the variety of law enforcement related situations facing our troopers, we provided detailed training in criminal law, civil law, traffic accident investigation and dozens of other related police topics," Adams said.

"The trooper is traditionally a well-trained individual who is charged with the responsibility of providing the public with courteous service and the protection the citizens deserve," said Adams.

In addition to basic law enforcement training, the recruits were instructed in first aid, firearms use, traffic management, defensive survival techniques, drug identification and other law enforcement courses.

Jewels & Gems

by John Tedford

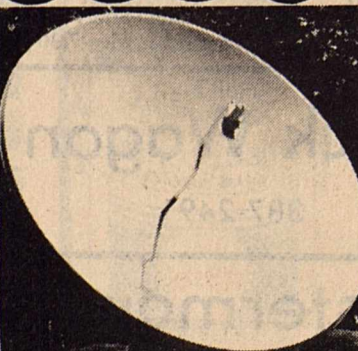

Gold is virtually indestructible. Jewelry that was buried in tombs 3,200 years before Christ and century-old coins found in long-since rotted ships at the bottom of the ocean gleam like new. The treasures of Tutankhamen that amaze us today were as beautiful when discovered in the 1920's as they were when they were placed in the boy king's tomb in 1358 B.C. Gold is not damaged by time or tarnish or by rust or corrosion. It is a truly noble metal. It can also be used and reused which is one reason there seems to be so much of it around. Actually, it man's entire history, there have been only 100,000 tons of it.

Share the Beauty of gold. At Tedford Jewelry you can select from a variety of gold and diamond jewelry, hand-picked by us from among the most respected New York designers. It is our policy to make available in Sonora the fine quality jewelry and superb designs found only in America's finest jewelry stores. You'll find it costs very little more to buy the best.

Hint: Gold that has been correctly alloyed will last as long as the diamond it holds -- forever.

Formaldehyde highly prized

Formaldehyde is highly prized in modern industry for its qualities as a preservative and bonding agent. It's widely used and pressed work products like particleboard, plywood, fiberboard, and paneling—all products used in furniture manufacture, new home construction, home remodeling and renovation and mobile home construction.

When formaldehyde is used to make certain products, some of it may not bond or be completely integrated in the mixture. This "free formaldehyde" is a problem because it can be released from the products, especially when they are new. And the release of the formaldehyde in some products increases in the presence of heat and humidity.

Formaldehyde can irritate eyes, nose and throat, cause difficulty in breathing and other problems, depending on the concen-

Homemaker Update by Gail Rucker

Some people report headaches, fatigue, memory loss and nausea as a result of formaldehyde exposure.

According to the National Academy of Sciences, only about 20 percent of the populations risks adverse reactions to exposure to the low level of formaldehyde present in conventional homes. Those who already suffer from chronic respiratory problems, young children and the elderly may be more susceptible to formaldehyde exposure.

Levels of formaldehyde emissions in older conventional homes are usually not significant.

However, new furniture, the addition of new kitchen cabinets or paneling or using particleboard for subflooring during a remodeling project may pose problems. So if you are planning to remodel or renovate consider buying or specifying products that are known to emit low levels of formaldehyde.

If you suspect high emissions of formaldehyde in your home, use vinyl wallcoverings, insulating paints or two coats of polyurethane or varnish to seal bare pressed wood surfaces. Also provide additional ventilation on hot, humid days when emission levels are at their highest.

Keep blood pressure low

Prolonging your life is one incentive for keeping high blood pressure under control, but here's another: you may be able to save money on your health and life insurance premiums.

The American Heart Association in Texas wants you to know that if you had uncontrolled high blood pressure when you applied for your insurance policy, you've probably paying a higher premium than you should. By proving your blood pressure is under control, you can ask for a review of your case and re-rate your policy.

Each insurance company has its own requirements, some requiring evidence of control for one year, others for two. Your agent can help you determine what your insurer requires.

High blood pressure occurs when the smallest arteries of the body become narrowed and the heart must pump harder to force the blood through.

High blood pressure—or hypertension, as it is sometimes called—is a major cause of heart attack and stroke. It significantly reduces life expectancy, and the higher the blood pressure, the greater the reduction in length of life.

Yale University's Marvin Moser, M.D., a veteran Heart Association volunteer, worked with others to survey major U.S. insurance companies. In a report to the Journal of the American Medical Association (JAMA), they reported that the dollars saved through insurance programs for controlled hypertens-ions can be substantial.

The study cited that a 35-year-old man with uncontrolled high blood pressure of "170 over 95" would pay a premium of approximately $847 annually for a $100,000 five-year-term life insurance policy. But the same man with normal or blood pressure under control would pay a premium of $410, a savings of $437.

In the case of a typical whole life policy, the same person with uncontrolled high blood pressure would pay 28 percent more than the "normal range" person.

These savings also apply to your health insurance plan. Many health insurance companies use a sliding scale—the greater the risk, the higher the premium. A 35-year-old person with blood pressure of "150 over 95" typically pays 15 to 25 percent over the standard premium. And a person with "180 over 102" would pay an extra 75 to 100 percent.

The stance of the insurance industry on blood pressure control contains an important message, according to James M. Atkins, M.D., President of the American Heart Association in Texas.

"Insurance professionals have reviewed cases over many years. Based on the facts, they're willing to back, with millions of dollars, what the American Heart Association has taught for decades: a person with uncontrolled high blood pressure is at risk for stroke, heart attack, and other diseases."

Atkins said. "But a person who keeps high blood pressure under control—provided that prior neglect hasn't permanently damaged any organs—can live as long and healthily as a normal person."

"People who have worked to control their high blood pressure deserve the same consideration as people who have normal blood pressure," Atkins said. "Like any other major purchase, we should approach buying insurance as careful consumers. Look for the insurer and the policy that will give the most credit for your efforts to become a healthier person."

Although not included in the JAMA study, employees in group health insurance plans can benefit financially if group members keep their blood pressure under control. Although this isn't a direct savings, it can be beneficial. It is based on the employer's past experience with the entire group—how much the insurer paid for claims in the past. When members keep their blood pressure under control, fewer will fall victim to heart attack and stroke, meaning that the employer may pay lower premiums in the future.

"People with high blood pressure need motivation to stay with their treatment," Atkins said. "As we identify incentives such as reduced rates for insurance, lifetime control can be somewhat easier."

For more information on controlling high blood pressure, please contact your local office of the American Heart Association, listed in the White Pages of your telephone directory.

The Complete Message

'It was He who was handed over to death for our transgressions and then was raised for our justification'. Romans 4:25

A well-dressed gentleman was standing in front of the display window of an art store, looking at a painting of the Crucifixion.

As he stood there, a little boy in dirty blue jeans and a tattered shirt walked up and stood beside him - also intent on the painting.

Pointing to the picture, the man asked the boy: 'Do you know who that is, hanging on the cross?' 'Oh, yes sir', came the quick answer, 'that's the Savior'.

As he spoke, the small boy's eyes showed surprise and pity at the ignorance of the unknown gentlemen. Then, after a pause, with an evident desire to enlighten the man, he added: 'Them's the soldiers, the Roman soldiers', and with a long sigh, 'that lady crying there is His mother'.

Then after a moment of silence he added: 'They killed Him, mister. They KILLED Him'. Together they studied the painting in silence until finally the man tousled the boy's hair affectionately and walked away, disappearing into the crowd.

He had turned a corner and walked a half block when suddenly he heard the shrill voice of the boy, who was making his way thru the crowd: 'Hey, mister! Mister!' He turned and waited for the eager youngster to catch up with him. Almost out of breath, the boy panted his excited information: 'I wanted to tell you, He rose again! He rose again!'

What a message! Whether the little boy realized it or not, he would never again in all his life deliver a message of greater importance. No satellite, no landing on the moon, no interplanetary travel would ever provide a more important headline than the one his youthful lips had just spoken: 'Hey, mister! He rose again! God's greatest message to man is the message of His Son Jesus Christ, who was nailed to the Cross at Calvary nearly 2,000 years ago. But the message: 'They killed Him' is an incomplete message. The Gospel is 'He rose again!' Whether the message is spoken by the youngster in our story, by you and I, or by the pen of the apostle Paul: 'It was He who was handed over to death for our transgressions and then was raised for our justification'; it is the most important message of the history of the world.

Every 70 seconds, cancer claims another life. Every day, 1,230 Americans die of cancer. This year, 450,000 men, women and children in this country will not win their personal fight against this disease. We wish it wasn't so. We are dedicated, in fact, to making sure that one day, it will not be so. We have done so much, but it hasn't been enough. There have been many lives we couldn't save. Our friends. Our relatives. Our neighbors. We cannot bring them back. To honor their memory, we will work a little harder. We will do a little better. We will give a little more of our time. We will commit a little additional piece of ourselves. To honor them. On Memorial Day. And every day.

1985-86 regulations announced

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department has given the deer hunters in Texas a present this year. The 1985 white-tailed deer hunting season will be a week longer. This is good news to the hunters and merchants in hunting areas, but may be a bit unwelcome by landowners.

On May 2 the Parks and Wildlife Commission authorized the opening of the white-tailed deer season each year on the second Saturday in November. Opening day for the 1985 season will be November 9, and it will run for 58 days until the first Sunday in January which will be January 5, 1986. In the past the season has opened on the Saturday nearest November 15 and extended for 51 days.

According to the TP&WD the changes were adopted to offer greater hunting opportunity and to eliminate confusion as to the opening date.

Another major change in the hunting regulations is the addition to another antlerless deer to the bag limit.

The increase in the bag limit will make it possible for a hunter to harvest five deer, not to include more than four whitetails (no more than two bucks) or two mule deer per season. This increase is not statewide as some 92 counties still have a one buck limit and the antlerless permits will be established after annual deer census studies.

As is usual with regulations even the opening date is not uniform statewide. In 27 Panhandle area counties, the whitetail season will be Nov. 23, 1985 through December 8, 1985.

In Camp, Delta, Franklin, Gregg, Hopkins, Lamar, Rains and Titus Counties the season will be November 9-30, 1985. In Wood and Upshure Counties the season is November 9 through December 8, 1985.

In Fannin County, the season is November 9-13, 1985. In Morris and Red River Counties the season will be November 9-30 and December 26-31, 1985.

In Dimmit, Duval, Maverick, Webb, Zapata and Zavala Counties the special antlerless-only deer season is October 26 through November 10, 1985.

In all counties having an archery-only whitetail season the dates are

Ramblin' Raun Outdoors

by Jerry Raun

October 5 through November 3, 1985.

The primary reason that the increased bag limit was authorized is to encourage hunters to harvest a greater number of antlerless deer. This segment of the deer population remains overpopulated and underharvested in much of Texas' deer range.

Unfortunately, many hunters remain unconvinced of the need to reduce the antlerless deer in most areas and continue to harvest only "trophy" animals. It is the responsibility of the landowners in overpopulated areas to encourage, if not demand, that his hunters take their limit of antlerless deer.

Two separate mule deer seasons were authorized for West Texas. In Armstrong, Borden, Briscoe, Carson, Childress, Cottle, Crosby, Dallam, Deaf Smith, Dickens, Donley, Fisher, Floyd, Garza, Gray, Hall, Hartley, Hemphill, Hutchinson, Kent, Moore, Motley, Ochiltree, Oldham, Potter, Randall, Roberts, Scurry, Stonewall and Swisher Counties the mule deer season is November 23 through December 1, 1985. The seasons were closed in Haskell, Jones and Knox Counties where the population is judged too small to support hunting.

In Brewster, Crane, Crockett, Culberson, Ector, El Paso, Hudspeth, Jeff Davis, Loving, Midland, Pecos, Presidio, Reagan, Reeves, Terrell, Upton, Val Verde, Ward and Winkler Counties the mule deer season is November 30 through December 8, 1985.

Archery season for mule deer will be the same as the standard whitetail archery season, October 5 through November 3, 1985.

The Commissioners also made a number of changes in turkey hunting regulations. A new "swing" tag has been added to the license which may be used in either the fall or spring turkey season. This would allow a hunter to take two Rio Grande turkeys during the spring season in those counties where there is a spring hunt. The bag limit will be three turkeys during any one year.

For East Texas hunters, where there are only eastern turkeys, the bag limit will remain at one gobbler during the spring only.

As in the past, the fall regulations will coincide with the whitetail deer season.

Other new turkey hunting regulations include authorizing a fall turkey season for Gonzales County. Edwards, Kimble, McCulloch and Menard Counties will have an either-sex turkey bag limit of two. The season will be extended in Pecos and Terrell Counties and Nueces County will get a spring season.

In counties having a spring turkey season the dates are April 12 through 27, 1986, except in East Texas counties having a spring season on eastern turkeys where the dates are March 29 through April 13, 1986.

The commission adopted a pheasant season of December 14 through 29, 1985 for the Panhandle counties and November 9 through December 8 in Southeast Texas. A statewide bag limit of two cock pheasants per day was also set.

Other seasons and bag limits authorized for 1985-86 are:

--Prairie chicken in the Panhandle region, October 19-20, 1985; two per day.

--Quail, November 2, 1985 through February 23, 1986; bag limits to be set during August after summer production surveys are completed.

--Chachalacas, December 7, 1985 through January 26, 1986; five per day.

--Javelina, October 5, 1985 through February 23, 1986 in counties having a restricted javelina season; limit two.

--Squirrels, October 1, 1985 through January 15, 1986, and May 1-31, 1986 in counties having a squirrel season. Many counties have no closed season.

--Elk, by permit only in Brewster, Culberson, El Paso, Hudspeth, Jeff Davis, Pecos, Presidio, Reeves and Terrell Counties; no closed season; bag limit one.

--Aoudad sheep, in eight Panhandle counties, November 9-22, 1985 and January 4-19, 1986; bag limit one.

--Antelope, September 28 through October 16, 1985; limit one by permit only.

Law officials seek "nicely dressed" couple

Merchants in this friendly west Texas community described the couple as "nicely dressed" with "outgoing personalities."

Law enforcement officials described the couple as slick bad check writers who took Monahans merchants for more than $7,000 during a weekend spree in early April.

This week, Gerald Arlington Poole III and Jasmine Elizondo Poole have been added to the Texas Most Wanted list as a result of warrants issued for them in Ward County. They are charged with theft by check of over $750 and less than $20,000. Ms. Poole is also charged with theft of over $750 and less than $20,000 in connection with the disappearance of some money from a local tavern.

Rewards of up to $1,000 each are being offered by Texas Most Wanted for information leading to the capture of the fugitives.

In addition to his problems in Monahans, detectives say Poole is also wanted by Ector County authorities in Odessa, Texas, for bond forfeiture in connection with still more bad check charges.

Poole is described as a white male, 41, 6-1, 190 pounds, with brown eyes and brown hair streaked with gray. He might be growing a mustache and beard. Ms. Poole is white female, 29, 5-3, 150 pounds, with hazel eyes and brown hair. The pair were last seen in a light brown 1977 Pontiac Bonneville with Texas plates PBV-45.

Sergeant Ellis Butler of the Ward County Sheriff's Department says that on the weekend of April 5

"almost every major business in Monahans was stung by the fallout of bad checks.

Three video cassette recorders, a television set, three pistols, two expensive watches, two rings, clothing and automobile tires were purchased during the two-day spree.

Sgt. Butler said several private individuals were also victimized by the bad checks.

Detectives also wanted to talk to Ms. Poole about the theft of weekend bar receipts at the Eagle Lodge, which amounted to $1,835.97. Ms. Poole was working at the lodge until April 5.

Officials say this isn't Gerald Poole's first brush with the law.

They say that since 1962, Poole has been arrested by a variety of police departments in Texas, Louisiana and Nevada on charges ranging from bad checks and auto theft to burglary.

Sgt. Butler says Poole has a long string of aliases, including Jerry Kennedy and Terry Patterson as well as variations of his real last name.

Ms. Poole is also known as Jasmine Lawhon.

Anyone with information about either of these two fugitives is asked to call their local Crime Stoppers program or the Texas Crime Stoppers Advisory Council toll-free at 1-800-252-8477. In all cases, callers do not have to reveal their identities.

Texas Most Wanted is a cooperative program between the Department of Public Safety and Texas Crime Stoppers Advisory Council.

Reward being offered for leads on Gallegos

It had been an evening of music, dancing and drinking.

Before it ended, the night had been punctuated with a series of gunshots that left one woman dead and two men seriously wounded.

The October 16, 1983, shooting incident was the apparent result of an argument over a woman, said Lieutenant Chris Bratton of the Round Rock Police Department.

Lt. Bratton said Martin Gallegos, an illegal alien who had been working at various odd jobs in the Round Rock area, had been dancing with Helen Ochoa, 56, at a local tavern.

Sometime during the evening a dispute developed between Gallegos and two other men over Ms. Ochoa. Lt. Bratton said. As Ms. Ochoa and the two men were leaving the tavern, they were fired upon. All three were hit with small-caliber bullets.

Ms. Ochoa was pronounced dead on arrival at a nearby hospital. The two men recovered from their wounds.

A warrant charging Gallegos with Helen Ochoa's murder was issued on October 17, 1983.

Last week Gallegos was placed on the Texas Most Wanted List. A reward of up to $1,000 is being offered for information leading to his arrest.

Gallegos, 22, is 5-6, 140 pounds, with wavy brown hair and brown eyes. He usually wears a mustache, but occasionally trims it or cuts his hair to alter his appearance.

Police say he has told friends that he will kill any police officer that attempts to arrest him.

For this reason, law enforcement officers throughout Texas have been warned that Gallegos should be considered armed and extremely dangerous.

Lt. Bratton says Gallegos uses several aliases, including Martin Gallegos Jaramillo and Natilde Gallegos. He was born in San Miguel de Avende, a community about 70 miles north of Mexico City.

Which Home Will Have Lower Energy Bills?

THE E.S.P. HOME, OF COURSE.

An E.S.P. Home can save you money in home energy bills for years to come. Some homes on the market may seem energy efficient, but you can be confident an E.S.P. Home really is. WTU has carefully inspected and qualified each E.S.P. Home to meet energy efficiency requirements.

E.S.P. REQUIREMENTS include some of the most important energy saving features, such as:

- Ceiling insulation of R-30 and wall insulation of R-16.
- Storm windows or insulated glass.
- Weatherstripping and caulking around all doors and windows.

- Electric heat pump with a Seasonal Energy Efficiency Ratio (SEER) of 8.0 or above.
- Air conditioning with a SEER of 8.5 or above.
- Air infiltration control.

COMPARE HOW MUCH YOU CAN SAVE with an E.S.P. Home over a one-year period:

An average 1800 square foot home will cost you approximately $775 a year to heat and cool. An E.S.P. Home of 1800 square feet will cost approximately $570 a year to heat and cool, which results in an annual savings on electricity of 26 percent or more. (Energy savings may vary according to the type of home, family size and individual energy usage habits.)

For more information about the E.S.P. Program call your local WTU office today.

Loeffler Reports from Washington

Free trade is a two-way street. It requires trading partners who are committed to free and open trade with one another. This, unfortunately, is not the case in our trade relations with Japan.

From automobiles, to cameras, to rice, a wide assortment of Japanese products and commodities are sold here. However, Japanese markets are essentially closed to many of the goods we produce and, as a result of these stringently-enforced trade barriers, we are saddled with a burgeoning trade deficit with this major trading partner.

The Japanese portion of our nation's trade deficit has increased dramatically, from $10 billion in 1980 to over $37 billion more in goods and services in the United States than we sold in Japan. This year our trade deficit with Japan is projected to reach $42 billion.

Such an imbalance is wrong and, as far as I am concerned, swift changes are in order.

While our free market system is essentially open to foreign-made products, the Japanese have made it difficult if not impossible for businesses and producers to compete fairly on Japanese turf. As a result of Japanese efforts to protect domestic industries, American businesses are faced with innumerable bureaucratic roadblocks, including complicated and restrictive regulations as they try to do business in Japan. Certain items, including agricultural commodities, are subject to high tariff fees.

For example, the Japanese continue to restrict the import of high quality American beef. We did succeed, after long and arduous negotiations conducted last year, in gaining approval to gradually double our beef exports to Japan by 1988. The truth of the matter, however, is that American producers could export and market far more beef at a more reasonable price than the stringent quote imposed by the government of Japan allows.

This example represents just the tip of the iceberg. My frustration with Japanese protectionism reached a breaking point this year amid reports of less than adequate progress in negotiations to improve our access by Japanese telecommunications markets, coupled with the announcement by Japan that it would "limit" its annual auto shipments to 2.3 million units--an actual increase over levels in effect under the voluntary quota system of previous years.

The continued reluctance by Japan to significantly lower trade barriers and the acceleration of our merchandising trade deficit have led me to join with my equally frustrated colleagues in Congress urging the President to restrict Japanese imports unless they open their markets to us.

I have always supported free trade because I realize if we resort to protectionist measures, other countries would retaliate in kind. Furthermore, an equitable and reciprocal free trade system benefits all nations. However, it is vital that the fair and reciprocal part of the trade equation be enforced.

The Japanese must understand that we can no longer tolerate stonewalling or token efforts. Their trade barriers must come down.

Tornado Safety Tips outlined

Sutton County Office of Emergency Management would like to offer a few tips on tornado safety.

Springtime brings the onset of tornado weather. Tornadoes can occur at any place in the United States and most frequently occur during the months of March through September.

Tornado "weather" can be hot, sticky, days with southerly winds and a threatening, ominous sky. Familiar thunderstorm clouds are present. An hour or two before a tornado, topsy-turvy clouds appear sometimes bulging down instead of up. The clouds often have a greenish-black color. Rain, frequently hail, precede the tornado with a heavy downpour after it has passed.

Tornadoes occur mostly between 3 and 7 p.m., but they have occurred at all hours.

Tornadoes in most instances move from a westerly direction, usually from the southwest. The tornadoes path is usually 10-40 miles (the average length is 16 miles) but they may move forward for 300 miles. The average width of a tornado path is about 400 yards, but they have cut swaths over a mile in width.

Tornadoes travel about 25-40 miles per hour, with wind speed estimated as high as 500 miles per hour within the tornado.

Tornadoes cause destruction with violent winds that uproot trees, destroy buildings, and which create a serious hazard from objects blown through the air; and by differences in air pressure which can cause buildings to collapse.

Some safety rules for tornadoes are as follows:

1. Seek inside shelter, preferably in a tornado cellar, underground excavation, or a steel-framed reinforced concrete building of substantial construction. STAY AWAY FROM WINDOWS
2. IN CITIES OR TOWNS
  - (a.) In office buildings--stand in an interior hallway on a lower floor, preferably in the basement.
  - (b.) In factories--on receiving a tornado warning, post a lookout, and workers should move quickly to the section of the plant offering the greatest protection.
  - (c.) MOBILE HOMES are particularly vulnerable to overturning during strong winds. Residents should leave and go to a substantial structure. If there is no shelter nearby, lie flat in the nearest ditch, ravine, or culvert with your hands shielding your head.
3. IN SCHOOLS--whenever possible, go to an interior hallway on the lowest floor.

AVOID AUDITORIUMS AND GYMNASIUMS or other structures with wide free-span roofs. If a building is not of reinforced construction, go to a nearby reinforced building, or to a ravine or open ditch and lie flat.

4. IN OPEN COUNTRY--move away from the tornado's path at a right angle. If there is no time to escape, lie flat in the nearest depression such as a ditch or ravine.
5. KEEP LISTENING--your radio and television stations will broadcast the latest tornado advisory information.

REMEMBER:

Tornado Watch--means tornadoes are expected to develop.

Tornado Warning--means a tornado has actually been sighted.

The average American sees or hears 560 advertisements a day.

Teachers back S.B. 525

Meliane Wells Morgan, Texas Teacher of the Year, recently told Austin lawmakers that she has yet to be selected to be on the teacher career ladder in her school district. Morgan was in Austin May 8 to receive recognition by the House and the Senate in conjunction with "Teacher Day, USA," a national observance for America's teachers. The Spring Branch teacher joined TSTA President Becky Brooks in urging the Speaker and representatives to enact Senate Bill 525 which addresses the inequities in the teacher career ladder. Morgan said there are approximately 600 teachers in the Spring Branch Independent School District who are qualified at least for the second step of the career ladder this year but that the state had provided funds for only 300 teachers.

shepherded the two bills through the Senate on a near unanimous vote approval. "Senator Parker and members of the Senate Education Committee are to be commended for their willingness to address some of the inequities in House Bill 72, especially as they relate to teachers," Brooks said. "I think they realized that HB 72 was not perfect and have spent their energies this session correcting it, which they promised teachers they would do at the end of last summer's session. At the same time, Parker praised TSTA leaders for their efforts on behalf of SB 525 and duty-free lunch, citing the group as the most effective education lobby during this session."

"Throughout this entire session, TSTA has focused the attention of legislators on specific concerns with the implementation of HB 72," Parker said. "Their input was substantial in the development and Senate passage of SB 525 and TSTA is an effective lobby representing its members well." Brooks further lauded the House leadership for resisting efforts to kill SB 525 by those motivated by their own self-interests rather than the interests of students and teachers. TSTA is mounting an all-member drive to lobby state representatives for enactment of the measures.

A Cancer Society donation is a loving memorial

Memorial Day is a special time when we pay tribute to a friend or relative but are not sure how to go about it. Mrs. Alley Askew, Memorial Chairman for Sutton County Unit of the American Cancer Society, said the program is a "gift of life program - a living memorial," because contributions made to fight cancer today may spare others tomorrow.

This is an excellent opportunity for people to give in memory of a loved one even though memorials are given all year long. Memorial gifts can be made by individuals or groups. The ACS acknowledges all contributions by sending a card to the family stating the name of the contributor. The memorial card does not state the amount of the gift. Memorial gifts are used in the Cancer Society's three-fold attack on cancer through research, education, and service, explained Lou Faulks. Research is an on going process concerned with what causes cancer and how to prevent cancer. Education is giving information to anyone who has cancer - a member of the family or people who don't have cancer but wish to know how to prevent it or their chance of getting cancer. The Society's service program helps cancer patients contact hospitals for therapy and provides transportation for those in need. "The major source of funds for these programs is the Society's annual Spring Crusade, memorial contributions received throughout the year are becoming increasingly important to the Society," Faulks said. Memorial gifts to the program should include the name of the person to be honored and the name and address of the person to whom acknowledgement should be sent. Special envelopes are available by calling 387-2231 or 387-3269. We are winning the fight, progress is being made, but we've still got to do more. The memorial program remains a convenient and dignified way of turning losses into victories. Anyone wishing to contribute to the ACS through its memorial program may do so by sending their contribution to Mrs. Vestal Askew at Box 1133, Sonora, Texas 76950.

Sutton Co. EMS holds emergency care course

The Sutton County Emergency Medical Service sponsored an Emergency Care Attendant (ECA) course March 25 thru May 2. The class consisted of 40 hours classroom and practical training. This course provided basic Medical Training in Cardiopulmonary Resuscitation (CPR), choking, bleeding and shock, fractures, emergency childbirth, poisoning, and various other subjects. The students are given a skills test and state written exam, by the Texas Department of Health, entitling them to be licensed for four years as an ECA. This course is given in Sutton County periodically for all local citizens that are interested. # Letter to the Editor

An open letter to the taxpayers of Sutton County: By now many of you have heard of the big reduction in force which affected some school district employees, some of whom had been with the district for years, and all of whom had done a fine job in working with your children. You--the taxpayers-- should know the reasons why your elected board of trustees was forced to make this drastic and unpopular decision. In planning the 1985-86 budget, it had already been decided that the budget must be cut even more--in some areas as much as 40 per cent--in our determination to keep expenditures and revenues even. The crowing blow came with the news from Austin recently that our state revenues would be cut by one-half million dollars for the coming school year under the formula concocted by the powers-that-be after the passage of the infamous HB 72 last summer. In applying that formula to the Sonora ISD it seems that we are to be penalized for our past affluence by the drastic reduction in state funding to the point that we will be forced to reduce spending in all areas of the system in an effort to minimize future tax increases. In short, the good old days are over. Due to a booming local economy prior to the current slump in the gas production industry, we had plenty of local maintenance funds for those years, and, as a result, were over-staffed in the educational aide area. After agonizing over this decision for several weeks, we saw no other way out of our financial dilemma but to cut the payroll costs. We had hoped to be able to accomplish this by means of attrition--that is, not filling aide positions which were vacated by resignations. However, we ran out of time and money much sooner than we had expected to.

In addition to the reduction in state funding, we are faced with a reduced tax base for the coming year, again because of the lagging gas industry which is affecting our overall economic picture. Times are not good, folks, and probably will get worse before they get better. It is the primary duty of your school board to insure that your children receive an education. We have made sure that the instructional areas will function for the full benefit of those children, and will continue to do so, regardless of the cuts, layoffs, or whatever other action we may have to take to survive and remain financially viable. We are perfectly aware that we will not be popular because of some of these decisions, but we do intend to guarantee a good, sound public education for every child in Sutton County. Carl Teaff, President Sonora ISD Board of Trustees

Lloyd Bentsen Reports

Our nation's trade problems with Japan have attracted much attention in the past few months. Our trade deficit last year was a record $123.3 billion. Our $37 billion deficit with Japan was bigger than any other country. But our trade problems are hardly restricted to Japan, the European Common Market or other major industrialized nations. Between 1981 and 1984, our trade deficit with developing countries skyrocketed by $32.7 billion, according to a study that I requested, as chairman of the Senate Democratic Working Group on Trade Policy, from the Library of Congress. We're not talking here about oil exporting countries that are members of OPEC, but other nations termed "less developed countries." In 1981, we were buying $6 billion more from these emerging countries than they bought from us. But by 1984, that amount had increased to $38.7 billion. If there is any silver lining to this study, it is that our spending with these countries slowed from 1983 to 1984, increased by only $200 million, while at the same time our total amount of trade with them was rising by $20 billion. The study clearly demonstrates that the U.S. market is far more open to imports from developing nations than, for example, the Japanese market. While the U.S. had a huge trade deficit with developing nations in 1983, Japan had a trade surplus with them of more than $13 billion. In fact, Japanese imports of goods from developing countries as a percentage of its total imports have declined in recent years, while ours have risen steadily. Japan, which is a third the size of the U.S., buys one-ninth what the U.S. buys from Mexico and one-tenth what the U.S. buys from

Hong Kong. The larger developing countries seem to be following Japan's example of managed one-way trade rather than our example of free trade. More and more, these countries are blocking our exports into their markets while expanding their imports to us. This study clearly shows that we cannot afford to continue focusing only on our trade problems with industrialized nations. As ranking member of the Senate Subcommittee on International Trade, I have become increasingly concerned about our nation's lack of comprehensive, cohesive trade policy. In recent weeks we have seen continuing trade deficits act to slow economic growth in this country. Growth during the first quarter was much slower than had been expected. The problem is simple: American and foreign consumers alike are spending less on U.S. products. Americans still have money in their pockets but they are spending it, in record amounts, on foreign goods. We can expect the trade deficit to continue adding to our economic woes in the weeks and months ahead, unless we act to reduce it. As we do, we should keep in mind that it isn't just a problem with Japan or Germany or other industrial giants, but with nations that aren't even fully developed, as well.

Congress repeals requirements

Congressman Tom Loeffler (R-Hunt) announced that the Congress last week adopted legislation repealing the contemporaneous recordkeeping requirements imposed last year on taxpayers claiming business deductions on automobiles and other vehicles. "I am delighted that Congress has moved with such uncharacteristic speed to repeal the onerous auto-logging requirement," Loeffler said. "The auto-logging requirements contained in the 1984 Tax Reform Act would have imposed an unnecessary, unworkable and costly paperwork burden on millions of taxpayers and resulted in hours of wasted and unproductive effort." Loeffler introduced legislation to repeal the daily log requirement similar to the bill adopted by the House and Senate, and testified before the House Ways and Means Committee in support of his bill. Under the legislation passed by the House by a landslide 426-1 vote, taxpayers would still be required to keep "adequate records or sufficient evidence to support their claims." However, the burdensome daily auto logs will no longer be required in order to substantiate claims for legitimate business use of vehicles and other property such as computers. The legislation makes numerous other changes with respect to substantiation rules, most of which will go into effect in future years. Changes which go into effect this year include those involving employer withholding requirements, related fringe benefit income rules, and further limits on certain vehicle deductions and credits. Further detail may be obtained from the Treasury Department, which is required to issue implementing regulations by this fall.

Reporting Service to be contacting ranchers

The Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service will begin contacting farmers and ranchers across the state in mid-May for 1985 crop information and mid-year livestock inventories.

State Statistician Dennis Findley emphasized that information from these surveys is very important to the entire agricultural industry. "The current economic uncertainties of agriculture are weighing heavily on most producers' production and marketing decisions. These mid-year crop and livestock estimates will provide farmers and ranchers with information they can use to adjust their plans for 1985."

Results of the confidential interviews, conducted by mail or in person by field enumerators, will be published in July.

Loeffler Reports

Since the end of the Civil War, Memorial Day has been a time of patriotic reflection as we honor the American men and women who gave their lives on the field of battle. We do this in recognition of the ultimate sacrifice they made to preserve our liberty and, also, of the responsibility we bear to transmit liberty to future generations.

Many eloquent and moving speeches have been delivered since the first Memorial Day was observed 117 years ago, but no statement has captured the essence of sacrifice and devotion more succinctly than the Gettysburg Address of President Abraham Lincoln who said "...The world will little note, nor long remember what we say here, but it can never forget what they did here. It is for us the living, rather to be dedicated here to the unfinished work which they who fought here have thus far so nobly advanced."

When Lincoln spoke these immortal words, just four months had passed since the greatest battle before or since had taken place on the American continent. At Gettysburg, the armies of the North and South tore at each other with such ferocity that over 51,000 lives were lost.

Lincoln spoke for all of us in reminding us that mere words do not compensate for ultimate sacrifice. But, he asked us to remember, and he asked us to rededicate ourselves to freedom. In short, he pleaded with us never to allow those who paid the supreme sacrifice to have died in vain.

In our Nation's history, over one million, one thousand Americans have died in combat. Most Americans living today have a family member or a friend who was killed in action. From the revolution to Vietnam, Americans have been willing to put their lives, fortunes and sacred honor on the line to block the path of tyranny. Their lives remind us that freedom always carries with it a high price. It has cost, it imposes a burden, so, too, must we remain steadfast in working to assure that the precious freedoms for which they fought and died are preserved.

Memorial Day is an opportunity to remember that those who died in the defense of our country were serving an even higher cause. For all throughout our history, America has been a beacon to other peoples, serving as a source of political inspiration and as a haven to those escaping tyranny, oppressions and hunger.

Today, just as in the past, we stand as a guarantor of peace - ready to work with other nations to help remove sources of conflict and insecurity and to build a firm foundation for the future. We must work to assure that peace by maintaining a strong national defense, by strengthening our alliances, and by actively pursuing every opportunity for fruitful negotiations with potential adversaries.

As we honor the memory of those who made the ultimate sacrifice we must reaffirm that their lives and their sacrifices will be forever justified and remembered. Most importantly, we must do our utmost to assure that no other generation will ever have to share their experiences or repeat their sacrifice. Words cannot touch the gift that these fallen American heroes have provided their fellow Americans.

TO THE 1985 GRADUATES OF SONORA HIGH SCHOOL:

First of all, our warm congratulations go out to each of you on the occasion of your high school graduation. It is the culmination of many years of study, regimentation, tests, and other necessary processes involved in acquiring a good, sound basic education. We hope there were an equal number of good times for you to enjoy during those years.

Some of you will go on to further your education at the college level and some will enter the job market immediately. But all of you have left your mark on this school and this community, as the school and the community have left their mark on you---on the formation of your character, on your knowledge of facts, and on your entire growth process. We hope you have grown enough mentally and emotionally to be able to cope successfully with whatever the future holds in store for you, whatever path you may choose.

We have done our best to arm you with the tools you will need to proceed with your life, and to be both successful and happy as a mature man or woman. Our sincerest wish is for each of you to be able to lead a full, productive life as a contributing member of society.

Have a nice future---go for it!
