Child abuse defined

The following article is the first in a series of articles concerning child abuse and neglect. We hope that the series will be of interest to our readers.

ABUSE AND NEGLECT

Thousands of children in Texas are abused physically, sexually, or emotionally. They are also neglected physically or emotionally. The abuse and neglect occurs in all neighborhoods, at all socioeconomic levels, and among all races.

Child abuse or neglect is against the law in Texas. So is the failure to report suspected cases of mistreatment to a law enforcement agency and to the enforcement agency and to the Texas Department of Human Resources. A person who in good faith reports suspected abuse or neglect is protected by law from civil or criminal liability.

Definitions

Physical abuse--inflicting bodily injury on a child.

Sexual abuse--using a child in or exposing a child to sexual activities with or without the child's consent.

Emotional abuse--demanding more than a child's ability; belittling; telling a child you wish he were dead or had never been born.

Physical neglect--failure to provide adequate food, clothing, shelter, medical care, education or supervision.

Emotional neglect--absence of love or hate, anger or warmth; the child is never shown feelings and may as well not exist, so far as the parents are concerned.

Hotline

Child abuse reports can be made to a local DHR office of through a toll-free Child Abuse Hotline (1-800-252-5400) from anywhere in Texas. A caller can remain anonymous.

Abuser Profile

Children are most often abused by a parent or someone living in the child's home. The picture of a typical abusive parent often includes these elements: isolated from a social system; lives far from relatives; lonely and has few if any friends; has family stresses from finances; marital trouble, new baby, a recent move; low self-esteem; role reversal by a parent unrealistically expecting to be nurtured by the child; parent abused as a child.

About 90 percent of abusive parents hate them-

Citizen aids in quick arrest of 2

Sheriff Bill Webster announced June 20 that quick action by a Sonora citizen resulted in the apprehension of two subjects that solved four local burglaries which occurred June 14 and the recovery of two stolen cars.

Sheriff Webster stated that a local citizen called the sheriff's department after she saw two subjects trying to enter a house on Oakwood street.

Billy Gene Ellis, 17, of Sonora and a Juvenile subject, were charged with 3 counts of burglary, 1 count of attempted burglary, and 1 count of auto theft in another county. Another county has charges pending on another auto theft.

Ellis remains in the Sutton County jail on bonds totaling $25,000. The Juvenile was turned over to Juvenile Authorities.

Sheriff Webster stated that most of the stolen property was recovered.

selfes for harming their children. They vow to stop, but they don't. They may love their children, but they can't change without outside help. The remaining 10 percent are sadistic and do not believe what they are doing is wrong.

Child Protective Services

Texas law requires DHR to investigate all reports of abuse and neglect. DHR Child Protective Services workers investigated approximately 50,000 suspected cases a year. They find that abuse or neglect occurs in about 60 percent of the reports. Only in 4 percent of the cases, however, do the children have to be removed from the home for protection.

The goal of DHR staff is to keep a family together and to make a home safe for the children.

Workers have extremely difficult jobs. To be effective, they must learn to cope with hostile, involuntary clients, hazardous working conditions, and with the stress of making life or death situations.

The Texas family Code mandates DHR to provide at least minimum protection to abused and neglected children. DHR met this requirement in 1977. Funding limitations since have resulted in a 21 percent reduction in Child Protective Services workers, while reports of suspected abuse or neglect have increased by 65 percent.

Priority for Investigators

In 1979, it became necessary to place a priority on child abuse and neglect reports. Workers needed guidelines for which cases to investigate first. Three categories resulted.

Priority 1 children in life-endangering situations.

Priority 2 children in safety or health endangering situations.

Priority 3 children at high risk of abuse and neglect situations.

All priority 1 and 2 reports must be investigated.

Priority 3 reports are investigated as time permits.

Cathy Doran to compete in World Championship

Quarter Horse enthusiast Cathy Doran will be competing at the 14th Annual American Junior Quarter Horse Association World Championship Show and Convention in Tulsa, Oklahoma, August 4-10.

Cathy will be among the 1,300 young people, 18 and under, from the United States, Canada and Australia, selected to participate in the show. She will compete with her registered American Quarter Horse, Runnin Grace, a 1979 Bay Mare, in the Pole Bending and Barrel Racing at the show.

As an invitational show, participants must have qualified in one of two ways. First, the top ten youth competitors in terms of points earned in a event between May 1, 1984 and April 30, 1985 were invited to compete; and second, each affiliated state junior Quarter Horse Association may send two contestants per event. As only the top exhibitors participate, competition promises to be tough and exciting.

The AJQHA World Show is sponsored by Levi Strauss & Company in corporation with Tulsa-based Drysdale's Western Wear Store. In its third year as the show's major sponsor, Levi's Westernwear division will provide general show funding and sponsor the AJQHA World Championship Show telecast to be aired in several markets around the country in early September.

State delegates will meet in various committee sessions to conduct the business of the AJQHA, the largest youth horse association in the world, during the AJQHA Convention slated for Sunday. During the Convention, six 1985-1986 AJQHA national officers will be elected to represent the 10,000-plus AJQHA members.

Approximately 40 teams are expected to participate in Friday's judging contest which is open to 4-H, FFA and AJQHA judging teams. Additionally, a variety of social activities are scheduled for the eight days, including a clinic, barbecue and dance, and an evening at a water recreation park.

Other features of the Show include the AJQHA Exposition and Trade Show which will be open daily during the Show and features nearly 30 booths. AJQHA's booth will be a part of the Exposition where interested parties may request performances and race records on registered Quarter Horses. Numerous equine-related products and services will be on display.

Cathy is the 18-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Doran of Sonora and is a 1985 Honor Graduate of Sonora High School.

Sutton County Days celebration to be held on courthouse lawn

The Sutton County Days Celebration will again be held on the lawn of the Sutton County Courthouse after the County Commissioners voted unanimously last Wednesday, June 19 to allow the event to be held there.

Representatives of Sutton County Days Association and the Sonora Chamber of Commerce attended the special meeting of the commissioners with Todd Cirrincione acting as spokesperson.

It was pointed out by Cirrincione that moving the event to the Sutton County Park would create traffic problems as well as electrical problems due to inadequate lighting and electrical outlets.

Men's Softball Tournament set

The Sonora Men's Softball Association is sponsoring a tournament July 12, 13, and 14 at the Sutton County Park.

The Sonora Invitational Men's Slow Pitch Softball Tournament will be for Class "C" and "D" and the team entry fee is $90.

Trophies will be awarded for first, second, and third place teams; 15 individuals for first and second places; All Tournament Team; and Most Valuable Player for offense and defense.

For more information or to enter contact Keith Steffey at (915) 387-5612 or (915) 387-3523. Entries or inquiries may be mailed to Steffey at P.O. Box 1195, Sonora, Texas 76950.

Long distance dialing changes announced

Due to the installation and implementation of new equipment within the Sonora exchange, General Telephone announces the following changes in dialing effective June 14, 1985.

-To place long distance station-to-station calls, dial one plus the area code (if necessary) and the number.

-To place person-to-person, collect, credit card and third-number billing calls, dial zero plus the area code

Cirrincione added that there would be little of no shade for the Old Timers' Reunion and that this could present a health hazard for the older people attending the reunion.

It was also pointed out that the event was meant to bring people into Sonora and to raise money and that if persons do not have a good time due to the heat they are not likely to come back.

In other action the commissioners voted to advertise on bids on blinds for the courthouse for 39 windows; discussed procedures involving the county yard and shop; and examined; considered and approved accounts payable.

Loeffler reports

There is no mystery to our developing water problems. The critical statistic is not how much water is used, but how much is returned to the system that can be used again. Additionally, in Texas, the demands placed on our state's water supply are compounded by Sunbelt growth. According to the Texas Department of Water Resources, Texans currently consume 5.9 trillion gallons a year and, if growth projections hold, we could be using almost 95 percent more by the year 2000.

In Texas we already have to contend with the possibility of water shortages due to our diverse geography and climatic conditions. Our annual rainfall rate diminishes on the average, about one inch for each twenty miles traveled across the state from east to west. This means that while the annual rainfall in our eastern border averages about 56 inches, the far western edge receives only eight inches a year.

Over the years, Texas responded to this insufficient distribution of water by constructing reservoirs with 192 now supplementing our natural resources. A water source map of Texas shows 15 major river basins and eight coastal basins supplying surface water and seven major aquifers and 17 minor aquifers providing underground water.

Fortunately, some of Texas' largest aquifers are found in the areas with below average rainfall. Unfortunately, the slow replenishment of water into aquifers threatens their future usefulness. In greatest danger today is the enormous Ogallala Aquifer that supports life and agriculture for the Great Plains states, which stretches down into the High Plains of Texas, and stops not far north of Midland. The plight of the Ogallala has received national attention as well as careful study by those states directly affected, including our own state. This is only one example, however, of the problems to be addressed.

My special concern for a sufficient water supply goes back to the days of my childhood. I well remember the drought of the Fifties, when the ground was totally bare, creeks and rivers dried up, and we would look to the north in hopes that the cloud bank rolling in would be full of rain, and not full of dust and dry wind. Just two years ago, the West Texas economy was brought to its knees because of drought and I fought long and hard to finally win the appropriate federal relief required.

Foresight in meeting the challenge of clean and adequate water supply in imperative-for unlike the energy crisis which led us to seek and develop alternatives to our conventional energy resources-the only alternative to water remains water.

Fans becoming furniture

Ceiling fans have won their place in the hearts and homes of energy-conscious Texans. If you have a ceiling fan in the family room or bedroom, and are thinking of buying another, you may be in for a surprise.

Manufacturers continue to make changes in ceiling fans to make them even more practical and appealing.

One of the biggest design changes is the close-to-the-ceiling fan. These fans are more practical in smaller homes. The increased clearance also looks better and allows for more flexibility in the design of accessory lighting kits.

About five percent of all ceiling fan sales in 1984 were in models with eight inches of clearance or less.

One company has introduced a heat fan which pushes out warm air heated up to 3500 BTU with the fan in reverse position. It operates for less than 10 cents an hour, and the company claims it can trim heating bills 35 percent in a 2000 square-foot home.

Other companies are making remote-control fans in response to consumer demand for this convenience.

The price of ceiling fans has also come down. In 1981, roughly 20 percent of all ceiling fans retailed from $49 to $99. In 1984, about 80 percent of all fans fell into that price range.

New designs on the drawing boards treat fans as "ceiling furniture." Until now, emphasis has been on big 52-inch main-room fans. But companies are now turning their attention to second fans in smaller sizes for kitchens, bedrooms and other areas.

Industry-watchers predict that manufacturers will soon be turning out fans with upholstered sidebands to coordinate with other elements of a room. Stenciled blades, custom-look grills and designer colors will likely to be used in promoting ceiling fans as real pieces of furniture that make fashion statements.

Teachers to protest test

The Texas State Teachers Association and the National Education Association announced June 17 that it has retained the services of three law firms to review portions of House Bill 72 as it relates to competency testing of practicing teachers.

Representing TSTA and NEA will be the Washington D.C. firm of Bredhoff and Kaiser and the Texas firms of Schwartz, Waterman, Fickman and Van Os of Houston and Austin and Daves and Hahn of Tyler. Karen Johnson, TSTA general counsel, will coordinate the efforts between the state and national firms and Bob Chanin, NEA general counsel, will be the counsel-of-record.

TSTA President Becky Brooks said she anticipates suits to be filed this summer in both state and federal courts challenging the de-certification provisions in the current law. Teachers are scheduled to be tested the week of March 10, 1986.

Brooks said that should the lawsuits fail to eliminate the testing or if a decision from the courts is not made in time, TSTA is preparing to offer free test preparation workshops to its members throughout the state. Approximately 250 trainers are being secured to conduct the workshops.

NOTICE OF INTENT TO IMPLEMENT RATES

General Telephone Company of the Southwest in accordance with the Public Utility Regulatory Act and the Rules of the Public Utility Commission of Texas gives notice of its intent to implement new exchange access rates for the provision of shared tenant and tenant resale services.

These proposed rates are applicable to customers of General Telephone Company of the Southwest, excluding hotel/motel customers, who provide local exchange telephone service of General Telephone Company of the Southwest to their tenants or patrons on a resale or shared use basis. This resale or sharing arrangement is normally provided utilizing a customer-provided PABX or other similar stored control switch capable of common control processing or other features commonly associated with a PABX "Smart" switch.

These proposed rates are designed to recover costs on a usage basis for local exchange telephone service access and are identical to General Telephone's "Optional Measured Service" rates. The monthly access rate will be $28.95 per trunk line and the usage rates are as follows:

Over	Up To and Including	Band	Set Up	Full Rate Period Each Minute
0	7 miles	A	$ 025	$ 015
7	14 miles	B	035	021
14	21 miles	C	050	030
21	28 miles	D	070	042
28		E	090	054

As this is a new service offering, we are unable to determine the number of customers who may be affected. Currently, there are no known prospective customers. Until any customer utilizes this new offering, there will be no effect on the revenues of the telephone company, and in any event, the telephone company does not expect revenues to be affected by more than 2 1/2 percent. These proposed rates, where applicable, will provide tariffed local exchange access to customers who then will provide shared or resale services to tenants.

These proposed rates have been suspended by the Public Utility Commission of Texas and will become effective as proposed or modified by order of the Commission on a date to be determined by the commission.

The proposed rate schedule is on file with the Commission for public inspection and is also available at any business office of General Telephone Company of the Southwest.

Persons who wish to intervene or otherwise participate in these proceedings should notify the commission as soon as possible. A request to intervene, participate, or for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N Austin, Texas 78757. Further information may also be obtained by calling the Public Utility Commission Consumers Affairs Division at (512)458-0223 or (512)458-0227, or (512)458-0221 teletypewriter for the deaf.

Services available to all

The Texas Department of Human Resources is mandated by law to investigate reports of suspected child abuse and neglect and to provide services to protect children from abuse, neglect and exploitation. Services are provided to any child in need of protection without regard to family income or citizenship. During 1984, the number of investigators rose 6.7 percent to 61,576. Over the last two calendar years, the number of child sexual abuse cases has increased 50.4 percent.

Services include:
 --investigation of reports of suspected abuse, neglect, or exploitation of children
 --services to the child and family, including counseling and referral to community agencies, if warranted
 --court action, if necessary. Court action may include removing children from their homes, assignment of managing conservatorship or placement with relatives or in foster care.

--provision of temporary emergency shelter for children removed from their homes for protection
 --assistance to parents, caretakers, or relatives to improve home conditions so the child may return to the home if possible
 --recruitment and development of foster homes
 --supervision of foster care
 --development of permanent plans of care for children in foster care

--adoption of services for children who are under the managing conservatorship of the department and whose family relationship has been legally terminated.
 --programs for prevention of abuse and neglect.

The department maintains a toll-free 24 hour hotline (1-800-252-5400) to receive reports of suspected child abuse and neglect. The identification of callers is confidential. Reports are investigated on a priority basis, depending upon the extent of apparent danger the child faces. Services are designed to remedy the situation. Services to the child and the family include counseling and referral to community agencies. Court action is initiated if necessary. A court may order removal of children from their homes, assignment of managing conservatorship and placement with relatives or in foster care. When rehabilitative services fail, attempts may be made to legally free children for adoption. The department develops and certifies foster and adoptive homes for children removed from their homes.

Approximately 18,000-26,000 children in Region 04 will be at risk of abuse and neglect in 1985. In fiscal year 1984, 4,222 abused or neglected children were identified in Region 04. In fiscal year 1984, protective service workers investigated 2,547 reports of suspected child abuse and neglect in Region 04 with the number of confirmed instances of abuse or neglect being 2,247. As of February 1985, Region 04 had 55 children's protective service workers. An average of 311 children a month received foster care under the state-federal Aid to Families with Dependent Children program, while an additional 96 children received foster care paid entirely with state funds.

The Department provided adoption subsidies to 61 children in Region 04 with special problems or handicaps enabling them to have permanent homes with families who otherwise could not afford their special needs.

Additional information about protective services for abused and neglected children may be obtained from a local office of the Texas Department of Human Resources of suspected abuse or neglect may be made by calling 1-800-252-5400.

Great Is Thy Faithfulness

"For by grace are ye saved through faith: and that not of yourselves: it is a gift of God: Not of works, lest any man should boast"

Ephesians 2:8-9

Great is thy faithfulness:

Morning by Morning new mercies I see;

All I have needed thy hand hath provided;

Great is thy faithfulness, Lord unto me!"

The words of the chorus of this hymn by Thomas O. Chisholm reminds us of the great debt which we owe to God. The idea of faith is so often lost in our day and age. We have allowed those, who could carelessly use the ideas of Christianity and the Bible, to give different meanings to word and in so doing change the whole picture.

Faith is one of those casualties of the word game. The word we use is translated both faithfulness and steadfastness which are indeed attribute of God. So faith is non-existent outside of God. As Paul so well stated it in the passage quoted above to the church in Ephesus, it is by the grace (unmerited favor) of God that we are saved (delivered from eternal death and hell) through faith (the faithfulness and steadfastness of God) it is a gift. For we see that faith is not only a subjective attitude but also the content of what is believed. In other words faith is not a substance we can accumulate and use as measure of our piety but rather it is a state of being a Christian, not the activity that is sometimes called "Christianity".

Faith in a person produces

By Rev. Jim Stephen
First Baptist Church

results (works): that is the person of faith lives a life worthy of God. This all means living for the one true God and trust in Jesus Christ as the future deliverer. The central message is that we can rely on the faithfulness of God. He has through ages supplied our needs and the needs of his people through history so we know that He is still able to do what He said He would do. The call is to relax and accept the gift of God and then act and live according to His leadership. Without Him we would have nothing.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor:

Bethel Temple Choir, in Tucson, Arizona, would like to appreciate and thank some of the fine folks in the town of Sonora, Texas, because when we needed the most help, we got it from a sheriff going out of his way to help us, when our bus broke down on June 8th, at about 1:30 a.m.

Also, we would like to thank the manager from Holiday Host Motel, in putting up with us in a manner that probably no other motel would have.

And finally, thanks a lot to Ken's Electric in helping to repair our bus, by driving our President to buy the part we needed at a nearby town.

Again, thanks for lending a helping hand in the time of need, for "When you've done it unto the least of my children, you've done it unto me."

May God bless you and prosper you always.

Sincerely,

AHA programs designed to increase awareness

The American Heart Association in Texas announced recently the existence of three programs designed to increase the public's awareness of high blood pressure and methods for controlling this serious condition.

High blood pressure—or hypertension, as it is sometimes called—is a major cause of heart attack and stroke. It significantly reduces life expectancy, and the higher the blood pressure, the greater the reduction in length of life.

High blood pressure occurs when the smallest arteries of the body become narrowed and the heart must pump harder to force the blood through. This serious condition afflicts over 37 million American adults.

According to James M. Atkins, M.D., President of the American Heart Association in Texas, a dramatic change in what was known about hypertension took place in the past thirty years. "In the mid-1960s, only about 50 percent of individuals with high blood pressure knew of their condition.

By late 1970s, studies found that 75 to 80 percent were aware of their condition. In addition, there was a great increase in the number of people with high blood pressure who were under adequate treatment," said Atkins.

The American Heart Association was on the forefront of this wave offering education activities aimed at the public and physicians. Millions of individuals had their blood pressures checked at AHA sponsored blood pressure screenings.

In the 1980s, however, as more and more people became aware of their blood pressure, new methods were needed to reach those who were still unaware of their blood pressure or did not have it under control.

To accomplish this goal, the American Heart Association in Texas developed a program that allows individuals to become familiar with blood pressure and its treatment. It is called the Blood Pressure Awareness Training Program, and is patterned after the Heart Association's CPR (cardiopulmonary resuscitation) training program. Individuals who take this course include church groups, scout troupes, company employee groups, school groups—virtually anyone wishing to learn more about blood pressure and its measurement. In order to conduct blood pressure screenings or control programs. The course can be carried out in a total of four hours.

The Blood Pressure Awareness Training Program is composed of a number of parts which can be selected to best meet the needs of the audience being taught. Although designed for a lay audience without medical training, the program can be utilized as a review for individuals with medical training, to enhance their technique or knowledge.

This training program ensures quality control for the screening of the public. At the state level, the Heart Association trains instructors who, in turn, conduct local training programs. This pyramid-type training allows the American Heart Association to utilize individuals in nearly every community to screen for high blood pressure.

Two additional programs tie in to the Blood Pressure Awareness Training Program for successful implementation. A Letter of Agreement Program encourages organizations other than the American Heart Association to conduct blood pressure screenings and educational activities in companies, schools, or for the general public. The outside organization is responsible for the purchase and maintenance of any needed equipment and visual aids. The curriculum, training and screening procedures must meet the standards of the American Heart Association in Texas. The American Heart Association in turn trains the organization's instructors and provides the high blood pressure materials at no cost.

Another AHA program, entitled Heart At Work, promotes cardiovascular health among employees at their worksites. One of the modules of this program deals specifically with blood pressure. Both the Letter of Agreement Program and the Blood Pressure Awareness Training Program serve as an adjunct to the Heart At Work Program. The company utilizing Heart At Work may become a Letter of Agreement agency and may have staff trained as blood pressure screeners in order to implement their worksite blood pressure control program.

Implementation of this program benefits both employee and employer. Employees who take positive steps to control their high blood pressure improve their overall health. And healthier employees translate into more productive employees. Studies have shown that employees translate into more productive high blood pressure have a greater risk of stroke, kidney failure, heart attack and heart failure. These complications increase medical claims against health care insurance, which, for the most part, is paid for by the company.

Finally, employees view company-sponsored programs such as Heart At Work as a positive display of interest and concern for them as individuals. This added benefit of improved employee morale is valuable to both the employee and their company.

One or more of these programs may be available in your community. Contact your local office of the American Heart Association, listed in the White Pages of your telephone directory, for more information.

The first wedding to take place in the White House was that of Mrs. Lucy Payne Washington to Supreme Court Justice Thomas Todd in 1812. Lucy was the widow of George Washington's nephew and the sister of Mrs. James Madison.

Cheese can be frozen

Recent tests on freezing cheese should be good news for those who would like the convenience of having a stock of their favorite cheeses on hand.

Ten different varieties of cheese proved successful for home freezing in tests reported by the Minnesota Experiment Station, says nutritionists Dr. Dymple Cooksey.

But the success depends on rapid freezing as well as the composition of the cheese, explains Cooksey, a specialist with the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service.

"The temperature in the freezer should be zero degrees F or lower, and the pieces or packages of cheese should weigh no more than one pound," she advises.

The varieties of cheese that were successfully frozen and kept in freezer storage for six months in the Minnesota tests were: Cheddar, Brick, Port du Salut, Swiss, Provoloni, Mozzarella, Liederkranz, Camembert, Parmesan and Romano.

"The three brands of Blue cheese tested all became crumbly and mealy after freezing," notes the specialist. "But if Blue cheese is to be used for salad or dressings this would not be a disadvantage and might make the cheese handier to use."

Since the cream cheese in the tests became watery and mealy, it is not recommended for freezing, Cooksey says.

To freeze cheese, the specialist advises cutting it in pieces no larger than one-pound size or using packaged cheese weighing no more than a pound. Small-size cheeses like Camembert and Liederkranz may be left in their original package or you can use an overwrap for extra protection.

Any cut cheese, such as wedges of Cheddar, should be closely wrapped in freezer-foil. Press the foil tight with the hands to keep out air. Freeze at zero F or lower, and thaw in the refrigerator.

Many people find that mayonnaise removes white water marks left on table tops. Apply, rub in, let stand for about an hour and wipe clean with a soft cloth.

Why Should I Buy an E.S.P. Home?

Lower Energy Bills

An E.S.P. Home will save you up to twenty-six percent in home energy bills a year. An average 1800 square foot home will cost approximately $775 a year to heat and cool. An 1800 square foot E.S.P. Home will cost you approximately $570 a year to heat and cool. That is an annual savings of over $200! (Energy savings may vary according to the type of home, family size and individual energy usage habits.)

Increased Resale Value

When you decide to sell your E.S.P. Home, you'll have the Energy Savings Plan working for you again. Because energy bills are an important consideration for most families, your E.S.P. Home will fit into a prospective home buyer's budget easier than a non-E.S.P. Home. Just like you are doing now, many home buyers will be looking for a home that will give them the best value for their energy dollar — your E.S.P. Home!

Lloyd Bentsen receives award

Senator Lloyd Bentsen June 4 was presented the National Security Leadership Award by the Coalition for Peace Through Strength in recognition of his leadership in support of a strong national defense.

The award was presented to Senator Bentsen by Kenneth A. Steadman, Director, National Security Affairs, Veterans of Foreign Wars, at an awards reception in the Longworth House Office Building.

The Coalition for Peace Through Strength is a bi-partisan alliance of pro-defense leaders including 241 members of the U.S. House and Senate, and 162 national organizations.

The American Security Council Foundation serves as the educational coordinator of the Coalition for Peace Through Strength.

At the reception, ASC Foundation President John M. Fisher said, "It was with great pride and satisfaction that the members of the U.S. Congressional Advisory Board saw this National Security Leadership Award presented to Lloyd Bentsen."

Senator Bentsen has always been in the forefront of those Members of Congress who know that a strong America is a secure America; who know that weakness only invites aggression; and who know that only a national strategy of Peace Through Strength will insure this nation's security."
