Need a Pen Pal?

Sonora has had further communication from our "Twin" City, Wilmington, South Australia. We have received a letter containing a request for pen pals from Sonora. Anyone interested in writing to someone in our "Twin" City, contact Edith James at the Chamber of Commerce 387-2880 or Scharlotta Smith at 387-3717.

We also received a letter from the Rodeo Club in Wilmington. It seems Wilmington is a rodeo town. Our "Twin" city has more in common with us than we expected. This communication has been passed along to the proper rodeo channels in Sonora.

The Chamber of Commerce of Sonora hopes to make 1986 a year of celebration in Sonora. We are so proud of our state and a 150th Birthday is sure something to celebrate.

Special service set

First Assembly of God will be celebrating its seventh year in Sonora! Rev. Jim Pickens will be ministering Sunday morning and night. There will be an afternoon service with Frank Santiago doing the preaching.

There will also be a meal on the grounds at 203 E. Pecan!

Pastor Louis Halford cordially invites the public to attend. The services are July 7 (Sunday).

Hobby appoints Sims

Lieutenant Governor Bill Hobby announced the following appointment: "It is my pleasure to reappoint Senator Bill Sims to the Southern Legislative Conference (SLC) Agriculture and Rural Development Committee."

"The SLC serves as a sounding board for member states. This body enables us to stay informed of developments in other states."

"Senator Sims' appointment expires when the 70th Regular Session of the Legislature convenes."

There is a choice

Home is not always the safe haven most people think it is. Family violence occurs in at least half of the households in America.

In Texas alone, a woman is battered every eight seconds; that's 400,000 women per year.

A family shelter representative is in Sutton County every second and fourth Tuesday of the month at the Sutton Senior Center, from 1:30 to 2:30 p.m.

For more information contact the SSC or call the Shelter in San Angelo at (915) 655-5774.

Call collect if necessary. This is a 24 hour number and all information is private and confidential.

Rummage sale set

The Sutton County Senior Center will be the scene of a rummage sale Friday, July 12.

The sale will begin at 1 p.m. at the Center building located at 106 Wilson Street.

Anyone wishing to donate items may drop them by the center or telephone 387-5657.

Offices to close

The Sutton County Appraisal District office will be closed Thursday and Friday, July 4 and 5 in observance of the Independence Day Holiday.

Officers will reopen Monday, June 8 at the regular time.

It's Rodeo Time again

The Sutton County Days Rodeo will be held August 23 and 24. Performances will be each night at 8 p.m. The rodeo will be a Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association (PRCA) publication.

Like all sports, pro rodeo has its own special language, standards and practices, and is conducted within the limits of its own rules. Rodeo's rule book is written by the PRCA, and nearly every other rodeo association--college, high school and amateur--copies the PRCA rules.

The following description of the events, and the section on judging which follows, were designed to help you understand and enjoy the rodeo contests.

SADDLE BRONC RIDING

Rider must have spurs over break of bronc's shoulders and touching horse when bronc's feet touch the ground first jump out of the chute, and must continue fore-and-after spurring motion throughout eight-second ride. Riding hand and rein must be on same side. Rider disqualified for bucking down, changing hands, losing stirrup, touching himself, horse or equipment with free hand.--Synopsis of PRCA rules.

It has been said that even to the uninitiated the difference between an ordinary saddle bronc ride and good, "shiney" one is as obvious as an elephant in a phone booth. A good saddle bronc rider falls into a stylish rhythm with the horse--feet thrust full forward with toes turned out in the stirrups and spurs over the bronc's shoulders when the horse's front feet strike the ground. Then as the horse bucks high, the rider flexes his knees, drawing his feet back, toes still turned out, and sweeps his spurs along the bronc's sides until the spurs strike the back of the saddle called "cattleboarding." The feet then go forward again as the bronc descends.

BAREBACK RIDING

Food Center is honored for June

Food Center, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Fields was named June Business of the Month, June 27 by the Sonora Chamber of Commerce.

Food Center is managed by Les Robertson and employs 30 people. It opened July 16, 1975 with 13 employees and 6600 square feet of floor space.

After several remodeling jobs, the last being in 1982, the store now has reached 13,200 square feet of floor space.

On hand for the occasion were Mr. and Mrs. Fields, Robertson, Amy and Rebecca Fields, Polly Reeves, Ronnie Bowers, Chamber President Earnest Lykins, Mike Street, Diana Trainer, Edith James, and several employees and customers.

S.H.S. students do well on TABS

Students in Sonora continue to score well above the state average on the Texas Assessment of Basic Skills (TABS) test, according to a school administration spokesman.

Each spring scholastics in the third, fifth, and ninth grade are tested in three basic areas--reading, writing, and math skills--and the overall scores are measured a mastery standard set by the state.

In grade three, 85 per cent of the students mastered the math section, 88 per cent the reading, and 85 per cent the writing skills.

Fifth graders also scored well, with 89 per cent mastering the math, 78 per cent the reading, and 87 per cent the writing area of the test.

Ninth graders, taking the exit-level test, scored 79 per cent mastery in the math area, 83 per cent in the reading and 83 per cent in the writing.

All the above scores compare favorably with previous years' scores and with scores in these subjects in other area schools.

Beginning with the school year starting in September, students in the third, fifth, seventh, ninth and eleventh grades will take the Texas Educational Assessment of Minimum Skills (TEAMS) test in each year in the same subject areas as is covered in the TABS test. This test will be an expansion of the TABS testing program and is directly tied in with the stiffer academic achievement requirements mandated by the passage of HB 72 and the appointed State Board of Education.

LIFE meeting time changed

First Assembly's Youth Group (LIFE) is now meeting at 8:30 p.m. on Wednesday nights. L.I.F.E. is for those between the ages of 12-25. Almost every week prizes are won and there is a good solid Bible teaching, slide shows, and competitive games.

Wednesday, July 3, Myron Halford will present the service "The World's Greatest Miracle!" The games will include "Hook, Line, and Sink," and "The Loaf on the Loose."

Last week Louis Halford presented "7 steps to Hell." Francisco Gomez won a six-pack of 7up by winning "7 Down." Bobby Shifflett won $1 as he was champion of "Bill or Spill."

All young people are invited at 203 E. Pecan for these special youth services!

one-handed rigging that meets PRCA specifications. For qualified ride, cowboy must have spurs over break of bronc's shoulders when bronc's front feet touch the ground first jump out of the chute, and continue spurring motion throughout eight-second ride. Rider disqualified for bucking off, touching bronc or himself with free hand.--Synopsis of PRCA rules.

Timing the spurring motion with the bronc's action is the key to winning in bareback riding, but plenty of nerve, balance, a stout arm and powerful grip can be other definite assets.

As the horse bucks high in the air, the rider jerks his knees, running his spurs up the bronc's shoulders. As the horse comes back down, the cowboy straightens his legs so his spurs are again over the bronc's shoulders as its front feet hit the ground. The more a bareback rider "gaps opens," tips back and goes hog wild with reckless abandon while the horse is in the air, the higher the score may be.

But the rider must bring his feet back to touch the horse's neck each jump, and the winners have a keen and vital sense of timing to their violent action. Let a rider's feet flop aimlessly, and he'll wind up out of the money.

BULL RIDING

Riding done with either hand and loose rope with bell attached. Rider disqualified for bucking off before eight seconds, touching himself, animal or equipment with free hand or using sharp spurs. Rider must not tuck chaps or spurs under rope.--Synopsis of PRCA rules.

No other sporting event in the world combines the drama and danger of bull riding. Bucking bulls may weigh nearly a ton, yet have surprising ability. Most have bad tempers, and often it's after bucking down

City takes $96,437 bid

BY CAROL JONES

Sonora City Council members June 18 voted unanimously to accept a bid of $96,437.40 for street paving equipment consisting of a self-propelled broom, chip spreader and pneumatic tire compactor.

The bid came from Nichols Machinery Company of Odessa. Motion was made by James Trainer and seconded by Matt Davenport.

Council members also voted to advertise for bids on two gravel trucks. The gravel trucks will be part of the paving equipment.

Jim Dover, city manager, was asked by the council to meet with Sutton County Judge Carla Fields to find out the status of the paving project that the county was to do for the city for reimbursement of the fire department expenses. Dover was also to ask Judge Fields if a contract could be drawn up as to the agreement.

Preston Love and Earnest Lykins, representing the Sonora Chamber of Commerce, appeared before the council to discuss the occupancy tax from hotels and motels in Sonora.

Love stated that the contract between the chamber and city has expired. He added that the monies received off the tax was more than could be spent on advertising and suggested revising a new contract. Following a lengthy discussion, Mayor Bill Gosney appointed a committee to revise the contract to what the state law provides. Committee members include Chairperson Beth Wallace, Love, Lykins, and Matt Davenport.

During the June 18 meeting a public hearing was held to review the proposed budget for Revenue Sharing funds. Dover told the council that this was an amendment to the budget that was adopted at the beginning of the fiscal year.

The proposed budget includes $2000 for the Senior Center, $900 for summer recreation and $64,190 for capital equipment for street paving.

Council members voted unanimously to adopt Resolution Number 213 accepting the water improvements under the city's Texas Community Development Program, Contract Number 00027317083 and the authorizing of final payment to Morriss Brothers Construction, Inc.

City officials attending the meeting were Mrs. Wallace city attorney, Dover, Becky Covington city secretary, Mayor Gosney, and council members Hershel Davenport, Matt Davenport, Margaret Cascadden, Lemuel Lopez, and James Trainer.

Lloyd Bentsen Reports

Back in the Fifties and Sixties there were people who claimed the drug LSD would bring great benefits to our society.

Research, and experience with the harmful psychological effects of LSD, ultimately proved this claim wrong.

Today there is a relatively new drug on the scene, MDMA. Some people call it "ecstasy."

Psychiatrists have been using this drug since the 1970's, claiming it makes people relax and open up more during therapy. They say that taken under supervision, MDMA doesn't have the harmful side effects of LSD.

But there actually has been very little research into the effects of MDMA, which has never been approved by the Food and Drug Administration.

According to research just made available to the Drug Enforcement Administration, a drug similar to MDMA has been found to destroy brain terminals. There is concern that MDMA may have this same neurotoxic effect.

Now "ecstasy" is showing up on the streets and is being used without legal restraint. Police say it has become the drug of choice among some college students and young adults.

In Texas, abuse of MDMA is being reported in cities like Dallas, Austin, San Antonio and Houston. Detoxification clinics are starting to report visits from young people who take the drug a dozen or more times a day.

The DEA want to limit use of MDMA to research. It already has scheduled hearings this summer to begin the process of listing MDMA as a "Schedule I" substance, which means it cannot be used for therapy or any other purpose but research.

The problem is that this process could take a year or more to complete and in the meantime, local law enforcement officials would be powerless to control use of "ecstasy."

A year is too long to wait. Steps should be taken now to get MDMA off the streets.

Under the Comprehensive Crime Control Act of 1984, which I supported, the director of DEA has the authority to take emergency action to temporarily restrict the use of drug for a year. This done simply by publishing a regulation in the Federal Register.

Last month, I wrote to acting DEA Administrator John C. Lawn asking him to use this new power to temporarily restrict use of "ecstasy."

The Administrator has responded to my request by promulgating the necessary regulation. After a 30-day period for comment, the regulation will go into force, barring the use of MDMA for any purpose other than research for one year.

During the year, the DEA will complete the longer process, working with the Food and Drug Administration, to determine whether restriction should be made permanent.

Faster response time in controlling new drugs, like "ecstasy," will be a valuable weapon in our fight against drug abuse in this country.

School funds affected

Future generations of Texas schoolchildren were dealt a blow recently when the Texas Supreme Court made a ruling that would remove as much as $918 million in future earnings for the Permanent School Fund, Texas Land Commissioner Garry Mauro said recently.

It's raining "gum drops"

Look, up in the sky--it's a bird--no it's a plane! It's the Camp Sweeney "gum-drop"!

Camp Sweeney is a summer camp for diabetic children located in North Central Texas, 10 miles east of Gainesville. The camp always tries to keep the campers busy, not only with normal camp activities designed to help them learn about their lifelong companion, Diabetes.

On June 4, as the children anxiously awaited--the plane flew over--then came back for "the drop" and dropped hundreds of packs of chewels sugarless gum on the crowd.

The campers were thrilled with their special treat--some had as many as 11 packs of the gum, donate to the camp by Chewels.

The Gum-Drop will take place four more times this summer: Monday, July 8 during Session II; Tuesday, July 18 and Monday, July 29 during Session III.

Camp Sweeney is in its 36th year of operations and is funded by the Southwestern Diabetic foundation, a United Way agency.

negative implications for the state and for the schoolchildren of Texas," Mauro said. "As much as $918 million in future revenue dedicated to the Permanent School Fund could be affected."

The Texas Supreme Court ruled that the state does not own the coal and lignite under 817 acres in Webb County even though it owns the mineral rights. Instead, the court gave ownership of the shallow minerals to the owner of the surface rights.

The state has $94 million at today's prices in coal and lignite on what had until now been considered state property.

This ruling, in effect, means that the Permanent School Fund will never realize the $94 million in potential revenue--and that's $94 million at today's prices, Mauro explained, making this a conservative estimate when one considers the steady increase in the cost of fuels.

This ruling is expected to be extended to iron ore, conservatively estimated to be worth $44.8 million, revenues that also will not go to the schoolchildren of Texas.

However, Mauro said, the real danger is that this case opens the door to challenges of state ownership for other hard minerals under state lands, such as silver, talc, mercury, limestone, and gypsum.

If the state is forced to turn over all these hard minerals within 200 feet of the surface, it could total as much as $918 million in revenues on 6 million acres on which the state owns the minerals but not the surface rights.

"It's disappointing and surprising that the Texas Supreme Court has decided to give away the mineral rights to state land that the surface owner had never paid for," Mauro said. "Since the turn of the century, Texas Land Commissioners have very carefully reserved the state's minerals."

Have a Happy Independence Day!

SS limits are raised

You do not have to be completely without funds to get Supplemental Security Income (SSI) payments. In fact, you can have monthly income of $325 and assets of $1600 or, if you are married, you can have an income of $488 and assets of $2400 and still be eligible.

Because of these limits on income and assets, you must tell Social Security if you have a savings or checking account, certificates of deposit, or a Christmas Club account. Once these accounts have been reported to Social Security, they need not be reported again; however, you must report any changes in the accounts.

Social Security must also be told about changes in a bank account if you have a child who is getting SSI payments. The amount of money in an account can affect the child's payments.

Some people have joint bank accounts with one or more other people. If the account is in your name, it is considered to be your money even though you may never use the account. You must let Social Security know if another person deposits any money to an account listed in your name.

These restrictions are designed to assure that only those who qualify for SSI actually receive monthly payments. For more information, contact the San Angelo Social Security Office at 2214 Sherwood Way. The telephone number is 949-7426.

Jewels & Gems

by John Tedford

ZIRCON
The zircon is probably the most misunderstood and under rated of all the semi-precious stones. True zircons are fiery, fascinating gems. Although their hardness is only 6½ to 7½ on MOH's scale of 10, their rival diamonds in luster and splashy display of color. This, in a way, has contributed to their downfall. Because they have so often been mistaken for diamonds, and substituted for them, zircons, beauties in their own right, have come to be regarded as second rate, diamond stand-ins. However, when seen for the dazzling beauties which they are, these doubly refractive stones offer fire and beauty at a reasonable price. Even diamonds are only singly refractive. See for yourself. At Tedford Jewelry, see our very affordable birthstone jewelry collection, featuring genuine white zircon for April, and the very beautiful blue zircon for December. Available in matching pendant and earrings, set in 14k gold.

Why Bother Going to Church?

By Rev. Monte Jones-Rector

It's summer. It's too hot. I'm tired, because I played too hard yesterday. I deserve the chance to sleep in once in a while. Those are a few of the myriad of excuses people use to get out of church. Summer is a time when some people work extra hard to get out of going to church. I feel sorry for those people, because they are seeing worship as a duty, a responsibility, and a chore, rather than the joy that it really is. Why do people go to church in the first place? If we look to the Bible, we see that Jesus was in the Synagogue on the Sabbath, teaching any who would listen and learn. In the Book of Acts, we read of the disciples gathering on Sunday for the prayers and the breaking of bread, and of Paul, who always began his ministry in a new place within the confines of the local church or Synagogue. In the Catechism of the Episcopal Church, it is taught, "In corporate worship (That is, during the regular Sunday services), we unite ourselves with others to acknowledge the holiness of God, to hear God's Word, to offer prayer, and to celebrate the sacraments." The Catechism teaches that no one is Christian alone. We are Christians only as a part of the Body of Christ, which is His Church. To worship means to acknowledge worship. This we do together. We acknowledge the holiness of God. Having done so, we are free to hear God's word both written in the Holy Scriptures and interpreted in the Sermon. We join in corporate worship to offer the prayers of the Church, which are better balanced than are private prayers will ever be; and to celebrate as a community the presence of God with us as He acts in the Sacraments. In other words, one cannot be a "stay at home Christian." There just "ain't no such animal." There may be those who profess faith in Jesus Christ, who do good works, and who read the Bible, but in order to call oneself a Christian, one must attend church on a regular basis. There is no getting around that requirement in order to be a part of the Body of Christ. Even though churches are imperfect, they are the means by which Jesus chose to gather His flock, so that they might sustain one another. Churches are nothing more nor less than gathering places for sinners who are seeking God's grace through His son, Jesus Christ. No one is too good or too bad to be in church, but many are too proud or too lazy. As the old saying goes, "You can't tell the players without a program," and the only way to be listed on the roster is to an enrolled, active member of a church. God names us in baptism, sustains us through the church, redeems us through His son, and sanctifies us through the Holy Spirit, Don't make excuses: make it to church instead.

Indicators of Abuse and Neglect out lined

INDICATORS OF PHYSICAL ABUSE

A. Bruises and welts that may be indicators of physical abuse:

1. Bruises on any infant, especially facial bruises.
2. Bruises on the posterior side of a child's body.
3. Bruises in unusual patterns that might reflect the pattern of the instrument used, or human bite marks.
4. Clustered bruises indicating repeated contact with a hand or instrument.
5. Bruises in various stages of healing.

B. Burns that may indicate abuse:

1. Immersion burns indicating dunking in a hot liquid ("stocking" burns on the arms or legs or "doughnut" shaped burns on the buttocks and genitalia).
2. Cigarette burns.
3. Rope burns that indicate confinement.
4. Dry burns indicating that a child has been forced to sit upon a hot surface or has had a hot implement applied to the skin.

C. Lacerations and abrasions that may indicate abuse:

1. Lacerations of the lip, eye, or any portion of an infant's face (e.g., tears in the gum tissue which may have been caused by force feeding).
2. Any laceration or abrasions to external genitalia.

D. Skeletal injuries that may indicate abuse:

1. Metaphyseal or corner fractures of long bones--a kind of splintering at the end of the bone (these are caused by twisting or pulling).
2. Epiphyseal separation--a separation of the growth center at the end of the bone from the rest of the shaft (caused by twisting or pulling).
3. Periosteal elevation--a detachment of the periosteum from the shaft of the bone with associated hemorrhaging between the periosteum and the shaft (also caused by twisting or pulling).
4. Spiral fractures--fractures that wrap or twist around the bone shaft (caused by twisting or pulling).

E. Head Injuries:

1. Absence of hair and/or hemorrhaging beneath the scalp due to vigorous hair pulling.
2. Subdural hematomas--hemorrhaging beneath the outer covering of the brain (due to shaking or hitting).
3. Retinal hemorrhages or detachments (due to shaking).
4. Jaw and nasal fractures.

F. Internal Injuries:

1. Duodenal or jejunal hematomas--blood clots of the duodenum and jejunum (small intestine) (due to hitting or kicking in the mid-line of the abdomen).
2. Rupture of the inferior vena cava--the vein feeding blood from the abdomen and lower extremities (due to kicking or hitting).
3. Peritonitis--inflammation of the lining of the abdominal cavity (due to a ruptured organ, including the vena cava).

G. Injuries considered to be indicators of abuse should be considered in light of:

1. Inconsistent medical history.
2. The developmental abilities of a child to injure itself.
3. Other possible indicators of abuse.

H. Questions to ask in identifying indicators of abuse:

1. Are bruises bilateral or are they found on only one surface (plane) of the body?
2. Are bruises extensive--do they cover a large area of the body?
3. Are there bruises of different ages--did various injuries occur at different times?
4. Are there patterns caused by a particular instrument (e.g., a belt buckle, a wire, a straight edge, coat hanger, etc.)?
5. Are injuries inconsistent with the child's age?
7. Are the patterns of the injuries consistent with abuse (e.g., the shattered egg-shell pattern of skull fractures commonly found in children who have been thrown against a wall)?
8. Are the patterns of the burns consistent with forced immersion in a hot liquid (e.g., is there a distinct boundary line where the burn stops--a "stocking burn," for example, or a "doughnut" pattern caused by forcibly holding a child's buttocks down in a tub of hot liquid)?
9. Are the patterns consistent with spattering by hot liquid?
10. Are the patterns of burns consistent with the explanation offered?
11. Are there distinct patterns caused by a particular kind of implement (e.g., an electric iron, the grate of an electric heater, etc.) or instrument (e.g., circular cigarette burns, etc.)?

INDICATORS OF CHILD NEGLECT

A. Abandonment

1. Children abandoned totally or for long periods of time.

B. Lack of supervision

1. Very young children left unattended.
2. Children left in the care of other children too young to protect them.
3. Children inadequately supervised for long periods of time or when engaged in dangerous activities.

C. Lack of adequate clothing and good hygiene

1. Children dressed inadequately for the weather or suffering from persistent illnesses like pneumonia or frostbite or sunburn that are associated with excessive exposure.
2. Severe diaper rash or other persistent skin disorders resulting from improper hygiene.
3. Children chronically dirty or unbathe.

D. Lack of medical or dental care

1. Children whose needs for medical or dental care or medication and health aids are unmet.

E. Lack of adequate shelter

1. Structurally unsafe housing or exposed wiring.
2. Inadequate heating.
3. Unsanitary housing conditions.

F. Lack of nutrition

1. Children lacking sufficient quantity or quality of food.
2. Children consistently complaining of hunger or rummaging for food.
3. Children suffering severe developmental lags.

H. In identifying neglect, be sensitive to:

1. Issues of poverty versus neglect.

2. Differing cultural expectations and values.

3. Differing child-rearing practices.

Laredo to celebrate independence

Laredo, has a special reason to celebrate Independence Day. No fewer than seven countries have claimed this colorful border city throughout history, and residents prolong their Independence Day celebrations with the fifth annual BorderFest, held this year from July 5-7 at the Laredo Civic Center.

"Food, crafts, games and entertainment are based on each of the seven flags which have flown over Laredo," said Sharon Cruz, publicity chairman for BorderFest 5, as this year's festival is called.

"Many booths will demonstrate fascinating crafts that have almost died out in this country."

Cruz explained that Laredo has been a part of France, Spain, Mexico, the Confederate States of America, the Republic of Texas, the Republic of the Rio Grande and the United States of America. "BorderFest is sort of a miniature folk-life festival, highlighting all the different aspects of Laredo" she said. "The celebration gets bigger and better every year."

Among the exhibits at BorderFest will be folk dancing, quilting, and blacksmithing, and also demonstrations on making pinatas, Mexican candy, tortillas, toys, rawhide whips, saddles and other Western gear and more.

The three-day BorderFest schedule includes a Western dance Saturday night at the Civic Center Ballroom from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m., with music by Joe Stampely and Sagebrush. Tickets are $10 per person. Music for festival-goers will be provided by The Shoppe, a folk and bluegrass band from Dallas which Cruz said is back by popular demand.

The Civic Center fairgrounds will be open from 5-10 p.m. Friday 10 a.m. to midnight Saturday, and Sunday from noon to 10 p.m. Admission is $3 for adults and $1 for children. Call 512/722-8001, extension 345 for more information.

Committees for Texas adopt goal

Keep Texas Beautiful, Inc. has a goal that all Texans should adopt for 1986--to make the state as spotless and litter-free for our sesquicentennial visitors as possible!

Keep Texas Beautiful, an officially sanctioned Texas Independence Association, is sponsoring the 1986 Governor's Community Achievement Awards with that goal in mind. And it wants to involve every community in the state.

The Governor's Achievement Awards recognize cities involved in meeting litter reduction challenges and related community appearance goals. For 1986, cities that enter and win will be eligible to receive a combined total of $700,000 in highway landscape funding as further enhancement and recognition of their winning community-wide campaigns.

Among Keep Texas Beautiful's objectives for the awards competition are reduction of litter in Texas at the local level, particularly along highway rights-of-ways, involvement of citizens in community enhancement projects (such as cleaner parks, streets, highways, downtown areas), and forstoring of local pride, particularly for the upcoming Sesquicentennial year.

The Governor's Community Achievement Awards competition is open to all Texas cities, regardless of population size. The competition is divided into eight population categories, from towns with less than 2,500 people to cities with more than 300,000. Each category winner receives a graduated percentage of $700,000 highway landscape fund provided by the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation, and a handsome cast aluminum plaque signed by Governor Mark White.

Cities will be judged in eight different areas, including cleanups and litter reduction, education, public awareness, enforcement, citizen participation, recycling and beautification. Official entry forms are available from Keep Texas Beautiful, Inc., P.O. Box 2251, Austin, Texas 78768, 512/475-4210. All entries must be received by March 31, 1986.

Some savings bonds reaching final maturity

If you are one of the millions of Americans who bought savings bonds during and after World War II, you could be losing interest money.

Certain U.S. Savings Bonds have passed their final maturity dates and are no longer earning interest, says Nancy L. Granovsky, a family economics specialist with the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service.

Series E Bonds bought before April 1952 reach final maturity 40 years from the date of issue. Series E bonds that were bought in April 1945 will stop drawing interest this month; next month those issued in May 1945 will cease to earn interest, and so on.

Series H Bonds bought before January 1957 reach final maturity in 29 years, 8 months, so any Series H bond bought before August is not drawing interest now.

Granovsky encourages those who have older U.S. Savings Bonds to review their holdings, recording the dates of issue of each, and determine whether they have passed maturity, or are currently or will soon stop earning interest.

"To make your money work for you, it's important to take time to review your bonds," says Granovsky. "Keeping them when they are not gaining in value is like putting your money in a mattress. Not only do you lose the interest on something that's not making money, but you're actually losing buying power on the face value due to inflation."

Your bank can provide the term to maturity on Series E Bonds issued after April 1952 and Series H Bonds issued after January 1957, adds the specialist.

Public funds for college available

According to a recent report by the Institute of Independent Colleges and Universities, last year 1.8 million students enrolled in private colleges and nearly 60 percent of that total received some form of financial aid. What is staggering, however, is that during the same period, eligible students lost almost $80 million dollars in basic education grants, money that could have been awarded to qualified students. The major reason they missed out included: (1) they were not aware of the funding (2) they applied incorrectly or (3) they applied too late.

"And these are probably the best known and best publicized of the available money for college," says John Mock, Executive Director of the Scholarship Research Institute of Texas in Austin and author of the popular book, "Facing the College Cash Crunch."

According to Mock, besides the public funds, well over $100 million went unclaimed during the same period among private sources of funding. These funds are from lesser-known sources of funding in the private sector (non-government) such as foundations, philanthropists, trust funds, corporations, religious groups, labor unions, social, fraternal, professional and civic organizations and others.

The Scholarship Research Institute of Texas is an affiliate of the Scholarship Research Institute of America in Washington, D.C. which, in 1980, began the ambitious task of defining and classifying financial-aid information on a national, regional and local level.

The Scholarship Research Institute of Texas now represents an astonishing array of little-known scholarships destined for average and even less-than-average students. The Institute not only represents the more uncommon scholarships, but millions of dollars in corporate and foundation scholarships, many of which are available to Texas students by Texas businesses, foundations and other such state sources. In fact, the list, representing national, regional and local sources, is so vast that the latest figures show in excess of a billion dollars in financial-aid sources, the largest such information base in the country.

For example, cheerleaders, Protestants, Catholics, divorcees, paperboys, veterans and people named Anderson are just a small part of the hundreds of categories eligible for the millions of dollars in little-known college scholarships.

The Scholarship Research Institute of Texas searches out these scholarships and low-interest loans for students. To utilize the program, all a student need do is to fill out a special profile which requires specific information on the student. A scholarship committee then keys specific information in order to sort through the thousands of sources in finding those for which the applicant is eligible to apply. The student then receives a printed presentation which includes a listing of Scholarships, Grants, Special Awards and Low-Interest Loans for which they are eligible. The data on each aid source includes dollar value, type of award being offered, students compatibility factor, and contact information. Also included is a toll-free counseling line along with a Financial Aid Planning Package which contains recommendations for obtaining best results and proven strategy information on financing a college education. The fee for the complete program is $29.75. The Institute stands behind its efforts with guaranteed results or the fee is refunded.

For an eligibility packet you can write to the Scholarship Research Institute of Texas, 7745 Chevy Chase Drive, Austin, Texas 78752.

Tips on canning jelly

The "secret" to making good jelly is no secret at all—it's a combination of pectin, acid and sugar in the right amounts. Whether you make your own jelly each year or you're trying it for the first time, it pays to know how these ingredients work together.

Pectin determines the firmness of the jelly. Too little pectin can produce a jelly too soft to hold its form. But good homemade jellies don't have to have as much pectin as commercial jellies, which must be firm enough to withstand shipment.

Different kinds of pectins produce jellies with various degrees of firmness. For example, cranberry pectins yield jellies that break easily into small clumps, while apple pectins create more elastic jellies.

The acidity of the fruit also has something to do with firmness. Juices from higher acid fruits yield firmer jellies than juices from lower acid fruits, even where the pectin content is the same. Fruits actually have a mixture of acids in them. But tartaric acid, which is plentiful in grapes and currants, is more efficient for jelly-making than citric or acetic acid.

Perhaps the biggest question in jelly-making is how much sugar to add, since that can vary from fruit to fruit. Most of the time, it's better to use too little rather than too much sugar if you want a jelly that will hold its form.

Experiments show that three-fourths cup of sugar per cup of fruit extraction works better than a cup or more of sugar. Partly ripe currants, gooseberries and grapes may need one or more cups of sugar, but that depends on their stage or ripeness and the amount of water used to cook them.

Having low acid or low pectin fruits does not mean you have to give up on making jelly. Low pectin fruits can be made into excellent jelly if commercial pectin is added. And acid can be increased in a fruit juice simply by adding lemon juice or combining it with other acid fruits.

This land is your land

BY GARRY MAURO
TEXAS LAND COMMISSIONER

Since the days of Spindletop, Texas independent oil producers have been the backbone of what has long been this state's biggest industry. They represent the well-head of entrepreneurial spirit in Texas.

That's why we at the General Land Office appointed a Blue Ribbon Commission made up of oil industry experts and depend heavily on independent producers and their knowledge of the industry to improve our policies for the leasing of oil and gas rich state lands.

The cornerstone recommendation of that committee was to raise the state's minimum per-acre cash bonus. In the three sales held since the recommendations, this major recommendation has paid off. Our latest lease sale in April contributed a total of $23.2 million to the Permanent School Fund—and set records for the highest bonus and highest average per-acre bonuses from $96.95 per acre to the record high in the last sale of $283.08 per acre.

But, more importantly, these recommendations have increased the participation of independent producers by more than 54 percent over the last three sales.

In the October 1983 lease sale, the last sale before the changes took effect, 49 percent of the participants were independents. In the April 1984 sale, the first sale to include the increased bonuses, independent participation grew to 51 percent. This trend continued in the October 1984 sale, where independent participation jumped to 63 percent.

With the latest sale, April 1985 the participation of the independent oilmen has jumped to a whopping 84 percent, proof that the policy changes are paying off.

Since these policy changes, the state has more than doubled its revenues from leasing, but not at the expense of the independents—a fear that was expressed by that group when the recommendations were implemented.

These changes have been good news for the millions of Texas schoolchildren who depend upon this revenue to help finance their education. But, just as important, it hasn't meant bad news for the state's oil and gas entrepreneurs—the independents.

It's this type of efficient management improvement that the General Land Office is making every day to provide all Texans with a partial solution to the current fiscal crisis faced by state government.

Reports from Washington

International Espionage — The Threat From Within

Reports of the Walker family spy ring have stiffened the resolve of many of us in Congress to — once and for all — deal with the growing problem of international espionage. In my view, this nation faces no greater threat to our security than a threat from within.

In a nation which places a high premium on individual freedoms, Congress has often found it difficult to pass laws effective in identifying, apprehending and punishing agents of espionage. For years, liberal members of the House and Judiciary Committee had blocked efforts to enact strong laws to address crime under the prosecutorial jurisdiction of the Federal government. Only after the wrath of the American public threatened to spill over into the November, 1984, election did enough moderates in the Congress join with conservatives to push through the Comprehensive Crime Control Act.

This year, armed with the "get tough" directives of the Crime Control Act, the FBI came before the Judiciary Committee of the House to request that additional agents and funds be authorized to combat crimes, including those committed by terrorists and spies. The same liberal majority which had blocked passage of the Crime Control Act for so many years refused to provide the necessary authority. The issue was recently raised to the attention of the full House of Representatives during consideration of the Supplemental Appropriations Act. The House was precluded from working its will and providing appropriations for crime control on procedural grounds since the Judiciary Committee had not yet acted on the authorization legislation. From a procedural standpoint, the House was correct in not funding the FBI request. From a policy standpoint, we were dead wrong.

With incidents of espionage and international terrorism increasing before our very eyes, it is imperative that the Congress live up to its constitutional mandate to protect the United States and its citizens from its enemies, both foreign and domestic. How can we expect our law enforcement agencies and intelligence organizations to be successful in their missions if we do not give them the necessary resources to do their jobs?

We in Congress are already taking steps to tighten our security net. I have cosponsored H.R. 1082, the Omnibus Intelligence and Security Improvements Act, which restores the death sentence as a potential penalty for espionage and treason. The bill establishes comprehensive, fair and constitutional procedures for imposing the death penalty upon those who intentionally jeopardize the security of the United States by committing acts of treason. I also support efforts to require counterintelligence polygraph tests for all those applying for security-sensitive positions within the Department of Defense, as well as random polygraph testing throughout the security ranks of DOD. According to our counterintelligence agents, such random testing would provide a strong deterrent to internal spying such as is alleged in the Walker case.

In my view, a clear deterrent may be the only real solution to the growing problem of international espionage. We must demonstrate to those who would sell the security of the United States for their own personal gain that such treason will not be tolerated. The war against international espionage is a war the United States cannot afford to lose.

Lee Greenwood
to perform at Six Flags July 4th

Lee Greenwood, recently honored as Entertainer of the Year by Music City News, will appear in concert at Six Flags Over Texas July 4.

Adding to Greenwood's "winning streak" is the popularity of his latest single record, "Dixie Road." The song is currently ranked in the Top 10 by Billboard Magazine and is steadily climbing in the rankings.

Greenwood's Six Flags concert will be held in the theme park's Music Mill Amphitheater. Due to the size of the expected audiences, two performances will be presented. The first show is scheduled for 6 p.m. and the second performance is set for 8 p.m.

Six Flags' regular admission price is $14.95. An additional $3 charge will be made for each Greenwood performance.

Children under 42 inches tall are admitted to Six Flags for $7.95. The $3 concert fee is waived for children age five and under.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor:

As another July 4th approaches, I wonder again if this city will choose to ignore it. I find it hard to believe that our nation's birthday passes unnoticed but Halloween gets a parade, carnival and Queen.

Why not just switch this around? Have our children parade in red, white, and blue and give our chosen queen a title that means something.

17 People expected to die in Texas July 4

The Texas Department of Public Safety estimates that as many as 17 people will die in traffic accidents in the state during the 30-hour July 4 holiday period.

"Though this year's estimate is lower than last year's death toll, the final figure could be even lower if Texans refrained from drinking and driving, stayed within the speed limit and buckled their safety belts," said Colonel Jim Adams, director of the DPS.

Last year, 20 persons died in crashes on Texas streets and highways during the July 4 holiday that the Permanent School Funds resulting from serious injuries during the period pushed the final toll to 23.

"This year's estimate of 17 deaths compared to the higher number of fatalities last year is in keeping with a downward trend in Texas traffic fatalities," said Adams.

In 1984, 48 percent of the fatalities reported during the July 4 period resulted from accidents in which speed or DWI was listed as a contributing factor.

"In an effort to limit the number of deaths, additional DPS troopers will again be patrolling rural roads and highways during the holiday period," Adams said.

The Department's "Operation Motorcade," in which the number of fatalities will be reported at intervals through the period to remind Texas drivers of holiday driving dangers, begins at 6 p.m. Wednesday, July 3 and continues through midnight Thursday, July 4.

Powers qualifies for NJRAS Finals

Rebecca Powers recently qualified to compete in the barrel race at the National High School Rodeo Association Finals to be held in Rapid City, South Dakota, June 21-28. Rebecca, riding her bay gelding, Turtles' Cinnab, won 4th out of 65 barrel racers at the Texas State Finals in Seguin June 16-22. She ran times of 16.5 in the first go-around, 16.3 in the second round, and 16.2 in the finals to cinch her spot on the team to represent Texas at the National level. The top four contestants from each event comprise the State Team.

Rebecca also competed in the roping at Seguin.

Other Sonora youth competing at State were Anita Balch, Cathy Doran, and Abe Caruthers.

Anita competed in the barrel race, pole bending and roping.

She placed 3rd in the 2nd round of barrel racing but had hard luck in the final round.

Cathy qualified in the girls' cutting and pole bending. She made the final round in cutting and placed 9th in the State.

Abe qualified in the boy's cutting event, and he, as well as the others did an excellent job of representing his region.

Sonora High School is in Region II which includes high schools from El Paso to Andrews to Sonora and is the largest region in Texas.

To compete in NHSRA rodeos students must maintain their grades throughout the school year.

On Sonora's rodeo team this year were the above 4 students plus Lea Whitehead, Cindy Doran, Steve Love, Mike Friess, Marshall Tyler, and Jack Sykes.

the cowboy that the most danger occurs-when he bull tries to go romping and stomping over the top of him.

Most bull riders are short, wiry men who look and are tiny alongside the 1,400 to 2,000 pound animal. They ride with nothing but a flat-braided rope pulled tight around the bull and across the gloved riding hand, both glove and rope heavily treated with sticky rosin.

Bull riding may appear more a matter of endurance than anything. Not so. Courage, physical fitness, a keen sense of balance and superior mental attitude are the qualities demanded. Watch how the rider uses his free arm, jerking and thrusting to counter the bull's spins and lunges; how the rider lunges his own body forward as though to jump over his riding hand, and moves his feet forward to keep grabbing a new hold.

BARREL RACING
Contestant allowed running start; time begins when horse crosses start-finish line. Contestant must run barrels in cloverleaf pattern. Starting at either side, five-second penalty for each barrel knocked down. Disqualified if pattern run incorrectly-Synopsis of WPRA Rules. Timed Event.

As much, if not more, than in any other rodeo contest, the horse and horserider combination are vital to success in barrel racing. Ropers or steer wrestlers will often borrow mounts and win, but take a barrel racer off her own horse and it's a whole different world. The competition-a series of quick turns at high speed-is that close.

Good barrel horses or extraordinary animals. They require the spirit and sprint speed of the Quarter Horse-which many of them are-and the agility of the polo pony.

CALF ROPING

After roping calf, cowboy must dismount, go to the calf and throw it by hand. If calf pulls itself down, roper must let it up and throw it by hand. Roper must cross and tie any three feet, and the tie must hold for six seconds after roper remounts horse and slacks rope-Synopsis of PRCA rules. Timed Event.

In calf roping, a race against the stopwatch in which the calf is given a head start, a winning run more often than not is the result of long hours of practice never seen by the rodeo spectator. What may appear on the surface to be a flurry of spontaneous activity is in reality a series of smooth, practiced moves.

As much as the roper, watch the horse. He must adjust his speed with that of the calf, stop on cue after the catch then quickly back up to keep the rope taut as the roper runs to his quarry for the tie.

In today's competition that tie has to be in the vicinity of 10 seconds to be in the money.

STEER WRESTLING

Steer must be caught from horse. If steer gets loose, cowboy must take no more than one step to catch him. Steer is considered down only when lying flat on its side with all four feet and head in same direction. Steer must be stopped or turned back before thrown-Synopsis of PRCA rules. Timed Event.

When you consider everything a big man must do during a six or seven second steer wrestling run, his accomplishment is really an incredible feat. He is placed behind a barrier and must give the steer a head start. He and his helper (the hazer-steer wrestling is the only event in which a cowboy is allowed help in the arena) overtake the steer and position their horses for a transfer at about 30 miles per hour. Then the cowboy must get down on the running steer, stop it, and wrestle it to the ground.

To a considerable degree those physical demands are why there are so many somewhat massive cowboys in this event; physical size can certainly be an asset when your wrestling adversary weighs in at 650 to 700 pounds. On the other hand, weight and size aren't absolute requirements, nor the only ones. Timing, coordination and determination are just as important.

TEAM ROPING

Ropes not tied fast to saddle. After catch, roper must take two turns around horn. Time flagged complete when both ropes are tight and horses face steer. Five second penalty for roping only hind foot-Synopsis of PRCA rules. Time Event.

Done properly, team roping looks easy. The first roper, called the header, whips his loop over the horns, takes two dallies (turns) around his saddle horn and turns off, slowing the steer. The second roper, the heeler, moves in and slants his loop down and under so the steer steps into it with both hind feet, then jerks up the slack and takes his turns around the saddle horn. Both ropers spin their horses to face each other with the steer between, and the flag drops.

But there's danger, too, in going after the exceptionally fast times. If a cowboy's finger gets caught between rope and saddle horn with steer going one way and horse the other, the finger is amputated instantly.

NOTICE OF INTENT TO IMPLEMENT RATES

General Telephone Company of the Southwest in accordance with the Public Utility Regulatory Act and the Rules of the Public Utility Commission of Texas gives notice of its intent to implement new exchange access rates for the provision of shared tenant and tenant resale services.

These proposed rates are applicable to customers of General Telephone Company of the Southwest, excluding hotel/motel customers, who provide local exchange telephone service of General Telephone Company of the Southwest to their tenants or patrons on a resale or shared use basis. This resale or sharing arrangement is normally provided utilizing a customer-provided PABX or other similar stored control switch capable of common control processing or other features commonly associated with a PABX "Smart" switch.

These proposed rates are designed to recover costs on a usage basis for local exchange telephone service access and are identical to General Telephone's "Optional Measured Service" rates. The monthly access rate will be $28.95 per trunk line and the usage rates are as follows:

| Over | Up To and Including | Band | Set Up | Full Rate Period |
|------|---------------------|------|---------|------------------|
| | | | | Each Minute |
| 0 | 7 miles | A | $.025 | $.015 |
| 7 | 14 miles | B | .035 | .021 |
| 14 | 21 miles | C | .050 | .030 |
| 21 | 28 miles | D | .070 | .042 |
| 28 | | E | .090 | .054 |

As this is a new service offering, we are unable to determine the number of customers who may be affected. Currently, there are no known prospective customers. Until any customer utilizes this new offering, there will be no effect on the revenues of the telephone company, and in any event, the telephone company does not expect revenues to be affected by more than 2 1/2 percent. These proposed rates, where applicable, will provide tariffed local exchange access to customers who then will provide shared or resale services to tenants.

These proposed rates have been suspended by the Public Utility Commission of Texas and will become effective as proposed or modified by order of the Commission on a date to be determined by the commission.

The proposed rate schedule is on file with the Commission for public inspection and is also available at any business office of General Telephone Company of the Southwest. Persons who wish to intervene or otherwise participate in these proceedings should notify the commission as soon as possible. A request to intervene, participate, or for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N Austin, Texas 78757. Further information may also be obtained by calling the Public Utility Commission Consumers Affairs Division at (512)458-0223 or (512)458-0227, or (512)458-0221 teletypewriter for the deaf.
