Homecoming 1987

From all indications, the first ever Homecoming for Sonora was a tremendous success.

Ex-students came from far and wide to attend the Homecoming. Decorations throughout town expressed the welcome extended by residents to all the ex's.

The stands were full of cheering Sonora fans and they were treated to a win by the Broncos as they bit the Coahoma Bulldogs.

Preccia Miller was crowned 1987 Homecoming Queen prior to kick-off time and the Mighty Broncos Band performed some difficult maneuvers during halftime.

The reception and organizational meeting Saturday morning was attended by approximately seventy-five ex-students and plans were started for next year's event which will include a bar-b-cue and dance. In addition to the crowning of the Homecoming Queen there will also be a Coming Home Queen.

The oldest ex-student was Guila Vicars from the Class of '21, the youngest was Carrie Cox, Class of '87. Tommy "Doc" Raye traveled the furthest coming from Denver, Colorado to attend.

During the meeting election of officers for the coming year were held with Joyce Chalk elected as President, Claire Powers Vice-president, Diana Trainer secretary and Mary Dell Balch as treasurer. The group also decided to name the organization to the Homecoming Association.

Everyone associated with the homecoming was delighted with response generated by this first attempt. Should you have names of persons living outside the area who should be included on the list for Homecoming '88, contact Joyce Chalk or Diana Trainer.

Council selects new City Manager

In the regular City Council meeting this past Tuesday new business covered requests from Stax for application for drilling permits and annual application renewals as well as discussion of pipeline easements. Alderwoman Margaret Cascadden expressed concern over the proposed pipeline location as it would relate to the possible long-range plan by some local residents to dam up a portion of the draw to create a lake. Stax was most amenable to the changes necessary to avoid conflict should the draw plan be put into action at any time in the future.

A Steering Committee for the Sutton County Centennial was okayed from the proposed names submitted by the Chamber of Commerce. Alderman James Trainer was named to the Committee as a representative of the City.

A spokesperson for Gary Traylor and Associates was on hand to explain possible application by her firm on behalf of the City for a community development project grant. The grant would make possible extensive street improvements in the residential area to the southwest of the swimming pool. The Council members voted unanimously to allow for the filing of the grant. It was pointed out that it would probably be early April before there would be knowledge of the grant's approval.

The Council worked out the balance of the wording on an ordinance pertaining to the disposal of unclaimed property, surplus or obsolete personal property owned by the City. The ordinance provides for proper notice and manner of sale, publication, conflict, validity and emergency.

The Council moved into executive session to discuss the employment of a City Manager coming out to vote on the placement of M.H. "Pete" Gildon of Portland as their choice. Mayor Gosney contacted Gildon who stated that he would be here to go to work on Monday, October 26. Having interviewed with the entire Council and having had his background examined, Gildon received high marks by the Council members.

Christmas plans underway by merchants

The Merchants Association met this past Monday night to discuss plans for the Christmas promotion.

Tickets will again be given by local merchants for each purchase made in their respective businesses. Plans are to begin to distribute the tickets after Thanksgiving. Drawings are scheduled for December 5, 12, 19 and Christmas Eve.

The Tree lighting ceremony is scheduled for Friday, December 4, 7 pm on the Courthouse lawn. The decorating of the tree will be done a little differently this year as each person attending the lighting ceremony are asked to bring and place an ornament and place on the tree.

Hays named river after incident

We can always depend on John Eaton to answer any questions of history pertaining to this area. Case in point, for the past several weeks we have had a plea on the front page of the paper requesting to know the origin of the name of the Devil's River. This is a question that we have been asked repeatedly and here is what John says:

In 1848, John Coffey Hays, at the request of a group of business people in San Antonio to find a trail west, left that community on the Westward Move.

Hays traveled up the Rio Grande eventually coming to the (now) Devil's River. He became lost and spent two days in the Devil's River, then spent another two days finding his way back to the Rio Grande. Hays asked a native to this area what the name of the river (Devil's River) was. The native replied "The San Pedro." Hays answer reportedly was "The hell it is, --St. Peter's Creek (?)-- from now on it's going to be known as the Devil's River." And apparently the name stuck.

Ride Across America

by Ann Cates

There are many things I like about my job but perhaps one of the things I like best is the opportunity it affords me to meet special people. I had one such chance this past Saturday as I met a group on IH-10, by arrangement, which truly fit into this pattern.

This group was involved in the Ride Across America which is comprised of California Special Olympians, their trainers and coaches.

The ride began October 3 in Newport Beach, California and will conclude on November 1 in Jacksonville Beach, Florida. During the 2600 mile course there will be five groups of Special Olympians, each group traveling four to five hundred miles.

The Olympians range in age from fifteen to twenty, all are mentally retarded, some come from homes where they are disadvantaged or even abused. The trip provides them with a unique opportunity to test not only their athletic abilities but also to spend quality one on one time with the trainers and other riders who are totally dedicated to furthering the chances for the Olympians.

The riders travel about one hundred miles a day with rest stops along the way in the motor home which is traveling with them. These rest stops also allow time to visit with members of the press which the spokesperson for the group says has been very kind to them.

The purpose of the trip in addition to giving these young men an exceptional athletic experience is to increase public awareness and in the process to raise money to insure the continuation of Special Olympics programs. The trip has been underwritten by various businesses and all monies raised go directly to the Special Olympics fund.

The theme of the ride is "Ordinary people doing extraordinary things" and a more appropriate theme could not have been chosen.

Editor's Note:
 Belle brought the following note by the office. It seems that it's author was passing through Sonora on October 3 and asked what was going on. When told, they wrote the note and asked that it be delivered to Belle though they do not know her. Kinda shows that Texas doesn't have a corner on extra nice people.

Dear Mrs. Belle Steen,
 My husband and I are passing through Sonora and if we didn't have another commitment, I would have stayed on another day just to congratulate you on your 100th Birthday.
 God bless you.

Mr. and Mrs. William Engel
 So. Hadley, Mass.

Dear Editor,
 My Dodge Ram Charger was stolen from the driveway of my home in Milton, Florida. The theft, along with the break-in and burglary of my home, occurred on September 20, 1987 between 1 and 3 pm while we were out shopping.

Neighbors saw the thieves loitering around the house but thought nothing of it. Another neighbor saw them drive away with my Ram Charger, with ditto results.

On September 21, Sheriff W.W. "Bill" Webster, Sheriff of Sutton County, Texas apprehended the culprits. There were three of them, all juveniles. Bill Webster was on the alert because the trio had forced entry into a home in Junction, pistol whipped the male occupant and then, on the provocation of an expletive, shot at him four times, at close range, with a 22 caliber pistol. The would be murderer hit the victim only once, a slight wound I understand, and probably because his neighbor thought something about it and came to the rescue with a 22 caliber rifle, the stout Texan is alive and well, I am told. It must have been a 22 because we found a 22 slug in the right door of the vehicle, right behind the bullet hole he put there.

Well, the whole story is that these "kids" ran away from Michigan in a stolen vehicle, committed an armed robbery in Orlando, Florida, robbed me, tried to murder a person in Junction, and now, I presume, have been incarcerated for a good long time. But the real reason I'm letting you in on this is to tell you that never in my 64 years have I ever run into a better bunch of law officers than you have out there. Sheriff Bill Webster traveled from Sonora to San Angelo, unsolicited, to pick me up when I flew out there to retrieve my truck. He returned my truck with little to-do. We enjoyed an excellent conversation on the road, in his office and over coffee. I felt at home in Sonora, Texas, a thousand miles from home.

On the way back to Florida, I stopped in Junction to retrieve some articles stolen from my home and I found both Sheriff Pat Davis of Kimble County and Chief (of police) Larry James of Junction to be just as friendly and helpful.

Makes me feel like I'd like to come live out there because if those guys are that great what must the rest of you be like!

Richard J. Dube
 Milton, Florida

To Billy C. Gosney
 Sir:
 I have been away from your city for a week now, and have been talking about it and what it CAN and will do. Some folks can't believe it, but I just tell them them to "go and see".

The show which you and your whole city put on honoring my sister, Belle Steen, is something a lot of people will be talking about for a long time--yes, one will be ME.

Guila Vicars and Ann Cates must have been running since last year. They, along with many others, certainly did do wonders.

I called several of my relatives from Alabama and they were still talking about everything that you and yours put together. Well, who wouldn't? My Granddaughter talked all the way back to Seattle. I think you will see her again.

My very best to you and all Sonora. Hope to see you again in April.

Sincerely,
 Charlie D. Crawford

Dear Ann,
 Just a note to thank you, the Devil's River News, and ALL of Sonora for the wonderful birthday celebration you gave my aunt, Belle Steen. It was just fantastic.

Our family was made so welcome, we really fell in love with all of you. We had a great trip: it was long and a hard drive for some of us but I wouldn't have missed it for anything. You made us all feel like celebrities, it was a once in a lifetime experience that we will never forget.

We can understand now why Aunt Belle decided to remain there. All of you are her family and you do take care of your own.

Thanks again for the wonderful stay there and we hope to come for a longer visit at a later date.

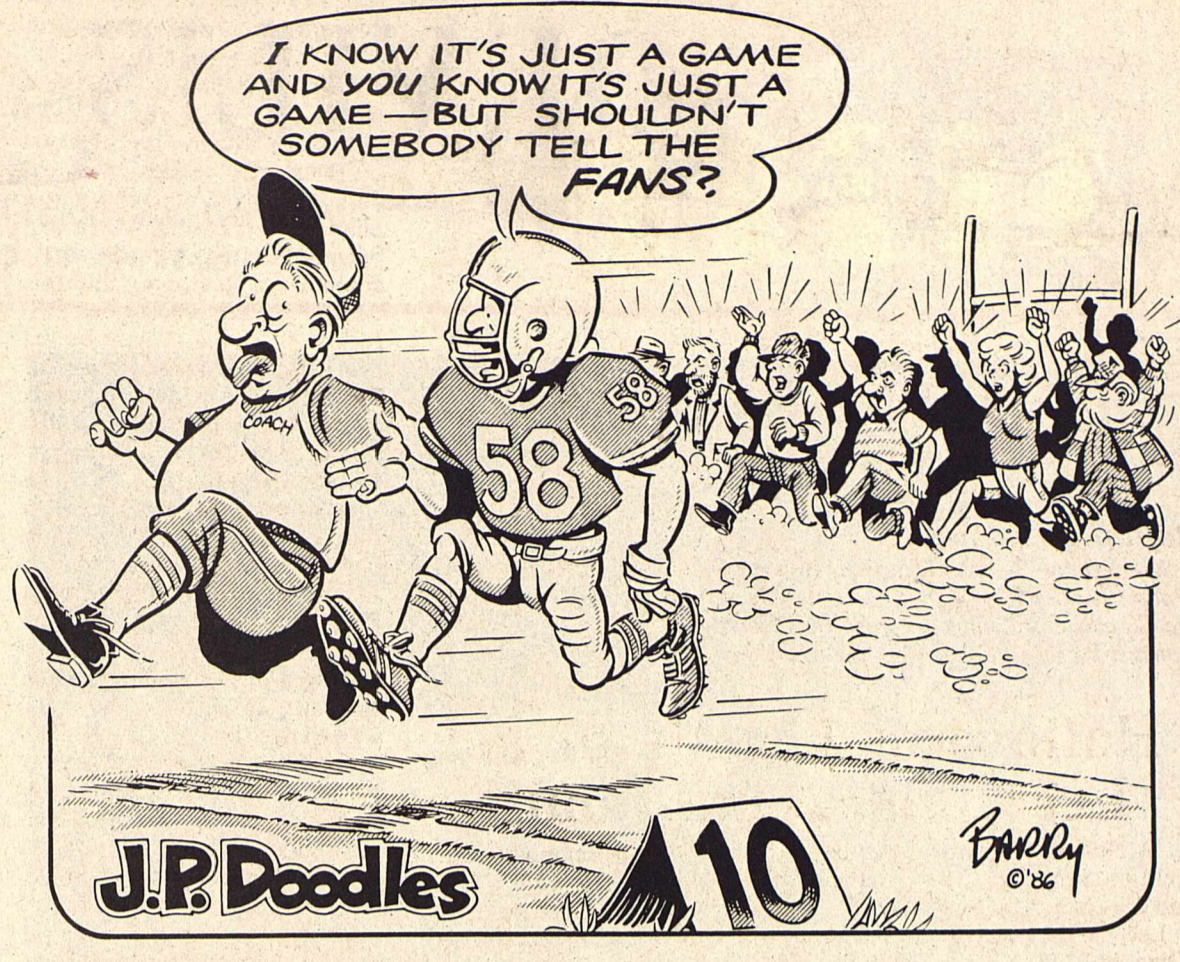

Sincerely,
 Barbara Bryant
 Palmerdale, Al.

Dear Ann,
 We made it back to South Florida just in time to greet "Floyd, the Hurricane". Fortunately he veered off and was no big problem--just about 5 to 8" of rain depending on what section of this area you were in.

This note is really to thank you and the residents of Sonora for treating Aunt Belle to a bang-up affair and making our visit such a memorable one.

I am looking forward to our next visit to Sonora so we can sample more of the local fare--
 We shall return

Sincere regards,
 Skeeter and Howard Bennett

ONE MAN'S OPINION

by T. Driskell

It would appear that the grizzlies have savored a generous serving of bull meat on Wall Street. Brokers and financial consultants assure us that it is a temporary adjustment, but one must wonder how accurate their appraisal is, and to what depths they have gone into the problem?

The problem is a knotty one, put on its most simple minded terms; we have spent more than we have earned for about one hundred and sixty years. Instead of recognizing bankruptcy for what it was, we grew larger and more ravenously addicted to a way of life. The way of life grew into a monster which ingested all surplus monies allowing no repayment of debt. Look at Texas' economic history for the last three years, ranching economics for the last forty years, Congressional economic activity for the last sixty years and striking similarity will be observed.

Our economic history coupled with our indigenous raw material management over the last forty-seven years leave no alternative to the conclusion that like the biblical example, we have sold our birthright. The national deficit which we rationalized as "owing to ourselves" clearly is being subsidized by foreigners at ten-point-two percent interest. Our stock market has been fueled by billions left overseas by our tourists and deficits and a belief in a Dow Jones of 3000, even against a bond market where paying nine to ten-point-two percent.

Back to the problem of the stock market, and where it will go. Look at the supports and you will see that an ala 1929 crash is virtually eliminated. The question is do foreign investors know this? A definite answer, without precise knowledge of foreign temperament is not possible.

The bond market offers a better return. Especially at present levels of the DOW. The price to earning ratios are rather high. We will have to assume therefore the stock market should show recovery, but a large number of small investors will be scared or wiped out and only foreign reaction will determine the degree of recovery.

I'll have to assume that if they are eating bulls in there it certainly ain't no place for chickens and hold all but ten percent out. My investment will be in small companies with improving earning pattern and low price to earning ratios. In any case, waiting until after the Treasury's "Repayment" (a national joke) Bond Sale in November seems prudent. Dark glasses and a cup will indicate I was wrong.

How binding is this contract?

COMMISSIONER NABERS:
 After starting work at my current job, my employer had me sign a statement saying I understood that I was on a six month trial basis and that I would not apply for unemployment insurance if things did not work out. Things are OK so far, but I've been wondering if I did right by signing. Is this agreement legally binding on me?

R.F.
 Denison, Tx.

DEAR R.F.: Absolutely not! An individual cannot waive his or her legal right to unemployment benefits. Not only is such a waiver agreement NOT binding, it is illegal for your employer to ask you to enter into such an agreement. Your employer may not be aware of it, but the law provides both civil and criminal penalties for such activity. If your employer should terminate your employment at the end of the trial period, then you have the unqualified legal right to file a claim for unemployment benefits.

DEAR COMMISSIONER NABERS: A friend of mine lost his job and the company gave him severance pay. When I was laid off no mention was ever made of anything like this. Are employers supposed to give severance pay when someone is terminated?

G.T.
 DeSoto, Tx.

DEAR G.T.: No. In Texas, it is up to the individual employer to decide if severance pay will be part of its company policy. Employers who have negotiated employment contracts with individual employees or a union will, of course, be bound to any severance pay provisions in those contracts.

Ms. Nabers represents 336,000 employers throughout Texas. If you have any questions you want answered, please write Commissioner Nabers at: TEXAS BUSINESS TODAY, 614 Texas Employment Commission Building, 15th and Congress, Austin, Texas 78778.

CHAMBER NOTES

by Diana Trainer

I certainly hope that everyone in the community was as pleased with our first homecoming as we were. There was a great crowd for the football game and reception afterwards.

Mr. Russell said that the high school dance was packed and we had about 75 people at the reception on Saturday. We were able to organize, elect officers for the upcoming year, and hopefully, next year will bring home lots more family and friends to Sonora. The name of the organization was changed from Ex-Student's Association to Homecoming Association so that everyone in the community will be a part no matter where they went to school.

The Homecoming Association would like to extend their gratitude to Sonora Independent School District Board of Directors for allowing us the opportunity to attempt this project and look forward to working with them on future Homecomings.

The Sonora Chamber of Commerce is going to host a mixer on November 10, at 7:00 p.m. at Sutton County Steakhouse so mark your calendar. We want everyone in Sonora to get better acquainted with us and the work we are doing for the community. We especially want to invite those who are in the public service industry, such as waitresses, gas attendants, sales clerks, receptionists, because these are the people who make the first impression on a newcomer and the ones that convey the feeling of community pride.

The Hospital Auxiliary will be hosting a style show open to the public on November 3, at the Junior High Snack Bar, ("Remember Puttin' on the Ritz") and it will be a great time to get together, plus see all the great fashions that are available in Sonora.

The Chamber of Commerce really appreciates your support. See you next week.

HEALTH CARE

by Scott Gilmore
 Hospital Administrator

Dentalphobia--or is it drillophobia? Researchers say that just the sight and sound of a dental drill is enough to strike terror into the hearts of the otherwise rational.

Up to 15% of the American public will avoid dental care completely unless driven by severe pain or injury, according to a recent scientific study. Another 10-20% will see their dentist only when they have a persistent problem--and then, tend to cancel several appointments before summoning up enough courage to Open What.

What's the big deal? Dental anxiety is often based on expectations rather than past experiences. Over the past several decades, dentists have continually developed new methods and techniques to put patients at ease and lessen or eliminate discomfort.

Chances are, your parents are more timid of dental care than you are, because memories linger from childhood toothpullings under less relaxing circumstances.

These days, going to the dentist can be as entertaining and painless as listening to rock music through stereo headphones while playing an electronic video game.

Tell Mom you'll hold her hand.

Depot Diary

The Depot saw more people this past Saturday than it has seen since the railroad was in it's prime. Nearly 300 persons came through the doors of the Depot to enjoy the festivities of the Second Annual Sonora Home Tour and Crafts Fair and the "Santa Fe Way Station". The freight room was filled with lovely wares from the crafters and bakers. The ticket sellers collected admissions from the Stationmaster's window. The waiting rooms were transformed into a charming refreshment center complete with Santa Fe colors and decor.

Visitors were treated to tours of three totally different but equally exciting homes.

The Historical Society wishes to thank everyone who helped make this event such a success.

The Depot window sashes are restored and back from Fredericksburg but not quite ready to be re-installed in the frames.

Keep watching-the Depot will soon open it's eyes!

The Adopt-a-Roof campaign is gaining momentum. One tenth of the roof has been adopted--nearly 320 sq. ft. Help top off the Depot at $4 a square foot. Mail to the Sutton County Historical Society, Box 885, Sonora, Texas 76950 or contact Patricia Johnson 387-5921, Preston Love 387-3833 or Gil Trainer 387-2028.

The following persons have donated to the roof since our last report: Lynell Ellis Wheless, Menard; Bill and Mary Lynn Gosney; Brent and Abby Gesch; Martha Miers; Lawrence and Jodie Finklea; Bob and Nancy Brockman; John and Sarah Wade; Tommy and Carol Love; Gail Rucker, Johnson City; Gwen Wardlaw; Jessie Lem Wardlaw; Joseph and Mabel VanderStucken; Kathleen Moore; George and Martha Wallace.

Payment for medicare medical insurance

Medicare medical insurance can help pay for physician's services, outpatient hospital care, outpatient physical therapy and speech pathology svrives, home health care, and other health services and supplies.

Medical insurance generally pays 80 percent of the approved charges after the patient has incurred the first $75 of approved charges; this is the medical insurance deductible. The patient is responsible for the remaining 20 percent of the approved charges and any amount above the approved charges.

Medicare medical insurance payment can be made in either one of two ways. The payment may be made to the physician or to the supplier of medical services, or the payment may be made directly to the patient.

If payment is made to the physician or to the supplier, the method of payment is called "assignment."

The assignment method can be used only if both the physician of the supplier and the patient agree to it. When this method is used, the physician or the supplier agrees that his or her charge for the service will be no more than that approved by the Medicare carrier. Medicare will then pay 80 percent of the approved charge after subtracting any part of the $75 deductible that the patient has not met.

Not all physicians will accept assignment. A list of those who have may be obtained from the San Angelo Social Security Office located at 2214 Sherwood Way. The telephone number is 949-4608.

The Sutton County ground-water situation

by Peter R. Rose
Certified Professional Geologist
Telegraph, Texas

Sutton County lies entirely within the Edwards Plateau physiographic province of west-central Texas. Over about 80 percent of the county, the outcropping rocks are porous and permeable limestones and dolomites of the upper Edwards Group, of Early Cretaceous age. In eastern Sutton County, in the drainage of North Llano River and Epps Creek, the lower Edwards crops out in the valley walls. Thin, slightly younger informations, the Buda Limestones and the Boquillas Flags, crop out on the high divides in the northeast, central, southeast, and northwest parts of Sutton County, between the San Saba, Llano and Devils River drainages. In the valleys of these drainages are narrow strips of thin alluvial deposits.

The Edwards group thickens to the west and south across Sutton County, from a little less than 400 feet to about 550 feet.

The Edwards rests upon the Glen Rose Formation. A structure-contour map of the Edwards-Glen Rose contact shows a gentle slope to the southwest, from a broad arch in the northeastern part of the country where the base of the Edwards has a subsurface elevation of a little more than + 2100 feet, to the southwestern corner of the county, where the base of the Edwards has a subsurface elevation of a little less than +1600 feet. Maximum dip is therefore nearly flat--about 100 feet per mile or less, a slope too gentle to be detected with the naked eye.

The Glen Rose Formation is a sequence of alternating carbonate and calcareous mudstone beds ranging from zero to about 300 feet thick. It lies entirely in the subsurface in Sutton County. It is thin or absent in the northern and eastern parts of the county, thickening to the south and west. The Glen Rose is a relatively impermeable (tight) formation which does not contain any significant aquifers and, indeed, tends to impede the movement of subsurface fluids rather than transmit them.

The Trinity Sand is the lowest of the Lower Cretaceous formations in Sutton County. Like the Glen Rose, it lies entirely in the subsurface. This sandstone is discontinuous, being absent over much of the county, especially around "highs" in the underlying Paleozoic rocks. The Trinity Sand ranges from zero to about 200 feet thick and tends to be thickest in the western parts of the county. Aquifer-quality sands in the Trinity are erratic and difficult to predict, which may, in part, account for the fact that they have not been developed in Sutton County.

An angular unconformity separates the Cretaceous formations from the underlying Paleozoic rocks. This unconformity represents a gap of approximately 150 million years of non-deposition and erosion, during which time the Paleozoic formations were tilted gently to the west before erosion of the old land surface was completed.

The Pennsylvanian and Permian strata represent deposition on the eastern shelf of the Midland Basin, part of the great Permian Basin geologic province. These formations, plus deeper formations such as the Ellenburger carbonates, are not, as a rule, fresh water-bearing. Rather, they usually contain salt water, crude oil, and/or natural gas. Much of the Paleozoic section is relatively tight, but there are also porous reservoir-rocks present in this deeper geologic succession.

There are no known faults involving Cretaceous rocks in Sutton County, but there are numerous linear fractures, particularly in the Edwards carbonates, many of which have been enlarged through solution, to serve as subsurface conduits for ground water. There are, however, faults and folds in the Paleozoic strata below the angular unconformity at the base of the Cretaceous, but these do not extend up into the Trinity Sand, Glen Rose, or Edwards, because they are beveled by the unconformity.

Bon voyage, Pastor!

Seventy-four people from the First Baptist Church of Sonora met Thursday evening, October 1 at the home of George and Mary Hoffman for a Bon Voyage Party for their Pastor, Rev. Jim Stephen. Rev. Stephen left Thursday, October 6 to participate in an Evangelism Crusade in Cambridge, England.

The party started with a meal which was prepared by the Woman's Missionary Union organization of the church. Woman's Missionary Union is an Auxiliary to the Southern Baptist Convention and celebrates its Centennial in 1988. To commemorate Woman's Missionary Union Centennial the women presented Pastor Stephen and his wife Betty with a Quilt made by the Baptist Women of First Baptist Church. The quilt, with painted pictures, tells the one hundred year history of Woman's Missionary Union.

The evening closed with prayer for Rev. Stephen and the England Crusades. Also, a beautifully decorated cake made by Patsy Dobbs was enjoyed with ice cream.

Our Senior Citizens Center is a place of great pride to our community. There are many who benefit from the few folks who work so hard to keep this organization running smoothly.

The Sutton County Committee on Aging is the advisory board for the Center-Smith Neal is president, Maxine Locklin secretary-treasurer with a board of sixteen members.

One of the services offered by the Center and the Committee on Aging in conjunction with the Hospital Auxiliary is the E.R.S. units.

What is E.R.S.? This is an emergency response system which alerts the hospital when it's owner activates the individual unit--help in on the way in just moments. These devices are placed in homes of persons living alone or in the home of patients when the doctor deems it necessary.

The Center also has charge of distributing commodities once a month. This is a vital service to those who receive them in our City.

The Health Department has their building next door to the Center and since they only provide their services once a month, the Center receives all phone calls for this facility.

The heart of the Center is the ladies who work there keeping things rolling. Estela Acosta is the Director and does a great job. Terry Kinard is the Van Driver and she can be seen all over town, running errands and doing her job so well. Amalia Ramos is the cook who turns out all those great meals. Atta way, Amalia! Her work is aided by Victoria Romero, Nutrition Aid. How could this facility do without the excellent work of the Center's aids, Nora Dominguez and Tina Sanchez.

"Way to go girls", we are proud of you.

Books given to first graders

This release is smaller than the average news release because it details the facts of some big generosity in the community to little children through the distribution of some powerful little books.

First grade students in Sonora Elementary School will all receive a beautiful book titled My Favorite Book.

My Favorite Book is designed and written to bring "positive" influences into each of these children's lives. It illustrates the beauty of their world and the people who are in it, especially themselves.

The civic-minded leaders who are sponsoring this program see it as a valuable contribution toward the development of the young people in the community. These sponsors are Ronnie Cox of Westerman Drug and the Dillard Bros., Monte, Sam, Mike, Janey and family.

New books: "Til the Real Thing Comes Along...Dart; Bluebeard...Vonnegut; Talking to Strange Men...Rendell; Glittering Images...Howatch; Washington Wives...Dean.

Washington Wives is a novel written by Maureen Dean, the wife of John Dean, one of Nixon's aides. Only a woman who has been there could have written this revealing novel of ambition, greed, and social maneuvering.

The tale revolves around the murder of the President's Chief of Staff, the second most powerful man in America. All the FBI has to go on is that the Chief of Staff was last seen with a woman wearing a diamond bracelet. One of three women could be this mystery lady.

To add to the suspense, this description also fits one of three women who's husbands have a shot at filling the vacant Chief of Staff job. The FBI have five days to solve the mystery as that is when the President will announce his new Chief of Staff.

Three Women...five days...in a city where secrets are lethal ammunition. Filled with suspense and authentic detail, Washington Wives moves behind closed doors to give us an intimate and fascinating portrait of the women who wield enormous power in a city supposedly run by men.

Human beings and work

Rev. Lawrence D'Mello
 St. Ann's Catholic Church

Doing our work or being at our job takes the major part of our week as well as most of our energy. Many of us feel real satisfied with our work. Others feel it as a drudgery and a bore, only to be done in order to earn some money for our living!

As a Christian, how should we look at our work? What should our attitude toward our work be? Does work help us in any way other than its material remuneration?

In the early Christian Church there was always that problem of having some people either not doing their work and earning a decent living, or those who were lazy and depended upon others.

Paul in his letter to the Thessalonians reminds the Christians of Thessalonica (in 2 Thessalonians, 3:6ff: "Brothers, we command you in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ to keep away from all brothers who are living a lazy life and who do not follow the instructions that we gave them...we worked and toiled...In the name of Lord Jesus Christ we command these people and warn them to lead orderly lives and work to earn their own living."

The Bible clearly speaks the importance and the usefulness of human work. Genesis 2:2 "By the seventh day God finished what he had been doing and stopped working." If God himself did not work, this whole creation wouldn't be existing! To the human beings he created, he has commanded to work and make their life useful and fruitful.

Work, for that matter, any work, helps us to be on the side of God: helping the creation to be better and more useful to ourselves and to other human beings and trying to get the best out of it for the society.

Work not only increases the resources needed by the individuals and the society but adds to the dignity and the value of the human person who works. No work destroys any of our human worth and dignity which contributes to everyone's good. Even the so-called lowest type of work adds to the value of a human being. For, all work, great or small, easy or difficult, is our effort to give our best to God, to be his co-workers in this world and to improve our life.

Let us not forget, when we work, either at home or away in a work place, that God guides us and gives us his live and strength to fulfill all the requirements of our job, provided we also eagerly contribute our share. We must look at work as our loving contribution to others, to those we know and those whom we do not know. It is our loving service to the human race!

Mike McBride competes at NHRA Championship Finals

Street Class qualifier Mike McBride battled all season long at the Wall Race Track to win the chance to compete with more than 650 drivers/riders representing 22 NHRA member race tracks, at the Texas Motorplex for the 1987 edition of the NHRA South Central (Division 4) Firestone/Center line E.T. Championship Finals Oct. 16-18.

This Championship drag race was for the weekly E.T. Bracket competitors, who race all season long at the various participating race tracks to qualify for the individual teams that raced against each other for the posted purse of $65,550 on the line in the five categories-Super Pro, Pro E.T., Heavy E.T., Street E.T. and Motorcycle E.T.

Mike went out in the 2nd round when he ran a 13.23 on a 13.36 dial. Mike said the reason he broke out was because of the massive traction, the car left hard. The Texas Motorplex track is the fastest in the country, where just two weeks ago at the Chief Auto Parts Nationals 14 records were set and termed the quickest and fastest in NHRA history.

Mike's car is a '72 Chevy Chevelle with a 454 engine, built by Performance Workshop. The car is owned by Randy Rigby of New Orleans, and is sponsored by NAPA Circle "S" Automotive.

Mike accumulated a full season of points by winning consistently this past year which qualified him to be one of the racers representing the Wall race track. Each of the 20 race track teams consisted of 32 drivers/riders in each of the five categories, competing against drivers from race tracks representing Texas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Kansas, Oklahoma, Arkansas and New Mexico.

Stand on it-Mike McBride competes in his 72 Chevy Chevelle "Blue Thunder" at the NHRA (Division 4) Championship Finals, at the Texas Metroplex in Ennis, Texas.

"Ole Buddies" to reunite

In the annals of naval history the destroyer escorts are acknowledged for winning "The Battle of the Atlantic." Though many of these ships were recommissioned during the Korean conflict and used in reserve service, they are non-existent today.

Over ten years ago, a dedicated group of men formed the "Destroyer Escort Sailors Association" to honor those sailors who served on board the destroyer escorts. They believed that the destroyer escort sailor should not be lost to oblivion as most of their ships were. These ships were considered obsolete for our present day Navy and were sold for scrap iron or used as targets for torpedo/missile practice. Twelve of these ships were sold to foreign nations. The former USS HURST DE 250, now the MANUEL AZUETA A-06, used for cadet training in the Mexican Navy, made a port of call to Philadelphia for the 1986 DESA Convention.

If your interest is activated as a former destroyer escort sailor, we are having a reunion and convention for your shipmates in St. Louis, September 2-6, 1988. Anyone who served aboard these types of ships or knows of anyone who did, please contact: Edward L. Lesniak, 8311 Osceola, Niles, IL. 60648, or 312-967-7655.

There is a chance that you may locate a lost "Ole Buddy." DE Sailors and DESA are special for fellowship and communication, recognition and reunion. Do you know where your shipmates are today? What they are doing? How some "Ole" Buddies are trying to locate you? DESA is there to renew that old Camaraderie.

The Sutton County 4-H Foods and Nutrition Group, meeting in the home of their leader Brenda Edwards, made a seventeen dollar contribution to the American Cancer Society with Kent Kepler, president of the local chapter, accepting the donation. Each girl in the Group donated individually to arrive at the Group contribution.

The 4-H members are learning to have healthy bodies through proper nutrition including the right foods to prevent colon cancer. The group wanted to donate so that cures can be found for cancer by the American Cancer Society.

Check recipes for food safety

Recipes are designed so food preparation methods can be duplicated. Usually you'll want to follow directions carefully so the dish will turn out as it's supposed to. However, some recipe procedures—even though they are recommended in cookbooks—violate food safety guidelines. Here are some items to check:

*Don't marinate meat or poultry on the countertop. It usually takes a few hours, and should be done in a glass bowl in the refrigerator.

*Never partially cook meat or poultry. It's all right to remove meats from the oven temporarily while basting or adding spices. But ignore recipes that call for these foods to cook for awhile, then be removed from the oven, and then returned to the oven to cook some more. Removing partially cooked food gives bacteria a chance to grow, and it may not be killed in the second cooking.

*Bacteria can grow in perishables that are cooked for a long period of time at a low temperature. The results may not off set the convenience.

*Don't overload crock pots, and make sure the food is thawed before it's put in the pot. Because they take so long to reach a high temperature, crock pots should not be used for reheating leftovers.

*When working with raw meat, poultry, or fish, take extra precautions. Wash cooking areas, utensils, and hands thoroughly with soap and water before and after handling those foods. When grilling, use different plates for raw and cooked food, unless the plate has been washed in between.

FINANCIAL FOCUS

by Mike Smith

Plan your early retirement

There is a simple rule when investing for retirement—the more time, the smaller the deposits; the shorter the time, the larger the deposit.

The logical conclusions, of course, is to start early—unfortunately, few do. A more realistic situation finds the head of the household planning retirement only about 15 years in advance. Often the children are educated, major expenses are behind, and now husband and wife have the time and means to seriously consider their retirement future. Is it too late?—Not necessarily, if a workable investment plan is implemented as soon as possible.

Without confusing an illustration with variables such as Social Security, a company retirement or an IRA, consider this very simple situation. Mr. Jones, 50, plans to retire at 65. He currently earns $50,000 a year. He would like to keep the buying power of his retirement income at approximately $30,000 a year. In 15 years, however at a reasonable inflation rate of 6 percent, Mr. and Mrs. Jones will need an annual income of $72,000 to buy the same goods and services $30,000 buys today. At this period he knows where he is and where he wants to be. If his goal is to create a retirement fund that will produce about $6,000 a month, how much he accumulate in the next 15 years? There are two ways to approach the problem.

First, Mr. Jones could determine how much money he would have to accumulate to produce this income if he did not want to invade the principal; in other words, if he lived off the interest. Or, Mr. Jones could calculate how large a deposit would be necessary at retirement to establish an annuity that would guarantee a lifetime income. Mr. Jones finds that to enjoy a monthly income of $6,000 he must accumulate about $720,000 in the next 15 years. This amount of capital would satisfy either condition.

In the first case, where he intends to live off the interest, an investment yielding 10 percent would give the required $72,000 annually. The positive feature of such a plan is that the interest could increase through the years and the principal could grow. But the opposite could also happen, causing a decrease in income and principal.

The annuity choice, on the other hand, guarantees lifetime income and can be extended to include Mrs. Jones. With a deposit of $720,000, a major insurance company would probably guarantee a 65-year old male about $6,000 a month for life. In addition, they would guarantee that these payments would continue for at least 10 years after his death. So, should Mr. Jones die several years after beginning his annuity, his beneficiaries would be assured all his original principal would be returned. The comfort of knowing you cannot outlive your income is a very strong reason to consider an annuity.

The question of how to accumulate $720,000 in the next 15 years still remains. The problem may not be as serious as it appears. First, much of the cost of raising a family is behind. Also, the next 10 years are considered some of the highest income-producing years, giving the Joneses more money to invest. If Mr. and Mrs. Jones could plan and discipline themselves to a monthly investment of about $1,450, which would compound at 12 percent, in 15 years they would reach their goal. Of course, if they decide the investment is too much, they must settle for a smaller retirement income or delay their retirement date. To expect an annual total return on their investment to compound at a rate of more than 12 percent over a 15-year period would be more hoping than planning. The purpose of a plan is to set reasonable goals that can be reached with proper discipline.

The numbers in the illustration may be inappropriate to your situation, but the method used to reach a retirement goal is reasonable. A comfortable retirement demands planning. And when planning for retirement, one important rule applies: the sooner, the better.

Surprise-male nurses are everywhere

You think nursing's not for you? That nursing's still for women only? Don't show your ignorance.

Male nurses are everywhere, their ranks swelling faster each year. You've heard of The New Army? Well, man has discovered The New Nursing. You can choose many paths—sports medicine (primarily preventive consultation and training); high technology areas (such as anesthesia, cardiac catheterization, or intensive care); management; education; or use your nursing degree to finance additional education in almost any advanced specialty, such as medicine, research, pharmacy, or hospital administration.

The trend toward male nursing is not really new. Vietnam war veterans, trained in medical procedures and follow-up care, returned home to find that traditional office, construction, or sales jobs were just too tame—and too unfulfilling—by comparison.

They flooded nursing schools at a time when nursing was carving a new niche for itself—more challenging, more lucrative, more responsible, more diverse.

Now, the percentage of men in nursing is growing faster each year, mostly by word-of-mouth from those who've already discovered this well-kept secret.

Next time you're in a hospital, look around. Really look at the men walking around with stethoscopes, lab coats, and a natural, in-charge kind of confidence.

The secret? They're not doctors. They're nurses. By choice.

Ask them about nursing. You'll be surprised. Guaranteed.

The Whitetail Deer, a unique animal

by Ray Bronk

The whitetails of Texas enjoy many evolved physical qualities which give them advantages not enjoyed by other members of the animal kingdom. Many of these qualities are shared by other species, but the wide range of unique qualities would be difficult to find in any other animal.

Some of these unique qualities are found at birth. The birth of a whitetail is rapid and apparently bloodless. This is important to an animal when predators are near. During the birth process and immediately thereafter, the hair of the metatarsal gland on the rear hocks of the doe will stand erect, emitting a unique odor. If necessary, the doe can dash off, emitting this odor to attract predators away from the fawn. If left undisturbed, the doe will consume any birth residue, keeping the birth site odor free. The fawn is born free of odor. Dogs have been seen walking past newborn fawns without scenting the newly born animal.

In times of poor range and weather conditions, the whitetail doe is able to resorb the fetus, thus conserving precious body nutritional components, and preventing the birth of a poorly grown fawn into unacceptable living conditions.

The fawn is born with a spotted coat, enabling it to blend into the background while still vulnerable to predators. Although the fawn can move about within a few minutes of its birth, it spends its first few days within an area about 10 feet in diameter. Newborn fawns will instinctively hide rather than flee, although by the fifth day of life, fawns may make a desperate attempt to flee.

The milk of the doe is rich in butterfat. While Jersey cow milk, the richest of cow milk, contains about 5 or 6 percent butterfat, milk of the whitetail doe consists of 11 to 12 percent butterfat. This rich milk provides nourishment for quick growth and energy, and enables the fawn to gain survival strength quickly.

Within a month, the fawn's interdigital glands, located between the hoofs, secrete an individual scent, allowing the doe to track her fawn should it wander away.

The whitetail can bounce back rapidly from herd decimation. When conditions are ideal, a mature buck and doe could increase their numbers to 22 animals in five years. This is possible because some healthy doe fawns are bred their first year of life, producing one or two fawns. Fawn bucks, under a high nutritional diet, show rut behavior at as early as five months, although they generally do not participate in breeding until their second rut season. If a doe should die, one of the other does in the herd will care for the fawn as if it were hers.

The whitetail has four stomachs. This is a definite advantage when predators are around. The whitetail can eat food rapidly, spending a minimum amount of vulnerable time, then return to its hidden bed, and leisurely chew cuds brought up from its first stomach. After chewing sufficiently, the cud is then swallowed to the second stomach, starting the digestive process. Another cud is then chewed, until all the stored food has been finally chewed and swallowed.

The whitetail can run extremely fast for short periods of time, but has little stamina for the long chase. It can usually outdistance a predator with a short burst of speed, then has been observed to stop and continue grazing, keeping a wary eye on its backtrail for any continued pursuit. When pursued for lengths of time, the deer has been observed to use cover and water to intelligently confound its pursuers. When cornered, its sharp hoofs are its usual weapon, with the antlers usually not used for defense. The antlers are used mostly during the rut, for pushing, shoving and intimidating, although some fighting bucks have gored their opponent to death.

The whitetail has sharp senses. It has good eyesight for movement, although it cannot determine color with any great degree of success, and a motionless observer will usually not be detected by sight.

The hearing of the whitetail is superb. The snap of a twig is enough to start it running in flight. Because it relies upon its hearing for protection, the whitetail is uncomfortable and tense during windy conditions. It will usually hole up and wait for wind conditions to improve, since the noise of the wind covers up the sounds of danger.

The nose of the whitetail is extremely sensitive. Even masking scents such as skunk odor will not completely cover the scent of man, and many wary deer are able to pick up the scent and flee.

The whitetail shares some survival qualities with other members of the animal kingdom, although many of its qualities are unique. Few, if any, other animals on earth are endowed with as many protective qualities bestowed on them by nature.

Eye care for the elderly

Do you know an older person who needs medical eye care, but cannot afford it?

Ask them to call 1-800-222-EYES, the toll-free Helpline operated at the National Eye Care Project. Eligible callers will receive a referral to a nearby eye physician and surgeon (ophthalmologist) who has volunteered to provide care.

Every patient will be given a comprehensive medical eye examination for eye diseases and any needed treatment to protect vision. Services of the volunteer ophthalmologist are provided at no out-of-pocket cost to the patient. For this project, volunteer ophthalmologists are accepting Medicare and/or other health insurance assignment as payment in full for their services. If the patient has no insurance coverage, medical eye care is provided without charge.

Although there is no financial qualifications for the program, the emphasis of the project is to help those who may be without the means to pay—those who need to care the most.

*To be eligible, a person must be age 65 or older, a U.S. citizen, and no longer have access to an ophthalmologist he or she has seen in the past.

*This is not an eyeglasses program. The National Eye Care Project is designed to provide comprehensive medical eye examinations and treatment to prevent or control eye disease. Eyeglasses are not covered by the program.

*If hospitalization is needed, volunteer ophthalmologists may be able to work with the patient to obtain needed care. Hospital charges are not covered under this program or by the doctor.

*The National Eye Care Project is for needy older persons who do not have an ophthalmologist. It is not a second opinion program.

Older people suffer more than half of the blinding eye diseases in the U.S.—and about half of this blindness could be prevented. If you know someone who needs eye care, but cannot afford it, ask them to call 1-800-222-EYES today!

The National Eye Project is sponsored by your state ophthalmology society and the Foundation of the American Academy of Ophthalmology.

Ophthalmologists are medical doctors. They are the only specialists qualified to provide total eye care: medical, surgical and optical.

Diverticular disease more common in elderly

As we grow older, the body becomes more susceptible to certain medical disorders. Two related diseases for which this is true are diverticulosis and the more serious diverticulitis. Both conditions can cause cramping pain and tenderness in the left side of the abdomen.

Diverticulosis is a condition in which small sac-like swellings, called diverticula, form in the wall of the large intestine. If these pouches become infected, then the condition is diverticulitis. Diverticulosis often causes no symptoms, and in these cases no treatment is necessary. More than half of all people over 60 have diverticulosis. Only a small number of these ever develop diverticulitis.

These diseases seem to be connected with the Western diet, which is low in fiber. Serious cases rarely occur in Africa and Asia, where more fiber is consumed.

Although diverticulosis may have no symptoms, passing gas or a bowel movement may bring relief to any abdominal pain or tenderness. Bowel movements are often small and hard, but diarrhea may occur occasionally. If the diverticula bleed, bright red blood will be visible in bowel movements.

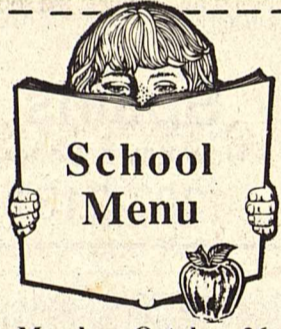

With diverticulitis, severe abdominal pain usually comes and goes at first and then becomes more constant. Touching the spot on the lower left side of the abdomen brings more pain. In some people, the symptoms may be mild for several days before becoming serious. In others, diverticulitis flares up and causes severe pain within a few hours. This disorder requires medical attention.

Treating diverticulitis usually involves bed rest and antibiotics. Sometimes antispasmodic drugs and pain relievers are prescribed to relieve symptoms. During flareups, most patients are restricted to a diet of clear liquids. Surgery is necessary for only a small number of cases.

Once the sac-like swellings have formed, many doctors advise their patients to drink lots of liquids and to eat a high-fiber diet. Fresh fruit, leafy green vegetables, whole-grain breads, and bran cereals all are high in fiber.

Broncos barely buck Bulldogs, 8-7

by Alex Duenes
The Sonora Broncos last Friday narrowly escaped with an 8-7 win over the Coahoma Bulldogs. Coahoma came to Sonora to play football. That was evident, although no scoring took place until the fourth quarter. The spirited Coahoma team was led by fullback Matt Rowell, who scored the Bulldogs' only touchdown at the beginning of the last period. The extra point gave Coahoma the lead 7-0. The Broncos answered mid-way through the fourth quarter when Peter Perez scored on a 40-plus yard run. Coach Jerry Hopkins decided to go for the two-point conversion. The attempt was good, giving the Broncos an 8-7 lead with about five minutes left to play. The PAT was a pass from Alex Duenes to Mike Fullen. Coahoma got the ball back deep in Bronco territory. The Bulldogs tried for a field goal, which would have given them the win, with nine seconds left. However, Bronco Rodney Haltom blocked the kick to insure the one-point Sonora victory. Peter Perez led Bronco rushers with 138 yards. Robert Harris had 112 yards and Eddie Perez gained 15 yards. Alex Duenes completed two passes of seven attempts.

Sonora's season record goes to 5-1-1 and 2-1-1 in district. In other District 5-AAA games, Abilene Wylie upset Ballinger 42-41, Brady shut out Clyde 30-0, and Colorado City smashed Merkel 27. The Broncos host the Abilene Wylie Bulldogs this week in a key match-up. The Broncos need to continue to win to keep their playoff chances alive.
